TRUE CHRISTIAN IS NOT TIED UP WITH A CHURCH

He Becomes a Growing Part Of It, Bishop Brewing Says

HOLDS CONFIRMATION

Young People of Emmanuel Told the Purpose of Christianity

That the Church is an organism and not an organization, and that the true Christian lived in Christ and not beside Him, were declarations made by the Right Reverend Bishop Willard Brewing D. D. at Emmanuel Church yesterday morning. His message was given for the special benefit of four boys and five girls who were confirmed following the sermon.

The Bishop took, as his text, the words "I am the vine, ye are the branches", by which was illustrated Christ's relation to the world and man's relation to Jesus Christ. By this one realized how extremely close to Christ and His service man was. Being branches, men could not live, blossom and fructify unless they were living in Jesus.

There were too many men, the preacher said, who looked upon Jesus as a strong man living next door, who could be called suddenly when trouble arose, or as a wise doctor whose counsel could be summoned when an emergency came along.

Matter of Growth

Some, looking upon the Church as an organization, saw men of outstanding business ability, great organizers, and declared what a wonderful thing it would be to have these men "tied up" with the Church. But when such men were tied up, they remained in that position and failed. They did not grow in the Church and could not bear fruit, which was the purpose of Christianity.

Where man's mind travelled upon being released from the business pressure of the day, there did man live, the Bishop declared. The man who was living in Christ, the real Christian, would find his thoughts turned to Christ and his work.

The speaker told a story of a mother who aroused ambition in her son, who finally found a desire to "do something unusual". Christians living a full life in Christ would be actuated with a desire to do something unusual for God, and the Bishop deplored the fact that there was not enough of this passion these days.

Police of Trenton Nabbed Young Lad

Charged With Stealing Groceries From Boarding Car

After a fifteen-hour watch, Trenton police and C.P.R. officers arrested a seventeen-year-old Trenton boy on a charge of theft, and made May just passed, the busiest month in Trenton police circles in five years.

Notified that a C.P.R. boarding car, which stood near the dock on Dundas street, had been entered, Chief W. Bain with his men co-operated with the railway officers and visiting the car found that a box of groceries 2 1-2 feet by 2 feet had been stolen. They also discovered that it had been planted under a box car. In turns the officers lay in watch and after fifteen hours duty, the boy stole to the box car, where he fell into the police net.

He was arrested and will appear before Magistrate O'Rourke this evening at eight o'clock.

Two Foreign Communists Elude British Officials And Address Party Meeting

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Glasgow, June 1.—Two foreign Communists appeared on the platform to-day at the opening session of the annual conference of the Communist party of Great Britain despite the announced intention of the British Government to allow no foreign radicals to enter the country for this meeting. Two foreigners, Dr. Stoecker of Germany, and Mademoiselle Marcel Laval, representing the French Communist party entered the country surreptitiously. After they delivered fraternal greetings, they left the meeting.

Probably the British foreign office has not seen such abrupt change in recent years as when Austen Chamberlain succeeded Ramsay McDonald as head of that department. Chamberlain, the present incumbent of the office, is the very epitome of the Conservative statesman—complete from monocle to spats. MacDonald, with his rough tweeds and wild moustache, was an exact antithesis. The difference is perhaps even more marked in mental outlook than in personal appearance.

Premier Ferguson Has Appointed Clarkson To Probe Gasoline Prices in Ontario

Ended Her Life In the Cistern

Mrs. McKnight of Murney Street Couldn't Stand Illness

Leaving a farewell note on her kimono which lay nearby, Mrs. May McKnight, 27 Murney street ended her life by drowning in the cistern at her home sometime during Saturday night.

The body was taken from the water by her husband Harry McKnight and her brother George Ellis who later notified the police. P.S. D. T. Boyd visited the home and later called Coroner W. W. Boyce who after investigation, deemed an inquest unnecessary. The body was taken to Belleville Burial Company mortuary.

Mrs. McKnight, who had been in poor health for two years, in her note absolved everyone from blame for the act which she was to commit. The note thanked everyon for kindness extended to her, and explained that she could not stand her illness longer. It was signed "May McKnight." Police were called at 8.40 o'clock Sunday morning.

It appears that the woman retired about ten o'clock Saturday night and was not missed until her husband entered her bed room Sunday morning at 8.20 o'clock, after finding the kimono. The small concrete cistern is underneath the sun room where the woman slept, and by removing a board she was able to enter the cistern which is six feet deep. The cistern is 4 feet by 2, with eighteen inches of water in it.

The woman was attired in a night gown.

Rotarians Surprised at To-day's Meeting

Knight MacGregor On Hand; Business Ethics Tales

The Rotarians were treated to a pleasant surprise at to-day's luncheon when our own Knight MacGregor gave three or four selections. Knight's voice is, if possible, more pleasing than ever and enthusiastic applause broke out not only at the end of each song but in between the verses.

Knight MacGregor only arrived in Belleville yesterday and expects to leave to-morrow.

Rotarian "Bill" Haywood of Toronto was the day's speaker, his address being on "Business Ethics as applied by Rotary." He touched on many phrases of the question particularly on the difficulty of how to treat a competitor and on the best relation between employer and employees. The speaker urged the value of sentiment in business.

Rotarian "Jack" McFee introduced the speaker and "Ed" Worth expressed the clubs pleasure and appreciation.

Judge Wills had a few words to say in suppport of play grounds for children. He thought that the parks we have might be better employed as playgrounds than as mere beauty spots and that vacant ground in various parts of the city might well be brought into use for the same purpose. His Honor said that the Crippled Childrens Committee of the Rotary Club might well take up this idea seriously with the view of getting the children off the streets and preventing the making of more cripples.

President Doug Ramsay promised that the Boys Committee and the Club executive would take up this matter.

COURIER MASON STEPPING FAST AT THE START

Approaching Bowmanville This Afternoon; Left Cobourg To-day

WELL RECEIVED

He Was the Guest of Cobourg Last Night

Tom Mason, Belleville's envoy to Chicago, is somewhere between Port Hope and Bowmanville, walking along towards Toronto on the first leg of the long walk which he is taking in the interest of Belleville's Old Home Week and 110th anniversary of Peace between Canada and the United States, which will be celebrated here first week of August in connection with the L.Y.R.A. meet at Big Bay.

Mason, who left the city hall at noon Saturday, arrived in Trenton Saturday night and called on Mayor Fraser and Chief Constable William Bain. He presented them with cards bearing his photograph in hiking costume and of course invited them to the celebration. He left Chief Bain's office about 9.30 o'clock Saturday night, and remained at the Gilbert Hotel over night, leaving at 5 a.m. Sunday for Colborne.

Reeve Snetsinger of Colborne was visited by the courier who invited him to the celebration. After a meal at the Brunswick hotel, he left Colborne on his way westwards.

The Reeve of Brighton told The Daily Intelligencer to-day that the Courier had reached that village at 10.30 yesterday monring and had appeared to be very fresh.

The Mayor of Cobourg T. J. McArthur said that he arrived in that town at six o'clock in the evening and had been received by the town officials. Mayor McArthur added that they had taken good care of Mason, putting him up for the night as guest of the municipality. He left for Port Hope, early this morning and was nearing Bowmanville at noon to-day.

At this rate, Tom Mason is making excellent time. He made the distance from Trenton to Cobourg (about thirty miles) in thirteen hours.

YOUNG DOGS AND NEW TRICKS

"You can't teach an old dog new tricks."

Anyone who tags along at the rear of this parade called life is "an old dog"; and it is concede to be worse than useless to attempt to modernize an old dog.

Thus when natives of non-Anglo-Saxon races, especially Mediterrean peoples, immigrant to Canada, bearing only too plainly traits of Southern Europe, some of us are inclined to smile wanly at the hopeless incongruity of it all.

Last night a plump middle aged Italian woman was seen on a Belleville street about church time. The striking part of her appearance was rouge. On each cheek was a patch of scarlet red frankly and crudely applied. On the right side the carmine splotch covered her cheek bone. On the left it hovered close to her lower jaw. There was no attempt at symetry. Her clothing was of modern design, but lurid and clashing colors in her waist, stocking and handkerchief stamped her as a Latin.

Despite the fact that she was trying to emulate Canadian customs the fact remains that her atempts were not entirely successful.

The extent of her success in harmonizing with Canadian life can probably be acurately measured by the succes with which she caused the rouge to blend with her natural complexion.

Passersby regarded her with some misgivings and semed to be thinking about old dogs and new tricks.

In the wake of this Italian woman, however, were three chubby, healthy youngsters. The children are more important to Canada than the parent can ever be. Don't pity these tiny Europeans. In ten years, the girls will rouge as succesfully as Canadian sisters. In ten more years, several Canadian families may be paying rent to the boy.

Don't try to teach an old dog anything; train a young one—it's easier.

ABSENT MINDED

The absent minded professour who became famous when he scratched his pancakes and poured the syrup down his neck, has a rival in Belleville. On Saturday this young man put the lighted end of a cigarette to the writing paper and stuck the pencil in his mouth.

A SERVICE STATION FOR FARMERS

"Get this idea on straight," advised Dr. Walter Burr to his audience at the Kiwanis Club's city-rural love-feast in El Dorado. "A town is a service station for country people. A town's trade teritory is that area in which it can best give service. Don't say 'busines men and farmers.' Say 'town business men and country business men'. The farmer is as much of a business man as a merchant, and in some instances he is more of a busines man than many merchants."

We can talk goods and prices until we grow black in the faces, but not until we give our farmer friends a genuine neighborly service. will they be attracted to this town as a trading point. There is no barrier between the town and the country. Our needs are mutual, our aims are the same. The town's one job is to look upon the farmer as a neighbour who is reasonable and entirely human in his outlook. He is willing to pay as he goes. He will make that town his home town which caters to his needs, which gives him a true service untarnished by any affectation of approach or insincerity of interest and attention.

Nature Lore

(By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB)

The migration of birds is a bit of a mystery. We used to know practically nothing about it. All we knew was the fact that the birds went south in the winter. But every Spring, when the birds came back, folk would get to talking and being curious and—well, they just have to be answered, that's all, for curiosity never lets go.

Take the swallows, for instance; they arrive from nowhere, all of a sudden. Yesterday, we'll say, there was no sign of them, and here they are in the old place.

I had an example of this the other day, about the first week in May. I was walking down the main street in Belleville and the Martens had just arrived. They were not there the day before, because I had wondered what was keeping them. Well, there they were, going in and out of the old holes in a sort rrof edge and for all the world like ourselves, when we arrive home after long absence.

A few days after that, I was in Brockville and in the very same kind of a place, on the main street, where folks usually look for bargains and not birds, I noticed Martins chattering away, and chasing out the English sparrows. It is always interesting to see the Martins put the sparrows out, for the sparrows just can't quite make out where they come from and you can see that the Sparrows are both surprised and dumbfounded.

The Martins are a branch of the swallow family and are our biggest swallow. They are lovely dark blue birds and are called Purple Martin but the male bird is a blue black gun metal color, the female a little lighter. They live in groups and are very sociable, going in and out and gurgling, maybe about what a dirty housekeeper Mrs. Sparrow is.

Martins know their friends. A very poor man in Montreal stuck up a small colony bird house on a wobbly pole and just to show how hard pressed these birds are, for suitable colony houses, they surprised him by taking the house. He did not know there was such abird in the world and some bird lovers, to whom he had appealed, gave him a real martin house with spare rooms galore, and the birds took possession at once.

THE COURIER

The Belleville Courier is on his way to Chicago. He has delivered his first message to the people of the town of Trenton through the mayor of that municipality and this week will be working his way though to Toronto.

The press of both Canada and the United States have informed the general public of this adventure and municipality heads have intimated that the courier will receive a royal welcome along the route.

The public of Belleville has become accustomed to the Courier idea, Miss Lazier having gone to Washington last year. But to the outsiders who see Tom Mason and read about his trip, the enterprise will appeal to the imagination and will stimulate more interest in the forthcoming and forthcoming Peace Celebration than Belleville folk anticipate.

It remains then for those in charge of the Celebration to make the program one that will measure up in interest to what United States and Canadian citizens will expect.

The faithful few who are engaged in the preparation of this program have been busy for weeks. They will do their part.

One danger only exists, that being insufficient co-operation on the part of Belleville people generally. Within a short time, the committees which have been functioning since the first of the year, will be calling for more workers. More will be demanded from the individual resident. And on the response to that call will depend the measure of the succes of the Celebration.

MODERN SOCIALISM

The distribution of approximately $10,000,000 worth of stock of Imperial Oil to the company's employees through a co-operative trust fund to which both contributed has been referred to by Victor Ross, vice-president, as "a fair, modern example of practical socialism."

If the sincere aim of the socialists is to have ownership of industry by the workers what better demonstration could be asked? is the query put by the Financial Post. The basis of the distribution was the investment of the worker who received not only his money back with dividends, but a bonus representing an additional return for his service and loyalty—and all in shares in the company. To distribute the ownership of industry without recogizing that the efforts of the individual should be the deciding factor in the extent of that ownership would result in nothing but chaos. No one but a rabid communist would suggest it.

FORTIFICATION OF OAHU

(Springfield Republican)

It is not easy to understand the contention of the experts that Hawaii should have the strongest fortification in the world. There is no competition between fortified places, but only between fortications an dthe mobile forces that might attack them. A new fort at Gibraltar or Port Arthur would not make Oahu in the least degree weaker.

POCKET AND POLICY

(Ottawa Citizen)

Annexation tendencies can be traced almost entirely to economic conditions in Canada. In boom times, patriotism excluded fro mevery Canadian board room. In the days when Canadian promoters were borrowing money in London to the amount of three hundred million dollars a year, the welkin used to ring with songs about "one flag, one fleet, one throne." Where the treasure is, there will the heart be also. The center of gravity of money power has shifted to the United States. Hence the demand for a Canadian ambassador at Washingon.

"SLIPPERED EASE"

(Morgantown New Dominion)

To the manager of a theatre who offers David Warfield $20,000 to come and appear with a repertoire company in hi..s four most famous plays, David Warfield replies: "You flatter me, and $20,000 is more than cigar money. But what of it? What would I really gain by playing four weeks in your city? I don't need the money. I have more than I can spend. Age is coming on me. Why should I exchange my slippered ease for four weeks of hard work in a distant city and $20,000?" And really, why should he? Here is a good antidote for a current delusion to the effect that it is admirable to "die in the harness." Why, indeed, should not an elderly person, who has worked hard through youth and middle age, take the ease that is coming to him, enjoy a few years of genuine leisure and compose his mind and soul before passing on.

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

Apple Bloom Time in Normandy

Etretat in spring is one of the loveliest sights imaginable. The beauty of Japan in the cherry blossom season can not surely surpass the Normandy landscape white with apple bloom. The Grand Val d'Etretat and the surrounding country seem as though covered with snow at this time of the year; and no better view of it can be got than from the golf links, on the cliffs, close to the famous Porte d'Aval.

Etretat is so easily reached nowadays that it is becoming almost an "all the year round" resort. In this respect, it has greatly changed since Alphouse Karr discovered and Offenbach, LePoittevin, Isabey and Maupassant adopted it. In their days, it was a formidable undertaking to reach Etretat. When Guy de Maupassant came about forty years ago to his villa "La Guillette," he and his servant were met at the Ifs station by "a coupe and pair". "In this part of the world", said Maupassant, "the horses are all broken kneed, owing to the hilly roads, and perhaps to careless driving". In going downhill, the visitors had to brace themselves against the front of the crazy old rattletrap in order to remain in it. But today, a branch line links Etretat to the main railway between Paris and Havre.

The Tourist Land That Needs No Advertisement

On the principle that "good wine needs no bush," so Greece needs no advertisement. Its priceless treasures, its hoary classical past, has made it a tourist center for centuries. Some times people say it's "too far" or "too expensive", but now that there are direct services from New York at excursion rates of about two cents a mile, with a Mediterranean cruise thrown in free, it becomes one of the most attractive of resorts. September is an ideal month for the trip, if you travel too late for the Spring season. You can clamber among the ruins if you wish to, but trains and horse buggies will take you everywhere with little effort an dthe universal taxi is there also now. Visit the Acropolis as I did about four in the afternoon to watch the evening skies add to the impressiveness of the wonder and miss not the Temple of Jupiter, the Arch of Hadrian, the Theseion and, if possible get in the side trips to Corinth and Eleusis. What is two cents a mile for the glory of Greece?

To-day's Smile

He entered the office, hat in hand.

"I've come in answer to your advertisement for a 'andy man," he informed the manager.

The latter looked him over. "Well, what are your qualifications?" he asked at length.

"Just that I'm very 'andy, sir," replied the man. "I lives next door to 'ere."

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

By Dr. Frank Crane

There are many speculations upon the causes of baldness. Perhaps the best reason is that there is a lack of elimination through the pores of the scalp. The hairs die out because the pores around them cease to function.

It is said that bald-headed men are particularly subject to heart disease, although this has been denied.

Perhaps the best explanation of baldness, as we have said, is defective elimination.

It is necessary for a man to eliminate well in every respect if he is to remain healthy.

Most of the diseases to which flesh is heir are due to defective elimination through the colon. Constipation is one of the greatest enemies of the race. Dr. Kellogg says that a man should have a heathy evacuation two times a day. This is to be gained by careful attention to diet better than in any other way.

It is necessary also to keep the pores open, as the body as a whole is a breathing surface. It must constantly be giving forth moisture in order to be healthy.

The same truth has its analogy in our spiritual or mental life. We gain much in mental power by constantly giving forth.

Talking or writing has been of great benefit to many men. If you will deliberately form the habit of setting down your opinions you will find that they become more and more clear and definite.

Successful writers have often been asked where they find so much to write about. One would think they would run out of subjects.

The more one writes, consistently and periodically, the more subjects come to him. And the more one neglects to write the drier he becomes in the way of inspiration.

When I went to school I studied algebra. I got one hundred per cent in it, but I did not know anything about it when I got through. Afterwards I taught school and was compelled to teach algebra. I found out that I learned more about algebra by teaching it than I had ever learned by studying it.

The best way to learn a subject is to teach it.

A man's brain is a vehicle, a medium. It does not originate things, but it passes things through it.

The universe is a storehouse of wisdom and health and strength. Man is a pipe that conducts this supply to others. When the out-take ceases the intake usually stops.

Only those bodies of water which have outgo remain perpetually sweet.

For this reason public speaking, writing and intelligent conversation are great helps toward correct thinking and perpetual inspiration.

With "Shamrock III." tuning up for the racing season, Sir Thomas Lipton can wear a pleased smile on his 75th birthday. He is confident his yacht will defeat America's best.

COUNTRY PEOPLE HAVE MORE FRIENDS

(Associated Press Despatch)

Gloucester, England, June 1.—Contrary to general belief, persons living in the country have the greatest amount of brains as compared with city dwellers, according to E. F. L. Wood, British minister of agriculture.

"I want to cambat a delusion of the city and town folks," said Mr. Wood speaking in Gloucester recently, "that the country child, man or woman is less clever and intelligent than his brothers and sisters in the congested districts. The truth is that agriculture and the things associated with it demand a greater measure of intelligence, enterprise and grip than the work done by the thousands of townsmen.

Announcement

Our catalogue for 1925-26 is ready for distribution. It gives complete information concerning our courses, tuition rates, dormitory accommodations, employment for students who are obliged to earn part of their expenses, and opportunities for our graduates.

This is the largest professional school of college grade in the world devoted exclusively to training men for the duties of office manager, cost accountant, auditor, comptroller, treasurer, credit man, and public accountant. It requires two years to complete our courses and be ready for a good position with a promising future.

Men who have completed the classical, general, technical, or commercial course in a high school are admitted without entrance examinations.

The demand in business is for specialists, for men qualified to do some one thing particularly well. Our graduates are in demand because they are equipped with a training which, coupled with business experience, qualifies them ultimately as specialists in the great field of accounting and finance. If you aspire to a successful career in business, fit yourself for something more than a mere clerical position; otherwise, your chances to become an executive are much less favorable.

Oshawa Council Is Prepared to Resign

Merchants And Factory Owners Start Daylight Saving To-day

Oshawa, June 1.—The City Council may resign and go to the people on the daylight saving issue. Five aldermen have already signified their intention known to one of their body who interviewed them Friday morning. The Council voted daylight saving down at a recent meeting and it was thought the matter was closed. This was done in the face of the largest deputation that has ever come before the Council on a single issue. The Aldermen apparently based their decision on the vote taken previously by the people when daylight saving was snowed under at the polls five to one. When the Council voted the question down a short time ago, only Alderman Morris, Alderman Johnston and Alderman Bull voted in favor of the motion.

The Council meets tonight and sensational developments are anticipated.

As far as the manufacturers and merchants are concerned, daylight saving is an established fact. They have signed a petition signifying their intention of operating their factories and stores on the fast time.

CONFISCATED ONE OF LARGEST STILLS

Lindsay, June 1.—In a raid on a moonshine manufacturing concern in Galway Township, Peterboro County, Provincial Constable Storey and License Inspector Porter of Lindsay, and Provincial Constable Maker of Peterboro, arrested the operator and confiscated one of the largest stills seized in this vicinity. Approximately one hundred gallons of mash were also found on the premises. The accused was escorted to Peterboro and appeared before a magistrate Saturday morning. It is expected that he will plead guilty to the charges of manufacturing and selling liquor contrary to the Inland Revenue and Ontario Temperance Acts.

The raid resulted from investigations which showed that considerable liquor was coming over the border of Verulam and was being dispensed in Victoria. The still was located just on the Peterboro' side of the Verulam-Galway line, about 10 miles north of Bobcaygeon near Silver Lake post office. The operator was formerly a resident of Verulam.

CUPID SCORES HIT IN STORE ROMANCE

(From Picton Times)

Before J. C. Ruben came to Roseland to assume the managership of Jerome's 11215 Michigan avenue, he was heart whole and fancy free. But that was because he had not met Miss Sarah Satenstein, lovely daughter of S. Satenstein, proprietor of Jerome's. The day he was introduced to her, Dan Cupid assumed the managership of the manager's heart and the shuttles of romance began weaving a colorful pattern that spun itself into the love story of Mr. Ruben and Miss Satenstein. The interesting announcement of their engagement was made yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. S. Catenstein, parents of the bride-to-be. The wedding date has been set for June 28 and the affair to take place at the Belmont hotel will be one of the brilliant social functions of the season. —Chicago Paper.

Joseph C. Ruben is a Picton boy who has done credit to the home town where he received his early training. He is a good sport and his old associates will join with The Times in extending congratulations to the happy couple and wishing for Joe and his esteemed lady a long, fruitful and happy married career.

From a Sailor

Mr. D. Nicholson, organist and choirmaster at John St. Presbyterian Church has received the following interesting letter from his son, Alfred, who is an officer with the British Merchant Marine service:

S.S. Arabian Prince,
From Cape Town to Mossel Bay,
April 24, 1925.

Dear Daddy,—

Well we arrived safely in Cape Town after a pretty good passage of twenty-eight days. We found the town all decorated and of course assumed it was for us until we heard that the Prince of Wales was expected on the thirtieth of this month. Had a very nice time in Cape Town although I was only able to get away ashore twice.

Prices are very high everywhere, that is except food and fruit which is remarkably cheap. We had six more ports of call viz. Mossel Bay, Algoa Bay, East London, Durban, Delegoa Bay and Biera.

Mossel Bay, the port where we are entering now is rather a nasty place to lie, an open roadstead where we load into lighters. This is rather a rotten job especially as there is generally a big ground swell running.

I will be on night duty on anchor so I shall miss this particular joy, my job consisting of seeing that the ship watch so I shall miss this particular joy, my job consisting of seeing that the ship doesn't drag her anchors or anything like that.

I would be glad if you would send me my birth certificate as should I chance to be promoted I could not take the position unless I could produce my birth certificate to the Board of Trade. So you see until I get my birth certificate I am working in a blind alley with no hope of promotion. I think my best address would be S.S. "Arabian Prince" care of the Prince Line, 56 Leadenhall St., London. This will always find me. I will say goodbye now as it is time to go on watch.

Alfred.

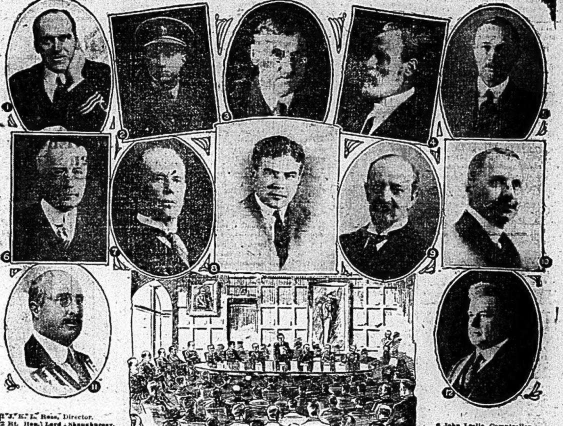
Canada's Affairs Discussed at Railway Meeting

President of great National Institution Tells of Country's Business Conditions and Discusses General Railway Situation — Immigration Shows Signs of Coming Improvement.



A glimpse at a corner of the big room in which Canadian Pacific Shareholders gather to hear the annual address of Chairman and President E. W. Beatty on national business conditions and the Company's affairs.

1 J. K. L. Ross, Director.
2 Rt. Hon. Lord Shaughnessy, K.C.
3 Grant Hall, Vice-President.
4 Hon. Frederick L. Beique, K.C. Director.
5 W. H. Curle, K.C., general Solicitor.
6 John Leslie, Comptroller.
7 Sir Herbert S. Holt, Director.
8 E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President.
9 I. G. Ogden, Vice-President.
10 Ernest Alexander, Secretary.
11 F. W. Molson, Director.
12 W. N. Tilley, K.C.

The annual shareholders' meeting of the Canadian Pacific Railway is one of the important financial events of the year as naturally follows from the position held by that company as a great national institution the activities of which touch every branch of Canadian life. On the first Wednesday in every May the shareholders gather to hear the president tell of the company's past year and to elect directors to carry on its great work. At these meetings are always to be found many of the country's leaders in industry, commerce and finance representing all parts of the Dominion, and the president's report is looked upon as an epitome of business conditions throughout the whole of Canada. Of course, all the shareholders cannot attend, they are far too many and they are too widely scattered, particularly in recent years when the holding of Canadian Pacific stock or bonds has greatly grown in popularity among the small investors of the country. If all were present the gathering would be a great mass meeting and the country towns, villages and even the farming districts of Canada would be represented to a surprising extent.

The meeting was this year held on May 6 and the chairman and president, Mr. E. W. Beatty, drew attention to the company's lessened earnings during 1924 which had resulted from a decrease in the movement of manufactured articles and a smaller crop movement for the year. These conditions, he said, had continued during the first three months of the present year, but during the month of April the decrease in gross earnings were appreciably less which gave ground for the belief that conditions were slowly improving. With a good crop, particularly in Western Canada, there was cause for confidence that the results of the year's operations would be reasonably satisfactory. He pointed out, however, that neither rail nor ocean traffic had reached normal proportions and that until they did so the company's expenditures for capital, maintenance and general operation must be curtailed so far as may be without impairing the high standard at which the property has always been maintained. Mr. Beatty referred to the government proposal to subsidize a line of freight steamers on the Atlantic under the proposed Petersen contract and pointed out that particularly during the past 2 years Atlantic shipping operations have been conducted with very unsatisfactory financial returns. He said the companies felt they had been placed on trial and therefore were making the fullest disclosures of the traffic conditions and of the results of the operation of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd.

Attention was drawn to the need of an aggressive immigration policy and the unsatisfactory results so far this year when 10,792 immigrants came to Canada as against 23,880 during the same period of the previous year. Mr. Beatty pointed out there was nothing fundamentally unsound in Canada's immigration laws, but there was an apparent lack of concerted and definite policies in Great Britain and on the continent. There was encouragement in the fact that emigration from the British Isles was becoming more active, enquiries from the United States were becoming more numerous and the continental field showed considerable promise.

In this address Mr. Beatty felt impelled by the prominence which the general railway situation has recently been accorded in parliament and through the country generally to make some references thereto. He noticed and welcomed an awakening of public interest quite contrary to the disinterested apathy heretofore displayed by Canadians towards transportation matters. Mr. Beatty drew attention to the statement often heard that the present railway situation in the Dominion was due to the failure in former years of private undertakings, the inference being that defects of private ownership and administration resulted in the establishment of public ownership. Mr. Beatty pointed out that the principal causes of the present unsatisfactory conditions "was undoubtedly the formation from time to time of policies of extensive new construction and duplication of existing lines, in most, if not all cases by the government or with government assistance and in anticipation of a much greater development than the country has enjoyed."

Failure was almost inevitable, Mr. Beatty continued, since the undertakings were so far in advance of the country's existing or immediate future requirements, and it did not to him seem material whether the over-ambitious projects were launched by the government of the day or were conceived by individuals or companies. In each case these undertakings received the financial support of the government and the approval of the people of Canada, without which they could not have been completed, but in neither case could their break-down be attributed to private ownership.

In consequence of the existing conditions, there was, said Mr. Beatty, a general and deep-rooted desire for railway economies, for the elimination where possible of intensive competition and duplicate services and the utilization where feasible of joint instead of separate terminal facilities. In this connection the president of the Canadian Pacific Railway pointed out that the position of his company was unique. He stated that many of the lines of railway now forming the National System were not constructed as part of one railway conception, but were conceived and designed to compete with each other as separate transportation units, while each of them, in addition, was in competition with the Canadian Pacific system.

The consolidation of the National System had, he said, brought, in consequence under one administration, lines which were originally designed to be competitive and in no sense part of a unified system. On the other hand, the Canadian Pacific Railway had been conceived and constructed as one system, had been extended from time to time always as a single system, each part of which was planned to support the other. There had further been heavy expenditure of public monies with a view to bringing the national system lines to a higher state of efficiency, in particular by the addition of much modern equipment and power. Since little new traffic had been developed in Canada in the last five years and a very moderate amount of new territory opened, the expenditures were aimed to take from the Canadian Pacific Railway as much as improved service and large expenditures could accomplish.

As to the larger question of the future relations which the two systems would bear to one another, Mr. Beatty said: "We propose to work in the greatest possible harmony with the National Railways consistent with the interests of your property and of its owners. I am convinced that the vast majority of Canadians, especially the business interests of the country, do not desire to see the company either absorbed or menaced..... I should add, too, that no proposals of any kind from the company to the Government or from the Government to the company have been made save those to do with the question of reducing economic waste through the elimination so far as possible of duplicate services."

ITALIANS WARNED ABOUT IMMIGRATION

(Associated Press Despatch)

Rome, June 1.—A stern warning against attempting to enter the United States by illegal means has been issued to prospective Italian emigrants by Senator Luigi Luiggi. He has pointed out the severe steps taken against clandestine immigrants by the American authorities, and has urged prospective emigrants either to wait their turn in the quota, or, beter, sill, to go to France or Argenina.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

"Upon my word, my dear," he said, "I do not wish to appear dense, but I haven't the least idea of what you are talking about, and——" he went on more quietly, as if he feared she were going to explain, "it doesn't matter. Pray sing something, and—and do not let us worry about things which do not concern us."

Leslie began to sing without another word.

CHAPTER II.
FATE

The crippled young man, with the assistance of his companion, made his way into the sitting-room of Marine Villa; an invalid's chair was hauled from the top of the fly and carried in, and the young man sank into it with a faint sigh.

"Leave me, Grey," he said. "When Lord Auchester arrives let him come to me at once; and, Grey, be good enough to remember what I told you——"

"Yes, your grace," said the man; then as his master lifted the soft brown eyes with gentle reproach, he added, correcting himself, "yes, sir."

The young man smiled faintly.

"That is better. Thanks."

The valet unlocked a morocco traveling case, and took out a vial and medicine chest.

"The medicine, your gro——, sir, I mean."

"Ah, yes, I forgot. Thank you," said the young man, and he took the draught with weary patience. "Thanks. Let me know when his lordship arrives. No, I want nothing more."

The valet went out, shutting the door softly after him, and his master leaned his head upon his hand and closed his eyes.

Fate had dealt very strangely with this young man. With one hand it had showered upon him most of the gifts which the sons of men set high store by; it had made him a duke, had given him palaces, vast lands, money in such abundance as to be almost a burden; and with the other hand, as if in scorn and derision of the thing called Man, Fate had struck him one of those blows under which humanity is crushed and broken.

A nurse had let him, when a child, slip from her arms, and the great Duke of Rothbury was doomed to go through life a stunted and crooked-back object, with the grim figure of pain always marching by his side, with the bitter knowledge that not all his wealth could prevent the people he met in the streets regarding him with curious and pitying glances, with the bitter sense that the poorest of the laborers on his estates enjoyed a better lot than his, and wewre more to be envied than himself.

He sat perfectly motionless for some minutes; then he opened his eyes and started slightly; Leslie had just begun to sing.

He wheeled his chair to the window, and set it open quietly, and, keeping behind the curtains, listened with evident pleasure.

The song was still floating across to him when a young man came marching up the street.

Youth is a glorious thing under any circumstances, but when it is combined with perfect health, good temper, a handsome face, and a stalwart form it is god-like in its force and influence.

The little narrow street of Portmaris seemed somehow to grow brighter and wider as the young man strode up it; his well-knit form swaying a little to right and left, his well-shaped head perfectly poised, his bright eyes glancing here and there with intelligent interest, the pleasure-loving lips whistling softly from sheer light-heartedness. He stopped as he came opposite Sea View, and listened to Leslie's song, nodding his head approvingly; then he caught sight of the "Marine Villa" on the opposite house, and walked straight into the little hall.

"Hallo, Gray," he said, and his voice rang, not heardly and unpleasantly, but with that clear golden timbre which only belongs to the voice of a man in perfect health. "Here you are, then! And how is——"

Grey smiled as he bent his head respectfully; everybody was glad to see the young man.

"Yes, my lord. Just got down. His gra—— We are pretty well considering the journey my lord. He will see your lordship at once."

"All right," said the young fellow. "I rode as far as Northcliffe, but left the horse there, as I didn't know what sort of stables they'd have here."

"You were right, my lord," said Grey in the aproving tone of a confidential servant. "This seems a rare out-of-the way place. And I should doubt there being a decent stable here."

"Ah, well, the duke will like it all the better for being quiet," the young fellow said.

Grey put his hand to his lips, and coughed apologetically.

"Beg pardon, my lord, but his gra—, that is—well, you'll excuse me, my lord, but we're down here quite incog., as you may say."

As Lord Auchester, staring at the man was about to laugh, the clear, rather shrill voice of the invalid was heard from the room.

"Is that you, Yorke? Why do you not come in?"

The young fellow entered, and took the long thin hand the duke extended to him.

"Hallo, Dolph!" he said, lowering his voice, "How are you? What made you think of coming to this outlandish spot?"

The duke, still holding his cousin's hand, smiled up at him with a mixture of sadness and self raillery.

"I can't tell you, Yorke; I got tired of town and told Grey to hunt up some place in Bradshaw that he had never heard of, some place right out of the beaten track, and he chose this."

"Poor unfortunate man!" said Lord Auchester, with a laugh.

"Yes, Grey suffers a great deal from my moods and humors; and so do other persons, yourself to wit, Yorke. It was very kind of you to come to me so soon."

"Of course I came," said Lord Auchester. "I wasn't very far off, you see."

"Fishing?" said the duke, with evident interest.

"Y-es; oh, yes," replied the other young man, quickly. "I rode over as far as Northcliffe——"

The duke sighed as his eyes wandered musingly over the stalwart, well-proportioned frame.

"You ought to have been in the army, Yorke," he said.

Lord Auchester laughed.

"So I should have been if they hadn't made the possession of brains a sine qua non; it seems you want brains for pretty nearly everything nowadays; and its just brains I'm short of, you see, Dolph."

"You have everything else," said the duke, in a low voice.

He sighed and turned his head away; not that he envied his cousin his handsome face and straight limbs.

"You haven't told me what you wanted me for, Dolph," said Lord Auchester after a pause, during which both men has been listening half unconsciously to the sweet voice in the cottage opposite.

"I wanted—nothing," said the duke. "There is nothing I can do for you?"

"Nothing; unless," with a sigh and a wistful smile, "unless you can by the wave of a magician's wand change this crooked body of mine for something like your own."

"I would if I could, Dolph," said the other, bending over him, and laying a pair of strong hands soothingly on the invalid's bent shoulders.

"I know that, Yorke. But you cannot can you? I dare say your think I'm a peevish, discontented wretch and that I ought, as the poor Emperor of Germany said, to bear my pain without complaining——"

"No, Dolph; I think you complain very little, and face the music first rate," put in the other.

"Thanks, I try to most times, and I could succeed better than I do if I were always alone, but sometimes——" he sighed bitterly. "Why is it that the world is so false, Yorke? Are there no honest men besides you and Grey, and half a dozen others. I could mention? And are there on honest women at all?"

Countess Cathcart, Who Eloped With Earl, Admits Breaking Commandment

COUNTESS CATHCART

Vera, Countess of Cathcart, who sacrificed social position, wealth and the respect of her friends for her love for the Earl of Craven, with whom she eloped, has at last told her story.

Newspapers in America and abroad were filled with news of the scandal when George, Earl of Cathcart, brought suit for divorce, naming the Earl of Craven as co-respondent.

At the time, newspaper reporters sought everywhere for the Countess who had slipped off to France with the Earl of Craven, as soon as her husband filed suit for divorce.

In telling her story for the first time, the Countess conceals nothing and goes into the most intimate details in her confession in the June Hearst's International Cosmopolitan.

"I will extenuate nothing," she declares. "Lord Craven and I have rebelled against the laws that govern society. We have broken the seventh commandment—but it is more important to the circles in which we moved that we have broken the unwritten eleventh: Thou shalt not be found out.

"My rebellius attitude has not been weakened by repentance. I am ready to admit that the position of a woman who lives openly with a man who is not her husband, is not comfortable. Doors that were once thrown open to the wife of the Earl of Cathcart are now closed to me. I count it all well lost in the balance against the happiness that is mine."

ARE PESSIMISTIC OVER COTTON SUPPLY

(Associated Press Despatch)

Manchester, June 1. — Pessimistic views on the future of the cotton industry in Lancashire have been expressed in various quarters here. Viscount Leverhulme recently warned the country of what would happen in the event of a shortage of cotton supplies, and went so far as to say that it was possible to calculate the time when America, from which most of Lancashire's supplies were drawn, would consume as much cotton as she could produce.

This warning is now echoed by Captain G. S. Burnham in a book on "Cotton Growing in the British Empire and Exotic Countries."

"There is a world shortage of millions of bales of cotton of the American varieties," the author says. "This shortage and prohibitive prices confront the Lancashire industry and that of all other countries, with a crisis of which the gravity can only be compared with the cotton famine brought about by the American Civil War."

Capain Burnham attributes the "appalling disaster which has overtaken the cotton growing industry in America," to the ravagegs of the boll weevil.

"The problem which Lancashire and all countries have speedily to solve is," he says, "where is the American type of cotton, at economic prices, to come from?" and he supplies the answer that it must come principally from the new cotton fields of the British Empire, "but only gradually".

She tried Lux for dishwashing -now she uses it as a toilet soap, too

(Letter received from a lady in Ontario)

Dear Sirs:

Lately I have seen many articles written in praise of Lux. But I never yet have seen one extolling its use as a personal soap for dainty women. Until I used Lux three times a day to wash dishes with, I was grieved to see my hands getting disfigured, in fact I was ashamed of them when playing the piano. Finding that by using Lux for the purpose they soon became as nice as ever, I tried it in my daily ablution water, including bath! And now, I find the effect of using Lux far more softening on the skin.

Yours truly,

Lux for dishwashing, of course. Nothing better!

But use pure, dainty Lux for your daily toilet and bath, too! You will find it delightfully refreshing. Lux contains no free alkali and does not dry up the oils in the skin. The gentle, creamy Lux lather is soothing to the most sensitive skin and keeps it soft and smooth.

Reginald Denny In "Oh, Doctor"!

Star is at the Belle Theatre Starting To-day

Reginald Denny has added another triumph to the list of his screen achievements by his work as star in "Oh. Doctor!" Universal-Jewel, which was given its first showing today in the Belle theatre.

But the public who has acclaimed, not only his humorous personations, but his rapid-action recklessnese, is due for a shock when he is introduced as an invalid whose principal activities consist in taking his own temperature with a clinical thermomenter and drawing the stoppers from various botles containing nostrums guaranteed to cure, no matter what the ailment. "Oh, Docor!" is the screen version of the famous story of the same name written by Harry Leon Wilson and Denny has the part of Rufus Billups, Jr.

Denny's characterization of this young hypochondrias is one of the best things he has ever done. It is a part that might easily have been over done, and that would have ruined the picture; one is forced to the convicion that the big star must have devoted considerable time to studying the peculiaries of the hypochondrias.

The best opportuity for Denny to emphasize his subtlity of character portrayal comes when, having fallen in love with his beautiful nurse, portrayed by Mary Astor, he battles with himself to overcome hisobsession regarding his own health and to act like a normal human being.

He succeeds and then, spurred to great endeavor by his desire to become like the heroes of the novels she reads, he nters into a series of adventure that almost cause heart-failures to his aunt, his nurse and the three Shylocks who have loaned him money.

In this latter part of the story it is Denny of "Sporting Youth" and other vigorous acion pictures that is on the screen.

"Oh, Doctor!' was directed by Harry Pollard(and he achieved something worth while, as he has in the other Dennys' which he has directed. The supporting cast is a fine one and includes such widely known screen players as Otis Harlan, William Mong, Tom Rickettes, Lucille Ward, Mike Donlin, Clarence Geldert Blanche Payson, George Kuwa, Martha Mattoox and Helen Lynch.

Big British Made Picture Is Here

'Guy Fawkes" Starts at The Griffin To-day

One of the finest British-made films ever shown at a local theatre is on view this week at the Griffin Theatre. The historical romance, "Guy Fakes" has been made into a picture that is, for sustained interest and excellent acting, one of the best of the season. There is a charming love theme running through the story somewhat relives the shadow of impending disaster, and there are many touches of nice humor from those swashbucking cavaliers of the days of James I.

The cast is headed by that sterling English actor of the legimate stage, Matheson Lang, who plays Guy Fawkes. One is also pleased to recognise in the role of Catesby, Hugh Buckler, who was so well known to Belleville playgoers by his outstanding work with a stock company here. For those people who have thought that the British are a little behind in this film will be a revelation. There is a wealth of scenic beauties that only England could reveal for a picture of this type, and the splendid photography and able directing make it something not to be missed.

Rush for New Beer Heavy on Saturday

United States Citizens Took Advantage of Holiday For Drinks

Hamilton, June 1.—Hundreds of Americans took the opportunity of sampling Ontario's new beer Saturday, according to hotel men of this city. Business boomed as it did on the first day that 4.4 went on sale. The reason for the big American trade was the fact that Saturay was a holiday on the other side—Decoration Day.

The tourist traffic was the heaviest this year, according to Controller Cal Davis, secretary of the Hamilton Automobile club. The highways were literally packed with cars from Michigan, New York state and Ohio, and many others were seen from the southern states. The bulk of travelers were those who were making short week-end trips, though.

Inside of one block, between John and Hughson streets, there were 16 American parks parked, at 10 o'clock in the morning. The serial numbers showed that they were from widely separated parts of New York state.

No particular rush was reported on the sale of bottled beer, although it can be bought by the case lot, stored in the back of a car and smuggled over the line. A couple of uptown grocery stores that are handling it now said that the trade in the bottled stuff was the same as it had been for the last few days. There were no case lots being purchased.

Gray Hair Is Quickly Made Dark, Glossy

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

Trained Men Needed By Modern Business

A striking proof of the demand for specialized training in the business world, as well as in the professions, is given by the unusually rapid growth of the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, of Boston, Mass. This school, started eight years ago with the object of training men to become professional, commercial and cost accountants, auditors, treasurers, credit managers, etc., has become the largest school of its kind in the world, with an enrollment of 2383. This enrollment exceeds that of many of the large colleges.

The school would not have attracted this enrollment in the comparatively short space of time it has been in existence were there not a demand for men with such specialized training. The more than 1000 graduates of the school who are now employed have carried the name of the school to all parts of the country, so that young men are drawn to it from a great many different sections.

The Bentley School is a pioneer in its field, and has not only become the leader in size, but its standard is so high that it has earned a reputation among business houses for turning out men equipped to take really responsible positions, and who are good material for high executive positions. Thus the school has adopted for its slogan: "To be Bentley trained carries prestige in business." And the exceedingly intensive two year course enables a man to arrive at earning capacity in the shortest ime possible, compatible with the high standard and ideals of the school.

AUTOMOBILES SOLD FOR AS LOW AS $2.00

Los Angeles, June 1.—Automobiles were purchased for from $2 to $4 and motorcycles for 50 cents at a sale held here recently by the Los Angeles Police Department in disposing of unclaimed machines. The lowest price paid was 25 cents for a battered chassis of a popular make of car, while the high mark was reached when an anxious motorist bid $10.50 for an antique motor-driven conveyance that was guaranteed to run.

In all, 20 cars were sold, a majority of which were of ancient model and some with romantic records. They brought in a total of $58.62. The lowest price paid for a complete automobile was $1. Motorcycles were sold at prices ranging from 50 cents to $2.

CAPTAIN IN ROLE OF REAL PARSON

London, June 1.—Captain Hartley, of the steamer Leviathan, is rapidly qualifying for all the functions of a minister—except preaching.

On his latest trip in, he christened a babe born aboard ship, "John Leviathan", and subsequently said funeral services over an aged Czecho-Slovakian returning to his native land.

The previous trip witnessed a wedding aboard, with Hartley splicing the knot.

HORSEDRAWN CAB PASSES IN BERLIN

(Associated Press Despatch)

Berlin, June 1.—The days of the horsedrawn cab in Berlin appear to be numbered and with its passing will go an historic institution of old Berlin. Time was when the different colored "stovepipes" worn by the drivers indicated whether the cab was first, second or third class. Now there is only one class, and that is a thoroughly dilapidated.

The few remaining cabbies are well beyond 60 and their numbers will not increase as new licenses are issued only to motor driven vehicles. Owners of horse cabs have a hard time making a living as there is little call for their vehicles except at the arrival of trains, when all automobiles and taxicabs are engaged.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF BIGAMY HERE

Frederick Milne Runs Into Trouble on Alleged Non-Support

IS NOT WORRIED

Smiles Blandly in Court; Mayor Takes Up His Defense

Frederick Milne, charged with non-support in police court here to-day, was also charged with bigamy as a result of information which Crown Attorney Donnan had received, and was remanded to jail until June 9th. Milne pleaded guilty to the more serious charge, and not guilty to the non support charge.

It developed that Bessie Wood, the woman who charged him with non-support of herself and seven children is really not his wife as his wife is living at Moon Hills, Saskatchewan. He went through a form of marriage with the Wood woman September 29th, 1924, she being a widow with six children when he married her. In the meantime nspector Ruston and Provincial officers will find out more about his wife Mamie Hogg.

Milne was married first time in April 1907 at Cobourg by an Anglican clergyman.

"You will be remanded until the ninth on this charge, and also on the charge of non support." explained the crown, "but the non-support charge may be withdrawn on that date."

The court shall decide on June 10th, whether or not the children should be made wards of the Children's Aid Society. Milne's parents at Port Hope will be asked to take his infant child for adoption.

Is Illiterate

Milne who is illiterate did not seem to grasp the grave nature of the charges and smiled blandly on occasion with others in the court.

Mayor Mikel who happened to be in court when accused, who is penniless, asked for counsel, volunteered to act for him after submitting many questions to accused. Before the bigamy charge was laid, Mayor Mikel was endeavoring to find work for accused.

June Starts Out In Summery Style

Highest Mark Reached here Monday Was 82 Degrees

With the advent of June came summer. That might suggest something to the minds of those who may desire a weather comparison in years to come, and that is what happened. Sol is evidently attempting to make up for lost time after having cheated a great deal.

With Monday's high mark at 82 degrees in Belleville, there was a real rush for summer apparel and the last signs of cool weather melted away. Thunderstorms and cooler air waves caused mercury to dip to 61 as the low mark yesterday, but even that low mark was but five degrees lower than the highest temperature registered here on the same day last year. The high on June first last year was 66 and the low 40.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS SHOW BIG INCREASE

The customs returns for the port of Belleville for the month of May showed a considerable increase over those for May of last year. Figures were as follows:

May 1925—$305,214.03.
May 1924— 119,817.54

Increase—$185,817.54

GOOD PROGRAM ON FOR TO-MORROW

Under the auspices of the Belleville Agricultural Society, four speeding events will take place at the Agricultural park to-morrow afternoon, also a baseball match. Liberal purses will be given for the speeding events which should attract a good field of horses.

Queen Victoria Corps Was Best

Won Marsh Cup For Drill; Queen Mary Best Shots

The inspection yesterday afternoon of the cadet corps of the four public schools of the city attracted the attention of many spectators. Before General Hill and Capt Heron the inspecting officers the corps paraded and presented a creditable appearance. Competition between the corps for the Marsh cup and other prizes was keen, resulting in queen Victoria cadet corp being awarded the coveted prize. The officers of the four corps were as follows.

Queen Mary School

Co. Commander—Eugene Hitchon.

Platoon Commanders — No. 1, Victor White.

Section Commanders — John Spencer, Earle McFee, John Fisher, Walter Batchelor.

Queen Victoria School

Company Commander—F. Hitchon.

Platoon Commanders—L. Stortts, Allan Kerr.

Color Bearer—A. Young.

Queen Alexandra School

Company Commander—Mitchell Gillen.

Platoon Commander — No. 1, Tom Lewis; No. 2; Barnett Smith, No. 3, H. Sprague.

Platoon Sergeants — Jack Fulton Malcolm Blakley, Arthur Thompson.

King George School

Capt. — Jess Mason.

Platoon Commanders — Lewis Cole, Neil Hallam.

The total strength of the four unit was 272 the number in each corp being as follows: Queen Victoria 72, King George 71, Queen Alexandra 66 and Queen Mary.

Target Shooting

Though the members of Queen Mary school cadet corp were not as proficient in drill as the Queen Victoria School corp, they are at least the champions in target shooting. Rifle competition between the various cadet corps in the city has just been completed at the range in the armouries and the Queen Mary School corp won the two cups which are annually competed for, the Marsh and Merchants cups. This is by no means the first time that the young shots of Queen Mary School have proved their ability to hit the bull's eye.

J. S. Holgate of Bowmanville Attended First Conference And Is Coming Again Tomorrow

Is Oldest Layman Who Will Attend the Conference

WELL KNOWN HERE

Has Attended Practically Every Conference Since

There is a delegate to the Bay of Quinte Conference who will arrive in the city tomorrow, who attended the first Conference, held at Napanee, in 1884.

He is J. S. Holgate, of Bowmanville, a layman, and the oldest living delegate in point of attendance.

The Bay of Quinte Conference was organised after a five day debate in 1883, at the occasion of the establishing of the Methodist Church of Canada.

There are few other survivors of that Conference, either laymen or ministers, according to Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, Secretary of the Conference.

Mr. Holgate has attended practically every Conference since the first one, and has never missed a General Conference which is held every four years.

Of the ministers who have attended the Conferences, Dr. E. N. Baker, Principal of Albert College, is the oldest, in point of service.

Fifty-Two Years!

Dr. Baker is also one of three men of which there is any record who were ministers before the Union which resulted in the formation of the present Methodist Church. He was ordained in 1872, and has rounded out fifty-two years of active service.

Mr. McLauchlin passed down the names of former Presidents of Conferences, checking off the living. Two survive from the period before 1900, and the early part of this century spared few, there being nine former Presidents attending the present Conference.

G. H. Holton is President of the Executive Committee of the Young Peoples League which is meeting in conjunction with the general conference. They will discuss plans for the summer school at Bobcaygeon, in July and the Winter School at Cobourg in January.

Mr. McLaughlin said that the keynote of the Conference was "a disposition to make every effort to cooperate with the uniting body in all ways."

Tom Mason the courier, expects to reach Toronto Wednesday. That is his intention according to a letter received from him by Mayor Mikel to-day. He is feeling fine, is enjoying "every step" of the walk to date, and will reach Pickering to-night. At Bowmanville Mason gave an address on the Peace Celebration and Old Home Week to be held here first week of August, and was enthusiastically received by Mayor Tom Holgate, formerly of Belleville.

He breakfasted Monday morning with Mayor Chalk at Port Hope, having spent Sunday night at the Balmoral hotel at Cobourg. He arrived at Bowmanville Monday evening at 5.15 p.m. At Bowmanville, he was presented to the town council.

Building Permits For Month Pleasing

Considerably in Excess of Those Issued in May 1924

Eighteen building permits were issued by City Engineer C. D. Campbell for the month of May, totalling an expenditure of $22,475 which is considerably in excess for May 1924. Of the permits, three were for new residences and a service station at a total cost of $8,950; a factory permit of $11,000 and office additions totalling $2,200 and additions to residences of $2,325.

The total permits for the five months of this year are 57 totalling $79,910 as against 23 permits totalling $54,480 for the same period last year. The increase this year is $25,060.

FLOORED BY FLASH

During the severe thunderstorm last night, Mr. George N. Graham, a C. N. R. yardman, was temporarily rendered unconscious by a flash of lightning. After first aid had been rendered, Mr. Graham was taken to his home. Fortunately the shock was not severe and the victim had today almost fully recovered.

Convicted For Using Punch Board

Sequel to Thefts From Another Store Concluded To-day

The case of the three young lads who procured money from the till in Cory's grocery recently by a hoax was again adjourned today until Saturday. One of the three boys has developed mumps and it was impossible to proceed with the charges.

Another Bridge street grocer over whose punch board the boys "shot" $3 of the money, was charged with operating a game of chance and was convicted, but allowed suspended sentence for six months when he paid court costs of $12.

Police had two witnesses in court one of whom told of owing this store $13.50 for punches on the chocolate board.

Anyone who is operating punch boards had better take warning as police are determined to rout them. They are absolutely illegal, and the minimum fine for conviction of operating one is $25 and costs.

Mayor Mikel defended accused and told of his not knowing that the boards were illegal, as a reputable chocolate firm had sold them to him. He had not hidden the board either but conducted it in full view of customers who purchased his goods.

OPENING UP MODERN ESTABLISHMENT HERE

Citizens of Belleville and district will be glad to know that Mr. Tetley Blackburn, formerly of The Blackburn Jewelry and Optical business of this city ,is opening a modern, up-to-date optical establishment on Campbell St.

Mr. Blackburn is an optician of wide experience covering a period of some thirty-two years. Graduating in 1893 from The Chicago Opthalmic College, he spent three years in Chicago, afterwards moving to Cleveland where he remained for some time, acquiring a thorough knowledge of the most modern methods of eye treatment.

On leaving Cleveland Mr. Blackburn came to Belleville where, for the past twenty-five years he has built up an enviable reputation as an expert in optical work. Reopening now in his new headquarters on Campbell St. he has equipped his optical parlors with the very latest devices for the fitting of the eyes, the complete equipment being under electrical control and is efficient to the degree that the slightest trouble can be detected and remedied. The eye is first examined with the Opthalmoscope to ascertain its physical condition, and with the aid of the Retinoscope and Phorometer any defect can be readily measured and corrected and exact correction given.

The Refraction and Fitting room is finished in Opthalmic Blue, the most approved coloring in modern optical parlors for its stimulus to relaxation.

Mr. Blackburn has recently returned from several weeks study in New York and so is prepared to offer the public as expert an eye service as is obtainable anywhere in the country.

APPLY VISION TO OCCUPATION SPEAKER SAYS

Claims Even Street Cleaners Can Do Better Work, Thereby

CLUB IS HONORED

Knight MacGregor Sang Three Impressive Selections For His Friends

A street cleaner with the faculty of vision was the picture presented to the Belleville Kiwanis Club at the New Queen's Hotel to-day as being within het realms of possibility. The speaker of the day, Rev. Wendell P. Woodger, B.A., of Trenton, declared that such a worker might go about his job with his head up, in the knowledge that he was taking an important part in protecting the health of his fellow citizens and working hand in hand with the Medical Health Officer.

Mr. Woodger was of course going out of his way to illustrate his point, but he brought home to Kiwanians his contention that every man's job could be made really worth while by the application of this faculty of vision, and showed that vision could be applied to almost any undertaking.

He complimented another honored guest present, Knight MacGregor, old Belleville boy and noted singer, who had just concluded three delightful songs in his artistic manner. Knight must be imbued with this vision, the speaker said, because he was able to thrill his listeners, to impart to them the spirit of the songs he sang.

Many Guests Present

There were many guests present, most of them being delegates at the Bay of Quinte Conference now in session.

Kiwanian Fred Malott occupied the chair.

Announcement was made that President Bill Lattimer was much improved in health but that he would not be able to leave the bedroom for some weeks yet. Secretary George Griffin was also reported to be still confined to his home yet.

Kiwanians decided to take the children of the City Mission out for their annual joy-ride in Kiwanians' autos in two weeks time.

Nature Lore

(By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB)

One day, years ago, somebody discovered that the Golden Plover is a bit of a globe trotter, to put it mildly, for he was first noticed keeping house up in the sub arctic and when winter came on, he was seen in the other ends of the earth down not far from the south pole.

Naturally folks began to keep tabs on old man Plover and he still has people guessing about his private life. He does about twenty-two thousand miles a year in the process of migration. How he manages to keep alive in the storms is a question.

These storms during the migrating season are the cause of death and suffering to many many birds. Just this year we had a terrible Spring storm and it overtook huge flocks of birds passing through New England on the way to Canada.

When the storm came on, the poor things had to make the best of it and it was about the same thing as a fire in the forest, only the opposite in temperature. When there is a forest fire, man and beast forget their fear of each other and swim in the lake, side by side, and in the Spring storm, the birds come to man for help. And the people of New England went out into the storm and looked for birds, bird lovers who understand, and picked up exhausted birds, warmed them in their hands, kept them until the storm was over and then let them go. One man says that a hermit thrush in this town, came wobbling down into the main street and fluttered about in a dased half frosen sort of way, and then, to the delight of everybody, it settled on the top of his man's auto radiator and recovered with that warm spot to help it, and that car, with the engine running, stayed right where it was, in the middle of the road, until Mr. Thrush pulled himself togegther and flew.

The Hermit thrush it at least the equal of the English Sky Lark, in song, for bird lovers who have heard them both, say so. He is shy and seldom appears in town, but after the storm, was very friendly and on the lawns with robins, eating worms. And some scientists say birds have no human intelligence. I ask you.

SUMMER SCHOOLS

A Toronto communication says that the Church is capturing Summer, with or without mosquitoes, and is utilizing the outing instinct for religious education.

Six summer schools or conferences and eight summer camps for young people are announced to be held this year in the area of the Toronto Methodist Conference, four schools and four camps in the London Conference, two schools and eight camps in Montreal Conference, two schools and five camps in Hamilton Conference, besides others east and west.

Many thousands of leaders, young people, and boys and girls will attend these gatherings which are for religious instruction, featuring the study of the Bible and missions.

The popularity of such institutions in an age of "beach dolls" and "cake eaters" should silence many critics of youth.

Ninety-nine gatherings of the school, conference or camp type are being held in Canada with Methodist organizations for young people participating. Four camps for leaders of girls and eighteen camps for girls are scheduled, and an even larger number for boys of teen age.

GOLF AND THE ELDERLY

The New York statistician who for years has been keeping a list of sudden deaths among golf players will now add another name, that of J. Dales Dort, who dropped dead on a country club course in Michigan. He was sixty-four years old. The list of well-known men of mature age who have succumbed while playing on the links is a long one. There have been so many instances of the kind that the medical journals are beginning to pay attention to the subject and some significant warnings have appeared from leading physicians on the danger that golf may hold for those no longer young.

The mistake made by many men who have passed the meridian of life is in assuming that golf is not a strenuous sport. It is true that it may be played leisurely, but comparatively few devotees "take it easy." Especially where the element of competition enters in the elderly are apt to strain their powers beyond the normal point of endurance thus inviting disaster. The moral from these numerous tragedies of the links is not that the game should be given up by all except the young and athletic, but that the elderly should play it with discretion. And it would not be a bad idea for old fellows to consult their doctor from time to time and find if they are in condition to walk several miles a day around a golf course and to indulge in addition in the violent exertion of driving the ball, with the excitement of competition on the side.

WHY CHANCE IT?

One would think that common sense alone should keep people from sending through the mails such perishable products as butter, lard and other liquifiable substances improperly packed. But, according to the postal authorities, quite a few people still persist in "taking their chance" in this ridiculous way; whereas such stuff should be packed in strong, leakproof containers marked "Keep from Heat," which would, in most cases at least, guarantee it from damage. As the post office people say: "If a parcel is worth mailing it is worth proper packing."

FEDERAL ELECTIONS

Referring to the forthcoming provincial elections in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Saskatchewan, the London Free Press says:

"All three provinces have now Liberal ministries, and if the Liberals can again sweep the day there, it can be taken for granted that Ot- be taken for granted that the Ottawa strategists will advise Premier King to lose no time in taking advantage of three local victories. If the Liberals lose then it is safe bet ing that Premier King will wait until next year before taking the plunge."

Press Opinions

BRITAIN AND THE U. S.

(Chicago Tribune)

The United States and the British Empire are the stabilizing systems of the world today. The greatest interest of both are unbroken peace and the development of profitable relations with all peoples. If we are commercial rivals we are also in many important respects commercial complements and our competitions are not of a nature to disturb world peace by resort to destructive conflict. We think largely in the same terms in law, social reforms, politics and business, and on any great issue that might threaten the peace and stability of world relations our co-operation would be decisive..

INCOME TAXES

((St. Catharines Standard)

The employee class pays the largest amount per year into the Dominion Treasury in the form of income tax. A survey of the figures shows that employees whose pay is known to a cent by the tax officers are the ones who contribute the most and are the least able to escape. This fact must give rise to speculation as to the many who do escape paying their full share, and the methods adopted to cheat the government.

IMPROVING ON NATURE

(Montreal Gazette)

English pheasants, imported into the Niagara Peninsula, are described as "a curse" because they do more damage to crops than do the crows. Thus the pheasant gets into the same class as the rabbitt an dthe wild horse in Australia, and the Scotch thistle and English sparrow in America. Dame Nature occasionally proves that she knows better than some of the humans who try to improve on her arrangements and upset her balance.

SOME ONE TO BLAME

(Brantford Expositor)

The Ontario Government apparently does not intend holding an inquiry into the tragedy at the Toronto Girls' Reformatory, but will rely on the facts being brought out at the inquest. There certainly seems to be blame attachable to somebody as, according to Major Morrison, of the male reformatory at Langstaff the rule requiring reporting every hour from Concord to Langstaff has not been observed, while it is apparent the leaving of night duty to one matron was taking too much risk. However, it is easy to be wise after the event, an dno one could have predicted that young women would attempt to outdo the deeds of male bandits.

THE USELESS CRITIC

(Trenton Courier)

When you hear a man sneering at the local newspaper because it is not as big as the city daily you can safely bet that he does not spend any of his money in assisting to make it bigger and that generally the paper has done more for him than he has for it." The man who cannot see the benefit arising from the local paper is about as much value to a town as a delinquent tax list.

To-day's Smile

Col. Lorillard Spencer of New York, was discussing the culpability of the men responsibility for the United States' miserable fleet of aircraft during the world war.

"Each of these men," he said, "tried to put the blame on the others. Well, if they asked me who was the most brameworthy, I'd tell them the story of a Chinese.

"A Chinese was held up by two horrible-looking tramps. They told him they had been disputing a long time about which of them was the uglier, and they were now going to leave the decision to him.

"Then the tramps took their places side by side in the middle of the road. The Chinese, calm and silent, walked 'round them. He considered them from every angle. Finally he gave his verdict.

" 'Both are worst' ", he said.

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

The Land of the Dons

I am now in London; twenty-four hours ago I was in Spain, the land of the Dons—so quick will the modern steel Pegasus transport one. After every visit to Spain I feel like quoting Byron's word if it—"It is a goodly sight to see what Heaven hath done for this delicious land." This time I was much in Toledo, overhanging the Tagus. It is very much today as the Moors left it centuries ago. When you pass through its gate and find your way amid the network of cobbled alleys, encountering lumbering ox wagons, it is easy to imagine oneself back in the Middle Ages. It is one of the oldest cities of Europe. Toledo, Ohio, has a population ten times as large as its Spanish godfather, but has it the lovely tower of Santo Tome, or the medieval bridge of San Martin or the ancient gate of Puerta del Sol? I trow not.

The Spaniards are among the most kindly and hospitable people in the world, and are always ready to offer assistance to a foreigner. Every man considers himself a gentleman and if this is borne in mind the humblest worker will be found as courteous and well-mannered as the highest grandee in the land. Stories of the quick-flashing stiletto and the hot-tempered Southern spirit, so dear to the novelist and the dramatist, make up in picturesqueness what they lack in truth.

The Country Without Any Sea

The one thing lacking in Switzerland is the one thing lacking in heaven according to the Bible—the sea. But it possesses numerous lakes—the lake of Geneva, with its immense glistening surface; the lake of Neuchatel, with its vast horizons; that of Zurich, with its girdle of green hills; the lakes of the Berness Oberland, whose banks are both wild and smiling; the celebrated lake of the Four Cantons and the warm sheltered Italo-Swiss lakes.

The mountain railroads of Switzerland, reputed as the best in the world, are, in most cases, masterpieces of bold engineering. They convey travellers gently and with complete security to the mountain-tops, (above the very enjoy the incomparable delights of on its little inland oceans regular steamer services bring you in touch with the lovely shore resorts that you have seen from the mountain tops.

Smith Falls Pupils on Strike Again

Parents Join Them in Asking For Dismissal of Principal

Smith's Falls, Ont., June 2.—At a ratepayers' meeting called by Mayor Dr. J. A. Anderson here on Saturday, resolutions were passed unanimously calling for the immediate resignation of Mr. O. E. Evans, principal of the Collegiate Institute, who was the centre of the recent students' strike, when the students in a body walked out demanding his dismissal. The ratepayers' meeting also asked for the reinstatement of three teachers, C.S. Allin, Miss M. Burns and Miss M. Ellis, in addition to the four already reinstated by the Board as the result of the first students' strike.

At the meeting was read a letter from School Inspector G. F. Rogers, Brockville, denying in toto to Miss Ruby Hubbell, that he had made any report to the Smith's Falls Board of Education, charging inefficiency on the part of any teacher of the institute. This was stated to be the case at a meeting of the Board, when the seven teachers were first given notice causing the students' strikes.

The pupils declare they will not return to school as long as Principal Evans remains in office, while the Board of Education has announced that it will not change its decision that the principal must stay. The principal has already been re-engaged for the coming school year.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drugstore—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

CHARITY AFFAIRS NOT PROFITABLE

(Associated Press Despatch)

London, June 2. — There has been such a slump in the net receipts from charity functions, balls, tea dances and concerts given by the society folk, that an effort is being made toward proper organization. By this means it is hoped hitherto ridiculous expenses will be wiped out, and good profits made for the various deserving charities for which the particular functions are given.

In a recent case a ball committee paid out $1,500 for expenses, and everybody enjoyed themselves dancing, but the charity got only $250. All this is to cease, and the management of affairs has been placed in the hands of Mrs. Frank Braham, a well-known society woman. Her dances are among the most popular in London. Mrs. Braham intends getting to work first on obtaining royal patronage, then forming a good hard-working committee of women, after which she expects the rest to be comparatively easy and also profitable.

Crippled Soldiers Are Given The Best

Wonderful Surgical Work Being Carried Out at Christie Hospital

Toronto, June 2.—"I was very much impressed with the surgical work at the Christie Street Hospital, especially the plastic and reparative surgery. I do not think the public realize what is being done for our crippled soldiers at this hospital."—Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey.

The above remarks were made by the Provincial Minister of Health and Labor after an operation had been performed in his persence on the right eye of Private R. H. Parr, who saw service in the Great War with the 47th Battalion for two and a half years, when a bullet entered his eye the socket of which would not heal sufficiently to enable him to make use of an artificial one.

To overcome this difficulty, 'plastic' or skin grafting surgery was resorted to in one of the operating rooms of Christie Street Hospital, which took the form of a piece of skin being taken from his left arm and afterwards placed in the patient's eye socket.

Seeing an Operation

To one who has never witnessed an operation, the quick dexterity and methodical quickness with which it is performed by the operating surgeon, expert anaesthetic administrator, nurses and orderlies, is most striking.

The patient in question was wheeled into the operating room smoking a cigarette. He was placed on the operating table and in spite of the murderous-looking surgical instruments in full view in their glass cases, Parr was quite cool, cheerful and optimistic as to the outcome of the operation he was to go through. Then some kind of a machine was wheeled near his head, a tube placed in his mouth and the anasthetic commenced to take control of him. Soon he lay perfectly still until the operation was over, which took exactly 30 minutes to complete.

There are wonderful operating rooms at Christie Street Hospital. Everything is white, and of course spotlessly clean.

In another room at the same time a patient was undergoing an abdominal operation, this time with local anesthetics. Although he was quite conscious, he did not feel any pain nor move until the operation was completed, although he could plainly see the surgeon sewing up the necessary parts of his body that had been cut.

Since the D.S.C.R. took over Christie Street Hospital, 3,360 operations have been performed, many almost miraculous cures being effected.

Brazilian Girls In Beauty Contest

Unusual Prizes Offered such As Safety Razors And Stoves

(Associated Press Despatch)

Rio De Janeiro, June 2.—The business men of this city apparently believe that pretty girls in Brazil are a bit different. One of the local newspapers is running a beauty contest, with some unusual prizes being offered by local commercial firms.

There are, of course, the usual premiums of talcum powder, toilet sets and perfume, but some of the others are difficult to harmonize with the prevalent belief that the Brazilian girl does no work, and never goes out unless accompanied by a member of the family.

Included in the list of prizes is a repeating rifle, a bicycle, a gas stove, an ice chest, a typewriter, 50 safety razor blades, a lottery ticket and 25 collections of love stories.

The photographs already published have not included any contestants who seem to be in need of such a large supply of razor blades and the motive behind the donation is unexplainable, except on the theory that the girls with bobbed hair are in a habit of shaving their necks.

Meanest Woman Is Found in Hamilton

Took Pension Money Of War Widow With Three Children

Hamilton, June 2.—Diogenes, with lamp to aid his quest, may have found the "meanest man," but Mrs. Martha Savage claims to have located the "meanest woman." More correctly, she has not "located" but only suffered from the actions of the "meanest woman."

Mrs. Savage, 5 Hampton avenue, a widow with three young children, received a check from the mothers' pensions board Saturday morning. Saturday evening she took her children to Dundurn park, where they played on the grass. The woman had her purse with her, containing $35 left after the check was cashed. This was all the money she possessed, she told the police. When it came time to depart she could not find the purse. She searched very carefully, going from bench to bench. Finally a young man came to her, discovered her loss, and informed her that he had found just such a purse with $35 inside, which he had mentioned to a woman sitting on the bench recently vacated by Mrs. Savage. This woman had claimed the purse as hers, had received it from the young man and departed.

LITTLE LAD DROWNS, FELL INTO A VAT

Hamilton, June 2.—Arthur Vandusen, 84 Earle street, seven-year-old son of Robert and Mrs. Vandusen, met a tragic death Saturday when he slipped and fell into a large vat at the Wentworth disposal plant.

The accident was not witnessed so far as the police have been able to ascertain. The boy was last seen by his parents when he left the house Saturday morning. When he did not return during the day his parents became anxious. In the late afternoon a younger cousin volunteered the information that he had seen Arthur playing about the vat. Sergeants May, Hill and Constable Forbes accordingly visited the plant and, searching the vat, located the boy's body. He had been dead for some time.

PETERBORO WON THE THIRD STRAIGHT

Manager Shriner Johnston's Petes hung up their third victory of the week in Oshawa on Saturday, wher in a game featured by the long distance hitting of the winners, they defeated the Motor City crew 8 runs to 5.

The Petes have not been noted for long drives; as a rule they have required a flock of hits to get runs.

Saturday, however, they broke out in a perfect rash of tall clouting, their ten hits including home runs by Ray Rose, Bob Rose and Jimmy Hall and a three station wallop by M. Heckman.

Incidentally the pitcher's triple was the most fruitful blow of all for it came with the sacks densely populated and thus was cashed in for three good runs.

Heckman was on the firing line for the Petes and annexed his second win of the season, holding Oshawa to eight hits. The Petes' right-hander lacked the usual zip on his fast ball but he used his hook to good advantage, did not give a base on balls and with more accurate support in the early stages would have escaped with only a brace of runs registered against him. Oshawa's first three counters were helped by fielding misplays, but after the third innings the Petes' defensive work was air-tight and snappy.

Dainty pitched for Oshawa.

BABE RUTH BACK AT BAT YESTERDAY

Yankee Stadium, New York, June 2.—Cheered by 10,000 fans in grand stand and bleachers as he trotted out to right field, Babe Ruth returned to the Yankee line-up against Washington yesterday after seven weeks in the hospital and another on the bench.

The big Bambino, who looked pale, slightly thinner through the shoulders and spindly as to shanks, recieved another outburst of applause when he came to bat for the first time. He was the first man up in the second and had to face Walter Johnston, in the Swede's best form.

Johnson laid a fast one down the groove and Babe took an easy swing, met the ball squarely, and sent an easy bounder straight back to Walter, who threw him out at first.

TORONTO BREAKS ITS WINNING STREAK

Buffalo, June 2.—Collapsing as completely and as quickly as weeds before a hurricane, the Toronto Maple Leafs came to the end of their brilliant winning streak after nineteen straight yesterday afternoon at the Bison Stadium, being outclassed outfought and outshone at every angle of the game by the locals in both ends of the most remarkable double engagement that has been witnessed on a Buffalo field in a 'green' moon. Outstanding as the heroes of a sequence of thrill-producing events were Eddie ("Lefty") Lepard and Andy Anderson.

Lepard came through with the most sensational pitching performances recorded here in years when he attempted the iron man stunt, and technically succeeded in vanquishing the Leafs in both games by scores of 13 to 2 and 7 to 9, although he did not finish the second skirmish of seven innings, being relieved in the fifth innings to make way for a pinch hitter, Babe Dye.

To Lepard goes most of the credit for the actual spiking of the Leafs' streak, for he held the Canadians down with three lonely hits in the opening fray.

CHICAGO MARKET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, June 2.—Corn led the way in a general early swing downward today of grain values. Widespread rains giving relief from drought caused a selling movement that was especially effective against December delivery of corn. A delivery that was recently made conspicious by sensational advance on account of crop damage fears.

Before to-days decline could be checked, December corn price suffered an extreme break of 5 1-2c a bushel. Corn opening prices unchanged to 3-4c lower were followed by slide down that carried September to 113 and December to 93. Wheat and oats gave way with corn despite month end reports from experts showing heavy crop deterioration during May. After opening at 1-8 to 7-8c off wheat scored moderate gains but then sharply declined, July touching 157 1-4 and Sept. 135 1-2 oats started at 1-8 c off to 1-4c up. Later upturns were followed by material setback all around. Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provision market.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

York Auchester raised his eyebrows and laughed.

"What's wrong with the women?" he said.

The duke leaned his head upon his hand, and partially hid his face, which had suddenly become red.

"Everything is wrong with them, Yorke," he said, gravely and in a low voice. "You know, or perhaps you do not know, how I esteem, reverence, respect a woman; perhaps because I dare not love them."

Yorke Auchester nodded.

"If all the men felt as you do about women there would be no bad ones in the world, Dolph," he said.

"To me there is something sacred in the very word. My heart expands, grows warm in the presence of a good woman. I cannot look at a beautiful girl without thinking—don't misunderstand me, Yorke."

"No, no, old chap!"

"I love, I reverence them; and yet they have made me fly from London, have caused me almost to vow that I will never go back; that I will hide my misshapen self for the rest of my weary days——"

"Why, Dolph——"

"Listen," said the duke. "Look at me, Yorke. Ah, it is unnecessary. You know what I am. A thing for women to pity, to shudder at—not to love! And yet"—he hid his face— "some of them have tried to persuade me that I—I— could inspire a young girl with love; that I—I—oh, think of it, Yorke!—that I had only to offer myself as a husband to the most beautiful, the fairest, straightest, queenliest of them, to be accepted!"

Yorke Auchester leaned over him.

"You take these things too seriously, Dolph," he said, soothingly. "It's—it's the way of the world, and you can't better it; you must take it as it comes."

"The way of the world! That a girl—young, beautiful, graceful—should be sold by her mother and father, should be willing to sell herself—ah, Yorke!—to a thing like me. Is that the way of the world? What a wicked, heartless, vicious world, then; and what an unhappy wretch am I! What fools they are, too, Yorke! They think it is so fine a thing to wear a ducal coronet! Ha, ha!" He laughed with sad bitterness. "So fine, that they would barter their souls to the evil one to feel the pressure of that same coronet on their brows, to hear other women call them 'Your Grace'. Oh, Yorke, what fools! How I could open their eyes if they would let me! Look at me. I am the Duke of Rothbury, Knight of the Garter—poor garter!" and he looked at his thin leg— "and what else? I almost forget some of my titles; and I would swap them all for a straight back and stalwart limbs like yours. But, Yorke, to share those titles, how many women would let me limp to the altar on their arms!"

He laughed again, still more bitterly.

"Sometimes, when some sweet-faced girl, with a look of an angel in her eyes, with a voice like a heavenly harmony, is making what they call 'a dead set' at me, I have hard work to restrain myself from telling her what I think of her and those who set her for me. Yorke, it is this part of the business which makes my life almost unendurable, and it is only by running away from every one who knows, or has heard of, the "poor" Duke of Rothbury that I can put up with existence."

"Poor old chap," murmured Lord Auchester.

"Just now," continued the duke, "as we drove up to the door, I caught sight of a beautiful girl at the window opposite. I saw her face grow soft with pity, with the angelic pity of a woman, which, though it stings and cuts into one like a cut from a whip, I try to be grateful for. She pitied me, not knowing who and what I am. Tell her that I am the Duke of Rothbury, and in five minutes or less that angelic look of compassion will be exchanged for the one which you see on the face of the hunter as his prey comes within sight. She will think, 'He is ugly, crooked, maimed for life; but he is a man, and I can therefore marry him; he is a duke and I should be a duchess.' And so, like a moral poison, like some plague, I blight the souls of the best and purest. Listen to her now; that is the girl singing. What is it? I can hear the words."

He held up his hand. Leslie was singing, quite unconscious of the two listeners.

"My sweet girl love with frank blue eyes,
Though years have passed I see you still;
There, where you stood beside the mill,
Beneath the bright autumnal skies.
Though years have passed I see you yet;
Do you still remember, or do you forget?"

"A nice voice," said Yorke Auchester, approvingly.

"Yes; the voice of a girl-angel. No doubt she is one. She needs only to be informed that an unmarried duke is within reach, and she'll be in a hurry to drop to the earth, and in her hurry to reach and to secure him will not mind dragging her white wings in the mud."

"Women are built that way," said Yorke Auchester, concisely.

The duke sighed.

"Oh, yes, they are all alike. Yorke, what a fine duke you would have made! What a mischievous, spiteful old cat Fate is, to make me a duke and you only a younger son! How is it you don't hate and envy me, Yorke?"

"Because I'm not a cad and a beast, I suppose," replied the young fellow, pleasantly. "Why, Dolph, you have been the best friend a man ever had——"

"Most men hate their best friends," put in the duke, with a sad smile.

"Where should I have been but for you?" continued Yorke Auchester, ignoring the parenthesis. "You have lugged me out of Queer street by the scruff of my neck half a dozen times. Every penny I ever had came from you, and I've had a mint, a complete mint—and by the way, Dolph, I want some more."

The duke laughed wearily.

"Take as much as you want, Yorke," he said. "But for you, the money would grow and grow till it buried and smothered me. I cannot spend it; you must help me."

"I will; I always have," said Yorke Auchester, laughing. "It's a pity you haven't got some expensive fad, Dolph—pictures, or coins, or first editions, or racing."

The duke shrugged his shoulders.

"I have only one fad," he said; "to be strong and straight, and that not even the Rothbury money can gratify. But I do get some pleasure out of your expenditure. I fancy you enjoy yourself."

"I do."

"Yes? That is well. Some day you will marry——"

Yorke Auchester's hand dropped from the duke's shoulder.

"Marry some young girl who loves you for yourself alone."

"She's not likely to love me for anything else."

"All the better. Oh, Heaven! What would I not give for such a love as that?" broke out the duke.

As the passionate exclamation left his lips the door opened, and Mrs. Whiting, the landlady, came in. Her face was flushed; she was in a state of nervous excitement, caused by a mixture of curiosity and fear.

"I beg your pardon, your grace," she faltered, puffing timorously; "but did you ring?"

The duke looked straight at the woman and then up at Yorke Auchester.

"No," said Yorke.

"I beg your grace's pardon," the curious woman began, stammeringly; but Grey coming from behind her seized her by the arm, and, none too gently, swung her into the passage and closed the door.

The duke looked down frowningly.

"They've found you out, Dolph," said Yorke.

Mary Pickford Had a Narrow Escape

Three Men Confess Plan to Kidnap Popular Actress

Los Angeles, June 2.—Discovery of an alleged plot to kidnap Mary Pickford and hold her for ransom has resulted in the arrest here of Charles H. Stevens, Adrian James Woods and Claude A. Holcombe.

All three of the men have confessed, according to the police.

After Woods had admitted his part in the supposed plan to hold the screen heroine for $200,000 ransom, Holcombe and Stevens finally broke down and confessed to participation in the conspiracy, the police said.

Arrested At Studio

The three who are held all have police records, according to the authorities. They were arrested Saturday night while waiting in their automobile at the Pickford studios for Mary to appear.

According to the police, the conspirators, disguised in the regalia of shriners, planned to waylay the automobile carrying Miss Pickford, blackjack her chauffeur, and take the movie star to a remote shack in Tujunga Canyon, near here, where she would have been held for ransom.

Confessions of the three under arrest, according to the police, implicated a fourth man, who is being sought to-day.

Broke Down From Hunger

Holcombe, the last to confess, broke down only from hunger, police said, after he had been questioned for ten consecutive hours. It was because of his penniless condition that he entered the plot, Holcombe told the police. He was to have received $50,000 as his share in the abduction coup, according to his story to the authorities.

An attorney retained by the wife of Woods announced he would seek his immediate release on a writ of habeas corpus. Woods is a truck driver, and Stevens an automobile salesman.

In the purported confessions the prisoners admit that under the stimulus of such strong drink as was from time to time available to them, they talked of various "ways of getting easy money." A project to kidnap the grandchildren of E. L. Doheny, oil magnate, was under consideration for a while, as were plans to carry off and hold for ransom Jackie Coogan, Pola Negri and the grandson of an unnamed retired business man. Finally, the confessions reveal, Mary Pickford was picked as the most likely prospect for a profitable kidnapping.

SAY MOVIES MAY CURE SEASICKNESS

(Associated Press Despatch)

Hollywood, Cal., June 2.—An experiment in the filming of moving pictures for exhibition on ocean liners as a cure for sea-sickness among passengers is being conducted here by Robert G. Vignola, a director.

The cause of sea-sickness, the director declares, is largely visual, predicated on the shifting planes which characterize the motion of a ship. The larger ocean passenger carriers are now equipped with exhibition cameras and screens and it is Vignola's belief that pictures can be made for exhibition on shipboard which will counteract the effect of the ship's motion and save the most susceptible passenger from the horrors of mal demer.

Tall Men Band For More Comfort

Want Longer Berths and Bath Tubs; Higher Awnings

(Associated Press Despatch)

Marshfield, Ore., June 2.—Banding together in an organization to alleviate the woes of tall men, which they hope may become national and international in scope, 28 men of Marshfield who are six-footers or more, have formed the Long Fellow Club No. 1.

"To make life more comfortable and longer for tall men," is one of the purposes of the club. Others are: "To promote close relationship and friendship among members; to furnish each member all possible information bearing on improvements made in living conditions for tall men."

Among the things which these "higher-ups" hope to accomplish is to start a movement for longer beds in hotels; longer berths in Pullman cars and state rooms; longer bathtubs; for awnings on streets which will not cause the downtrodden of this group to dodge continually while strolling down the street, and for more comfortable car and theatre seats.

Picture of Pictures Showing at Griffin

"Guy Fawkes", a British Production, Well Worth Seeing

"Guy Fawkes", a super-production, a motion picture play that is as replete with legitimate thrills as a porcupine is with quills, possessing a love story that has never been surpassed in Belleville, a British triumph (and thus a Canadian triumph), played at the Griffin Theatre for the first time last night. Just a handful of people turned out to see it.

But if the Griffin Theatre is not comfortably filled tomorrow evening and well packed on Wednesday, then this motion picture fan is sadly wrong in his estimation of what fans generally like to see.

We have had the "Sea Hawk", "The Covered Wagon", "Scaramouche", "Abraham Lincoln" and a number of other widely acclaimed, expensive pictures, but not one of them has anything better to offer than "Guy Fawkes".

An Interesting Story

Everybody has a vague knowledge of the story of Guy Fawkes and the plot to blow up the House of Parliament with gunpowder. Even in Canada, the fifth of November is set aside by many to commemorate the averted disaster. But it is safe to say that few, if any, people in Belleville know the human story in detail, the motives that actuated Guy Fawkes or realise that in his way, the same Guy Fawkes was a hero.

The acting in the picture is superb, Matheson Lang, the famous legitimate stage actor playing a wonderful role in impersonating Fawkes, the "Soldier of Fortune".

And right straight through the cast, every actor plays with the finish of an all-star cast. The scenes showing the old-time life in a Belgium tavern, and the finding of Fawkes, King James I and his council in deliberation, the placing of the gunpowder in the vaults under the House of Parliament, the searching of the old Manor for a Roman Catholic priest, the torture chamber, the cell in the Tower of London and a score of others, carried one out of the theatre. Those present were living right in the picture.

Plain Realistic

There was no attempt in the picture to see how many hundreds of people could be crowded into one scene. In fact, the actors were few compared with some mammoth undertakings of Hollywood. Quantity was sacrificed for quality andthe result was perfect settings all the way through.

The producers had a splendid opportunity to make the picture gruesome in spots. They had many chances to send shivers up the spine. But although the horrors were there, they were merely suggested and the picture gained by it.

Canadians may not agree that the heroine is a typical beauty, but they will admit that she has a most captivating smile and that if she is not the equal of Hollywood stars in looks, she is most certainly a first class actress.

Movie Actors Have No Parlor Jobs

Auto Accident Happened Which the Script Did Not Call For

Two sadly damaged automobiles, a ruined motorcycle, and a bunged up star and one of the supporting cast added to the expense of production of "Oh, Doctor!" Universal-Jewel showing today and tomorrow at the Belle theatre.

Reginald Denny, the star of "Oh, Doctor!" and Mike Donlin, who plays the part of a reckless chauffeur, were the two who were injured and the injuries were sustained when the automobiles and motorcycle were wrecked. Neither wreck nor injuries was part of the script but the recklessness from which they resulted was.

"Oh, Doctor!" is the screen version of the widely acclaimed story by the same name written by Harry Leon Wilson and published serially in The Saturday Evening Post. It is the story of a hypochondriac who attained young manhood as a chronic invalid whose entire life had been devoted to caring for his health. The time he was not in bed he spent in an invalid chair. His sole activities centered around his medicine schedule and his temperature. The treatment of the character by Wilson is supremely humorous and this is the treatment accorded the character in the screen version, Denny having a fine opportunity to display a new ability, according to preview notices.

In the latter part of the story the invalid becomes galvanized into desire to gain a reputation as a man of reckless proclivities so that he may win the regard of a beautiful nurse with whom he has fallen in love but who lets him understand that she can love only such a man as are the heroes of the stories of adventure she reads.

When the invalid-by-mind-power finally does step forth into the world he engages whole-heartedly in the most astounding forms of recklessness greatly to the distress of those who care for him and to those who have loaned him money.

Buys Bar of Gold at Bank of England

Carried It Away As If It Were a Bar of Soap

A man walked out of the Bank of England with a bar of gold weighing 25 pounds and worth nearly £1,750. It was wrapped up in a copy of a newspaper, but might have been merely a bar of soap, so nonchalent was the man who carried it.

Representing a large firm of manufacturing jewellers, he had been to buy a bar of gold. It was handed to him across the counter in exchange for notes.

Manufacturing jewellers, who for years past could only purchase gold from bullion dealers or assayers, can now obtain it at the Bank of England.

The man with the two stone of gold did not walk very far, but went to the office of his firm in a taxicab.

The bar measured 10 inches long by 3 inches wide and half an inch deep.

The price of gold is now £3 17s 10 1-2d. per standard ounce.

TIRED OUT ALL THE TIME

Nerves Gave Little Rest

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Harrowsmith, Ontario.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would take weak, fainting spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, day or night. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to publish this good medicine. I lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will serve to help others."—Mrs. Harvey Milligan, R. R. No. 2, Harrowsmith, Ontario.

In a recent canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 100,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 said they had been helped by its use. This medicine is for sale by all druggists.

When three-year-old Helen McElhone, of Tilsonburg, was pushed over an embankment on Saturday by playmates a piece of wood pierced her throat, coming through her mouth, but missing the jugular by a hair breadth. She is expected to recover.

The auto of Mrs. James Conley, of St. Thomas, was yesterday struck broad side by another auto, the driver of which did not stop, and was hurled into the ditch, all the occupants suffering from cuts and bruises.

Cod Liver Oil In Sugar Coated Tablets For Puny Kids

Forget the nasty tasting, stomach upsetting cod liver oil and give the thin, underdeveloped children McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound tablets if you want to give them a good appetite and put pounds of goods, healthy flesh on their bones.

Doctors know all about them and so does Dolan's Drug Store, McKeown's Drug Store, Doyles Drug Store and all good pharmacists all over America, for they are in great demand, because they are not laggards but show results in a few days.

They are not expensive either—60 tablets—60 cents and children take them like candy.

A very sickly child, age 9, gained 12 pounds in seven months and is strong and healthy.

One skinny woman gained 9 pounds in 24 days.

"Be sure to get McCoy's, the orginal and genuine Cold Liver Oil Compound Tablet."

Darken Hair! Look Young

NOBODY CAN TELL WHEN YOU RESTORE GRAY, FADED HAIR WITH SAGE TEA

Grand mother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for 'Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound,' you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known down town druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft bush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy soft and beautiful.

If Back Or Kidneys Ache Drink Water

DRINK FREELY AND OFTEN TO FLUSH THE KIDNEYS, ALSO TAKE SALTS

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to get relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidney; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Princes Mary and Viscount Lascelles Goins to Abergeldie

(Associated Press Despatch)

Aberdeen, June 1.—News that Abergeldie Castle is to be "loaned" to Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles next Autumn, has created a favorable impression in Scotland, there being much disappointment last year because of the absence of the princess from the Deeside gatherings. Abergeldie, close to Balmoral, sits like a toy castle among the peaks and glens of the Dee country, and has numerous memories of the late King Edward who frequently stayed there when he was Prince of Wales. Abergeldie Castle, in fact has been so linked with various members of the royal family who have spent much time there during the last 80 years or so that many persons regard it as being a royal residence, although, as a matter of fact it is not.

Abergeldie actually is rented from the Gordon estate, the owners, by the royal family. It was largely due to an earlier generation of the Gordons that Queen Victoria first went to Balmoral, "this dear Paradise," she called it, and turned that part of the Highlands into "Royal Deeside".

It is quite likely also that the Duke and Duchess of Yorke will spend a part of the fall at Abergeldie and visit King George and Queen Mary at Balmoral during the shooting season. It is understood that it is very probable that the duke and duchess will have their own permanent home in Scotland this year or next.

LINDSAY YOUTHS STOLE 4.4 BEER

Lindsay, June 2.—On Friday, Detective W. H. Howard of the C.N.R., made a cleanup at Kinmount when six young men were charged with breaking into a freight car and stealing a quantity of 4.4 beer therefrom.

The officer brought all these men from the north country and landed them in the Lindsay lockup. They appeared before Magistrate Bradford later in the evening and all pleaded guilty.

Crown Attorney Anderson laid stress on the seriousness of the offence, pointing out that they could be sentenced to a term of 14 years.

The accused men were supported by several of the prominent business men of Kinmount as well as their spiritual advisor, who gave them good character evidence and as this was the first time that any of them had ever been before the court, Magistrate Bradford concurred with Detective Howard and Crown Attorney Anderson and dealt very leniently with them, sentencing each to two years' suspended sentence upon payment of all costs, and placing each one under his own recognizance of the sum of $200 for a period of two years.

Credit is due to the officer in this case for the manner in which he rounded up this gang, who having nothing in the nature of a clue to work upon, travelled many miles into this rugged part of the country, and apprehended these men within 48 hours after his arrival.

Hunting Slayer Ot New York Woman

Detective on Duty Finds Victim Was His Sister

New York, June 1.—Search continued yesterday for the brutal slayer of Miss Florence Kane, who was identified by Detective James A. Kane, of Brooklyn as his sister when in the course of duty he had to view the body.

The body was found by a milkman in a vacant lot near the girl's home. An autopsy revealed that the assailant forced his fingers down her throat in an effort to choke her screams. He battered, bound and gagged her and tore her clothes to ribbons. The body was lying face downward. On the bare back was a crucifix inscribed with the words "Father forgive them." In some weeds nearby was found a religious medal, but the young woman's rosary and crucifix chain are missing.

Miss Kane, leaving eight women friends after attending a musical comedy, was hurrying home to her widowed mother when attacked. She was 30 years old.

The crime is the second of a similar nature committed on the empty lot in six years. For the first a negro was executed. Several weeks ago near the same spot three girls fought off a man who attempted to attack them.

SWEDISH ROADS BEING ELECTRIFIED

(Associated Press Despatch)

Trolhattan, Sweden, June 2.—After having ruled supreme for 100 years, steam is being routed in Sweden as motive power in transportation both on land and sea. The most recently published statistics show that of all the boats now under construction in Swedish ship yards, more than 80 percent are to be propelled by motors, and on the railroads the old fashioned locomotives are being discarded in favor of either electrical engines or motor trucks. Having no coal and plenty of water power Sweden intends in time to electrify all its railroads.

In the meantime motor driven trucks are rapidly displacing the steam engines on shorter hauls. The Halmstad-Nassjo line, for instance, has converted an ordinary American made automobile into a railroad truck, capable of hauling three and a half tons at 25 miles an hour. Railroad trucks with Diesel motors, which burn crude oil, are still more economical and the Deva company of Vesteras has completed 25 of this type and has ten more under construction.

MASONIC APRON IN FAMILY 139 YEARS

(Associated Press Despatch)

Seattle, June 2.—A Masonic apron has been in one family 139 years has survived three fires and one flood, and is here awaiting a male owner.

The apron was presented in 1786 to Sir Richard Harrie Call, a British naval officer stationed at Cork, Ireland, an ancestor of Mrs. Mary E. Gilmour. For more than a century it was in possession of a Richard Harrie Call. The last male owner was Ernest call.

The apron goes to the first of Mrs. Gilmour's sons who becomes a Mason. She has eight children, and the second son is Richard Harrie Gilmour.

David Feldman, 4-year-old boy knocked down by a motor truck driven by Louis Croppo, of 1555 Parent Boulevard, Windsor, died at Hotel Dieu, yesterday.

REV. C. W. BARRETT, STIRLING IS NEWLY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE

Chosen on First Ballot This Morning; Pastoral Address Presented

ON THE THRESHOLD

Leaders of Methodst Church Look Forward Eagerly To Future

Rev. C. W. Barrett, of Stirling, was elected President of the Bay of Quinte Conference at Bridge Street Church this morning on the first ballot. Mr. Barrett has been in this Conference for 27 years and his favor in the eyes of his brother Ministers and laymen was shown in his speedy election.

The members of the Conference spent a busy day, the hours from eight-thirty o'clock on being crowded with addresses and Conference business. Features of the day was the Pastoral address from the President in which Mr. Wilson presented an inspiring picture of the destiny of the United Church and the part the old Methodist Church would play in, an impressive greeting from Superintendent Chown and well prepared addresses by Rev. Barraclough and Rev. Hughson. The move for stronger beer came in for considerable censure.

Besides the president the following officers were also chosen to-day:

Secretary—H. W. Foley; 1st Asst. Sec—Rev. John E. Glover, B.A.; 2nd Asst. Sec.—Rev. M. P. Woodger, B.A.; 3rd Asst Sec.—Rev. R. M. Patterson; Statistician—Rev. F. J. Horwood, Mus. Bac.; Conference Letter Writer—Rev. R. T. Richards.

An Unique Position

In his Pastoral address, President Wilson said the present conference was occupying a position unique and unparalleled in the history of the Church. They were standing on the threshold of a new era, about to join hands with churches with whom Methodists had been in competition and in almost unholy rivalry.

Throughout the seven districts of the Bay of Quinte Conference, by duplication, there had been a waste of men and money. Heathen lands had been neglected because of a depleted treasury and a scarcity of men.

It had been a great day when the churches had found a basis of doctrine.

"Thank God," the President said, "For the faith and sane statesmanship of those who have guided this great movement."

It was a source of thanksgiving, also, that the Methodist Church of Canada was going into the Union, one hundred per cent strong. There was not one vote taken. Not one minister was reported as a non-concurrent. There was no cleavage, no bitterness in the ranks. This was one stage along the road to greater achievement, the speaker said.

He wondered if the Conference had caught the vision of such a move, how pleasant it was to be to dwell in such communion.

Lost Nothing

The Methodist Church entering the Union was losing nothing of its history and ideals, nor sacrificing one vital principle.

Of certain principles, elemental and essential, which would be emphasized in the United Church of Canada, President Wilson set out that of personal Christian experience. It was Wesley who had rediscovered this and thousands since had experienced it. In the United Church would be treasured the joyous faith in a living Christ.

Methodism had been blessed with leaders and the speaker underlined the point that no people could be more spiritual than their leaders. Christian fellowship was a source of great strength to the Church.

It is true, he continued, that the Church has lost some of its great passion for men. The evangelistic effort of to-day was not carried on in the same manner as it was a few years ago. Some might argue that the need was not the same, but it remained that there was a problem yet facing the Church. In all communities there were men and women who did not even go to Church.

"Are we settling with smug complacence?" he asked. "Surely the great need of the Church to-day is a fresh passion for saving men.

Making Democracy Safe

"Democracy is a fine thing, but to be safe, it must be Christian," he said. Only then would moral issues be given precedence in the legislative halls of the country. When first the four point four was proposed, temperance people stood aghast that the present government should go against the expressed will of the people.

"To us it was humiliating in the extreme," President Wilson said. "It teaches us to carry our convictions to the ballot box at election time." When there was an issue of that kind, no politics should be known, he said.

At that, however, the perfecting of bone dry laws would not make the nation sober. It was up to the Church to destroy the passion for alcohol.

The Church had a glorious past, he concluded, and a most promising future.

Dr. Chown's Message

"Advance means sacrifice."

Thus did Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D., LL.D., General Superintendent of the Methodish Church in Canada comment on Church Union. His letter to the Conference was read at the nine o'clock session by the President, Rev. S. J. I. Wilson, B.A., B.D. The letter was sent due to the unpreventable absence of Rev. Chown, who is in Toronto, unable to get away under the press of business.

In regard to his absence he told the delegates that the success of the Union was resting on them, regardless of his presence. "For twenty-three years we have looked toward this day", he wrote, and asked whether or not the present time found the Church ready.

Plowshare Necessary

The plowshare of distress, which must accompany any such inner change of policy, was necessary to the cultivation of the fruitful soil of the Chuch, he said in his message. The spirit of renounciation which must characterize this movement was beneficial, in that it exercised a christian and benevolent influence felt by all who aided the Union.

Further developing his message, Rev. Chown wrote that any organization which did not embody the element of sacrifice was am ere machine, and that in any religious body, great hearts won the prizes in the race.

The sacrifices shown on both sides are examples of Christian bravery.

It must not be forgotten, the letter went on, that there was suffering to be borne by those ministers who did not concur with the idea of Union. These men were giving up their pulpits for the sake of their principles, for tenants which they hold. For these men and families, there was nothing, in all conscience, to do "but go forth, not knowing whither."

The thing to be borne in mind, however, the letter stressed, was that the good of the Church was to be served, above all.

Was a Challenge

The history of this Union was not something to be merely set and recorded in cold type; it was an event an epoch, which should be graven upon the hearts and minds of both bodies. This crucial hour challenged the true profession of faith, and the living up to that faith, said the letter. The Rev. hown hoped that the blessing of "Perfect consecration" would crown the efforts of the man who effected the Union.

Rev. J. E. Hughson

"The call of the Ministry is the call to play the man," was the gist of the address at 11 o'clock this morning at the Bay of Quinte Conference at the Bridge St. Church by Rev. J. E. Hughson, D.D., of Hamilton.

Rev. Hughson said that the ministry required a three-fold man as a representative. He must first be a man; he must second be a man with a mission; he must third be a man with a mission and a message.

His talk was, he said, directed to the ministry, rather than to the lay-

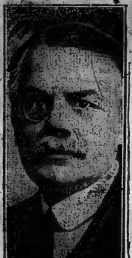
HEARD THE CALL

Answering the suggestion some times made that young men are not offering themselves for the Christian Ministry as in past years five bright specimens of young manhood were received as candidates for probation at the Ministerial Session of the Bay of Quinte Conference yesterday afternoon. Two of them, Vanalstyne Fennell and Ralph Spencer were from the little charge of Havelock, where Rev. E.O. Seymour is preacher. The others were E. W. Snelgrove of Cobourg district, and Harold W. Poynton and Clarence H. Fergus of the Bowmanville district.



Sir William Tyrrel, who as been appointed as permanent under-secretary of state in succession to the late Sir Eyre Crowe. Sir William, whose father was a judge in India was acting ambassador at Washington just before the war.

Albert College is Conference Topic

Enthusiastic Reports Given; Dr. George Locke Pays His Tribute

The ambitions and realizations of those who are working energetically to establish a larger and more efficient Albert College dominated the evening session of the Bay of Quinte Conference at Bridge Street Church last night. It was a veritable Albert College night. C. M. Reid, chairman of the executive board of the College, occupied the chair, Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker, principal, extended greetings. There was an Albert College choir, and Dr. George H. Locke, Chief Librarian, Toronto, one of the staunchest friends the College has, was the chief speaker of the evening.

In extending the greetings of Albert College to the Ministers and lay delegates of the Conference, Dr. Baker announced that he had received an appointment for service in the Church for the fifty-fifth time yesterday.

With the Albert College Board, he had hoped to have been able to extend greetings this fall at the new

DR. JEKEL AND MR. HYDE

A well known resident of Belleville may now lay claim to a Dr. Jekel and Mr. Hyde reputation by reason of his experiences here at the noon hour. About twelve-thirty, he was approached by a lay delegate to the Methodist Conference, who said, "You are a delegate to the Conference aren't you?"

Having denied this, the resident proceded to the office and on Front Street was accosted by one who asked him if he knew where he could buy a crock.

To Erect Simple Sign Board On Saturday Next

JUST BEGINNING

Hope to Secure Funds For a Lasting Memorial

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, June 4.—The citizens of Adolphustown, Bay of Quinte, will next Saturday erect a simple sign board at the site of the boyhood home of Sir John MacDonald, Canada first premier and strew flowers about the spot, according to Allan Ross Davis, of Toronto, one of the Prime movers in event.

"It is hoped that this first public recognition of that boyhood home may prove the beginning of national interest which may result in the erection of a lasting memorial", Mr. Davis stated.

Car Was in Gear, Harold Ward Hurt

Turned the Crank and Auto Pinned Him Against the Wall

Not knowing that a car which he cranked was in gear, Harold Ward, aged 25, garage proprietor at Rednersville was badly injured at six o'clock this morning when the car bolted forward in the garage pinning him against the wall. Both legs were fractured just above the knees.

A hurried call was sent to Belleville for the police ambulance and Police Sergeants A. Harman and D. T. Boyd drove the ambulance to Rednersville, later driving Ward to the General Hospital here.

Yanover Case is Enlarged Again

Out on $3,000 Bail; Young Milltown Man in Trouble

Jacob N. Yanover of Picton appeared in court this morning on a charge of selling liquor, but the case was again enlarged, this time until June 11th. Accused enjoys liberty on bail of $3,000.

Pays O.T.A. Fine

A charge of having liquor in a public place which had been preferred against a young Milltown man as a result of charges which were recently laid against two Point Anne Indians in police court here, was amended this morning to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place

Pleading guilty to this charge, accused was fined $10 and costs of $10.50 by Magistrate Masson. His father promptly paid the fine and costs.

On examination by Crown Attorney Donnan as to where he procured the liquor which caused his intoxication, accused told of visiting a Point Anne home and asking for something strong to drink. The kind lady produced a bottle of dandelion wine and accused drank half of it. He became intoxicated afterwards and did not remember events. The Indians had stated at their trial that this boy had produced a bottle of liquor which caused their intoxication and arrest in front of the police station here recently. Accused denied this statement. No money was paid for the wine. C. A. Payne appeared for the accused. Inspector P. J. Naphan laid the charge.

S. Constantino was killed and George Spencer injured when a wall on Lock 3, Welland Ship Canal, collapsed late Saturday night.

ATTENDANCE AT CHURCH FALLS SPEAKER SAYS

T. F. Harrison Asks Searching Questions Before Laymen at Conference

GIVES ONE REMEDY

Love of Christ Exemplified One Sure Way of Drawing More

"Lift Me up and I will draw all men to Me."

This injunction solves the problem of church attendance according to T. F. Harrison, treasurer of the Laymen's Association of the Bay of Quinte Conference, who addressed that body yesterday at their thirty-second and last annual meeting.

It is the love of Christ and man, and the practical demonstration of this love that will bring up church attendance up to its old standard, he said.

At the beginning of his address Mr. Harrison stressed the fact that he was not going to attempt to solve the question of how to secure church attendance, but would rather suggest and ask questions relating to the matter, so that they might be discussed openly at the close of the talk.

Despite this self imposed condition, he gave, unconsciously perhaps, his own idea as to the nature of the panacea for the situation.

Decline in Attendance

He began by showing that there was a serious decline in all classes of attendance in church matters; that not only were services in general neglected, but that the spirit of lethargy and apathy had penetrated to Sunday School and prayer meetings.

This state of affairs, plus the modern spirit which prevades the younger set, will spell ruin to any church, he said.

The matter of whether the pulpit or the pew was to blame for the lack of interest, was disposed of at once. He said that he was talking to laymen, and that he wouldn't discuss the pulpit, but that he would deal with the situation only as it related to the former.

The first question which he suggested for discussion and debate was.

"Are we too formal?"

W. H. Goodwin Will Speak To-night

Guest of Honor at the Laymen's Banquet at Six O'clock

One of the unusually bright spots in the Bay of Quinte Conference program is the Laymen's banquet to be held this evening at six o'clock, when W. H. Goodwin of Montreal, will be the speaker for the occasion. Mr. Goodwin conducted the large department store in Montreal recently purchased by the T. Eaton Company, Limited, and is known as a most thoughtful speaker. All laymen and ministers are being invited to this event.

DEGENERATE STOCK

Sydney Bulletin

It is one of the idonies of our social system that the care in selection given by the breeders of stock to their flocks and herds is a care which until recent years the human race has never given to its own members. We have been content that the criminal, the defective and the degenerate should breed their kind without restraint.

What Herod did to the infants of Bethlehem modern diseases in swift succession have almost accomplished for the papooses of Nelson House in Manitoba. Within the past year practically all of the children under two two years of age in the Christian band on that reserve have died, according to a letter from Rev. and Mrs. W. E. W. Hutty, missionaries in charge. Seventy-seven members of the band have perished.

Courier Arrived Safe in Toronto

Being Received by City Council To-day; Accompanied by Father

Tom Mason, the Courier, arrived at the Broadview Y.M.C.A., Toronto at 6.45 p.m. daylight saving time, Wednesday.

His progress up to that point was exceptionally good, in spite of the sudden change in the weather. He left Pickering at 9.30 a.m. for Toronto. We was met at a point two miles west of Pickering by his father, W. T. Mason who accompanied the Courier to Danforth.

Mr. Mason said that his son was in the best of shape, and in excellent spirits. The only effect that the heat seemed to have on Tom was that it made him sweat, but had not slowed him up noticeably.

The Courier reported that he had been very courteously treated all along the line, and that every one seemed glad to see him. While in Toronto, The Toronto Star will be looking after him, arranging for interviews and accommodations. At 2.00 this afternoon, Mason will meet the Mayor and be introduced to the City Council of Toronto.

Mason's next stop for any length of time will be Hamilton, which is about 40 miles distant from Toronto, by the Highway. Weather permitting, he will attempt to beat the walking record between the two cities, and if this is attempted, he will probably not stop for any formalities en route.

CANADIAN TIMBER FOR NEW YORK

The demands of American users have already aroused in the Canadians a fear for their forests. New York state uses four times as much timber as she cuts and she cuts five times as much as she grows each year.

CURSE OF AMERICA

Too Many Professional Uplifters is Comment Made

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Syracuse, N.Y., June 4.—After declaring that his position prevented him from saying what he would like about William Jennings Bryan, Right Rev. Dr. Charles Fiske, Episcopal Bishop, of Central New York, declared in an address here last night.

"The curse of America to-day, is that we think we can make people good by legislation. There are too many professional uplifters who think they can crystalize morals by putting laws on statute books.

"I like the old fashioned religion of men who worship and serve God in their own way and don't attempt to correct others by legislation."

Intelligencer on 2nd Annual Picnic

Staff and Families Spent Holiday at Twelve O'clock Point

The annual picnic held by the Intelligencer on the King's birthday proved to be the liveliest event to date this season at Twelve O'Clock Point. In Kings weather the Intelligencer family celebrated Canada's important holiday and made the event one of the most successful yet.

About sixty people including members of the staff and their families motored to that popular and appropriate picnic place late Wednesday morning, and did not return until darkness and hungry mosquitoes had over taken the party.

Among the events of the day were substantial meals served underneath the shade trees on the tables in the path of refreshing bay breezes, two closely contested soft ball games on the camp diamond, bathing, fishing, dancing and an ice cream eating contest in which the children surprised.

Teams captained by Lorne Cook and Dan O'Donahue fought out two seven inning games both of whom were won by the Cook team 7-2 and 11-6. Chas. Otto was umpire and gave maximum satisfaction.

JUNE

The poets have done well by June. The subject supplies inspiration enough for any rhymester to do his best.

If June is ordinarily well behaved it deserves all that the great and little poets have sung about it. Occasionally the month shows a rebellious spirit, but so rarely is this true that the exceptions may be taken to prove the poet's rule of blessedness and praise for June.

Nature perfects herself in the sixth month of the year. Perhaps some persons still hold that nature's perfection comes at the harvest season which falls well forward into the hazy days. There is, however, a harvest of flowers as well as of fruits and rains, and the abundance of blossoms comes along with brides, girl graduates and other things pleasant to look upon.

NORWEGIAN THRIFT AND OURS

Norway has an interesting industry which few countries possess, namely, kelp burning. Seaweed burning is a source of income for many of the peasants along the entire Norwegian coasts, the total production of ash averaging about 2,000 tons a year. Practically the entire output is sold to iodine manufacturers in Scotland.

Kelp grows in immense quantities all along the coast of Nova Scotia and such of it as drifts ashore is composted to some extent and used as manure for land not too far from the water. Eel grass, which is plentiful also, is gathered on some parts of our Atlantic coast, allowed to wash and dry with rain and sun on the shore and then shipped to the U. S. for use in stuffing cheap mattresses as a rival of excelsior (wood shavings). The best gelatine (for cooking and chemical purposes (such as in making emulsions) is Carrigan moss. This is gathered on the coast of Ireland bleached, put up in packages and sold all over the world. It is a purple, semi-transparent moss which grows on the rocks just beyond low tide on the Nova Scotia coast. A few people know of this gather it and let it bleach and dry on a shed roof and put it away for their own use. For the most part however, people in the very seaport towns and villages purchase imported isinglass in the stores for their culinary use, in making jellies blanc manges, etc.

CANADA SHOULD KEEP OUT

Under this caption, the Hamilton Herald runs an interesting article in which this newspaper deals with this diplomatic project upon which the statesmen of the great European powers have been engaged for some time is a five power pact to which Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Belgium would be parties, the object of which would be to maintain the peace of Europe. Really it is to prevent the invasion of France by Germany but it would also provide against the invasion of Germany by France. Austen Chamberlain British foreign secretary, is said to favor it and indeed to be its chief promoter

If Britain were to become a party to any such pact, bound to go to war, in defence of a power attacked, it should not be necessary for Canada also to be under obligation to take up arms in the same cause. Britain is a European power, directly interested in the maintenance of the balance of power on that continent. If she were to go to war to check the aggresion of any continental power, it would be because it is in her interest that peace be maintained in continental Europe. But Canada's interest in the European situation is indirect and somewhat remote. The people of this country favored its participation in the great war, because it appeared that the existence of the British Empire was at stake in that conflict; but we are quite sure that the Canadian people do not want Canada to be committed to take up arms at any time in defence of any power outside of the empire.

No doubt the government at Ottawa feels the same way and will make sure that any international party will not have any binding effect on this country.

In any event Canada must be free to decide whether to enter any war as an active participant, in which Britain is engaged as a belligerent or to stay out of it as an active participant, according to what the representatives of the Canadian people may decide to be in the national interest.

To-day's Smile

The proprietor of the new store in a crossroad village was Sam Sampson. Business was far from good and Sam stood at the door of his store one morning gazing gloomily at the all but empty street. A little girl, who had just turned the corner, paused uncertainly before him, a crumpled dollar bill in one hand. Instantly Sam was all smiles.

"Say," began the little girl, "does my mamma owe you a dollar?"

"She does, she does!" exclaimed Sam. "And—and—whose little girl are you?"

About Old Hamburg

German's great sea port should be known for more than its shipping. The maritime part of the city has been a legend since the days when the discovery of America began to rob the old port of its Hanseatic importance. The Germans say "There is but one Hamburg and there is nothing like it anywhere else." There are really two Hamburgs, the city on the Elbe, all bustle and work, and the city on the Alster, famous for its unique natural beauty whose center is the charming little lake formed by the Alster. All the wealthier suburbs cluster around the Aussen-Aster and it is hard to believe, while walking their beautiful promenades and shady avenues, that the great port is so near. Nearby is Bergehof and the fen district of Vierlande and the great Sachsenwald Forest. The lover of solitude should not neglect to spend a summer's day in the Luneburger Heide, an enormous moorland where he can stroll for hours without meeting anyone unless it be a sleepy, ancient shepherd or his boy.

Two Kingston girls' teams and one men's team came up to Belleville yesterday afternoon to play the return game with the teams that were down at Kingston a few weeks ago and the three teams went back home again last night with the three games tucked away under their belts all three teams of the locals losing out.

The closest game was played by the first team who only lost out by 22 pins, both teams rolling up some nice scores. The second team lost out by over 200 pins. The men's team had a close game all the way through, losing out by 69 pins after winning the first game. Players and scores:

Crowd of 2,500 Attended Races

Belleville Agricultural Society Well Supported by General Public

Free For All Mile Heats—Purse $350

A. has staged a celebration on the 3rd of June, the Kings Birthday. This year for good reasons the Association decided not to sponser another and the officers of the Belleville Agricultural Society decided to carry out a program which proved to be a drawing card. At the agricultural park yesterday afternoon it was estimated that some 2500 persons were present to witness four speeding events and a baseball game. The latter was a match between Belleville and Deseronto Juniors and was a Hastings and Prince Edward County fixture. The four horse races were, however the big attraction for the great majority of the spectators who remained until the final heat was run. As a result of the event the agricultural Society not only gave a program that was most satisfactory, but one that proved to be a financial success.

Free For All, Mile Heats—Purse $350

Although there were but three horses entered in this event, it proved to be a good race. In the first heat Major Hal, owned by S. Bluett, of Peterboro, was first but was unable to repeat the performance. The best he could do in the next three heats was to attain second place, although he tried hard to forge a head of Attico his successful competitor. Bub, owned by E. Jones, of Peterboro, was looked upon as a likely winner by not a few of the sporting element. The best he could do in the four heats was to secure third place. Summary as follows:

Attico, J. Payette, Penetang	2 1 1 1
Major Hal, S. Bluett, Peterboro	1 2 2 2
Bub, Ed. Jones, Peterboro	3 3 3 3

Time— 2.17 1-2, 2.17 1-4, 2.16 1-4, 2.18 3-4.

2.19 Class, Mile Heats, Purse $350.

This was the first race called and four horses responded to the call of the bell, Jim Todd, Jr.; Bessie Brooks, Gilbert N. and Roy Mack. Three heats were sufficient to determine which horse would receive first money as Jim Todd Jr. came under the wire three times in succession. It was by no means an easy win, as Bessie Brooks and Gilbert N. proved to be worthy contenders. Good time was made in the three heats. Summary as follows:

Gilbert N., J. Payette, Penetang	2 3 2
Bessie Brooks, F. Montgomery, Peterboro	4 3 2
Roy Mack, S. Watson, Cobourg	3 4 4

Time—2.21 1-4, 2.20 1-2, 2.21 1-4.

2.30 Class 3-4 Mile Heats—Purse $350

While three heats were sufficient to determine the winners in this event it took considerable time to pull off one heat. Geo. O. Tice, the starter, was compelled to go over to the opposite side of the track to start each heat. There were also six horses, and the task of starting them was no easy one. Peter Direct owned by C. Randall, of Napanee, proved to be a winner taking three straight heats. Cy Wenger, owned by W. Elmhurst, of Keene, was a formidable contender but had to be content with two seconds and a third. The summary was as follows:

Peter Direct, C. Randall, Napanee	1 1 1
Cy Wenger, Wm. Elmhurst, Keene	2 2 3
Daisy Mackenzie, W. Sharpe, Ft. Cologne, Quebec	3 3 4
Irene Hal, F. Montgomery, Peterboro	4 4 5
Mr. Healey, S. Bluett, Peterboro	6 5 2
Lilian Patch, S. Watson, Cobourg	5 6 d

Time—1.46, 1.45, 1.43.

Named Race 3-4 Mile Heats—Purse $150

This proved to be the long drawn out event upon the score card, requiring five heats to determine the winner. Starlight Dan, owned by Wm. Smith, of this city, captured first money by taking two firsts, two seconds and a third. Miss Penalty, owned by C. Randall, of Napanee, gave the winner a close run for first position as she had two firsts, two seconds and a fourth to her credit. It was after 6 o'clock before the final heat was run but a large number of spectators remained to witness the conclusion of the event. The last heat was a fine exhibition of speed by Miss Penalty and Starlight Dan. Summary of this event.

Starlight Dan, W. Smith, Belleville	2 1 1 2 3
Miss Penalty, C. Randall, Napanee	4 2 2 1 1
Vivian Grattan, J. Payette, Penetang	1 3 3 4 2
Luela Brooks, M. Carr, Trenton	3 4 6 5
Billy Allerton, D. Benson, Belleville	5 6 4 3
Billy P., Adam Palmer, Belleville	6 5 5 dr

Time—1.50, 1.46 1-2, 1.46, 1.46 1-2, 1.48.

Officials

Officials for the races were as follows:

Starter—Geo. O. Tice.

Judges—R. Turley, J. Dunlop and J. Lafferty.

Time Keeper—Dr. J. E. Alyea, of Colborne, and R. Elmhurst, Indian River.

FEWER CRIMINALS

Westminster Gazette

The most remarkable revelation contained in all the recent reports on criminal administration is that the number of sentences has so decreased since the war that many of the older prisons are now closed. Formerly we made criminals by sending people to prison for offenses that could be sufficiently punished by fines. We have largely abolished the contamination that converted first offenders into hardened criminals.

Peter Manning is Coming Here to Race

World's Two Wonder Trotting Horses Here July 21st

Belleville is to have an event here on July 21st; which will be one of the most outstanding even staged at Exhibition park race track.

It was announced this morning that Peter Manning, Champion light harness (trotting) horse of all time, will be here on that date, also Sanardo, champion pacing gelding of the world over the half mile track, and until recently also world's champion over the mile stretch.

These two wonder horses will be here and will race as a special added attraction with a regular full program of races as held at Exhibition Park yesterday, for Canadian owned horses.

Mr. Tommy Ellis, of Chesterville, one of the greatest promoters of worth while trotting horse events, is the man behind this event, and this morning he showed the Intelligencer the contract which he has made on previous occasions with Fred Terry, manager Western Horseman Company, for these horses.

To-day's Intelligencer carries elsewhere a large advertisement of the event with full particulars of a contest which will be held in connection with it, and in which a number of girls are expected to participate.

Peter Manning has a mark of 156 3-4 and has never been beaten. With records of 2.02 1-4 and 2.02 1-2 on a mile track, he also holds the record de luxe. He is champion trotter of all time.

Sanardo with a mark of 1.59 1-2 is the World's Champion pacing gelding over the half mile track. These facts are beyond contradiction. Peter Manning was purchased for $50,000 and presented to the late Edward "Pop" Geers to be used for exhibition purposes. When the late "Pop" Geers was fatally injured in a race, he was still in charge of Peter Manning. Both horses are from Memphis, Tenn. Other announcements will appear in the Intelligencer regularly.

Belleville Juniors Came From Behind

Defeated Deseronto Here Yesterday by Score Of 10 to 7

After spotting the Deseronto team five runs in the first innings, the fast going Belleville Juniors pulled away with a 10 to 7 victory at the Agricultural Park yesterday afternoon. This was a regular Prince Edward-Hastings game and was witnessed by a huge crowd of interested fans.

Frechette hurled for Belleville and put in a good afternoon's work after being pounded for five runs in the first. For the remainder of the game he held the visitors scoreless, with the exception of the sixth, when they gathered up two tallies.

Belleville started to score in the third, collected another in the fourth, three in the seventh and five in the eighth. H. Woodley called them behind the plate and K. Hall of Deseronto watched the bases.

The line-up:

Deseronto—Whitton, 2b; Bruyea, cf; Robinson, 1b; Poste, p; Hunt, 3b; Perry, lf; Rixon, rf; Claus, ss; Hopping, c.

Belleville—Post, 2b; Palmer, rf; Feeney, c; Symons 1b; Stark, lf; Rigley, ss; Ross, cf; Hibbard, 3b; Frechette, p.

PHILBIN—LAZIER

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at eleven o'clock today, when Miss Helen Mary Lazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lazier, 225 George street, became the bride of Mr. Richard Thomas Philbin, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Philbin of Kenora.

Some forty relatives witnessed the happy ceremony in the church, which was most beautifully decorated for the occasion with lilacs, carnations, lily-of-the-valley and other spring flowers. Rev. Dr. W. S. MacTavish performed the ceremony.

The bride who entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Robert Lazier of Oshawa, was prettily attired in an ensemble suit of brown crepe with brown crepe hat to match. She carried a beautiful bouquet of orchids and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss S. A. Philbin of Montreal, aunt of the groom, was a guest at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Findlay and their young daughter, of this city also attended the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Findlay are uncle and aunt of the groom. Other guests present were relatives and close friends of the bride.

Among the many gifts received by the young couple were cheques from Chicago, Montreal, Kenora, and other points.

At the upper station before the 12.02 train arrived the wedding party, with a delegation of brother Kiwanians of the groom, gave the couple a very enthusiastic send-off, showering them with confetti and best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Philbin left on that train for a wedding trip to Montreal. On their return they will reside at 267 Foster Avenue.

The Intelligencer joins with their friends' legion in this city, in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Philbin many years of wedded happiness.

HECTOR—THOMPSON

At the home of Mrs. T. H. Thompson, Madoc village yesterday afternoon, a quiet wedding was solemnised when her youngest daughter, Miss Laura Mae, became the bride of Mr. Herbert Bernard Hector, of Belleville. Rev. A. H. Foster was the officiating minister. The young couple were unattended. Owing to the recent demise of Mr. H. Thompson, M.P., for East Hastings, father of the bride, only a few immediate relatives were in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Hector left on a motor trip to points of interest in the western portion of the Province.

HAMMELL—MACDONNELL

Father Killeen, to Mr. T. Harold Hammel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hammel, of Picton. Only the family and close personal friends received invitations.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white crepe satin, pearl trimmedmed with court train. She wore a tulle veil with a bandeau of rhinestones and orange blossoms and white satin shoes completed her costume. She carried a shower bouquet of lily-of-the-valley and white roses.

There were no bridesmaids but Mrs. F J Temple sister of the bride was matron of honor. She wore a French frock of powder blue Georgette with silver trimmings, silver shoes and white Georgette hat. Her boquet was American Beauty roses.

Mr. Morgan Callahan, of Toronto, a cousin of the bride was best man and Mr. Morris Stork acted as usher.

The birde's mother wore a gown of mauve crepe romaine with pearl and crystal trimmings, black hat and cortege boquet of Columbia buds. Miss McCarthy, aunt of the groom, wore navy crepe meteor and black picture hat with cortege of sweet peas.

The honeymoon will be spent at Montreal and Atlantic City. The bride's travelling costume was a French ensemble suit of Natural Kosha with oriental embroidery and hat to match with smart tan slippers.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Hammel will live at Orillia where the groom is manager of the Union Bank.

EVERY EYE TRIES TO SEE NORMALLY

IN CASES WHERE this is impossible. A strains is induced by the Attempt. If an abnormal eye did not try to see at all there would be no discomfort. But every eye does its best, and more abnormalties exist the muscles are put to a strain that affects the whole nervous system.

MAYBE your eyes are laboring against odds. Let me tell you no practitioner can keep better posted in the practice of the science.

BLACKHEADS

Blackheads simply dissolve and disappear by this one simple safe and sure method. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle it on a hot, wet cloth, rub the face briskly—every blackhead will be gone.

Here and There

The popularity of the Nova Scotia apple is rapidly growing in Europe. 1,103,980 barrels and 8,893 boxes were shipped in 1924-25 to ports in England, Scotland and Germany. Shipments also went to Newfoundland, West Indies, Central Canada and the United States.

Production of sugar beets in Canada during 1923 amounted to 159,200 tons, valued at $1,922,868, and grown on 17,941 acres, according to the Bureau of Statistics. 6,000 acres have been planted to beets this year in Southern Alberta, due to the establishment of a sugar beet factory.

Milton Sills, the well-known movie actor, with a company of 32 other screen artists, passed through Montreal recently to take scenes in "The Come Back" in which he is featured. The party went to Beauchesne, in Northern Quebec. Travelling by another train was a mother skunk and five kitten skunks which will also figure in the picture.

The 288 passengers on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of France completed their 30,000-mile tour of the world on Saturday, May 23, when the vessel docked at New York. At their last stop at Havana, President Machado of Cuba invited the passengers to attend his official inauguration and to witness the unveiling of a statue to the preceding President.

Another aristocratic rancher recently passed through Montreal on a return visit to the ancestral estates in Transylvania, Hungary. This was Baron Josef Csavossy who, with his brother Andre, took over a 1,600-acre ranch last March near Cochrane, Alberta, on the Bow River. Incidentally the Baron was a passenger on the Trans-Canada on its first return trip of the season from Vancouver.

The Indian Day Celebration at Banff, it is announced, will take place as usual this year on the third Thursday and Friday in July. Preparations are already under way for this event, which enjoys an enviable population as an Indian show. The Stoney Indians arrive in large numbers from their reservation to take part in the ceremonies, which are the 23rd annual celebration of the function.

Edward G. Taylor, one of the best known game fishermen on the continent is authority for the statement that New Brunswick is losing none of its lure as a fisherman's paradise. Just back from a trip to the Cains River, N.B., Mr. Taylor said salmon were steadily increasing in numbers and size in the province. He added that he had caught on this trip a salmon 42 inches long and weighing 24 lbs. In the autumn such a fish would likely weigh up to fifty pounds.

The following story is told of Sir William Van Horne, first president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and a Major Rogers, who was in charge of the supplies for men working along the track. Van Horne said: "Look here, Major, I hear your men won't stay with you, they say you starve them." "T'aint so, Van." "Well, I'm told you feed 'em on soup made out of water flavored with old ham canvas covers." "T'aint so, Van, I didn't never have no hams."—From "Canada's Great Highway," by J. H. E. Secretan.

The Western railways of the United States comprising 67 roads serving Chicago and the West, have petitioned the Inter-State Commerce Commission for permission to advance rates. They state that for the years 1921 to 1924 inclusive, the average rate of return on capital was 3.65 per cent., which they claim is so small as to render it impossible for them to secure working capital for extensions and improvement of service by the sale of stock or issue of bonds at reasonable terms. They ask for rates that would give them a net return of 5¾ per cent., which it is generally admitted is what railways should have.

The Silent Accuser A Little Different

A Metro-Goldwyn Production Starring Eleanor Boardman

Every now and then a picture appears that is entirely different. One whose treatment and plot sequence is a departure from the average run of photoplays. Such a picture is "The Silent Accuser," the Metro-Goldwyn photoplay which comes to the Griffin Theatre Tonight for 3 days.

Aside from its originality, it boasts of a cast of screen favorites. Eleanor Boardman, who rose to screen prominence by virtue of her appearance in "Sinners in Silk," "Wine of Youth", and "Three Wise Fools," plays the part of the heroine who masquerades as a boy in order to exonerate her lover and bring her stepfather's murderer to justice; Raymond McKee, the hero of "Down to the Sea in Ships", and "Along Came Ruth," portrays the part of the unjustly imprisoned lover. Earl Metcalfe, erstwhile World and Lubin star, and villain of many photoplays, impersonates the scoundrel in this piece; and Peter the Great, the wonderful new police dog star—who at a word from his master's, changes from a gentle, affectionate animal to a snarling beast, is the hero's dog.

Tennis Tattle

The Tennis season is now in full swing as may be witnessed any afternoon or evening from the Armouries railings.

The courts are kept busy all the time, and while most of the players feel they could stand more practice before entering the tournament, still the executive has decided that Monday next would be the best time to start this interesting event. This year the men are to be divided into senior and junior Divisions, which will give the younger members a chance to win a championship. Medals will be presented to the winners in each group, also to the winner of Ladies Singles. The draw for these events will be posted on the notice board and will also be announced in this paper in a few days time. Members are requested to learn who their opponents are and arrange play as soon as possible.

If Your Skin Breaks Out Use Sulphur

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store

At The Belle

A perfect personnel is claimed for the cast which appears in the new Paramount picture, "Worldly Goods," a screen version of Sophie Kerr's Ladies Home Journal serial, directed by Paul Bern and starring Agnes Ayres, which comes to the Belle Theatre today for a 3 days' run.

Millions of people familiar with the characters, through having read either the Ladies' Home Journal story or the novel, will see the characters step from the printed page to the screen just as they have been drawn by the authoress.

Agnes Ayres, as the young self-supporting secretary; Pat O'Malley as the breezy salesman; Victor Varconi as the dignified and handsome store manager; Maude George, as the silly and vampish woman of wealth; Bert Woodruff and Edythe Chapman, as the parents of the girl; Otto Lederer as the Hebrew jeweler; and even the most incidental character in the picture was cast with unusual care in an effort to preserve the atmosphere of the story perfectly.

Paul Bern, former scenario expert who has shown finesse, subtlety and artistry as a director, produced the picture. Bert Glennon of "The Ten Commandments" fame was the cameraman. The screen play was written by A. P. Younger.

Villain in Pursuit

Charles Coleman, veteran screen actor, plays the "heavy" role in "That French Lady" booked for the Belle Theatre beginning today. The picture was made under the direction of Edmund Mortimer with Shirley Mason as the star. Mr. Coleman has a role entirely to his liking—one that he has unlimited opportunities to make the audiences dislike him. He likes to make himself disliked—on the screen. During the past year Mr. Coleman has played the "villyun" in several pictures with Buck Jones.

Modern Pavements Make Feet Tired

The miles and miles of hard surface roadways and side-walks are very wonderful, but, being hard, non-resilient, and excellent conductors of heat and cold, they torture our poor feet unmercifully.

It has been found that if tired, sore feet are bathed in warm water containing a few drops of Absorbine Jr. they will be delightfully cooled and refreshed.

But this is not the only use for Absorbine Jr. It is a liniment, antiseptic, and germicide in one—the handiest, most useful article in the family medicine cabinet.

Not only does it kill germs and prevent infection in open cuts and sores, hastening the healing—not only does it limber up to new freshness, tired, stiff muscles, but as a mouth wash, throat spray or gargle it protects you against wandering disease germs and leaves behind a pleasant, clean taste and odor. $1.25 a bottle at your druggist's.

ONTARIO WOMAN REGAINS HEALTH

Wants Other Women to Know About Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mount Forest, Ont.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt weak and miserable, and had pains all through me. I was living in Ailsa Craig at the time, and one day a friend came in and told me her experience of using the Vegetable Compound and advised me to take a bottle, which I finally did. I began to get stronger and those pains left me. I am glad I found out about this medicine as I think there is none equal to it for women who have troubles of this kind. I cannot praise the Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. Whenever I know of a woman suffering I am glad to tell her of it."—Mrs. Wm. Ridsdale, R.R. No 1, Mount Forest, Ontario.

Women throughout the Dominion are finding health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No harmful drugs are used in its preparation—just roots and herbs—and it can be taken in safety even by a nursing mother. For sale by all druggists.

A Dislike For Food

Every healthy man and woman should have a natural desire for food at meal times. This means that the digestion is in working order and that the blood is in good condition. But if you feel a dislike for food—if the sight and smell of wholesome food repels you—then you may be sure that Nature is telling you that all is not well. If after a night's rest you have no appetite for breakfast, your digestion requires attention. If your food is distasteful, or if you feel that it is a trouble to eat, your stomach is rebelling. You do not digest properly the food you are taking and are therefore not hungry.

All those symptoms of a disordered digestion mean that the blood is not absorbing proper nourishment from food, for the work of the blood is to collect proper nourishment from food and impart it to the system. The stomach tries to refuse food the nutriment from which the blood cannot absorb, and this causes the lack of appetite. If you force yourself to eat, the undigested food becomes a clog to the system. Nature is warning you. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone give the blood the richness and purity that it requires to perform its natural function. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills relieve the most obstinate cases of indigestion—why they will help any trouble due to poor blood.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

men present, but he hoped that all his hearers might gain benefit from the discussion.

No one should enter the service of the cloth without feeling a strong inner urge, the speaker continued. He told of meeting another minister one day, saying, "That's why I en- one day who pointed to the Roman Collar which Rev. Hughson wore, tered the ministry—I never would tie a four-inhand tie!"

Rev Hughson then told of his early struggles in his first church in the dismal wilds of Alberta, years ago. He said that from a feeling that he was too big for the job, he came to see that he was too small for the great work which the church had to do in that territory.

He spoke of a meteing of moneyed men which was held in a church in Winnipeg, some time ago, in which a small, shabbily dressed minister held the attention of the capitalists by telling them of his work and the difficulties under which he labored. The wealthy men offered aid to the cause, but were turned down by the minister who told them he wasn't looking for sympathy. He was merely telling them that his job was bigger than theirs', and infinitely more important.

The only thing which the world has not tried in its effort to find peace, was Christianity, Rev. Hughson declared. It was now a matter of "Christ or Chaos" for the whole Christian world.

Afternoon Session

Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B.D., of Lindsay, who leaves this for Hamilton Conference, opened the afternoon session of the Bay of Quinte Conference today. He told about his forty years in the service of Methodism since the seventeenth year of his life, from Maritime Methodism to British Columbia, the Klondyke, then to Newfoundland and back to this, his native province.

"Keep Sweet" emphasized the pastor. "Never sharpen an arrow for another brother's heart. Be patient in these days for they are great and wonderful." He urged the grace of patience.

Dr. Campbell, Conference Officer, told of the shock and surprise of the government's action in granting an amendment to the O.T.A. after a decisive victory for the drys on October 23rd last.

"It was a bitter disappointment," he said, "and we do not accept the decision of this government with favour."

It had been one of the greatest set backs in 25 years, and by British scientific theory the beer was intoxicating. The need now was for a thorough an immediate organization of the Temperance forces with a view to covering the ground covered years ago. Pledge signing and Sunday School education was urged with decided action on the question.

There were two ways to deal with social service problems.

Reclaim drunkards, minister to unfortunate girls and the unwanted child. Then there was the system that makes the drunkard and unfortunates. By resolutions and attempts the church departments should lead in an attack against these greater systems providing the evil.

The cost to the Dominion of caring for bad girls, women and men, were mentioned and it was stated that last year sixty-one millions were spent in legal race track gambling—a greater amount than the whole Methodist Church ever gave to missions in the 100 years o fits experience in life. Last year 58 millions were spent in Canada on alcoholic liquors. The manufacture and transportation of the liquor should be stopped.

Mayor Extends Welcome

Mayor Mikel extended an official address of welcome to the conference at 2.30 o'clock, pointing out that the spirit of service was greater to-day than ever in the church. The Methodist Church started in Canada June 11th, 1782 so this was really almost an anniversary. Mayor Mikel also traced the birth of Presbyterianism in Canada.

The Lord had seen different to make each raindrop, flower and man different to each and one another, yet with co-operation great good could be done and great power gained.

The action of Methodists in giving up their church for the United Church was a great indication of co-operation. It was the duty of the united Church to continually point out the benefit of co-operation.

The attention of the world should be focused on the practical peace lesson presented by U.S.A. and Canada in 110 years of peace though both populated by a race of warlike people. A celebration will mark this anniversary first week of August next.

Dr. E. N. Baker made a strong plea for support to the new Albert College building, which he held was the ward of this conference. He pointed out that $80,002 yet remains to be paid though several excellent donations have been received including $1,000 from laymen of the conference. A circular letter is being sent to many about this problem.

DREW—MOTT

At one o'clock Wednesday afternoon, June 3rd, a very pretty but quiet wedding was solemnized by Rev. Mr Henry, at the Methodist parsonage, fourth concession of Sidney, when Mabelle Ruth Mott, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan C. Mott, of this city, was united in marriage to Boyce Burdett Drew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drew, of Long Lake, Ont.

The bride looked charming in a dress of coral crepe and cream lace with picture hat, carrying a bouquet of tea roses. Miss Hazel Mott, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid, and wore a dress of gray georgette and lace with gray shoes and stockings and poke hat to match. Mr. Chas. A. Mott, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman.

After the wedding ceremony, luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents on West College street, where a host of friends had gathered to extend their congratulations.

At four o'clock the happy couple, amid showers of confetti and colored streamers left by motor for Kingston, Sharbot Lake and points east, the bride travelling in a blue serge tailored suit with oriental scarf and hat to match.

The high esteem in which the bride is held by her many friends, especially her girl companions at the local Bell Telephone Exchange, where she had been employed as operator for the past five years, was evidenced by the many beautiful gifts she received. The bridegroom, who is foreman at the Belleville Motors of this city, was also the recipient of many useful gifts including a handsome cheque from his employer.

Upon their return the happy couple will reside at 40 Gordon street of this city. Their many friends join together in extending to Mr. and Mrs. Drew their best wishes for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

The duke was silent for a moment, then he sighed.

"Yes I suppose so; I do not know how. I am sorry. I had hoped to stay here in peace for a few weeks, at any rate. But I must go now. Better to be in London where everybody knows me, and has, to an extent, grown accustomed to me."

He stopped short, and his face reddened.

"Yorke," he said, "do you think she knew which of us was the duke?"

"I don't know," replied Yorke; "I don't think she did."

"She would naturally think it was you if she didn't know," said the duke, thoughtfully, his eyes resting on the tall form of his cousin, who had gone to the window and was looking at the cottage opposite. "She would never imagine me, the cripple. Don't some of these simple folk think that a king is always at least six feet and a half, and that he lives and sleeps in a crown? Yes, you look more like a duke than I do, Yorke; and I wish to Heaven you were!"

"Thanks," said Yorke Auchester, not too attentively. "What a pretty little scrap of a place this is, Dolph, and—ah——" He stopped short. "By Jove! Dolph, what a lovely girl! Is that the one of whom you were speaking just now?"

The duke put the plain muslin curtain aside and looked.

Leslie had come to the window, and stood, all unconscious of being watched, with her arms raised above her head, in the act of putting a lump of sugar between the bars of the parrot's cage.

The duke gazed at her, at first with an expression of reverent admiration.

"Ah, yes, beautiful!" he murmured; then his face hardened and darkened. "How good, how sweet, how innocent she looks! And yet I'll wager all I own that she is no better than the rest. That with all her angelic eyes and sweet child-like lips, she will be ready to barter her beauty, her youth, her soul, for rank and wealth." He groaned, and clutched his chair with his long, thin, and, alas! claw-like hands. "I cannot bear it. Yorke, I meant to conceal my title, and while I staid down here pretend to be just a poor man, an ordinary commoner, one who would not tempt any girl to play fast and loose with her soul. I should have liked to have made a friend of that girl; to have seen her, talked with her every day, without the perpetual, ever-present dread that she would try and make me marry her. But it is too late, it seems. This woman here knows, everybody in the place knows, or will know. It is too late, unless——"

He stopped and looked up.

"Yorke!"

"Hallo!" said that young fellow, scarcely turning his head.

"Will you—do you mind—you say you owe me something?" faltered the duke, eagerly.

"Why, of course," assented Yorke Auchester, and he came and bent over him. "What's the matter, Dolph? What is it you want me to do?"

"Just this," said the duke, laying his hand—it trembled—on the strong arm; "be the Duke of Rothbury for a time, and let this miserable cripple sink into the background. You will not refuse? Say it is a whim, a mere fad. Sick people," he smiled, bitterly, "are entitled to these whims and fads, you know, and I've not had many. Humor this one; be the duke and save me for once from the humiliation which every young girl inflicts upon me."

Yorke Auchester's brow darkened, and he bit his lip.

"Rather a rum idea, old chap, isn't it?" he said, with an uneasy laugh.

"Call it so if you like," responded the duke, with, if possible, increased eagerness. "Are you going to refuse me Yorke? By Heaven!"—his thin face flushed—"it is the first, the only thing I have ever asked of you——"

"Hold on!" interrupted Yorke Auchester, almost sternly. "I did not say I would refuse; you know that I cannot. You have been the best friend——"

The duke raised his hand.

"I knew you would not. Ring the bell, will you?" His voice, his hand as he pointed to the bell, trembled.

Yorke Auchester strode across the room and rang the bell.

Grey entered.

"Grey," said the duke in a low voice, "how came this woman to know my name?"

"It was a mistake, your grace," said Grey, troubled and remorseful. "I let it slip when I was wiring, and the idiot at the telegraph station in London must have wired it down to the people on his own account. But—but, your grace, she doesn't know much after all, for she didn't know which is the dook, as she calls it, beggin' your pardon, your grace."

The duke nodded, clasping his hands impatiently and eagerly.

"Ring the bell. Stand aside, and say nothing," he said, in a tone of stern command which he seldom used.

The landlady, who, like Hamlet, was fat and scant of breath, was heard panting up the stairs, knocked timidly, and in response to the duke's "Come in," entered, and looked from one to the other, in a fearsome, curious fashion.

"Did you ring?"

She would not venture to say "Your grace" this time.

The duke smiled at her.

"Yes," he said, gravely but pleasantly. "His Grace the Duke of Rothbury will stay with me for a few days if you can give him a room, Mrs.— Mrs.——"

"Whiting, sir, if you please. Oh; certainly, sir," and she dropped a courtesy to Yorke Auchester. "Certainly, your grace. It's humble and homely like, but——"

Grey edged her gently and persuasively out of the room and when he had followed her the duke leaned back his chair and looking up at the handsome face of his cousin, laughed.

"It's like a scene in one of the new farces, isn't it, Yorke—I beg your pardon, Godolphin, Duke of Rothbury?"

Farce? Yes. But at that moment began the tragedy of Leslie Lisle's life.

CHAPTER III
RALPH DUNCOMBE

The "great artist" went on painting, making the sketch more hideously and idiotically unnatural every minute, and was so absorbed in it that Leslie could not persuade him to leave it even for his lunch, and he wandered from the table to the easel with a slice of bread and butter in his hand, or held between his teeth as if he were a performing dog.

Leslie had played and sung to him until she was tired, and she cast a wist-

Stubborn dirt just rinses out with Gillex. It dissolves the oil that holds the dirt particles to the fabric threads. When rinsed the dirt drops off, leaving the clothes clean, white and sweet-smelling as when new.

Gillex costs less than other cleansers, because at 15c a package, Gillex goes farther, equals in efficiency four to five packages of ordinary borax cleanser. A teaspoonful to a gallon of water is strong enough for most cleaning—add just a little more for hard water.

Gillex contains no grit or harmful acid. Use no more than quantities specified in directions.

Greatest One Day Event in The History of Belleville, in fact the greatest of its kind ever before staged in Belleville

To Be Held Under the Auspices of The Belleville Agricultural Association.

On Tuesday, July 21st, Peter Manning 1.56¾ The World's Champion Trotter of all time, will be in Belleville and make a special attempt to reduce his own World's Trotting Record over a one half mile track, Peter Manning stands preeminent alone in a class by himself, there never has been nor is there yet any near his equal.

With Peter Manning 1.56¾, Sanardo 1.59¾ the Champion racing gelding of the world will also appear in Belleville on the above mentioned date, and will go against the Canadian Pacing Record of 2.3 over a one half mile track, established by Romalo at Chesterville in 1921.

$1000 Prize Contest

In order that proper publicity be given to this wonderful event, and that every person in Belleville and for many miles around may know concerning it, because we want every-body who can at all, to see Peter Manning 1.56¾ this wonderful marvel of the Trotting Turf, and because it requires thousands of dollars to induce the great equine's owners to consent to bring him away from his native land into another, and because the undersigned has proven that by giving large Cash Prizes to individuals who volunteer to assist in the great and important task of advertising special events is of inestimable value, and a grand method of placing them effectively before the public.

In connection with events of similar nature, the undersigned has previously carried through successfully, Two One Thousand Dollar Cash Prize Contests, One at hesterville, Ont., and One at Prescott, Ont.

Miss Blanche McCartin, Prescott, Ont., cashier in Doyle Bros.' store won 1st prize $500.00 cash in one of my contests.

Miss Helen Bogart, Chesterville, Ont., Telephone Girl won 1st Prize $500.00 in cash in one of my contests, and many other young ladies have won hundreds of dollars in prize contests conducted by myself during the past few years. Right Honorable Arthur Meighen presented Twelve Young Ladies with $2,000.00 in Gold in 1922, all won by them in Ticket Selling Contests conducted solely by myself.

The $1,000.00 will be divided into Eight Prizes ranging from $500 for first and grand prize down to $15 eighth prize.

1st $500, 2nd $200, 3rd $100, 4th $75, 5th $50, 6th $35, 7th $25, 8th $15 and will be conducted in the following manner.

The contest is open to any responsible person in or around Belleville, but preferably to young ladies, because they seem to be the greatest hustlers. Please allow me to state that several of the young ladies who have previously competed and won cash prizes in contests arranged by myself, became very popular, and seemingly as a result of such popularity gained, they have since been able to take unto themselves model Husbands.

While I will not attempt to guarantee all the girls who enter the contest husbands, yet it is a safe guess, that some of them will emerge from the great battle with bright prospects in view.

The entries to contest close Tuesday, June 9th, candidates will be enrolled up to closing time. The contest begins Wednesday, June 10th and will continue on until the last day of June.

Think of it girls winning $500 Cash honorably in less than One Month, some one will. The other girls referred to in this advertisement did it.

To the person who sells the greatest number of Tickets at 50c. each for the Benefit of this Grand Peter Manning event to be held on Belleville Fair Grounds, Tuesday, July 21st, will be given $500 in cash just as soon as the contest closes. To the person who sells the second greatest number will be given $200 and so on down the list of prizes.

Those competing and not standing for a prize will be allowed a liberal commission on all tickets sold by them, therefore every competitor will make money.

In addition to the World's Champion Peter Manning 1.56¾ and Sanardo 1.59¾ the Champion Racing Gelding of the World over a one half mile track there will be a complete program of other races for Canadian Owned Horses which will be announced later, therefore guaranteeing this to be the greatest one day event ever staged over the Historic Grounds in Belleville.

The regular admission to the grounds on Peter Manning Day will be $1.00 which is ordinary considering the attraction, yet every person has an opportunity, during the month of June of securing a Ticket of Admission for only 50c. if purchased from any candidate competing for the prizes.

ADMISSION GUARANTEED

Should rain interfere on advertised date, Peter Manning's contract guarantees that he will be held in Belleville and complete programme carried through a few days later, therefore the ticket will guarantee admission.

Remember the entries to prize contest of $1,000 closes on Tuesday, June 9th. We want an army of candidates.

Albert College

Albert College, but he said that there had not been enough money obtained as yet and the Board had decided not to move until the fall of 1926.

Good Luck to Morning

Yesterday morning the minimum amount of subscriptions needed was eighty thousand dollars. But after he had addressed a laymen's meeting at the Toronto Conference one gentleman present had subscribed an even thousand. The Doctor assured the meeting that the money would be forthcoming and the building would be completed next year.

Following Principal Baker, H. W. Ackerman, Bursar of the College stated that the Board had about half a million in, and that $370,00 had been expended on the buildings, and was all paid for. He said that the Endowment Fund had reached a total of $160,000, $129,000 of which had been paid in.

In his capacity as chairman of the Building Committee of the Board. W. B. Deacon gave a review of what had happened during the past eight years.

Eight years ago, the College decided up on new building, he said. Fire had destroyed Massey Hall and something had to be done. Fifty two acres was secured from the City of Belleville at the westerly limits of the municipality with a frontage on the Bay of Quinte. The City voted to present the land to the College and had shown itself right along as being solidly behind the Board.

Dr. Baker had been wonderful, the speaker said. In the past eight years he had collected an average of $30,000 a year in subscriptions.

Describes College

Describing the College as it was expected to be when completed, Mr. Deacon said that it would provide every facility required to give the young man a three fold education, spiritual, mental and physical. There would be accommodation for about 120 students next fall, but, when everything was completed, as many as 325 would be provided for.

For the physical side, there would be a splendid swimming tank and gymnasium equipment, an athletic track and swimming and boating facilities at the Bay front.

The auditorium would seat 775 people and it was expected that there would be a pipe organ installed and a small stage fixed up. The dining room would seat as many as 312 persons with kitchen equipment to take care of that number.

Just here, Mr. Deacon interrupted his remarks to enquire how many present who had attended Albert College. About two score of preachers and laymen rose to their feet.

Then Mr. Deacon went on to illustrate how much Albert had meant to men who otherwise would not have had an opportunity to get the ordinary education.

Religion Needed

It was a fine thing to have religion taught in educational establishments and he deplored the fact that little was taught in the public and high schools throughout the country.

"Four point four has been pressed on us in Ontario," he haid. "How are we to combat it? Not by clawing in the air. We must educate the young generation along the lines of temperance."

Chairman Reid impressed on the members of the Conference that they should take advantage of the occasion and see the new Albert Buildings for themselves during the time of the Conference.

Had Been Sent For

Dr. George Locke commenced by asking the question, "Why am I here?" He supplied the answer by telling a story of a Staff Officer who was asked the same question and who called his orderly to find the answer. The orderly had said, "You were sent for, sir."

The speaker said that he had been sent for, and that nobody could have taken him out of Toronto yesterday except Dr. Baker.

Paying tribute to the Principal of Albert, Dr. Locke said he was reminded of the remark made by Ramsay MacDonald, ex-premier of England, who said, "The age of pioneers is not passed. What we need is pioneering courage and polite patience." Dr. Baker had shown just that kind of courage, having devoted his time, his heart and work for the sake of the future generations.

Lack of Enthusiasm

The speaker said that the attitude of the public to-day lacked enthusiasm and declared that it was this very lack of enthusiasm that caused the dearth of leaders at the present time.

Explaining then his attachment to Albert College Dr. Locke said he was first interested in boys. He had one of his own, he added. He was naturally interested in education, having been for 34 years a teacher and being now in charge of one of the greatest forces of education, the public libraries of Toronto.

Not long ago, he had appeared before the City Council at Toronto and a member of that body had referred to the libraries as "luxuries". He had answered that City Father by saying that all things worth while in life were luxuries.

Education was a luxury. A certain amount of it was necessary, but above that was a luxury. Education wasf or the development of the boy or girl for whatever he was good for.

He also appreciated the benefit of teaching religion in schools, as Albert College did, and the speaker said that one couldn't be successful economically without being religious.

Education served to develop the individual and he did not know of anything more awful that to be like somebody else.

Three Enemies

Education was needed in Canada to improve the outlook of people, he added. Apathy, pessimism and cynicism were three things which were hurting Canadian people.

One read a great deal in the newspapers about the "Red" flag and the man who waved it.

It was the citizen who would not say anything or do anything who was to be feared. It was a lack of sev- moral courage that did harm.

Albert College was an investment, or a speculation in the futures of boys and girls, and he did not know of any better investment.

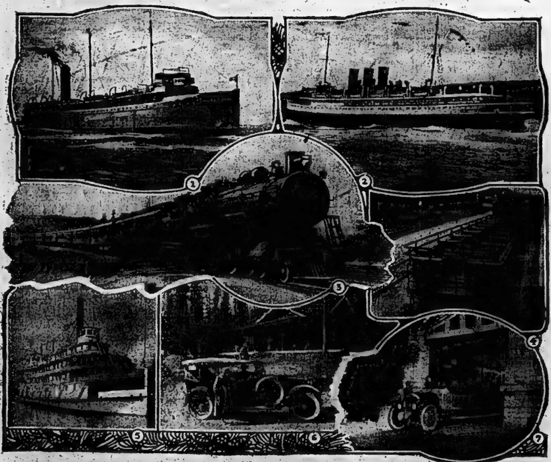
How Teachers Federation Will Tour Canada



(1) One of the Great Lakes steamers which will convey the party from Fort William to Port McNicholl.
(2) The ferry boat "Motor Princess" plying between Vancouver and Vancouver Island.
(3) The Special Train which makes a record run across the entire country.
(4) An open observation car used on all trains passing through the Rocky Mountains.
(5) A Lake Kootenay steamer.
(6) An automobile awaiting to take passengers over the famous Banff-Windermere Highway.
(7) Sight-seeing bus used at various interesting points of the trip.

Robert Louis Stevenson crossed the Pyrennees on a donkey. He even enjoyed the trip. Whatever physical discomforts he had to put up with were more than compensated for by the amount of knowledge he accumulated and by the deep pleasure he derived from coming into close contact with the beauties and wonders of nature. But the donkey, whatever his good points may be, is not now regarded as the most satisfactory means of transportation and we in Canada have a decided preference for the more comfortable and rapid conveyances depicted above.

The picture illustrates the general system by which the various points of the Dominion have become linked up with one another by Canadian Pacific steamers, trains and automobiles. It also shows the means by which Dean Laird's special party of school-teachers will make their educational trip across Canada, from coast to coast, leaving Toronto on July 20th, arriving at Vancouver July 27th, and returning to Toronto early in August. A special train, (No. 3 in the illustration) will be utilized, and reduced rates are being offered to teachers who desire, as it were, to complete their own education by increasing their personal acquaintanceship with the country about which it is their duty to instruct the rising generation. Although the tour is arranged primarily for the benefit of school teachers, it is not restricted to them, and other professional and business people are taking advantage of the opportunity to make this combined pleasure and educational trip across the country.

The party will travel by rail, with several stop-overs, to Vancouver, and from there will cross to Vancouver Island by a Canadian Pacific ferry boat (No. 2). From there by train they will proceed from Vancouver to Nelson, B.C., and thence via steamer (No. 5), over Lake Kootenay to Kootenay Landing. By rail again on to Windermere, from where the automobiles (No. 6) will convey them over the famous Banff-Windermere Highway to Banff. Entraining once more, the party will go on to Edmonton, returning from there to Fort William, from which point they travel by one of the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Steamers to Port McNicholl (No. 1) and complete the tour from there to Toronto by rail.

Letters to the Editor

EMBARGO OR BANKRUPTCY

To the Editor:
Sir,—

In a recent letter I called attention to the fact that new construction in Canada's newsprint industry now impending involve a 65% increase in the output of this commodity.

The pulpwood required to meet this expansion will exceed the total volume now exported.

Where is all this wood to come from?

Apart from the danger of exhaustion of our wood supply, the throwing of this large additional tonnage of paper upon an already over-stocked market must result in smashing the price below a point at which our mills can operate and remain solvent, unless a corrective can be devised.

Immediate prohibition of further exportation of raw pulpwood, in addition to providing wood for the new mills, would also serve to stabilize the paper market situation.

Canada must either do this or adopt the other alternative of discouraging the erection of new paper mills.

Which action will the government take?

Canada's solvency is bound up with that of the paper industry.

The Canadian people await an answer.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

Paris uses cream-colored crêpe de Chine, printed with field-flowers in poppy red, wheat yellow and cornflower blue, and other charming silks for its Summer frocks.

This almost seamless, altogether sleeveless frock with a frill down the front, a tiny collar and the many buttons of the mode is a direct invitation to try making a French frock at least once. There are only two pieces and therefore only four seams. The lower edge is straight so that there is no trick to turning up the hem. The making of the frill can be turned over to the woman who does your plaiting and picot edging for you. And the gratifying result of a few hours' effort is a frock with the look of the expensive simplicity of a French model.

Windows cleaned in 15 Seconds by amazing new method!

Few drops of C-it now take the place of powder, soap and water. No hard rubbing. No red, rough hands.

WINDOW WASHING was once the hardest household task. But almost over night it has become the easiest. Dusting off a table top is no more quick and easy—if you'll heed two simple rules. Rule 1 is to discard old-fashioned methods. Rule 2 is this: Use C-it in place of water, soap or powder. The illustrations show you how C-it works. In 15 seconds windows shine like clearest crystal. And they stay clean longer too, with no blue film to catch and hold the dirt. No other cleaning method gives results like this. No other way is half so quick or easy.

1. Mark on. 2. Wipe off. That's all. The windows shine in 15 seconds.

See for yourself. We make it easy for you in this manner. Just try C-it on one window. Then decide if what we say is true. If you don't agree, return the unused contents to your grocer and get back every penny. This free test plan, you must agree, is the fairest offer anyone can make. In fairness to yourself, please make the test today.

Yesterday's Conference Proceedings Briefly Reviewed; Tackle Routine Work

The forty-second conference of the Bay of Quinte Conference, Methodist Church of Canada, and the last under that name, began auspiciously yesterday at Bridge Street Church with a large representation of Ministers and Laymen. The day was devoted principally to routine business, but was featured by two splendid addresses, one by T.F. Harrison to the laymen and the other by Rev. W.H. Barraclough, B.A. to the Ministerial Session.

The chair was occupied by the President, Rev. J.S.I. Wilson, B.A., B.D. at the Ministerial Session and by W.S. Gordon of Tweed at the Laymen's meeting.

The first draft of Stations was laid on the table, and so far as Belleville was concerned, there was but one change recommended, Louis S. Wight B.A., B.D. of Tweed for Holloway street, in place of Rev. Alfred Brown, D.D.

In opening the Ministerial Session yesterday morning, the President, Rev. J.S.I. Wilson declared his pleasure at meeting in Bridge street, Belleville, telling his brother Ministers that he had been ordained there and his father before him.

In honor of the Birthday of His Majesty King George, the session was opened with the National Anthem.

Eighty-Two Present

The roll call revealed 82 ministers present.

By action of the Transfer Committee the following changes have already taken place in the list of ministers: Into the Conference, Rev. E. S. Dougall Ph. D. from Hamilton; Rev. T. E. Holling from Montreal; Rev. J. E. Todd, B.A. from Hamilton. Out of the Conference: Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B.A. B.D., to Hamilton, Rev. W.J. Cragg to London; Rev. J.H. McBain to Hamilton; Rev, W. Harold Young, M.A. B.D. to Toronto.

The relation of all probationers to the Conference was continued the same except in the case of C.W. Gardiner and Austin C. Gay, B.A., who were recommended for reception and ordination, and Selbourne H. Thoed who was discontinued.

Business was put through with considerable dispatch except for a breezy debate introduced by Rev. W. B. Tucker, B.A. B.D. as to whether the Probationer's Record Committee had the right to make recommendations to Conference or whether it should report for information only. The session adjourned at 12.15 p.m. to meet again in the afternoon.

At the afternoon session the following were selected as additional delegates to the United Council at Toronto next week, where the consummation of Church Union will be celebrated on June 10: Belleville, E. Farnsworth; Picton, G.C.R. McQuade; Brighton, J.S.I. Wilson; Cobourg, J.G. McKee; Bowmanville, J. H. Robins; Whitby, Wm. Higgs; Cannington, A. E. McCutcheon; Lindsay, W. R. Archer; Peterboro, C. S. Roddick; Campbellford, M.L. Histon; Madoc, J.M. Whyte.

Theological Union

Immediately following the adjournment of the Ministerial Session, a meeting of the Theological Union was held with Rev. J. E. McCutcheon, president, in the chair.

The speaker for this meeting was Rev. W.H. Barraclough, B.A., until recently, of Lindsay, but now transferred to Hamilton. He spoke on "The Dawn and Development of the Missionary Idea," tracing the missionary movement from the very beginning of the world until the present. His was a very scholarly presentation of the theme, and he spoke for well over an hour.

Mr. Barraclough explained first that the missionary idea was not of Christian origin. Rather it went back to the creation of man and man's first sin. God made all men, and it was inconceivable, knowing God, that he would make provisions for a part and leave out the rest, the speaker said.

He showed the efforts of the Hebrews to spread their ideal of one holy God and lead all nations to him. He pointed out the missionary spirit developed by the prophets, and the same idea in the Psalms, "All Nations shall call Him blessed."

Jesus Christ was the first great Missionary, and from then on he showed the increased growth, to which Paul gave such great impetus.

Attendance

He told of a man who delivered the same prayer in exactly the same manner every Sunday for so long that anyone catching a stray word or two of it could tell just where the preacher was in the prayer. It raised the question as to whether or not too much attention was paid to the strictly dogmatic or ceremonial side of worship.

Variety Suggested

"Is the remedy to be found in variety?" he then asked. He pointed out that Nature was not uniform in her manifestations, and that Nature was the work of God. He mentioned a Baptist church in Los Angeles which secured wonderful results from the exhibition of a moving picture of the Crucifixion. There were thirty-five conversions after the picture had been shown to a crowded church, the speaker said. This suggested an attraction which would provide respect from the usual maner of worship.

He dwelt briefly on the matter of motor cars, and the harm which they are alleged to cause to the religious spirit of the world. "Why damn anything," he asked, "which is here to stay? It is futile." He went on to show that there was more good and human benefit to be derived from motor cars than the reverse, and that they might be used to bring people to church.

"Is the experience of the pew too high for the pulpit?" Inthis question he showed that the experiences which the people of the world have gone through during the last ten years are such nature as to weaken the power of certain heretofore effective power, means of inspiring awe, or causing wonderment.

Holding the Soldier

Mr. Harrison asked if a man who had gone into the trenches for long bloody stretches, butchering men, struggling over the expiring forms of his comrades, could be awed by the story of the Crucifixion.

Even children are not free from experience which lessens the weight of Bible teaching. With radio, wireless, electricity and other like inventions on all sides of a child, how is a story of a miracle going to gain the child's attention?, the speaker asked.

"Is the spirit of Jesus Christ in the Church?" was the next consideration. The speaker asked if Jesus would be recognized to day if He were to enter a church.

As to organizations, he said that the spiritual life of church boards had diminished here and there. He reminded his hearers that in years past no church board would think of taking up business without a prayer, and that meetings were closed with prayer. This is not always so today, asserted the Treasurer.

Nor do such boards and committees redeem themselves by being business like, he continued. He cited a recent convention of newspaper advertising men in Detroit, last summer, which convention went on record as saying, "Business men cease to be such when they enter church."

As a consequence, some church boards not being either very religious or business like were merely social and friendly, concluded Mr. Harrison.

President Gordon

The meeting was opened by an address by the President, Wilber Gordon, of Tweed, who stressed the spiritual and social importance of this, the last meeting ebfore union. The speaker of the afternoon was proceeded by himself in the capacity of treasurer, when he and the secretary save their respective reports both of which were adopted.

BID FAREWELL TO MR. AND MRS. BRYANT

On Tuesday evening May 26th, a large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bryant met at their home to say good-bye to them ere they leave to reside at Bethel with their daughter and to express their appreciation of the many estimable quantities which have endeared them t o so many. Rev. I. Snell was asked to take the chair, after which an impromptu program of speeches and songs was rendered. An address and presentation of a well filled purse to Mr. and Mrs. Byrant followed.

The following is the address:

We, your friends and neighbors, have learned with regret that you are soon to leave our village. It is with reluctance that we say good-bye. You have both been ever ready to lend a hand when possible in aid of the advancement of the cause of Christ in our community. Your services, Mr. Bryant, will be specially missed in the class meeting and prayer meeting. For over thirty-eight years you have been a faithful class leader.

We are not unmindful of the special interest Mrs. Bryant has taken in the Womans Missionary Society, having made herself and two daughters life members. And we would like to tell you, Mrs. Bryant, that though you are now in the order of God's providence, shut in, you are still doing a great work in cheering and helping others by your christian spirit in the home and the letters you so unselfishly write. But we shall not attempt to enumerate the various services rendered. You were interested in all branches of church activity. Your friendship, neighbourliness and citizenship we have prised. As a mark of appreciation of your splendid influence here we would ask you to accept this purse and know that you will prise the spirit in which it is given rather than the gift.

We hope to still see you both often. Assuring you of our heartiest best wishes and sincere prayers. In the words of Byron—

Farewell! if ever fondest prayer
For others weal availed on high
Ours will not all be lost in air
But waft thy name beyond the sky.

Signed on behalf of Foxboro Methodist Church.

Leslie's Loyalty

ful glance from the window toward the blue sky and sunlit sea.

"Won't you leave it for a little while and come out on the beach, dear?" she said, coaxingly.

But Francis Lisle shook his head.

"No, no. I am just in the vein, Leslie; nothing would induce me to lose this light. But I wish you would go. It—it figets and unsettles me to have any one in the room who wants to be elsewhere. Go out for your walk; when you come back you will see what I have made of it; I flatter myself you will be surprised."

If she were not it would only be because she had seen so many similar pictures of his.

She put on her hat and dainty little Norfolk jacket of Scotch homespun and went out with a handkerchief of his she was hemming in her pocket.

The narrow street was bathed in sunshine; at the open doors some of the fisher wives were sitting or standing at their eternal knitting, children were playing noisily in the road-way. The women, one and all, looked up and smiled as she appeared in the open door way, and one or two little mites ran to her with the fearless joyousness which is the child's indication of love.

Leslie lifted one tiny girl with blue eyes and clustering curls and kissed her patted the bare heads of the rest and nodded pleasantly to the mothers.

"Mayn't we come with 'oo?" asked the mite; but Leslie shook her head.

"Not this afternoon, Trotty," she said and ran away from them down the street which led sheer on to the beach.

As a rule she allowed the children to accompany her, and play round her as she sat at work, but this afternoon she wanted to be alone.

Many Took Advantage of Fine Weather For Outdoor Fun

Belleville people revelled in holiday weather yesterday, the city bustling with activities of a varied nature from early morning until late at night. There was not much increased traffic on the railroads, but every other common form of transportation was used to get away from the city for a brief spell. There was a constant stream of motor cars travelling to all four points, and the bay was really alive with craft for the first time this season. Sailors spread the boat sails under ideal weather conditions and canoes and rowboats were out in great numbers along the bay.

The golf links, bowling greens and tennis courts bore their quota from early morning until late in the evening, and a good crowd attended the races and ball game at the Agricultural Park during the afternoon.

Considerable comment was drawn by the large number of flags on Front street. The plan by which two score or more business concerns carried out a uniform decoration of poles and flags along the outside of the sidewalk worked out attractively.

Robert Maidenberg, of Hamilton, was examining a revolver, which he confessed to stealing, when a chamber discharged and the soft-nosed bullet shattered his left forefinger. He was taken to the General Hospital, where the surgeons stated that it would be necessary to amputate his finger.

DISPUTE OVER DEATH OF SHERBROOKE MAN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Island Pond, Vermont, June 2.—Canadian and United States' officials today were investigating the shooting of Joseph Amadee Bilodeau, of Sherbrooke, Que., who was killed early Saturday morning while fleeing from U.S. narcotic agents on the International boundary line near Canaan. While Edward Murtz of Boston, federal narcotic agent, is held on charge of manslaughter, and Robert Price of Sherbrooke and Louis Nadeau of Canaan, companions of Bilodeau are on $10,000 bond for hearing later, on charges of possessing narcotics, officers of two neighboring countries threshed out the problem whether Bilodeau was shot on Canadian or United States ground.

Agents asserted that they were on the United States' side of the boundary when they questioned Bilodeau and his companions, but admit that only a few feet separated them from Canada. The question has arisen as to the position of Bilodeau at the time the shot was fired.

SAYS PICKFORD PLOT WAS A FRAME UP

Los Angeles, June 4.—District Attorney Asa Keys Tuesday refused to issue a conspiracy complaint against three men arrested by the city police on Saturday, accused of plotting to kidnap Mary Pickford, the film star. Keyes ordered the whole affair aired before the County Grand Jury.

Attorneys for the defense issued a statement characterizing the arrests and reported confessions of the men as a "frame up" among the police informers.

This phase as well as any tangible evidence that the trio did plot the kidnapping will be investigated by the Grand Jury, Keyes said.

The men are: C.Z. Stephens, C.A. Holcomb and A.J. Wood.

TWO ARE SAVED THIRD DROWNED IN RIVER MOIRA

Vivian Martin of Thurlow Township Victim Last Night

PUT OUT ROWBOAT

John Latonde Acted Quickly in Emergency; Caught Two

Quick action on the part of John Latonde, Thurlow township farmer, who is past middle age, saved the lives of two bathers in the Moira River last evening, but the third boy in the swimming party was drowned at a point in the river near Thrashers' corners just behind the Latonde farm.

The body was recovered at noon to-day after scores of willing farm neighbors, with Inspector F. J. Naphan and Constable R. F. Davis of the Provincial Police dragged the river all night long from punts, with grappling hooks and irons. The irksome work of dragging continued this morning.

The drowned boy was Vivian Martin, aged 12, and the two boys rescued are Leslie Martin aged 14, a brother of Vivian, and Jack Shields, aged 15.

The river is about 300 feet wide at this point and the current rather swift. The boys were diving in from a big rock in the middle of the stream. All three had dove in, when they were suddenly caught in a current and carried beyond their depth down stream. They were diving against the stream. The realized their plight and shouted. Latonde who was nearby, rushed to the shore and rowed out quickly in an old punt. By rowing in between Leslie Martin and Shields he was able to rescue both before they had been seriously exhausted. They then turned toward Vivian who had gone down for the last time. This was about seven o'clock.

Big Crowd Helped

Provincial police headquarters was notified and the officers left by motor for the place taking grappling irons with them. Scores of farmers who had congregated assisted greatly the officers declare, and the work of dragging the river started. All night long it continued, young Shields, the boy who was rescued, assisting with the operations until two o'clock this morning when he became exhausted from shock and strain. Inspector Naphan returned to the city for grappling hooks during the night hoping that they might prove more efficient, but no luck resulted.

Mosquitoes in clouds, feasted upon the rescue party during the night and to-day the hands and arms of the officers are spotted with bites and swollen from the continual hauling on ropes.

Mrs. Ernest Martin, mother of the drowned boy, collapsed when informed of the tragedy and Dr. Ward of Foxboro was called to revive her.

Difficulty was experienced by reason of the fact that none of the boys wore any clothing while in the water and it is questionable whether the hooks will take hold.

All three boys were good swimmers.

POINT ANN MAN IN TROUBLE AGAIN

A Point Ann man was charged with having liquor at his home—a place which has ceased to be a private dwelling by reason of a previous conviction under the O.T.A.—and was remanded until Friday next, June 12th.

Defense counsel E. J. Butler is attempting to secure a bondsman for $500 and with accused's personal surety of $1,000 he will gain freedom for his client.

The amended O.T.A. since the birth of 4.4 beer makes the penalty for having from $50 to $1,000 with alternatives from one to three months.

Wine which is alleged to have intoxicated a youth who was convicted on a drunk charge here yesterday morning, was given by the accused's wife, he said.

Rev. T. D. McCullough, secretary of the Social Service Council of London, has accepted a call to the pastorate of Knox Presbyterian church, Kincardine. The pulpit there will be vacated early in July as a result of the resignation of Rev. F. C. Overend, who withdrew after the church voted against union.

LAYMEN PLEDGE $7,500 TO-DAY TO OLD ALBERT

After Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker Made an Urgent Appeal

OFFICERS ELECTED

H. W. Ackerman of Belleville Chosen President by Delegates

Seven thousand five hundred dollars was the amount pledged to Albert College this morning by the Laymen's Association who met at Bridge St. Church. The first contribution of the morning was from F. E. Flynn, who pledged $1,000 toward the projected $10,000.

The method of payment was to remit in tenth parts, one tenth being payable each six months for five years. Rev. E. N. Baket was most enthusiastic in his exhortation for generosity, and campaigned for each successive $500 with fervor. Due to the press of business, the time was not extended as long as it might have been, and as a consequence the objective was not reached at this session. Dr. Baker reminded the Laymen that they could contribute at any later time. As yet, $2,500 remain unpledged.

Following this the new officials of the Association were elected, the report of the Nominating Committee being adopted unanimously.

The Officers

The officers are: President, H. W. Ackerman, Belleville; Vice President, F. W. Galbraith, Port Hope; Ex-President, Wilber S. Gordon, Tweed; Secretary, M. C. Bogart, Napanee; Treasurer, C. H. Harison, Cobourg; Member of Executive, A. M. Maclain, Brighton.

The following delegates were selected to represent the Bay of Quinte Conference at the General Conference at Toronto on June 9th, the day before Union: F. W. Sutcliffe, W. H. Hopper, J. A. Holgate, F. E. O'Flynn, J. F. Harrison, H. K. Denyes. The Conference will meet in the Sherbourne St. Church, Toronto, at 11 a.m. June 9th, next Tuesday.

These six delegates had been tentatively selected before this morning, and were confirmed by motion. It was also announced that this Conference had been allowed twelve additional delegates, to the same Conference in Toronto, one delegate from each of the twelve Districts of the Bay of Quinte. The following were submitted by the nomination Committee, and adopted unanimously: H. W. Ackerman, M. C. Bogart, R. W. Ireland, R. Robinson, F. W. Galbraith, J. W. Borsey, F. L. Beecroft, Dr. Barker, Andrew McFarland, D. F. Ackerman, Ed. Fennell, and W. S. Gordon.

Council to Survey Gasoline Pumps

Will Issue No More Permits This Year; Gas Service

At the civic committees meeting last evening a large number of accounts were passed and the following recommendations sent on to the Council meeting to be held on Monday evening next.

That no more permits for gasoline curb pumps be granted for 1925.

That a committee of the chairmen of Market and City Property, Public Works and City Engineer be appointed to investigate gasoline service stations within the city limits, as to location, of restricted area, construction, number of curb pumps, and desirability of present location, and report to council.

That a gas service be installed on Geddes and Grove streets for twenty-one subscribers.

Suggestion Made

Col. Ponton wrote the Council suggesting that the Royal Bank, in erecting their new building on the south west corner of Front and Bridge streets be requested to place the building a short distance back of the present walk, say 6 or 8 feet, and then set the sidewalk back. This would facilitate the passing of the congested traffic at this corner.

The matter was referred to Ald. Treverton and City Engineer to investigate the possibility of making the improvement.

F. C. Rickard, Bell Telephone lineman of Chatham, while working at Dresden clearing up the wire interference created by the electrical storm, fell from the top of a pole and suffered such serious injuries that his recovery is not expected. He was strapped to the pole when it collapsed.

Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon, of Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto, newly elected as moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, who was accorded an unprecedentedly enthusiastic reception to his new position by the assembly.

Staggering Man Given the Benefit

Mirthful Patter Attends Drinks Charge in Police Court To-day

A drunk charge laid against a citizen in court this morning was dismissed by Magistrate Masson. Accused said he had not had anything to drink and was not drunk, but Inspector F. J. Naphan, Chief Kidd and Provincial Constable R. F. Davis all testified that accused staggered, talked simple and smelled of some kind of alcohol.

The man was arrested on Church street just north of Bridge street church after five o'clock last evening by Inspector Naphan who was accompanied by Constable Davis. They were motoring along the street when they saw the man staggering all over the sidewalk. He carried a dinner pail and made a sweeping bow to a group of ladies who sat on a verandah. This convinced the officers but did not convince accused, who argued with them about his condition. Chief Kidd saw him when he was admitted to the cell room.

The location of accused when arrested was the cause of mirthful patter when C. A. Payne, who defended, cross examined the first witness Naphan. Witness could not swear that accused had not come from the conference church and defense counsel was not sure that the sweeping bow was not one of the many different manners in which men greet women. Someone suggested that "it might have been a "spiritual jag" acquired while passing along the street.

On the stand, accused told of working hard all day from seven until five carrying the hod up a twenty foot ladder for two men. He could not possible balance himself unless sober. He had just stopped work a few minutes before. Defense counsel blamed the heat for the groggy feeling and actions of many these days.

"Do you know whether or not anyone put alcohol in your tea?" asked the magistrate.

"No I drank water all day", replied the accused.

Other agencies blamed were rhubarb pie and the pollution of the bay water by a wrecked rum runner. At all events accused was given the benefit of the doubt as he has just started in to work hard after an idle spell.

GLINTZ—CITY CASE IS BEING APPEALED

The City Council has been notified that in the case of Mrs. Catharine Glintz vs city of Belleville et al tried here recently and a verdict of $1500 awarded the plaintiff, an appeal has been entered.

At the Civic Committee meeting last evening, a recommendation prevailed that the city solicitor and city engineer be appointed to act in the matter for the city and to take what necessary proceedings are necessary to protect the city. Mrs. Glintz was injured when a car in which she was riding struck an obstruction on Charles street. The alleged obstruction was caused by an excavation on the street made by Mr. Donahue, a contractor.

REV. DR. NELSON RAISED POINT AT ASSEMBLY

Wanted Table in Report Showing Non-Union Strength

WAS FIRST CLASH

Dr. Pidgeon Declared That Request Was Not Possible

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Ont., June 5—Presbyterian Church Unionists and their non-concurring colleagues clashed this morning for the first time during the fifty-first General Assembly. It was on final report of the Union Committee, and on declaration of principles which the Assembly was asked by the committee to adopt.

Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson, of Hamilton, one of the prominent anti-unionists, suggested to the committee the addition of a table "showing the corporate strength of this corporate church, which refuses to enter union."

Rev. Dr. Geo. C. Pidgeon, Moderator, who as chairman of the committee had presented the report, replied that such a table was not possible at this time because all the voting had not been done, nor all returns made.

"At any rate" said Dr. Pidgeon, "only the continuing Presbyterian Church is the Presbyterian Church in Canada, going as such into the United Church."

There were cheers.

"My addena "replied Dr. Nelson, "is intended to show that it not true, and figures prove it." (cries or no). "The Mother Church is not in this union wagon. This is the statement of dream, not fact."

Love Begets Service Conference is Told

Rev. Jesse Arnup Gives Inspiring Missionary Address

A call for co-operation to missions and missionaries so that Christian schools might glow on the dark sky line of foreign countries as the herald of the dawn when we should serve man because we love him and love man because we serve him, was given to a congregation which comfortably filled Bridge Street Methodist Church last evening at the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Dr. Jesse H. Arnup, D.D., assistant secretary for missions was the speaker and by packing his interesting address with historical tit bits, he added greater interest to his important subject dealing with the progress of Christianity in the British Empire and the world owing to the efforts of the British Empire along missionary lines. The efforts of our nation had made it possible for an American Senator to say, "Great Britain is the greatest secular agency for good in the world."

Missionaries Hold Power

Touching upon the relationship between Great Britain and the great powers of the east, Dr. Arnup said that the hope of solution between them lay in the power of an army of missionaries. An army of missionaries held India now, he pointed out, the principle being, "Those who honor God, he will honor."

Britain dropped her flag to a pirate's rag because its trade was fair prior to 1840, the speaker said, when She fought a war in 1840 to make China take the greatest curse imaginable, the opium.

The heart o fthe Empire revived a spiritual renewal in the great revival at the very beginning of Britain's world power, it was stated when England was saved from a political revolution. This was just prior to the time of John Wesley and George Whitfield when the church had fallen into political insignificance when impurity was popular in the upper classes and the lower classes were British. Gin shops guaranteed a dead drunk for a small sum. Then came the revival when the fiery oratorical power of

PRESIDENT OF CONFERENCE IS SICK AT HOME

Unable to Preside Over Last Bay of Quinte Conference

DR. HUGHSON TALKS

Tells Ministers Faith Can Live in Modern Times

The Bay of Quinte Conference at Bridge Street swung into its second day of general sessions to-day, various committee reports being received and many necessary details cleared up. Rev. Dr. Hughson delivered a thought provoking address on the Christian Faith towards the close of the morning. It was anticipated that a resolution concerning four point four would be forthcoming this afternoon.

President Barrett has been sent home by illness.

The meeting of the Ministerial session at Bridge St. Church this morning was largely a matter of settling pending movements.

Rev. Kemp and Mr. W. H. Hooper were elected to attend the annual meeting of the General Board. Rev. McLauchlin, ex-Secretary of the Conference, was elected Conference Archivist.

Staff to Victoria

The President's insignia, a large staff sovered with silver filigree, will rest in the archives of Victoria College, Toronto. The staff was originally presented by Rev. Richard Duke, in the early days of the Conference.

The motion to accept $10,000 as the objective for educational purposes, moved by the Educational Committee, was carried. In this connection it was also voted to send fifteen boys to College, fourteen to go to Victoria and one to Weslean.

It was announced that the Memorial Services this afternoon will be in honor of Rev. Claire and Rev Benson.

At the reception Services this evening, at which Rev. S. P. Rose will preach, two men will begin their formal entrance into the ministry. The men are Austin G. Gay, and Gordon W. Gardner. Both embryo ministers will speak. Rev. Rose is the Professor of the English Bible at the Weslean Theological College at Montreal, and a former pastor at Belleville from 1875 to 1878.

The meeting was held with the newly elected President still absent, due to the attack of tonsilitis which sent him home yesterday. It was reported this morning that Rev. Barrett is improving and that his temperature is lower. He will return to-morrow if his progress is good in the meantime.

Faith Can Live

"Can faith live in this new life?" asked Rev. Dr. Hughson this morning at the meeting of the Ministerial Session at Bridge Street Church. His answer was "Yes" and his message was, "God is in His Heaven—and on Earth; all is well."

The meaning of the term "this new life" was elaborated by Rev. Hughson in a very graphic manner, in which he stressed the strides of scientific progress. Doctors in Chicago could diagnose patients in New York by means of a telegraphic X-Ray today, and the wonders to come could far overshadow this feat, said the speaker. He told of having spoken recently to a prominent American scientist who made some interesting predictions. We would be able to phone across the Atlantic Ocean, see the faces of friends over this distance, and even read thoughts eventually, the scientist said.

The speaker reviewed the wonders which the telescope and the microscope have revealed and showed that all this gave us a new conception of life and of time.

Inventions according to the speaker, were rewards of God to man, and such blessings never came to mankind until men learned to follow Christ, he continued. He went on to say that God never rushed man into inventions but let him flounder around till he saw that to follow Christ was to follow progress. It was only then, the Rev. Hughson said, that God showed man the door of inspiration and invention.

The Difference

"God grows things; man makes them" was the distinction the speaker made.

In all this new conception of things, certain beliefs will fail, he said. It is the scaffold which is falling, not the temple, he said.

Evolution didn't hurt the beliefs of any church, he said. It was only a discussion as to the length of time consumed by Creation, but God was the motivating power no matter what the process, whether fast or slow.

The speaker scored heavily those people who haggled over minute Bible technicalities. The authorship of the 23rd Psalm is no fit subject for controversy, he explained. The essential facts are that Bible truths are such, and would be such, even if the

Toronto Old Boys Are Getting Ready

Organizing to Bring Large Crowd Here in August Next

The Intelligencer has received a letter from Mr. W. H. Wallbridge of Shilton, Wallbridge and Ault, at Toronto, in which be stated that an attempt is being made there to band the Belleville Old boys and girls together for the trip to Belleville first week of August, for the Old Home Week.

Many of the Toronto Old Boys had not heard the particulars of the celebration as yet the letter stated but a meeting will be held at Mr. Wallbridge's office to-night at eight to make the arrangements. A copy of the letter sent out by Mr. Wallbridge to the old boys and girls was also mailed and it is certainly a peppy and urgent meeting notice.

He mentions in the letter also that the celebration of 110 years of Peace "With our neighbors to the south of us" will be a feature. "Our native city is going to a lot of trouble and expense in this matter and extends a hearty welcome to all of us to particippate in the celebration," the letter adds.

SPEAKER WARNS OF COLOR PERIL AT CONFERENCE

W. H. Goodwin Relates Many Undesirable Situations in East

ARE AWAKENING

Orientals Studying Keenly And See Defects in Our Civilization

The Laymen's Association of the Bay of Quinte Conference heard a most candid warning of a color peril from the lips of Mr. W. H. Goodwin of Montreal, at a banquet held last night in the Sunday School room of Bridge Street Methodist Church. Members listened also to many suggestions for the alleviation of this situation.

About two hundred laymen and ministers sat down to a good meal served by ladies of the Church. W. S. Gordon of Tweed, occupied the chair.

Take 2 fololws

Review of Past

The question being asked to-day, said Mr. Goodwin, was whether religion is a unifying force.

To answer that question, he said that he proposed to look through the windows of the World Missionary Conference held at Washington recently.

Delegates who attended that great gathering saw the white peril, he said. They saw the end of the fifteenth century when the whites were hemmed in Europe. They saw the white people of that time becoming excited over the mysteries and treasure of the East, saw them stealing down the west coast of Africa, posing as missionaries, but coming back with loot and black slaves.

They saw Columbus setting out for America the Portugese rounding the Cape Colony, the invasion of Australia, New Zealand and India. Soon half of Asia was under the control of the white race and there the history of the middle ages ended and modern history began.

This invasion of the white race was stopped by the Japanese, the speaker explained. The Japanese-Russian war had done that.

The year 1900 had been the Boxer rebellion. In 1904, came the Japanese war and exactly ten years after, the East saw the whites "dividing the spoils" in the great world war. Then in 1923, the white race submitted to the humiliating treaty of Lausanne in which the Moslems defied the white race. Turks, numbering not more than the population of the City of London successfully forced the hand of the writes.

A Colored Peril

"There is indeed fasing us to-day a colored peril," Mr. Goodwin said. There was a renaissance and awakening going on among the yellow people at this time. They were studying our civilisation and finding that our material basis was similar to their own.

As a result of this, missionaries were never higher in the estimation of the yellow people and western civilisation was never so low. Students in the Orient were crying, "Down with the religion of Jesus Christ".

DuBois had said, "The future of the world is what the colored are going to make it."

In the Orient, the yellow people were terribly overcrowded.

What the Orient Sees

These students in the east observed their own people spreading over the available land and even living in boats close to shore. Then they looked across the Pacific and saw America sparsely settled in comparison.

They were studying the exploitation of the colored races by white people. China abounded in poverty while the

THE SCHOOL STRIKE

Smith's Falls has a school situation that has not been equalled in the Province for some time. The students at the Collegiate went on strike a week ago over changes in the staff, seven teachers having been dismissed, says the London Advertiser. Since then the School Board has been in session off and on, the last meeting running for five hours. The students have also held meetings, and the Mayor has been called in to see what he can do to still the troubled waters. The last gathering of the trustees gave out a statement in which it was agreed to reinstate four of the dismissed teachers, but this was not considered satisfactory, and when the outcome was announced to the students most of them walked out again.

The Board of Education, in its sessions, has carried on behind closed doors, and it may be surmised that the trouble is not in any way diminished by that procedure. There is apparently trouble some place, and when it reaches the stage now experienced in Smith's Falls the general public, who pay all the bills should be told definitely what the rumpus is all about. A curt, carefuly prepared statement does not help to heal over a breach of the dimensions of the Smith's Falls rupture. The closed door creates more suspicion and builds up an atmosphere that is breeding more trouble instead of diminishing it.

Neither can there be any apology made for a situation wherein the students resort to a strike to inflict their views on those who have been elected to conduct the affairs of the school. If there is one thing that makes even an advanced institution like a Collegiate a good school it is a fairly large amount of discipline. In this age of experiments theories and fads, it is easy to get away from that old idea of school discipline. Much of the new idea argued that students in a Collegiate are different to those in primary schools, and therefore they must have greater latitude. In theory that may be correct, but in practice it is a failure.

The entire Smith's Falls situation is a demonstration of what can take place when plain, old fashioned common sense and a reasonable amount of wholesome discipline take their departure.

A CRYSTAL GARDEN

Canada may not have its Crystal Palace but it is shortly to erect its Crystal Garden in Victoria, B.C., which in several respects will leave the English glass palace leagues behind. Briefly, it will be a beautiful glass roofed structure with flowers, palms, fountains and so forth—a sunlit winter garden by day, and, reflecting countless light a glittering fairyland by night. But one of its main attractions will be the central swimming pool, the largest salt water swimming basin in the world, 150 feet long, 40 wide and 9 deep at the diving end. It will be sterilized and bathers must first pass under showers of varying temperatures.

REALTIES AND ILLUSIONS

The Australian

The citizen who does not shut his eyes to a palpable danger, and who recognises that it can only be averted by defensive preparation and by the inculcation of a gallant spirit in the rising danger, is no "militarist," but simply a person of reasonable foresight, who can distinguish between an unwelcome reality and an empty mirage of the millennium.

Nature Lore

(By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB)

Did you ever start a barrel rolling down hill? You never can tell just where it will land.

I remember hearing, once, when I was a little lad, about a boy who got inside a barrel and rolled down hill, but he made a mistake in adding his own weight, for the barrel only went a little way when empty, but with him in it, the thing went crashing across the field and through a woodshed door and knocked over a churn full of buttermilk and the old woman working the butter was so upset that she made the boy and herself a mess of butter and milk and dirt before he got out of there.

Well, birds are about as endless as that.

One woman read in Nature Lore about feeding birds in winter, so she tried some on her own account. She did not think to ask what to put out but stuck out a lot of peanut butter. Birds don't like experiments but some of them will try anything once, and an old cat-bird found out what a soft snap it was to winter on peanut butter, so he stayed all winter and let the woman take care of him.

Sometimes she would get up in the morning and wonder if he survived the cold and stormy night, but it was all in the game for him. He had a warm hole in a tree not far away and what more does a guy want but bed and board. Now, this particular cat-bird fell in love with the woman; at least that is what she says, but I suspect it was love for peanut butter; however, we won't argue about it—I guess he liked her because she was so good to him. Anyway, he was there all winter and when the nice warm days came, he disappeared to look after himself. Then the unexpected storm came. The woman wondered if it had been worth while to feed that bird all winter and he must surely be dead in the storm for he had departed. But, like the barrel, the story goes rolling on, for when the cat-bird found the turn in the weather so dangerous, he went back. No peanut butter was there. It was no time for hesitation. He flew through the storm to the house and was noticed at once. When the woman opened the door, he told her in very angry language, what kind of love he had for her. In five minutes he was eating peanut butter.

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

On a Swedish Railway Train

Atrip to Sweden does not involve such a long journey as one might imagine. Since 1915, Swedish liners have been carrying passengers direct from the New World. And Sweden isn't so far away from other countries. Railway ferries ply between Sweden and Germany and Denmark. And it is only a short paddle, so to speak, between Gothenburg and England. The night train takes one from Gothenburg to Stockholm, from the North Sea to the Baltic, in the same length of time one would spend traveling from Boston to Washington. There's a difference though, for pretty girls in national costumes come trooping through the sleeping cars bearing baskets of sandwiches and ice-cold bottles of beer. The only one in a party of American tourists on our train who declined to partake of the beer was a Norwegian guide who preferred his own bottle of wine which he had brought along for a nightcap.

In Stockholm, everybody owns a motorcycle, a motor car or a boat. Stockholm was built originally on a tiny island, one of several hundred which extended out to the Baltic coast, a four-hours' sail from the capital city. As the town grew up it spread out from the one island until it now covers part of the mainland and all the various peninsulas, which fact makes it appear like an island city.

"The Most Beautiful Vale in the World"

That is what Adam Mickievitch called the Lithuanian country about Kaunas, for the groves, hillsides and ravines about this ancient Lithuanian city served as the background for his poetry as well as for others. This entire country is fast being etched on to the tourist map of Europe and thousands who used to make Germany and Danzig the goal of their Teutonic pilgrimages, now go up the Baltic to Lithuania, which used to be "off the beaten track", but is now well travelled by the hundreds of tourists who want to acquaint themselves with the most ancient people of Europe who trace their history back 2,000 years before the Christian era. They were not Christianised until the 14th century and many quaint old customs of pre-Christian days are still found among them.

Shakespeare's 1925 Birthday Party PARTY

A large number of Americans were here at Stratford-on-Avon for Shakespeare's four week birthday party this year and the usual festival is now in progress to the bard's honor. Under the direction of W. Bridges Adam the plays given included "King John," "The Two Gentlemen of Verona," "As You Like It," "Macbeth" and Sheridan's comedy "The Critic." Stratford truly deserves the 80 000 visitors who came here every year, to the little town, for the Elizabethan atmosphere is kept about its houses, inns and meadows, as few other places in England. I could not help but note that modern travelers do not indulge in the gentle vandalism of scratching their names on Shakespeare's house as they used to in the days when Browning and Thackeray left their's there and Sir Walter Scott and Carlyle scratched them on the windows.

Miss Mary W. Falkiner, daughter of Ald. N. B. Falkiner, has been appointed lady superintendent of the new hospital at Woodstock, Ont.

A man named Wellman of Rawdon Township was today on trial before Judge Lazier, charged with attempting to commit suicide. He was acquitted.

The City Council which met last night was in session until 1 o'clock this morning.

A furious wind accompanied by hail and rain swept over the city and vicinity last evening. Some barns on the front of Sidney were unroofed and trees in orchard blown down. A few windows were broken by hail stones.

The above map illustrates possible routes to the North Pole which three different relief expeditions may take in search of Amundsen. The United States government may send the great dirigible Shenandoah up north to Spitzbergen in an epic cruise of relief. If no word is received from Amundsen by June 20th Donald B. MacMillan will turn aside from his purpose and make search for the missing men. He and his party will go north by plane to Cape Hubbard at the northern end of Axel Heiberg Island, and thence to Franklin Bay and to Cape Columbia. Grettir Algarsson, the young British Columbian, plans to use an airship after proceeding by boat to the west coast of Spitsbergen. There are two other routes to the pole that have in the past attracted scientific attention. One is from Point Barrow, Alaska, a distance of 1,100 miles, and the other is from Cape Nome, Alaska, 1,500 miles. It has been speculated that Amundsen may have flown over the top of the world and may be somewhere in these wastes between Alaska and the pole.

"And having spoiled principalities and powers, He made a show of them openly triumphing over them in it."

Speaker

white people there were making their millions.

Illustrating then the sort of thing that is going on in China at the present time, Mr. Goodwin told of the Anglo-Chinese Cotton Companies for the third time earning an amount equal to their capital. These magnates made it known that they were "happily situated", with labor so cheap, the Chinese working for twelve hours for ten cents a day.

The Reason

There were Chinese who worked for white owners for twelve hours a day seven days in the week and that was the reason for what Canadians were reading in the papers today. The fear of the white pepole by Orientals was dropping like an outworn garment.

The statement was made openly there that "The East will see the West to bed." It was well to be serious about it Mr. Goodwin said, and realize the situation as we can.

Returning to the World Missionary Conference, the speaker said that delegates there saw the world's Saviour at work, however. Christian workers native and white supplied evidence that the power of Jesus Christ was working tremendous upheavals in the east.

Ghandi, the big leader of India, had been made to weep when it was proposed to him that he lead his people in the path of Christianity. Native Christians in Japan put westerners to shame in point of sacrifice and ennobled Christian activity.

"The day will come when you and I will be sitting at the feet of those evangelists and being converted," he said.

Dealing with the relationship between the East and the West, Mr. Goodwin brought out the statement of President Coolidge who declared that corporations here should not send representatives into the East who were not Christians. Mr. Goodwin also warned against the "Superiority Complex", that wave of feeling that the white people were of a higher grade than the yellow.

The Caste System

People of this continent disapproved of the caste system in the east, yet this country was in the grip of similar caste system. In the business world it was most marked while once in a long while some Methodist ministers appeared to draw a line of distinction between the men with the big charges and the men with small country circuits.

Mr. Goodwin recalled the incident where Christ instructed his Disciples to wash one another's feet and said that that spirit was needed more and more today.

W. J. Babe, of St. Thomas, was this week re-elected vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at the organization's annual convention at Cleveland, Ohio.

$1000 IN CASH PRIZES
GIVEN AWAY

Greatest One Day Event in The History of Belleville, in fact the greatest of its kind ever before staged in Canada.

To Be Held Under the Auspices of The Belleville Agricultural Association.

On Tuesday, July 21st, Peter Manning 1.56¾ The World's Champion Trotter of all time, will be in Belleville and make a special attempt to reduce his own World's Trotting Record over a one half mile track, Peter Manning stands preeminent alone in a class by himself; there never has been nor is there yet any near his equal.

With Peter Manning 1.56¾, Sanardo 1.59½ the Champion racing gelding of the world will also appear in Belleville on the above mentioned date, and will go against the Canadian Pacing Record of 2.3 over a one half mile track, established by Romalo at Chesterville in 1921.

$1000 Prize Contest

In order that proper publicity be given to this wonderful event, and that every person in Belleville and for many miles around may know concerning it, because we want every body who can at all, to see Peter Manning 1.56¾ this wonderful marvel of the Trotting Turf, and because it requires thousands of dollars to induce the great equine's owners to consent to bring him away from his native land into another, and because the undersigned has proven that by giving large Cash Prizes to individuals who volunteer to assist in the great and important task of advertising special events is of inestimable value, and a grand method of placing them effectively before the public.

In connection with events of similar nature, the undersigned has previously carried through successfully, Two One Thousand Dollar Cash Prize Contests, One at hesterville, Ont., and One at Prescott, Ont.

Miss Blanche McCartin, Prescott, Ont., cashier in Doyle Bros. store won 1st prize $500.00 cash in one of my contests.

e Miss Helen Bogart, Chesterville, Ont., Telephone Girl won 1st Prize $500.00 in cash in one of my contests, and many other young ladies have won hundreds of dollars in prize contests conducted by myself during the past few years. Right Honorable Arthur Meighen presented Twelve Young Ladies with $2,000.00 in Gold in 1922, all won by them in Ticket Selling Contests conducted solely by myself.

The $1,000.00 will be divided into Eight Prizes ranging from $500 for first and grand prize down to $15 eighth prize.

1st $500, 2nd $200, 3rd $100, 4th $75, 5th $50, 6th $35, 7th $25, 8th $15 and will be conducted in the following manner.

The contest is open to any responsible person in or around Belleville, but preferably to young ladies, because they seem to be the greatest hustlers. Please allow me to state that several of the young ladies who have previously competed and won cash prizes in contests arranged by myself, became very popular, and seemingly as a result of such popularity gained, they have since been able to take onto themselves model Husbands.

While I will not attempt to guarantee all the girls who enter the contest husbands, yet it is a safe guess, that some of them will emerge from the great battle with bright prospects in view.

The entries to contest closes Tuesday, June 9th, candidates will be enrolled up to closing time. The contest begins Wednesday, June 10th and will continue on until the last day of June.

Think of it girls winning $500 Cash honorably in less than One Month, some one will. The other girls referred to in this advertisement did it.

To the person who sells the greatest number of Tickets at 50c. each for the Benefit of this Grand Peter Manning event to be held on Belleville Fair Grounds, Tuesday, July 21st, will be given $500 in cash just as soon as the contest closes. To the person who sells the second greatest number will be given $200 and so on down the list of prizes.

Those competing and not standing for a prize will be allowed a liberal commission on all tickets sold by them, therefore every competitor will make money.

In addition to the World's Champion Peter Manning 1.56¾ and Sanardo 1.59½ the Champion Racing Gelding of the World over a one half mile track there will be a complete programme of other races for Canadian Owned Horses which will be announced later, therefore guaranteeing this to be the greatest one day event ever staged over the Historic Grounds in Belleville.

The regular admission to the grounds on Peter Manning Day will be $1.00 which is ordinary considering the attraction, yet every person has an opportunity, during the month of June of securing a Ticket of Admission for only 50c. if purchased from any candidate competing for the prizes.

ADMISSION GUARANTEED

Should rain interfere on advertised date, Peter Manning's contract guarantees that he will be held in Belleville and complete programme carried through a few days later, therefore the ticket will guarantee admission.

Remember the entries to prize contest of $1,000 closed on Tuesday, June 9th. We want an army of candidates.

For entry blanks, conditions and all further information concerning the prizes offered, apply

Tommy Ellis, Secretary of Prize Contest.

Tommy Ellis Does Things on Big Scale

With regard to the big sporting event which will be staged at Exhibition park here July 2nd, when Peter Manning and Sanardo, the world's two greatest light harness horses will attempt to lower their remarkble records, the Chesterville Record in its issue of September 11th last year states:

"Chesterville will soon become known to the outside world as the home of Tommy Ellis, Canada's greatest promoter of high-class harness racing. Mr. Ellis has been determined for some time to bring from across the border the stars of the harness turf and show them in competition to Canadians. He was considered doing a good thing when he brought Single G. for his first appearance in this country to the local track. This was followed by the appearance in Toronto of that noted driver and idol of the horsemen, the late "Pop" Geers. Now Mr. Ellis is outdoing his former tasks and has made all arrangement for the appearance in Montreal on the eighteenth of September of three world's champions in competition for the largest purse ever offered for a three heat race in this country, namely, ten thousand dollars. The three champions include Single G., the wonder horse with a record of 1.58 1-2 and practically unbeaten at his age, Sir Roch, champion pacing gelding with a record of 1.59 1-2 and Margaret Dillon, world's champion pacing mare with a record of 1.58 1-4.

CHICAGO MARKET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, June 5.—Active trading and much higher prices developed early on wheat market today. Hot, dry weather, unfavorable for wheat growth, was widely prevalent. September and December deliveries here both touched new high price records for season. Chicago opening prices 3-4 cents to 4¼ cents higher were followed by additional upturn that carried July to $1.70 3-4 and September to $1.63½.

Corn and oats went up with wheat. Buying was based largely on the ground that a short crop of wheat would necessitate substitution of all other grain. After opening at ½ cent to 4½ cents gain, corn market steadied at around $1.17½ for September and $1.00.

Oats started 3-8 cents to 1¼ cents up and later showed further gains. In line with hog values, the provision market was firmed.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

The arrival of the letter which her father had lost had disturbed and troubled her.

The man from whom it had come was a certain Ralph Duncombe, and he was one of the many unfortunates who selfhad fallen in love with her; but, unlike the rest, he had not been content to take "No" for an answer, and gone away and got over it, or drowned himself, but had persisted in hoping and striving.

She had met him at a sea-side boarding house two years before this, had been pleasant and kind to him, as she was to everybody, but had meant nothing more than kindliness, and was surprised and pained when he had asked her to be wife and declined to take a refusal.

Since that time he had cropped up at intervals, like a tax collector, and it seemed as if Leslie would never convince him that there was no hope for him. His persistence distressed her very much, but she did not know what she could do. He was the sort of man who having set his heart upon a thing, would work with a dogged earnestness until he had got it; and could not be made to understand that women's hearts are not to be won, like a town, by a siege, however long and stringent it may be.

She went down to the breakwater, and sat down in her favorite spot and got out her handkerchief; and two minutes afterward there was a patter-patter on the stones behind her, and a small black-and-tan terrier leaped on her lap with a joyous yap.

She laughed and hugged him for a moment, then forced him down beside her.

"Oh, Dick, what a wicked Dick you are! You've run the needle into my finger, sir!" she said. "Look there." And she held out a tapering forefinger with one little red drop on it.

Dick smiled in dog fashion, and attempted to bite the finger, but to his surprise and disgust Leslie refused to play.

"I'm too busy, Dick," she said, gravely. "I want to finish this handkerchief; besides, it's too hot. Suppose you coil yourself up like a good little doggie, and go to sleep—— Well, if you must you must, I suppose!" And she let him snuggle into her lap, where, seeing that she really meant it, he immediately wnt to sleep.

It was a lovely afternoon. There was no one on the beach excepting herself, and all was silent save for the drowsy yawning of the gulls and the heavy boom of the tide as it went out, for the sea was very seldom calm at Portmaris, and in the least windy of days there was generally a ground swell on.

Leslie sat and worked, and thought mostly of Mr. Ralph Duncombe, her persistent suitor; but once or twice the remembrance of the deformed cripple who had come to lodge at Marine Villa crossed her mind, and she was thinking of him pityingly when the sound of footsteps crunching firmly and uncompromisingly over the pebbles made her start, and caused the terrier to leap up with the fury of its kind.

Leslie's brows came together as she looked up.

A middle-sized young man, with broad shoulders and a rather clumsy but steady gait, was coming down the beach. He was not a good looking man. He had a big head and red hair, a large mouth and a square jaw; his feet and hands were also large, and there was in his air and manner something which indicated aggressiveness and obstinacy.

Sharp men who had seen him as a boy had said, "That chap will get on," and, unlike most prophets, they had been correct; Ralph Duncombe had "got on." He had started as an errand boy in a city office, and had risen step by step until he had become a partner. Rawlings & Co. had always been well thought of in the city, but Rawlings and Duncombe had now become respected and eminent.

His square, resolute face flushed as he saw her, but the hand with which he took off his hat was as steady as a rock.

"Good morning, Miss Lisle," he said, making his voice heard above the dull roar of the sea and the shrill barking of the terrier.

Leslie held out one hand while she held the furiously struggling Dick with the other.

He took her hand in his huge fist, and dropped heavily on the shingle beside her.

"I didn't know you had a dog," he said, glancing at her and then at the dog, and then at the sea, as a man does who is so much head-over-heels in love that he cannot bear the glory of his mistress' face all at once.

"I haven't," said Leslie, laughing in the slow, soft way which her adorers "He doesn't really belong to me, though he pretends that he does. He is the abandoned little animal of Mrs. Merrick our landlady; but he will follow me about and make a nuisance of himself. Be quiet, Dick, or I shall send you home."

"I'm not surprised," said Ralph Duncombe, with a slight flush, and still avoiding her eyes. "I can sympathise with Dick."

Leslie colored and took up her work, leaving Dick to wander gingerly round the visitor and smell him inquisitively.

"You got my letter, Miss Leslie?"

"No," she said. "I am very sorry; but papa lost it."

He smiled as if he were not astonished.

"It doesn't matter," he said. "It only said that I was coming and—here I am."

"I—I will go and tell papa; you will come and have some lunch?"

"No, don't get up," he said, quickly, putting out his hand to stay her. "I've had my lunch, and I can go and see Mr. Leslie presently if——" he paused. "Miss Leslie, I suppose you know why I have come down here?"

Leslie bent her head over her work. She could guess. Such a man as Mr. Ralph Duncombe was not likely to come down to such a place as Portmaris in obedience to a mere whim.

"I've come down because I said that I would come about this time," he went on, slowly and firmly, as if he had well rehearsed his speech—as, indeed, he had. "I'm a man who, when he has set his heart upon anything, doesn't change or give it up because he doesn't happen to get it all at once. I've set my heart upon making you my wife, Miss Leslie——"

Leslie's face flushed, and she made a motion as if to get up, but sank back again with a faint sigh of resignation.

"That's been my keenest wish and desire since I saw you two years ago; and it's just as keen no less and no more as it was the first half hour I spent in your society."

"You—you told me this before, Mr. Duncombe," said Leslie, not angrily nor impatiently, but very softly.

"I know," he assented. "And you told me that it could't be. And I suppose most men would have been satisfied—or dissatified and given it up. But I'm not made like that. I shouldn't be where I am and what I am if I were. I dare say you think I'm obstinate."

The faintest shadow of a smile played on Leslie's lips.

"Yes!" she said. "But—but may I not be obstinate, too?" pleadingly.

"No," he said, gravely. "You are a woman, a girl, little more than a child, and I'm a man, a man who has fought his way in the world, and knows what it is; and that makes it different."

"But——"

"Wait a minute," he said. "You said 'no' because—well, because I'm not good-looking, because I haven't the taking way with me which some men have; in short, because there's nothing about me that would be likely to take a romantic girl's fancy——"

Leslie laughed softly.

"Who told you that I am romantic, Mr. Duncombe?" she said.

"All girls—young girls who don't know the world—are romantic," he said, as if he were remarking that the world is round and that two and two make four. "You look at the outside of things and because I'm not handsome and a—swell—you think you couldn't bring yourself to love me, and that I'm not worth loving."

Leslie shook her head.

"I respect you very much. I like you, Mr. Duncombe," she said, in a low voice.

"Very well. That's all I ask," he retorted, promptly. "Be my wife and I'll change your respect into liking, your liking into love. I'm satisfied with that. When a man's starving he is thankful for half a loaf."

He didn't plead his cause at all badly and Leslie's gray eyes melted and grew moist.

"Buy only pure laundry soap — it's real economy"

says Mrs. Experience

"Many women, I've found, choose their laundry soap merely because it is extra hard or because the bar is big and bulky—regardless of the soap's quality.

"As for myself, I always insist on Sunlight Soap, because I learned many years ago that it is more economical to use only pure laundry soap, and I believe that Sunlight is the only pure laundry bar soap made in Canada. Every bar of Sunlight carries a $5,000 Guarantee of Purity.

"And as every bit of Sunlight is pure cleansing soap, it cleans quickly with very little rubbing, and a little of it goes a long way. For washing clothes, dishes and general housework give me Sunlight every time. Sunlight doesn't make the hands rough and red, either." Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto, make Sunlight.

Try Slats If Kidneys Hurt

DRINK WATER FREELY AND OFTEN TO KEEP KIDNEYS FLUSHED AND CLEAN

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in your kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year, and draw this through your hair taking

The Silent Accuser Interesting to All

Remarkable Picture at Griffin Features Aacting of Peter the Great

Thrills, sustained excitement, love interest, natural comedy and unusual human appeal mark "The Silent Accuser," the Metro-Goldwyn picture at Griffin's Theatre. It was produced and directed by Chester M. Franklin, and is presented by Louis B. Mayer.

"The Silent Accuser" is a melodramatic novelty and also serves to introduce a new star to the screen. The newcomer is Peter the Great, an unusually intelligent police dog. If there is such a thing as personality in a dog, Peter the Great has it.

Peter the Great plays the title role of the story which was written by Jack Boyle and adapted to the screen by Frank O'Connor and Mr. Franklin, who have crammed their yarn with fast action. The cast is headed by Eleanor Boardman, Raymond McKee and Earl Metcalf.

In handling the story of how a dog through his almost human instinct and with the aid of the heroine brings justice on the real murderer when the hero is falsely accused of the crime, the director has introduced a situation that has never been used before.

"The Silent Accuser" is one of those rare pictures which has equal gripping power on grown-ups and children. Neither can fail to respond to its certain appeal. Cameraman Charles Dreyer is responsible for the splendid photography. Cedric Gibbons designed the sets and Sophie Wachner created the costumes. Lloyd Nosler was film editor.

At The Belle

THEODORE VON ELTZ REGULAR BOOK-WORM

Theodore Von Eltz, the well-known screen leading man, is extremely fond of books. When not actually working in a scene he can always be found, comfortably seated in a quiet corner of the stage, reading. During the making of "That French Lady" with Shirley Mason at the William Fox Studios, Hollywood, the young actor read seven volumes. Harold Goodwin, Charles Coleman and Lucy Beaumont are the chief members of the supporting cast. The production was directed by Edmund Mortimer.

"That French Lady" opened at the Belle Theatre yesterday for a three day's run.

"Worldly Goods", a Paramount picturization by Sophie Kerr / starring Agnes Ayres, will be the feature at the Belle Theatre to-day and Saturday. Paul Bern directed the production which was adapted for the screen by A. P. Younger.

The story is a fine domestic comedy-drama of real, human people. It first appeared as a serial in the Ladies' Home Journal and has since proved unusually successful as a novel.

Miss Ayres has the role of Eleanor Lawson, young secretary to the manager of a large department store. Pat O'Malley is Fred Hopper whom she marries. He is an automobile salesman, gifted with a great line of talk and "high-faultin" ideas of the future. In fact, he's all ideas and no initiative. Victor Varconi is cast as the store manager, Clifford Ramsay. It is about these three that the story revolves—and it's not the time-worn eternal triangle theme either, but something really new. Paul Bern is a new director ("Open All Night" was his first work for the screen), and he has introduced some novel ideas into "Worldly Goods."

Edythe Chapman and Bert Woodruff also have prominent parts in the strong supporting cast of the picture. Maude George, Cecille Evans and Otto Lederer complete the line-up of players.

Here's a matrimonial comedy-drama that will appeal to everyone.

Oslo—Amundsen said to have left sealed instructions to be opened two weeks after his departure for the Pole.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

COMMON AILMENTS OF MIDDLE AGE

are indicated in women by nervous conditions, irritability, melancholia, pains and aches in the back, dizzy spells, headaches and heat flashes. These trying conditions may be easily overcome and such symptoms controlled by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will interest women to know that in a recent canvass among over one hundred and twenty-one thousand women, ninety-eight out of every hundred reported benefit from its use.

NATIVES TERRORIZED BY MEXICAN PROPHET

Nogales, Ariz., June 5.—Terror-stricken by prophecies of the world's end in 1926 made by Enoch, prophet of the Mexican people in Nogales, Senora, hundreds of residents of the Mexican border town yesterday began religious preparations for "the end."

Enoch, addressing hundreds of compatriots at public square gatherings last night, said the coming year will be a successin of tremors over the entire earth. Cities will be levelled and loss of life will be tremendous.

As the earthquakes subside, he prophesied, a terrific heat will settle upon the earth and all dry places will quickly ignite.

Taking these prodicitions literally, hundreds of Mexicans fled about the streets in a panic. Later they settled down to a careful preparation for the coming of the world's end.

Love

Wesley and Whitefield caused tears to streak the dirty faces of miners and other workers.

"The heart of England underwent a change," explained the speaker. The church was restored, literature purified the penal system modified, slave trade abolished and education advanced as a result of the great revival.

The expansion of the English speaking world at that period provided the vehicle and frame work for world expansion and an Evangelical movement of the world, Dr. Arnup declared. He pointed out that the great explorations of Captain Cook alone had caused the expansion of the English speaking world. It was Cook who founded Australia, who braked into the Antarctic and explored the west coast of Canada. Soldiers and sailors had also done a great work in this connection. India had been secured for English speaking people. Similarly South Africa and numerous other small outlying posts were established. Wolfe gained British North America for the English speaking people on the eventful plains at Quebec.

Traditions Spread

The traditions of the English speaking world were carried on the wings of the wind and the waves of the ocean. They spread to Canada and to the United States, to the more remote parts of the country.

It was the evangelical outreach and ethical uplift of the revival which laid the fundamentals in religion, the speaker held. Pointing out the bad conditions which existed in countries in the early days when soldiers and sailors were the first men in the country, he told of existing sins of the flesh, drunkeness and other disorderly living conditions in mining camps and earlier settlements. One third of the original settlers of Australia were convicts. Then came the missionaries for whom no river was too wide, no night too dark, and they carried on their great work, pushing their way to all points in Canada and the United States. They fought sin in whatever form they found it in an endeavour to make the world as nearly like the purity of the Lord's life as possible.

Interims of Service

The world wide missionary movement which grew out of this Evangelical evolution of the 18th century, interpreted world power in terms of world service it was shown. For instance the first slaves carried from South Africa to America were carried by an Englishman and Britain gained a monopoly of this trade in which 30 blacks perished for every one landed in America. Then the missionaries commenced their great work. Slavery was attacked and rooted out. Knowing too that intercourse between a weak and a stronger people is detrimental to both, unless the power of missionaries comes into play, the missionaries again found much good work to do.

Paul P. Kam, native of China, who will be ordained as a Roman Catholic priest on June 6th.

Chairman F. E. O'Flynn stressed four impressions which he gained at the world conference in Washington. Mrs. McKinnon, Mrs. Stoble, F. Sprague and A. Schryver favoured with a quartette number. Immediate Past President Rev. J. I. Wilson closed the meeting.

LOW COST FOUR-WEEK TOUR

Through Western Canada To The Pacific Coast, Yellowstone Park, Salt Lake City and Rocky Mountain National Park

A never-to-be-forgotten four week tour of Western Canada and the Pacific Coast with a trip through the United States on the return journey has been planned for Canadian teachers and their friends this summer, leaving Toronto by Canadian National Railways on July 9th.

The trip is simply crammed with scenic and historic wonders. A visit to Wainwright Park, Alberta, where the largest herd of Buffalo in the world is located. Two days are spent at Jasper National Park, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, where the beauty of the mountain scenery is indescribable. From Jasper Park westward the party passes snow-capped Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, and stops at the Indian village of Kitwanga, with its wonderful historic totem poles. Then westward again, following the mystic Skeena River, to Prince Rupert, the North Pacific terminal of the Canadian National Railways.

At Prince Rupert a palatial steamer is boarded for the 730 mile trip through the Sheltered Scenic Seas of the North Pacific to Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. This is recognized as one of the finest sea trips in the world.

On the journey homeward a 172-mile motor drive will be taken from Portland Oregon, over the famous scenic Columbia River Highway, and five days will be taken for a motor tour of Yellowstone National Park. Then follows a visit to Salt Lake City, Utah, with a three-day motor tour of Rocky Mountain National Park of Colorado. Enroute to Denver short stops will be made at Clear Creek Canyon, Idaho Springs and Lookout Mountain—where Buffalo Bill is buried. Chicago is reached on August 6th and Toronto, August 7th.

In spite of the magnitude of the tour the fare is remarkably reasonable and as the leaving date is July 9th, arrangements should be made at once. Reservations and illustrated booklets with full information regarding the trip can be secured from A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorn Ave., Toronto, Martin Kerr, 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, or any Canadian National Railways Agent.

YOUNG MEN ARE RECEIVED INTO MINISTRY

Large Congregation Attend Simple Service at Conference

REV. DR. ROSE TALKS

Gives Four Characteristics Of the Ideal Minister

In spite of the fact that last evening was the hottest of the season, the largest crowd to date was present at Bridge Street Methodist Church to witness the Reception of Gordon W. Gardner and Austin B. Gay, B.A., who were taken into full ministry by the Bay of Quinte Conference. Those present were further rewarded by the address of Rev. S. P. Rose, D.D., of Montreal, who gave the four qualifications of an ideal minister.

As a prelude to the Reception proceedings ex-President Wilson requested both young men to present a sketch of their lives and tell the Conference what lead them to the ministry.

Mr. Gardner said he was born two miles from Norwood and his earliest recollection was that he was taught to pray by his parents. The Rev. W. B. Tucker was his first pastor and inspired in him the desire to do the right thing until it grew to be a duty. Mr. Tucker had gained the confidence of his Sunday School class by solving the problems of boyhood which are found in and out of the Church. This early influence was such as to cause Mr. Gardiner to want to be a Sunday School teacher or act in any capacity in which he could help others. This desire remained with him through his early schooling until finally he entered Albert College.

Influenced by Mother

Rev. Mr. Gay said there was nothing dramatic in his call. He always felt that he was in the family of God's helpers. He also stressed maternal influence brought to bear upon him in his early days. Under the leadership of William Johnson, superintendent of Bridge St. Sunday School, he was given his first formal religious training. It was at a revival meeting at West Belleville church that the first definite urge for the Ministry came to him. This was of sufficient strength to send him to Albert College for preparation. While there the call to "serve others" came repeatedly. He compared his entrance into the Ministry to the baptism of Jesus Christ as related in the New Testament. He professed that his strongest sentiment was his love of fellowmen.

At the conclusion of Mr. Gay's address, a motion that these candidates be received was moved by the secretary Rev. H. W. Foley and seconded by Rev. E. B. Cooke, B.A. This motion was formal, being read. President Wilson then suggested that before the vote should be taken, the address of the evening be heard.

Four Characteristics

The four characteristics of a prophetic minister outlined by Rev. Dr. Rose in his address were that he be modern, evangelical, authoritative and universal. By prophetic, the speaker said he meant a ministry opposed to a professional ministry. A professional Minister was one who preached for hire, which meant that he preached the way he thought his congregation wanted him to preach. Or in other words, he avoided such topics which he knew would be distasteful to members of his congregation.

By a modern preacher, the speaker said he had no reference to the use of the term now in vogue, "Modernism". On the contrary, a modern preacher was by his definition one who used the speech of the people who heard the people. The reason that is was difficult to understand passages of the Bible, was that they were written in the speech of the people of ancient times.

A Training Ground

At great personal sacrifice and by dint of hard plugging, he prepared himself for entry to Victoria College at Belleville's own Albert College. After a four year course at Victoria College where he graduated with honors in Oriental languages in 1923, Mr. Benson journeyed to Norway House, Manitoba where he taught in an Indian school. Stricken in the serious epidemic which swept Norway House, Robert Benson succumbed to its ravages, October 10th, 1924 at the age of 31 years, leaving his widow to mourn his loss.

Dr. E. N. Baker, M.A., who knew Robert Benson so well, explained that this world was but a training ground—a school for the future. Robert Benson was a faithful, upright and splendid character and was gone into a higher service.

Rev. H. McLauchlin said Benson was one of God's heroes of which the church is proud and whose life would not be forgotten.

Rev. Sexsmith expressed the feeling of Madoc district in the loss of both men. Rev. lare passed on with a halo of light after a long and faithful ministry and Robert Benson young and promising life had been cut short at the time when he was just beginning a great work after a personal struggle. Mr. Sexsmith also referred very touchingly to the beautiful life which Mrs. Seymour had lived in Belleville whereshe was born and where she spent her girlhood and later as the wife of a Methodist minister, Mrs. Seymour was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Scantlebury of this city.

Others who eulogized the sterling lives of the Rev. Clare and Robert Benson were Rev. Dr. F. E. Malott, D.D., Rev. W. D. Harrison and Rev. J. V. Robins, the latter having decided to enter the service for Christ under the guidance and ministry of Rev. Clare.

It were better, continued the speaker, that a Minister lose his tongue than that he should speak in stilted style merely for the sake of the rhetorical effect.

Spreading Good News

The literal meaning of evangelical was "Good news". Any sermon to be a success had to sound a gald sentiment. Today's good news should bring a vision of God which at once satisfied the intellect and pacified the heart. The world was never sadder than it was today, he said, and never so much in need of good tidings.

The third point, that the Minister should be authoritative, was begun by the query, "Wherein lies Prostestant authority?" There was no official authority. That had gone forever, the speaker said. Nor was there any authority for this religion from the man on the street. The authority for prophetic ministry was the same as was the authority of Jesus. His authority was in his personality. He lived His life in a manner which inspired respect. The biggest thing in Prostestant religion was the personality of its Ministers Prostestant authority lay in character and individualism and was not found in documents.

Under the last attribute, "Universal", Dr. Rose cited missionary work, taking as an example two missionaries sent to Japan in 1873 by the Wesleyan Church. With the return of the missionaries, Dr. Rose asked one of them how he had gotten along with the natives. The answer was "A preacher has a friend in every man's conscience". Dr. Rose heard this answer over forty years ago, he said, but he would never forget it.

Unanimous Vote

The ex-president called for a standing vote on the motion of acceptance, from all ministers present and it was carried unanimously. Following this, was a short address from the chair to the two new Ministers in which they were told that many years would pass before the full appreciation of their privilege would be manifest to them.

Memorial Service

At four o'clock Friday afternoon a memorial service which was held in Bridge Street Church, absorbed the attention of delegates to the Bay of Quinte Conference.

The service honored the memory of the late Rev. George Robert Clare, the late Robert E. Benson, B.A., probationer for the Methodist ministry, and the late Mrs. E. O. Seymour, wife of Rev. E. O. Seymour of Rodnersville.

Rev. L.S. Wight read the synopsized story of Rev. Clare's remarkable life and Rev. R. Porter read the story of the short but exceedingly useful life of Robert E. Benson.

Rev. G. R. Clare was born in 1863, ordained as a Methodist minister in 1890 and married in 1891. Twice he was delegated to General Assembly and in 1923 was appointed President was delegated to General Conference, of the Conference. He was member elect to the coming General Conference resulting from Union. Rev. Clare died February 25th, 1925, at Norwood after a lingering illness and was buried at Lindsay. For thirty-seven years of his life he ministered to many charges in this conference, where he was loved and honored.

Robert E. Benson was born in England where his aged parents still reside. He came to Canada where he followed his trade as printer and also worked as engineer in a ship yard. Then he decided to enter the Methodist ministry.

Earlier in the afternoon the sustentation committee reported during which there was considerable discussion over the matter of grants, and Rev. S. W. Dean, General secretary gave a highly interesting talk on the conference year 1923-24. Prior to giving his talk, Rev. Dean distributed pamphlets of the annual reports of the Department of Finance and the Superannuation Fund for the year. During the talk, delegates were referred to various pages of the report for interesting data and comparisons.

ARE TO ERECT NEW THEATRE FOR TRENTON

J. C. McCarthy, Belleville, Wm. Fraser Join in Enterprise

OF MODERN DESIGN

Model Building Along the Belle Lines With Dance Hall

Building operations will start on Monday morning in a new theatre in Trenton. The building is to be of the most modern construction modelled after the Belle Theatre in this city, and will be located on Dundas street between the Gilbert House and the railway. Mr. J. C. McCarthy, proprietor of the Belle Theatre here, and Mr. Wm. Fraser of Trenton, operating under the name of The Trenton Amusement Co., are the builders.

The pans for the new theatre call for a seating capacity of about twelve hudred. A duplicate of the Belle Theatre pipe organ will be installed and in every respect Trenton's new play house will measure up to "big city" standards. Building operations will be rushed so that late Summer or early Fall will see the theatre in operation.

Mr. McCarthy plans to show the same high-class films in Trenton which come to his Belleville house. The success of his first venture in the moving picture world has been so pronounced that he is ready to extend with every prospect of success.

The Trenton theatre will have an upper floor fitted as a dancing academy with a floor large enough for the biggest dances. This will fill a long felt want in Trenton where private and club dances have had difficulty in securing suitable accommodation.

CONFERENCE TO CLOSE MONDAY AT NOON HOUR

Interesting Sunday Program Is Announced To-day

ONE CHANGE MADE

Rev. S. T. Tucker Will Preach at Holloway Street Church

The Bay of Quinte Conference will close Monday noon instead of Monday night, ex-President J.S.I. Wilson announced this morning.

The following changes have been arranged:

First, at 3.15 p.m. Sunday, a Mass Meeting will be held at Bridge Street Church. At this time, instead of Monday night, the closing address will be delivered by Rev. Principal Jas. Smyth, M.A., Ph.D., D.D., Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal.

Mrs. W. J. Ashton will deliver her address at 11 a.m. Sunday instead of 8 p.m. Monday.

Rev. S. T. Tucker, B.A., D.D., will preside at the Holloway Street Church at 7 p.m. Sunday in place of Rev. C. W. Barrett.

The latter will, in all likelihood, be present, but his health will prevent active participation.

It was announced this morning that Abert College will continue another year as Boys' and Girls' School. A new feature will be a preparatory department for boys over ten years old. The ministerial session pledged support of the College by a standing vote.

Rev. George Nickle, of Newburgh reported that this Conference has raised $2237 on circuit for the expense of the process of union. Last year the Bay of Quinte Conference raised $2799.

Many Contestants After Big Prizes

First Prize Winner in Other Contest Was Drug Cashier

Already several contestants have entered for the $1000 cash prizes offered in the contest put on by Tommy Ellis in connection with the appearance here on July 21st next of the world's champion harness horses. Details of the contest appear on another page of this issue.

The cash prizes are great enough to secure the interest of girls and young men in all parts of the city and in surrounding towns.

Mr. Ellis has interesting stories in connection with previous contests. The young lady who won the $500 in Prescott was cashier in a drug store and she never left the store to sell tickets or canvass. Miss Verna McLean, a thirteen year old farmer's daughter of R R No. 1, Chesterville, Ont., won $100 cash prize.

Mr. Ellis reserves the right to reject entries in order that only girls and men of good moral standing will be competing.

The more candidates entering the easier prizes are won as the interest increases. A liberal cash commission will be allowed those not winning prizes so that contestants will be well paid for having a good time whether they win a prize or not.

Mr. Ellis will be at the Queen's Hotel to interview those wishing to enter and will give information as to the few simple rules of the contest.

To-day Promises to Set Heat Record; Thermometer Reads 88 Degrees at 11 O'clock

With the thermometer at 88 and soaring at eleven o'clock to-day, Saturday promises to set the heat pace to date this summer. The slight breezes are smothered in the sun's heat especially between buildings and on city pavements all of which are conducive to the heat.

The temperatures since Sunday last are as follows, the highest and lowest reading each day being given. Monday, 76 and 59; Tuesday, 81 and 62; Wednesday, 85 and 64; Thursday, 86 an 69; Friday, 92 and 63; and before going to press, the mercury was at 88 and mounting.

Citrus fruits are moving rapidly these days, while soda fountain clerks and hotel waiters are kept constantly on the move. The topical conversation is the weather but despite the heat, work continues steadily. Electric fans are working long hours in an effort to assist where natural breezes are not felt.

The weather man promises a break in the wave over the week end with a possible recurrence of thunder showers.

Detroit Youth is Arrested For Theft

Two Wanderers Have Misunderstanding in Strange City

Robert Johnson and Carl Miller of Detroit left home recently for a stroll through Canada in search of work. They carried some money and Johnson carried all clothing for both in his grip as well as $15 of Miller's money. They stayed at a Cobourg hotel Thursday, coming to Belleville Friday. Johnson is said to have told Miller to lay in here yesterday for a rest while he walked out to have a shave. He did not return and had taken the clothing and money belonging to Miller, who was stranded.

Miller notified the police and gave a description of Johnson to Sergeant A. Harman, who also "tipped off" C.N.R. Officer A. B. Harris. Harris waited for Johnson's arrival and nabbed him when he was about to purchase a ticket for Montreal at the depot at 9.30 p.m.

A theft charge laid against Johnson was not registered as a conviction by Magistrate Masson when he made restitution to Miller of $5 and gave back all clothing as well as paying costs $11.50. He had $22.86 when arrested. Miller has secured work at Cobourg and will leave for that town. Johnson was given permission to remain in this city until he receives money from his home, having telegraphed for money today. Then he must "blow". The pair were originally bound for Montreal. Both are young men and well dressed.

Market Square is Hot Spot To-day

Prices Are Much the Same Though Market Smaller

The heat wave apparently had the effect of diminishing the attendance upon the market to-day, which was the smallest for some weeks. There were no changes to note in particular in prices over those of last week. Fresh dairy butter was readily disposed of at 38c and 40c per pound. Cream sold at 25c a pint. Special eggs sold at 30c per dozen and strictly fresh at 26 and 28c per dozen. A few basket lots were obtained for 25 cents a basket.

There were no meat stalls on the market to-day. Two fish vendors did considerable business. Lake salmon sold at 20 c per pound and white fish 15c per pound.

Potatoes were quite plentiful and most reasonable in price, 70 and 75c a bag. Beets, carrits parsnips and turnips sold at 30 cents a peck. Asparagus sold at 15c a bunch or two for 25c, green onions 5c a bunch also rhubard.

Hockey Shield, Barrager Baseball Cup, not forgetting the Marsh Cadet Drill Cup. Not for many eyars have so many honours fallen simultaneously to the lot of Q.V.S.

ONTARIO'S SOUND COURSE

In the calling in of experts to co-operate with him in the working out of the details of the new sinking-fund plan in connection with Ontario's finances, the provincial treasurer, Col. Price, has taken a course on behalf of the government which will have the commendation not only of the business and financial community but of the public generally, as the Financial Post says. There is a growing appreciation, with the increase in taxation and the costs of government and with the heavy liability undertaken in regard to hydro projects, that it is highly advisable that the finances of the province should be brought to a sound basis and administered in accordance with principles which have been proven in the conduct of private business.

The step which has now been taken by Mr. Price is along constructive lines urged by the Canadian Bond Dealers' Association, and he will not only have the co-operation of that body through R. A. Daly, but the co-operation of the Canadian Bankers' Association as well, through J. A. C. Kemp, who has been appointed to represent that body.

For some years the bond dealers in the interests of the investing public and with the object of improving the credit standing of the various provinces have, through their association, been calling attention to the discrepancies in sinking funds. In some of the provinces steps have been already taken to improve the situation, but it has remained for Ontario, with the most difficult problem of all the provinces in this connection, to not only adopt a definite plan to take care of the debt over a period of forty years, but to call in experts, representing important business elements, to work out the details and put the plan into operation.

Such a course as is now being taken by Mr. Price and the Ontario government will not only win the confidence of investors and thereby insure that funds will be secured at a favorable rate, but will reassure taxpayers that revenues raised to take care of capital debt are being applied on a sound financial basis.

TURNING STRAIGHT

"Human nature isn't so bad after all," remarked a benevolent official of the Bell Telephone Company here. "Give a man half a chance, and he'll generally do the right thing. We never know under what pressure of harsh circumstance people are impelled to default or cheat. Only let things brighten up, and nine out of ten will take pains to right old wrongs and recover their own self-respect."

This may be optimism, but it arose following the receipt of two letters, each enclosing "conscience money" for bills long due and previously unacknowledged—one for $175 and the other for a lesser amount. It is more than likely that there were other dues straightened up as well when conscience smote—the Income Tax obligations, perhaps, among others.

A NEW WHEAT

Will Garnet wheat displace Marquis as the leading wheat of Western Canada? There are those who, having witnessed its capabilities in production and its frost-resisting qualities, believe that it will.

Mr. L. H. Newman, Dominion Cerealist, has informed the agricultural committee of the House of Commons that under dry conditions Garnet wheat has been known to yield twice the quantity of Marquis.

Its capabilities of high production in seasons of drought and of earlier ripening than Marquis, even in wet weather, thereby escaping the possibilities of rust and frost, are valuable factors in its favor.

Experiments are still being conducted by the Dominion Experimental Farms with a view to establishing the value of Garnet wheat among farmers.

The hope is held with confidence that Garnet wheat will extend the wheat-growing area many miles farther north, and that it will go far to remove the chief existing menaces to wheat crop production.

$1000 IN CASH PRIZES
GIVEN AWAY

Greatest One Day Event in The History of Belleville, in fact the greatest of its kind ever before staged in Canada.

To Be Held Under the Auspices of The Belleville Agricultural Association.

On Tuesday, July 21st, Peter Manning 1.56¾ The World's Champion Trotter of all time, will be in Belleville and make a special attempt to reduce his own World's Trotting Record over a one half mile track; Peter Manning stands preeminent alone in a class by himself, there never has been nor is there yet any near his equal.

With Peter Manning 1.56¾, Sanardo 1.59½ the Champion racing gelding of the world will also appear in Belleville on the above mentioned date, and will go against the Canadian Pacing Record of 2.3 over a one half mile track, established by Romelo at Chesterville in 1921.

$1000 Prize Contest

In order that proper publicity be given to this wonderful event, and that every person in Belleville and for many miles around may know concerning it, because we want every body who can at all, to see Peter Manning 1.56¾ this wonderful marvel of the Trotting Turf, and because it requires thousands of dollars to induce the great equine's owners to consent to bring him away from his native land into another, and because the undersigned has proven that by giving large Cash Prizes to individuals who volunteer to assist in the great and important task of advertising special events is of inestimable value, and a grand method of placing them effectively before the public.

In connection with events of similar nature, the undersigned has previously carried through successfully, Two One Thousand Dollar Cash Prize Contests, One at Chesterville, Ont., and One at Prescott, Ont.

Miss Blanche McCartin, Prescott, Ont., cashier in Doyle Bros.' store won 1st prize $500.00 cash in one of my contests.

Miss Helen Bogart, Chesterville, Ont., Telephone Girl won 1st Prize $500.00 in cash in one of my contests, and many other young ladies have won hundreds of dollars in prize contests conducted by myself during the past few years. Right Honorable Arthur Meighen presented Twelve Young Ladies with $2,000.00 in Gold in 1922, all won by them in Ticket Selling Contests conducted solely by myself.

The $1,000.00 will be divided into Eight Prizes ranging from $500 for first and grand prize down to $15 eighth prize.

1st $500, 2nd $200, 3rd $100, 4th $75, 5th $50, 6th $35, 7th $25, 8th $15 and will be conducted in the following manner.

The contest is open to any responsible person in or around Belleville, but preferably to young ladies, because they seem to be the greatest hustlers. Please allow me to state that several of the young ladies who have previously competed and won cash prizes in contests arranged by myself, became very popular, and seemingly as a result of such popularity gained, they have since been able to take onto themselves model Husbands.

While I will not attempt to guarantee all the girls who enter the contest husbands, yet it is a safe guess, that some of them will emerge from the great battle with bright prospects in view.

The entries to contest close Tuesday, June 9th, candidates will be enrolled up to closing time. The contest begins Wednesday, June 10th and will continue on until the last day of June.

Think of it girls winning $500 Cash honorably in less than One Month, some one will. The other girls referred to in this advertisement did it.

To the person who sells the greatest number of Tickets at 50c. each for the Benefit of this Grand Peter Manning event to be held on Belleville Fair Grounds, Tuesday, July 21st, will be given $500 in cash just as soon as the contest closes. To the person who sells the second greatest number will be given $200 and so on down the list of prizes.

Those competing and not standing for a prize will be allowed a liberal commission on all tickets sold by them, therefore every competitor will make money.

In addition to the World's Champion Peter Manning 1.56¾ and Sanardo 1.59½ the Champion Racing Gelding of the World over a one half mile track there will be a complete program of other races for Canadian Owned Horses which will be announced later, therefore guaranteeing this to be the greatest one day event ever staged over the Historic Grounds in Belleville.

The regular admission to the grounds on Peter Manning Day will be $1.00 which is ordinary considering the attraction, yet every person has an opportunity, during the month of June of securing a Ticket of Admission for only 50c. if purchased from any candidate competing for the prizes.

ADMISSION GUARANTEED

Should rain interfere on advertised date, Peter Manning's contract guarantees that he will be held in Belleville and complete programme carried through a few days later, therefore the ticket will guarantee admission.

Remember the entries to prize contest of $1,000 close on Tuesday, June 9th. We want an army of candidates.

For entry blanks, conditions and all further information concerning the prizes offered, apply

Influence Of Local College Growing

The Ontario Business College of Belleville has been in existence for over 50 years, exercising a wider and stronger influence in the commercial life of this continent than any similar Canadian institution. Since the College was established in 1868 twelve thousand people have received the O. B. C. training. The reputation of the College for thorough and practical training, and the fact that its successful graduates are found in business in all parts of America have been strong factors in drawing hundreds of students from many places outside of Canada to the College.

The O. B. C. register for 1925 shows in this year's attendance students who came all the way from South America, Bermuda, the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and Saskatchewan. During the past five months a large number of students have come from thirty-two Ontario cities, towns and communities. Since the first of January, 1925, thirty-eight students from Belleville alone have been attending O. B. C.

The three business text-books published by the College are standard works on commercial subjects and are sold throughout the English-speaking world. They are used as text-books in the commercial departments of many colleges in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. These books are ordered by leading book stores in all the larger cities from Victoria, B. C., to Sydney, N. S. Orders are also received at O. B. C. every week from business men and accountants who want the books for private study and reference.

The College staff is composed of highly qualified instructors with successful teaching and business experience.

The College prospectus contains full particulars of the O. B. C. courses. Send for a copy.

Two Salvations But No Second Chance. Mr. J. Frappy associate lecturer of the I. B. S. A. will deliver a lecture on the above subject next Sunday evening, June 7, at 7.30 in St. John's Parish Hall, Point Anne. The speaker will give Scriptural proof that Jehovah has been calling only "the church of the firstborns whose names are written in Heaven" during this Gospel Age. (The only church Jehovah recognizes) that this call is nearly completed. This is the 1st salvation, the first resurrection Rev. 20: 6. Very soon under Christ's Kingdom (Thy Kingdom Come), soon to be established over the whole earth the glorious message of a restitution of all that was lost in Eden will reach every child of Adam, living and dead. This is the 2nd salvation. Mr. Frappy has been an earnest Bible Student for years and will prove to you from the Scriptures that this is Jehovah's glorious plan of salvation and that "Millions now living will never die." Come and be convinced. No collection.

Sinical Sadie Sees

I 'jes set here a-dreamin',
A-dreamin' every day
Of the sunshine that's a-gleamin'
On the waters, fur away.

And I kinder fall to wishin'
I was where the waters swish,
Fer if the Lord made fishin',
Why—a feller orter fish.

While I'm studyin', or a writin'
In a dusty, rusty town,
I can feel the fish a-bitin'!—
See the cork a-goin down!

And the sunshine seems a-tanglin'
Of the shadows, cool and sweet,
With the honeysuckle danglin',
An' the lilies at my feet.

And I nod, and fall to wishin'
I was where the waters swish,
Fer if the Lord made fishin'—
Why—a feller orter fish!

Which reminds S. S. of an old rhyme.

We spend all our leisure
And our money abroad;
But there's health and there's fun,
In the old fishin' rod.

A fishing rod is an instrument with a worm at one end and a fool at the other.

However there are folls and folls, and S. Sadie says the kind at the end of a rod is very human and likable.

From Hamlet

A man may fish with the worm that hath eat of a king; and eat of the fish that hath fed of that worm.

From Pericles

3rd Fisherman: "Master, I marvel how the fishes live in the sea."

1st Fisherman—"Marry, as men do a-land: The great ones eat up the little ones."

In a cinematograph show two Scotsmen were agreeably surprised to find a cup of tea and a biscut given them free by an up-to-date management at four o'clock. Half an hour later one of them broke the silence. "We've seen a' the pictures noo, Tam," he said. "We micht as weel gang awa' oot." To which Tam, after a minute's thought, replied, "Gang ye awa' gin ye want tae! I'm stayin' tae dinner!"

Damage, the extent of which is not yet estimated, was caused at London by fire and smoke to the upper floors of W. A. Jenkins Co., manufacturers of stock foods, at King and Ridout streets. The loss, which will run into several hundred dolars, was due mostly to smoke.

POEMS Old And NEW

FRIENDSHIP

You do not need a score of men to laugh and sing with you;
You can be rich in comradeship with just a friend or two.
You do not need a monarch's smile to light your way along;
Through weal or woe, a friend or two will fill your days with song.

So let the many go their way, and let the throng pass by;
The crowd is but a fickle thing which hears not when you sigh.
The multitude is quick to run, in search of favorites new,
And all that man can hold for grief is just a friend or two.

When winds of failure start to blow, you'll find the throng has gone
The splendor of a brighter flame will always lure them on,
But with the ashes of your dreams and all you hope to do,
You'll find that all you really need is just a friend or two.

You cannot tell the multitude however hard you try;
It cannot sit you upon your hearth; it cannot hear you sigh;
It cannot read the heart of you, or know the hurts you bear;
Its cheers are all for happy men, and not for those in care.

So let the throng go on its way, and let the crowd depart;
But one or two will keep the faith
when oyu are sick at heart.
And rich you'll be and comforted, when gray skies hide the blue;
If you can turn and share your grief with just a friend or two.

DRIFTING

It is easy to drift, on the sea of life,
When the waves are calm and still,
It is easy to drift, when worn from strife
To float along at will.

It is easy to drift, but brings life naught
To those who drift and dream,
For we need our strength when troubles come,
To pull against the stream.

It might be hard, but it is worth while,
To battle with the foam,
It is easy to drift, but at the end,
It may not bring us Home.

Belleville Edith B. Latta.

REACHING UPWARD

Up toward the mantel-shelf baby girl is reaching;
What would she take in her tiny dimpled hands?
See! 'tis the rose-jar; now, with look beseeching,
Once more she tries just to touch it where it stands.

Ah, Baby Edith, you're just like older people—
Striving and straining for what is still too high.
Were you as tall as the biggest church's steeple,
You wouldn't want the weathercock—
you'd try to reach the sky.

"To Be"—Not the same, but almost as serious, as Hamlet's famous soliligny, eh? A morning or noon wedding is followed by a breakfast, which may very from a simple repast to a menu of many courses, like a formal luncheon. If only a few guests are to be served, one long table may be used or the bridal party may be seated at one table and the guests at smaller ones. If the queqstion of service is a consideration, as it is in the average home, a buffet arrangement is more practical. Buffet service of course necessitates a simple menu. One should remember that it is impossible to balance a number of dishes on one hand and manage knife, fork and spoon with the other. Each course must be such that it can be arranged on a single plate. Foods that have to be cut with a knife are out of the question. The following buffet menus may interest you.

Nature Lore

(By Wallace Havelock Robb)

When the fire bells rings, and the hook and ladder comes tearing around the corner, goes flying by and turns another corner close at hand, what is a fellow going to do? Well, that's just what, I did. I quit making notes about the catbird scandal and pocked my book and ran to the fire.

I had been sitting on the sidewalk in the small town, making notes of the comical doings in the garden owned by the kind lady, and will of course, tell Nature Lore readers all about it, but a fire is a fire and this one was a surprise. It was no fire in the ordinary sense but rather a lot of fireworks.

I had just left the catbirds, thinking that they were interesting, but listen—the ladders were not moved an inch when I got around that corner, the old hose wagon was there with the hose ready but the chief had his hat pushed back on his head and was towering over a little fussy old lady, his legs apart, his hands on his hips and his head down, almost poked into her face. She had put in a false alarm!

They argued back and forth. The chief was angry and the dear old lady was more than his match. There was something in the piquant determination of the old lady that made me think I was glad I was alive to see the fun.

I pushed my way right into the front, close to the chief and here is what the trouble was.

A pair of Robins had tried to build a nest on almost every shutter of a big stone house near the sidewalk, and every time they started, the house owners tore down the nest. Finally the robins built the nest on a projection, away up near the top of the house, where nobody could reach it, and took a chance on the young ones landing on the ground safely, for a forced landing from away up there meant injury.

So there they stayed. They had young ones and it was about time for the young to leave the nest.

Little Mrs. Murphy, belonging to the aristocracy of the town and beloved of all, was just passing the house when the first young robin tried to make a safe landing. Mrs. Murphy knew nothing about the nest but she saw the young one make a slithering sort of flight and land hard and lie still. She went over and picked it up and it seemseemed badly shaken up. The old birds raised a bad row and one thing led to another, until Mrs. Murphy was in the house having hot words with the people inside.

Mrs. Murphy could not persuade them to help the birds, as they considered the robins a muss and a nuisance. They even wouldn't let her use the phone to get the fire brigade to come, and declared that they wanted no ladders or crowd either.

Mrs. Murphy left the house in a flurry. She was alarmed, for the young ones still in the nest would possibly be killed in landing, so she pulled the fire alarm on the corner. I got there just as the chief was demanding explanations and Mrs. Murphy demanding action and the people in the house, demanding her arrest. Up the street came the chief of police. Sent for by the house owners. For a few minutes the robin nest was not noticed at all. It just so happened that the chief of police was Patrick Hogan, and when he saw Mrs. Murphy in the thick of the trouble and that he was expected to arrest her for sending in a false alarm, he scratched his head and did some thinking.

The crowd was clearly with Mrs. Murphy and some of the firemen already had leadders up.

"Why, Mrs. Murphy," said Pat, "Haven't I been after telling you these many years that if ever you were in trouble to just send for me? and here you go and send for me by ringing the red box in mistake for the blue police box—hey boys, hold that ladder and I'll move that robin nest a little closer to the ground, so the poor little dears of young ones will not get hurt if they fall".

But the chief of the Fire Brigade took the hint and was up the ladder in a jiffy, doing exactly as Pat and Mrs. Murphy told him and the robin nest was placed on a safe ledge above the front door, with the three remaining young ones still in it and the first one close beside it. And the old birds fed them before the ladder was down.

So Mrs. Murphy got the robins out of trouble and Patrick Hogan's wits saved her, and when the people in the house learned that birds keep close to us for protection from their enemies, they too were pleased with the days work and now let the robins do as they please.

So, after this strange fire was over, I made some more notes in my book and here they are.

"ROBIN AT THE DOOR"

By Wallace Havelock Robb

Dear old Robin Red-breast,
What ever would we do?
If all that mud and mussy nest,
Did not belong to you.

You're just a bossy thing;
You bully, other birds;
We really like you when you sing,
But not your scoldish words.

You do not own this place!
You make an awful mess;
Your manners are a bird disgrace—
A nuisance—nothing less!

Our shutters now won't close,
Your nest is in the way;
You have your nerve, and, goodness knows,
You have enough to say!

What ever will we do,
When all your family flies?
The lonliness will make us blue,
Without your anxious cries.

So stay here all you please,
With all your grassy nest,
The trouble-trash and such as these,
Belong to oury red vest.

It's trash—but thats alright—
We wish we had you more.
O, Robin Red-breast, what delight,
To have you at our door.

If You Buy Out of Town.

Here is a suggestion for those who make a practice of buying through mail order houses. The next time you are sending an order insert five or six tickets for your church concert or enclose a polite note asking for a donation to your church or one of the City Charities and see what reponse you will get.

The Faith of a Little Child.

At a certain country church a few year, agos it was decided by the members to assemble together at a given time to pray for rain, which was badly needed for the growing crops. At the appointed hour the people began to gather and one little fellow came trudging up with an umbrella almost as big as himself.

"What did you bring that for, youngster?", someone asked, with a smile.

"So's I wouldn't get wet going home," was the confident reply.

It is safe to say that no one in the large gathering had come similarly provided and that not a housewife of them all had set out her tubs and pans to catch the rain-water as it would pour from the roof in answer to the ascending petition.

A Few Meows.

Lady Montague said "The only thing that reconciles me to being a woman is the fact that I can never marry one". Mrs. Jamison said "I think it is the cowardice of women which makes them such intense haters". And Anna Steele another writer, wrote "Women are generally consistent in their insincerity, if nothing else."

I wonder why women should say such little, mean satirical things about other women. The noblest writers among men have said the most beautiful things of women, and if the men are generous enough to overlook our faults, why should not we be as generous to ourselves? Almost any bright woman may be witty at the expense of another woman's feelings; but the witty woman does not do much good to the world. She is amusing and very entertaining, but I wonder if the men who are thus entertained do not in their quiet moments think with a thrill, of the gentle women whose lips never know sarcasm and who are prone to see only the goodness in other women.

Whittier says of us,—"IF woman lost us Eden, such as she alone can restore it".

THE GO OF THE EGO

The pouter pigeon puffs himself up considerable before his lady love to make an impression, but when she isn't present he is his normal deflated self.

So it is with man. There are many human pouter pigeons whose ego is considerably inflated when an impression is to be made. But when the ego or the self, becomes deflated there is nothing left. The strutters have to put on a good front because there usually is nothing back of the front.

Likewise we sometimes find publications that strut, that often refer to the militant way in which they fight for the good cause, and they take sufficient credit unto themselves. But really they are as would-be warriors who with pen and ink fight valiantly for public attention, not for the cause.

One shrewd business man said that whenever he heard someone spouting about himself, he always discounted the person about fifty percent. It is a fundamental truth that tongue gymnastics, or pen flourishes, are liabilities to real worthy deeds, for the deeds themselves without accessories are the best possible advertisements that can be devised.

My Six Little Ones Used Baby's Own Tablets

Mrs. John A. Patterson, Scotch Village, N.S., says:—"There are six children in our home, and the only medicine they get is Baby's Own Tablets, and I have not known the Tablets to fail when a medicine was needed. No mother should be without the Tablets in the house." Like Mrs. Patterson thousands of other mothers are quick to praise Baby's Own Tablets for bringing health and comfort to their little ones. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels, thus banishing constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers, and making teething easy. They are guaranteed to contain no opiates and are perfectly safe for the youngest child. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

At The Belle

Betty Compson is supported by an unique cast in "The Female," her new Paramount starring picture directed by Sam Wood. The story is an adaptation of Cynthia Stockley's "Dalla, the Lion Cub." All of the scenes are laid in South Africa.

Heading the strong supporting cast are Warner Baxter and Noah Beery, Dorothy Cumming, Helen Butler, Pauline French, Edgar Norton and Florence Wix also have important parts.

There are other featured players who get no credit in the advertising, but they don't care. They are an assortment of lions, fourteen in number, ranging in size from tiny cubs to grown-ups. All the zoos in Southern California were scoured by Director Wood and his assistants to find African lions of just the right size and temperament.

"The Female," which will be shown next Monday at the Belle Theatre is a story of a beautiful young Boer girl who knows no life outside the African veldt. She meets and falls in love with a handsome young Englishman far above her station in life. Men before always flocked to her, but this one is different. He is strangely cold and ignores her, and his people, the "Englishers," insult Dalla (Miss Compson). The rest of the picture is a gripping and unusually entertaining story of the carrying out of this girl's plans for revenge—against all the ultra-smart of the English colony in general. The picture closes with her completey winning over the young Englishman.

Warner Baxter has the leading man's role in the production. Noah Beery plays the part of Dalla's guardian. Others in the supporting cast incude Dorothy Cumming, Freeman Wood and Helen Butler.

Toronto Mother Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a splendid medicine to take before and after confinement. A small book was put in my door one day advertising Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines, and as I did not feel at all well at the time I went and got a bottle of Vegetable Compound right away. I soon began to notice a difference in my general health. I was full of aches and pains at the time and thought I had every complaint going, but I can truthfully say your medicine certainly did me good. I can and will speak highly of it, and I know it will do other women good who are sick and ailing if they will only give it a fair trial. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills are splendid for constipation. You are welcome to use my letter if you think it will help any one."—Mrs. HARRY WESTWOOD, 542 Quebec Street, Toronto, Ontario.

The expectant mother is wise if she considers carefully this statement of Mrs. Westwood. It is but one of a great many, all telling the same story—beneficial results.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for use during this period. The experience of other women who have found this medicine a blessing is proof of its great merit. Why not try it now yourself?

Woman Fights For Young Man's Love

Miss Nilsson Plays Heavy Part in Novel

A woman's fight for youth and for the love of a young man many years her junior is the basic theme of "One Way Street", an emotion-stirring photoplay which has been booked for an early showing at the Griffin Theatre June 8 and 9.

The picture is an adaptation of Beale Davis' sensational novel, which topped the lists of best sellers for a considerable time. Produced by First National and directed by John Francis Dillon, who guided the destinies of "Flaming Youth," the picture is a co-featuring vehicle for Ben Lyon and Anna Q. Nilsson.

Lyon, who rose to film fame in Colleen Moore's "Flaming Youth," will be seen in the part of an American youth who becomes a pawn in the hands of an English noblewoman.

Miss Nilsson enacts the role of Lady Sylvia Hutton who, in her quest for youth, almost wrecks the business and social career of the young man she chooses to share her daring adventures.

The supporting cast includes Marjorie Daw, Lumsden Hare, Mona Kingsley, Thomas Holding and Dorothy Cumming.

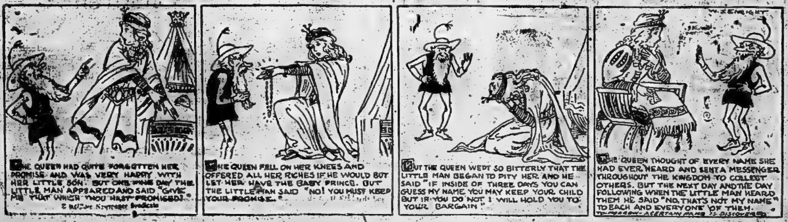
ONCE UPON A TIME RUMPELSTILTZKIN V by W.J.ENRIGHT.



W. J. ENRIGHT
THE QUEEN HAD QUITE FORGOTTEN HER PROMISE AND WAS VERY HAPPY WITH HER LITTLE SON. BUT ONE FINE DAY THE LITTLE MAN APPEARED AND SAID "GIVE ME THAT WHICH THOU HAST PROMISED!"
THE QUEEN FELL ON HER KNEES AND OFFERED ALL HER RICHES IF HE WOULD BUT LET HER HAVE THE BABY PRINCE. BUT THE LITTLE MAN SAID "NO! YOU MUST KEEP YOUR PROMISE."
BUT THE QUEEN WEPT SO BITTERLY THAT THE LITTLE MAN BEGAN TO PITY HER AND HE SAID "IF INSIDE OF THREE DAYS YOU CAN GUESS MY NAME YOU MAY KEEP YOUR CHILD BUT IF YOU DO NOT I WILL HOLD YOU TO YOUR BARGAIN"
THE QUEEN THOUGHT OF EVERY NAME SHE HAD EVER HEARD AND SENT A MESSENGER THROUGHOUT THE KINGDOM TO COLLECT OTHERS. BUT THE NEXT DAY AND THE DAY FOLLOWING WHEN THE LITTLE MAN HEARD THEM HE SAID "NO, THAT'S NOT MY NAME" TO EACH AND EVERYONE OF THEM.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Gravice.)

"Don't shake your head," he said. "Just listen to me first. You know I love you. You can't doubt that. If you did, and you knew what I've given up to come here, you wouldn't doubt any longer. And you wouldn't if you knew what this love of mine costs me. A business man wants all his wits about him if he means to succeed; he wants all his thoughts and energies for his business; and for the last two years my wits and my thoughts have been wandering after you. It's a wonder that I have succeeded. But I have. Miss Leslie, though I'm plain to look at I believe I've got brains. If I can't offer you a title——"

Leslie smiled; it was so likely that anyone would offer her a title!

"I can at least make you a rich woman."

Her face flushed.

"Mr. Duncombe——"

"I know what you are going to say. All girls declare that they don't care for money, and they mean it. But that's nonsense. A beautiful woman's beautiful whether she's poor or rich, but she's more likely to be happy with plenty of money. And you shall have plenty. I am a rich man now, as times go, and I mean to be richer. I've been working these two years with one object before me—I've made the money solely that I might become less unworthy to offer myself. Miss Leslie, my heart is yours already, such as it is. Be my wife, and share my home and fortune with me."

Leslie's lips trembled.

"Oh, if I could!" she murmured, almost inaudibly. "I am so sorry, so sorry!"

He took up a pebble, looked hard at it and cast it from him.

"You mean that you can't love me?" he said, rather hoarsely.

Her silence gave assent.

He drew a long breath.

"I expected you to say that, but I thought I should persuade you to—try and trust yourself to me, and wait for the love to come." He paused a moment "Miss Leslie, do you ever think of the future?"

"Of the future?" She turned her startled eyes on his face, grave almost to sternness.

"Yes. Forgive me if I speak plainly. You and your father are alone in the world."

"Yes, ah, yes!" dropped from her parted lips.

"And he—well, even now it is you who are the protector; some day—Leslie, it makes my heart ache to think of you alone in the world, alone and poor. I know that the little he has goes with him Don't be angry! I am thinking only of you. I cannot help thinking of you and your future. If you would say 'yes', if you would promise to be my wife, not only would your future be secure, but your present, his present, would be easier, happier; for your father's sake if not for your own——"

He stopped, for Leslie had risen and stood looking down at him, her lips quivering, her hands clasped tightly.

"No, no!" she panted; "not even for—for his sake! Oh, I could not! I could not!"

He arose. His face was pale, making his red hair more scarlet by contrast.

"I understand," he said. "It isn't that you do not love me, but that you—well, yes, dislike me!"

"No!"

"Yes, that's it," he said, he eyes resting for a moment on the lovely face with the wistful, hungry, half fierce look of a famishing man denied the crust which might save his life. Then his eyes sank to the stones. "I see now that I have been a fool to go on hoping, that my case is hopeless. Don't"—for she had shrunk from his almost savage tone—"don't be afraid. I am not going to bother you any more. I wish that I could say that I am going to give up loving you; but I can't do that. Something tells me," he struck his breast, as if he were glad of something to strike, "that I shall go on loving you till I die! See here, Les—Miss Lisle. It's evident that I can't be your husband; but I can be your friend. No,"—for she turned her head away—"no, I don't mean that I am going to hang about you and pester you. I couldn't. The sight of you would be torture to me. I hope—yes, I hope I shan't see you for years. But what I want to say is this: that if you ever need a friend remember that there is one man in the world who would give his right hand to serve you. Remember that at any time—any time, in one year, two or when you are old and gray—that you have only to say 'Come!' to bring me like a faithful dog to your feet. That time will never come, you think. Very good. But still you may need me. If you do send to me. I devote my life to you—oh, there's no merit in it. I can't help it. I'm romantic in a way, you see."

He smiled with bitter self-scorn for his weakness. "You are the one woman in the world to me. Your ease is mine, your friends shall be mine, your foes mine. If you need a protector send for me; if one wrongs you, and you want revenge, send to me, and as there is a heaven above us, I will come at your call to help to avenge you."

His face was white, his eyes gleaming under their red brows. So transformed was he by the master passion that if any one of his city friends had seen him at that moment they would scarcely have recognised him.

Ralph Duncombe talking the "rant" of melodrama! Impossible!

Leslie drew back, her eyes fixed on him in a fascinated kind of gaze, her bosom heaving.

He made an evident effort to regain his self-command, and succeeded. With a long breath he allowed his face to regain its usual hard, self-possessed expression.

"I have frightened you," he said, still rather hoarsely, but calmly. "Forgive me. I told you how I love you, and you see a man doesn't tear from his heart the hope that has grown there for two years without feeling it. I am going now. You can make any excuse to your father, or you need not tell him you have seen me. Good bye—Leslie! It's the last time I shall call you so."

The One Sure Way To Good Health

IS KEEPING THE BLOOD PURE BY USING DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS

Impure, weak blood is the cause of most of the troubles that afflict people. This is the cause of the wretched feeling of langour and faintness, pains in the back and side, headaches and breathlessness, that afflict women and make her daily life a torture. To get new health and strength the blood must be enriched. What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do in cases of this kind is told by Mrs. Augusta Emory, Woolford Station, Alta., who says:—"Living on the prairie, and knowing that there are thousands of women like myself miles away from a doctor, I want to tell them what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. After my first baby was born I seemed to have little energy. I felt weary and run-down and unable to do even the ordinary household duties. I felt I needed a tonic and as I had long seen Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised I decided to try them. I got a supply and carefully followed the directions and before very long the result was wonderful. Day by day I regained my former strength and energy. The pills seemed to give me a keen appetite and I gained in weight and soon was able not only to do my work about the house but to help with many chores on the farm. For this reason I would advise women, particularly those on the prairie or the farm, to keep a supply of these pills always on hand. One trial will convince you of their worth. I have recommended them to many of my friends and never have they failed to produce good results."

It's What's Inside that Counts
The secret of the wonderful comfort of Marshall Cushions is the way they are made.
Instead of a few stiff, uncomfortable springs which get out of shape and cause sagging, the Marshall Cushion is filled with small, very flexible steel springs, nested together, so that the Marshall Cushion contains many more springs than any other cushion made.
Each spring is encased in a heavy cotton pocket—is silent in its action and cannot get out of place. Over the springs is a generous layer of curled hair and cotton felt. You cannot feel the springs.
The result is a cushion that keeps its shape under the hardest wear, yet is wonderfully comfortable.

CROWD CHURCH DESPITE HEAT FOR SERMON

Dr. S. P. Rose, D.D., of Montreal Delivers Ordination Sermon

SPEAKS OUT FRANKLY

Urges Ministers to the Right Conception of Ministry

Scores were unable to gain admission to Bridge street church Sunday morning after ushers had crowded the church, and had allowed standing room to as many as they dare. Intense heat did not deter hundreds who heard Rev. Dr. S. P. Rose, D.D., of Montreal, deliver the Ordination sermon when he burned home to the hearts of ministers the true manner in which they should conduct themselves in their respective pulpits as Methodist ministers.

In a learned and explicit sermon he urged upon them the fundamentals of a successful ministry prescribing the thirteenth chapter of first Corinthians with the word "I" inserted throughout, as a wonderful cure all for any minister and a fundamental thing for a successful ministry.

Choosing his text from third chapter Ephesians, verse eight, Dr. Rose explained three necessary characteristics of a successful preaching minister. Firstly a humble conception of one's self was necessary. Secondly, an exalted conception of one's ministry to near one less than the least of all saints, and thirdly a wordly exalting theme.

St. Paul as Ideal

St. Paul was chosen as a typical example of a man who was humble by the grace of God—a proud man who was too big to be vain, a man who centred self and centred Christ, and by scoring a victory over pride prevented himself from being robed of the Sampson like power of a preacher. He walked humbly before God.

Prayer and an honest comparison of what they are to what they ought to be, were two qualities recommended as remedies which would do much to cultivate the results of pride and vanity in preachers. Paul said that though a man give all his goods when needed and became poor as the porest and even give his body to be burned, and yet did not have the passion for his people, he was "as tinkling brass."

Make Great Sacrifices

Reading choice portions of Paul's autobiography from the bible, Dr. Rose emphasized the fact that he was stoned beaten with rods, ship wrecked, and imperished among false brethren for the cause of Christ's Kingdom, because of his graciousness for unmerited things through a gracious gift of God. Even the sacrifices of pioneer ministers in Canada, and certainly no sacrifices of any minister in any station of church could compare now with the sacrifices of Paul.

Professionalism Deadly

Professionalism was described as being subtle, tempting and deadly in the ministry.

"The ministry is not a profession for gain, but a calling," asserted the speaker, "and the minister who preaches for gain to please his crowd or steals the sermon of another prophet is guilty of this."

Instead it was shown that ministers should find constant and recurring cause on the use of the bible. They should study it and forget its other use, a suggestion being that they read a piece of it each day without an attempt at criticism, simply to allow it to sip into them.

"There is a certain pleasure which is not purely spiritual, in leading the public in prayer," reminded the divine. "By the grace of God let us learn to pray with ourselves, away from the crowd and be able to say," I could not sleep because I thought of my people" rather than, "I could not think of my people because I slept."

Shouldn't Commercialize Ministry

Speaking of commercializing the ministry, Dr. Rose emphasized the important need of a prophetic ministry. He could not understand how any minister could stand in the pulpit and practice prophetic ministry if he owed grocery or meat bills.

In the name of the ministry which must be propretic, the speaker urged this co-operation.

Continuing he said that the doing of anything for money alone, fore doomed our ministry and was a measure of fate. To depend upon the praise of man for inspiration was to degrade. There was a higher ambition for the noblest of all work for—better a minister of Christ than of a crowd—better Prime Minister in your circuit than

SAYS THE NEED IN NEW CHURCH IS ENTHUSIASM

Rev. James Smyth Gives Watchword for Union

AT EVENING SERVICE

Quinte Conference Was Seat of Methodism in Upper Canada

"Religious enthusiasm is the need of the new Church." Thus the Rev. Principal James Smyth, M.A., Ph.D., D.D., characterized the watchword for the process of Union, in the closing address of the Bay of Quinte Conference at the Bridge St. Church last night.

At the opening of his address, Rev. Smyth pointed out that the seat of Methodism in Upper Canada was in confines of the Bay of Quinte Conference. He sketched the inception of Methodism in the section, telling how the Palatines from the Rhine valley settled here to propagate the religion of John Wesley.

The various branches of Methodism were united in 1837, and the ceremony took place in the Bridge St. Church.

As a consequence, it was fitting, declared the speaker, that the last service of that church should take place in the same building.

Rev. Smyth reminded his hearers that the genesis of Methodism was in universities, and that the church always realized the need of higher education for its young people.

In 1841, the first non-concurring school in the British colonies was chartered when Victoria College came into being. It was known at that time, the speaker added, as the Upper Canada Academy.

It was this belief in education at any cost that led the establishment of Albert College.

The struggles of the early settlers in this land, who labored to spread Methodism, were graphically described. He called attention to the stupendous growth of the Church since the old U.E.L. days, only one hundred and fifty years ago.

In 1921, Rev. Smyth said, there were 1,160,000 Methodists in the country, and a church membership of 407,000. Today the value of Methodist Church property was fifty-seven million dollars, he said.

Notwithstanding the magnitude of these figures, the church must grow faster than ever in the Union, he pointed out.

All Enter Union

Some ardent Methodists, were loathe to leave the church, but believed that it was best to go into Union, the speaker continued. The feeling was compared to that a young man has when he leaves home for the first time; reluctantly giving up home ties, but firm in the belief that a future lay ahead.

He quoted John Wesley to show that in one respect the Methodist Church was unique in the Christian world. Every other Christian religion required the acceptance of certain beliefs or dogmas, to a greater or less degree, said the quotation from the book of Wesley.

The Methodist Church required nothing from any person who would join the church except the desire to save one's soul, asserted the speaker. He could continue to worship in any way which was desirable or familiar to him, so long as he filled the single requsite, continued Rev. Smyth.

The Methodist Church translated the truths of faith ino the activities of life, he address went on. This took he form of charity and social work, he said.

In closing, the Rev. Smyth stressed that the need of the new church was not money, there was plenty of that; it was not a new theology, the present system was adequate. It was the spirit of self denial and sacrifice "religious enthusiasm" he called it. It was only by this spirit that the holy purpose of the church could be carried on, its ideals perpetrated, its life sustained.

The speaker said that the motto which he would recommend that Methodists carry in their hearts during the time of Union was, "God is with us."

The services were held with Rev. Barrett in the char, his condition having improved rapidly during the day.

The closing address was preceded by a talk by Rev. W. Harold Young, M.A.B.D.

Following this was the ceremony of setting apart of a Deaconess in the person of Miss Gertrude Staples.

Pat Jennings of Trenton, well known sportsman, who has been chosen to swim to New York distributing invitations enroute for the Peace Celebration and Old Home Week at Belleville, first week of August.

Relief Boat Leaves To Seek Amundsen

"Ingertre" With Two Seaplanes Leaves at Top Speed

Aboard H. S. Ingertre (By Wireless), June 8.—At 9.30 this morning Ingertre, carrying Norweigian Government's Amundsen Relief Expedition was proceeding toward Spitsbergen at her maximum speed of 10 1-2 knots.

Seaplanes F-18 and F-22 were slung across the deck ready for instant service whenever needed.

They will be used in searching for the missing explorers who started for the north pole from Spitsbergen in two flying boats May 21.

Lieut Luthow Holmes, leader of the aviators said today that his intention is to reconnoitre along the edge of the Arctic Ice pack to the northeast of Danes Island.

Lieut Holmes' assumption is that if Amundsen is returning afoot from the pole toward his original base, he will naturally make for the nearest land which would be so called Northeast Land or Spitsbergen Archipelago.

Late Wire Flashes

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 8.—Young people of 1925 are brave, honest and religious, the Presbyterian General Assembly was told this morning by Rev. Dr. R. B. Cochrane, of Toronto. Dr. Cochrane came vigorously to the defense of moedrn youth while presenting the report of the board on work in Sunday schools and among young people. "There is" he said, "a good deal of indiscriminate and loose criticism of youth of to-day. I have ministered for ten years in this church in the boarding house and college district and to my mind this criticism is almost altogether unfounded. The youth of the church as I know belong to a splendid, hopeful, adventurous generation. Youth of today is intellectually honest, he has determination to know truth. He hates shame and unreality and intolerance. He is little impatient of dogma. He does not find it easy to subscribe to creeds of past but he has passionate love for righteousness."

PRESBYTERIANS MUSTER

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 8.—Delegates from all provinces in Canada were registered this morning to conference and assembly of "continuing Presbyterian Church". By night there will be 2,300 registered according to Rev. G. M. Dunn, who is chairman of billeting committee. Fifteen hundred are being billeted in private homes in city and others are finding their own accommodaton or are being housed in McAster and Knox College residences. Formal opening of Congress which precedes assembly will take place tonight in new St. Andrew's and Cooke's churches

ONLY SEVEN CHURCHES OUT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 8.—That out of 150 Congregational Churches in Canada only seven will not enter the United church of Canada when it is constituted on Wednesday next, was the statement of the statistical report presented to the general conference of the Congregational Church in session here to-day by Rev. W. J. Gibson. His report showed that church has a membership in the dominion of 12,000 with $31,000 under pastoral care, value of church property is given as $2,250,000 with debt under $197,000. Receipts for year were $321,000.

Austin Gay Was Ordained Sunday As Minister at Bridge Street Church

As a part of the interesting services at Bridge Street Church Sunday morning, Austin G. Gay was ordained as a Methodist minister. Mr. Gay who is an Albert College old boy, was duly accepted for that noble calling and was presented with a bible and ordination parchment by the secretary of the conference.

Ministers, who performed the ceremoney were Rev. C. W. Barrett, President of the Conference, Revs. H.W. Foley, H.B. Kenny, J.S.I. Wilson, W.D. Harrison, W. Elliott, Wm. Johnston, W.P. Rogers, S.C. Moore, B. Greatrix and Dr. J. P. Wilson.

Moira Victim Was Borne to Tomb

Good Rescue Work of John Latonde is Brought To Light

The late Vivian Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Martin, who was drowned in the Moira river near Thrasher's Corners, Thursday evening, was buried in Victoria cemetery this afternoon from his late home, sixth line Thurlow township. School mates attended in a body and six chums were pall bearers. Vivian was studying for his entrance examinations at the age of twelve years. A large crowd of relatves, friends and neighbors attended the impressive funeral services of the Anglican church.

When the facts are made known, the excellent rescue efforts of John Latonde are brought to light, Latonde who is aged 65 and in poor health, rescued Leslie Vivian, brother of the dead boy, and Arthur Shields, both of whom were swimming with Vivian, and who had gone down the second time when they were hauled into the old rescue punt.

The three boys were swimming in the river adjoining the Latonde farm and John Latonde who was nearby was first to hear their cries for help. He rushed to the shore and seeing the old punt made ready to launch it when he discovered that there were no oars or paddles in the boat There were no boards or poles handy and as quick action was essential, the first propeller he saw he used. It happened to be a stick, three feet long and one inch thick. With this Mr. Latonde paddled out to the middle of the river which is more than 300 feet wide He had given the boat a healthy shove in taking off, so that this momentum assisted in reaching the point where the boys were near a huge rock in the middle of the river.

Were Exhausted

The elder Martin and young Shields were nearly exhausted when the punt pushed in between them, but were each able to grasp the side of the boat and hold themselves up until the aged man drew them into the boat. Vivian Martin had gone down for the third time, however, before the two boys were rescued.

It was Mrs. John Latonde Jr. who telephoned for Provincial police and to scores of neighbors who responded and dragged the river indefatigably until morning without success. At 11.30 o'clock the next morning, Clarence Platt of Plainfield dove into the river and was successful in locating and bringing up the body on the first dive.

The body was recovered at a point within a few feet of where the boy went down and was in fifteen feet of water. The body was taken to the home of John Elvidge where the two rescued boys had also been taken the evening before after the rescue.

An inquest was deemed unnecessary by Coroner W. W. Boyce and the body was prepared for burial and taken to the late residence.

Mrs. Jack Latonde Jr. suffered greatly from shock, but is recovering nicely.

COL. PONTON WAS AT CONVOCATION

Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C., attended the Convocation of the University of Toronto as a member of the Senate and as M. A. of 1878. The features were the addresses of Sir Wm. Mulock, Chancellor, at 84—and of Principal Maurice Hutton, Acting President. At the banquet in the great hall of Hart House the County of Hastings was represented by Madame de Roeborn (nee Miss Dafoe, of Madoc), President of the Victoria Alumnal, by Colonel Ponton and by Dr. Wishart. Col. Ponton pointed out the marvellous growth of the Provincial University from 150 in 1850 to over 5000 in 1925, nothing to equal it in the British Empire.

Courier Reports Good Receptions

Reached Hamilton Saturday in Good Condition

Mayor Mikel received a telephone communication from Tom Mason, the Chicago Courier, on Saturday, advising that he had arrived in Hamilton Saturday morning. This is the completion of one hundred and seventy miles in less than a week. Mason is in the best of condition.

He says that the Mayors and citizens of the municipalites along the route have received him with great courtesy and have taken the best care of him.

D'Elton Peterson, a court reporter of Chicago, and an old Belleville boy, has written Mayor Mikel that the Belleville boys of Chicago are preparing a wonderful reception for Tom when he arrives in the "Windy City".

Erect Cross at Sir John's Grave

Kingston Conservatives Mark 34th Anniversary Of His Death

Kingston, June 8.—Simple and most impressive ceremonies marked the 34th anniversary of the death of Sir John A. Macdonald when a large number of Kingston ladies and gentlemen, representing the Liberal-Conservative Association, paid honor to the memory of Canada's greatest statesman by the depositing of a beautiful wreath at his grave marked by an unpretentions grey cross in Cataraqui cemetery.

Mr. J. F. Sowards, president of the Kingston Liberal-Conservative Association, actually deposited the wreath, while the gathering in the cemetery was addressed briefly by the Hon. W. F. Nickle, M.P.P., and Mayor T. B. Angrove, both of whom paid a glowing tribute to Sir John's memory, and the work that he carried out during his lifetime for Canada and the British Empire.

The ceremony took place in glorious summer weather, the cemetery looking at its best, and the plot in which Sir John's earthly remains were deposited thirty-four years ago was surrounded by flowering shrubs and plants, creating an atmosphere of peace and serenity which enhanced the impressiveness of the occasion.

SEEK INFORMATION ABOUT METHODISM

Any person having in his or her possession valuable papers or documents relating to the early history of Methodism in this section will confer a favor upon their church by sending such articles to the Archivist of the Bay of Quinte Conference. They should be addressed to Rev. Andrew McLauchlin, Archivist, Keene, Ontario. Such documents will be forwarded in trust to be deposited in the official archives of Victoria College, Toronto, with proper credit attached. These articles will remain the property of the sender, to be surrendered upon request.

Special Services In City Churches

Held In Connection With Bay of Quinte Conference

Sunday was replete with special services in connection with the closing exercises of the Bay of Quinte Conference. The programme at the conference church was practically unbroken throughout the day, beginning with the Conference Love Feast at 9 a.m. and ending with Rev. Smyth's address which was concluded at 9.20 p.m.

The nature of the Love Feast was semi-social. The simplest elements of food, bread and water, were distributed among the congregation as a symbol of religious fellowship. This was followed by an informal discussion of matters religious. The Rev. J. P. Wilson presided.

The services at other churches included in the imminent Union were conducted by conference ministers from out of town. At the Tabernacle church, Rev. C. W. DeMille, B.A., preached at 7 p.m. The services at Holloway church at 7 o'clock were conducted by Rev. S. T. Tucker, in place of Rev. C. W. Barrett, who presided at the Bridge St. Church as President of the Conference.

Rev. J. A. Langford preached at the evening services at John St. Presbyterian Church.

Eight Big Features at Celebration

Grand Stand Show to Surpass All Other Exhibitions

The weekly meeting of the Peace Celebration Committee was held Saturday night in the City Council Chamber, with a good attendance. In the absence of Judge J. F. Wills, R. D. McCaulay, the Vice-President, occupied the Chair.

Arrangements were completed for eight different attractions which are regarded as the best of their kind that can be procured in America. In some of the acts the performers actually poise in mid air like birds in rendering their wonderful feats.

Dobel, the great fire artist travels through the air enveloped in fire from live electric wires, making at night a most spectacular exhibition.

The two Wyants who have made America laugh with their "rube" acts on the streets and various exhibition grounds, will perform three hours each day during the celebration.

Work on the Pageant is progressing and the committees promise an entertainment far superior to that of last year.

NOTABLES ARRIVE ON EMPRESS OF SCOTLAND

Quebec, Que., June 8.—Many British and Canadian notables, fourteen travellers to Japan and China, and fifteen Americans returning home after completing the Mediterranean cruise, were among the saloon passengers on the Canadian S.S. Empress of Scotland, when she docked here on Saturday afternoon from Hamburg, Southampton and Cherbourg. Travellers for the Orient boarded the C.P.R. trans-Canada train and left Quebec shortly after their arrival in order to make connection with Empress of Canada sailing from Vancouver on Thursday next. They will therefore have availed themselves of Canadian Pacific service on the full length of their trip across the Atlantic Ocean, Canada and the Pacific Ocean. Special trains also left in the afternoon with the remainder of the steamers first, second and third class passengers. The Empress of Scotland entered the St. Lawrence via Belle Isle for the first time this season.

Methodist Conference Passes Strong Resolutions To-day

OPPOSES 4.4 BEER

Outlines Courses of Preventions For Other Evils

Resolutions which dealt smashing blows at 4.4 beer, lax social life, gambling and sex degeneracy were passed at the closing session of the Bay of Quinte Conference this morning, when the report of the Committee of Evangelism and Social Service was adopted.

The formal resolutions were drawn up under the direction of Rev. A. S. Kemp, Chairman of the Committee, and Rev. H. P. L. Seymour, Secretary. The resolutions were subdivided and enlarged upon as follows:

"We desire to reaffirm. . . . that . . . . the old Gospel is the . . . . only means of regeneration of the individual in the redemption of society in stemming . . . . extravagance and self indulgence". Only a slight increase in membership was reported during the past year, and for that reason ministers were enjoined to exercise every means to improve the situation.

Home was said to be the natural school for building of Christian character. A personal Evangelism, which meant the good example shown by every member of the Church, was urged.

Attack Liquor Traffic

It was resolved that the church" . . . . maintain an unalterable opposition to the traffic" which was alleged to be" the greatest foe" . . . . to "the progress of . . . . the world". The resolution set forth that the Ontario Temperance Act expressed the conviction of the people. "In spite of this, however, and in direct violation of the pledges of the Premier . . . . the alcoholic content of beer was increased. We believe this . . . . a direct violation of the right of a free people . . . . " and that it was "brought about by the insistent and noisy demands of a small minority of financially interested parties" It was held that the duty of the Church in this connection was as follows:

(1) It should seek to reinstate "the violated will of the people".

(2) Realizing that the reestablishment of bar-rooms was the first step toward Government control, it (the church) should be "opposed to this retrograde step". The church should further, ... assert that any political party that puts Government control as a policy into its party platform will meet with its united and unalterable opposition at the polls."

(2) The church should "respectfully suggest" that the Ontario Prohibition Union" strengthen its leadership."

(4) The church should institute and maintain a campaign of education against the evils of alcohol.

Would Correct Morals

The Committee begged leave to call the attention of the Conference to " . . . the ever present problem of sex relationship." The responsibility for the education of youth in such matters was

HOW ABOUT IT?

It is at least refreshing to read in exchanges which come daily to the office, of successful band concerts which are held in Ontario towns half the size of Belleville once each week during the summer months. It is perplexing to attempt to reason why Belleville does not sponsor similar concerts.

Belleville has a splendid military band with a very capable leader who holds regular practices, yet Bellevillians have not yet this season heard its music in Victoria Park.

A band concert held one of those many hot evenings would attract scores to ideal Victoria Park where the breezes are cooling, and where the soul might be soothed by "the sweetest of all sounds". Most towns hold their concerts Wednesday evenings in preference to Sunday evenings when good Canadians, no matter how discriminating might not sense [illegible] gnawing at the conscience when the most versatile of music is being dispensed. Officials of the city would do well to consider this matter lest towns half this size begin to boast about and thus reflect upon the musical abilities of Belleville which compares with any city its size in the Dominion.

It would be excellent practice for the big celebration week, and might be productive of a concert by Belleville's own Fifteenth Regimental band before cosmopolitan crowds which will swarm over the city during the first week of August.

SEEING ONTARIO

A timely editorial appears in the Sault Ste. Marie Star, being an appeal to Canadians to see their own country first. "What is Canada's greatest need?" it is asked. "Undoubtedly to get her eyes fixed on herself," comes the answer. The boom in Florida is given as an example. Thousands of Canadians are attracted to that state, and incidentally many of them invest in real estate and leave much of their good Canadian money behind them. It is not surprising that "tired business men", and others who have no reason for being tired, should succumb to the alluring descriptions of the land of sunshine and bathing beauties. Distance lends enchantment to the view, but are there not just as beautiful places in Canada? Is not Canadian scenery just as charming and far more diversified. Is not our native air equally invigorating, and indeed much more so?

"What Canada needs is to concentrate her gaze on herself", say the Star. "If we would do that there would be an end to the country losing millions of dollars a year through these over-advertised American resorts." The appeal is made to "Old Ontario" to go and see what "New Ontario" has to offer—to take a vacation among the mountains, "to see our thousands of unmapped waters, our Agawa canyon, the long reaches of our great rivers, to experience the joys of canoeing down miles of rapids in the hands of wonderful canoemen, to see beaver dams and glorious towering trees and Indians and voyageurs and prospectors, and see the rest of the northern panorama. If a Toronto man will do that, he will neither go back broke, nor with a bad taste in his mouth. And he will realize that the welcome he gets will be from his own folks, who are not after his money, but who only wish his sympathetic support in developing his own back yard." It is well worth thinking over.

NATURE LORE

Speaking of Spring bird migrations, let me tell you another rather pretty little story about that very bad snow storm which came down the east coast of America and caught a lot of migrating birds on their way to Canada.

It is reported that the folks in the cities, towns and villages, were busy warming birds and feeding them. Some had wonderful experiences. One man says that he went out among the spruce and cedar trees, spreading food and putting up suet for the hard pressed little fellows, when he saw a little something or other, fall into the soft snow. Now if it had been any ordinary time, he would have said, "Oh, nothing but a tiny chip of bark, falling from the tree", but this was no time for guessing.

He went over to the spot and picked up a poor little bird, almost dead and already stiff from the cold.

It was a little Ruby Crowned Kinglet. I will tell you what kind of a bird that is, in a few minutes, but the man took this little fellow into the house at once for he was too far gone to risk warming in hands that also were cold. The man put R. C. Kinglet on the dining room radiator, warm but not too hot. In a very few minutes R. C. K. was himself again and out in the sunshine catching insects.

The Ruby Crowned Kinglet is one of our smallest birds, being not very much bigger than a humming bird. He generally goes to gardens where there are evergreen trees, for this is a bird of the deep evergreen shadows, and there is where you will find him, working away all day, eating insects, devouring the eggs of forest destroying bugs and worms. They are dandy singers, are dull olive green and have little, short sharp beaks. They have a ruby crown or crest, very difficult to see except when the bird flashes it. There is a first cousin to the R. C. K. called the Golden Crowned Kinglet and it has a crown with a dark border and orange red-centre for the male and yellow centre for the female. Maybe you have them about your place if evergreens are near.

AMUNDSEN WAS WISE

Would not it be fine to be with Amundsen in the Arctic regions asks the Toronto Star. On all sides ice and snow. The atmosphere bracing and invigorating. No trouble with melting butter or soured milk. Whole some, came free from the odor of dissolving human fat. Every day a zest for work. Physical activity a pleasure that makes life worth while.

Here we have been wasting sympathy on the North Pole explorer and, all the time, probably, he has been pitying the poor boobs in offices, factories and warehouses who stifle and reek in sultry misery, not knowing that, as a summer resort, the Arctic circle is without a peer.

Hereafter, instead of avoiding the North Pole as a region not suitable for human habitation, society may arrange for week-end excursions, by the air route, to thatp lace of delectable climate.

COURTING BOOTHS

"Courting booths in the churches" is a recent suggestion for filling the pews with the youth of the community. It comes from Rev. Dr. Ira Landrith, of Columbus, Ohio, former moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States. While the ministers are wrangling over such things as fundamentalism and modernism, what the young people want, he says, is a place to make love, and he declares that if he were building a church he would equip it with a dozen or so courting booths.

That man's heart seems to be in the right place, and if his judgment is fallible, at any rate he is human and means well, says the Stratford Beacon-Herald. Young people, being young people, will do their courting some place, and it might be a good thing if they could be induced to do it in church as well as after church; but could they be induced? That is the question. Would there not be the danger that the courting might be spoiled by too much respectability and regulation?

Press Opinions

SAVE THE YOUNG FOLKS

Winnipeg Tribune

Surely it is time for aggressive action against those who for pay are debauching the minds of our Canadian youth. At least responsible public authority can purge the news stands, the book shelves, the stage and the screen of some of the rottenness and disease they are spreading, and give the church and the school and the decent home some chance of shaping the character of boys and girls.

LEAGUE OF TELEPHONES

London Daily Telegraph

It is reported that the League of Nations desires to assume control of the telephone systems of Europe. Superficially this is not credible. No sane and reputable body of men would go seek for trouble. The control of any telephone system cannot be coveted by a man who would still retain friendship and respect for his fellow creatures. But to control them all seems a task invented by a nightmare.

The Carillions of Holland

A famous writer on the carillons of the world says that Holland has more tower music than any other country on earth, with 80 carillons, France has 26 Belgium 43, Germany 14, Great Britain 10 and the 27 others in the world are scattered in other European countries, Canada and the States. It is a never ending delight in this old land, whether you wander the old streets of Amsterdam of Groningen or tarry at Alkmaar or Middleburg, to hear the ripple of the bells singing above the old houses. Tromp and De Ruyter were inspired by such music. Grotius felt its benediction. Vermeer and Rembrandt, Frans Hals and Pieter de Hoogh, listened to it as they painted the life of their time. Holland believes that bells, beautifully singing, add to the happiness of man and cares for them as Americans care for their universities.

Spring Flowers in Switzerland

Unfortunately most Americans see Switzerland in the summer. They would love it more if they could see it now, in all its floral beauty. Sir John Lubbock wrote years ago "Swiss meadows are sweet and lovely with wild geraniums, harebells, bluebells, pink restharrow, chervil, eyebright, gentians, red and white silenes and others for which we have no English names". March and April have to be seen in order to be believed, as all descriptions seem exaggerated. The shores of Lake Maggiore and Lugano are carpeted with blooms—azaleas, magnolias, wisterias, camelias and rhododendrons, riot amid orange and lemon blossoms. Over thirty different kinds of Alpine flowers are cultivated and it is testimony to their beauty that tourists are often ask on arrival, where they can find the beautiful Edelweiss, as where they can climb the snow-caps for the best sunrises.

Letters To The Editor

THE MOTOR BUS

One of the important tests of community progress is transportation. The condition of its streets and thoroughfares and the character of its public conveyances pretty well determine the status of a city and the spirit of advancement that dominates its inhabitants.

The coming of the Rawson street bus service to Belleville marks a new and important progressive step in the development of Belleville.

The electric trolley which became so general a feature of urban transportation uring the past quarter of a century has, apparenty had its day. it rarely proved itself a financial success in any community, having less than fifty thousand inhabitants.

Now we find a general movement in American cities to substitute the motor bus for the electric tramway or street car service. The various types of automobile and motor transport and the substitution of street asphalt as a paving material for the rough and uneven macadam or stone have so altered conditions and possibilities that even in great cities like New York and Chicago the surface trolley is doomed. The tracks occasion an annoying and difficult break in otherwise smooth pavements. The congestion of traffic in recent years makes the trolley on its fixed track intolerably slow and unadaptable. The motor bus is quick, capable of sinuous manoeuvering and can go wherever decent roads exist.

The failure of the trolleys in the smaller cities is now being reflected in the greater centres of population. The majority of traction companies have been granted the privilege of increased fares, but even with this concession many of them are still faced with bankruptcy.

It has been my privilege to travel on many types of motor bus in the United States, but I must say that the new type of bus that is being introduced into Belleville is the equal of any in appearance and in the matter of ease and comfort for the passenger surpasses all others with which I have had experience. Belleville is indeed fortunate in having so attractive and commodious a type of motor bus to inaugurate the beginning of its new system of transport.

Watertown, N.Y., and scores of American cities of less or greater population have scrapped their unprofitable and obsolete trolley systems in the past five years and taken on the motor bus.

Belleville will now, therefore, have its street transportation needs looked after by the best and the latest.

FARMERS, SAVE YOUR TREES

To the Editor:
Sir,—

Instead of selling his last tree for exportation to the United States as he is being urged to do by his American "friends" the Canadian farmer would be much better advised to hold on his woodlot and wait for the rise in the price of pulpwood which is inevitable within the next few years.

Why should he not economise in other directions and give his woodlands a chance to develop and mature. With plans already under way calling for an expansion in the pulp and paper industry that will increase the present demand for pulpwood for domestic use by a million three hundred thousand cord a year, it doesn't take much of a seer to know where the real interests of the farmer lie.

In fact it is today entirely within the power of the farmers to practically make their own price on their pulpwood through a reduction in the amount of the annual cut and by co-operative selling of their wood, just as the Western farmers are doing with their grain.

The paper companies in Canada are planting tiny seedlings at a cost of $15 per acre or more while the farmers are cutting down trees that have been growing forty years and selling at a price that nets them far less per acre than it is costing to plant these tiny seedlings. And the seedlings have to be protected and taxed for forty years before they can reach a stage to justify cuttings.

AMERICANS TAKE LEAD IN SWIMMING AT OXFORD

Oxford, England, June 8.—On the present form, the Oxford University swimming team for this term will be composed largely of Americans. In the races for freshmen B. Brodie, of Pauling School won the 50 yards in good time from H. M. Cleckley, the Georgia hurdler, and J. L. Merrill of California, the middleweight boxing champion of the university, led in the 100 yards. Brodie has a smooth, easy stroke and is one of the most promising swimmers in the university. Another clever American swimmer is C. G. Fletcher of Pembroke ollege, who has made all but two of Oxford's goals at water polo this season.

Oxford swimming compares unfavorably with that of the larger American universities. The university has no swimming pool, and the municipal swimming baths, the only pool in Oxford, is open to the university only three hours a week. Swimming is taught in public schools and is required of all university men who take up rowing, but speed strokes has never become popular.

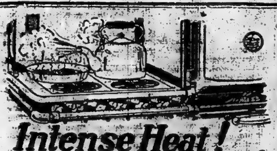
The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways from January 1 to May 31, 1925 have been $87,339,081.00, being a decrease of $7,845,410.00 as compared with the corresponding period of 1924.



Intense Heat!
——fast Cooking!

NOT least of the remarkable points about McClary's Gas Range is the full constant flow of intense heat that comes from the burners. This makes cooking fast—nearly twice as fast as with wood or coal—without fuss, muss or trouble.

Other features which housewives prize in McClary's Gas Range are:
—The porcelain enameled top, rust proof and sanitary.
—The porcelain enameled oven, so easily cleaned and kept sweet.
—Unbreakable Pyrex glass in oven doors with thermometer to regulate cooking.

These are just a few of the qualities which have made McClary's known as the satisfactory Gas Range.

(1) Upon the Home. "The church should insist that the holy mysteries of life and love, and the great dangers their misunderstanding may bring, should be imparted by the clean instruction of fathers and mothers," and not left to be given by prurient school gossip, unclean street corner instruction or defiling experiences in sin". "The church should" . . . deplore the inroads of gambling on the social life of our young people . . . .". It was set forth that gambling" has its roots in the desire to get something for nothing . . The Committee desired to" . . . commend the Dominion Minister of Justice for the introduction of a Bill prohibiting the publication of betting odds." The resolution deplored the contemplated action to license wheels of fortune at agricultural and other fairs. It suggested that the President and the Secretary of the Conference send telegrams to the Prime Minister and to Ministers of Justice in protest against the said licensing.

Construction Now Well Under Way
On The Belleville Mausoleum

Cut Stone, Marble, Bronze.

THE outstanding beauty and durability of the new Belleville Mausoleum will become more apparent as it grows under the hands of the builders. This perfectly constructed mausoleum is being built in a manner everlasting, as far as the human mind can conceive. The best and most enduring materials are united with the knowledge of eliminating deterioration from the elements as far as possible. By reason of years of experience in memorial construction, this concern is enabled to erect a building of cut stone, marble and bronze that will live through the ages.

For People of Moderate Means

Space in the Belleville Mausoleum is Not expensive. The principal object of the community mausoleum of this type is to provide ideal interment for people of moderate means. When you consider the cost of a family plot, the cost of markers and monuments, and the cost of maintaining such things in good condition, then the cost of mausoleum entombment without these incidentals and without maintenance expense, is very reasonable indeed.

The Time is Short-
You Must Act Now!

Building operations are well under way. To share in this splendid community project you must decide without further delay. This opportunity will not be available again. Write, Telephone or Call and we will be glad to furnish you with full particulars. But please hurry, as the total space provided will soon be all spoken for.

Choose Exalted Themes

Speaking on his third essential point for the successful minister, who must choose an exalted theme, Dr. Rose said it was beter to invite high failure by discussing great topics than to win small praise by choosing small texts.

"If young ministers could but understand the feeling of old ministers who after a life time in the ministry, felt they had been but playing about the edge of the unfaithomless richness of Christ, it would assist them in selecting topics for sermons. They would never run out of a theme if they selected the sacred death as the older ministers did, and it would be well to-day to get back to their conception of it.

"It is also important," he said, "that your hearers be brought as closely as possible to the conception of Jesus of Israel." "I will travel many miles," he exclaimed, "to hear any minister tell the whole story of the life of Jesus in his own language. He will not have to contend any theology of the scriptures, but he must know the gospels of the new testament so well that he will be able to tell their story, and Palestine in his sleep. He will be required to preach but twenty minutes without notes. It will be the hardest job he ever tackled. No young preacher can attempt it and few men of fifty years will attempt it, knowing the magnitude of it.

He who contented himself by preaching Jesus of history fell short of Paul's idea of the unfathomless richness of Christ. In this connection it was shown that where evangelists sometimes failed was where they explained Jesus life as revealed to them through the saving grace. The Jesus of history must be preached as the Christ of experience. The gospels were not biographies or a biography of curiousity about Jesus, but his confessions in Christ the crucified who had risen immortal.

Dr. Rose assured his splendid congregation that the idea of Methodists in entering union will lay in the striking assurance, "I know I am a son of Christ," and in the strength of that conviction, hope for the best results.

June 7th, 1924—64 High; 37 Low.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

He held out his hand. It was firm as a rock, and gripped hers so tightly that she winced.

"I've hurt you," he said; "I, who would lay down my life to save you a moment's pain." He looked at his hand. "It was my ring. Ah!" he exclaimed, as if an idea had occurred to him, and he drew the ring from his finger. "Take this," he said, and he took her hand, opened it, and placing the ring on her palm, closed her fingers over it gently and yet firmly, as if he would accept no refusal. "If ever you need a friend, either for yourself or another, if ever you need to be avenged on a foe, send this ring to me—it will not be necessary to send a word with it—and I will come to you. Good-by!"

He raised her hand toward his lips, then with a sound that was half sigh, half groan, he let it fall, and without looking round climbed the beach and was lost to sight.

CHAPTER IV.

The New Duke

The expression on Yorke Auchester's face as his cousin introduced him as his grace, the Duke of Rothbury, beggars description.

He stared at the duke and colored, with a mixture of amazement and annoyance, which caused the duke to lean back in his chair and laugh; he did not often laugh.

"That was neatly done, Yorke," he said. "It isn't often that a man is made a duke so easily."

"N-o," said Yorke; "but—but it's rather a large order, Dolph," and he turned to the window with something like a frown on his handsome face.

"Not at all," said the duke, cheerfully and airily. "You will find it easy and natural enough after the first half hour. There is very little difference between the duke and the dustman nowadays; indeed, if the dustman can only talk and manage to get into Parliament he is often a greater man than the duke, and he is quite certain to put on more 'side'. Come, Yorke, you are not angry?"

"No, no!" responded Yorke Auchester "rather surprised, that's all. My elevation is somewhat sudden, you see," and he laughed. "The whim seems to give you pleasure, and it won't hurt me; and it won't last long. You only want me to take your place while you are down here?"

"Just so," said the duke. "I'm afraid you couldn't manage it in London. 'That poor cripple, Rothbury', is too well known there. Seriously, my dear, Yorke, I am very much obliged to you. You have made it possible for me to enjoy a few weeks of quiet and repose. These simple folk won't take any notice, after the first day or two, of a hunchback who is only a common Mr.—let me see; what shall I call myself—Brown, Jones, Robinson? No; there are quite enough of those honored names in the directory already. I'll call myself Temple; there is a Temple in the family nomenclature. Yes; Mr. Temple. There is no fear of our little arrangement becoming known. I'm not one of those men who delight in seeing their coat of arms emblazoned on everything they wear and use. I don't think there is a coronet to be found anywhere about me, and Grey is the pink and pattern of discretion. You can wear the lion's skin—poor lion!—down here at Portmaris in perfect security. Be a good duke, Yorke. Keep up the honor of the old title." He laughed again. "At any rate, you will meet that money—a duke must have the look every inch of one. And now about means of keeping up his state, you know. Will you hand me up that dispatch box, or shall I ring for Grey?"

York Auchester placed the writing case on the table and the duke took out his check book.

"How much shall it be, Yorke?" he asked, without looking up, and with a certain shyness, as if it were he who was about to receive the money instead of giving it.

Yorke Auchester looked down at him with an expression on his face which made it nice to look at.

"You are very good to me, Dolph," he said. "It is only the other day you sent me——"

"Sufficient for the day only is the check thereof," cut in the duke, as if to stop any thanks. "I dare say that is all spent."

"It is, indeed," assented the young man, candidly.

The duke laughed easily.

"Who cares? Not you, who, I dare say, have had your enjoyment out of it; not I, who have more money than I know what to do with. How much? Shall we say a thousand, Yorke?"

Yorke Auchester's face flushed.

"I should like to say it is too much," he said. "But you wouldn't believe me if I did, Dolph."

The duke smiles.

"I certainly should not. I can guess how quickly money flies when one is young and strong, blessed with youth's appetite for pleasure."

He filled in the check in a sharp, pointed hand and gave it to his cousin.

"There you are. You must spend some of it down here for the honor of the name."

Yorke laughed.

"All right," he said, "though I don't quite know what I can buy. Sixpence in periwinkles would go a long way."

"Yes," said the duke; "that is what I find. Money is a burden and a nuisance if you don't know how to get rid of it. Suppose you buy half a crown's worth of winkles and a lobster or two."

When Grey came in with the lunch he was surprised to find his master in so bright a humor.

"You quite understand the arrangement between Lord Auchester and me, Grey?" said the duke.

"Yes, your gra—sir."

The duke smiled.

"My name is Temple, Grey," he said "this gentleman is the Duke of Rothbury. Don't forget that, and don't, by a slip, let the cat out of the bag. I want to be quiet, and to avoid the worry of being called upon and stared at while I am down here. You're sure you understand, Grey?"

"Quite, sir; oh, quite," said Grey, who was an admirable servant; and in addition to being, as the duke had said, the pink and pattern of discretion had lived long enough with his grace to know him thoroughly, and to appreciate a good master, who, with all his whims and fads, was tenderness and liberality personified.

"Of course you do," said the duke. "You must be as glad of a little quiet as I can be, and we shall get it down here under this arrangement. Now, mind, be careful and keep the secret. Have you brought up my beef tea? Very well, you need not wait."

Grey wheeled his master to the table cast a glance of respectful astonishment at Lord Auchester, which meant, "You and I must humor him, of course, my lord," and left the room.

"A nice lunch, isn't it, Yorke?" said the duke, looking round the table. "I hope you will enjoy it. You are nearly always hungry, aren't you?" and he sighed as he smiled.

"Quite always," assented Yorke Auchester. "Chops, soles and a custard pudding. Right. Sure you won't have any, Dolph?"

The duke shook his head.

"This is as much as I can digest," he said, taping th beasin before him indifferently. "Now tell me the news, Yorke—your grace."

Yorke laughed.

"News? I don't think there's any you don't know."

"Not London news, I dare say," said the duke; "though I don't know much of that. I don't go out more often than I am obliged to. I don't dance, you see," he smiled, "and if I go to a theatre I find that I distract the attention of the audience from what is going on upon the stage. I suppose they consider me as interesting as good, if not better than any play. And as to plays, there aren't many good ones like. The last time I went to that burlesque at the Diadem Theatre, and everybody seemed 'gone', as you call it, on that dancer. What's her name, eh?"

Yorke Auchester was in the act of deboning his good sole. He stopped and looked up, paused for a moment with a rather singular expression on his frank, handsome face.

"Finetta, do you mean?" he said, slowly.

"Yes, that's the name, I think," said the duke, stirring his beef tea as if he hated it; "so called, I suppose, because she has finished so many good men and true. They tell me that she has completely ruined poor Charlie Farquhar. Is that so, Yorke?"

Yorke seemed very much ingrossed in his sole.

"Oh, Farquhar!" he said. "Yes, he is stonebroke; but I don't know that Fin—I mean Finetta—has had so much to do with it. Charlie was under the delusion that he understood horses, and——"

"I see," said the duke. "Poor lad! I suppose if I offered to help him he would be quite offended?"

"I don't know. You might try," said Yorke, dryly.

"I'll see. But about this same Finetta. She was pretty——"

Yorke Auchester looked up with a laugh. It was not a particularly merry one.

"Only pretty?"

"Well, yes, to my eyes; but I'm rather particular and hard to please, I'll admit. Oh, yes, she was pretty, and she danced," he smiled, "yes, she danced without doubt. The young men in the stalls seemed infatuated; but I didn't fall down and worship with the rest. Perhaps I'm old fashioned, though I'm not much more than your age. Anyhow, a very little of Mlle. Finetta goes a long way we me. Do you know her Yorke?"

"Oh, everybody knows Finetta," replied Yorke Auchester, carelessly—a little too carelessly.

"And some, it seems, like poor Charlie Farquhar, know her not wisely but too well. Well, I've not been to the theatre since, and that's six weeks ago. Is that chop tender?"

"First rate; try it."

"I dare not; but I enjoy seeing you eat it. I've often had thoughts of having a man with a good appetite that I might have the pleasure of seeing him eat a square meal while I sit cursing my beef tea and gruel. The night I went to the Diadem I took Eleanor——"

Yorke Auchester suspended his fork half way to his mouth an dlooked at his cousin.

"Oh," he said, and whatever the "Oh" might have been intended to mean it was singularly dull and inexpressive.

"Yes, it was her birthday, and she asked me to take her. That was kind of her, wasn't it?"

"Was it?" said Yorke, dryly.

"Well, I think so. You mean that most young girls would like to go to the theatre with the Duke of Rothbury, or for the matter of that any other duke—unmarried; but that's because they would go with the hope of repeating the visit some day as his duchess. But Eleanor knows that I should not marry her; we have come to a plain understanding on the subject."

"I see," said Yorke Auchester. "I suppose this is Dartmoor mutton? It's very good."

"I dare say," assented the duke, with a smile. "But to return to my mutton, which is Eleanor. It was her birthday, and I took her to the theatre and gave her a small present, the Rothbury pearls."

"Some persons would call an elephant small," remarked Yorke, ironically.

Did—did you give her anything, Yorke?" asked the duke, almost shyly, ignoring the comments.

Yorke Auchester took a draught of the admirable claret which Grey had brought down with him, before replying.

"I?" he said, carelessly. "No. Why should I? What would be the use. She doesn't expect anything better than a penwiper or a shilling prayer book from a pauper like me, and she has tin enough to buy a million of 'em if she wants them," and he attacked the custard.

The duke leaned back in his chair and looked at the handsome face of his cousin, with its frank and free, and happily devil-may-care expression.

"I've a notion that Eleanor would value anything in the way of a penwiper or a prayer book you might give her, Yorke," he said.

"Not she. It's only your fancy."

"I think not," said the duke.

He was silent for a moment, then he said, thoughtfully and gravely.

"At the risk of repeating myself, I will say once more that it is a pity you are not the Duke of Rothbury, Yorke."

"Thanks, but a better man's got the berth, you see."

And a still greater pity that you can't be the future one. But you can't, can you, Yorke?"

"Not while Uncle Eustace and his two boys come before me, and as they are all as healthy as plowboys, and likely to live to the eighties, every one of 'em, there doesn't seem much chance, Dolph!"

"No," said the duke, in a low voice. "It's rather hard on the British Peerage that the present Duke of Rothbury should be a hunchback and a cripple, and that the next should be a miser, while the young man who would adorn the title——"

"Should be a penniless young scamp," put in Yorke, lightly.

"The duke colored.

"Well, barring the scamp, that was in my thoughts. Do you ever think of the future, Yorke?"

"Never, if I can help it," responded the young fellow, cutting himself a piece of stilton.

The duke smiled, but rather gravely.

"I do, and when I think of it, I wish that I could secure it for you. But you know that I can't, Yorke. Every penny, or nearly every penny, goes to Lord Eustace."

"Don't let it trouble you, Dolph," said Yorke Auchester. "Of course the money must go to keep up the title. Every fellow understands that. Heaven knows I've had enough as it is."

"And you didn't give Eleanor a birthday present," said the duke, slowly. "That was—to put it delicately, Yorke—thoughtless of you. Will you give me that box, the leather one? Thanks."

He opened the box and took out a small morocco case, and tossed it across the table.

"I had an idea you would forget it, and so——"

"By Jove, that's pretty!" broke in Yorke.

He had opened the case and revealed a gold bracelet, not set with diamonds, but of plain though first-rate workmanship. Just the sort of gift which a rather poor young man could manage.

"I'm glad you like it. I am sure Eleanor will especially as it comes from you."

Yorke Auchester colored, and he looked for a moment as if he were about to decline the piece of jewelry; but checking the words that rose to his lips, he put the case in his pocket.

"It's a shame to let her think it came from me, but I'll give it to her, because——" He paused.

"Because you are too good natured to disoblige me," said the duke.

"She'll think I've been cimmitting a burglary."

"In that case she will value the thing all the more highly," retorted the duke. He leaned back and rested his head on his hand.

"Go out and smoke, Yorke," he said presently.

Yorke Auchester was accustomed to his cousin's peremptory words. They were just those of a sick man, and had nothing of discourtesy in them.

"All right," he said. "I'll stroll down to the parade."

The duke smiled.

"I expect you will find nothing but a strip of beach," he said. "There are some cigars in that traveling case."

But Yorke said he had some cigars and tosing on his hat made his way out into the sunshine.

For the first few minutes, as he went down the village street and along the narrow quay which stood for parade, his face was unusually grave and thoughtful.

Inspector Ruston Is Rotary Speaker

At the regular noon luncheon today Mr. T. D. Ruston, Inspector of the Children's Aid Society, told the Rotarians a lot about the struggle that has been made down through to ages to secure the rights of children, and of the success which recent years have brought.

The ideal arrived at now is to leave children with their parents or natural guardians, if at all possible and improve the home so that the children will have a fair chance. Much of the recent legislation, such as the Mothers' Pension and the Unmarried Parents' Act, has had this end in view.

One of the hardest problems to handle is the sub-normal or diseased children and these, it is hoped will some day be gathered in one large home where they can be adequately trained and probably made self supporting.

Mr. Ruston rather startled his hearers with the statement that one child out of a thousand born in Canada was sub-normal to the extent of requiring supervision every hour of its life.

Rotarian C. M. Reid introduced the speaker and Dr. Baker expressed the club's thanks. A pleasing feature of the program was Jimmy Bankier's singing.

PASS TWO RESOLUTIONS

In the last few moments of the morning session of the Bay of Quinte Conference two motions were passed after considerable discussion.

Superannuation will be carried on in the Union for those Ministers who would have been eligible for it under the present arrangement.

A system of contribution from the laity to begin with a tithe (one tenth of income) and to increase with increased prosperity was recommended by the Ministers. It was held that such contribution was the proper fraction of income.

MISS LYNCH WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Miss Helena Lynch, of this city, is representing the Kingston Diocese at the fifth annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada. The Convention opens June 8th, for a five day session at the Hotel Connaugh, Hamilton.

Miss Lynch was chosen last year at the diocesan convention at Smiths Falls. From each of the twenty four dioceses in the Dominion, one voting delegate is sent. Other delegates attend but without voice in the proceedings.

SEND RESOLUTIONS BACK

The resolutions passed this morning at the Conference were not passed "in toto" when submitted to the Ministerial session. The secretary in reading it complained of grammatical errors, lack of punctuation, and general carelessness of preparation, which made the reading of it difficult. He recommended that it be returned to the committee for revision as to syntax and general construction. It was further recommended that mode of expression employed in the provision concerning the sex question was of too frank a nature to warrant its being perpetuated in the official records of the Methodist Church. For this reason, the advance copies of the resolutions which were furnished the press will be at slight variance, as to wording, but not as to the sense, with the form finally adopted.

RUMPELSTILTZKIN VI
by W.J.ENRIGHT.
ON THE THIRD DAY, AS THE MESSENGER WAS PASSING THROUGH A LONELY CORNER OF THE WOOD, HE SAW A LITTLE HOUSE BEFORE WHICH BURNT A FIRE AND ROUND THE FIRE DANCED A LITTLE OLD MAN AND, AS HE DANCED, HE SANG THESE LINES—
TODAY I BAKE, TOMORROW I BREW THEN LITTLE PRINCE I WILL COME FOR YOU; FOR NO ONE KNOWS, NO MATTER HIS FAME, THAT RUMPELSTILTZKIN IS MY NAME.
YOU MAY BE SURE THE MESSENGER WHISPERED THE NAME TO THE QUEEN SO WHEN THE LITTLE MAN CAME AND SAID "WELL, NOW, WHAT IS MY NAME?" THE QUEEN ANSWERED "IS IT HENRY?" "NO!" "IS IT CONRAD?" "NO!" "WELL, THEN PERHAPS IT IS RUMPELSTILTZKIN?" THE LITTLE MAN WAS BESIDE HIMSELF WITH RAGE.
"WHAT WICKED ELF HAS TOLD YOU THAT?" HE SCREAMED. AND IN HIS ANGER STAMPED HIS FOOT SO VIOLENTLY THAT IT BROKE THROUGH THE FLOOR OF THE CASTLE AND THROUGH THE HOLE THE LITTLE MAN DISAPPEARED AND WAS NEVER SEEN FROM THAT DAY TO THIS.

At The Belle

"Lovely!" said Betty Compson.

She was enthusiastically admiring a new evening gown designed for her by Howard Greer, noted costumer, and they were in the spacious wardrobe department at the Paramount West Coast studio.

"Yes," admitted Greer somewhat reluctantly, "it is. But——"

"But what!" demanded Miss Compson.

"Well," said Greer diffidently, "you see, the gown rather built itself, and after it was finished I discovered that there was no way to get into it. So I presume it will have to be ripped up one seam, and then sewed on."

That is why it took Miss Compson two hours to reach the Sam Wood set where she was working in "The Female," her first Paramount picture under a new long-term contract.

She explained it all somewhat bashfully to Sam Wood when she appeared and he forgave her.

The gown is an exotic creation of black sequins. It is form-tight and supported by shoulder straps adorned with black jet. Its only decoration is a large bow of gray silk net.

But the labor of getting it on was somewhat made up by the enthusiastic praise Miss Compson received from Warner Baxter, Noah Beery, Dorothy Cumming and Freeman Wood, who appear in the supporting cast of "The Female," coming to the Belleville Theatre to-day for a run of 3 days.

Youth is Killed In Terrible Smash

Big Car Grazes Car it Met And Crashes

Toronto, June 8.—Cyril Bouey, aged 20 years, of 85 Hillsdale Avenue west, Toronto, was instantly killed; Miss Marion Hopcroft, 1992 Queen Street west, suffered serious head injuries, and six other passengers in the auto driven by Bouey, sustained minor hurts as the result of the car grazing another auto on the Brown's Line Road, near Long Branch, about 12.30 a.m. yesterday. Thomas Richardson, 11-A Gloucester Street, Toronto, driver of the other car, and a lady passenger were unharmed.

The accident occurred about a quarter of a mile north of Stop 28 on the Hamilton Highway. The car a Hudson coach, driven by Bouey, was going south on the Brown's Line Road, a well-paved roadway running from the Highway to Dundas street, when it came into collision with Richardson's northbound McLaughlin roadster. It was not a crash but a glancing blow, and the Bouey car swerved across the road about 85 feet, swept over a three-foot ditch, went 20 feet or more and struck a Hydro pole, breaking it in two, then rolled on another 15 feet and overturned, pinning all eight occupants in the wreckage.

PORTUGAL RESTLESS UNDER MEASURES OF REPRESSION

Lisbon, June 8.—The much talked of military revolution having collapsed, the government has established martial law. Portugal is now under strict military rule, and all newspapers that do not applaud and bow down to the government have been suspended. These include the Seculo and the Epoca.

Several regiments have been dissolved, and dozens of officers are imprisoned in various fortresses in different parts of the country. There are evidences that the authorities are not reassured on the question of the maintenance of public order. There is much political intrigue going on, and military unrest.

The foreign correspondents in Portugal have had their full share of trouble. The local newspapers have abused them, and the censor has nullified their best efforts. They have been compelled to show copies of all their messages to the police, and warned not to send out any news harmful to the country. One is in jail, and probably will be escorted to the frontier. News messages consisting of faithful translations of official notes are passed for transmission, and then after two or three days returned to the sender.

LOCOMOTIVES BEAR NAMES OF WELL KNOWN RACE HORSES

London, June 8.—The London and North Eastern Railway has revived a custom of the old stage coach days when every coach had its name, and now give every locomotive a title instead of a number.

The first of a series will be named for well known race horses, some of the new locomotives being labelled "Flying Fox,' 'Ormonde,' 'Hermit,' 'Ladas,' 'Persimmon,' 'Robert le Diable,' 'Donovan,' 'Doncaster,' and other notable runners of the turf.

The Southern Railway also has adopted the idea, naming its engines for well known men. 'His Majesty,' the largest locomotive on the line is one, and 'The Prince of Wales,' another.

Every locomotive in the passenger service throughout the country soon will have its name and in time none but the little freight yard switching engines will be known by numbers.

Oshawa Man Buys Gooderham Boat

R. S. McLaughlin is Now Owner of Oriole III.

Oshawa, June 8.— Mr. R. S. McLaughlin of this city, has purchased Commodore Gooderham's Iriole III, which is one of the finest boats on the Great Lakes. It is a four-masted schooner. 113 feet long with a 31 foot beam, having a bronze hull. The boat will leave New York, where it is now docked, on Monday, in charge of Commodore Gooderham and it will arrive here probably towards the end of next week.

The boat's present name is Wawaloan I, and originally went under the name of Azara, then Oriole III, and afterward Lady Mary. The former name of Oriole III is being restored by Mr. McLaughlin.

She has had as many rigs as names; first a bald-headed three-masted schooner, then a feull three, masted schooner rig, adopted by Commodore Gooderham; then an unusual rig, with the long spanker-boom of the tern schooner cut off and a short fourth mast, or jigger, placed astern. After Commodore Gooderham sold her the topmasts were taken out and she re turned to three pole masts and a jigger. Under this rig she made a phenomenally fast passage to Florida. She is a wonderfully smart sailor with started sheets, and presents a very handsome appearance. She has of course, plenty of auxiliary power, and in appearance is one of the finest yachts afloat.

COL. G. T. DENISON CALLED BY DEATH

Toronto, June 8.—Following a period of failing health, extending over the past twelve months, terminating in an illness which commenced two weeks ago, Colonel George Taylor Denison, one of Toronto's "Grand Old Men," passed peacefully away at Heydon Villa, on Saturday evening, in his 86th year. Deceased had a very serious breakdown some two years ago, from which he recovered and enjoyed fairly good health until within the last year, when it was noticeable he suffered from physical weakness, necessitating his avoiding exertion of all kinds.

Colonel George Taylor Denison came of a family which is not only one of the best known in the city of Toronto, but has also figured prominently in the history of Upper Canada. His grandfather was one of the earliest settlers in "Muddy Little York", and most of his relatives had been prominent in military matters.

Petes Are Winners

Peterboro, Ont., June 8.—Peterboro collected 15 runs and 17 hits off three Kingston pitchers Saturday afternoon, while Frankie Whitehouse, the Petes' young left hander, set down the Ponies with five hits and one unearned run. The Petes turned in one error and the Ponies had four misplays to their credit. The homesters were never headed. Hap Harrison's triple with the bases loaded in the first inning, started the procession. Gallagher, the Ponies' ace, started in the box but was taken out in the second. Young, a right hander, took his place and took a lot of punishment before he surrendered the danger point to Cherry in the eighth. Cherry got hy for the one inning he worked, holding the Petes scoreless. The game was the first lost by Kingston thise season and the Petes and Ponies are now tied for the leadership with four wins and one loss each.

Archibald Stewart Drowns While Bathing

Was Seized by Cramps in Bull Rush Marsh

The second drowning fatality to occur in Hastings County within four days occurred at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The victim was Archibald Stewart, aged 19, a Marchmont lad and the place was Bull rush marsh a small pond located one mile west of Hoard's post office.

Stewart, who was employed with T. J. Bird, a farmer, of Harold Post office, Rawdon Township in company with other boys went to the pond for a bath. He left his home about 9 o'clock and the party had to walk some distance to the place. It was hot and it is believed that Stewart on entering the water was seized with cramps. He sank and did not rise. The body was recovered shortly afterwards and Dr. Alger, of Stirling, Coroner, was summoned to the scene. Upon learning the circumstances of the drowning, he decided that an inqquest was unnecessary.

The body was subsequently removed to Mr. Bird's residence where it was prepared for burial. At Stirling this afternoon the interment was made.

Stewart was born in England and had been in Canada over 3 years. For three years he had been with Mr. Reid and he was a general favorite not only with members of the family but in the neighborhood. His untimely death is much regretted. He was a lad possessed of a kindly and genial disposition, making friends wherever he went. That he was overcome with a cramp is apparent as he was a fairly good swimmer.

STAMP COLLECTORS EAGER FOR NEW HUNGARIAN ISSUE

London, June 8.—Arrival of the first new sports postage stamps of Hungary created a stir in London philatelist circles, where very high prices were paid for several specimens. The set of eight denominations were sold at about 100 per cent above the postal value in Budapest when they first came out, the premium going toward a fund to help the Hungarian sports associations.

Be Beautiful! Darken Hair

TRY GRANDMOTHER'S OLD FAVORITE RECIPE OF SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Calomel And Hot Water

In cases of indigestion., headaches, high blood pressure, constipation, bad breath, rheumatism, tiredness and nervousness, start to-day and take one Tanol Calomel tablet before meals or two at bedtime; then notice how you sleep better, eat better, digest better and feel better in very way, day in and day out. What a glorious feeling to attain. The reason you have been unable to get results from any other medicine is due the fact that no other medicine but Tanol Calomel acts upon the liver. To feel your best just get a few of these tablets from McKeown's Drug Store, Belleville, and you will be surprised how affective they are.

Rev. A. S. Kerr is Presented With Gift

Happy Event Occurred at The Home of William McIntosh

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Wm. McIntosh, Forin street last evening in the nature of a surprise party, where friends of Rev. A. S. Kerr, to the number of seventy-five gathered for the purpose of bidding him good-bye. Rev. Kerr preached his farewell sermon in John street Church last Sunday morning and his concurring friends desired to do him honor by a personal evening together. During the evening Mrs. M. Armstrong made a short speech and Mrs. Jno. Cooper presented Mr. Kerr with a silver tea-service bearing the inscription "Presented to Rev. A. S. Kerr, from the concurring members of his congregation, Belleville, June 1925." in token of appreciation and remembrance. Miss Phyllis Stewart was also presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses. Although taken completely by surprise Mr. Kerr in a well spoken reply thanked the members for their kindness. He also expressed his appreciation for the hearty support and co-operation which the concurring members of his former congregation had given him during his fifteen years as Minister of St. Andrews Church, and hoped they would have many happy and prosperous years in the United Church of Canada. Words of appreciation for his many years of service given and regret at his leaving this City were expressed by Messrs. B. Mallory, B. Templeton, Wm. McIntosh and other gentlemen present. The presence of the Sunday School Orchestra did much to enliven the occasion with music while several of the members entertained with songs, after refreshments were served. The evening was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne and the wish to Mr. Kerr "God Speed" and many years of happiness.

Predicts Future For British Empire

"Can we continue to be a great Empire for a thousand years or more—indefinitely—or are there influences at work which will disunite us?"

This was the keynote of an inspiring and interesting address delivered today at the Kiwanis luncheon by Rev. C. E. Clarke of Christ Church. Reviewing the history of the Empire, the speaker stressed the fact of the recent development of Britains powers, how during the first 1000 years of the Christian era our great Empire had not existed. Our ancestors were the victims of our conquest after another and the importance of the Isle of Britain was neglible. During the next 500 years Britain was regarded by peoples of other nations as of seemingly no great future, and lacking the problems atending modern civilization.

With Queen Elizabeth came real progress when the Spanish Armada caused the country to awake to the real need of a navy as an essential and thereupon began the building of one to replace one which up until this time had consisted of pirate parties, as a commercial venture.

Is Optimistic

Mr. Clarke showed the possibility of a great future for the British Empire. He regarded her possibilities an integral part of the one great power, as powers which must have their say in the running of affairs. The colonies with the exception of India, were in possession of the same churches and religion of the Motherland, had the same high ideals of citizenship and so in this way are bound together inseparably forming a great nation whose future is great.

Other nations had used colonies merely as a means to their own betterment and had found that real progress was not possible in that way. India might probably break away in the future the speaker asserted, but the religion of her peoples is not ours nor are her ideals or ideas.

WARDEN PROVES REAL OPTIMIST AT SHIRE HALL

Hastings County Council Opens Busy June Session

SAYS TIMES BETTER

Pays Touching Tribute to Late T. Thompson M.P.

At the opening of the June session of Hastings County Council this afternoon Warden W. E. Wiggins gave an interesting and comprehensive address. He was pleased to see every member of the Council back in his place ready for work. All appeared to be well. The day for pessimism was disappearing he said and the outlook exceptionally bright for good crops throughout the county despite the fact that spring was late. Prices for stock, cheese and butter are better today than they were a year ago and if good times come to the farmers it will mean better times for business generally.

During the recess between this session and January the work of the county has been well attended by the various committees and co-operation had been all that could have been desired. Reports from various committees will later be presented of work done. The most important report will be that on roads and bridges. The program for bridges this year will run up about 1 mill of taxation. "There is however, a bright side," said the Warden "for while we may this year have to increase, the rate for bridges if the same percentage is carried on for 5 years, all our county bridges over 10 feet will have been built This is progress with economy and the ratepayers of the County will be in accord with the policy as the traffic and safety demands good bridges and roads.

Discuss Good Roads

In referring to new roads progress he said that it was proposed to adopt a bylaw in regard to this matter. In this county there was a great area namely 1,487,000 acres of land and the total length of roads was 1924 miles. We have at present 33 per cent of Provincial Highway of the Province and we have 501.5 miles of approved County roads. This has been reduced by about 219 miles on a plan prepared by the department of highways. Fourteen miles of new road was added to the system by the Department of Highway, and your committee was successful in having this increased to about 50 miles. The cost in the whole Province ranges from 52 per cent to 30 per cent and ours will be about 30 per cent. Under the new system the Government will pay 50 per cent of cost of construction and maintenance of roads. The average miles of roads for each County in the Province is 300 and there is 10,000 miles of County roads in the Province.

The County of Hastings still retains a fair share of County Road mileage. "Our road system is good and with the assistance of the Hon. R. J. Cooke, our member, we have prospects of getting much more done on our roads. The usual business of the session will be brought down, and the most important will be the equalization and passing of the estimates. The Warden hoped the Council would be able to get these matters adjusted in the usual satisfactory manner. The committee on estimates will be appointed and can get to work preparing them for the consideration of the Council.

At present it looks almost impossible to return the same tax rate as last year with the roads and bridge program in view. It was a good plan for the county to continue to keep its roads in

WORK PROGRESSING ON HYDRO BUILDING

Work on the building which the Hydro-Electric Power Commission will occupy in two months or so, is progressing favorably. Alterations are being made on the inside and outside. The nature of the work is extensive in character, and includes new electric fixtures together with a making over of the interior.

The building is situated at the corner of Victoria Ave., and Pinnacle St., and was formerly the old Bank of Montreal.

Thus the British Colonies can stand together with the Motherland, and foster relations with our Anglo-Saxon neighbors, and the English speaking people will join in the great Unity and cease to make war upon one another. They shall have at last discovered that it is the will of God that we should live in harmony and strive to make our living conform as far as possible to the standard of Heaven—the perfect state.

J. O. Herity Presents Full Report to City Council

SECURES INDUSTRIES

Always Keeps Expense Account to Lowest Limit

The following report was submitted to the City Council by Mr. J. O. Herity last evening.

To the Mayor and Members of the City Council,
Belleville,
Ontario.
Gentlemen,—

It was with much surprise that I read in the report of the proceedings of the last regular meeting of the City Council that the following motion had been passed:

"That each member of the Council be furnished with an itemized statement of all expenditures that have been made during the years 1922, 1923, 1924 and up to May 23, 1925, in the interest of inducing manufacturing industries to locate in our City from outside points, said statement to record salary and travelling expenses of industrial commissioner, expenses of all deputations that have acted in the same interest, including those who attended the Toronto Exhibition, and including pay for time of officials devoted to the same cause, also amount paid out for advertising in Toronto Globe, and other advertising including cost of literature distributed at said Exhibition and elsewhere and also cost of Heaton's Agency Service," said statement to be presented to the members of the Council at the next regular meeting and the results believed to have been obtained thereby."

Moved by Ald. Robinson
Seconded by Ald. G. W. Dawes.
May 26, 1925." —Carried.

A few days later I received an official copy of the motion from the city clerk. Neither the letter from the clerk nor the motion itself states who is expected to furnish the information mentioned in the resolution.

Although I have not been specifically asked to do so I trust it will not be considered presumption on my part if I lay before your honorable body certain facts which may help to elucidate the matters of which mention is made in the resolution.

As you well know, there has been no secrecy or mystery whatever in the operation connected with the department in which I am a servant. The most ample reports have been made acquainted with concluded negotiations and accomplishments. All policies and expenditures have been regularly authorised by the council. All accounts have been passed by the council in the usual way and have been entered in the records of the city treasurer where they may be inspected by any citizen.

But since the motion affords an opportunity to speak again of the favorable position our city has come to occupy, it gves me great pleasure and satisfaction to repeat and re-emphasize statements of fact that cannot be reiterated too often.

I wish first of all to state most positively and, in doing so, I challenge successful contradiction, that in the past three years Belleville has, all things considered, made more notable

A GREAT CANADIAN

At last the long, active and useful career of Colonel George T. Denison of Toronto has closed. The Colonel died on Saturday evening in his 86th year.

He was distinguished as a soldier, an author, a magistrate, and an ardent advocate of sane imperialism.

He went to the front in 1866 when the country was menaced by the Fenian raids, and again in 1885 to help put down the rebellion in the Northwest. In his early manhood he won the prize offered by the Czar of Russia for the best work on cavalry tactics, in competition with many of the ablest officers in the world. His book "The History of Cavalry" is a standard work on the subject, and is still used in military schools.

As long as an average lifetime Colonel Denison was police magistrate of Toronto. His quickness of perception, knowledge of human nature, firmness combined with kindliness, and business-like methods made him perhaps the most widely known and respected police magistrate on the continent. In a book of reminiscences he narrates many interesting incidents and experiences of his magisterial career.

As an imperialist Colonel Denison made important contributions to history. All his life he was an active promoter of close relation between Canada and the Mother country, and was perhaps the most influential and active advocate in Canada of the policy of imperial federation. It is known that he, more than any other person, won over Joseph Chamberlain to the imperial cause when Chamberlain was colonial secretary in the British cabinet. The history of that cause is nowhere recorded more fairly and fully than in Colonel Denison's book "The Struggle for Imperial Unity."

The colonel was not a party politician. The only political party of which he was an active member was the short-lived Canada First party that flourished more than fifty years ago. He threw the weight of his influence in favor of any party whose policy favored close imperial relations, and against any party whose policy seemed to favor dependence upon the United States.

Colonel Denison was a member of a family which has contributed many able and good men and women to the life of Canada. He was the most distinguished of them.

FLAGS AND FRIENDSHIP

There are probably a great many people who think that the policeman at Toronto who removed a United States flag from the car of an American because the British flag did not accompany it would have been wiser to have looked the other way when he saw it coming remarks the Port Hope Times. In the first place, it would appear that there is no definite ruling on the matter: this may be a debatable point, but so far as we understand this is the case, and it is the view of the Secretary of the Ontario Motor League.

We are disposed to think that the flags are simply to show where the autos have come from. These people have come as visitors, and not only as visitors, but as friends; so surely instead of kicking up a stupid row about the method they choose to show where they come from every welcome should be given them. There is a great deal of talk about what the British Empire and the United States can do for the world when united, wise men are endeavoring to tighten the bonds of union—and then we see this flag incident.

It has been said that the British flag has not been allowed in some parts of the States. We take it only in a few, but that should not alter the viewpoint of Canadians. The only things they should do are either to use both flags or none at all, and above all to recognize that the flags stand for friendship, and call for courtesy and kindness.

NATURE LORE

For the second time, that fickle and ungrateful and greedy catbird left [illegible] for good. The kind hearted lady who had fed it, was just about giving it up for a bad job again, when who should arrive in the back garden, now beautiful in its new dress of early foliage and flowers, but our dappery young Mr. Catbird.

He sang and sang and sang. And his lady friend, the woman, heard him with delight an surprise, for a good catbird singer takes his hat off to nobody when it comes to singing. All most folks know about a catbird is that it is a uniform grey color, has a black cap and meows like a cat, but during the courting and the nesting season, he is some singer, imitating the songs of any and all birds, weaving them into an endless jumbled melody all his own.

Our catbird is first cousin to the mockingbird and should be called the Canadian Mockingbird and I have hear Canadian Mockingbirds that outmock the famous Clifornia mocker. However, the particular catbird we have our eyes on in the garden, seemed very pleased to see th lady come over to look at him. He strutted about, fluffed his feathers and gave forth a wonderful mixture of half a dozen songs. The woman though it was affection for her, but in a second or two she saw that it was a mere matter of showing off, for who else should appear on the scene, a little more quiet and modest, but a new lady love, the new Mrs. Catbird.

So things took on a new meaning. This dapper dan of a catbird had deliberately gon off and found a very innocent young lady catbird and filled her ear full of sweet nothings, marrie her and brought to this garden of easy eats to set up housekeeping. Of course they would more than earn they way by eating bugs and keeping the place free from insects, but the whole summer was more or less like one long movie.

Actors came into the scene that were not supposed to be in the show at all and there was something doing all the time.

Watch Nature Lore for the Catbird scandal.

QUEBEC SEEKS PROBE

Mr. G. T. Clarkson, Toronto accountant, has just been appointed by Premier Ferguson to probe the price of gasoline. In Ontario, gasoline is selling at 29 cents a gallon. In Montreal it is selling at 31 cents a gallon, plus 3 cents tax, says the Herald. Every increase in the price of gasoline has been explained as being due to the unsettled condition of the crude oil market, the parent of gasoline. Crude oil costs but a few cents a gallon. A gasoline probe in Quebec Province would seem to be in order, especially as the big distributing companies, here state that the retail price of the best grades of gasoline is 25 cents.

Press Opinions

THE SINGAPORE BASE

Sydney Bulletin

The base about which so much frenzy has arisen is really a very simple business proposition. It isn't a new idea or a new aggression, but rather a proposal to bring an old institution up to date. Singapore, with the British-Indian Empire on one side, Australia and Maoriland on the other, and various British sundries in the offing, holds a fairly central position in the midst of an ill-defended area (ill-defended in a naval sense) which is nearly half the Empire for size, and over three-fourths of it for population. In the space for which it is supposed to provide naval protection are situated six out of seven greatest ports which the Empire possesses outside Britain itself.

THE PENSIONS SCHEME

Westminster Gazette

The burden which it lays upon industry amounts to some £20,000,000 per annum, and the contribution of the exchequer is only a little more than a quarter of this sum. Unemployment insurance may quite properly be attributed to industry, which demands a large reservoir of employable people available at need. But pensions to widows should be a charge upon the state. The effect of this new and heavy direct tax upon industry will be the very reverse of what was expected from Mr. Churchill, and, indeed, the very reverse of what the moment demanded. Even if these burdens can be reasonably defended as a charge upon industry, will any one, aware of the struggle which we are making to infuse new life into it, seriously maintain that this is an appropriate moment for imposing them?

MEDICAL —ARGON

London Daily Telegraph

(A medical witness in a London police court, who declared that a man c harged with drunkenness was only suffering from spastic paraplegia, was rebuked by the magistrate with the words, "Why not use plain English?"). When we consult our specialist, we want him to t alk in words we never heard before. If he used plain English he would be as disappointing as if he said there was nothing the matter with us. We know at the back of our minds that neither the cause nor the cure of anything is revealed by giving it a name derived more or less legitimately from the English language. But the pomp of phrase exhilarates us. A fine Greek compound, it was remarked long ago, is an excellent substitute for a reason. It is also the best cover for ignorance.

"DUMB INSOLENCE"

Manchester Guardian

Our Constantinople correspondent telegraphs that one of the Turkish journalists has been brought up before the court which has been instituted to put down criticism of the existing government, and that the head and front of his offending is that he ceased writing political articles of any kind as soon as the court was established. The journalist says he is obeying the law; the court says he is making a marked, though silent, protest against it. The poor journalist seems as awkwardly placed as the clergyman golfer who did not swear when he was bunkered, but was promptly accused of a singularly profane silence. "Do you bite your thumb at us, sir?" demands the Angora government, suspiciously; and when the journalist says politely, "No, sir, I do not bite my thumb at you, sir," he is at once "crimed" for having a thumb and seditiously concealing it in his trouser's pocket. What is he to do to soften his oppressors? Quote Keats to them to the effect that, while heard melodies are sweet, those unheard are sweeter? The Angora authorities will only reply that when the heard melody was open to suspicion the unheard one must be positively infamous. In Angora the press is not even at liberty to be silent.

To-day's Smile

Rastus was hailed into court vigorously protested the charge. "Judge", he said, "at woman sure got me goin'—ah don't know what to do about huh. Ever' day she done ask me for a dollah—ever' single day she wants a dollah, and she don't ever let up!"

"But what does Mandy do with all this money?" queried the Judge.

"Well, suh, Ah don't zackly know. Y' see Ah aint never give her any yet."

Thirty Years Ago

At the County Court which opened today before Judge Lazier, the docket was a heavy one. Four criminals are entered for trial, ten jury civil cases and three non-jury cases.

Two women, a mother and daughter, residing at Madoc were today arrested by High County Constable Johnson on a charge of theft.

The football team in connection with the Deaf and Dumb Institution last evening defeated the city team, and by so doing won the Corby trophy, a beautiful silver cup.

A resident of Marysville was arrested last night for intoxication. This morning he was allowed his liberty.

My European Excursions

By Edwin Robert Petre

A Norwegian Hike Above the Fjord

Among the many interesting trips I recently took in Norway there was one from the village of Merok at Geiranger Fjord, to the frozen lake of Djupvand (Deep Lake) situated 3,400 feet above the fjord. Many drive up this road but most of the way is so steep and winding that the ponies can only go slowly that I preferred to walk and had no difficulty in keeping ahead of the horses.

The road leads up beyond the point where snowdrifts often hide and block the road in the summer. Looking back a grand view is obtained of the Geiranger Fjord, where the steamer is lying and looks no larger than a toy ship. The mountain torrents are magnificent and a cool spray is often driven across the road, like rain. The Djupvand lake has wild and grand surroundings and even in midsummer its blue waters are often covered with ice. A hike, as Americans say, to the frozen lake is not easily to be forgotten by anyone who has taken it. In a few hours you are carried from the warm sunshine and flower-decked meadows of the valley to the eternal winter of the mountains and on the way pass through scenes of almost unequalled loveliness and grandeur. The vast amphitheatre formed by the mountain walls of the valley, is one of the most impressive places in Norway.

Did Queen Victoria Make the Riviera?

The recent health excursion of King George of England to the Riviera has reminded me of the curious picture which the great American writer, Herman Melville, left of this coast sixty years ago. At that time the railway ended at Marseilles and an old fashioned coach carried him to Cannes, which except for the residence of Lord Brougham was a fishermen's village. At Nice, the famous Promenade des Anglais was a hardly finished country road and Monaco, and Menton could not be reached by either rail or road, while Monte Carlo was a name undreamed of. It was Queen Victoria's visits that first made a difference to the coast and members of her family, such as the Duke of Albany who died at Cannes and the Duke of Cambridge. King Edward was a frequent visitor to Biarritz an dat Cimies, the Queen received visits from Gladstone and Lord Salisbury. Since then the fashionable of the entire world have gathered there.

IN THE COUNRY OF "TESS" AND "JUDE"

The Wessex of Thomas Hardy is not on any map, but Dorsetshire and its surrounding counties fill the canvas for his pictures and stories. Modern railways, agricultural machinery, and cottagers who can read and write, fail to destroy the illusion that these are the villages "Under the Greenwood Tree," and "Far from the Madding Crowd." When the tourist remembers that Dorchester is Hardy's "Casterbridge" and Stinsford is his "Mellstock," that the heaths of Hyde, Decoy and Gore combine to make the famous "Egdon Heath" in "The Return of the Native" and that the little village of Marnhull is the "Marlott" of the tragic history of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," it makes this country a lure for visitors as famous as Ayrshire is for Burns or the Lake District for Wordsworth. Egdon Heath still "adds half an hour to evening," retards the dawn and makes a moonless midnight "a shaking in dread."

COME AND SEE WHAT YOU CANNOT IMPORT

I hear that America has put a ban on the importation of bulbs from the Low Countries. Surely it must be in order that Americans shall cross "the pond" and see flowerland in Holland and Belgium for themselves. "In Amsterdam by nine thirty," I was told recently when I crossed from England and as soon as the hyacinth scents tapped on my nostrils through the train windows, I wanted the journey to last forever. Mid-April is tuliptime in Holland and Belgium, and they grow like acres of wheat on a western prairie. If the bulbs cannot come to you, then like Mahomet and his mountain, you must come to the bulbs. The flowers are for the taking, as here they trade in bulbs. It is a sight at Easter to watch the holiday folk load themselves with blooms that arms can hardly carry—Mynheer Grower is glad to give away to all who love them.

Here and There

Canada spent $49,056,179 last year for pensions and re-establishment of Veterans of the Great War, according to a report recently issued from Ottawa by the department in charge of this work.

Without a dissentient voice over 4,000 cattle owners in 200 districts have voted to make Prince Edward Island a disease-free area under the Department of Agriculture arrangement which calls for a two-thirds vote of all cattle owners.

Two thousand young buffalo from the Wainwright herd will make a 700-mile trek northward this summer to the buffalo reserve on the Slave River where they will be turned loose to mingle with the wood bison which roam that area.

"In all parts of Canada and the United States," according to Robt. G. Hodgson, editor of the Fur Trade Journal of Canada, "Muskrat farms are being established, mostly on a large scale and they are rapidly turning what was once marshland of little value into the most productive part of the farm," Mr. Hodgson adds.

The record established recently at Acme when 114 horses worked in one field at one time seeding the crop of Mrs. C. W. King, has been broken at Gadsby, Alberta. When the neighbors of J. B. Ball who recently suffered a broken arm, put in his 100-acre crop, 39 outfits were at work on one day and 175 horses. The crop was put in in a single day.

H. E. Morriss, whose horse Manna made a run away victory in the English Derby, will visit Canada in the fall en route to China from which country he hails. He will sail on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Minnedosa from Southampton on October 8, stay a short time in the Dominion, and sail from Vancouver for China on the S.S. Empress of Australia, October 29.

Rebuilt in nine months after the fire that destroyed it last October, the Chateau Lake Louise hotel opened for the current season on Sunday, May 31 as the Trans-Canada train arrived from its cross-continent run. The hotel was rebuilt under exceptionally difficult conditions in temperatures as low as fifty degrees below zero during which a wooden wall heated by stoves had to be erected about the construction works.

Following the opening visit by Their Majesties King George and Queen Mary to the Wembley Exhibition, the Duke and Duchess of York also went over the grounds. Their Majesties were especially delighted with Treasure Island, the Paradise of children, and travelled over the miniature Canadian Pacific train that runs around the Island, passing en route the replica of Banff Station and the reproduction of the Canadian Pacific Rockies.

Canada will be well represented at the New Zealand and South Seas International Exhibition to be held at Dunedin between November, 1925 and April, 1926. Both the Dominion Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway have announced their intention to send well-appointed exhibits to the Exposition. It is probable that the provincial governments and many Canadian manufacturers will follow suit.

NEW PAVING MACHINE IS TURNED OUT

Port Hope, June 9.—With attention at present turned to road paving and highway improvements in Port Hope and district, it is interesting to note that a Canadian plant of the Mitchell Wettlaufer Company turned out a machine on Friday which is considered to be the largest ever made in the Dominion.

The machine weighs over 11 tons and is capable to laying down one thousand feet of roadway every ten hours. It requires five car loads of cement and thirty cars of gravel every day in order to keep up with the machine. In order that there be no delay, a fleet of thirty ton trucks are going continuously. The machine costs $45 per hour to operate, which includes material. It is a labor saver of the first order.

WOMAN SUICIDES

Oshawa, Ont., June 9.—Mrs. Edith Pilkey, 14 Ash street, was found hanging from a beam in the attic of her home by her husband, Charles Pilkey, at 12.30 Saturday, upon his return home from work. Earlier in the morning, Mrs. Pilkey retired upstairs, telling her 16-year-old son to be quiet that she wished to have a sleep. The boy prepared his father's dinner and when he arrived home said that his mother was sleeping. Mr. Pilkey searched the upstairs and could not find his wife, proceeding to the attic he found her hanging by a strip of canvas from a beam. Acting Chief of Police Charles Paxton cut the body down and called Coroner Dr. F. J. Rundle. No inquest will be held. Mrs. Pilkey had been ill for some time. Just a year ago, a similar scene was enacted in the same house and from the same beam. The parties, however, are not related.

Tells of Work

industrial progress than has any other city in the Dominion of Canada.

Cities like Toronto have attained such a size that they grow of their own momentum. Sales agencies of American corporations already established there in great numbers have a tremendous pulling power that is altogether absent from Belleville. Cities like Windsor grow whether they will it or not because of a specially favorable situation suburban to a great industrial centre. Belleville has no such advantage of location. Belleville's claims for recognition must be placed before the world by favorable publicity and salesmanship.

As has already been stated before the council and published in the press Belleville secured in the year 1924 three American branch industrial establishments of the first class out of a total of thirteen coming to Canada last year or nearly one-quarter of all. Toronto, having obtained five, was the only city to secure a larger quota.

In the past three years no less than eight American manufacturing branches have been established at Belleville. Previous to that time we had no American branches whatever.

The annual pay-roll of the new industries established here the past three years already exceeds a quarter of a million dollars and practically all of them are only at the beginning of their development.

What this means by way of affording employment to our citizens, in bringing in this huge amount of money from outside to circulate eventually among our business men and to help all of us carry our financial burdens, can scarcely be over-estimated.

It has been stated that a manufacturing industry is worth the amount of its annual pay-roll as a permanent asset to any city of small population. If that estimate be correct then Belleville has, in recently acquired industries, tangible assets that are worth fully a quarter of a million dollars. And they will expand and increase in value as the years go by.

Then there is the further asset that is intangible but none the less real. Success breeds success. Belleville's enhanced reputation, as a result of acquirements that have been made, is vastly different from what it was not so many years ago. Belleville is already known far and near as one of the live, progressive cities of Canada and is just as certain to go ahead as effect is to follow cause if we only stand united and keep our minds on the larger prizes. Population and industry are attracted to the centres where there is life and advancement just as they shun the places that are dead or non-progressive.

I have never claimed responsibility for the progress that has unquestionably taken place since I assumed the office of industrial commissioner. I take no credit now. The most that I have done is that I have had a small part in bringing about a spirit of co-operation among our citizens.

The securing of new industries for Belleville has not been the work of any single individual but of many working together with a single aim in view.

I have had the most whole-hearted support from the City Council. I have never made any suggestions or recommendations in regard to my work that the council has refused to sanction and carry out. The city engineer, the manager of the waterworks and all the other city officials have given me the utmost assistance in their power. The Chamber of Commerce with its splendid suite of offices and its board of directors and members all earnestly striving with one end in view, have been of untold value in bringing about results of which we should all be proud.

These things need only to be mentioned to show how absurd it is for any individual to try to monopolise credit.

We had too much of this solo work and attempts at personal glorification some years ago with the result that Belleville got nothing while Peterborough landed three large industries that had first sent their advance agents to Belleville. Others went to Trenton, Port Hope and Cobourg.

As I see it, it makes little difference who gets the glory as long as Belleville gets the industries. And, as I have frequently said, if you get twelve thousand people to work together with a single purpose they can accomplish anything within reason.

And now, as to the individual questions raised by the resolution, may I say first of all in regard to the expenses connected with my department I must refer you to the books of the city treasurer where accurate record is made of accounts that have been approved by the council and sent on to the treasurer for payment.

I have always endeavored to keep all incidental expenses down to the very lowest limit that is at all consistent with decency and efficiency. I feel that I may be fairly criticised because of two great parsimony. On several occasions we have missed excellent opportunities because of relying upon correspondence rather than seeking a personal interview. Correspondence and literature have their value but if an automobile salesman relied upon such means to find buyers how would he fare in competition with others who see their man? Selling Belleville is a much larger and more difficult mission than is the disposing of motor cars and the competition among cities is far more keen than it is in the realm of automobiles.

In reference to Toronto Exhibition may I state that an extended report was made to the City Council and published in the newspapers in September, 1923. As I remember it, the council of that year voted one thousand dollars to place Belleville and Belleville products before the million and a half visitors from all parts of the world who attended the exhibition. The seventeen Belleville manufacturers who took space for a display of their wares secured many important orders as a consequence of their enterprise and those brought not only new business to Belleville, but work for Belleville mechanics. Not all of the appropriation was expended and the city still has the many beautiful engravings that were used in preparing the booklets and circulars (of which many thousand were distributed) engravings, rent for booth and signs and decorations. No special salaries were paid to officials as the motion would seem to indicate.

The motion mentions advertising in the Toronto Globe. The only advertisement in that journal of which I am aware was one inserted last June the primary object of which was to advertise the United Empire Loyalist celebration. Incidentally I was asked to prepare copy for a partial space in the announcement to give certain facts about Belleville. Personally I did not favor any expenditure for that form of publicity for industrial purposes but my opinion or advice in the matter was not sought.

A question is asked in regard to Heaton's industrial service. In reply I would state that I had nothing whatever to do with entering upon a contract with the Heaton Company. The contract was made by the council before I was appointed to the office of industrial commissioner and was so construed as to continue from year to year. It is still in effect but costs the city nothing to carry. It may be terminated at any time. By the terms of the agreement which the Council entered into with the Heaton Service, that organization is to receive three per cent of the pay roll for the first year of any company that it introduces to Belleville, said payment in no case to exceed twelve hundred dollars.

The Heatons did one thing for our city for which every citizen should be grateful. They strongly recommended our city as a location for the Canadian branch of the American Optical Company and they introduced the advanced agent of that corporation to the industrial commissioner. After that it was the mission of our industrial department to place before the advance agent as well as before the subsequent deputations from the Optical Company that visited Belleville the special advantages of our city as compared with scores of other municipalities that were offering all kinds of inducements. How successful that work was every citizen now knows for the American Optical Company is here to speak for itself.

The resolution refers to the cost of "deputations". The only deputation in which the industrial commissioner was concerned was one that went to Southbridge, Mass., in April, 1922 after it became known that the negotiations that had been proceeding for some time with the American Optical Company had reached a stage when a decision was likely to be given in regard to what city would be favored by the establishment of a Canadian branch. As this was one of the largest corporations to seek a Canadian location in recent years the matter was deemed to be so important that a deputation consisting of Mayor Chas. E. Hanna, Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Jamieson Bone, immediate Past President of the Chamber of Commerce and myself, as industrial commissioner, went to Southbridge. That was one of the most fruitful journeys ever undertaken in the interests of this city, culminating as it did with the decision of the high officials of the Optical Company that Belleville was to be the Canadian home for their highly important interests.

Mayor Hanna and I, after the successful conclusion of the work of the deputation at Southbridge, interviewed many industrial prospects in the cities of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York before returning.

It might also be well to state just here that there is a disposition upon the part of those who do not quite understand its nature to look for results too quickly in the work I am endeavoring to carry on. It required over two years of continuous effort to bring to a successful issue the negotiations that were being conducted with two of the industries now located in Belleville. Others have acted more quickly but, generally speaking, it requires months and even years of correspondence, interviews and salesmanship to bring about a definite and final conclusion.

In the foregoing statement I have endeavored to lay before you the essential facts in connection with the questions raised in the motion but if there is any further information required in regard to the workings of my department it will be gladly given.

The work and accomplishments of the industrial department of the City of Belleville the past three years have been such that they do not require any apology or defence. All forward-looking citizens, who have a sincere desire to see a greater city builded here, have spoken of this work in terms of unstinted praise. Admiration has been frequently expressed by public journals and public men in various parts of the province and of the dominion.

The work is only at its beginning. The purposeful co-operation that has been so marked a feature of our civic life the past several years has already brought about a remarkable change. It will accomplish far greater things in the future if we are big enough to maintain this new spirit of co-ordinated progress.

Yours for a Greater Belleville,

J. O. HERITY,

good condition for the safety of the travelling public, he averred Warden Wiggins referred to the Council Chamber being redecorated and presenting an inviting appearance. To the finance committee and especially the chairman was due the thanks of the Council.

In concluding his address Warden Wiggins referred to the Council Cham- this mortal life, as during the recess it was forcibly brought before us in the sudden demise of T. H. Thompson, M. P., for East Hastings and an ex-Warden of Hastings County. "Men of his type are not soon to be forgotten and his death is a great loss to the County as he labored hard in its interest", he said. To the widow and family is extended the sympathy of this Council in the loss they have sustained.

His Honor hoped the present session of the Council would be both interesting and profitable to all the members.

TELLS HOW TO CATCH SWARM OF BEES

"There is a swarm of bees clustering in one of my trees—what shall I do?" comes the telephone message.

If you have no beekeeping equipment, invert a box over the cluster and smoke or crowd the bees up into it; then place them where they will be undisturbed and secure a hive as soon as possible.

A beekeeper would use a complete hive containing frames of full sheets of foundation or drawn comb and would have a smoker going in case of need.

To prevent the swarm from deserting, open brood is often used, if procurable, or an excluder is placed between bottom board and hive body.

If the branch on which the swarm is clustered is unimportant, it should be cut without disturbing the bees, carried to the hive and the bees shaken from it in front of the entrance. Direct bees into hive by a few puffs of smoke.

Should the cluster support be immovable, brush, jar, crowd or smoke bees into a box from which they are dumped in front of the hive entrance.

In case of a queen with clipped wings, procedure is more simple. While the swarm is in air, the clipped queen should be found on grass a few feet from the hive entrance, and caged. Next, move the old hive to a new location, substituting in its place a complete hive, already described, and stack the partly-filled supers, removed from the old hive, above. The caged queen is placed in the entrance and all is ready for the swarm which soon returns and enters the hive in search of the queen. When a goodly number of bees have entered the hive, the queen is released and enters too; then all again start work with renewed vigour.

IN MEMORIAM

DENTON—In loving memory of Verna Blanche Denton, who departed from us June 9th, 1922.

She has gone across the river,
To the Shores of evergreen,
How we long to see her dear face,
But the river runs between,
And our aching hearts are calling
To the shadows dark and grey
For the dear one who left us
Three years ago to-day.

Hart House Four Would Play Here

Secretary Forwards Letter To The Daily Intelligencer

The Intelligencer is in receipt of a letter from the Secretary of the Hart House string quartet, Toronto, a musical organization that has an enviable reputation, although having been in existence but a year.

The quartette wishes to play a concert in Belleville the letter states.

Since being organized this quartette has carried the uplifting influence of their art to many cities in Canada, including Ottawa, London, Hamilton, Kingston, Peterboro, itchener, Hespeler and Toronto. Everywhere they were accorded enthusiastic receptions.

As the members enter into their programme they are impressed with the quietness and dignity of their bearing, and before the programme has proceeded very far, the ydiscover that they are listening to four artists whom no technical intricacy can baffle, who are masters of their instruments, their music, and themselves.

This famous organization is desirous of having Belleville on its itinerary.

Members of the quartette are Geza De Kresz, 1st volin; Milton Blackstone, viola; Harry Adaskin, 2nd violin; and Boris Hamburg, cello.

Puts Oldsmobile to A Gruelling Test

Has Driven 25,000 Miles Already This Season

For the past nine months an Oldsmobile Six Sedan has been the business office and only means of transportation of C. G. Gale, of the Motor Wheel Corporation, and during that period Mr. Gale has travelled over the greater portion of the United States, Canada and Mexico. In fact he is one of the record automobile travellers of the world.

Since September 1st, 1924 when Mr. Gale started from Lansing, Michigan, he has visited 32 states in the United States as well as the populated sections of Canada and Mexico, rolling up a mileage in excess of 25,000.

Mr. Gale is engaged in installing service stations and distributing centres for Motor Wheel Corporation, makers of Tuarc steel wheels used on Oldsmobile sport cars. His work has taken him over every type of road and through all conceivable weather conditions. During this time he has carried 1,250 pounds of baggage and for the entire trip has averaged about 18 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

This constant driving at the rate of nearly 3,000 miles a month is considered pleasure by Mr. Gale. In fact he reports that his job has more play than work attached to it. In addition to his regular duties, he also represents the National Touring Bureau and his Oldsmobile is an official scout car for the American Automobile Association.

Oshawa Nine Meet C.N.R. Team Here

Holiday Game To-morrow Promises To Be Interesting

To-morrow at 3 p.m. at the Exhibition Grounds, Oshawa and the Belleville (C.N.R.) base ball teams will lock horns in a game which promises to be a real one, full of thrills, for both teams seem evenly matched.

The attendance should be large, as the weather man has promised a cool wave to begin any time now. Both teams have had the misfortune to suffer defeat lately, and both are smarting. As a result, the playing will be close.

Two new men were used by the Belleville team in their game at Oshawa the other day, and they shaped up well and may be used in Wednesday's game.

Grandfather Still Pitches Good Ball

John Eubanks Joined Tigers With Tyrus Cobb

Battle Creek, Mich., June 9.—A 54-year-old grandfather, who formerly wore a Detroit Tiger uniform, still is able to pitch winning baseball, despite his years.

Fans who knew the Tigers in 1905-06 will remember him, John Eubanks, who came to the club the same year that Ty Cobb did. Of all the players in the American League then, just two remain, Cobb and Walter Johnson, and Eubanks has vivid memories of each.

Eubanks, who lives at Bellevue near here and pitches for the Bellevue United Stone team, recalls Johnson's first game in the American League, and says that Walter's spiked shoes were the cause of the young rookie's defeat in that contest.

"Walter was only 19, just a kid, when he pitched for Washington against Detroit in that maiden big league game of his," Eubanks said. "He had never worn spiked shoes until that day, always preferring tennis shoes.

"When he got on the field he fairly stumbled all over himself. He wasn't used to the shoes. But he could pitch, and the score was three to nothing in favor of Washington in the seventh inning, with none of our boys hitting.

"Will Armour was managing the Detroit team, then, and he told us all to bunt. Of course Johnson couldn't field the bunts with those spiked shoes, and we got the game. But we always knew it was those spikes that lost him that one."

Eubanks has a son, a daughter and three grandchildren.

Plan to Park Cars Under The Ground

Increased Traffic in London Cause of Suggestion

London, June 9.—Underground parking stations have been proposed in London to take care of the rapidly increasing automobile traffic in the business section of the city. The Automobile Association has been considering the matter for some time and has proposed that the first subway garage be built in Leicester Square, in the heart the theatre district and not far from Piccadilly Circus.

The underpark garage would have an entrance and exit, and would accommodate hundreds of cars. It is proposed to make the garage charges depend upon the size of the car at about 12 cents an hour, with attendants on hand at all hours of the day and night.

The small or private car has become more popular in London this spring than ever before, and dealers aver they cannot supply the demand. Formerly it was customary for nearly all motor car owners to have their own chauffeurs, but since the war both men and women have gradually taken up the idea of doing the driving themselves.

BELIEVE CONDITIONS BETTER IN GERMANY

Berlin, June 9.—Pressure on American consulates in Germany for visas to the United States has lessened in the same degree that financial conditions in the republic have become better since the Dawes plan was put into effect, and German currency placed on a sound basis.

Thousands of Germans who wanted to emigrate to America a year ago have apparently changed their minds since conditions have become better in the homeland. The American consulate general in Berlin recently sent notice to 30 German applicants for visas to appear on a certain day, as their turn had been reached in the long waiting list, and not one of them showed up.

This was an exceptional list and doubtless was not typical, but every day the consulates in all the leading German cities are advised that persons who put in their applications for permission to go to the United States a year ago have changed their minds and will remain in Germany.

Steal Fishing Gear Get Three Years

Simcoe Island Men Sentenced to Serve Three years

Picton, June 9.—In police court here Monday morning, four Simcoe Island men, Walter Scott, Overton Scott, Victor Sudd, and Wallace Sudd, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing fishing gear to the value of $400 and were sentenced by Magistrate I. Evans to serve three years in the Penitentiary.

The four men were arrested on Saturday afternoon by Provincial Officer Maclachlan following his investigation of the theft, the men being brought to Kingston and locked up at the City Police Station, afterwards being taken here for trial.

Information was given to Officer Maclachlan on Thursday by the owner of the nets that they had been stolen, and carried away in a boat painted green and white, this being practically the only clue, except for a full description of the missing gear that this officer had to work on. The boat was traced to Simcoe Island, where Officer Maclachlan found the missing gear which had been hidden in the foundations of buildings.

The stolen gear consisted of nets, spools, floats and all the necessary paraphenalia of a fisherman, and was the means of livelihood of the owner, this fact making the theft an exceptionally mean one.

COURIER CONTINUES DESPITE THE HEAT

Tom Mason, Chicago courier, arrived at St. Catharines Monday morning and was expected at Niagara Falls late the same day. Mayor Mikel said this morning, "He's going so fast I canbt get a lettter to him". Tom wrote to the Mayor from Beamsville reporting that he was getting used to the weather, and therefore enjoying the trip. Mason called on the City Clerk at Beamsville, and was presented wtih the keys of the city.

The St. Catharines Standard for June 8th, carried a picture of the Courier together with the following:

Tom Mason, Courier, who is carrying a personal invitation on foot from the Mayor of Belleville to the Mayors of the various municipalities from Belleville to Chicago, arrived in St. Catharines at 7.30 o'clock this morning from Hamilton. At 10.30 o'clock the courier presented to Mayor Smith a cordial invitation to attend the Peace celebration and Od Boys' Reunion at Beleville on August 1st to 5th, and requested the Mayor to pass the invitation to the members of the Council and citizens of the city.

Belleville's foot Courier left that city on May 30th. He will remain in this city until this afternoon when he leaves for Niagara Falls and Buffalo. He will return to Ontario from Buffalo to travel through to Brantford and London. Mason is 21 years of age, 6 feet tall and weighs 170 pounds. He wears no hat but a twisted kerchief over his head just above his ears.

Belleville's celebration will combine the celebration of 110 years of peace between the United States Canada and also an Old Boys' Reunion.

Mason was the guest of Mayor Smith to-day. "I may atend that celebration in Belleville" said His Worship, "but I won't walk there."

FILIPINO GIRLS IN EUROPEAN DRESSES

Manila, June 9.—While Filipino girls, in small numbers, have for some time shown a tendency to adopt European dress, it is only recently that they have ventured into the field of bobbed hair. Only a few so far have yielded to the temptation to clip their long black locks, but many predictions are made that the custom will grow because of the comfort afforded by short hair in this tropical climate.

Parental objection is strong against the innovation, as the Filipino woman takes the greatest pride in her long thick hair which in many cases reaches to her ankles.

TO FIGHT FOR FRANC

(By Charles Garvice)

We suppose by this time the intelligent reader will have formed some opinion respecting Yorke Auchester. At any rate we are not going to try and persuade the reader that the young fellow was an angel. He was no worse, perhaps a shade better, than most young men of his class. He was idle, but then he had never been taught to work, though in the way of sport he would cheerfully undergo any amount of toil, and endure any amount of hardship. He was thoughtless because he had nothing to think about, except the ever recurring problem—how best to kill time; he was extravagant because, never having earned money, he had no idea of its value. But he would share his last five-pound note with a friend, would sit up beside that friend all night and many nights, if he happened to fall sick, and behind his happy-go-lucky manner hid his heart as tender as a woman's, more tender than most women's perhaps; and, like the antique hero, feared neither man nor beast. Children and dogs loved him at first sight; but, alas! that was perchance because of his handsome face, his bright smile, and his short, light-hearted laugh, for dogs and children have an unfair partiality for cheerful and good-looking people, and too often unwisely judge by appearances. Anyhow, there he was with all his faults, and so we have got to take him.

He created quite a little sensation as he sauntered along with his hands in his Norfolk jacket, his hat a little on one side, his big L'Arranaga in his mouth; the simple folk of Portmaris had never before seen anything so splendid. But Yorke did not notice them. He was thinking; wondering what his cousin, the duke, would say if he knew how far too well he, Yorke, knew Finetta; wondering whether he hadn't better cut down and marry Eleanor Dallas and her fifty thousands pounds; wondering ——.

"Oh, dash it!" he exclaimed at last, as he felt the crisp check in his pocket. "What's the use of bothering, on such a morning, too!" and he threw off the "pale cast of thought", and began to sing under his breath.

Then he stopped suddenly, for he saw a young girl sitting on the shingle with her back to the breakwater.

It was Leslie, sitting as Ralph Duncombe had left her. She held the ring in her hand, her bosom still heaving, her heart troubled, her eyes fixed on vacancy. There was a tear trembling on the long black lashes, and a faint quiver on the parted lips, and Yorke Auchester, as, unseen by her, he stood and looked at her, saw this.

Now, one of this young man's foibles was the desire, when he saw people in distress or trouble, to help them out of it, or, failing to do that, to at any rate try and cheer them up and console them.

"That's the pretty girl from over the way," he mused. "Pretty! It's a lovely face, perfectly lovely. Now, what's the matter with her, I wonder? She can't be up to her neck in debt, and—and the rest of it. Got into a scrape, I expect, and somebody—papa or mamma, I suppose—has been bullying her. I should think whoever they are they must find it difficult to worry such an angel as that. She's been crying, or going to cry. Now what an ass of a world this is! If I were to go down to her, and ask her what was the matter, and try and cheer her up, and tell her there wasn't anything in the universe worth crying for, she'd jump up like a young wild cat, feel herself insulted, scream for her brother or her father, and there'd be a row. And yet where would be the harm? I know this, that if I were sitting there down on my luck, I should like her to come and console me; but that's different, I suppose. Well, as the man said when his mother-in-law tumbled out of a second floor window, it's no business of mine."

But though he made this philosophical reflection, he still stood and looked at her wistfully, until afraid that she might turn her head and see him, he went down the beach and sat down on the other side of the breakwater.

Leslie did not hear him, was quite unconscious of his proximity, did not even notice the perfume of the choice Havana. What was troubling her was the memory of Ralph Duncombe's passionate words and melodramatic promise; and the question, what should she do with the ring? She would have died rather than have put it on her finger; pitch it in the sea. So she still held it in her soft, hot little palm. Happy ring!

So these two sat. Presently that peculiar desire which assails everybody who sits on the beach at the sea-side began to assail Yorke. Why it should be so difficult to refrain from flinging stones into the sea it is impossible to say; the clever people have found out most things, or say they have, but this still beats them.

Yorke, like everybody else, found the desire irresistible. Half unconsciously he took up a stone and shied it at the end pile of the breakwater. He missed it, mechanically took another aim, and hit it, then he absently found a piece of wood—the fragment of some wreck which had gone down outside in the bay perhaps—and threw that as far as he could into the sullen, angry waves, which rolled, and showed their teeth along the sand.

A minute, perhaps two, afterward, he heard a cry of distress behind him, and looking round saw Leslie standing and gazing seaward, with a troubled, anxious look in her gray eyes.

Yorke was astounded. What on earth had happened? Had she caught sight of a vessel going down, a boat upset—what?

She began to run down the beach, her small feet touching the big bowlders with the lightness and confidence of familiarity, and once more she cried out in distress.

Yorke strode after her, and gained her side.

"What's the matter?" he shouted above the dull sea roar.

She turned her face to him with a piteous look of entreaty and alarm.

"Dick! It's Dick!" she said.

"Dick! Who—which—where?" he demanded, looking in the direction of her eyes.

"It's a little dog—there!" she answered, quickly, and pointing. "A little black and tan, don't you see him? Ah, he is so small!"

"I see him!" said Yorke. "What's he doing out there? And he can't swim?"

"Yes, oh yes, but the tide is going out and he has got too far, and the current is dreadfully strong. Oh, poor, poor Dick! He went out after a piece of wood or something that some one threw."

Yorke flushed. He felt as guilty and uncomfortable as if he had been detected in an act of killing a human being.

"See, he cannot make any way! Oh, poor little Dick! I am—so—sorry. I am so fond of him and he is such a nice ——" She stopped and turned her head away as if she could not go on, and could look no longer.

"I threw the piece of wood," said Yorke. "I didn't see the dog; he is so small—oh, for goodness sake, don't cry! It's all right."

He got out of his coat with the cool quickness of a man who is used to emergencies in the sporting way, and running across the sand, sprang into the sea and struck out.

Leslie was too astonished for a moment to realize what he had done, then she raised her voice with a warning cry.

"The current!" she called to him. "The current. Oh, come back, please come back!"

CHAPTER V.

Appreciated Genius

Yorke soon found himself out of his depth, and almost as quickly discovered what the young lady meant by shouting, "The current!" But he was a good swimmer—there was scarcely anything Yorke Auchester could not do, except earn his living—and, though he found his boots and clothes very much in the way, he got through the waves at a fair pace, and reached the black and tan.

Saving a fellow creature is hard work enough, but it is almost as bad to rescue a dog, even so small a one as Dick from a watery grave.

When Yorke had succeeded in getting hold of him with one hand Dick commenced to scratch and claw, no doubt under the impression that the great big man had come to hasten his death rather than prevent it, and Yorke was compelled to swim on his back, and hold the clawing, struggling little terrier pressed hard against his chest.

It was hard work getting back but he found himself touching the sand at last and scrambling to his feet waded through what remained of the water, and set Dick upon his four legs at Leslie's feet.

Of course the little imp, after shaking the water off his diminutive carcass, barked furiously at his preserver.

Now the handsomest man—and, for that matter, the prettiest woman also—is not improved in appearance by a bath: that is, before he has dried himself and brushed his hair.

The salt water was running off Yorke's tall figure at all points: his short hair was stuck to his forehead: his mustache drooped, his eyes were blinking, and his clothes adhered to him as if they loved him better than a brother. He didn't look in the least heroic, but extremely comical, and Leslie's first impulse was to laugh.

But the laugh did not—indeed, would not—come, and she picked up the damp Dick and huged him, and looked over his still snarling countenance at his preserver with a suden shyness in her eyes and a heightened color in her face.

She looked so supremely lovely as she stood thus that Yorke forgot his sensation of stickiness and gazed at her with a sudden thrill agitating his heart.

Leslie found her voice at last, but there only came softly, slowly, the commonplace—

"Thank you."

It sounded so terribly commonplace and insufficient that she made an effort and added:

"It was very kind of you to take so much trouble. How wet you must be! You must not stand about."

Yorke smiled, and knocked the hair from his forehead and wrung his shirt sleeves.

"It's all right," he said. "It was my fault. If I hadn't chucked the piece of wood he wouldn' have gone in. He hasn't come to any harm apparently."

"Oh, no, no. He's all right," said Leslie. "He can swim very well when the tide is coming in, but when it is going out it is too strong for him, and—he would have been drowned if you had not gone after him," and her eyes dropped.

"Poor little chap," said Yorke, putting on his coat. "That would never had done, would it, doggie?"

"It is a very dangerous place for bathing," said Leslie. "The current is very strong, and that is why I called out."

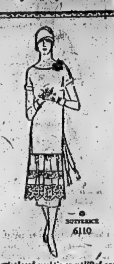
FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sherba



A misplaced necktie or uplifted sash starts from the shoulders, knots half-way to the hem and flutters ahead to the knee of a French apron frock.

CHANEL, the famous French dressmaker, was one of the first to use long, narrow tie-ends from the shoulders in back, but it has proved a very popular fashion especially among the younger Parisiennes. It breaks the long line of the plain back, and half hides any suggestion of curve in the figure. A frock of this type was worn recently at the Longchamps races, made of pale café au lait Georgette, with its gathered apron trimmed with bands of self-colored lace and with brown and nasturtium orange flowers on the shoulder.

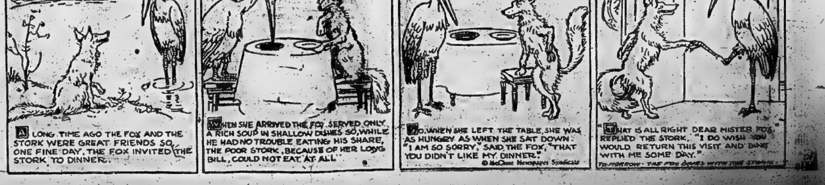
ONCE UPON A TIME — THE FOX AND THE STORK I — by W. J. ENRIGHT.



W. J. ENRIGHT
A LONG TIME AGO THE FOX AND THE STORK WERE GREAT FRIENDS SO, ONE FINE DAY, THE FOX INVITED THE STORK TO DINNER.
WHEN SHE ARRIVED THE FOX SERVED ONLY A RICH SOUP IN SHALLOW DISHES SO, WHILE HE HAD NO TROUBLE EATING HIS SHARE, THE POOR STORK, BECAUSE OF HER LONG BILL, COULD NOT EAT AT ALL.
SO, WHEN SHE LEFT THE TABLE, SHE WAS AS HUNGRY AS WHEN SHE SAT DOWN. "I AM SO SORRY," SAID THE FOX, "THAT YOU DIDN'T LIKE MY DINNER."
"THAT IS ALL RIGHT DEAR MISTER FOX," REPLIED THE STORK. "I DO WISH YOU WOULD RETURN THIS VISIT AND DINE WITH ME SOME DAY."

Betty Compson Shows Weak Sex Stronger

Stars in "The Female" Now At The Belle Theatre

If there are any benighted individuals who are still of the opinion that women are "the weaker sex," we bid them hasten down to the Belle Theatre where "The Female," Betty Compson's latest starring vehicle is now the feature. We guarantee that after they have viewed this Paramount-Sam Wood production they will be willing to admit that they were all wrong.

"The Female" not only successfully proves that the female of the species is decidedly the stronger sex, but it also shows the metamorphosis that love effects when it happens to strike and illiterate, unsophisticated little Boer girl. The photoplay is based upon Cynthia Stockley's vital story, "Dalla, the Lion Cub" and was adapted to the screen by Agnes Christine Johnston.

Betty Compson has the title role of Dalla, the snarling, savage daughter of an African farmer who becomes a polished, cultured woman of the world. It is a part ideally suited to Miss Compson's temperament and she makes the most of the wide dramatic scope that the characterization affords her. Warner Baxter, as the hero, gives a highly creditable performance; Noah Beery does his usual good work; Dorothy Cumming and Freeman Wood are more than acceptable in their respective parts; as are the rest of the supporting cast.

BETTER IN EVERY WAY

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ingomar, N. S.—"I took your medicine for a run-down condition and inward troubles. I had pains in my right side so bad at times that I could not walk any distance. I saw about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and have taken five bottles of it. I am better in every way, and you can use my letter to help other women." — Mrs. Alvita M. Perry, Ingomar, N. S.

Nervous Breakdown Relieved

Toronto, Ontario.—"It is pretty hard to explain your feelings in nervous troubles. I felt low spirited, had pains in my head and eyes, always crying, and did not want to go anywhere. I do knitting and fancy work, and I would get irritable after a few minutes of work. I have been in Canada five years and have been this way ever since I came. I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I sleep better and it seems to make me eat, and I must say I am feeling more jolly. I have great faith in in your medicine because of what it has done for my husband's sister and she recommended it to me." —Mrs. A. Smith, 10 Burleigh Avenue, Todmorden, Toronto, Ontario.

All druggists sell this dependable medicine, and women suffering from these troubles so common to their sex should give it a trial now.

HERE'S "RECIPE" FOR PRETTY GIRL NOW

Hollywood, Cal., June 9.—The mannish, boyish type of beauty which last year reigned favorite has been replaced by the slim, youthful and decidedly feminine creature, it was indicated by a contest in which 500 of the "most beautiful" girls here participated.

An average height of five feet three inches predominated among the 30 most winsome misses who were selected from the 500 candidates for appearance in a forthcoming film production. The weight of this "ideal 1925 girl" is slightly less than 118 pounds. She has gray-blue eyes and hair of golden chestnut color, bobbed of course, shingled in back but not extreme.

This slender representative of the film center's beauty, who has seen only 20 birthdays, measures 26 inches around the waist; her bust is 34 inches and her hips 35. She wears slippers sized four and a half.

GOOD CROP PROSPECTS

Winnipeg, Man. June 9.—Returning to-day from an inspection trip that covered a large portion of the main line and through all the branch lines of the heavy grain growing districts of the Canadian Pacific Railway in western Canada, Mr. Grant Hall, vice-president gave it as his opinion that after many years of such inspections he is satisfied that he has never seen conditions at this time of the year quite so good when the whole west is taken into consideration. "Understand," said Mr. Hill I am not ready to give an estimate of the crop for this year nor am I saying that this will be the largest and best crop ever harvested. I am simply giving my view as conditions appear to me today and taking into consideration other years that I have observed the crop during the first ten days of June.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads, so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

oted Designer Fashions Biscuits as Well as Frocks

ALTHOUGH as yet she has not entered the movies, as well known is Miss Grace Corson to movie fans all over the world through the fashions she designs for Photoplay Magazine of which she is fashion editor, that it is not at all uncommon for her to find in her morning mail letters from such wide apart places as England and Buenos Aires.

Miss Corson, however, in her rise to fame as one of the most successful fashion illustrators and designers has not failed to include in the list of her accomplishments many of the domestic arts. And she is quite as proud of her cookery skill as she is of her artistic achievements.

"Biscuits" was the quick answer of this famous person when asked what she liked to make best. "I learned first how to make good biscuits and they are lots more important as a foundation than fancy pastries." Here is the recipe for the biscuits which Miss Corson makes in the kitchenette of her apartment at the Hotel des Artistes.

rub through grater
2 cups flour
4 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. Crisco
2/3 cup milk

Mix and sift dry materials, rub in the Crisco and cheese, add milk gradually, toss on slightly floured board, roll one-half inch thick, and cut. Place on a baking sheet; and bake in a hot oven 12 to 15 minutes.

Farmers Return From Other Fields

Find Canadian Farms Are Better Than "Green Pastures"

Ottawa, June 4—Like the prodigal son many Canadians who left their country to seek what they hoped would be better prospects in other lands, are returning home. They have learned that the opportunities in Canada are equal and in many cases better than in distant fields.

One of the most interesting cases that has come under the attention of the officers of the Canadian Department of Immigration and Colonization recently is that of Mr. John R. Hiebert, who, with his wife and 13 children, left with a number of other Mennonite families to settle in Mexico nearly three years ago. Both the parents and the 13 children were born in Canada. In 1922 John Hiebert sold his farm of 380 acres at Herbert, Sask., and left for Mexico. He located at Cusi, Chihuahua, Mexico. There he found farming rather a difficult proposition owing to indifferent soil, lack of water, poor markets and other causes. A few weeks ago Mr. Hiebert and his family returned to Canada with very little left of the three thousand dollars in cash they took with them. They are going back to Herbert, Sask., where they intend to take up land again and remain. The Hiebert family is one of 35 Mennonite families that have returned to Canada from Mexico this year.

The Canadian Government Immigration Officer at Detroit gives the details of 25 Canadian families who have returned to take up farms in Canada within the past few weeks, most of them having farmed in different parts of Canada before they sold out and went to the United States where they thought they could do better. The hopeful prospects they expected there did not materialize, and realizing that Canada after all is the best country for them, they are returning to their homeland again.

The Canadian Government Immigration Officer at Fargo, N.D., also reports a number of Canadian families returning recently, among whom is C. F. Koepnick, of Fargo, N.D. Mr. Koepnick went to the MacLeod district of Alberta in 1913, where he prospered as a farmer for eight years. In 1921 he returned to his old home in North Dakota. He has made arrangements to return to Alberta for the reason that he has realized that farming conditions are much beter there than in his old home.

Another case reported by the same officer is that of Julius Thorn, who went to Ogema, Sask., from Binford, N.D. He did exceptionally well there. He decided, however, to return to his native land with the intention of permanently locating there. He has come to the conclusion that Western Canada offers him better opportunities and has consequently come back.

From other officers of the Department of Immigration and Colonization comes further evidence of the homeward movement of new farm settlers from the United States.

Los Angeles, June 7.—Three persons of the film world were separated from their spouses by decrees of the divorce court in one day as follows:

Bootleggers Employ Sick Men as Agents

Plead Immunity From Jail Term Because of Illness

Spokane, Wash., June 6.—The latest strategy of bootleggers of this locality, the civil authorities declare is to hire some person suffering from chronic illness to market their wares. Then when the peddler comes before a court, the plea is made that he has no money and that a jail sentence would mean sure death.

"Within the last three weeks there have been at least four cases of this kind tried before me," declared Police Justice Fred Morrill. "The defendant even had a physician take the witness stand and testify that it might mean death for the accused if he should be compelled to serve time in jail."

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Louis Bunge corroborated the judge's statement. "Bootleggers that I have prosecuted durng the last month have claimed to be the victims of every disease from barber's itch to galloping consumption," he said. "The man who is caught with the liquor in his possession usually is undersized, and pleads for the courts to give him a chance to get out into the country and regain his health."

But the mystifying feature of the situation is that the convicted bootlegger rarely remains in jail more than a few days, even if a heavy fine is imposed, the officers state. The money to pay his fine and effect his liberation always is forthcoming from some source, which they believe to be the employing bootlegger.

BACTERIA IS PROHIBITED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Amendment offered by Poland was adopted placing bacteria with poison gas on list of forbidden war methods. Conference protocol has been returned to committee for re-drafting in order to include bacteria and pending the return of committee's report at general conference is indefinitely adjourned.

Old Spanish Gold Mines Discovered

Century Old Hats, Blankets Found in Good Condition

Yago, Nayarit, Mexico, June 9.—In the famous old Cucaracha (Cockroach) mine, near here recently rediscovered after being hidden for a century and a quarter, miners are bringing up evidences of the Spanish padres who once owned these approaches to rich veins of gold.

One of the discoveries was a large felt hat, in a remarkable state of preservation. It resembles pictures of the headgear worn by Friar Tuck, of nursery fable fame. It has a very broad and floppy brim and was made of a fine grade of thick hair felt, colored brown. Despite its burial for more than 125 years, its fibers still are strong and appear equal to any used in modern hats.

The workmen have found also portions of blankets and garments, showing fine material and weaving. The texture of these articles is far superior to the crude Indian or Mexican weave of the period and this is regarded as certain evidence that the owners were alien conquerors who brought the stuff from Europe.

The padre mine operators were driven out of Mexico about 1812 and never permitted to return. Though the Cockroach mine was well known, its location remained a mystery until, recently, an American mining engineer found it by accident. Legend tells that the retreating Spaniards buried many bars of pure gold and silver in the vicinity of the Cockroach and this tradition adds zest to the work of the miners.

MRS. JESSIE WARD, AGED 44, VISITOR FROM TORONTO, FACES ATTEMPTED MURDER CHARGE

Alleged to Have Slashed Son With Table Knife Here

ON CANNIFTON ROAD

Remanded for Week by Magistrate in Police Court To-day

Mrs. Jessie Ward, aged 44 of Toronto is in custody here as a result of an attack made by her upon her son here after seven o'clock last evening, when she weilded a butcher knife. The youth was not seriously injured. His fingers were cut as were the woman's in the tussle.

The woman was remanded to jail this morning for eight days, and in the meantime Dr. S. Cronk and Dr. J. J. Robertson will examine her.

The woman who was plainly dressed, appeared weak and dazed when she was escorted from the woman's cell room to Magistrate Masson who formally remanded her. She staggered and appeared to be physically weak. Her finger was bandaged where the sharp knife had cut her.

Mrs. Ward who has been in Canada less than six months, having come to Canada from Scotland in January last, came down from Toronto to Belleville Tuesday. Her son John Smith, of Toronto, was visiting his girl friend who lives on the Cannifton Road here, and it is reported that she did not approve of his courtship. Going to the house last evening at seven o'clock, she found her son there with the girl. An argument ensued. The woman is said to have made a rush at the boy with a butcher knife in hand and cut his fingers.

Police department was immediately notified and P.S. Dan T. Boyd with P.C. Arthur Booth hurried to the home in the police car. They arrested the woman and brought her to the station where she was promptly locked up.

Held by Neighbors

Police received the call at 6.55 o'clock and on their arrival at the home of Smith's girl friend, officers found that neighbors were holding the woman in a neighbor's house, John Thrasher who lives at 113 Cannifton road. The knife had been taken from her.

It appears that the woman walked to the girl's home prepared for trouble as she carried the knife with her. It was wrapped in paper and carried in her purse. Arriving at the home of Thomas Bowler, 107 Cannifton Road, where her son John was visiting Miss Jennie Bowler, the woman commenced to hack the shutter door at the front of the house. This door was shut against her so she walked around to the back of the house where she also hacked at the back door. Her son finally opened the door and grabbed the knife cutting his fingers. He then shut the door in her face, while she is alleged to have shouted that she would kill anyone who attempted to take the knife away, and said something about cutting out the heart of the boy.

Witnessed Scene

Emmerson Frederick, 104 Cannifton Road and James Benford, 112 1-2 Cannifton Road witnessed the scene and will be witnesses at the trial.

Mrs. Ward lives at 270 Huron Street, Toronto.

Goodrich acting in the dual capacity of N.G. and V.G. A number of the visitors gave short addresses and Sister H. Everett on behalf of the Belleville members thanked Picton Lodge for their kind welcome and also congratulated Brighton members on the efficient manner they conferred the Degree. Refreshments were served, and a visit paid to the Dance Hall before the members dispersed.

THIS MAN DIED FROM ABHORRENCE OF FOOD

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, June 10.—Six months ago when Herman Glassett, 72 years old, developed a fear of food to the extent that the sight of edibles filled him with horror, doctors in the institution near Goshen, N.Y., where the recluse lived, resorted to artifical feeding. Owing to Glassett's advanced age, however, it was impossible for him to receive sufficient nourishment in this manner and he died.

The cause of death was given as "voluntary starvation due to a dread for food, malnutrition and insanity."

Last Meeting of Old Assembly Held

Non-Concurring Commissioners Formed Continuing Assembly

Toronto, June 10.—Half a century of Presbyterian history was closed yesterday afternoon and another chapter was opened when the Fifty-first General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada was adjourned by the Moderator, Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, and a Continuing Assembly was formed by the non-concurrent Commissioners immediately the benediction had been pronounced. In view of the historic nature of the occasion College Street Church was filled to capacity at this epochal sederunt of the Assembly.

The resolution under which the Assembly stands adjourned was presented by Dr. Leslie Pidgeon and states as follows: "Resolved, that this Assembly be adjourned this afternoon to meet in College Street Presbyterian Church at 9 o'clock on Wednesday, 24th of June, 1925, unless in the meantime its rights, privileges, authorities and powers shall have ceased under section 22A of the United Church of Canada Act, which gives effect to the Union formed by the free and independent action of the negotiating Churches."

Nothing Spectacular

In presenting this resolution Dr. Leslie Pidgeon explained that the peculiar circumstances facing the Commissioners in the adjournment of the Assembly had made this resolution necessary. Throughout the afternoon speculation was rife as to the course that the opponents of Union might pursue when the Assembly finished its agenda, and those who waited in anticipation of something spectacular were disappointed.

Conducting the closing exercises, Dr. Clarence MacKinnon in an eloquent prayer asked for the Divine guidance in the work that lay ahead of them and prayed that the spirit of love and brotherliness might still prevail. The 110th Psalm was then sung by the huge congregation, the benediction pronounced, and with the words from the Moderator, "This General Assembly stands adjourned in terms of the resolution we have passed," the Unionist Presbyterians turned to the task that lie ahead of them as part of the United Church of Canada.

When the Assembly arose some seventy non-concurrent Commissioners remained seated in the west wing of the church. Appointing a Chairman, they immediately elected Dr. D. G. McQueen of Edmonton as Interim Moderator, and with the pronouncement of the benediction adjourned.

CONSERVATIVE CLUB HEARS MRS. KINNEAR

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Conservative Club was held last night at their rooms last evening with the President Mrs. (Dr.) J. W. Kinnear, presiding.

Dr. Baker Makes Appeal to Council

New Albert Credit to City and County, Member Says

At Tuesday afternoon's session Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker addressed the members of the County Council relative to the new Albert College. He detailed the expenses that had been incurred upon the new buildings up to the present time and also what sum was needed to finish the work of erecting the buildings. The speaker made an appeal for the members of the Council to assist in the project.

Dr. E. T. Embury said that Dr. Baker had done well and the new Albert College was a credit to the city and county. It was an educational institution that would mean much to Hastings County. He moved that the matter be referred to the ways and means committee, which motion was adopted.

County's Share

A detailed report was presented from the engineer of the Highway department which showed that the sum of $70,688.72 was the amount due the County of Hastings for 1924 on approved road work.

Warden Wiggins—The amount named has been received.

A communication was read from the department of Highways relative to changes in the road system of the Province.

Warden Wiggins—A map showing changes in the road system of this County will be laid on the table for examination by the members and especially the roads and bridges committee.

Their names have not yet been made available by police.

FIND UNDERGROUND DEFENSE GALLERIES

Gaeta, Italy, June 10.—A series of subterranean galleries, believed to have formed part of the ancient defense works of this seaport—known as the Gibraltar of Italy—was revealed recently when the pavement caved in.

The extent of the discovery has not been determined, but judging from what experts were able to see from the surface the ancient masonry uncovered dates back several centuries, because many of the houses now standing in the immediate vicinity are, themselves, 200 and 300 years old.

SEE NO NEED OF AMBULANCE PLANES

Washington, June 10.—The big scouting planes that do duty with the fleets are ample to take care of aerial medical needs afloat, ranking officers in the navy's bureau of medicine and surgery believe. Consequently the naval air service does not plan the use of ambulance planes, which are contemplated by medical officers of the army air service.

The naval air service, it is pointed out, is sufficiently prepared for present requirements and needs no special equipment.

PROMPT WORK OF TWO MEN SAVES BUILDING

Car Breaks Into Flames Upstairs

USE ELEVATOR

Take Three Minute Ride With Burning Car

Presence of mind of Isaac Stephenson and his assistant Edward Bateman, probably saved Wills and Gribble's garages and motor sale building as well as Stephenson's paint shop with contents of both after eleven o'clock this morning.

A Chevrolet touring car had just been sent up to the Stephenson duco shop on the elevator and had been run off for a paint job. Stephenson and Bateman were working about and had gone downstairs to some work. On their return they found that the car was bursting out into flames, the flames having apparently originated at the instrument board as though caused by a short circuit.

Grabbing an extingusher from the wall the men turned the contents on the machine, and this prompt action made their brilliant work possible. The flames were so nearly squelched that the men were able to shove the car on the elevator. The two men then got into the lift with the burning machine and commenced the slow descent. It takes this freight elevator three minutes to descend the one flight.

"It was the longest elevator ride I ever had," said Mr. Stephenson to The Intelligencer this afternoon.

"When the elevator reached the main floor a crowd of men was there to assist in shoving the car off the elevator and into the yard in front. In the hurry Stephenson was shoved against the wall slightly injuring one of his legs. The car was shoved into the yard and just at that moment the firemen arrived and soon had the hose on the flames which had burst forth again. The soon extinguished the blaze.

"I do not know how we ever managed to get the car on the elevator," said Mr. Stephenson. "It was simply superhuman strength in the excitement. We could not get at the steering whel and had to steer it to the elevator by yanking on the wheels."

The two men rode down on the elevator with the burning car. Had the chemical soluton not become exhausted Stephenson believes he could have extinguished the blaze right on the floor where the car stood.

The machine which is the property of Wills and Gribble was not seriously damaged although the top, upholstering and instrument board are burned.

A seventeen-year-old girl was also fined $100 and costs for a violation of the Venereal Disease Act at the same court. She hailed from Havelock. Provincial Constable N. F. Maker laid both charges.

INJURED ELBOW PLAYING BASEBALL

Murray Hall, 208 George street, injured his left elbow in a soft ball game at the armouries here last evening when a base runner collided with him and shoved the arm back. The arm was X-rayed to-day and it is not yet known whether a bone is fractured or not. Hall was playing soft ball with brother C. C. S. members who usually have a game following drill. He is able to be about to-day but the arm is in a sling.

TO-DAY BRINGS THE BIRTH OF A NEW CHURCH

Church Union is Consummated at Arena at Ten

PRESERVE RIGHTS

Non-Unionists Seek to Preserve Legal Rights

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 10.—A dramatic chapter of Canadian Church History was written during midnight when the old Presbyterian Church passed out of existence to become a part of the United Church and new continuing Presbyterian Church comprising non-unionists, was born.

Both bodies, on the last day of the old Presbyterian church, apparently were seeking to preserve their legal rights. General Assembly under Moderator Dr. Pidgeon, passed a resolution stating that adjournment would be to June 24th unless in the meantime the rights of that body should have ceased under Church Union Act. As this was bound to happen a few hours later, adjournment was purely formal. When the Assembly adjourned, however, non-concurrents remained in their seats, their numbers being sufficient to form a quorum and their aim to continue the existence of the Presbyterian Church without a break.

Although the organ continued to peal forth, continuing commissioners proceeded to appoint an interim moderator, and Rev. Dr. D. G. McQueen was named. They then adjourned to meet in Knox Church at 11.45 p.m. At this hour with a large congregation assembled, the Non Concurrent Commissioners and Interim Moderator arrived and proceeded to reconstitute the Presbyterian Church. So while Unionist-Presbyterians claim that the Presbyterian Church in Canada passed at midnight as a corporate entity into the United Church, Anti-Unionists hold that the continued existence of the Presbyterian Church by virtue of their election of an interim moderator yesterday afternoon and also that the General Assembly of the Church was in legal session at midnight when the Unionist Act came into effect. At 1 o'clock this morning Knox Church meeting adjourned until 10 o'clock. The United Church was officially constituted at a huge meeting in the arena this morning at 10 o'clock.

Mayor Tells Council About Celebration

Hospital is Visited; Grants Are Requested

Mayor W. C. Mikel addressed the County Council this morning relative to the Peace Celebration and Old Boys' Re-union to be held in Belleville during the first week in August. For 110 years the citizens of this country and the country to the south of us have lived together in peace, he said. A deep interest was being taken in the celebration at which many prominent citizens in the United States would be present. His Worship asked the Council to pass a resolution endorsing the celebration and help to make it a success. Let us all cooperate in this important event, said His Worship.

Warden Wiggins informed the Mayor that the County Council would co-operate in th matter.

Col. R. Vanderwater after endorsing what Mayor Mikel had said, moved seconded by Mr. G. B. Airhart that the County Council of Hastings cooperate with the City of Belleville in the peace celebration and do all in our power to make it a success.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Warden Wiggins in referring to the proposed changes in the County road system said it was necessary to have some additions made to the map which had been prepared. For the tourists going to Wesley McCoomb Lake a good road has to be maintained as many from Belleville and other places have camps on the lake shore.

The matter will be considered by the bridge and roads committee.

Asked For Grant

Mr. Ray Atkins of Stirling, agricultural representative in the County, wrote the Council asking for a grant of $300 to assist in a County exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibit at Toronto.

Warden Wiggins said the grant was not large and it would no doubt be of great benefit to the County in general.

Col. R. Vanderwater as Chairman of the industrial committtee, stated he had not had an opportunity of conversing with Mr. Atkins in reference to the matter.

The request for a grant was referred to the ways and means committee.

James Gordinear, a County Constable in Marmora Township, asked for a uniform and firearms. He was advised that the County would not provide them.

Mr. S. B. Rollins moved, seconded by Mr. E. C. Metcalfe, that the petition from the Board of Trade from the village of Tweed re changes on certain approved County roads be placed on the table for future reference.—Carried.

PUSHED LITTLE BABE OF FIVE FROM HALIFAX

And Father and Mother Hope to Reach Vancouver

NOT AT ALL PLEASED

Two ardent peripatetics arrived in Belleville last night about ten o'clock, having come afoot from St. Johns, N. S. They were pushing a go-cart, laden with a husky five-year-old girl.

The Intelligencer met the party about four miles from town on the Kingston highway around 9.15. They gave their names as Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bedgood, and daughter, Tessie, of Halifax.

Harold averred that they were walking to Vancouver, B.C. at the rate of twenty miles a day and that they had covered twenty-four miles Tuesday.

The sight of a couple in their thirties pushing their progeny along a dark road, with a few thousand miles yet to go was one to excite comment.

It developed that the undomitable trio were doing the stunt on a $4,000 bet, and that with admirable accuracy they planned to arrive in Vancouver at high noon, January 15th, 1926.

Furthermore Harold assumed that the G.W.V.A. would act as host to the three, and that the Mayor was waiting up for them.

Somewhat Peeved

Mr. and Mrs. Bedgood were plainly piqued at the smallness of the advance reception committee, and intimated that the usual program along the route had included a brass band with the Mayor on the speakers platform.

Having ascertained that there were no funds in the trio, and realising the irritation of the wanderers, those who met the party went ahead to apprise A. E. Baldwin of the G.W.V.A. of the advance of the uninvited visitors.

There are no provisions for housing women at the canteen, so a call was sent out for Mayor Mikel in the emergency. Attempts to reach the Mayor were futile. When the road pounders arrived, at the canteen, they were met by Detective Truaisch who gave them the option of going to jail as vagrants, or proceeding on their way. This was done because their predicament was self imposed and because they were unable to impress Mr. Baldwin of any recent connection with the G.W.V.A.

The rage of Mrs. Bedgood was such as to nearly wreck the Canteen. The weary voyagers were housed in the rooms of a member of the street cleaning department, who heard the story.

At one o'clock this afternoon the indigent and hot tempered disciples of Aristotle pointed the wheels of their go-cart down the Toronto Highway and resumed their long trek.

CHURCH POWER EVIDENT

With the thermometer hovering at 91 degrees Sunday, Bridge street Methodist church was so crowded that many were disappointed by being unable to gain admission and hear the excellent ordination sermon delivered by Rev. Dr. S. P. Rose of Montreal, fearless and learned speaker.

It must have been manifest to every thinking person present that there was an unmistakeable evidence of power and enthusiasm which should encourage and thrill Canadians. The reason is not that it happened to be an extremely happy day in the Methodist church, for a similar demonstration of faithful devotion in any church would provide similar encouragement. The reason is that in the conference church Sunday there was an undoubted air of confidence in christianity and its furtherance. There was an ever present assurance that the curses which always have and always will follow in the wake of war, are not permanent and, that the length of their undesirable lives vary directly with the sweep of christianity. Canada is secure and will continue to increase her honor in the eyes of the world.

At the morning service a successful young man was ordained as a minister. At the evening service a deaconess was set apart, and she too will go out in the world to do her share of good. And so it goes.

Ministers present, and there were many, could not but profit from the inspiring words which Dr. Rose burned home to every heart. They should all be better for having heard the Ordination sermon and should have been convinced as everyone was, that "right will prevail."

INTELLIGENCE

The British Minister of Agriculture disputes the belief entertained in some quarters that persons living in the city are more intelligent than rural dwellers. Speaking before an agricultural group the minister said:

"I want to combat a delusion of the city and town folks that the country child, man or woman is less clever and intelligent than his brothers and sisters in the congested districts. The truth is that agriculture and the things associated with it demand a greater measure of intelligence, enterprise and grip than the work done by the thousands of towns men."

City cousins will probably accuse the British agricultural minister of sycophancy, but that self-same minister has already detected a superiority complex in the city cousin. Both may be right and both may be wrong, but the impartial and unprejudiced will find that there is as much intelligence and brain-power represented in the city as in the country and vice versa.

Success in the city requires mental effort. Success on the farm requires mental effort. The more the city worker and farmer "use their head" the more both will prosper. The only question that remains whether the average farmer gives more or less thought to his business than the city worker to his.

Drawing a distinction between intelligence and knowledge, in the sense that intelligence is the ability to think and knowledge is a stock of information, it is obvious that the city dweller has many advantages over the rural resident in obtaining knowledge, but it is equally obvious that a man can learn to think, or to acquire intelligence, as easily in the country as in the city.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

The terrible row that the cowbird kicked up by her disregard of the convention of polite society, made me take a little interest in her doings and I must tell a little more about another mean trick she played.

First of all, I learned that the cowbird is a small blackbird, a relative of the highway robbers known as purple grackles or common blackbirds They are an ill mannered lot, these blackbirds and the cowbird runs true to form.

The male cowbird had a glossy black or metallic head and neck, is generally like a blackbird but has a short, powerful, sparrow-like beak. The female is the same size but duller in colour, almost a sparrow colour.

Well, I went after experiences with cowbirds, and finally managed to locate a nest of a chipping sparrow, in which a cowbird had deposited her egg beside two others of the chippie.

What a pity. The chippie is such a sweet little bird, works so hard for us too, in keeping down insect pets, and here would be a wrecked home, or some sort of a muddle.

I visited the nest almost every day. The chipple eggs hatched on the following day. At any rate, the young cowbird was much bigger and it seems to have an uncanny habit of hatching out ahead of or with the other eggs, regardless of time handicap, so that the young one, being bigger, as a rule, than the others managed to get most of the food. It grew faster than the little chippies and eventually the family was reduced to only one young chippie and the young cowbird.

I watched the young cowbird after the nest was vacated, and it was curious to see the chipping sparrows trying to fill it with food. The tiny foster parents, working so hard for a baby three times their size.

The cow bird is a cousin to the English Coo-Coo, which plays the same trick, but the cowbird is not so clever. A coo-coo will specialize on one kind of bird, study its egg, and make eggs marked exactly the same. It is hard to believe that I have seen several examples.

A HEALTHIER AGE

So far no bad effects due to modern habits can be traced in the present generation, for, according to Dr. Harvey, McGill's medical officer, who is in charge of the health of the students, to-day they are in a healthier state than they were 20 years ago. This is very interesting for it not only shows that medical science and modes of living are bringing about a healthier and more athletic generation but also that the youth of to-day is really stronger and more physically fit than ever before. There are over 80 per cent. of McGills' students are placed in category "A", that is they were found fit for every form of exercise, which is certainly a splendid showing.

MR. KING'S RESPONSIBILITY

(Winnipeg Tribune)

With only two railway systems and one of these owned by the government, Canada has an unexcelled opportunity to bring railway services down to a minimum actually required. That we are not doing it; that superfluous services, overlapping and "frills" are still so much in evidence is really Mr. King's responsibility. Even to bring the railways back to a war-time basis would save many millions of dollars, and the advantages to the country would be enormous.

IN FAIRNESS TO SOLDIER

(Ottawa Citizen)

On the motion of Senator Greisbach, the senate has appointed a committee to investigate payments from the canteen fund and disablement fund to organizations of returned soldiers. . . . The senate's treatment of soldier organizations in the past has been anything but fair. A judicial inquiry into the administration of the Great War Veterans' Association of ex-soldiers, cannot but add to the laurels of the men who have served the ex-soldiers' cause faithfully since the end of the war.

THE DEEP WATER CANAL

(Detroit News)

Potentially, the waterway is the world's greatest commercial water highway. It would touch the very ports of those who have fought its completion, enabling them to tap directly their greatest sales field, the middle west, and to obtain those utter necessities of life which the middle west alone provides, over a route subject to none of the expensive and disastrous delays which are inseparable from rail transportation. The movement is on to open the Great Lakes to the big carriers of the sea.

AN EXPENSIVE BUSINESS

(St. Catharines Standard)

The resignation of Hon. E. J. McMurray from the King cabinet, as solicitor-general, has brought forth serious suggestions in the press that the position in quqestion, which is regarded as only a sinecure, should be abolished. It would save the Dominion treasury $10,000 a year in salary, and would reduce the number of cabinet ministers from 17 to 16. Canada has a more expensive cabinet than has the United States, and reduction would be in the right direction. Just how much of a sinecure the position of solicitor-general is may be gleaned from a debate when the opposition was criticising the expenditure on a new office sofa for the incumbent a few years ago. One member caustically remarked that certainly the solicitor-general should have a change of sofas on which to sleep. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen once held the position, but there are few men as industrious as the Conservative leader, and he was an outstanding exception of uselessness in holding down the solicitor-generalship. Canada pays 17 cabinet ministers $10,000 a year, in addition to $4,000 sessional indemnity. The prime minister receives $15,000, plus $4,000 per session. It is an expensive business, being over-governed in Canada, and a serious effort to cut down would receive popular acclaim throughout the Dominion.

To-day's Smile

Today Church Union was consumated and a story heard recently is brought to mind.

An old Scotsman was in an argument over church union. He was born a Presbyterian he reminded, always was a Presbyterian, always would be one and would die a Presbyterian.

Thirty Years Ago

The Ramblers Wheel Club of Belleville won the Intelligencer bicycle relay race this morning and defeated the Kingston Bicycle Club by covering the ninety-eight mile round trip course between Belleville and Kingston in 5 hours, 17 minutes and 15 seconds, finishing with a lead of 12 minutes and 45 seconds over the Kingstonites.

The route for the Belleville team was to Kingston and return; for the Kingston team, Belleville and return. The race started from each city at precisely 5 a.m.

Despite the hour, Bert Cummings, the starting man for Belleville, was cheered by a considerable crowd as he sped away from the front of the Hotel Quinte, bearing a message from Mayor Walmsley to Mayor Wright of Kingston.

The crowd at once moved to the Great North Western Telegraph office where arrangements had been made for frequent reports from the riders.

The Belleville team had the Mayor's message in the hands of Mayor Wright, and had received the answer by 7.35. The Kingston rider arrived in Belleville t 7.47. The mesage from Kingston's Mayor, which the rider was supposed to carry, had been lost in transit, it was discovered when he attempted to deliver it here. This had no effect on the race, however.

The Intelligencer banner for the winner will be presented to the Ramblers. These are the men who brought the trophy home: B. Cummings, H. O. Powell, P. D. Sprung, J. Frost, E. Ashley, J. McGuire, L. C. Lockett and W. Kennedy.

(Editor's note: The banner referred to in this condensation from the files of thirty years ago, is on display in the North window of the Intelligencer today.

It was loaned for this purpose by Hope McGinnis, who has preserved it intact since the day it was awarded.)

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

Try Denmark

I cannot say too often to this jaded world crying out for something new and not too expensive— try Denmark. "But I don't speak Danish!" Neither does the writer; all he can say is that getting about Denmark is like shelling peas, for almost everyone there does two things; one, speaks a bit of English, and the other, rides a bicycle. And, by the way, if you want to offer an insult to any little Danish boy (or girl) of seven years of age, ask him if he can ride a bicycle.

There are no old hens in Denmark. This is a fact. You never get a tough chicken at the table. Why? Because the Danes have learned that chickens are most profitable the first year. After that they are killed to make room for others.

If you want to leave America for a month, try Denmark, with its people akin to our own, with its clean and unspoiled towns and villages, with its heather-clad hills, and its gardens floating on inland seas.

Doing Bruges In Four Days

To "do" Bruges properly, that is to say, to see all its churches, museums, monuments, old buildings, public places and so on, at least four days are necessary. This is, of course, allowing only just the time needed for a mere glance at the scores of wonderful paintings by Jean Van Eyck, Lancelot Blondeel, Memline, Pierre Pourbus, and Gerard David, to mention only a few.

There is only one way to get a real idea of the architecture of the city and that is to take a trip along its sleepy canals. There is, it is true, no Bridge of Sighs, but there are the Bridge of the Blind Ass, the Donkeys' Bridge, and the Lake of Love or Minnewater.

No mention of Bruges would be complete without a word or two devoted to the concerts which ring out over the town during the summer from its carillon. The carilloneur, perched high up in the belfry, gets some wonderful music out of the 47 bells he manipulates, of which the Bourdon, or Triumph Bell, is the biggest.

Should you care to climb to the top of the belfry—there are 402 steps—you will find your labour has not been in vain for you will discover a great part of Belgium unrolled before you and Ostend, Ghent and Courtrai may be picked out with ease.

LOW COST FOUR-WEEK TOUR

Through Western Canada To The Pacific Coast, Yellowstone Park, Salt Lake City and Rocky Mountain National Park

A never-to-be-forgotten four week tour of Western Canada and the Pacific Coast with a trip through the United States on the return journey has been planned for Canadian teachers and their friends this summer, leaving Toronto by Canadian National Railways on July 9th.

The trip is simply crammed with scenic and historic wonders. A visit to Wainwright Park, Alberta, where the largest herd of Buffalo in the world is located. Two days are spent at Jasper National Park, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, where the beauty of the mountain scenery is indescribable. From Jasper Park westward the party passes snow-capped Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, and stops at the Indian village of Kitwanga, with its wonderful historic totem poles. Then westward again, following the mystic Skeena River, to Prince Rupert, the North Pacific terminal of the Canadian National Railways.

At Prince Rupert a palatial steamer is boarded for the 750 mile trip through the Sheltered Scenic Seas of the North Pacific to Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. This is recognised as one of the finest sea trips in the world.

On the journey homeward a 72-mile motor drive will be taken from Portland Oregon, over the famous scenic Columbia River Highway, and five days will be taken for a motor tour of Yellowstone National Park. Then follows a visit to Salt Lake City, Utah, with a three-day motor tour of Rocky Mountain National Park of Colorado. Enroute to Denver short stops will be made at Clear Creek Canyon, Idaho Springs and Lookout Mountain—where Buffalo Bill is buried. Chicago is reached on August 6th and Toronto, August 7th.

In spite of the magnitude of the tour the fare is remarkably reasonable and as the leaving date is July 9th, arrangements should be made at once. Reservations and illustrated booklets with full information regarding the trip can be secured from A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorn Ave., Toronto, Martin Kerr, 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, or any Canadian National Railways Agent.

He retired to his room some time during the evening, but apparently was unable to undress for bed, and fell upon the bed in an unconscious condition, where he remained until a younger brother, occupying another bed in the same room, happened to be aroused, detected the unusually heavy breathing by his brother, and sought to awaken him, but failing, called his parents. Dr. Kaiser was summoned, and after careful diagnosis determined that the young man succumbed to heat and exhaustion.

Husband Causes Arrest of Wife

Spouse Was Seeking Divorce at Reno; Had Small Child

Toronto, June 10.—Mrs. Hilda Betty Cooke, for whose arrest in the United States a reward of $200 was offered by her husband, J. Henry Cooke, has been taken into custody by P. J. Farrelley, a U.S. immigration inspector, at Reno, Nevada, on a warrant issued by the Department of Labor.

Mrs. Cooke arrived in Reno with her 4-year-old daughter, Shirley, about five months ago, and has been in consultation with an attorney here relative to a prospective divorce. She was located Sunday at her apartment, where she has been living with her mother, by the United States Immigration Officers.

Habeas Corpus

Thereafter M. J. Scanlan, an attorney, filed an application in the State Courts for a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that she was being illegally detained. Subsequently the United States authorities here at the request of Farrelley, caused to be arrested M. J. Scanlan, an attorney, and Capt. James Fife, of the Reno Police Department, on a charge of attempting to rescue Mrs. Cooke from the custody of the immigration Inspector.

It was Fife who served the writ upon the immigration inspector. Mrs. Cooke states that her trouble grew out of an atempt on the part of her husband to gain custody of their 4-year-old daughter. She denies that the Ontario Court had entered an order giving the child into the custody of her father until after she left the jurisdiction of that court, and she says she will fight for right to her child in the courts of Reno as well as for a divorce.

HOPE ABANDONED FOR JIMMIE McCOY

Port Huron, Mich., June 10.—Hope was virtually abandoned yesterday for Jimmie McCoy thirteen-year-old Harbor Beach lad whom his father cast adrift from a sinking rowboat Sunday in the belief he could reach shore and send aid to three other occupants of the small craft. The boy's father, who with two other children, later was rescued from the stranded rowboat, still is clinging to the faint hope that a passing steamer, unequipped with wireless, may have picked up the boy. All Canadian points on the lake are on the lookout for some sign of the boy.

DRINK 2,000,000 BOTTLES 4.4 DAY

Toronto, June 10.—Toronto on hot Saturday drank from 40,000 to 50,000 gallons of the new Nickle drink for a dime, brewers estimate. Ontario is consuming from 75,000 to 100,000 cases per day, of 24 bottles per case, equal to a couple of million bottles.

It's good for the Government, good for the farmer, good for business, good for the drinker, good for everyone, says the brewers, and while one of them states that the 4.4 will satisfy the demands of a thirsty public for a snappy hop drink, another big executive looks on it differently. As to 4.4 being replaced with something huskier, he says "we are hopeful." In part he bases his idea on the fact that Government expects to make a revenue of $3,000,000 per annum out of beer at ten cents per gallon tax, which would indicate a consumption on the part of the public never reached in sale of real beer in pre-prohibition days. Disappointed at small revenue, Government will increase the strength and so then everyone will drink beer and great riches will flow into the treasury at Queen's Park.

Peculiar Death Being Investigated

German Maid in Welland May Have Caused Jealousy?

Welland, Ont., June 10.—Inquest into the death of Martha Winkleman, 20-year-old German girl, who died under peculiar circumstances last Thursday evening at the home of her employers, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Snyder, Humberstone Township, brought out some startling evidence yesterday afternoon. It was shown that the girl was in cheery spirits a 6-10 and was dead from poisoning at 6.30. It also transpired that the presence of the girl in the home caused friction between husband and wife. One witness stated: "It was a case of jealousy" with Mrs. Snyder.

Asked if she remarked to Dr. Workman, when he was attending the girl as she was writhing in the agonies of convulsions before passing away, "that it would be an act of God to take her away," Mrs. Snyder declared: "Oh, no; I don't remember saying that."

Evidence was given by Pastor Toowe, of the Lutheran Church, that on several occasions he had been called in by Mrs. Snyder to try and make peace in the home, who also expressed her desire that the girl should leave for the sake of peace. Mrs. Snyder denied that the girl's presence resulted in family quarreling, and claimed that the girl desired to leave, "not because I wanted her to go," Snyder, who is 63 years of age, denied that there was any reason for his wife being jealous.

As the intestines had been forwarded for anaylsis, the exact cause of death will not be known until the next hearing, which has been set for June 18.

Coroner MacKenzie presided, T. D. Cowper, K.C., appearing for the Crown.

CHINAMAN FOUND SMOKING OPIUM

A real Chinese story was that unfolded when four Chinamen, John Bing, John Jung, John Lew and John Jen appeared before Magistrate Browne on a joint charge of having opium in possession. There were the usual sinister facts and incidents which invariably combine to fascinate lovers of Oriental life. At 4.30 on the morning of May 25, Sergt. Raney and his men cautiously approached 36 Rose ave., a laundry owned by John Bing, the old man of the party.

They loked through a door and saw the old man lying on a couch enjoying his pipe. A lamp, an evil-smelling oil lamp, burned steadily in the room and "pills" were being rolled for smoking. Flopped on the same bed was Lem. When the police officers entered the old man emerged from the realms of Poppyland and made a grotesque effort to push Sergt. Raney out of the clouds. Raney was not so easily shifted and search of the room revealed two small bottles of opium. Lem was not smoking, although his counsel, Austin Ross, suggested that he might have been seeing the pictures in old Bing's Art Gallery. Lem is a taxi driver, or has been for race weeks.

Miners Give Exhibit Of Life-saving

Eighty Teams of Six Men Each Will Compete

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—Ninety judges will be required in determining the standing of teams entered in the International Mine Rescue First Aid contests, to be held here Sept. 10-12.

Eighty teams of six men each, including champion teams from many states, have indicated their intention of competing. Thomas T. Read of Washington, Safety Service Director of the Federal Bureau of Mines, said state champion teams would come from Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Alabama, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Montana, Washington, Utah, Idaho and Louisiana. It is also likely that Mexico will send a team.

The mine rescue teams will prove a country-wide attraction. A temporary gallery to represent a mine will be erected next to the state arsenal and will be filled with a gaseous mixture of formaldehyde and sulphur. To prevent any sectionalism influencing the judges the teams will be known by number only. Awards will be made at a banquet. It is planned to take all the contestants on a trip to Lincoln's tomb.

ARRANGING DESIGN FOR CANADIAN FLAG

Ottawa, June 10.—Falling in line with Australia and New Zealand, Canada is to have a new flag which will be recognized as the flag of the Dominion. The Government has passed an Order-in-Council appointing a committee to consider and report on the most suitable designs for a Canadian national flag for use ashore.

A distinctive Canadian flag has so far been authorized for use only by Canadian Government-owned vessels and by other vessels of Canadian registry. In the former case the flag is the blue ensign with the Canadian Arms in the fly, while merchant vessels of Canadian registry use the red ensign with the Canadian Arms in the fly.

At present, under an Order-in-Council passed some years ago, the red ensign with the Canadian Arms in the fly is flown over the office of the Canadian High Commissioner in London, as well as over other Canadian offices abroad, but the flag has never been authorised.

The committee has three suggestions before it at present. The first is to continue the use of the red ensign with the Canadian Arms as Canada's national flag. The second is to use the Union Jack with the Canadian Arms in the centre. The third is to adopt an entirely new design.

S. F. Randall has been appointed market clerk in St. Catharines.

ONE PRISONER GETS AN ESCAPED MATE

St. Thomas, Ont., June 10.—A unique method was employed by Governor Luton of the Elgin County Jail to recapture an escaped prisoner yesterday. While the Governor's attention was drawn to some other business an Englishman, named Bell, who some time ago tried to commit suicide near Kingsmill, and who is awaiting deportation, made a break for his liberty. The turnkey was absent at the time, and Governor sent a fellow-prisoner, who is serving a sentence for an offence against the Ontario Temperance Act, after the fleeing man. The police were notified of the escape by telephone, but when they arrived at the jail the prisoner despatched by the Governor had returned with the escaped man, capturing him in a nearby ravine about half an hour after breaking jail.

for the best answer to this Question

$1,000. for the First Prize

When do You enjoy Coca-Cola most?

And 202 other cash prizes—$300 for the Second best answer—$200 for the Third best answer—200 prizes of $5.00 each for the 200 next best answers

Open to everybody in the Dominion

This contest is open to everybody in the Dominion of Canada—from schoolboys and girls old enough to write, to grandparents.

But no answers from other countries will be considered.

Everybody will be talking about this contest.

One reason is that this advertisement is published today in cities and towns all over Canada—from Nova Scotia to Vancouver Island.

There will be many contestants—and these will make it the more interesting.

But there are many cash prizes—203 in all—and the question is a simple one and is easy to answer.

The Reasons for this Contest are very interesting

We cannot improve Coca-Cola. Its taste and thirst-quenching qualities have long been perfected. Also with care and skill, we have perfected the methods of preparing it—safeguarding at every step its purity and goodness.

But we might be able to improve the service by which it is made available to you—and that's why we ask the question, "When do you enjoy Coca-Cola most?"

This contest is Dominion-wide because the popularity of Coca-Cola extends from coast to coast. With this great popularity of Coca-Cola, The Coca-Cola Company of Canada, Ltd., is anxious to get as much information as possible on the most popular methods of distribution.

When—at what places—at what times—under what circumstances—do you enjoy Coca-Cola most?

Hence—$2,500.00 in cash prizes is offered for the best answers.

The beverage that's enjoyed from Nova Scotia to Vancouver Island

You'll understand our interest in the answers when you grasp the dimensions of the Coca-Cola organization.

In order to adequately supply the demand, four Coca-Cola syrup factories have been built—in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Modern bottling plants have been established in these four cities and in fifteen others—Quebec, Ottawa, Kingston, Belleville, Peterboro, Hamilton, London, Windsor, Port Arthur, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge.

And there are 50 independent bottlers in other cities who bottle Coca-Cola under a license from this Company.

Coca-Cola is served everywhere—by more than 20,000 retailers—at soda fountains, refreshment stands, in clubs, hotels, restaurants, grocery stores and dozens of other places.

Of course we're anxious to know what service is most appealing to our customers—the millions of Canada.

What is Coca-Cola?

It is a blend of pure products from nature—with nothing artificial in it—best described as "delicious and refreshing". Prepared in clean, modern plants, by the most scientific methods, it is absolutely pure and wholesome.

And here's the biggest fact of all: Its wide distribution and huge volume make possible the giving of a beverage of the highest possible quality for only a few cents.

A wonderful opportunity to earn one of the 203 Cash Prizes—perhaps $1000

"When do you enjoy Coca-Cola most?" Simple, sincere answers are the kinds wanted.

You can write your answer in three words or 300—the shorter the better.

Mail your answer to:

South America to Be Coming Market

United States Senator Brings Back Interesting Observation

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, June 10.—Great agricultural development in South America is foreseen by Senator Jones of Washington, chairman of the Senate commerce committee, who is just back from Brazil, the Argentine, Chile and Uruguay.

Senator Jones thinks it is but a question of a short time until the amount of wheat and other grains raised in South America is much increased, not to mention other agricultural products. He believes the United States farmer cannot afford to overlook the extent of possible competition from the direction of South America.

A formidable competitor for the grain markets of Europe as against the United States and Canada is almost inevitably to be built up in South America according to the tendencies of things in that part of the world as described by Senator Jones.

The Washington Senator looks for great development of wheat and agriculture in general in Argentina in the near future. The great ranches, he holds, will be gradually broken up and this will mean many small farms and more intensive farming. He sees in the situation, however, no reason for the United States holding aloof from South America. On the other hand, he believes everything should be done to develop trade and good relations, in the belief the effects will be helpful all round.

Latex-treated Web Cord Means More Mileage

IN Dominion Royal Cord Tires, mileage is not limited by friction in the cords.

In Dominion Royal Cords the causes of internal friction are entirely removed by latex-treated web cord. That is why Dominion Royal Cords actually can, and do give more mileage.

Perfect insulation of every fibre of every cord is assured by saturation with rubber in its pure, natural liquid form (latex).

Absolute regularity of every cord is made possible by the elimination of cross-tie threads. After saturation the cords unite to form a perfectly flat even web. Every cord lies uniformly, bears even strains. No friction. No heat!

Dominion Royal Cords alone, in Canada, are made by this process which ensures greater mileage at no additional cost.

CHICAGO MARKETS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, June 10.—With active buying on the part of commission houses and with but little pressure to sell, wheat prices scored a material advance today in early dealings. One of the chief factors was statement by trade authority here that United States this season would raise only sufficient wheat for domestic use. Opening which ranged from 5-8 cents decline to 1-8 cent advance was followed by rise that carried July to 107 1-8 and September to 163 3-4, corn and oats rose with wheat and as a result of unfavorable crop reports concerning oats. After opening at 5-8 cent off to 1-8 cent gain corn market advanced all around September going to 116 1-4, oats started 1-2 cent lower to 1-4 cent higher. Later there was sharp general upturn and September touched 55 3-8.

Monster Tuna Taken in Canadian Waters

As a writer of stirring tales of the Border and the mid-western states in the early days, Zane Grey has made an enviable record for himself, but now along he comes with another—a fish story—and better still, presents the proof in photograph, so that his yarn does not take on the semblance of a dream or a good bit of story-telling.

Tuna, weighing nearly half a ton, are the reward of ambitious anglers who fish in Nova Scotian waters, particularly in St. Ann's Bay, off Cape Breton. Three mammoth tuna have been taken from this locality, each holding the world's record in turn. Captain Laurie D. Mitchell's 710 pound tuna held a record for a number of years, till along came J. K. L. Ross of Montreal, well known as an owner of racing horses, director of the Canadian Pacific Railway and his skill as a fisherman. He landed a tuna after a 3½ hours' fight, that measured 9 ft. and 2 in. in length, and 6 ft. in girth, and tipped the scales at 712 lbs. thus winning the honour of record tuna fishing from Captain Mitchel by 2 lbs.

His record seemed secure, when along in August, 1924, came Zane Grey and his brother, R. C. Grey, eager to catch big tuna. They used a Nova Scotian-built schooner, a staunch little craft admirably adapted to their plans and needs. They got three tuna, weighing respectively: 633, 684, and then as a climax, the biggest tuna ever landed, weighing 758 pounds. Had they gone in for anything larger, it would have required a C. P. R. freight car to haul it to the cannery at St. Andrews. The time taken to land the first was 6 hours and 10 minutes, for the second, 38 min. which was caught by R. C. Grey, and 3 hours and 10 min. were spent to conquer the record breaker with which Zane Grey is said to have wrested the palm from the C.P.R. director and won the title of champion tuna fisherman.

Other big fish of various species taken in various Canadian waters, include a record pike caught in Big Lac Nominingue in the Laurentians of Quebec, weighing 58 lbs.; a 38½ lb. muskellunge caught in 1924 in French River, Ontario, by Samuel W. Franklin of New York City; the world's record speckled trout, weighing 14½ lbs., taken from Nipigon River by Dr. J. W. Cook of Fort William; and a great Northern pike, 4 ft. long with a weight of 21 lbs. which gave Harold Sweester of New York a 45 minute fight on the Nipigon.

Canada's infinitude of rivers and lakes are filled with a vast wealth of fish, many of them of record measurements and weight. The foregoing are sportsmen's records.

Stove Explodes And Two Are Dead

Wash Day Preparations Have Bad Re-Results

Haileybury, Ont., June 10.— Omer Gagnon, 11 years of age, and Anna Gagnon, six years old, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gagnon, Macella Street, died in the Red Cross Hospital here yesterday afternoon from burns received when fire, caused by the explosion of a coal oil stove, gutted their home early today. The parents are both in hospital, and Mrs. Gagnon is reported to night to be in a serious condition. Two younger children and the maid escaped injury.

Mrs. Gagnon had risen about 5.30 and set a boiler on the stove to prepare for washing clothes. At the same time the maid, who is said to have had little experience of oil stoves, removed one of the rings and placed a small kettle in the aperture and resting on the top of the chimney. The girl went back to dress and Mrs. Gagnon returned to bed, but re-entered the kitchen when her attention was attracted to the smoke issuing from the stove.

As the woman approached the stove an explosion occurred and her hair and nightdress caught fire. She ran screaming outdoors, followed by the maid, and their cries aroused Mr. Gagnon. The flames which followed the explosion were spreading over the house, and exit by the door was cut off, so Mr. Gagnon dropped the two younger children through the bedroom window on to the grass below. They were not hurt, but the older boy and girl sustained severe burns before they too were outside. The father then followed. Neighbors rushed the injured members of the family to the hospital.

EXPECT BIG SUGAR CROPS

Manila, June 10.—A sugar production record for the Philippine Islands was established by the Pampanga Sugar Mills at Del Carmen during March, when 89,920 tons of cane were crushed and 9,810 tons of sugar milled.

Throughout the sugar area increased production is expected, according to Wenceslao Trinidad, general manager of the Philippine National Bank, who has just returned from an inspection of the five sugar centrals which the bank controls in the province of Negros. He said the industry's future was bright.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

The tie collar, the straight lower edge for borders, and two tiny plaits above the hip, in back, mark the latest version of the sheath frock.

Many of the new borders and crosswise prints are wide enough to cut a frock from shoulder to lower edge. The border both trims and finishes the lower part so that one doesn't even have to turn up a hem. When your underarm and shoulder seams are stitched and finished, your neck and sleeve edges bound, your frock is entirely done except for sewing on the buttons that hold the tiny plaits in back. These plaits come above the hip and give a little ease just where most women need it.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

"Yes, thanks," he said, to spare her the embarrassment of explaining that sudden frightened cry of hers. "I could feel that. But I have to thank Dick for an enjoyable bath, all the same I suppose he will never forgive me; the person whose life you save never does.

He sat down on the breakwater and began to empty his pockets. There were several papers—bills—reduced to semi-pulp; Yorke did not sorrow over them. His watch had stopped; his cigars and cigar case were irretrievably ruined: He held them up with a laugh, and laid them on top of the breakwater in the sun then sudenly his happy-go-lucky expression grew rather grave as he took up an envelope and looked at it.

"By George!" he said. "All the rest doesn't matter, but this doesn't belong to me."

Leslie stood and looked down at him anxiously. She was thinking of colds and rheumatism, while the young fellow sat so perfectly contented in his wet clothes.

"Don't you think—had you not better go home and change your things as quickly as possible?" she said, forgetting her shyness in her anxiety.

He looked up from the envelope.

"Why I shall be dry in ten minutes," he said, carelessly, "and I sha'n't take any harm if I'm not. I never caught cold in my life; besides, salt water never hurts."

Leslie shook her head gravely.

"I don't believe that; it's a fallacy," she said. "Some of the fishermen here suffer terribly from rheumatism."

"That's because they're old, you see," he said, smiling up at her. "And if you think it's so dangerous hadn't you better put Master Dick down? He is making you awfully wet."

She shook her head and held Dick all the more tightly.

"I am so glad to get him back," she said, half to herself, "that I don't mind his making me a little damp; but I do wish you would go."

He did not seem to hear her, but after another glance at the letter, said.

"I picked this up just over there," and he nodded in the direction of the cliffs, "and I should like to find its owner; though I expect she won't thank me much when she sees its condition. Have you been here long? Do you know the people here pretty well?"

"We have been here some months," said Leslie," and—yes, I think I know them all."

"Now, who does she mean by 'we'? Her husband?" Yorke asked himself and an uncomfortable little pain shot through him. "No!" he assured himself; "she can't be married; too young and—too happy looking! Well, then, perhaps you know a young lady by the name of Lisle—Leslie Lisle," he said.

Leslie smiled.

"That is my name; it is I," she replied.

"By George!" he exclaimed. "Then this is your property!" and he held out the letter.

Leslie took it and as she looked at the address, flushed hotly. It was Ralph Duncombe's missing letter.

Yorke noticed the flush and he looked aside.

"My father dropped it," she said, with an embarrassment which, slight as it was, did not escape him. "Thank you."

"I'm sorry that I didn't put it in my coat pocket instead of my waistcoat," he said. "But I knew if I did that I should forget it perhaps for weeks. I always forget letters that fellows ask me to post. So I put it in with my watch, that I might come across it when I looked at the time and so it's got wet; but as it was opened you have read it, so that I hope it doesn't matter so much."

"No, I haven't read it. Papa always opens my letters—he doesn't notice the difference. It does not matter in the least; I know what was in it, thank you," she said, hurriedly.

"I wish some one would always open and read my letters and answer them too," said Yorke devoutly, as he thought of the great pile of bills which awaited him every morning at breakfast. "Are you staying—I mean lodging, visiting here, Miss Lisle?" he asked, for the sake of saying something that would keep her by his side for at least a few minutes longer.

"Yes," said Leslie. "We are staying in 'The Street,' as it is called at Sea View."

Yorke was just about to remark, "I know," but checked himself and said instead:

"It is a very pretty place, isn't it?"

"Very," assented Leslie; "and quiet. There is no prettier place on the coast that Portmaris."

"So I should think," he said, looking round, then returning to the beautiful face. "I am a stranger, and only arrived an hour or two ago." He looked down, trying to think of something else to say, anything that would keep her; but could think of nothing.

Leslie stood for a moment, silent, too, then she said:

"Will you not go and change your things now? Dick would be very sorry if you were to catch cold on his account."

"It was on the tip of Yorke's tongue to ask, "Only Dick?" but once more he checked himself. The retort would have come naturally enough if he had been addressing a London belle; but there was something in the beautiful gray eyes, an indescribable expression of maidenly dignity and reserve, which, sweet as it was, warned him that such conversational small change would not be acceptable to Miss Lisle so instead he said, with a smile:

"Oh, Dick won't mind. Besides, he knows I am almost as dry as he is by this time."

Leslie shook her head as if in contradiction of his assertion and with Dick still pressed to her bosom, said—

"Good-morning, and—and thank you very much,'" she added, with a faint color coming into her face.

Yorke arose, raised his hat, and watched her graceful figure as it lightly stepped up the beach to the quay; then he collected his various soaked articles from the breakwater and followed at a respectful distance.

"Leslie Lisle," he murmured to himself. "The name's music, and she——"

Apparently he could not hit upon any set of terms which would describe her even to his own mind, and, pressing the water from his trousers he climbed the beach, still looking at her.

As he did so he saw a tall, thin gentleman coming toward her. He held a canvas in his hands gingerly, as if it were wet, and was followed by a small boy carrying a portable easel an dother artistic impedimenta, and as Leslie spoke to the artist and took the easel from the boy, Yorke muttered:

"Her father! Now, if I go up to them she'll feel it incumbent upon her to tell him of my 'heroic act,' and he'll be bored to death trying to find something suitable to say; and she'll be embarrassed and upset, and hate the sight of me. She looks like a girl who can't endure a fuss. No, I'll go round the other way—if there is another way as the cookery books say."

He looked round, and was on the point of diving into a narrow street opposite him when an invalid chair came round the corner, driven by Grey, and the occupant, whose eyes were as sharp as his body was frail and crooked, caught sight of the stalwart figure and held up a hand beckoningly.

Yorke looked very much as if he meant making a run for it; then, with a muttered, "Oh, confound it!" he stuck his hands in his pockets, tried to look as if nothing had happened and sauntered with a careless, leisurely air up the quay.

By this time Francis Lisle had stuck up his easel right in the centre of the narrow pavement and arranged his canvas, and Grey was in the act of dragging the invalid chair round it, when Leslie, bending down, said, in a whisper:

"Papa, I must move the easel; they cannot pass."

"Eh?" said Francis Lisle, looking round nervously. "I beg your pardon, I will move; yes, I will move."

"Do not, please," said the duke, his thin voice softening as it always did in the presence of a lady "There is plenty of room. You can go round, Grey?"

"Yes, you—yes, sir" said Grey.

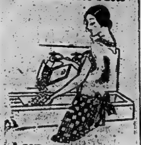
A Kitchen Aid



A BOX of chipped soap—the same kind as you use in the laundry—kept on the kitchen sink will be found much more useful than a cake of soap.

For washing the dishes, the chipped soap will make a quicker suds. It is also easier to whisk up a suds out of soap chips than to laboriously rub a cloth on a bar of soap until a lather is formed with the water.

For cleaning the sink, the soap chips can be sprinkled over the surface, rubbed with a wet cloth, and immediately all grease and dirt is removed.

The faucets and plumbing fixtures may also be kept bright and shining by frequent washing with chipped soap. With a box of soap chips on the sink, the faucets will be more likely to be kept in good condition than if they wait for special treatment to be administered only occasionally.

Many other uses for chipped soap will occur to the house-keeper once she establishes it as a part of her sink equipment, and she will be surprised at the amount of time and energy it will save her in the course of a day's work.

THIS WOMAN PROVES STICKLER FOR MEN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Albany, N.Y., June 10.—The question of how to address Florence E. S. Knapp, New York State's first woman secretary of state, is puzzling many a person judging by the variety of salutations used in the thousands of letters being received each week in connection with a coming state census.

The majority of correspondents address the secretary as "Dear Madam" while others use such salutations as "My dear secretary of state", "My Dear Miss Knapp", (although she has been a widow since 1913), "Honorable Secretary Knapp", and "Dear Lady-secretary of state."

All letters received from members of President Coolidge's cabinet begin with "My Dear Secretary Knapp."

Singer With Meteoric Career Cooks In Double-Quick Time

A LARGE audience was gathered at Carnegie Hall to hear a world-famous singer at a concert of the Schola Cantorum. Out in the wings word was flashed that the singer was ill and could not appear.

In place of the celebrity the managers substituted a young Italian-American soprano of whom the audience had never heard—Dusolina Giannini. So enthusiastic was her reception, however, that she was able to step from the studio onto the concert stage at a fee of $1,000 a performance.

Miss Giannini is meteor-like in other ways, too. Whenever she undertakes anything she accomplishes it in double-quick time. Even in cooking—one of her favorite means of recreation—her slender fingers move quickly, deftly and surely. She has achieved a reputation among her friends for her Twenty-Minute Cheese Biscuits. This is her recipe:

Twenty Minute Cheese Biscuit

1 cup Flour
2 tbsps. baking powder
½ tsp. Salt
1 tbsp. Crisco
½ cup Milk
½ cup grated Cheese

Sift dry ingredients. Work in Crisco. Add liquid gradually, then cheese, working in with a fork. Roll out to ½ inch in thickness. Cut into small round circles with a cooky cutter. Bake in groups of three (like a clover leaf) in a hot oven 450° until well browned on top.

Makes 1½ dozen clover leaf biscuits.

At Griffins

Judging from the reports that have reached here from the various cities where Captain Plunkett's latest Dumbells revue is now playing, the new show, "Oh, Yes!" is an absolute knockout, surpassing that other splendid production, "Ace High", which so delighed patrons here a few months ago.

It seems that the Captain set out to build up a revue on the theme of spring, and he found the subject so alluring that he spent a lot of money and devoted a lot of serious effort to ensnare and captivate that elusive thing called the spirit of spring, or Maytime, that the poets rave so much about.

Apparently he got on the right trail and tracked him, or her, or it; to his, or her, or it's, native heath. Just where that is we do not know. Suffice it is to say that this woodland fairy or elf, or whatever it is, is starring it "Oh, Yes!" under the capable direction of the above mentioned Captain Plunkett.

Among the supporting cast, who are all making individual hits with brand-new material, may be mentioned Al. Plunkett, Ross Hamilton, "Red" Newman, Stan Bennett, Pat Rafferty, Jack Holland, Morley Plunkett, Ben Allen, Glen Allan and all the other popular entertainers who helped to make "Ace High" the great success it was.

We are definitely advised that "Oh, Yes!" is absolutely new from overture to finale, and there will be no "request' numbers, except "Oh, It's a Lovely War."

The Dumbells will be here at the Griffin theatre to-night for an engagement of one night only.

WAS STRUCK DOWN BY DOOR OF BARN

St. Catharines, June 10.—Vincent Merritt, Caister farmer, was the victim of a most peculiar accident. While working with a gang of other men on the cement foundation of a barn on Winfred Meritt's farm, a heavy windstorm suddenly blew up. The wind was so strong that it lifted several heavy barn doors which were lying on the ground and turned them over. One of them struck Vincent Merritt on the head, sending him to the ground where he hit his head against a pail used for mixing cement. He was knocked unconscious and it took some time to bring him to. A doctor put several stitches in his head. The hefty door falling on him also gave him some bad bruises about the body.

Old Recipe Of Sage Tea Darkens Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound' at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

"Fifth Avenue"

It Is said that by traveling Fifth Avenue from one end to the other you will pass the store or the sales representative of nearly every well-known manufacturer in America

To a large extent that is a fact--and the same is true of the columns of this paper. The pages of any first class newspaper today compose a veritable Fifth Avenue, where the goods of the nation are shown. There is this difference. In these pages you are given a description of the goods and in most cases quoted a price and told where you can buy them in your own town.

The better a product is--the sooner you will see it advertised

Banks of Canada On a Sound Basis

In the Opinion of The Wall Street Journal

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York June 10.—The recent absorption of the Union Bank of Canada by the Royal Bank, because, as it was stated, the former faced the necessity of having to cut its dividend, has occasioned some comment in New York financial circles as to the soundness of the banking system in the Dominion. The Wall Street Journal found the situation "across the border considerably cleared up" as a consequence of the merger, and continued its comment as follows:

"The fate of the Union Bank, however, arrests attention because it follows in the wake of one or two incidents reflecting rather unfavorably upon Canadian banking. Failure of the Home Bank, for instance, had a disquieting effect. Then, too, it has been apparent that Canada is overbanked for the time being. There is little opportunity for the small bank to-day, as the big banks of the Dominion are thoroughly entrenched in even the rural communities.

"Nothwithstanding the Home Bank affair, there is nothing radically wrong with the Canadian Banking system. The system with its institution of branch banks is being subjected to-day to what might be called an endurance test. It is this struggle of a survival of the fittest and the ultimate concentration of control in the hands of a few large organizations that has been pointed to by those stoutly opposing extension of branch banking in this country. On the other hand, certain merits are claimed for the Canadian system, which makes it peculiarly suitable for the Dominion. At least up to the present it works well for the country. Whether Canada may ultimately have to adopt a complicated reserve system, such as our own, is another question."

The Journal finds that the most impressive characteristics of the Canadian banking system is the simplicity of its organization.

Governor of Greenland Indicates Route of Explorer

Copenhagen, June 10. — The best chance of finding Captain Roald Amundsen and his companion Polar fliers is at Cape Columbia, West Greenland, where the expedition under Donald MacMillan is going in the opinion of J. Daugaard Jensen, governor of Greenland.

"I believe Amundsen is en route there as he has not returned to Spitzbergen, said M. Jensen yesterday.

"Some mishap has occurred, doubtless to the airplanes, or in trying to reach the Pole he used so much petrol that he was unable to return to his starting place and therefore flew as far as possible toward Cape Columbia, which is nearer (the Pole) by a third than Spitzbergen.

The depots were laid out by Gottfried Hansen at Cape Columbia, Richard Sound and Fort Conger. They will probably be Amundsen's salvation. This is one more proof of his foresight.

"The depots were laid out with a view to the Maude expedition when he intended going into the ice by the new Siberian islands and realized he might be forced to return afoot. When the flying expedition started these depots were taken into consideration."

Governor Jensen believes, however, that Spitsbergen is the only spot from which an active effort to rescue Amundsen is possible. At other places, as along the east coast of Greenland or at Cape Columbia, the relief expeditions must wait until he turns up.

PREMIER BALDWIN RESTRAINS MINISTERS

London, June 10.—Prime Minister Stanley Balwin announced in the House of Commons that the British Government had declined to reaffirm the principles that Ministers holding office should refrain from writing newspaper articles on subjects connected with public policy. The announcement prompted Wedgewood Bens, Labor member for Leith, to inquire whether the Premier noticed that one of today's London dailies carried a streamer headline heralding an article entitled, "Murder (by the Earl of Birkenhead)". The Labor member asked if the Government's prohibition extended to such questions.

Premier Baldwin replied amid laughter that the already had said the application was to questions of current public policy. He said it would be better to "wait and see" before he expressed further opinion on the subject.

Converse With Base While Flying in Air

Pilots Telephone Distance Of 110 Miles

Chicago, June 10.—Telephone communication between airplane pilots flying 4,000 feet in the air and radio station WLS, was maintained clearly over a distance of 110 miles during the military show here recently. When the army flyers descended at Chanute Field the reception was still strong, indicating that intermittent talking might have been continued over a greater distance.

The previous record for communication between a land station and an airplane by radio was 40 miles. Spectators at the show were listeners in during the tests, the radio station rebroadcasting the conversations. This was another feat said by radio engineers to have been successfully performed for the first time.

The army planes used a 50 watt master oscillator sending set, with three 50 watt tubes, an oscillator, modulator and speech amplifier, in addition to a 5 watt amplifier. The radio station used a neutrodyne receiving set while the army men used an army 8-tube super hetrodyne for receiving. A two pound lead weight held down the antenna. Within the city limits the planes had a 50 foot wire over the side, which was extended to a 200 foot aerial as they got farther away.

The officer in the front seat of the airplane by means of ear phones, could hear both conversations, the talking of his companion and the conversation from the land station.

BRITISH LEADERS TO VISIT AMERICA SOON

Washington, June 10. — Importance is attached by U.S. labor leaders to the fact that three leading figures in British labor will visit the United States and Canada this fall. They are men who need little introduction to those familiar with the labor party in the United Kingdom. They are Arthur Henderson, secretary of the British Labor Party and prominent in its organization; J. Ramsay MacDonald, first labor Prime Minister; and John Wheatley, who was Minister of Health in the Labor cabinet.

Labor, the official organ of the organized railroad employes in this country, in a recent issue, gave much prominence to the coming visit of the Birtish labor leaders. The purpose of it, and especially the purpose on the part of Henderson, is said to be to draw labor in Britain, in the United States and in Canada closer together. He wants to create good will among labor in the United Kingdom, in the Dominion and in this country and wants labor here and in Canada to understand the aims and purposes of British labor.

Present plans are to give the British visitors a hearty reception in this country. They will be shown unusual attention and honor by U. S. labor chiefs. They will undoubtedly be given opportunity to meet leading officials and probably President Coolidge.

As quoted by Labor, Henderson foresees the British as returning before long to another labor government.

DETOURED FROM SUNDAY SCHOOL

New York, June 10.—Anne Goosman, five-year-old Yonker's girl, looked down at her dusty little shoes while bound for Sunday School and recalled that her mother had counseled one of the older children to "shine up his shoes for the Sabbath." Anna also recalled seeing a long shoe shine bench in the Grand Central railway terminal so, boarding a train, the tot made her way to New York and secured the necessary shine.

When Anna failed to answer the dinner call at the Goosman home, police boy scouts and a large number of Yonkerites started out on her trail. After many hours of searching, the child, with her shoes spic and span, was discovered wandering aimlessly about in the terminal. "She had forgotten how she came," she said.

CHINESE FORCES RENEW BATTLE

Canton, June 10.—Fighting between rival Chinese forces, battling for possession of Canton, continued yesterday with renewed intensity and considerable casualities and damage to buildings along the river. Steamers are crowded with refugees unable to move on account of cross firing over the Chukiang river.

The commander of the largest Chinese gunboat left his ship after receiving $100,000 from the chief of the Yunnanese forces. Yunnanese are confident of winning. A Chinese chamber of commerce committee, accompanied by a delegation of foreign residents, called on the army chiefs today and requested that further fighting be carried on ten miles outside the city. The trouble will last for some time, according to indications. Additional foreign gunboats arrived here today.

Foreign steamers were reported fired on near Whampao.

THIS WOMAN LIKES JAIL LIFE WELL

New York, June 10.—Mary Callaghan, 61, left the Bronx County jail reluctantly.

"Now," she told Sheriff Flynn, when he dismissed her from custody recently, "I'll have to go to my home in Brooklyn, cook my own meals and take care of myself generally. Here I've had nothing to do, a doctor and a nurse have called on me every da yand I've had a lovely time. I wish they had left me here."

Mrs. Callaghan had told the Sheriff when she entered the jail June 24, 1924 charged with contempt of court, that be had a life prisoner. The contempt charge grew out of her refusal to turn over $16,000 worth of bonds belonging to the estate of her sister, the late Ellen Connor, which she claimed Mrs. Connor had given her just before her death.

Wash Poison From Kidneys

Drink Water All Day Long and Take Salts if Your Back Hurts

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Probabilities—Warmer with Showers

ONE MAN IS KILLED IN FIGHT ANOTHER STRIKER WOUNDED IN BAD CLASH AT GLACE BAY

Strikers Recapture New Waterford Power Station

SERIOUS SITUATION

Police Had Captured it From Them This Morning

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Sydney, N. S. June 12.—Early this morning a strong force of company police surprised strike pickets on guard at New Waterford power station and after a fight in which several received minor injuries succeeded in occupying the building. Subsequently a squad of eleven mounted police arrived on the scene. The police were stoned when passing the United mine workers of America hall but succeeded in reaching their objective and at ten o'clock were protecting the getting up of steam at power plant. Pickets retreated to baseball park where mass meeting of striking miners was in progress throughout forenoon.

Recapture Station

After a pitched battle lasting upwards of 15 minutes striking miners shortly after noon to-day recaptured New Waterford power station from which they were driven this morning by Corporation police. This afternoon they are in complete control of the plant. One man William Davis was killed and another, Gilbert Watson, shot in stomach and severely injured in battle. Number of British Empire Steel Corporation police were injured. Situation at Waterford plant is reported to be serious. Early this morning pickets were driven from the plant by police and steps were immediately taken to get up steam while police kept guard and mounted officers patrolled the Colliery district. Following the first clash, a large body of strikers met in the ball park and discussed a situation and some time later were seen moving towards power plant. Police prepared for battle but were in a short time overcome by superior numbers.

Strung Barb Wire

After capturing the plant this morning, corporation police prepared to operate station which generates power for maintenance of group of mines in southern area. They proceeded to protect plant from attacks of stringing barbed wire entanglements in massed attack by strikers. However, barbed wires were cut as well as all telegraph and telephone wires leading to plant. Company's police were severely handled by strikers. Operation of power plant was regarded by corporation officials as necessary in order to save some of mines from destruction. Since power was cut off week ago by pickets, some pumps have been submerged.

William Davis was striker as is Watson whose condition is serious. After they were overcome the forty police were all severely mauled by strikers. Many of them are in hospital and police station is full of wounded. One policeman, Michael Ohandley, has a broken back. About two thousand strikers advanced on the plant.

OUT OF THE FRYING PAN!

The few spectators at the fire in the rear of Pappas' pool room early this morning were treated to a hearty laugh, when an attempt was made to clear the smoke from the room.

Firemen were handicapped by the dense clouds and some one suggested that the front door be opened to let the smoke out. The door was locked, however, and one of the constables on duty conceived the happy idea of switching on the electric fan in the wall used for ventilation purposes.

This was done and the effect was magical. The fan drew out a perfect stream of smoke.

All went well for about one minute, when three Chinamen rushed out of the rear of the Perfect Cafe next door, waving their arms in wild gesticulation and uttering a lurid line of broken English.

The fan was drawing the smoke from the pool room in great volume and was shooting it directly into the window of the Chinese cafe.

Merchants Meet and Pass Resolutions

M. A. C. Members Pass Important Resolutions Here

The afternoon session of the District Retail Merchants Association of Canada was characterized by important resolutions. Stewart McClenaghan, of Ottawa was in the chair. Officers elected for the ensuing eyar were:

Pres., S. McClenaghan, 1st Vice Pres., A. Goulet Boniget; 2nd Vice Pres., C. E. Hanna, Belleville; 3nd Vice Pres., E. Sine Gananoque; Treasurer, T. W. Collins; Auditor, Alec Phillips; Secretary, J. C. Campbell.

Delegates elected to the Provincial Board: B. G. Crabtree, Ottawa and R. Patterson, Brockville.

The President said the attendance of delegates from 2,500 letters sent out was nothing but supreme confidence in the executive.

The following resolutions were passed: a petition to the Dominion Government suggesting reciprocity between the Provinces in regard to judgements in debtors' courts; unfair trading with special reference to misleading advertisements and the tactics displayed by some mail order houses. In this connection, W. C. Miller said that one mail order house had shipped 8,000 catalogues to Port Arthur and Fort William by freight, at small cost. Had these been mailed the cost for postage would have been 26 cents each.

T. W. Collins introduced a resolution to petition the Dominion Government that all collection agencies be bonded as well as registered. The Government will receive a protest against the making of beverage merchants act in the capacity of tax collectors.

The rulings of the Ontario Minimum Wage Board were protested. The provisions of the ruling in question are that no female employee may work more than eight hours a day.

A resolution appointing a committee composed of C. F. McCarthy, T. W. Collins, E. Trudeau and W. Thompson to consider a resolution in regard to egg grading, and to report to the Dominion Government.

At 7.30 p.m., at the Quinte Hotel, C. E. Hanna M.P., presided at the banquet. There were about 100 present. In his address of welcome, the President mentioned that Ottawa had spent three million dollars on good roads for tourists, and then told them, "We dont' want your business on Saturday night go to Hull!"

In the absence of the Mayor, C. E. Hanna extended Municipal welcome to the visiting delegates, and said that he hoped that Dominion merchants would eventually agree on the half holiday on Wednesday, with an open Saturday night. E. N. Poulin, of Ottawa, expressed his appreciation of the courtesy received at Belleville. He said that he was a student at Albert College in 1874.

REV DR. SCOTT OF MONTREAL IS MODERATOR

Was Chosen by Continuing Presbyterian Church To-day

MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Churches Packed to Doors at Memorable Services

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 11.—Rev. Dr. Ephriam Scott of Montreal, was this morning unanimously elected Moderator of the General Assembly of the continuing Presbyterian Church at the initial session this morning.

Enthusiasm continues to be the keynote of the Continuing Presbyterians, as last night's meetings at St. Andrew's and Cooke's Churches drew great audiences, and St. Andrew's in particular attracted a gathering far beyond the normal capacity of the building. From the standpoint of gratification to the organizers, the meeting at that centre was in the nature of a successful spectacle, as long before the hour fixed for the opening of the services the church was packed to the doors, and scores of people were standing in the aisles, many others were sitting on the steps, the choir-loft was filled to capacity, and many were standing around the doorways in the hope of catching what stray words might float out into the corridors from the enthusiasm of the speakers. The overflow at Cooke's Church though not drawing as large a gathering, tended to demonstrate the same spirit; so the three-day sessions o fthe Pre-Assembly Congress may be looked upon as highly successful from the standpoint of the future success of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The preliminary services were in the nature of a get togthr, and to-day will see the opening of the business sessions of the Continuing Presbyterian Church, these services to be held at St. Andrew's, while the metings of the Women's Missionary Society will be held at Knox Church.

Front Street Fire Was Nipped in Time

Flooring in Rear of Pappas Pool Room Set Ablaze

Sam Pappas, owner of the pool room and tobacco store at 227 Front street, had a lucky escape from serious loss by fire early this morning. Two young men passing by smelled smoke, found a blaze at the rear and sent in an alarm.

The fire must have been started by a cigarette butt, in the flooring at the rear of the pool room. When the fire department arrived about twelve thirty o'clock the oily boards were blazing and the place was filled with smoke. Picks and axes were used to tear up the floor and chemicals extinguished the flames.

Will Make Endeavor to Have Another Agriculture Representative in Hastings

An effort will be made to secure another agricultural representative for Hastings County. Mr. Ray Atkins who is stationed at Stirling has in the past and is at present doing good work, but as he states Hastings County is one of the largest in the Province and it is impossible for one representative to cover the territory. The idea is to have another representative located in the southern part of the county possibly at Deseronto as the Council will have to pay $500 towards the expenses of the representative, the matter was referred to the Ways and Means Committee for further consideration.

Dumbells Score Another Success

Packed Theatre Resounds With Merry Applause at "Oh! Yes"

Thanks to the enterprise of the Griffin Theatre management, Belleville people had another opportunity to hear the Dumbells last night. The famous old company of soldier stars staged an excellent show in "Oh, Yes!" and judging by the applause proved more popular than ever before. The only disappointing feature of a happy evening was the unavoidable absence of Captain M. W. Plunkett himself. He was missed in the selections he gives with his brother Al and in his personal direction of the orchestra.

Last fall when the Company was at the Griffin Opera House, Ross Hamilton as "Marjorie" was not present, owing to illness. She was on hand in all her glorious raiment last night, however, and her eyes worked as much havoc as ever with the gentlemen present.

The Dumbells still employ that happy faculty of providing variety in the program and the appreciation expressed in all parts of the audience was remarkable.

Red Newman and Al Plunkett, Stan Bennett and Pat Rafferty were of course old time favorites and were greeted with hand-clapping at their very appearance. Al Plunkett scored a triumph in "The Best Looking Girls Get the Worst Looking Men"; Red Newman captured all with a patriotic appeal, and Stan Bennett was his inimitable self in "Col. Lipstick". Ben Allen, the comical coon, had a brand new line of jokes and stirred up ripples of laughter throughout the evening.

Captain Plunkett's orchestra was as good, if not better, than at the last appearance in Belleville and the crowd demanded encores persistently. A rendition of "The Anvil Chorus" was particularly good.

Glen Allan's dancing was appreciated as ever and the comedy sketches went over well. "Red Justice", a satire on the divorce mill produced some amusing cross talk and brought out Stan Bennott's ability on the Bench.

The Dumbells can come again and again to Belleville and will always be assured of a hearty welcome.

At County Council

Road Report

Mr. James Haggerty, chairman of roads, presented a report today which was not adopted as several amendments were made to it. This was expected, as a plan prepared by the Department of Highways changes some roads which changes are by no means agreeable to a number of the members of the Council.

Clause 3 in the report reads as follows: "That in our opinion the road from Madoc to Tweed via Actinolite should be changed to run from Madoc via Lake road in Huntingdon to Tweed as it would be a more direct road."

This clause was objected to by some members and an amendment was made to leave the road as it is an dan amendment to the amendment was made to change the road. The report and amendments were laid over for further consideration.

ACTION TO BE TAKEN AGAINST DOG OWNERS

Complaints from two residents on Bleecker Avenue, whose flower beds have been destroyed by dogs, have been brought to the attention of Mayor Mikel. The Mayor said today that proceedings would certainly have to be taken to have the owners of such dogs punished if they will allow the dogs to trespass on other people's property. It was too bad, he said, now when people are trying to make the city look attractive that some dog owners allowed the animals to run at large and to mar the beauty of the city.

Relief Officer eMenemy, of Hamilton, has been granted a bonus of two months' salary, and his assistant $300.

Courier Has Passed U. S. A. Border Line

Mayor Mikel received a letter from Tom Mason, the courier walking from Belleville to Chicago, dated June 9th from Niagara Falls, Ont.

The courier arrived in Beamsville on Saturday, the 6th, and appeared in the theatre there that evening and extended an invitation to the people to come to our celebration. On Sunday, Reeve Tufford took him for a drive to see the vineyards and peach orchards, which were very beautiful. The next day he reached St. Catharines where he met Jack McCullough and George Clark two Belleville boys. After presenting Mayor Smith with an invitation, he was taken in charge by Mr. Bell, Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and entertained royally He passed through Merriton and Thorold that afternoon where he was greeted by Mayor of each place.

On reaching Niagara Falls Monday evening he found a big international celebration in progress. The Falls have recently been equipped with very powerful searchlights which swing in different colored lights over the water, and the official opening took place on both the Canadian and American side, which consisted of addresses by prominent Canadians and Americans on the bridge, including the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and the official representative of the Governor of New York State. He met Bert Lloyd, an old Belleville boy, and his mother and sisters, Miss Nora and Mrs. Frost, with whom he stayed the night.

COUNCIL ASKED TO LEND HELP TO COLLEGIATE

Deputation From Board of Education Waits on Members

GROWTH OUTLINED

Request Made For Use of Room at Shire Hall

When the County Council resumed on Wednesday afternoon a deputation from the Board of Education from the city was present to address the members relative to the proposed new collegiate to be erected in the city. The deputation was composed of Messrs. J. Elliott, chairman of the Board. A McGie, J. W. Cook, Col. W. N. Ponton and Mr. P. C. McLaurin, principal of the High School.

Mr. J. Elliott was the first speaker and stated that it was necessary to erect a new High School building, a building that would be a credit to the city and county. It was desirable that the County co-operate in this desirable move. There were upwards of 500 pupils at present attending the High School of which 110 pupils were from the County of Hastings. In building the new school, it was desirable that the County assist in building the new collegiate. The school has grown so rapidly that classes have to be held in other places than the present High School building. It is estimated that the cost of the new school will be between $400,000 and $500,000.

Col. Ponton thoroughly agreed with the remarks of the chairman of the Board, M. J. Elliott. All expenditure upon Education was an investment. The Board was faced with the fact that in September next it would require an extra new teacher in the High School and there was no room for this teacher. He would ask the Council to provide a room for Miss Clarke the new teacher.

The Board had no other place to go and he hoped the Council would provide a room in Shire Hall so as to be withclose priximity to the High School building. He also asked the cooperation of the County Council in the matter of assisting in the erection of the new collegiate.

Mr. A. McGie said some agreement should be made between the city and county as to the building of the new collegiate which was a necessity.

Mr. J. W. Cook asked for the cooperation of the County Council in this matter.

Principal P. C. McLaurin said that at present there was an attendance of 502 pupils in the high school. Of this number 143 were from outside of the city residing in Hastings County. When he took charge of the high school in this city the attendance was 250, whereas today the attendance was 502. The speaker said that the 143 County pupils stood up well with the city pupils. He hoped the County Council would co-operate in this important matter of a new school.

Warden Wiggins— The matter that the deputation presented is an important one and will be considered in the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. J. Ellitt thanked the Warden for the privilege allowed the deputation of addressing the Council.

A considerable portion of Wednesday afternoon session of the County Council was taken up in hearing deputations of which there were three. The requests were for money and all were referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Aid For Poughing

Mr. Clem H. Ketcheson addressed the Council and asked for a small grant towards a ploughing match to be held later in the Township of Sidney.

Mr. F. R. Mallory spoke of the organization of the Hastings County ploughing Association two years ago. Two matches have been held and they have proved to be educating to many. If any township makes a grant make it for boys in that particular township, he said. He would like the County Council to grant the request made by Mr. Ketcheson.

In answer to an enquiry Mr. Roy Atkins said that all the money collected each year had been expended on prizes.

The matter was referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. Walter Boardman asked the county Council for a grant to assist in a bacon hog show to be held in Stirling village some time in the month of October. The show is free and prizes are given in accordance with the money received.

Mr. Roy Atkins agricultural representative endorsed the remarks of Mr. Boardman. Only 8 such shows are held

SPOTTERS TOLD JUDAS WASN'T IN THEIR CLASS

Yanover Defense Counsel Delivers Scathing Criticism At Court

YANOVER IS GUILTY

Goes to Jail Under New Law For Selling Whiskey

The "and" replaced the "or" in police court to-day when the first conviction for selling since the newly amended O.T.A. was registered by Magistrate Masson. Jacob H. Yanover, aged 21, of Picton was found guilty of selling 12 sealed bottles of Corby specia selected whisky to a specia officer on May 29, and was fined $200 and $33.50 costs and one month in the county jail. If the fine and costs are not paid forthwith three additional months will be served. The liquor will was ordered confiscated.

The trial which did not conclude until 12.45 o'clock was a series of fiery outbreaks between defense counsel, C. A. Payne, and the officers whom be designated as whisky spotters, stool pigeons and as being disreputable. In cross examination and in his address to the court his criticism of the methods of the man was scathing. While everyone sat quietly waiting to hear what would come next from the irate defense counsel, one officer angrily chewed gum while the other fellow smiled slyly as he glanced about the room.

In summing up Mr. Payne claimed that no sale was proven, as accused was merely an agent at best for another.

"The evidence of stool pigeons should be accepted with great caution", asserted the defence. "They prevail upon people to break the law, usually singling out young men for their work. It should not be tolerated as it is a travesty of justice, in as much as justice was meant to function by keeping people from breaking the laws rather than inciting them to break them. They masquerade around with plausible stories, representing themselves as living where they do not live.

"I believe", said counsel, "that if Judas, the man of whom we read in the bible, were here to-day, he would be reluctant to be in the same category as a whisky spotter, who are decoys and stool pigeons. They have not sufficient nerve to wear a uniform, but they do lie and tell untrue stories about themselves."

When Mr. Payne suggested that they had been known to "frame" people, Crown Attorney Donnan objected, and the statement was not pursued, though defense counsel said that the case had been the subject of discussion in the private bills committee during the Drury regime, at Toronto.

In reply, the crown pointed out that a bootlegger was a leech preying upon weaker people often selling inferior "stuff" for big money. He asked for a conviction.

An endeavor, to have the charge reduced to having, failed. Magistrate Masson objected to the false statements about camping at Bancroft and about being fishermen, and warned officers to be very careful. These officers, he said, had

Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

One old guy of a bird scientist told me, in the beginning of my nature rambles, that I must keep a note book. "You will never be any use to learning, unless you keep a notebook," says he, so I began with a book.

I had a hard time finding stuff to put in that book, for a long time. Then I began to see so much that I had a hard time deciding what to keep out of it, an finally I nearly got writers cramp, keeping the old thing, so I decided to only keep nature stories that are so interesting that I can't forget them.

Space is so valuable, that at times, I have to throw in three or four incidents and stories, at the one telling, in order to get them told at all. Here comes a coal man, putting coal in the cellar and he comes to the door and asks for the pair of scissors, "For", says he, "there's a couple of birds hanging to my old nags tail and trying to put out the hair and I want to cut off a few hunks." We went to see, and sure enough it was the Chipping Sparrow. The man was quite amused when I told him that the chippie is also called the hair bird. He thought I was pulling his leg, but it is true.

Another time, a jockey, out at Blue Bonnets race course, told me that he had a pet Song Sparrow that he found hanging about the place and very wild at first, but looking for horse hair. So he cut some up into lengths of about a foot, and put them up on the rail.

Our wild song sparrow took the hair and came for more and finally quit beating about the bush and came inside, got on the horses back and pulled out loose hair from the mane.

"Yes, and would you believe it", joked the jokey with a sly look," "Those birds know when I win a race."

"How do you figure that out?" said I.

"I give them a big feed of high grade canary seed every time I am lucky", said he, "and I know where the nest is too, and so does the horse—I led him to it and he smelled it—but I won't tell you, for it's a secret."

THE CONSERVATIVE POLICY

No utterance in the House of Commons for several sessions has created such a profound impression as Mr. Meighen's enunciation of the policy of the Conservative Party on Tuesday last. From all parts of the Dominion word reaches Ottawa that that policy and Mr. Meighen's exposition of it have made a tremendous appeal to those who for four years have been waiting for some definite attempt to lead Canada out of a situation which year by year and month by month has been becoming steadily worse. It seems to have been seized upon as the one definite promise given the country of constructive effort to meet the economic and industrial problems which year by year and month by month has been becoming steadily worse. It seems to have been seized upon as the one definite promise given the country of constructive effort to meet the economic and industrial problems which for four years have been allowed to remain unsolved with incalculable loss in people and wealth. It has been grasped as a substitute for hopeless drift and despair, as the re-opening of a road to renewed development and prosperity in place of a passive submission to circumstances. It has been accepted as an offer of leadership when leadership is more painfully absent than at any time since Confederation.

The effect of the Conservative Leader's speech is the greater by reason of the fact that the present session has demonstrated the continued absence of any active policy on the part of the Administration. Four months of Parliament have produced no suggestions from the Government for relief from the disabilities against which all parts of the Dominion are struggling. The Conservative Party, in presenting its policy in these circumstances has attracted the attention of the entire country to it, information recahing the Capital being to the effect that everywhere it is now the one subject of political discussion.

Nothing in Mr. Meighen's speech commanded greater attention in the House than his exposition of the essential immediate importance of protection to Canada arising from the fact of the aggressive fiscal policies adopted by other nations, particularly the United States, in the last few years. Never, he showed was protection so vital to this country as since the beginning of 1922, at which time the United States raised her tariff wall still higher. In face of the policy of the United States, and the industrial prosperity which obtained under it, it became absolutely impossible for Canada to continue even the limited measure of protection that had served up to that time. Constant inroads since on a tariff already low had resulted in the industrial stagnation and loss of population that had been sustained during the last four years.

In presenting his "Canada-first" policy, Mr. Meighen was no more insistent on the need of protection against foreign competition in Canada's home market than on the necessity for the manufacture of Canadian raw materials within the country. A few millions of dollars were being received from the sale of pulpwood, asbestos, nickel and other materials in their raw state while the materials in their raw state while the materials in manufactured form brought many times such amount, the profit going to Manufacturers and workers outside Canada. Mr. Meighen gave emphatic assurance that if he were returned to power he would take measures to curtail the export of the produce of Canada in the raw and see that this country reaps the benefit of its manufacture here. He would not be deterred by any large foreign ownership of Canadian resources. The legitimate busines of the private individual, of course, would not be interferred with, the private owner of pulpwood, for example, being protected in his rights. "The time has come in Canada ....it is brought home to us by an experience very, very bitter....when we must assert every advantage that we possess, and we must assert it in absolute fearlessness of retaliation or anything else," he declared. Among the first of the raw materials that he would conserve to this country was power. The diversion of power to the United States meant to Canada the permanent loss of people.

Mr. Meighen spoke as much for the farming industry as for any other. If he gave greater consideration to one element of the community than to another it was to labour, to the necessity for providing work and wager for Canadians that would keep them in Canada, increasing population, enlarging the home market helping to attain for the Dominion the destiny decreed by the pioneers of her greatness. The lesson of the last few years, costly as it has been, would not be in vain, the Conservative Leader declared, if it taught in every province the folly of the course that had been followed. He submited his policy as embodying principles best for every interest, for every section and race and most likely to lead to the union and progress of all Canada.

KANSAS CAUGHT NAPPING

Kansans are discomposed and not a little sore at the world. They are more especially peeved at Tennessee for that state has finally caught Kansas napping.

It has long been the boast of Kansas that she has more firsts to her credit than any other state. A Kansas editor has made the claim that "When anything is going to happen in the United States it happens first in Kansas."

Kansas supports her proud claim by citing Abolition, Prohibition, Populism, the Bull Moose, the Anti-Cigarette law, the Industrial Court and the passing of the roller towel. It is noted that Kansas is proud of the quantity, not the quality, of her legislation.

But in the fight against the theory of evolution Kansas takes second place. The Tennessee legislature had already passed its "monkey law" before the patrons of a Kansas school district publicly burned with fitting ceremonies a set of books discussing the terrible theory. Not even a Kansan will be so partial toward his own state as to deny Tennessee this victory.

Somebody was sleeping in the legislative chambers at Topeka while Bryan was awakening the Tennessee lawmakers to this opportunity to beat the Kansans at their own game.

... SIR BERNARD PATRIDGE ...
Ottawa Citizen

Bernard Patridge, Punch's well-known cartoonist, has been knighted. Sir Bernard is a fine example of the British "black and white" artist at at his best. His drawings were models of good draughtsmanship and sound likeness. They were smooth and charming. They rarely carried a sting, and while this may be looked upon as a defect, it is typical of Punch, who puts humor above spite in his weekly cartoons.

THE JAZZ HORROR
The Australasian

Jazz has always been characterized by a lack of ideas so palpable that all its racous outpourings cannot conceal it vacuity, but that is no reason why its exponents should raid the classics for that which they do not themselves possess and pervert them to their own uses. There are signs, happily, that in England public taste is reverting to worthier things, as witness the successful revival of folk song and folk dancing. Folk music promises to endure where jazz is passing into deserved oblivion, through the intrinsic charm of what it teaches in song, melody and dance. It may be hoped that the taste will spread to Australia, for these folk tunes are ancient and delightful things, hearty and jovial. They would inevitably regenerate a musical atmosphere pervaded by an imported vogue of sheer barbarism; and they might even replace by the English sense of true rhythm and melody a fashion of dancing inexplicably degraded to imitate the dreary posturing of the African negro.

To-day's Smile

A young woman in a crowded street car arose to give her seat to a grey-haired, sharp-faced woman who had entered, and as the latter seemed reluctant to take it, the young woman said with a pleasant smile, "Age before beauty, you know."

"Thank you," was the sour reply; "but one would need glasses to see the beauty."

"Perhaps," the young woman replied quietly, "but none would be required to see the age."

Whereupon she resumed her seat.

Letters to the Editor

ALDERMAN ROBINSON ASKS PERTINENT QUESTIONS

Editor of the Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:—I have read very carefully the ably written report re the industrial situation existing in our city at the present time and for the last few years, as presented in the Intelligencer of June 8th, by Mr. J. O. Herity, industrial commissioner. In reference thereto, with your permission, I wish to make a few remarks through your valuable journal and at the same time ask a few pertinent questions.

The first thing which seems to demand critical attention is the boast that in the past three years Belleville has, all things considered, made more notable industrial progress than has any other city in the Dominion of Canada. If Mr. Herity would be kind enough to put up indisputable evidence to confirm this statement, it would impress one with that 'glorious feeling' that we have read of. But if this is true, and I hope it is, our heart-felt sympathy should be at once extended to such places as Hamilton, London, Windsor, Guelph, Stratford, Toronto, Montreal, Peterboro, Oshawa, Sarnia and many other places in our Dominion. What are the "all things considered"? I think it may be truthfully said that our shipping facilities are second to none outside of the very largest cities and our city should therefore be very attractive to manufacurers as a shipping point. According to our Industrial Commissioner nearly one quarter of all the industrial establishmentse which came to Canada last year, located in Belleville,—three American branch industrial establishments out of thirteen which came to Canada from the States located in Belleville, and Toronto secured five, we are told, the others going elsewhere.

Now, Mr. Editor, it does seem to the writer that there is really something very weak about the foregoing as to evidence of our progress. Any intelligent person should be able to see that before we could make any proper comparison in this case, we should be informed as to the number of workmen there are employed in the thirteen factories, and then find what proportions of the whole are employed in the three establishments which came to our city. Then, if we find, when we get all the information required, that we not only procured three new industries, but also secured factories that employ 3-13 of the total of all the employees engaged in the 13 establishments referred to, we will have reason to boast. But, if, on the other hand, it should be found on inquiring that one or more of the 10 industries which located in Toronto and elsewhere, employs a greater number of mechanics than are employed in all three of those we secured, we should conclude that it would be better to state all the facts in the first place before making boastful comparisons, and then abide by the the consequences, whatever they may be. But, for instance, if the three industries which located here employ 3-13 as many hands as are employed by the whole 13 referred to, the comparison would not look quite so vague and unsatisfactory as to evidence of our progress.

Just after writing the foregoing, a gentleman whose home is in Sarnia, called on me, and in answer to a question of mine re the industrial situation in Sarnia, he told me that the Imperial Oil Co. alone there employed three shifts composed of 1880 men in each. If our commissioner could only procure an industry employing even one tenth of this number, we would then really have reason to crow very loudly.

Our commissioner in his report has, quite properly I think, indulged in a partial stock-taking event. But this effort of the commissioner does not seem to be quite satisfactory, for the reason that he has failed to enter up and deduct the "shorts." We should be informed as to how many of the factories that have started here the last few years have failed to keep going in order to arrive at the net result of our growth in this respect. It would be interesting to know if our population to-day has gone beyond the natural increase for the last five years. If so, how much? Perhaps the commissioner could furnish this information.

The financial report showing the expenditure in connection with the Industrial Department for the years 1922, 1923, 1924 and up to May 31, 1925, as published in detail in the Intelligencer of June 8, shows a total of $7528.64. To this must be added, $182.33 for city's share of advertisement in the Globe in the interest of the industrial department, making a grand total of $7711.97. The above $183.33 was overlooked when the detailed statement was drawn up.

This large amount of $7711.97 of the people's money has been spent with the best intention and the results should be known to the taxpayers who read our city papers, and it is for them to say if they wish this policy to continue indefinitely.

In conclusion I wish to say that I have no quarrel with Mr. Herity. Personally, he is entitled to my best respects. But in the council my actions are directed in the interest of the overburdened tax payers as my sympathies run in that direction.

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for the space you have so generously contributed. There are several other things I could say in connection with our municipal affairs but for the present I shall forebear.

Respectfully,
A. ROBINSON.

Italy Abounds in Holidays This Year

Conferences and Holidays abound There This Year

Rome, June 11.—Grown-up Italians enjoy holidays as much as American school boys. Consequently scarcely a week passes without a festive occasion, official, religious, political, semi-official sectional or what not, in some city or section of the Cisalpine nation.

Conventions, congress and meet-professors and politicians as they are to boosters of Chambers of Commerce in America. Red-letter days of one sort or another for somebody or other are as frequent as they are in mid-season in Squire Ebbet's baseball park in Brooklyn.

For example, the month of April was veritably littered with holidays. Holy Week, especially important because of the Holy Year furnished a goodly number. Then all of the branches and sections of all of the numerous political parties stopped work for several days at a time to talk, giving their meetings flowery titles. Milan headed the list of municipal "international commercial affair," and also staged a congress of the dialects of Italy; Venice, an international book fair; Bologna, a Fascist intellectual congress; and Rome, an international are fair and a congress on scholastic philosophy.

Premier Ferguson Makes Statement before Leaving For England

(Special to The Intelligencer)

Quebec, June 11.—That the 4.4 beer now selling in the Province of Ontario had met with their approval and was considered quite satisfactory by the people of that province, was the statement made by Premier Howard G. Ferguson prior to his departure for England this afternoon on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of Scotland. In his opinion the present percentage of alcohol in the Ontario beverage was sufficient and he would not view with favor any suggestion to increase its alcoholic strength. Besides Premier and Mrs. Ferguson, many other British and Canadian notables sailed on the giant flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet among them being Lord and Lady Airdale and their daughter. The Empress of Scotland carried a general cargo of over 2200 tons included in which was a shipment of silk valued at $1,000,000 and destined to London from Kobe, Japan.

Winnipeg, June 11.—After witnesses had testified that George Schraeder, a resident of Elmwood, had refused to allow the use of his boat, the only one in the vicinity, for an attempt to save the life of 13-year-old Robert Beck, who was drowned in Red River on Saturday, a coroner's jury late last night brought in a verdict holding Schrader negligently responsible for the boy's death, and expressing the opinion that his conduct was such as to make him an undesirable citizen.

County Magistrate Hawkshawes, dismissed with costs on Saturday, the charge against Jesse Thompson, Dorchester thresher, accused of having abducted the 14-year-old daughter of Albert Schhram, a farmer. Harold Barnum of Alymer, who appeared for Thompson, arranged the settlement. The families are related.

James B. Thompson, for 37 years an esteemed resident of Ingersoll, died unexpectedly in the Hamilton General Hospital Saturday morning, where he underwent a serious operation during the week. He was public-spirited and had served very acceptably as a member of the Council, the Agricultural Society and of the Board of Education, having been chairman of the latter body.

Spotters

gone beyond what was necessary for them to do. Under the circumstances, where the boy was induced to break the law, the minimum was imposed. The boy's record to date has been clean.

In cross examination, Russell denied being a "whisky spotter" and a "stool pigeon." He would not tell Mr. Payne how many like him were in the "work". He went overseas in 1914 he said, and was in the Dominion police for two years before taking his present job. Prior to that, he was a G.T.R. brakeman for three years and had always lived in Toronto. Inspector Sarvis had instructed him to go to Picton, he admitted after asking that he be not forced to answer the question. He had been at Bancroft and Bloomfield before. He admitted telling the boy he lived at Welland, when he really lived at Toronto.

"It would not do to tell him I was a government officer," he claimed.

"Oh, I don't know," answered counsel, "If you were honorable about it, it might".

He also admitted telling the boy he was going back to Bancroft to fish. He told of taking his papers and belongings from his club bag leaning over from the front seat where he rode, to the back seat while Fleming drove their car along near the Bay Bridge. He wanted accused to place the bottles in his grip.

He admitted being attired like a fisherman, with long rubber boots, grey trousers, light hat and sweater coat. It would not be to his interest nor the interest of the department to have Fleming "deal" with accused as he could not make the arrest.

Russell was badly embarrassed when asked:

"Does a 'spotter' deserve any respect?"

Considerable wrath was demonstrated when counsel endeavored to have witness tell what his honest conception of the use of "spotters" was. Witness would not answer, and counsel inferred that he was so low down that he did not know right or wrong.

"Have you any conscience or idea?" he was asked. "Do you consider it the correct thing to do—incite people to break the law"?

Witness did not have to answer, the court directed at request of the Crown.

In discussing the terms of sale in cross examination, Russell was badly confused, at one time denying that a bargain was made. No money was paid to Russell.

Not a Spotter

Fleming was subjected to a similar gruelling in the box and when forced to produce his note book with the seal number of the seized bottle, his trembling hand showed that the fiery cross examination was taking its physical toll. He too, did not consider himself a "decoy", "spotter" or "stool pigeon", and on occasion asked, "How are you going to do it"? meaning how are you going to catch bootleggers?

Two others believed to be special officers connected with another case which is pending here, were in the court room taking an active interest in the proceedings. One of them made an entry in a note book when adjournment of the other case was announced.

Inspector F. J. Naphan told of sealing the bottle and making the necessary notations before it was taken to Sarvis at Toronto. Sarvis told on the stand of receiving the bottle and passing it on to the analyst.

Robert Stanley Russell of Toronto, Provincial officer for nearly 2 years, told on the stand of meeting accused at Picton May 29th. He had just met a younger brother who sent accused to see them while they sat in their government car in front of a billiard room. Russell told accused the party was from Bancroft and they wanted some liquor. Another officer was with witness in the car. Accused said he only had one case and if he gave it, he would be short. Fleming, the other officer, suggested 1-2 dozen bottles but Russell insisted on having a full case. Accused said he was afraid to deal with the strangers as a case was pending against him involving a fine of $1,000 and costs. Accused then asked Russel if he knew Benjamin at Bancroft. Russell said he did not but would look him up when he went back. This statement caused a ripple of laughter in court.

Accused then entered a hotel saying he would call an uncle in Belleville. He returned saying everything was alright and said that they could get the case at Belleville. Russell suggested leaving immediately for Belleville in the government car but accused drove in his coupe and the pair drove in the government car. It was arranged to meet at the north end of the Bay bridge and the route to be through Bloomfield. Rusell stopped the car and accused drove up. Russell walked over to the coupe and accused suggested taking the government car and he also desired to deal with but one man. Russell said he couldnt drive the car so accused offered to drive the car and leave Fleming with his coupe. At the railway tracks the accused stopped and said, "We had better have the other fellow instead of you. He turned the car around and they drove back." That fellow is just a big kid and he will not drive a car with liquor in it. Accused then told them to drive to a hotel after him in his car. Russell caught up again in the government car and trailed accused. Accused then told them to follow him to the C.P.R. station When accused came to the street leading from Dundas street to the station accused drove one block east but motioned them to drive to the station. They did and later he came back in his car. Fleming got out of the car and accused got in, and drove to the east end of the freight sheds where they stopped the car. He said he was scared to deal. Russell said, "The other fellow is scared too. I have two on my hands". "He's not half as badly scared as I am," accused answered.

He told Russell to stand around there and wait. Accused then drove east and turned north, returning in less than 5 minutes. He said he had it all in a grip and it would cost $65 instead of $60 as he had said at Picton. Accused had the 12 bottles in Russells personal club bag. As accused drove along he asked several times for the money. I felt my pockets for a time, then said, "You are talking to a Provincial Officer and you are arrested." He stepped on the gas and Russell pulled up the emergency brake grabbing accused by the neck. The wheels "screeched" along the pavement and Fleming ran, jumping on the running board. Accused was handcuffed and taken to the police station, and the liquor was taken to Inspector Naphan's office where the liquor was securely kept save for one bottle which Russell took to Toronto with him when he motored to Toronto that afternoon where it was handed over to Inspector Albert Sarvis who had it analyzed. It was 42.61% proof spirits by volume. All bottles were sealed.

Lloyd Gladstone Fleming, aged 22, who calls himself a special government Officer corroborated Russells story. He told accused they had a camp at Bancroft because he wanted him to believe they were camping up there. It was not true he admitted. The reason it was imperative for Russell to deal with accused was because Russelll alone had the power to arrest accused. Fleming worked for T. Eaton Co., before becoming an operator 16 months ago.

"Elephant Leg" Pants And Short Skirts

As Boys Favor Former, Skirts Become Shorter

London, June 11.—There has been much speculation among local tailors and male members of the smart set whether royalty would take up the "elephant leg" trousers which have proved very popular this spring at Oxford.

There was quite a suggestion of flowing fullness in a blue-grey suit worn by the Duke of York when he opened the Wembley Exhibition Garden Club recently, which caused no end of comment. The duke's trousers were just full enough to swing a little as he walked.

Reports that "bag" or "bloomer" trousers, as introduced by the university students, are to be worn this summer has been welcome news to the cloth trade at Bradford, which has been in the doldrums since short skirts for young women became the rage.

Arctic Explorer is Right in Style in Ice Regions

Dr. Donald MacMillan, famous Artic Explorer who sail from Boston, June 17, to fly over the Arctic Ocean on a flight of discovery not second in importance to the trip made by Christopher Columbus, dresses when in the Far North as do the natives of that frigid region. "We have learned," he states, "that the way to be comfortable and healthy in the North is to adopt the dress and food customs of the natives." But en route to the top of the earth, and even while there in what he calls "mild summer weather" when the thermometer registers around 70 much of the time and flowers and grass grow and butterflies and birds thrive, Dr. MacMillan is wont to wear warm clothes such as he would wear when at home in the same temperature.

His outfit includes several sweaters which are warm and soft as well as easy to pack as they do not crush too much and serviceable as every sportsman knows. Some of his favorite sweaters are knitted by hands, the gifts of friends. An old friend is finishing a beautiful, many colored afghan of Germantown yarn for him to take along.

BELLEVILLE TEAM DEFEATS OSHAWA 5 TO 4 AND WINS FIRST GAME OF THE C. O. B. L. SEASON

Belleville Won First of Season

Oshawa Beaten Here Yesterday in Ninth Inning Rally

A small crowd of fans witnessed the most interesting game of the season at Agricultural Park yesterday afternoon, when Belleville administered a 5 to 4 defeat to the visiting Oshawa team. All the snappy features of good baseball were packed into the nine innings exhibition.

After Oshawa had lead all the way right up to the last half of the ninth, Belleville scored two runs and won their first game in the C.O.B.L. this year.

Chuck Jeffery pitched and to him goes a great deal of the credit for the victory. The left-hander in turn owed much to his team mates who pulled him out of a couple of bad holes by brilliant fielding. Dainty hurled for Oshawa and put in a good day's work. He kept the hard hitting Belleville crew to nine hits and had those nine scattered pretty evenly through the fixture.

Walt Gerow used Blakely at short and sent Weir to the third sack. Peeny Mills went behind the plate and the rest of the team were in their regular places.

Mills Brothers There

The Mills brothers had a great day. Peeny smashed out two triples, one in the first and the other in the ninth. The latter was largely responsible for the two runs that put Belleville into the win column.

Harry covered himself with glory by batting out the single that brought Peeny home in the ninth and by picking off a skyscraper at first base to complete a double play.

With Weir at third, this corner was strengthened considerably. At that he had three errors chalked up against him by the time the game was over.

Blakely looks promising. He has a snappy swing at bat and collected a clean double first time up. Although he had two muffs during the game, he showed a nice whip.

Belleville did not start to score until the sixth although the locals had good opportunities in the first three frames. With two down in the opener, Peeny Mills tripled to centre, a beautiful deep drive. Harry Mills followed and poled another out in the same spot, but he was robbed by a nice catch by R. Fair.

Again in the second, Meagher walked and Blakely laid down a sizzler just inside third base, good for two bases. And with Meagher on third and Blakely on second, Casey and Jeffery flied out to Rowden.

Ross singled to right in the third innings and stole second. He stuck there while Peeney flied out to centre field and Harry Mills fanned.

Started in Sixth

Belleville broke into the scoring in the sixth with the aid of a couple of errors a sacrifice and a neat single. Morrison, Oshawa's short-stop, let Peeney's grounder go through his legs. Harry Mills got on on a fielder's choice, Peeney being forced at second, Rowden to Morrison. Harry went to second on a sacrifice and romped over the plate when Meagher placed a pretty safety over the third baseman's head.

It was a procession for Belleville from then on, Gerow's men scoring another in the seventh, one in the eighth and two in the ninth.

In the seventh, Casey doubled to left, stole third and came home on a hit through short by Ross.

Blakely scored in the eighth. He drew a pass, stole second and tallied when W. Fair dropped Casey's drive to the left garden.

That made the score four to three for Oshawa at the end of the eighth. Oshawa had scored in the third, fourth, seventh and eighth.

Jeffery retired Oshawa handily in the ninth and Belleville went in to bat with Weir up. Vern waited for four balls, travelled to second on a sacrifice by Ross and was brought in by Peeney's triple to left field. That tied the score to the great satisfaction of the fans present. Harry Mills finished the job with a long safe drive to centre field.

A Great Catch

It is altogether likely that Harry Mills saved the game by the catch he made in the fourth. Morrison had tripled to right field and scored on Warde's single through short. Dugan followed with a low drive to Meagher who handled the chance perfectly. Meagher threw to first to catch Warde off the bag, but his throw was away off and looked entirely out of Mill's reach. The big fellow must have borrowed wings, however. He jumped four feet, more or less made a perfect catch and was back on the base in time to get Warde. Had the ball passed Mills, Warde would likely have scored as Alger came through right afterwards with a long safety to left.

Belleville fell into an old trap in the eighth with Blakely on first and Hagerman on third. Blakely started to second, Tyson, the Oshawa catcher faking a throw to second. Hagerman commenced to gallop in home, but Tyson's throw was a low one to Dainty. Hagerman was caught high and dry between the bags, Tyson to Warde.

Sullivan behind the plate had an off day in calling them, but neither team had any strong kick coming. Kay was on the bases.

Intermediate Fixture Starts At 5.30 O'clock at Exhibition Park

Deloro Intermediate baseball team will stack up against the Belleville Intermediates in a regulation league game here this evening. The game is slated for 5.30 o'clock and the place is Exhibition Park here.

There are a number of good teams representing good live district towns in this league which opened recently and a season of good ball is promised. The Belleville team is made up of a good crowd of experienced men and younger comers and Deloro has always had a snappy organization of ball tossers.

Fans are presented with an opportunity of seeing two good teams in action.

WANTS HIS AMATEUR CREDENTIALS

Friends of Mickey Compeau in Kingston are already preparing to have him reinstated as an amateur. Compeau played professional baseball this season with the Kitchener team in the Michigan-Ontario League, but was released when it was found that he did not measure up to the standard required in that circuit. All the time-worn arguments probably will be avanced in his behalf, but there is a tendency on the part of the amateur authorities to tighten rather than relax the amateur definition and its application to professionals. At the recent world Olympic Congress at Prague, Czechoslovakia, the principle, "once a professional, always a professional," was given new emphasis and universal endorsement. There has been too lax an enforcement of amateur law in this country and too much whitewashing of money-grabbing athletes. As has been so often stated, there is no general objection to the athlete who is avowedly and openly a pro., but too many repentent professionals of that stripe have been restored to amateur ranks through holes wantonly ripped in the amateur definition. The trend is now in the opposite direction.—Toronto Globe.

WARHAM—REED

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Tuesday evening, the 9th inst. at Emmanuel Rectory, when Miss Evelyn Blanche Reed was united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony with William Percy Warham, both of Belleville. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. George Marshall. On their return from a tour in the West, the young couple will continue to reside in this city.

KERR—STEWART

Miss Phyllis Gertrude Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Stewart, 16 Moira West, was united in marriage at high noon to-day to Rev. Alexander Skeoch Kerr, M.A. The ceremony took place at John street Presbyterian church, Rev. Douglas Ramsay tying the nuptial knot. The church was crowded almost to capacity with the many friends of the bride and groom throughout the city. The sacred edifice was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The bride who appeared most charming in a wedding gown of ivory georgette with beaded petals and who carried a beautiful bouquet of lilies of the valley, was given away by her father. Her bridesmaid was Miss Elizabeth McEwen, her sister, who wore a dress of orchid georgette with French embroidery, a black picture hat and carried a bouquet of sunset roses. Little Miss Isabel Stewart, a cousin of the bride, wearing a shell pink taffeta dress and carrying butterfly roses made a very attractive flower girl. Dr. William Kerr, nephew of the groom, acted as best man. Mr. Evan Barlow and Mr. Wm. McIntyre were the ushers. Mr. James Bankier sang during the signing of the register and Mr. D. Nicholson played the wedding march.

Following the ceremony, the party went to the home of the bride's parents, where a buffet luncheon was served. The happy couple then left at three o'clock for Toronto, where they will start on a motor tour into the United States.

Seattle, June 10.—Artificiality of surroundings, noise and gasoline fumes from motor traffic are described as the reasons for animals in the Woodland Park zoo here killing themselves and dying from disease. Last season, frightened at a steady stream of automobiles four deer charged into the corral fence and broke their necks.

"Taken from the quiet surroundings of their native haunts into the noise and gas laden air of the park," said Dr. Knudson, director of the zoo, "the animals loose interest in life and die, if they are not frightened to death."

London, June 11.—Ninety sacred baboons from Abyssinia have just reached the London Zoo and, until acclimatised, will be put into a cage supplied with radiant heat and light. Sheltered ledges outside the cage will be electrically warmed by rays of artificial sunshine.

Senator G. W. Norris, of Nebraska, who is heading a campaign for the development of Muscle Shoals as a public ownership enterprise under the United States Government, spent some time Saturday in consultation at London with Sir Adam Beck at "Headley." Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

His master shot a warning glance at him.

"There is not room," said Leslie, in a low voice, but the duke held up his hand.

"Please do not trouble," he said; I am not going any further. I only want to speak to this gentleman coming along. I beg you will not trouble to move the easel. Artists must not be disturbed, or the inspiration may desert them," he added to Francis Lisle wth a pleasant smile.

"Thank you, thank you," said Lisle, still clutching the easel; but Grey had turned the chair with its front to the sea, and the duke called to Yorke, who had come upon them at this juncture.

"What a pretty place, Yorke!" he said. "Have you had your stroll? Shall we go back?"

Yorke had discreetly kept behind the chair and out of sight of his cousin's sharp eyes.

"All right," he assented.

"Will you give me a cigar?" said the duke.

Yorke came up to the chair and put his hand in his pocket and thoughtlessly extended the cigar case.

"Thanks. Good gracious! Why, it is soaking wet! Hallo, Yorke," and the duke screwed his head round. "Why, where have you been? What have you been doing?"

Yorke flushed and cast an appealing glance at Leslie's downcast face. To be made the center of an astonished and absurdly admiring group, to be made a cheap twopenny-halfpenny hero of, was more than he could stand.

"Oh, it's nothing," he growled. "Had an accident—tumbled into the sea."

"An accident!" exclaimed the duke, starring at him. "Tumbled in the sea! How did you manage that, in the name of goodness!"

Yorke got red, and looked very much like an impatient schoolboy caught playing truant or breaking windows.

"What's it matter!" he said. "Fell off break-water. Go and get the cigars, Grey; I'll look after his——"

The duke cut in quickly before the word "grace."

"Nothing of the sort," he said. "You get home and change your things. Fell off the breakwater!" He stared at him incredulously.

Mr. Lisle too, gazed at him with blank astonishment, as if he were surprised to find that it was a man and not a boy in knickerbokers who might not unnaturally be expected to tumble off the breakwater.

Leslie meanwhile stood with downcast eyes, then suddenly she said, adding the other two:

"This gentleman swam in to save Dick, papa; that is why he is wet."

The duke scanned her face keenly, and smiled curiously.

"That sounds more probable than your account, Yorke. It is a strange thing," he turned his head to Lisle, "that a man is more often ashamed of committing a good or generous action than a bad one. How do you account for it?"

Mr. Lisle looked at him helplessly, as if he had been asked a conundrum which no one could be expected to answer.

"Because there is always such a thundering fuss about it," said Yorke, stalking off.

The duke looked after him for a minute or two, apparently lost in thought, then he turned to Lisle again.

"You are an artist, sir?" he said.

Mr. Lisle flushed.

"I am at least, an humble worshipper at the throne," he replied in the low nervous voice with which he always addressed strangers, and he resumed his painting.

The duke signed to Grey to help to get out of the chair, which was so placed that he could not see the canvas.

Grey came round and in opening the apron let the duke's stick fall. Leslie hesitated a moment, then stepped forward and picked it up. The duke took it from her with a faint flush on his pale, hollow cheeks.

"Thank you," he said. "I am afraid I could not get on without it. At one time I could not walk even with its aid. Please don't say you are sorry or pity me," he added with an air of levity that barely concealed his sensitive dread of any expression of sympathy. "Everybody says that, ou know."

"I was not going to say so," said Leslie, looking him full in the face, and with a sweet gentle smile.

He looked at her with his unnaturally keen eyes.

"No,' he said, quietly. "I don't think you were. And this is the picture——" He stopped as he looked at the awful monstrosity, then caught Leslie's eyes gazing at him with anxious, pleading deprecation and went on, "Singular effect. You have taken great pains with your subject, r. ——"

"Lisle—my name is Lisle," he said, hurriedly. "Yes, yes, I have not spared pains! I have put my heart into my work."

"That is quite evident," said the duke with perfect gravity, and still regarding the picture. "And that which a man puts his heart in will reward him some day; does, indeed, reward him even while he works."

"True, true!" assented the dreamer, with a gratified glance at the speaker and at Leslie, who stood with downcast eyes, to which the brows were dangerously near. "It is with that hope, that heart, that we artists continue to labor in face of difficulties which to the careless and irreverent seem insurmountable. You think the picture a—a good one, sir; that it is promising?"

The duke was floored for a moment, then he said:

"I think it evidences the painter's love for his art, and his complete devotion to it, Mr. Lisle."

The poor dreamer's face had fallen during the pause, but it brightened at the diplomatic response when it did come, and Leslie casting a grateful glance at the pale face of the cripple, murmured in his hear:

"Thank you!"

The duke looked at her with a glow of sympathy in his eyes.

"This is your daughter, I presume, Mr. Lisle?" he said.

Lisle nodded.

"Yes," he said. "My only child. All that is left me in the world—excepting my art. You are not an artist also, sir? Pardon me, but your criticism showed such discrimination and appreciation that I was led to conclude you might be a fellow-student."

The duke hesitated a moment.

"No," he said, quietly. "I am not an artist, though I am fond of a good picture——" poor Lisle gazed at the daub and nodded with a gratified smile. "I am what is called—I was going to say a gentleman at ease, but I am very seldom at ease. My name is Temple, and I am traveling for the benefit of my health."

Lisle nodded again.

"You will find this an extremely salubrious spot," he said. "My daughter and I are very well here."

The duke glanced at Leslie's tall, graceful figure, and smiled grimly.

"But then she is not a cripple," he said.

"A cripple!" Mr. Lisle looked startled and bewildered. "Oh, no; oh, no."

The duke smiled and leaning upon his stick, seemed to be watching the painter at his work, but hi se yes wandered now and again covertly to the beautiful girl beside him. He noticed that her dress, though admirably fitting, was by no means new or of costly material, that he gloves were well worn and carefully mended in places, that her father if not shabby, had that peculiar look about his clothes which tells so plainly of narrow means; and when Leslie, becoming conscious of his wandering glance, moved away and stood at a little distance on the edge of the quay, the duke said:

"Have you disposed of your picture, Mr. Lisle?"

Francis Lisle started and flushed.

"N-o," he replied. "That is, not yet."

"I am glad of that," said the duke, "I should like to become its purchaser, if you are disposed to sell it."

Lisle's breath came fast. He had never sold a "picture" in his life, had long and ardently looked forward to doing so, and—and, oh! had the time arrived?

"Certainly, certainly," he said, nervously and his brush shook. "You like it so much? But perhaps you would like some others of mine better. I—I have several at the cottage. Will you come and look at them?"

"With pleasure," said the duke. "Meanwhile, what shall I give you for this?"

Lisle gazed at the picture with pitiable agitation; he was in mortal terror lest he should scare his customer away by asking too much.

"Really," he faltered, "I—I don't know its value, I have never——" he laughed. "What should you think it was worth?"

The duke ought, if he had answered truthfully, to have replied, "Rather less than nothing," but he feigned to meditate severely, then said:

"If fifty pounds——"

Poor Lisle gasped.

"You—you think—I was going to say twenty."

"We will say fifty," said the duke as if he were making an excellent bargain. "You have not finished it yet."

"No, no," assented Lisle, eagerly. "I will do so carefully, most carefully. It—it shall be the most finished picture I have ever painted."

"I am sure you will do your best," said the duke. "I will accept your kind invitation to see your other pictures, and now I must be getting back. Good

"Yes, yes! Good-morning! What did you say your name was?"

"Temple," said the duke.

He glanced at Leslie, arised his hat, was helped into his chair by Grey, who had stood immovable and impassive just out of hearing and was wheeled away.

Lisle stood all of a quiver for a moment, then beckoned to Leslie.

"What is it, dear," she said, soothingly, as she saw his agitation. Had the crippled stranger told him what the sketch was really like?

"That—that gentleman has bought the picture, Leslie!" he exclaimed in a tone of nervous excitement and triumph "You see! I told you the day would come and it has come. At last! Luck has taken a turn, Leslie! I see a great future before me. I only wanted some one with an appreciative, artistic eye, and this Mr.—Mr. Temple is evidently possessed of one. He saw the value of this at once. I noticed his face change directly he looked at it."

Leslie's face gradually grew red.

Women Plan For "Comty" Club House

Women of Glencoe Plan Club House of Comfort And Beauty

Glencoe, Ill., June 11.—Originating in 1869 as a reading circle, then step by step into a circulating library and literary club, the Woman's Library Club of Glencoe, affiliated with the Federation of Women's Clubs, plans the construction soon of a clubhouse which will stand as a monument to the principles and achievements of its pioneers, and headquarters for the activities of the present day woman.

The club is the fourth oldest woman's organization in the United States and from its inception has shared its purpose with the development of the community. That spirit is carried into the building program of the new structure, which will be the first unit of the Glencoe Plan of future commercial and residential growth. It has been designed to fit in harmoniously with the village plan of building.

With its ground site, the clubhouse will have a value of approximately $250,000. The cost will be met by the club membership. From the sources which are expected to use the clubhouse, the building committee estimates an income of $24,980 and disbursements of $15,760, leaving an annual surplus.

The architectural features of the project are striking in their individuality and comfort. The modified English style of Tudor was adopted because it met the desire of the women for a rustic, informal and uncitified type of architecture, carrying with it the feeling of the suburb and the homelike.

The building, although broken by wings, bays, gables and offsets, will be drawn together in one harmonious unit. The exterior will be of rough stone, timbered above. It provides for women's dressing rooms, spacious corridors an auditorium with a large stage, lounge stage dressing rooms, dining room, kitchen, pantries, offices, balcony, committee rooms, projection room, men's club room, smoking room and ample storage space, with additional basement rooms in connection with the heating and fuel compartments.

Bertram C. Young, assistant treasurer of the Paige Detroit Motor Car Company, died at his residence, Detroit, following a short illness. He was 56 years old.

Sheets soak themselves snowy white in Rinso

One of the hardest tasks on washday used to be the washing of big, heavy sheets. You had to rub and rub away at the sheets and afterwards you were so tired that the rest of the day was spoilt for you.

Today, no more of that back-breaking labour is necessary. Just let the Rinso soap-suds do this work for you! It soaks dirt right out. Rinso dissolves instantly and completely in boiling water.

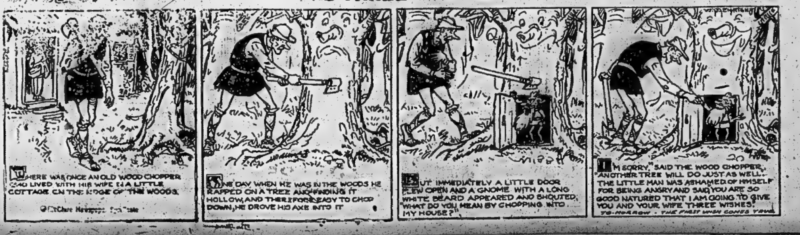
ONCE UPON A TIME — THE THREE WISHES I

by W. J. ENRIGHT.



THERE WAS ONCE AN OLD WOOD CHOPPER WHO LIVED WITH HIS WIFE IN A LITTLE COTTAGE ON THE EDGE OF THE WOODS.

ONE DAY WHEN HE WAS IN THE WOODS HE RAPPED ON A TREE AND FINDING IT HOLLOW, AND THEREFORE EASY TO CHOP DOWN, HE DROVE HIS AXE INTO IT

BUT IMMEDIATELY A LITTLE DOOR FLEW OPEN AND A GNOME WITH A LONG WHITE BEARD APPEARED AND SHOUTED, "WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY CHOPPING INTO MY HOUSE?"

"I'M SORRY," SAID THE WOOD CHOPPER, "ANOTHER TREE WILL DO JUST AS WELL." THE LITTLE MAN WAS ASHAMED OF HIMSELF FOR BEING ANGRY AND SAID "YOU ARE SO GOOD NATURED THAT I AM GOING TO GIVE YOU AND YOUR WIFE THREE WISHES."

RINGLING BROTHERS AND BARNUM & BAILEY COMBINED CIRCUS

Hurrah! Hurrah Again ! !

A real five-ring circus is coming to Belleville and its the first and only one in the entire solar system!

Such is the extraordinary announcement of the contracting press agent of the great Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined circus which will positively be here Thursday, July 2, to exhibit both afternoon and night.

The first of the three publicity cars to proclaim the wonders of the Greatest Show on Earth arrived this morning with fifty advertising men in charge of Col. George Godhart. These harbingers of the amusement colossus are colorfully announcing the forthcoming event for miles around today.

The mammoth program presented by the circus this season is said to exceed in newness and extent in gigantic entertainment ever witnessed.

With the addition last winter of enough performing horses to bring the Big Show's total to three hundred and fifty the problem presented to the Ringling Brothers was: "How handle five troupes of them in a single display?" The limits of the show grounds in many cities forbade lengthening the main tent. None of the stages could be spared. All were needed for the big collective groups of human actors. Then somebody suggested that though the "big top" paraphernalia could not be cut down nor yet "spread out", there was no reason why it should not be "built higher." That suggestion was worked out and now, in addition to the three dirt-floored rings, two additional rings have been constructed to fit over the tops of the steel structured stages.

This is the greatest innovation since the Ringling Brothers started their super-circus policy by combining their own with the Barnum & Bailey circus. It has opened the way not only for trained horse numbers in sets of five but for other big, new displays.

Though there are more than eight men and women arenic stars now presented, only a few of the most brilliant appear singly. Instead they are presented in imposing ensemble. These groups extend over the entire length of the huge main tent—seven, nine, as many as eleven troupes in action at one time. In keeping with this plan of giving the spectators at the ends of the tent just as much "show" as is enjoyed by those nearer the center, five herds of elephants are now presented instead of three. A hundred clowns distribute their caperings in all parts of the "big-top."

The hippodrome track is utilized more than ever before. At one time it is completely circled by one hundred and fifty trained horses, each ridden by an expert, in an amazing ballet and "Fete of the Garlands." Again it is filled with glittering pageants, with splendid high-school horses or remarkable thoroughbreds that give thrilling exhibitions of lofty hurdling and hazardous high-jumps.

Service's Novel Adopted to Screen

"The Roughnecks" a Thrilling Tale at Belle Theatre To-day

"The Roughneck" coming to the Belle Theatre to-night and advertised as a "novel of life for every red-blooded man and woman," lives up to the description. It is described as an extraordinary story of thrilling battles in the prize ring, of South Sea Islands and beachcombers, of the riff-raff and interesting derelicts of civilization seasoned with more than a full share of romance and adventure in San Francisco and Tahiti.

Adapted from the Robert W. Service novel, "The Roughneck," by Charles Kenyon and produced by William Fox, under the skillful direction of John Conway, the picture moves with the vigorous rhythm of the Service verse; often, in fact, one is carried away by the colorful treatment, according to advance reports.

To those who have enjoyed the virile, he-man writings of Mr. Service, "The Roughneck" is certain to bring delight. The story is replete with exotic adventures enough to satisfy the greediest consumer of romance.

"The Roughneck" is being hailed as one of the most poular releases of the season.

The character portrayal of John Moon by George O'Brien is said to be a superb piece of acting and his physical prowess and pleasing personality add much to the interpretation. He is ably supported by the beautiful Billie Dove and an excellent cast including Harry T. Morey, Cleo Madison, Ann Cornwall and others.

It is reported in London that the name of Thomas Jones, building contractor, has been finally recommended for appointment to the vacant clerkship of the First Division Court.

Jackie Coogan is at Griffins Now

Playing in "Little Robinson Crusoe"; Canadian Wrote Story

Willard Mack, who wrote "Little Robinson Crusoe," Jackie Coogan's new Metro-Goldwyn picture, now playing at the Griffin Theatre, is one of America's best-known playwrights and actors. His real name is Charles McLaughlin, and he is a native of Harrisburg, Ontario, although he has spent most of his life in the United States.

Mr. Mack was graduated from Georgetown University and immediately went on the stage. After several years playing in various productions, including a fling in Shakespearian roles, he tried writing a play. It was a failure, but soon after he scored his first writing success with "In Wyoming."

Since that time he has added innumerable successes, including "The World and the Woman," "Scandal Alley," "Men of Steel," "God's Country," "So Much for So Much," "Miracle Mary," "Kick In," "King, Queen, Jack," "Broadway and Buttermilk," "Too Many Husbands," "Blind Youth," "Breakfast in Bed," "The Big Chance," "Near Santa Barbara," "Smooth as Silk," "Let Me Explain," "Her Market Value," "The Scarlet Patrol," "Red Bulldogs" and "Tiger Rose."

"Little Robinson Crusoe" is his first story written directly for the screen. It was produced under the supervision of Jack Coogan, Sr.

STUDENTS HOLD MEETING

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Pekin, June 10.—Students of Capital City today are holding a monster demonstration in protest against the action of the Foreign authorities in quelling recent strike riots in Shanghai. They also are distributing Anti-Foreign literature declaring Shanghai affair was "most brutal and cold-blooded atrocity in human history.

Ride to Hounds In Long Skirts

Fashion is Returning to Side-Saddle

New York, June 11.—The American horsewoman of fashion is definitely returning to the side-saddle. Riding masters and horsemen call the growth of her preference for the flowing riding habit of her grandmother's day over modern boots and breeches the conspicuous feature of the indoor riding season just closing. Whether it meant equestriennes as a whole would eventually forego riding astride entirely they did not all agree.

Miss M. L. Thompson, riding mistress at The Riding Club, an exclusive organization off Fifth Avenue, said the side-saddle was coming back largely through influence of riding etiquette abroad. The present revival here traces largely to the Long Island hunting set, she said, many of whose members ride to hounds in England and on the continent.

Miss Thompson explained it was the sporting thing in this country, when a woman suffered an ordinary fall at a hunt, for her to take care of herself so other riders would not have to fall behind the pack in coming to her assistance.

In England, according to Miss Thompson, men riders felt they had to stop and pick up a woman. They relished such delays, however, not at all. So a visiting American woman always found herself told politely in advance of her first hunt overseas that riding astride would not do. It was deemed less secure than riding side-saddle, increased the danger of her leaving her horse's back too much like a bolt, she was told and particularly added to the chance of her becoming a burden upon the men. If the visitor ignored the hint she became very unpopular.

American women had accordingly learned to conform, the riding mistress said. Returning home to spread the new riding gospel on this side, they had become the pioneers to whom the single stirrup owed its present vogue. Awards such as the Mrs. John F. Bloodgood prize of $500 at the National Horse Show for putting hunters with side-saddles over fences showed further the prevailing number of such riders today.

Sentiment at Meadowbrook and the Monmouth County Hounds supported Miss Thompson's view. Horsemen there insisted the side-saddle was far safer for a woman than riding astride. Some asserted that it was next to impossible for a trained woman rider thus seated to be thrown from even the rangiest hunter, unless a girth snapped or the horse itself went down.

The Brooklyn Riding and Driving Club added similar endorsement. This was qualified with doubt, however whether some of the more athletic girls might not still hold to the man's saddle. This was deemed especially likely as "flat, slim boyish figures" were undeniably chic wearing boots and breeches.

The riding masters thought the increase of horseback riding among children was the next most interesting development of the season. Classes at tanbark schools had never been larger, they said, and ranged through all ages down to as tender years as six and seven. They hailed this development of love in the young child for the ever lovable horse as one of the surest safeguards of the future of the American bridlepath.

South American Art On Exhibit

Artists of South America to Exhibit at Los Angeles

Los Angeles, June 11.—Five hundred oil paintings and etchings by leading contemporary artists of North, Central and South America will be brought together here for a three-month display when the Pan-American Exhibition opens November 3, this year, at the Los Angelus Museum.

The exhibition, in which paintings by artists from Canada and the United States of North America, Mexico and Panama of Central America, and Brazil Argentina, Peru and Chili of South America, will be exhibited, will mark the first representation in this country since 1915 of the southern continent's art. Argentina, in 1915, entered a remarkable exhibit in the Panama Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco.

Paintings by Diego Rivera, of Mexico, considered by art critics as one of the greatest living artists; Juan Charlot, also a Mexican painter and Manual Vega, a Cuban, one of the younger Havana painters, will be exhibited.

A few portraits by the late John Singer Sargent, American artist, will be part of the exhibition.

Other prominent North American artists whose canvasses will be shown are Frederick Carl Frieseke, Karl Cossatt, John F. Carlston, T. W. Dewing, Daniel Garber, John R. Grabach, Robert Henri, John C. Johansen, Leon Kroll, Ernest Lawson and Elmer Schofield.

Immediately following the close of the exhibition here, January 1, 1926, the Latin American section will start on a tour of the important museums of the United States and the North American section will be sent to the capitals of Latin America.

Honorio Pueyrredon, ambassador to the United States from Argentina, has accepted an invitation to speak at the opening of the exhibition.

GERMAN JUDGE NAPS IN WORKING HOURS

Berlin, June 11.—A judge who was found napping has given rise to a far reaching controversy in Germany. In the course of events this question was referred to the German Supreme Court at Leipsic, which came to the strange decision that his honor may safely take his little snooze now and then, for in passing judgment it is his body, not his mind, which is the principal factor concerned.

As was to be expected, this decision has again evoked heated discussion among the best known jurists in the country. Prof. I. Goldschmidt, the legal authority at the Berlin University expresses his opinion thus:

"One cannot expect a judge to give his undivided attention to the proceedings. He is obliged to sign documents, to receive messages and to answer numerous whispered questions during the trial. But if it is positively proved that he has been asleep, the case becomes prohibitive, for sleep signifies loss of consciousness, and also irresponsibility."

RED CROSS SCHOOL TURNS OUT NURSES

Warsaw, June 11.—The Warsaw Nursing School, founded by the American Red Cross and still supported in part by it, has celebrated its third commencement exercises. Twelve diplomas were issued to young girls who had finished a two years' course.

Miss Bridge, the head of the school, spoke in Polish, which she has mastered since 1021. The work of the school is so highly appreciated that the Polish government has set aside a sum of money for a new building.

MAN DROPPED DEAD AT UNITED MEETING

Toronto, June 11.—Tragedy marred the opening of the inaugural services of the United Church of Canada. J. C. Crow, aged 72, registrar of deeds at Welland, who was sitting to the rear of the platform, dropped dead in his seat just as the procession of delegates entered the Arena.

H. B. Crow, of the Sun Life Insurance Co., a son of the deceased, was acting as usher in another part of the building when his father collapsed.

N. H. Crow, of the Provincial Treasurer's Department, another son, arrived at the Arena a few minutes after his father's death.

Miss Idess Huber, graduate nurse, passed away suddenly in the Kitchener and Waterloo Hospital, due to a blood clot following an operation.

UNITED CHURCH COUNCIL WADES INTO BIG WORK

Fifteen Committees Struck Off at Toronto This Morning

MUCH TO BE DONE

Re-organization Demands Are Amazing in Their Details

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 12.—Fifteen committees, varying in size from ten members to ninety-six, were appointed by General Council of United Church this morning to undertake the work of preliminary organization. All committees will report later to the Council. Some of the matters which will engage the attention of committees are, formation of presbyteries, settlement, and transfer of ministers and church properties.

With organic union consumated and its spectacular ceremonies over, the United Church of Canada yesterday began to grapple with the multitude of questions embracing law, property, settlements, finance, ritual and numberless matters of detail that it now faces, and the First General Council of 350 members, meeting in the Metropolitan Church, plunged into the vortex and although somewhat bewildered, emerged at the end of two sessions able to announce some progress. Matters were not helped by the misunderstandings that arose through the different terminological conceptions that were held, according to ecclesiastical usage in the three united churches. For half an hour at one stage there was a debate as to the propriety of using the term "commission" instead of "committee", in a certan resolution, and it finally transpired that according to the intention of the framers of the resolution it did not really matter. The Presbyterian members also could not resist using "moderator" in addressing the chair, while the Methodists alluded to the "president". It was agreed finally to address "Mr. Chairman", until such time as a permanent appellation is decided on.

Rev. Robert Laird, D.D., chairman of the Agenda Committee, held the stage for most of the afternoon, and explained the great amount of material that had to be grappled with, coming from the three Churches and arising out of the Church Union Act, and the basis of Union. Dr. Laird was successful in getting passed resolutions referring certain matters to the property committee while a commission was authorized to deal with permanent organization. There was some hesitancy on the part of individual council members in delegating all these matters to committees, but finally the council had to admit that this was the only way in which business could be done.

Many Committees

An idea of what is to be done will be gathered from the list of committees authorized, whose personnel will be announced this morning. They were as follows: Titles, duties and methods of electing presiding officers, etc.; annual conferences, number, boundaries, representatives to General Council, etc.; regulations governing formation of Presbyteries settlement and transfer of ministers; method of temporary administration of departments; membership of commission on permanent organization; church property; finance; life and work of the Church; statistics; historic materials; church architecture; addresses to the King. On at least two of these committees it was announced that each member of the Council would be expected to serve. A question respecting the portraits and the trustees of Knox College was referred to the business committee.

Hon. W. C. Mikel,
Mayor, City of Belleville,
Ontario, Canada.

Dear Sir:—I am writing at the direction of the Mayor to acknowledge receipt of your letter of June 4, 1925, informing him of your selection of Tom Mason of your city to walk from Belleville, Ontario, to Chicago, Illinois, arriving here about July 18th, 1925.

It will be a pleasure to extend every courtesy to Mr. Mason.

Yours very truly,

Says He Got Liquor From Toronto Man

Young Man Convicted Thursday Appears Again To-day

Jacob N. Yanover, who was convicted here Thursday on a charge of keeping liquor for sale, appeared again today when an effort was made to find out where he procured the case of liquor which he sold to two Provincial officers on May 29th.

Yanover said he got the twelve bottles at the corner of Dundas street hill and George street. It was at the intersection.

"Who did you get it from?" asked Crown Attorney Donnan.

"From a Toronto man named Silverstein or Finklestein," answered the boy.

"You mean Nicotine," reminded defence counsel, C. A. Payne.

"Well I suppose that is as far as we can go under the act," said the crown.

Ocean Blend Co. Appeal Is Heard

Was Charged with Peddling Tea Without a License

Judgement was reserved by County Judge G. E. Deroche this morning, in the case of the Ocean Blend Tea Co. vs. Morden Bird, J.P. of Stirling.

This is an appeal against conviction secured by Bird on April 22nd.

The case grew out of a complaint of John Tanner who alleged that the Ocean Blend Tea Co. was peddling tea without a license. The company was fined $40 and costs.

By agreement, evidence submitted at a former hearing was allowed to stand. J. E. Walmsley, Geo. Wallbridge and W. H. Panter, tea merchants, were witnesses for the prosecution.

Among other interesting points brought out, was the claim by the Company that it is a manufacturer because it blends teas in Ontario. The Company contended that because of this fact it could peddle such teas without a license.

W.S. Herrington, K.C., appeared for the Company; W.C. Mikel, K.C., for the prosecution.

Viscount Poulet has accepted King Albert's invitation to form a new Belgian ministry.

Dr. C. J. L. Bates, M.A.D.D., of Kabe, Japan, president of West Japan College, who is in Toronto as fraternal delegate from the Methodist Church of Japan to the general council of the United Church of Canada.

SECRETARY OF Y. M. C. A. GOES SEPTEMBER 1st

R. C. Sidenius Tendered Resignation to Board Last Night

MANY ACTIVITIES

Report For Month of May Reveals Varied Interests

R.C. Sidenius, Secretary of the Y.M.C., tendered his resignation at a meeting of the Board of Directors last night, to take effect September 1st. His resignation, which will end three years' service in his present capacity, was accepted.

The Board formally expressed appreciation for the efficient services of the Secretary. No intimation of the successor was forthcoming today.

Mr. Sidenius has been in Y.M.C.A. work for the past ten years, having been on the travelling staff of District Y's for seven years before he came to Belleville. He has been attached to Districts in the West, as well as in the Maritmes. The duties of a country or community secretary are to organize the activities of young people in those areas which are not served by a Y.M.C.A. building.

It is this type of work which appeals to Mr. Sidenius most strongly, he found after a trial of the stationary secretaryship.

Bailey Case Was Dismissed To-day

Not Proved Point Anne Man Knew Wine Strength

A charge of having liquor in a place where it was unlawful to have it, which was preferred against Charles Bailey of Point Ann by Inspector F. J. Naphan was dismissed by Magistrate S. Masson in police court at 12.30 o'clock to-day.

The Magistrate held that it had not been proved that accused nor any member of his family knew the dandelion wine in question was stronger than 2 1-2% Crown Attorney Donnan will appeal the case.

As a result of evidence adduced at the trial, Mrs. Margaret Bailey, wife of accused was charged with keeping liquor in a place where it was not lawful to have it, and Mrs. Sarah Barnhardt, a witness was charged with giving liquor to Mrs. Bailey in a place where liquor cannot be lawfully kept. Bail of $200 was granted, Bailey supplying the bonds

These cases will be tried here June 9th.

E. J. Butler, defence counsel, was greatly irritated when the two new charges were laid and suggested to the crown that such action would make the O.T.A. more unpopular.

The Crown explained that other conditions in the matter which he could not yet disclose, caused him to lay the charges.

This is an unusual case arising from three glasses of wine which Bailey's daughter, Lottie, gave Jack Reid, a Milltown boy, to drink one afternoon at his request. Reid became intoxicated and asked two Point Ann men to drive him home. They were later arrested in Belleville on drunk charges, which implicated Reid, who implicated Bailey and resulted in six arrests. Bailey lost the right to have liquor by reason of a conviction in January for keeping liquor for sale.

Mrs. Sarah Barnhardt told on the stand of giving the bottle of wine which she had made, to Mrs. Bailey to "try it out". That was 11 a.m. May 26th. Twelve hours later Inspector Naphan seized the remainder of the bottle.

Bailey on the stand, said he did not know the wine was in his house as he had been at work all that day. He did not see it until Inspector Naphan had it and he then asked Naphan if he might taste it. The request he said was refused.

Mrs. Bailey told of receiving the bottle of wine from her friend Mrs. Barnhardt and of pulling the cork. They tasted the wine and had one drink. It was too bitter so they did not drink much of it saving a drink for Bailey when he returned from work. Lottie Bailey hid the bottle in the coal pile so the children would not get at it. Mrs. Bailey did not see any harm in taking the wine.

"I believe that on a former occasion you told me you gave wine to your baby", reminded the crown.

"Yes, I take it at church, so I do not believe it is harmful to take it at home," she replied.

Mrs. Barnhardt, the wine manufacturer told of making a gallon from dandelion blossoms, sugar, oranges and lemons. She brought the bottle to Bailey's house about eleven so they could try it. She never noticed any "kick" in it as they did not keep it long enough.

Jack Reid told of visiting the Bailey house about 1.30 o'clock this afternoon of the day they received the wine. He talked awhile and asked for a drink. There was no water in the house, Mrf. Mrs. Bailey said, so she instructed her daughter to give him a drink of the wine.

COUNTY RATE IS INCREASED BY ONE MILL

Uncontrollable Expenditure Is Shown as Cause By Council

REPORTS PRESENTED

New System of County Roads Beink Worked Out

As intimated by Warden W. E. Wiggins in his address at the opening session of Hastings County Council the tax rate this year will be 1 mill higher than last year. This increase is caused by increased uncontrolable expenditure consisting of $29,915.94, the County's share of upkeep on Provincial highways, $20,000 as the County's share of the proposed paved road to Corbyville and $20,000 on bridges.

The tax rate last year was 13 mills, whereas this year the rate will be 14 mills.

The following is the report of the Finance and Public Property Committee submitted yesterday afternoon:

"At the January session of the County Council, various matters were referred to the Finance and Public Property Committee for their attention.

County Roads Insurance

After careful consideration by your Committee, it was deemed to the best interest of the County to have this Insurance taken out, and on Febraury 9th, a Policy was arranged for with the Globe Indemnity Company for a period of one year for the sum of $706.50.

Judge Logie's Complaint in Reference to the County Court House and Judges' Room

After investigating the conditions of the Court House and Judges' Room the Committee decided on certain improvements and appointed the chairman and County Clerk to have same made.

The Judge's desk was widened and re-varnished; a platform some eight inches high built for the Court Clerk, Crier and Court Reporter; the matting on the floor taken up, cleaned and replaced; the Judges' Room thoroughly cleaned, woodwork re-varnished, suitable couch provided, furniture repaired and re-varnished where required, at a cost of $183.00.

Request of County Bar Association For New Solicitors' Tables

Three new tables were purchased from the Thompson Furniture Company at a cost of $102.37. These tables were of special design and required to be constructed to order. The improvements have added greatly to the appearance of our Court Room, and we believe that we now have a Court Room that will compare favourably with any Court Room in the Province, considering our necessities and financial position.

Re-Decorating Shire Hall

Your Committee decided that the Council Chamber should be renovated and re-decorated and the chairman and County Clerk were appointed a sub-committee with power to act.

The ceiling was cleaned, repaired and muresceod; the paper removed, walls repaired and re-papered; the carpet taken up, cleaned and replaced; the window blinds repaired and new ones provided where necessary; the woodwork, desk and linoleum cleaned and re-varnished; picture moulding was put up and pictures cleaned, repaired and hung.

No repairs had been made for many years and were very badly needed, and we trust that the work done on Shire Hall will meet with the approval of the Council.

School Medals

This matter was also left with the chairman and Clerk, who investigated, and have a design to submit prepared by Mr. Willard Mitchell. The scroll will cost $30.00 on paper, and $35.00 if parchment is used. The Scroll, as designed, will contain name spaces for twenty-five years, the permanent Gold Medal would cost in the neighbourhood of $20.00. Your Committee would recommend that if this plan is adopted, that a suitable die of the County Coat of Arms be procured so that the cost of the yearly Medal may be greatly lessened.

Police and Strikers Figure in Serious Clashes

MUCH LOOTING

Stores Entered and Stock Stripped; Building Burned

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Sydney, C. B., June 12.—Five hundred troops who left Halifax late last night by special train are expected to arrive at the centre of yesterday's strike disturbance this afternoon, and in co-operation with special police will take control of the district which is now in ferment due to excesses committed by strikers yesterday and last night. Following an alarming day which saw one striker slain by a police bullet and dozens on both sides wounded in a fight between police and strikers at the New Waterford Power Plant, rioting and looting broke out last night and many of Empire Steel Corporations stores were raided and stripped of stock. Late in the evening, the company's two stores at the New Waterford store at Aberdeen and a store at Reserve were looted as well as a wholesale grocery store conducted by Solomon Undovin at New Waterford. During the night a wash house at New Waterford was destroyed by fire. Attacks on other company proporeties were reported. Detachment of about fifty police arrived in Sydney this morning under Captain B. Curry. Latest report from New Waterford is that power plant has been badly wrecked by strikers and that three months will be required to put it into commission again.

SHIRT SLEEVES AT OTTAWA

(From the Kingston Standard)

Well, thank Heavens, the House of Commons at Ottawa has as last done something—thought at that it had to go into secret session to do it.

It seems that in the recent hot weather a few of the palpitating M.P.'s actually so far forgot themselves and the dignity of the House that they appeared in the Sacred Chamber in their shirt sleeves. The reason for this, so some aver, was that these members merely desired to cool themselves off, but there be small-minded souls who offer a different reason, this namely, that the House wanted to prove to the world at large that it could not be said of it, as one of Shakespeare's warriors said:

> "There's but a shirt and a > half in all my company."

In any event four or five of our Distinguished Statesmen appeared in the House, sans coat, with in evitable result that Dignity was affronted and at once went into secret session to determine what Fate should be meted out to the recalcitrant Members—whether they should be hanged, drawn and quartered or merely admonished.

Just what transpired at this memorable session no one knows, so far as actual details go, but of the result we all now know, since the Edict has gone forth that hereafter shirt sleeves are taboo and absolutely null and void. For be it known, the Commons is really Polite Society—and, as every one knows, no man should appear in polite society except clothed in full regalia as well as in his right mind.

But what the eager, expectant, enquiring public wants to know is whether the real cause of the agitation was because of the look of things generally or the appearance of the exposed shirts. Surely, surely, it could not be the latter reason; surely, surely it could not be said of any of our $4,000 per session Parliamentarian beauties at Ottawa:

> "Their faith through faithless > leather met the dirt
> "And oftener changed their prin > ciples than their shirt."

However, whatever the reason, from this time on the shirt-sleeveless Brigade at Ottawa will not longer be in evidence and any man, woman or child may from hereafter safely enter the Sacred Precincts without the risk of being shocked to death by any such sight as that which must have shocked the poet Pope when he wrote:

> "Pealed, patched and piebald, > linsey-wolsey brothers,
> "Grave mummer; Sleeveless > some and shirtless others."

HINDENBURG'S CHANCE

Insofar as the Allies' demands on Germany, compliance with which is the price that must be paid for evacuation of the Cologne zone, conform to the terms of the Treaty of Versailles they must be regarded reasonable. The disarmament of Germany is required by the Treaty and was agreed to by the signatories for the vanquished state. What shall constitute disarmament is described in the Treaty. It is the right of the Allies to determine whether or not the provisions have been carried out. That they have not been carried out is the judgment of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Belgium. The joint note just handed to the government at Berlin makes this plain.

Some of the demands may seem harsh, but they are just, all the circumstances considered. If Germany is wise she will delay but little in complying. It may be conceded that some little time will be necessary to quiet popular resentments against foreign interference with German domestic affairs that the note will arouse. But the Germans might as well make up their minds now as later that they cannot escape heavy penalties for the dreadful war crime committed by their country. The quickest way out is through compliance. They can improve their moral position this way and gain material advantages that will be denied them until they do comply. Germany is entitled to security as long as she behaves properly. She will have no less security disarmed to the full extent of the Allies' requirements than she has now.

President Hindenburg has a chance to prove the quality of his statesmanship. If he can carry the government and people along the right course he will serve Germany and Europe faithfully and well.

NATURE LORE

By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

To draw a crowd, all one has to do is to start a row. People will come from far and near to see who gets the worst of it, and woe betide that party.

One day I was sitting in a woodland glade, watching the various birds going about their business of destroying bugs, worms and insects, when a warning note told me that a hairy woodpecker was about to enter the little clearing.

You know, a hairy woodpecker is about the size of a robin, in body, possibly a tiny bit smaller, but in any case, a woodpecker of respectable size. He is boss of the situation, for the other birds of ordinary size usually give him ground.

This hairy woodpecker had his wife along. They had hardly entered the glade when they noticed a red squirrel coming out of a newly made hole. Now, I don't swear that the hole was theirs, but it must have been their newly made nest, for they accepted his presence there, as a challenge.

It was speaking about hair that made me think of this story. The hair certainly did fly. The red squirrel is a thief and a bird's nest robber, and he may have been eating their eggs. If he had a feed of woodpecker eggs, he paid for them at top prices.

The female hairy would fly at him with a wicked swoop or dash, which seemed to be a feint, to confuse the squirrel, for I noticed that the birds worked with a wicked team-like action. I thought it was very funny at first, but was soon sitting up, taking notice, for the birds meant business. The female would make the fake attack and the squirrel was fast in recovering but not fast enough to avoid the attack of the male woodpecker, who crippled him in the left hind leg and removed a kin and hair at times. The squirrel was beaten to a finish but got away.

When I looked about, I had to laugh. Almost every point of vantage was occupied by some bird or animal, interested in the fight. The Hairy Woodpecker is black and white. The male has a red spot on his head.

Press Opinions

BRITISH RUBBER RESTRICTION

(New York Evening Post)

The proverbially long-headed British finding themselves in our debt, looked about for something they had which we do not have, but must get. Rubber met every requirement. America must have it and they had a monopoly. The Stevenson Restriction act was the answer. Production fell and prices rose, storerooms emptied and the profits poured in. The British lion waved his rubber tail.

LOCAL TRADITIONS

(London Daily Telegraph)

The time has long gone by when there was any danger to be feared from the different tendencies of different parts of the country, from the north and the south taking opposite sides in a civil war or a conflict of religions, from the east and the towns joining against the rest of England. The peril of the future is rather in the mass production of citizens not sufficiently interested in the places of their birth to care for local affairs, local traditions, local customs, local life. For unless a population is firmly rooted to the soil and to the past, history bids us fear that its vigor will decline.

MONROE AND MEXICO

(Philadelphia Ledger)

The United States is determined that law and order shall no longer be the exception in Latin-American republics, and is, therefore, interested in the preservation of the Calles government, just as it was in that of Obregon's when it was threatened with overthrow by Adolfo de la Huerta. The differences between the United States and Mexico are fudamental; but so are the bonds that unite the two countries economically and politically. Much moral suasion is necessary to keep Mexico a good neighbor. If that fails, Mexico may repeat the error of its ways.

NOBODY HOME

Stratford Beacon-Herald:

The Toronto Star remarks that after you have seen a hundred motors go by on the highway to Hamilton you wonder who is at home minding the children. But possibly the children are not at home; they may be out driving automobiles.

MUSIC AND PATRIOTISM

Chatham News:

A member of the Toronto Board of education has expressed the opinion that the teaching of music in the public schools should be confined to patriotic songs. The objection presents itself at once that mostly the singing of patriotic songs is not music, any more than the beating of a drum is patriotism.

WAR AND THE AUTO

Louisville Courier Journal:

In 1924, 19,000 human beings were killed and 450,000 were injured by the automobile in these United States... This casualty toll of 469,000 Americans levied by the automobile in the year 1924 is numerically 50 per cent. greater than was the total casualty toll for the American armies and navies in the nineteen months while the United States was at war with Germany.

A BILL TO SETTLE

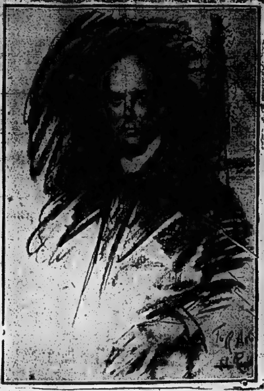
Indianapolis News:

There is always a day of reckoning for people who resort to inflation and excessive borrowing, as we found during our civil war and the years following the great struggle. Obligations must be met—or repudiated. The contrast between British and French financing and their results is sufficiently illuminating. In finance to postpone the evil day is only to make it more evil when it finally comes.

MENACE OF BOLSHEVISM

London Times

It is a fact that the soviet government of Moscow, which daily proclaims its set purpose of overthrowing all governments in the rest of the world, has developed, in addition to its directly revolutionary organizations in various countries, a subtle system of propaganda among sections of opinion that are vaguely humanitarian and adrift among confused emotions . . . Little societies are started with professedly humanitarian, scientific or literary objects. People who would not call themselves Communists are there brought into close association with others, whose main purpose is the world revolution. Ideas and sentiments spread; points of view are established; resistance is weakened. In the meantime purely revolutionary work is carried on in the trade unions and elsewhere, and these widely ramified operations are linked up in a system. The bolsheviki are particularly active just now. Perhaps they are desparate, but at any rate they are active, and it is as well to watch the shadow carefully.



Mr. Robert Holmes, O.S.A., R.C.A., whose paintings of Canadian wild flowers in the haunts where they live, has become as much a specialty with him as horses were to Rosa Bonheur. Froma charcoal sketch by John Russell, of Paris.

To-day's Smile

A few minutes after the alarm was given in a California hotel fire, one of the guests joined a group of friends who were watching the spectacle, and chaffed them on their apparent excitement.

"Ther was nothing to be excited about," he said. "When the alarm sounded I jumped out of bed, lighted a cigarette, brushed my hair, and took my time about dressing. I didn't like the knot in my necktie, so I tied it over again—that's how cool I was."

"Fine," one if his friends remarked;" but why didn't you put on your trousers?"

Eastern Canada's heat wave caused a run on the ice stores. Children with all manner of vehicles can be seen waiting the arrival of a new supply.

Interesting News From Surrounding Places

WOMAN THOUGHT RACCOON WAS DOG

Kingston, June 12.—To open the front door with the intention of patting what she considered a fine little dog and find that it was a full-sized raccoon was the experience of Mrs. C. D. Powles, 500 Johnson street on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Powles, who was alone in the house at the time, heard a noise on the verandah in front of the house and went to the door. As she opened it she put her hand forward, with the intention of pating the animal, which emitted a terrible growl.

Mrs. Powles became alarmed and called her husband and S. Hill, who were working in the garden at the rear of the house. When the two men came to the front of the house they beheld a raccoon masuring about thirty-four inches in length. The animal went over to the corner of the porch and climbed up one of the posts. It was decided by the two men to try and take the animal alive. A ladder was secured and placed against the verandah, and one of the men went up and grabbed the animal and carried it down to the ground. The raccoon showed fight and Mr. Powles got a very bad bite on the hand and blood poisoning is feared. A bite from the animal severed one of the arteries in Mr. Hill's body and there was a great flow of blood from the wound.

The two men were trying to place a rope around the neck of the animal when they received the severe wounds.

After the fight with the raccoon, the men let it go. On Wednesday morning to their surprise they saw the animal still on the premises, so they decided to kill it. A gun was secured but the gun refused to fire and the raccoon disappeared.

Acid In Stomach Causes Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Re County Publicity

This matter was given attention by your committee, and on April 8th the Clerk was instructed to advertise the resources and tourist attractions of the County in two American and one Canadian magazine, and to procure the necessary stationery. This has been done—all enquiries promptly answered and correspondence kept up with those with whom we had previously corresponded. One hundred and fifty booklets have been sent out since the last meeting of the Council but as our supply of booklets is becoming limited, these are now only sent upon request.

Since the January Report the expenses for February, March, April, May, and up to and including June 9th have been as follows:

Stenographer—28 days at $2.00 per day—$56.00.

There are still the accounts for Stationery, and Advertising to be paid which will amount to approximately $100.00.

At the meeting on April 8th, the Secretary was requested to keep track of letters sent and other transactions connected with this Department, so that some idea of the business could be determined. Since that date, 165 letters have been sent, 3 advertisements prepared and 74 interviews given by the Secretary. This does not include phone calls and other minor matters connected with the service. We cannot express the situation better than in the language of Mr. J. O. Herity, in his recent report to the City Council, who observes:

"It might also be well to state here that there is a disposition upon the part of those who do not quite understand its nature to look for results quickly in the work I am endeavouring to carry on. It required over two years of continuous effort to bring to a successful issue the negotiations that were being conducted with two of the industries now located in Belleville. Others have acted more quickly, but generally speaking it requires months, and even years, of correspondence, interviews and salesmanship to bring about a definite and final conclusion."

Expenditure Justified

The splendid results obtained by the Publicity of the City of Belleville has fully justified their expenditure and we should realize that an active tourist trade to the County of Hastings would equal many industries to a place like Belleville, although not so directly noticeable, owing to the fact that the benefits are scattered over a much larger area. Should the Publicity Programme result in the development of the numerous important resources of the County, the small expenditure required would be many times repaid to the Rate Payers of the County of Hastings.

We would, therefore, recommend that if the Publicity Department is to be continued, that a By-Law be passed by this Council in accordance with Sub-section 5, Section 408, Chapter 12-13, George V., which times the County power to expend a reasonable amount for publicity purposes, and this By-Law could also designate some systematic course of procedure, which could be continued for a sufficient period to obtain results.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) C. B. McGuire, Chairman.

The following is the report of the roads and bridges committee:

Roads and Bridges

We herewith present for your consideration and approval our report of the County system of Roads and Bridges. On March 25th, we commenced our tour of inspection. This being a much earlier date than in former years, but our object in doing so was to see the roads in their most adverse condition and also to have plenty of time for organizing the seasons work in order to get good results from the first of the season.

Our county system comprised of 501 miles of approved roads and 20 miles of unapproved, as well as 33 miles of Prov. Highways. We have in our employ 18 foreman on for the full season, and 3 others for part time with an average of 60 teams and teamsters, and 80 laborers making a pay roll of over $500.00 per day, not including patrolmen which are not under steady employment.

Met Advisory Committee

A committee which was selected by the Warden on request of Minister of Highways to meet the Advisory Committee of the Government, re the adjusting of our road system was called to Toronto, where they met with similar committees from several other counties. The road plans and etc were submitted to them by the Dept. Minister, Mr. Squires and Chief Engineer, R. C. Muir and a report of anticipated changes no doubt will be submitted to you during the session for approval.

After going over the entire mileage we had formulated a plan of what we considered a well balanced system reaching market centres and giving a fair distribution in each minor Municipality, which would eliminate one hundred and fifty miles.

In order that you might get more detailed information from our report, we will submit our finding under the various branches of our work under separate headings.

Under the new Act there will only be one class of roads and fifty per cent will be paid on all roads, machinery, salaries, etc.

Drainage

1st. Drainage. Anyone familiar with roads realizes that this is a very important consideration in road construction. In our early inspection we found that many grave defects to drainage were caused by brush, etc., along edges of road beds, ditches and ends of culverts, which held snow and ice longer than in other places, changing the water from its proper course and going in places of least resistance causing more or less damage to the surface and the grade. Culverts form a very important factor in drainage and these beyond reasonably repair are being replaced with metal or concrete as local conditions would determine up to June 1st. We have had installed 37 metal and 12 concrete pipes.

Grading

2nd Grading. We find in a well graded road with proper crown that the action of the frost and rain in the Spring does not seriously affect the road bed and extends the life of the surface material. We are also of the opinion that where extensive grading is being done that the proper right of way should be arranged for by having fences put on proper lines so that all surplus stone and material useful for grading can be used and thereby having a clean road way. We find that in negotiating for right of way that prices asked are out of proportion to value in many cases.

Surfacing

3rd Surfacing.—Where good clean gravel is available we would advise its use as we get a much smoother surface. It is cheaper to apply and more satisfactorily maintained. We are experiencing some difficulty in getting materials for surfacing in some sections and in such cases we would recommend that preparation be made during winter months when practical. Up to June 1st, 31 miles have been surfaced with either stone or gravel. There has also been applied 40,000 gallons of liquid asphalt chiefly on roads in villages. This is costing 15c per gallon applied, and not including the cover cost of sand.

In our opinion, where a good macadam surfaced road has been constructed and stone costing $1.50 per yd., that it is advisable to use a surface treatment of liquid asphalt annually.

Patrol

4th. Patrol. A properly organized patrol system is very much in need to maintain our roads. Not only is a patrol system necessary to keep the surface properly dragged, but to take care of defects which may occur in culverts and bridges, to remove brush, open ditches and take charge of all minor repairs, which can be more economically affected than with road gangs.

We have under consideration when our mileage is adjusted to reorganize our Patrol system by re-arranging the sections and retaining only Patrolmen who are giving the service for which we are paying, and the co-operation of every Reeve is necessary to meet with success.

Bridges

5th. Bridges. We made a careful inspection of all bridges and those recommended for construction, have been approved by the Bridge Committee and their report will deal with them. Seven steel bridges are under consideration for painting. Namely, Kerr's, Cannifton, O'Brien's, Stoco, Maine's, Fairfields and Boundary.

Tenders have been asked for, and will be awarded according to their merits. We believe it to be very important that the painting be well looked after as steel deteriorates very rapidly if allowed to become rusted.

Machinery

6th. Machinery. Our equipment consists of four large crushers, and two smaller types four of which are in operation, three rollers, two in operation and working satisfactorily, having been overhauled at a cost of $400.00. The other one is where we are unable to get it out for several weeks, on account of water, which was a grave oversight in having it stored at this particular place. Nine large graders and ten of smaller type are in use. We find that we do not have enough work for many large graders and would recommend exchanging a couple for the patrol type.

Recommendations

7th. Recommendations. 1. That all machinery and equipment be properly stored and painted, as conditions would justify to cut down depreciation. Estimated value of machinery is $23,000.00.

2. That something should be done on the road at Kemitite Mine as we believe it to be a very dangerous place.

3. That the swamp road south of Marmora should be drained if possible as we believe it could be very cheaply done.

4. That all bridges, not on County system and under a width that would not draw a subsidy from the Government revert back to the Township in which they are located.

5. That wages of roller and tractor engineers be forty cents per hour after giving one year of satisfactory service.

6. That wages of foremen be in proportion to their responsibility.

That the Villages in the County should devise some plan by which they might put down some permanent street and do away with oiling each year, and we believe that the Government will pay so much to the Villages if they put down such streets.

8. That as we have many springs along our roads we think where possible, we should have suitable troughs installed.

9. That a levy of 7½ mills on the dollar for roads, bridge repairs and machinery be set making an appropriation of $131,811.75 which is a decrease of $13,184.25, under last year, and that the above appropriation be expended under the direction of the Road Committee, Chairman and Superintendent.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

DELORO 7, BELLEVILLE 4; KINGSTON IS PEEVED AT PETERBORO ATTITUDE DURING THE GAME

Delore Nine Wins From Intermediates

Fair Crowd Sees Deloro win 7-4

Deloro Intermediates defeated Belleville Intermediates here last evening in a game which opened loosely but tightened as it proceeded. The score was 7-4 and a number of fans saw the two teams go.

After the first two frames, Belleville outplayed and outscored the visitors but the loose work of their infielders in the first two innings, when Deloro sent five runs over, two in the first and three in the second. Belleville garnered two runs in the fourth, one in the sixth and one in the seventh. All Belleville runs were earned by clean hits, the opposition making erroneous ball in the innings when runs were made.

Shea pitched fair ball for Deloro until the eighth when he faltered and Beal replaced him on the mound. Jim Hunter pitched a good game for the locals and the blame for defeat goes to loose fielding.

Harold Woodley handled the game.

Kingston is Sore Over Petes' Game

Claim Visitors Fooled Game Away After Fifth Innings

Kingston, June 12.—In a game that started off like a million dollars and ended up like thirty cents, Kingston defeated Peterboro here at the Fair Grounds on Wednesday evening by the score of 14-7 taking sweet revenge for the defeat administered to them in Peterboro last Saturday when the Petes gave Manager Daley and his boys a 15-1 beating. A great battle had been expected by the fans and considering the weather conditions, there was a large crowd out. For about the first five inings they were given pretty good ball but after that the Peterboro clan, realizing that their chances were about cooked for the day, began to fool things away and Heckman with his smile, tried to convey the impression that he was not trying. The result was that the celebrated Peterboro hurler, though just why he is celebrated is hard to understand, gave a poor exhibition and made a joke of the remainder of the game and "Hap" Harrison, assisted by Manager Johnson, finally succeded in putting the game on the rocks and the majority of the fans left the field dissatisfied.

How Peterboro can get away with this sort of thing is beyond understanding. This is not the first time that the Petes have pulled this very same stunt. With Jakie Solomon in charge, the same big Heckman made a joke of a game here last season when he saw that his team was not going to come out anywhere near the top. If Peterboro or any other club is going to be allowed to get away with that sort of thing, then it's time the C.O.B.L. called a halt and made them either play ball or get out of the league altogether. One more game with fooling like Heckman, Harrison and one or two others put up towards the close, will kill the game quicker than anything the writer can think of.

But to get back to the game itself. For five innings the teams battled merrily on and although Kingston took the jump in the first two innings, scoring two runs in the first and one in the second. In the fourth they got to Heck and pounded the spoiled baby to a fare-theewell gathering in four good hits, one of which was a three-bagger by Teepell, who, by the way, got two of these last evening, and a two-bagger by Somerville, netting four more runs. Heckman pitched hard in the fifth and the first three went out but after that he hauled down the sails and let the old game drift for itself. Harrison relieved him of pitching duties and did no better. "Shiner" Johnson took a hand in the proceedings and went to first base to perform and the whole team was all balled up with nobody caring a hoot whether it was won or lost.

Eye Strain and the Nervous System

IT IS BEING APPRECIATED more and more that there is a close and intimate relation between the general nervous system and the function of seeing.

Eye strain can cause many functional disturbances by its effect upon the nervous system. Remove the eye strain and the troubles disappear. Possibly I might help you and your eyes. If not I don't hesitate to say so.

Made Plucky Capture of Runaway; Dragged Hundred Yards

Toronto, June 12.—Dragged for more than one hundred yards hanging to a rein Thomas Webb, 218 DeGrassi street, brought about one of the most plucky captures of a runaway which menaced motor and pedestrian traffic on Bloor street west at noon yesterday, which the police have recorded in many months.

The team, the property of the George Lawrence Bakery, took fright when the driver was attempting to get on the wagon near Runnymede road and bolted. Colliding with a street car their fright increased and they dashed madly east along Bloor. Part of their harness was broken and with each bound one of the animals was struck on the lower part of the leg by the wagon.

When the hill by the mineral baths was reached Webb saw them coming and sprinting alongside caught a rein but was carried to the pavement. He pluckily hung on realizing the danger to citizens ahead. For over one hundred yards the maddened animals ran until his weight brought them to a standstill.

A police official stated that he had never witnessed a more plucky exhibition of nerve and grit than was exhibited by Webb.

Returning the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Bungalow camp, from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmonton, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Fort William to Port McNicoll thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

"What—what has he given you for it, dear?" she asked.

"Fifty pounds!" exclaimed Lisle, exultingly. "Fifty pounds! It may not be as much as it is worth; but it is a large sum to us, and I am satisfied, more than satisfied! I wonder what he will do with it? Do you think he will let me exhibit it? I will ask him—not just now, but when it is finished. I must finish it at once! Where is my olive green? I have left it at home. Bring it for me, Leslie; it is on the side table."

She went without a word. At the corner of the street she overtook the invalid chair, hesitated a moment, walked on, and then came back.

The duke peered up at her from under his brows.

"I want to speak to you," she said, her breath coming and goin quickly.

He motioned to Grey to withdraw out of hearing, and struggling to keep her voice steady, Leslie went on:

"I want to thank you—but, oh, why did you do it? I know—you know that it—it is not worth it—why?"

The duke smiled.

"Do not distress yourself, Miss Lisle," he said, gently. "You refer to my purchase of your father's picture?"

"Yes!" she said, in a troubled voice "It was kind of you, and it has given him, oh! you cannot tell what pleasure."

"Yes, I think I can. It is not the money."

"No."

"Just so. I understand. And don't you understand that I have bought something more than the sketch? Miss Lisle I'm not the richest man in England,"—he was just within the truth—"but I can afford the luxury of bestowing pleasure on my fellow creatures now and again. Please don't begrudge or deny me that! I have not too many pleasures," and he glanced downward at his stunted figure. "Of the two, I fancy I am more pleased than your father. Don't say any more, and please don't look so heartbroken, or you will rob me of more than half my satisfaction. Miss Lisle, forgive me, but I think you love your father?"

"Yes; oh, yes!" she breathed.

"Very well, then," he said. "Be careful you do not let him see that you think he has got too good a price for his picture. Let him be happy; happiness comes too seldom for us to turn it aside with a cold welcome."

Leslie looked down at the worn and lined face with eyes that glowed with gratitude.

"I—I can't thank you, Mr. Temple!" she said, in a low voice, that thrilled like some inquisitive music. "You have made me happy, and—at, I can't tell you what I feel!" and she trembled and turned up the street.

The duke looked after her with a wistful expression on his pale face.

"She is an angel at present," he said. "But tell her that I am the Duke of Rothbury and she will become transformed into a harpy, and want to marry me, like the rest. Grey where are you? Have you gone to sleep? Are you going to keep me here all day?"

CHAPTER VI.

Taking a Sail

The moon rose early that evening and flooded Portmaris with a light that transformed it, already picturesque enough, into a fairy village beside an enchanted ocean. Leslie sat at the open window of her room, her head resting on her hand, her eyes fixed on the sea, now calmly rippling as if it were rocking itself to sleep in the moonbeams.

Her father had gone to bed, early as it was, worn out with his long day's work and the excitement produced by the sale of his picture and Leslie was free to recall the events of the day.

Her life hitherto had been so gray and sober, so uneventful, that the incidents which had been crowded into this day had olmost bewildered her.

She ought, in cimmon fairness to that individual, have thought first and most of Ralph Duncombe; but it was upon that other young man who had plunged into the waves to reach Dick that her mind was fixed.

Beauty, man's beauty, doesn't count much with women; indeed, it has been remarked by the observant that some of the ugliest men have married the prettiest girls, and it was not Yorke's handsome face which had impressed Leslie. It would be hard to say exactly what is was in him that had done so; perhaps it was the frank smile, the free and musical laugh, that devil-may-care air if his, or the pleasant voice which seemed to float in through the window upon the moonbeams and find an echo in Leslie's heart. Once or twice she tried to cast him out of her mind. There seemed to hhr something almost approaching unmaidenliness in dwelling so much upon this stranger; the young man whom she had seen for only a few minutes, and whom she might never see again. Why she did not even know his name, or at any rate only a part of it. "Yorke," Mr. Temple had called him, and she murmured it absently. "Yorke." It seemed to her to fit him exactly. It had a brave, alert sound in it. She could fancy him ready for any danger, any emergency. He had plunged int othe waves after Dick as if it were quite a matter of course that he should do so, had done it as naturally as if there were no other course open to him. She could see him now, as he came out, with Dick in his arms, his hair plastered on his face his eyes bright and laughing.

And how anxious he had been to avoid any thanks or fuss! It was wicked of him, of course, to tell a story and account for his besoaked condition by stating that he had fallen off the breakwater—Leslie smiled as she thought of the thinness of the excuse—but she understood why he had fibbed, and—forgave him.

"Don't you like this Mr. Yorke, Dick?" she said to Dick, who lay in a contented coil on her lap. "You ought to do so, for if it had not been for him you would be at the bottom of the sea, little doggie, by this time."

Probably Dick would have liked to have retorted, "And if it hadn't been for him I shouldn't have gone in at all."

Then her thoughts wandered to the crippled hunchback and her heart thrilled with gratitude as she thought of his kindness; Mrs. Whiting had said that he was a nobleman, but there had evidently been a mistake; very likely the simple-minded landlady had concluded that no one traveling with a man-servant could be less than a man of title.

Leslie thought of the two men—but most of "Yorke"—and all they had said and done for some time before Ralph Duncombe insisted upon his share in her reflections, and as she thought of him, she sighed. She pitied him, and was sorry for him, but she did not want to see him again. He had frightened as well as touched her by the passionate avowal which had accompanied the ring.

The ring! She had utterly forgotten it! She put her hand in her pocket, turned it out, but the ring was not there. What had she done with it? It was fast closed in her hand, she remembered, when she heard Dick's piteous yap; and then she had sprung up, and run down the beach. She must have dropped it among the pebbles.

Her heart smote her reproachfully. The least she could do in return for the passionate love Ralph Duncombe had lavished so uselessly upon her was to keep the ring! She rose, troubled and remorseful. The tide had been going out when she dropped it; it was not likely that it would be seen by any one, and it was probably lying where it had fallen. She seemed to see the plain gold circlet lying there in the silent night, neglected and despised.

Her hat and jacket lay on the bed; she snatched them up, put them on hastily, and left the house.

A light burned behind the windows of arine Villa opposite and she glanced up at it, trying to picture to herself the two men in the sitting-room; the one so strong and stalwart, the other so weak and crippled.

As she went quickly down the street she was conscious of a new and strange feeling; it was half pleasant, half painful. It seemed to her as if some spirit of change had entered her quiet, peaceful, uneventful life, as if she were on the verge of some novel experience. The feeling disquieted her. She looked up at the stars almost hidden by the haze of the glorious light thrown broad cast by the moon, and there came into her mind some verses—they were from the Persian, though she did not know it—which she had seen under a picture in one of the Academy exhibitions—

Love is abroad tonight; his wings
Beat softly at Heaven's gate!"

Murmuring the musical lines she passed to the quay and leaping lightly onto the beach, made her way to the breakwater.

At Griffins

After witnessing "Little Robinson Crusoe," Jackie Coogan's latest Metro-Goldwyn picture, which opened at the Griffin Theatre last night, the wonder arises why this film wasn't made sooner It is so obvious that Jackie should appear in a juvenile version of the famous Robinson Crusoe story—the famous boy star in the immortal tale of a desert isle.

Only this isle, as pictured by Willard Mack, who wrote the story, is far from uninhabitated; it is filled with cannibals and right there is the material that makes this feature one of the most humorous and entertaining films of the year. Jackie's adventures realize to the full every dream of boyhood days, and it is, for once, not too much to say that the picture is a "knock-out".

Perhaps the only critism we can make of this production which was supervised by Jack Coogan, Sr., is that it is too short. We could stand a great deal more of the comedy and adventurous stuff which are woven so skillfully into this story.

At The Belle

"Which makes the better picture, the succesful book or the successful play?"

This was the subject of a conversation of a group of William Fox directors and scenarists who had gathered in the spacious lounging room of the William Fox-West Coast studios and feeling the "hunch" of good copy, I edged or rather "listened" in on the group.

The latest release, "The Roughneck" now at the Belle theatre, had just been completed and as Charles Kenyon, who wrote the scenario for the Robert W. Service ultra-sensational novel, and John Conway, the director, were both present, they were asked for opinions.

Conway straightway passed the buck to Kenyon, who is studiously reticent, but in this case he seemed willing to talk.

"I have always believed that neither a successful book or a successful play will make a good picture unless it has real picture value," he said. "There are thirty-six dramatic incidents in all literature, but many of these are taboo in pictures on account of censorship. However, the world insists upon as many of these situations as possible being in the picture.

"In the written story we resort to descriptions that paint the character or show emotion, on the stage while we visualise the character, we resort to speech. In the picture we have only a mean substitute for speech in the subtitles and if we have too many, it slows up the action and your picture drags.

"Everything depends upon speed, logical speed. Your story must be completed in approximately an hour and a half whether it is a two-volume story of a three-hour drama.

"Your picture must be a direct swift moving, visible narrative.

"While I have prepared scenarios from many books as well as plays, I do not believe that I ever discovered better picture material in a book than in "The Roughneck."

"It resolves itself into a simple story running the gamut of human emotions and dramatics."

For The Girl Graduate

APPARENTLY the only excuse for boys at graduation time is to provide an effective background for the girls' pretty white dresses at the graduating exercises. At any rate the boys are never feted or showered with presents as are the girls. They would probably hate it if any one did attempt to give a party for them, but not so the girls. They revel in lovely dresses and parties with dainty food and decorations.

A luncheon for the girl graduates is not only appreciated because it is another party but because it is a sort of grown up form of entertainment—an initiation so to speak into the realms of their elders.

In planning such a party, arrange the menu and the decorations and the entertainment just as carefully as you would for a group of your own friends. Above all do not serve anything childish in the way of desserts. Try to give the affair a sophisticated grown-up air.

Flowers The Loveliest Decoration

For decorations of course there is nothing lovlier than flowers. A very attractive table is achieved with a center piece of vari-colored posies arranged in an attractive container, with individual tiny corsage bouquets of the same flowers at each plate.

The girls can busy themselves for the first few minutes after sitting down, by pinning on the flowers, or, if ribbon is provided, by tiding them on each others' wrists.

The first course, a fruit cocktail, may be on the table when the guests sit down. It should harmonise in color with the flower decorations.

A most attractive cocktail is made of watermelon and cantaloupe balls cut out with a round vegetable cutter, and arranged in a bed of ice.

If a soup course is preferred in place of or in addition to the fruit, make it iced or jellied consomme served with salted wafers.

For The Main Course

For the main course have creamed sweetbreads and mushrooms served in croustades, with buttered asparagus, and currant jelly on orange slices all on the plate.

Frozen fruit salad with clover leaf cheese biscuits makes a delightful salad course, after which a light dessert of strawberries in cake baskets is appreciated.

There should be plenty of salted nuts for nibbling between courses.

Recipes are included below for some of the more unusual of the dishes suggested.

Clover Leaf Cheese Biscuits

2 cups Flour
4 tsps. Baking Powder
1 tsp. Salt
1 cup Grated Cheese
2 tbsps. Crisco
1 cup Milk

Sift dry ingredients. Work in Crisco with fingers or two knives. Add liquid gradually then cheese, working with a fork. Roll out to ½ inch in thickness. Cut into small round circles. Bake in groups of three resembling a clover leaf. Bake in a hot oven 400° until well browned on top.

Salted Nuts

Select raw peanuts, fresh almonds, walnuts, or pecans. Remove skins by pouring over boiling water and allowing them to stand 2-5 minutes or until skin is loosened. Place nuts in a wire basket and lower it into deep Crisco, heated to 390° or until a cube of bread browns in 40 seconds. Fry until delicately browned. Remove, drain on soft paper, and sprinkle generously with salt.

Cake Baskets

½ cup Crisco
1½ cup Sugar
2 Eggs
1 cup Milk
3 cups Flour
4 tsps. Baking Powder
1 tsp. Vanilla
½ tsp. Salt

Cream Crisco. Add sugar gradually, then beaten eggs. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add alternately with milk to first mixture. Add vanilla and beat. Bake in greased muffin pans in a hot oven 375°—15 minutes. When done remove from pans. Let cool and then scoop out the top part of the cakes. For handles, wrap hat wire with several thicknesses of bias strips of crepe paper. Cut the desired length and stick down through edge of the little cake baskets. Ornament with tiny flowers.

Croustades

Cut slices of sandwich bread two inches thick. Shape into rounds two inches in diameter by removing the corners. Round out the centers with a sharp paring knife. Try to a golden brown in deep Crisco heated to 390° or when a cube of bread browns in 60 seconds. Drain on soft paper.

Torturing Pains and Swollen Joints Vanish When Rheuma is Used or Money Refunded.

If you want relief in two days, swift, gratifying relief, take one teaspoonful of Rheuma every night and morning.

If you want to dissolve the uric acid poison in your body and drive it out through the natural channels so that you will be free from rheumatism, get a bottle of Rheuma from your druggist at once.

Rheumatism is a powerful disease strongly entrenched in joints and muscles. In order to conquer it a powerful enemy must be sent against it. Rheuma is the enemy of rheumatism—an enemy that must conquer it in every instance or your money will be refunded.

Rheuma contains no narcotics—is harmless and thoroughly reliable because it is the one remedy that has relieved the agonizing pains of rheumatic sufferers who thought nothing would give relief. It should do as much for you. McKeown's Drug Store will supply you on the no-cure-no-pay plan.

NATURE'S DANGER SIGNALS

Nervousness, melancholia, backache headache and pain in the side are all nature's danger signals which indicate some ailment peculiar to a woman When such warning symptoms appear women may avoid much pain and suffering if they will rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as its tonic, strengthening influence speedily removes the cause and restores the system to a healthy normal condition.

When Kidneys Hurt Consult Your Doctor

DRINK LOTS OF WATER ALL DAY AND TAKE SALTS IF BACK ACHES

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorder often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus oftn relieving bladder weakness

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Brother is Guilty of Manslaughter

Boy Was Boiled Like Ham In Tub, Says Judge

Montreal, June 12.—Brother Usmar, of the Brothers of Mercy, who conduct the Huberdeau Orphanage at Huberdeau, Que., was this morning found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the Court of the King's Bench. By their verdict the twelve men held that the brother had deliberately scalded eight-year-old Hector Galarneau, by holding him in a tub of boiling water at the institution on January 21 last. The jury was out only twenty minutes. Young Galarneau was scalded on January 21 and died in Ste. Justine Hospital two adys later. Brother Usmar was held by a coroner's jury after a number of witnesses had testified that he used to ill-treat the little boy by kicking him and allowing older inmates to attack the child until he was unconscious. The only reason given for this punishment was that Galarneau suffered from intestinal trouble and used to soil his clothes.

The accused brother almost broke down when the foreman of the jury pronounced the word "guilty" but managed to hold himself in check by biting his lips and gripping the edge of the dock. Sentence was not pronounced today, but will be given on Monday morning next by Mr. Justice Wilson who presided at the trial.

In his charge to the jury this morning Mr. Justice Wilson flayed the accused for his hatred and cruelty to the little victim. The court denounced the conspiracy of silence which had been arranged by the brothers of the Huberdeau Institution, and ridiculed the theory of the defence and its medical witness.

"A poor sick child of eight years, deprived of his parents through fate, and sent to an institution where the authorities are supposed to lavish the love of parents on their charges," said His Lordship, "punished because he suffered from a disease over which he had no control. Why was he ill-treated except because he was hated by the accused? Why was no attempt made to cure him, and when he has passed away, boiled like a ham in a tub, what defence is made for his prosecutor?

"His father is a fool, and the child is stupid and insensible to pain."

"If little Hector Galarneau could come to this court and defend himself, I wonder what answers he would make to this excuse."

"When Dr. Bellefeuille, the defence expert, stated that he was insensible, the little victim would have answered, 'But doctor, did I not scream when I was kicked and beaten? Did I not cry out?'

"Stop," the doctor would have said, "you are insensible to pain. You could not have suffered because your father is a fool."

"When the bigger boys attacked me and beat me unconscious, did I not scream?"

"Stop," the doctor would have replied, "you were insensible to pain. Your father is a fool."

"But doctor, when I was put on my knees and fed on bread and water, did I not cry with hunger?"

The Scalding

"Stop," the doctor must have answered, "you were insensible to pain your father is a fool."

"But doctor, when I was boiled in a tub, when I was thrown into scalding water, did I not scream with agony when it went over my body"

"Stop" would the doctor have said, "you were insensible to pain, your father is a fool."

"But doctor, when I was dying on my little hospital bed and, was asked if I felt pain, did I not say how I suffered?"

"Stop," the doctor would have replied, "you are insensible to pain. Your father was a fool."

Mr. Justice Wilson referred to the clerical character of the accused, pointing out that there were things that had to be set aside and forgotten in the consideration of the evidence now before the court. He told the jurors the verdict should either be "Guilty of manslaughter," or "Not guilty of manslaughter." There was no other choice. "Murder" could not be rendered, as the accused was only charged with manslaughter.

The Brother's Story

The judge recited how Brother Usmar had gone upstairs for clean linen. He had heard a cry. But he did not hurry down empty-handed, nor did he bring the underwear. He brought, instead, a sheet. "How," asked his Lordship, "did he know he would need a sheet to wrap the child in?"

"Then he takes the child, supposed according to the defence to have sat in the bath comfortably while being boiled like a ham, wraps him in the sheet, land him in the infirmary, and says, 'Accident.' And off he goes without another word. He goes on with his work and does not bother further about the scalding. He does not even go to report it to the director of the school. 'Cain where is thy brother, Abel' 'Am I my brother's keeper?' "

Out 15 Minutes

The jury took just fifteen minutes to reach their verdict, after listening to Mr. Justice Wilson's summing up of the evidence, which made it perfectly clear that there was no doubt in his Lordship's mind concerning the guilt of the accused.

OTTAWA PAPERS SAY ELECTION THIS YEAR

Ottawa, June 12.—Both the Journal and The Citizen are confident that the electors of the Dominion will go to the polls some time this year to register their votes in a general election. While The Citizen asserts that dissolution will probably occur in September, with elections in October, The Journal says "between now and November the people will go to the polls."

"Women often ask me — says Mrs. Experience — how I get my table linen so immaculate"

"I take it as a real compliment, because most women do try to excel in their table linen.

"Of course, I tell them the way I've found easiest and best is with Sunlight—just rubbing the linen lightly with Sunlight, rolling it up and putting it to soak. After soaking, perhaps a light rubbing here and there may be called for, then just rinse, and the linen is spotlessly clean. Fine linens should be protected and never come into contact with anything but the purest soap.

"As a household soap there is nothing better or more economical than Sunlight. Every particle is pure soap, with no wasteful 'filler'. Sunlight is mild and easy on the hands, too." Lever Brothers Limited of Toronto, make it.

HOLIDAYS IN THE ARCTIC CIRCLE

Stockholm.—The Swedish tourist Association is now 40 years old. Last year it enrolled its 100,000 member. During the summer the tourist station at Abisko, the northernmost point reached by the Lappland Express of the Swedish State Railways, will be reconstructed so as to serve also as a headquarters for winter sports in the heart of Lappland and far above the Arctic peak of Kebnekaise, Sweden's highest mountain, has now been completed. It is the highest located building in the country.

A standard type for tourist "bus" has been selected and routes are being designated for a net work of sightseeing trips by automobile throughout Sweden. The bus will seat [illegible] passengers and by adopting uniform parts, repairs and other services will be greatly facilitated. As far as possible tickets will be sold in advance and travelers will be booked through regions not now available by rail or water. Maintenance of roads in Sweden has also been "motorized," as far as possible, snow plows and "scrapers" being pulled by trucks or tractors

ARCHAELOGICAL DISCOVERIES IN BELGIUM

Brussels.—Remouchamps, one of the picturesque tourist centres in Belgium near Liege, has recently been the scene of interesting discoveries of the stone age.

At a depth of about 6.80 m., on the banks of the river Ambleve, in the clay that had slid down from the neighboring slopes, ten pre-historical hearths, of 1,50 m., diameter, have been brought to light, laid on circular beds of big rolled stones. These hearths contained cut flint and fragments of sandstone plates showing plain traces of polishings or of wearing with a very hard body, which seems to indicate that the first idea of the stone polishing dates from that period.

The industry discovered in that place (microlithic industry with geometrical forms), proves that the primitive man who built his hut on the bank of the Ambleve belonged to the so-called "epoque tardenoisienne," intermediate between that of our ancestors of the ice period and the epoch known as the age of the polished stone. The latter brought about the great neolithic civilization which came to an end about 4,000 years ago.

We may add that this is the first time that hearths of this kind have been discovered. Their establishment at only 2,70 m. above the low waters of the river shows that at that far-off time, the river had already hollowed her bed at the actual depth.

STRENUOUS EFFORTS BEING MADE

Hertford, Eng., June 10.—Strenuous efforts are being made here and in other agricultural districts of England to save the picturesque old-fashioned village blacksmith from passing into oblivion. The smith of England today is not "toiling and rejoicing" to draw undue attention to himself, but is "sorrowing" a great deal more than in the days when Longfellow idealized him—all because of the advent of the automobile and the motor tractor.

In their desire to "save" the village blacksmith the Hertfordshire county council members announced recently particulars of a plan designed to keep alive the decaying industry which has been so hard hit by the modern organization of the big manufacturers and their agents who supply standardized parts of farm implements and machinery on lines of mass production. The ministry of agriculture too has become interested in the scheme to prevent the passing of the blacksmith and has agreed to cooperate in the movement.

Special committees appointed to investigate the plight of the smithy have reported that there are many articles in popular demand which cannot be satisfactorily produced by factory methods because of the skill and the handiwork of the craftsman which should count more than mere cheapness. With a view of giving the village blacksmith a new lease on life a special exhibit had been arranged for the Herts agriculture show opening early in June, where prizes will be awarded for agricultural implements, wrought iron gates, scroll work, door fittings, general utility wares such as weather vanes and umbrella and golf stands.

F. W. Speight, director of the exhibit, has also proposed various other schemes designed to prevent the garage from replacing the blacksmith shop and silencing the ring of the anvil forever.

Rev. Dr. W. H. Heartz, of Amherst, Nova Scotia, dean of active Methodist ministers in Canada, who has been preaching for 63 years and a member of the Methodist missionary board for 43 years, was one of the Nova Scotian representatives to the United Church inaugural.

A. L. Geyer, 32, of South Bend, Ind., committed suicide by parking his car near a railway crossing and waiting until a train approached when he drove onto the tracks.

Flying splinter of metal severed the jugular vein of F. J. Nodd, 26, in a Laporte, Ind., factory.

Resolution introduced in Florida House would exclude Japanese from ownership of land in that state.

Because he would not come home to dinner an Oak Creek, Colo., woman shot her husband fatally.

Allied Printing Trades council will meet at Quebec in July, Canada and the United States being represented.

Sir Arthur Currie, of McGill, was elected president of the Canadian University Conference, meeting at Halifax.

YOUNG MEN OF CITY TO STAGE BUMPER PICNIC

In the Interests of Conservative Party and its Policy

OUT AT STIRLING

To Have Large Program of Sports and Speeches

There will be "big doings" at Stirling Agricultural park on June 24th, which by the way falls on one of Belleville's Wednesday half holidays.

There will be a political picnic there that day— a big one, held under the auspices of Belleville's newly formed Young men's Conservative club.

At a meeting of various committees held at the Conservative club rooms last evening, there was a splendid attendance, and enthusiasm filled the air. A most attractive program was arranged for that big day, last night.

Besides baseball games there will be foot races and sports of various kinds. A tip top orchestra will disperse dance music at the pavilion which will be thrown open for the auspicious occasion.

The committee members are in direct touch with the leaders of the party and promise that at least two very prominent speakers will be present with a live message for young men and others also. Announcement of the names of speakers will be made later when it is definitely known who they will be. It might be hinted however, that should the committee members be successful in securing the speakers they seek, no citizen of Belleville should fail to be there and hear their message. No effort will be spared to make this event a real big day.

By the way the newly formed Young Men's Conservative Club in Belleville, recently organized is one of the livest organizations imaginable. A long list of members names has been presented and others are joining daily with enthusiasm which only young men in whom an interest has been taken, can display. It would not be surprising if this organization would make its presence felt in this city before long.

CENTRE STREET MISSION PICNIC

The little mission to the east of the city was the scene of a genuine social gathering last evening. It was the last of a series of successful entertainments which have been held throughout the year at Centre Street Church. Furthermore the best.

The ladies of the district worked with a true spirit of co-operation in furnishing a repast not a little appreciated by the younger folk of the community.

After the inner person had been more than satisfied, Mr. A. Campbell, the secretary of the Sunday School, presented the pastor, Mr. P. J. Elliott with a box containing a beautiful gold initialed fountain pen, and eversharp pencil, given b ythe Mission in recognition of his untiring services at Centre street during the last two years. Although taken by surprise Mr. Elliott made a fitting speech in reply.

A short program with a snap shot of the Sunday School was followed by group games on the church grounds, in which all participated heartily.

Many thanks are due to the Centre street ladeis who so freely assisted in making the event a success, also Messrs. C. Campbell, R. Elvans, Geo. Taylor and Butler, merchants who contributed provisions in generous fashion.

H.M.Price, Bancroft, Press President

Meeting of Bay of Quinte Press Association at Picton

The Bay of Quinte Press Association gathered in Picton yesterday as the guests jointly of Mr. A. E. Calnan, of the Gazette and the Picton Board of Trade. A short business meeting was held after noon luncheon at which the following officers were elected: President H. M. Price of the "Times" Bancroft; Vice-President Allan Donnell, of the Stirling "News Argus"; Secretary-Treasurer, A. E. Calnan, Picton "Gazette."

The new directors are; D. H. Morrison of the Tweed "News"; Howard Jarrett, of the Trenton "Sun"; Jas. Watson, of the Madoc "Review"; A. N. Steet, the Picton "Times" and W. D. Embury, of the Belleville "Ontario."

The afternoon was spent viewing the beauties of Prince Edward County from the cars of the Picton Board of Trade, the famous Sand Banks being one of the chief points of interest.

At six o'clock, through the courtesy of Picton's genial Mayor, the newspaper men were dinner guests of the Board of Trade at the "Castle Inn". A short program followed the dinner with short talks from the visitors and their hosts. The outstanding orator of the evening was Gordon Lapp, publisher of the Brighton "Ensign" and Premier of the Older Boy's Parliament of Ontario.

Dr. G. A. Publow, the chairman, made a name for himself and a half dozen towns would like to annex him to lead the fun at their dinners and public gatherings. The doctor far outshadowed most of the speakers he introduced and kept the crowd happy.

Seven visiting Y's men motored up from Ottawa and fifteen Y's men from Kingston to participate in the Charter Night of the Belleville Y's Men. Roy Anderson Vice-President for Canada of the International was the guest of honor and performed the induction ceremony which gave Belleville her charter as a Y's Man Club.

The tables were laid in the form of a Y and tastily decorated by George Pauley and the banquet was served by Mrs. W. Yerex, Mrs. S. Nurse, Mrs. R. C. Sidenius and Miss M. Woodley, Miss W. Ross, Miss C. P. Sidenius and Miss V. P. Sidenius.

During the feast Ab Adams trained artists M. Humphrey, Brockhurst and McIntosh gave the latest in classical jazz. Bert Lancaster was song cheerer and also sang a solo with Mr. Robson at piano.

Steve License, President, presided and called on Rev. D. Ramsay who brought greetings from Rotary Club and welcombed this new club to Belleville. Russ Wotten carried the best wishes from Kiwanis and Stan Nurse, Vice-President of the Y.M.C.A. expressed the delight of the Directery that the Y's Men had been organized.

Christian Services

Roy Anderson, Vice President of International said that the Y's Men was a Christian Service Club first, last and all the time.

Originating in Toledo just a few years ago there now are 70 Chartered Clubs in North America and 14 clubs are waiting their charter. A club was recently organized in China.

The motto of the Y's men is "To acknowledge the duty that accompanies every right". He believed in a few years it would be the largest service club because of the backing of the Association which is the largest Body Building Institution in the world,one of the biggest educational centers and has received in gifts for buildings and endowmen t of $165,000,000. Just think of the amount of good will behind this distinctly Christian Organization. It is organized to cultivate fellowship to study civic problems and support active service organizations.

Mr. J. Bankier captivated the group with his solo and had to respond to two encores.

Mr. England spoke for Kingston and Mr. Cairns responded for Ottawa. After the program Mr. Anderson conducted an hours round table discussion on the problems of a Y's Men Club.

The Charter members of the local Y's Men' Club are Stan Nurse, Geo. H. Pauley, Herb Adams, R. L. Brown, A. M. Armstrong, R. C. Sidenius, H. W. Pearson, H. A. Poste, L. J. Reynolds, M. Cummings, B. H. Lancaster, N. Thompson, S. License, W. O. Waldorf, R. C. Woodley, W. M. Johnston, Grant Maidens, Fred H. Deacon, Albert Adams, Dr. N. Edwards and Alec M. Glashon.

Arthur Meighen, leader of the Opposition, intimated that His Excellency regretted that he was not able to consider an extension of his term. Nothing short of exceptional public needs, His Excellency felt would compel him to remain longer than the regular term.

Mr. Meighen in putting his question observed that if His Excellency could be persuaded to remain the extension of his term would meet with almost universal approval, and if the Government had any favorable statement it would be most welcome.

SMOKING ROOM AT CONFERENCE IN FULL BLAST

Several Ministers Pull on Pipe While at Work

DEFENCE IS MADE

Dr. Stafford Vigorously Condemns Effort Toward Restriction

Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 13.—In an article published to-day, Rev. R. E. Knowles author and journalist points out that the smoking room is in full blast in the basement of the Metropolitan Methodist church, where the General Council of the United Church of Canada is in session.

Mr. Knowles recalls that it was in this same church that the Quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Church in Canada three years ago, decreed that no candidate for the Methodist ministry should be ordained wtihout the assurance that he did not and would not through his ministry use tobacco.

In an interview with Rev. Dr. Wardle Stafford, special minister of Metropolitan church at present, and ex-president of the Wesleyan conference of Great Britain, Dr. Stafford is quoted by Mr. Knowles as having vigorously condemned any effort towards restrictions of this kind regarding the personal conduct of ministers, adding that the great majority of Methodist preachers in England were addicted to the weed.

Naphan had "Jim Lulu", the fine gasoline launch, seized at Deseronto yesterday afternoon, driven to Belleville later on Friday where she was docked, her cargo removed and stored here. No arrests have been made in connection with the seizure as the members of the crew deserted the craft and fled. The owner of the boat is not yet known. The boat was loaded with whiskey and beer which was billed for an address in the United States. Officers are not sure whether or not the address is fictitious. The boat was not loaded at Deseronto, but had called in at that port when it was seized.

Asked if the law provided for the confiscation of the boat as well as the cargo in case of conviction of an offense under the O.T.A., Inspector Gurnett said that it did. The boat is worth at least $15,000 and the cargo is also a valuable one.

Subject is Chosen For Warden's Prize

Oratorical Contest To Be Held in December Next

At the December session of the County Council an interesting event will occur. Rollins, Warden, gave a cup to a girl and boy who were adjudged winner and this year Warden Wiggins will give a gold medal to the girl and boy who are selected as the best speakers. The subject of their address will be "The children are Canada's greatest assets with special reference to the children of Hastings County." The prizes are open to all public schools in Hastings County. Strawberries Make First Appearance

Were Selling at 30 and 35c. On Market This Morning

Home-grown strawberries were on the market this morning, the first of the season. Prices charged per box were 30c and 35c, according to quality. The market was by no means a large one, as the farmers are exceptionally busy upon the land.

Dairy products were quite plentiful, especially eggs which showed a slight advance in price, specials selling at 30c and 32c a dozen. Strictly fresh sold at 28c and cooking eggs sold at 25c per dozen. The ruling price for dairy butter was 40c per pound. A few lots were sold at a slightly lower figure.

Dressed chickens were offered for sale in considerable quantities and sold from $1.50 to $2.50 per pair, according to size. One turkey was offered for sale and was sold at $3.75 which was reasonable as the bird was a good one. A few ducks sold at $1.25 each.

There were no changes to note in prices of vegetables, carrots, turnips and parsnips selling at 30c a peck. Cabbage 5c and 10c each. Asparagus sold at 10c and 15c a bunch and green onions 5c a bunch.

Two fish venders did a good trade. While fish sold at 15c a pound, lake salmon 20c a pound and halibut 25c a pound.

MILTON SILLS WOULD LIKE TO ATTEND SHOW

But Says Business May Interfere During Month Of August

MAKES SUGGESTION

That Mayor Mikel Try to Secure His Release

Milton Sills, movie actor, an old Hastings County boy, has written Mayor Mikel that he will come to the Celebration at Belleville if he can be released from the First National Studio, and has asked the Mayor to endeavour to have him released.

Dear Mr. Mikel,—

I appreciate your invitation to participate in the celebration at Belleville as a great honor, and I only wish I could accept it as one of the representatives of my country, however humble my position. Certainly, as you say, the relations between Canada and the United States are unique in respect to amity and cordial reciprocity for over a century, and bid fair to continue so for centuries to come. A love of peace, and an inherent common-sense in both peoples, together with a mutual respect and good will, insure a permanent friendship. Such an example to the world should be celebrated and emphasized by every means of publicity available as a reminder to a world obsessed by rivalry and national envy, that nations can live amicably with each other and still maintain their place in the sun.

I regret exceedingly that imperative business prevents my accepting your invitation. My only chance of rescinding this lies in your writing Mr. E. J. Hudson, c/o First National Studio, 807 East 175th St. New York, requesting my release for the necessary period. If he finds it possible to let me go, I shall gladly address the people of Belleville at the forthcoming exercises.

My best wishes for a noble commemoration and greetings to Canada in general.

Thanking you again for the honor you have done me, I am

Sincerely yours,
MILTON SILLS.

New York City.

WHAT THE ARCTIC HOLDS

To most persons the Arctic regions suggest nothing but eternal ice, a land of a day six months in length, but no summer. Yet, there are those who see possibilites of resources within that forbidding zone which might prove of great value to mankind. A writer in a June publication suggests that lying to the south of the Pole is one million square miles in which no man has gone. What is there no one knows.

But that this region contains metals, minerals or other resources is possible. Northern Canada, a few hundred miles to the south, has gold, silver, copper, coal, oil, platinum and many other products. By analogy may it not be assumed that what near-Arctic localities have in abundance may also extend poleward? Such is the method of reasoning. The conclusion is purely speculative, but the possibility is luring to adventurous souls. At least such want to know what is this unseen land, if land it be.

The desire to know what lay behind the nearest mountain range led our primitive forebears to explore. It is the lure which has in all ages beckoned to adventure and often profit. The obstacles in the way increases the incentive. Those with imagination of what things of value may lie with in the Arctic Circle may be wrong in every detail but they will not be satisfied until they are demonstrated wrong and then the mystery of the ice-blocked land will not be a mystery any longer. So long as the secrets are unrevealed there will be volunteers engaged in seeking to unravel them.

It is suggested also that in the unexplored Arctic may lie great deposits of radium. There is a theory that the Aurora Borealis is a rainbow from the radium deposit. Thus there is the appeal to science as well as the incentive of profit from discoveries to take men northward. The portrayal of the possible riches of the polar region may be a chimera only, but there are those who believe exploration worth while. They want to know. Hence, the venture.

AS OTHERS SEE US

He was a stranger hereabouts. Even the oldest resident could not remember having seen him before, and why he came to our town no one knew. He was standing gazing deeply interested in something before him, but what, puzzled those who saw him.

Before his gaze was a scenic picture which the trained eye had discovered. An earlier tourist had discovered a wonderful view and had passed the information along with the result that one more visitor had come to the town. The picture had always existed, but it had not been recognised by residents, who had become so familiar with local conditions that what was a novelty to the visitor was but commonplace to them.

In many places throughout Canada just such conditions prevail, and quite frequently some outstanding feature must await the arrival of a visitor for discovery. Locality, may in itself be an attraction; history may connect it with some event of importance, it may be that some mineral in general use is either mined or shows outcroppings, there may be a rippling waterfall not of sufficient volume to warrant development but of interest to the visitor. These are but few of the very many features that holiday seekers will stop to look at, says the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

Scandal!! Cat calls! Angry chasing about the garden!

For the love of mike, what's gone wrong out there?

This last question from the kind hearted lady who had fed the cat bird all winter. Funny, isn't it? to hear a kind hearted lady say "for the love of mike", but things were so interesting that she couldn't help it.

It was early in the nesting season in June, and I had taken up a position in a blind, to watch the birds and take pictures of them. I managed to get a picture alright, but had a tough job getting it, for it seems that Dapper Dan, the catbird, was unfortunate in his choice of a wife. He was a handsome bird and had a lovely voice and a swanky dash about him that won him his wife, but now that she was won, she wanted him to give up golf and behave.

Whatalife! A fellow is likely to be blamed by his jealous wife, whether he is to blame or not. And Canadian Mockingbirds, (or catbirds), are no exception.

It all started over the eternal triangle, only in birdland it is the "infernal" triangle, at least that is what I understood Dapper Dan the catbird to say, for Mrs. Cowbird went and laid a stray egg in Mrs. Catbird's nest. And then the row began.

I wish I had been there when the cowbird deposited her egg in the catbird nest, for I might have solved a great natural puzzle about whether the cowbird lays the egg in the nest or lays it on the ground and takes it in her beak to the home of the poor unfortunate victims. Anyway, sometime when the catbirds were away from the nest and I was consequently off guard too, the sly Mrs. Cowbird sneaked through the underbrush and put one egg over on her neighbours.

The Cowbird is a dirty loafer. It never makes a nest of its own. It lives a care free life, leaving all the family cares to other birds. This is done by laying eggs by stealth, in other birds nests, and leaving the care of the future, to the victims of the trick.

Dapper Dan was innocent, but Mrs. Catbird made things hot for him, as we shall soon see in Nature Lore.

GREAT SPEECH

(Saturday Evening Post)

Style and logic alone do not make a great speech. The heart must help the head if men are to be deeply moved. The mind works coldly an dits creations will be bleak indeed if there is no heart to warm them.

THE STRAW HAT

(Orillia Packet)

A straw hat is a rather slight and inconsequential thing, yet it keeps the wheels turning in 96 American factories and supports a $30,000,000 industry. It also performs other useful services. By constantly proving that the straw shows which way the wind blows it fosters faith in proverbs. Engineers admire it because it will roll faster on one wheel than a bicycle will on two wheels and, though it has no differential, will turn a sharp corner without upsetting.

TOURIST TRADE

(Peterboro Examiner)

The tourist season has begun, and the license plates of Many American states are to be seen on automobiles on Peterboro streets or along the highways of the district. Are we prepared for the coming of the army of visitors? Of course we are in a material way; we have our 4.4 parlours, our service stations, our gas tanks, the counters and shelves in our stores are filled, our supplies of souvenirs and souvenir post cards complete; in brief, we have plenty to sell. But that is not enough. We should be prepared in other ways. Prepared for one thing to be courteous and friendly and helpful to these guests who come from afar to visit us. They're neighbors and should be treated as such not as "good things" to be plucked and looted.

THE WAY TO DO IT

(Kansas City Star)

(His majesty recently laid the corner stone of the new Lloyd's building in the city of London.) When a British institution has occupied the same quarters for a matter of three hundred years, it shakes the confidence a little to see it get frisky and go hopping about like a medicine show. That's why we were inclined at first to withdraw all our bets from Lloyd's. But you have to give it to Lloyd's—in fact, you have to give it to the British—they know how to do these things without alarming business. The chances are that Lloyd's won't lose a bet by its compromise with the spirit of modernism, dangerous as that sort of thing usually is in Britain. It's all in doing the revolutionary in a constitutional manner. The British are great at it. If they should abolish the monarchy they'd do it with the King's approval.

Cutting Red Tape For Tourists In France

Paris.—The new regulations concerning foreigners, which the French Government has promulgated disclose that in so far as tourists are concerned, things have been made easy for them.

A temporary document absolving them from obtaining a permanent identity card will be obtained for them by the hotelkeeper and so all vexatious formalities will be dispensed with.

This concession is confirmed in a letter which M. Camilley Chantemps, Minister of the Interior, has sent to the President of the Nice and District Syndicat d'Initiative. The letter says:

Monsier le President:—In your letter of November 22, you were good enough to call my attention to the desirability of granting all possible facilities to foreign tourists in France in complying with the provisions of the degree of April 2, 1917. I have the honour to inform you that I propose to give instructions at once on this subject to the departmental prefects in order that foreign tourists may, in so far as it is possible, be absolved from carrying out these formalities. The declarations can be made on their behalf by the hotel-keepers with whom they are staying.

AFRICAN KING IS LODGED IN JAIL

Chicago, June 13.—Prince Kojo Toyatou Hovenou, of Dahomey, Africa, spent last night in jail, after being arrested, charged with passing a worthless cheque.

The prince, who recently received the "keys of the city," was arrested at the home of his hostess, Mrs. Irene Knowlton. He lacked a bondsman to obtain his freedom, pending settlement of the matter.

Prince of Dahomey, through his temporary secretary of state, explained that he had just overdrawn his bank account. The cheque was for $350, and was given to a lingerie shop where the prince recently made purchases for a woman companion.

Destined to be the most popular coach of the year. A smart, stylish car of exactly the right size, weight and balance. Priced amazingly low.

Overland Production Reaches Record
Combined Shipping Total up to 27,063

By smashing all previous manufacturing records, Willys-Overland's combined Toledo and Toronto shipping records for April reached the high peak of 27,063.

T. A. Russell, President of Canadian Willys-Overland, commenting on this record production, said: "While the entire line of Overland fours and sixes together with the Willys-Knight four and six-cylinder models is experiencing an unprecedented sales volume, the tremendous demand for the new Overland Coaches is to a great extent, responsible for these high figures.

The Overland Six Coach has been carefully designed and manufactured to give the highest possible degree of long and satisfactory service. The performance of this beautiful car with its fast powerful get-away—surprising acceleration on hills—and unlimited reserve power in deep muddy roads, has earned the complete endorsation of thousands of veteran six-cylinder drivers.

The introduction of the Overland "world's lowest priced car of this type" —met with an almost instantaneous response from the many thousands of buyers in this low price field who were not desirous of getting into the higher prices. These people realize they can now enjoy the many advantages of a substantially constructed and attractive Coach at a very low price.

The Overland four-cylinder Coach has a full 5-passenger body in which are incorporated the very latest improvements. The body is mounted on the standard Overland four-cylinder chassis, already well known for its many big-car features, some of which are: A smooth, positive-acting disc clutch, three-speed sliding gear transmission, Triplex patented springs, removable axle shafts and many other outstanding mechanical features.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Fifty years ago a woman of vision,
Knowing the power of banded ill,
Felt that love was stronger still,
And organized for doing good
A little band of womanhood.

Looking down the vista of years, Frances E. Willard had a vision of that little band of women becoming the nucleus of the World's United Womanhood, and it was her vision that brought into being and inspired the Women's Christian Temperance Union in their fight for nation-buildingg for legislative and moral reform, for social and economic justice. Fifty years ago all this was branded as impossible—now an accomplished fact—yet our past history is but a clarion call to greater things.

"We must upward still and onward,
Who would keep abreast of truth."

Let us go to achievements greater than ever by teaching our boys and girls the evils of intemperance, that they may grow up a stronger and nobler type of manhood and womanhood, who will banish rum forever from our land, and help to make true God's great dream of a New Heaven and a New Earth.

"Within God's plan of progress,
It matters not at last,
How wide the shores of evil,
How strong the reefs of sin,
The wave may break in failure,
But the tide is sure to win."

Prohibition Union To Hire Sleuths

Will Search for Bootleggers On Behalf of Drys

St. Catharines, Ont., June 13.—The Ontario prohibition union will employ private investigators, who will search for boot-leggers and others on behalf of temperance people, Mr. M. Aikens, Grimsby, announced yesterday afternoon at the convention of the W.C.T.U. of Lincoln county.

Mrs. Aikens charged that when any one informs the authorities in a municipality of law breaking they are told it will be investigated. Then, she said, it leaks out to the bootlegger, and when next day the police call there is nothing in the way of evidence to get. Mrs. Aikens declared the private investigator, whose salary will be paid by prohibitionists, will make quiet investigations himself and not allow the matter to leak.

INVENTS MACHINE FOR WOOING SLEEP

London, June 13.—Only the old-fashioned folks will go on counting phantom sheep as an inducement to sleep if half of the claims are realized of the inventor of a new machine designed to relieve insomnia victims of all their bothers.

This novel contrivance which was recently patented by a young Cheshire inventor after four years of experimenting, represents an attempt to adapt the science of chromopathy, or relief by colors to the treatment of sleeplessness. The user of the apparatus upon going to bed, places the sleep producing machine, which in many ways has the appearance of a wireless receiving set, upon a nearby table, and presses intermittently at a switch which is held in his hand. This causes rays of 12 different colors to flash from the machine in a pre-arranged sequence, and it is the effect of this combination of colors upon the retina of the eye that is supposed to induce sleep for even the most restless persons.

Many stubborn cases of sleeplessness are declared to have been overcome in periods varying from 10 to 15 minutes, and furthermore, the inventor contends that by the use of his apparatus he is easily able to put an ordinary person to sleep at almost any time during day-light. The rays have no ill effect whatever, says the inventor, on the eye sight.

Injured in an auto accident at Park and King streets on April 25 John Keating, Hamilton, north, aged 65 years died at the General Hospital. Washrag Enters The Beauty Lists

ALARMISTS tell us that we have departed very far from the fresh beauty of the period of our great-grandmothers—so far that we can never recapture it.

How true is this?

Miss Lotus Robb is about as modern a young woman as one finds. Yet with a change in her mode of hair-dressing, and a donning of a quaint costume, she at once assumes the demure vivaciousness of the Victorian age. She is appearing on tour with Mrs. Fiske in "The Rivals," and her transformation seems to prove that the chief difference between the generations is due to changing styles in make-up, coiffure and dress.

Of late, too, there have been numerous indications that the pendulum is swinging back to a more natural type of beauty. The washrag is coming into its own again. While a moderate use of a good cold-cream is advisable to keep the skin supple, women have found that when cold-creams are used to take the place of soap and water in cleaning the face the pores of the skin have a tendency to enlarge as they become oily and stuffed with the powder and dirt which adheres to the oil. This means a constant invitation to blackheads and frequently to disorders of the skin.

"To keep it clean, the face needs at least one good washing daily with soap and water and a washcloth or soft flesh brush," says Dr. William Allen Pusey, Professor of Dermatology of the University of Illinois.

Even the few persons with a very thin, too-dry skin, who feel it advisable to use a little cold-cream or white vaseline, should also wash with pure white soap and water to cleanse the skin thoroughly and to tone up muscles which otherwise have a tendency to sag. Soap and water are an ideal astringent and were in vogue in centuries when feminine beauty was quite as exquisite as it is today.

In make-up the present idea is to look as natural as possible. No longer is the dead-white powder selected, unless the skin is actually colorless and an exotic effect is desired. In general one now tries to match the powder exactly to the skin, if necessary mixing several powders to obtain the desired shade. In fact, if anything, the tendency is toward a ruddy shade which give an impression of health and outdoor activity.

Rouge now is used sparingly—and often not at all, when a certain type of smartness is the aim. With only a light coat of powder and a faint bit of rouge, or no rouge at all, many women are discovering that they have skins more delicate in texture and more transparent than they had been aware of underneath the old ill-matching powder and too generously used rouge.

Readers of this newspaper may obtain free an interesting booklet, "The Care of the Normal Skin," by Dr. William Allen Pusey. Write for it to Health Cleanliness Service, 20 East 11th Street, New York City.

Work And Worry Weaken Many Women
NEW HEALTH CAN BE HAD THROUGH
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills
They Give New Vitality—and more.

The demands upon a mother's strength are many and severe; her own health trials and her children's welfare exact heavy tolls, while broken rest and much indoor living tend to weaken her constitution. No wonder that the woman at home is often indisposed through sick headache, backache, and nervous troubles. But varied as her health troubles are the cause is simple, and relief near at hand. When well, it is good blood that keeps a woman well; when ill, she must make her blood rich to renew her health; and the nursing mother—more than any other—needs rich blood and plenty of it.

Care of diet, sufficient rest, fresh air, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will keep a woman's health robust and regular; and because these pills make new blood abundantly, thousands of weak wives and mothers have derived prompt health help from them.

Mrs. Stewart Grant, Stewiacke, N.S., says:—"After the birth of my first baby I did not regain my health. I could scarcely walk across the room because of the pains in my back. I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and through their use regained good health. Later an attack of influenza left me very weak, and again the pills fully restored me. I can recommend them to any one who is weak or run down."

At Niagara Falls

From the Niagara Falls Evening Review, June 10th,—

Thomas Mason, twenty-one year old courier of Mayor W. C. Mikel, of Belleville, called on Mayor Harry P. Stephens at 2.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and presented the following invitations:

"To His Worship Mayor P. Stephens, Councillors and Citizens, of Niagara Falls, Ontario, Mayor W. C. Mikel, K. C., and citizens of Belleville, request the pleasure of your attendance at the celebration of the one hundred and ten years of peace between Canada and the United States of America to be held at the City of Belleville, Ontario, from the first to the fifth of August, 1925."

The tall, handsome courier, garbed in khaki shirt and trousers and wearing high walking boots showed signs of the miles he has covered since he left Belleville on May 30th and stopped en route at all the cities and towns extending the personal invitation of the Mayor. He arrived in this city last night and witnessed the illumination of the Falls which he declared to be spectacular. He is twenty-one years old, stands six foot and two inches high and weighs one hundred and seventy pounds. The long walk in the hot summer sun has tanned his face and hands, but he is enjoying the long hike. Mr. Mason is an accomplished musician and plays both the piano and saxaphone. When he left this city yesterday, carrying his thirty five pound kit on his back, he crossed the border to Niagara Falls, N.Y., and presented Mayor William Laughlin with an invitation. Thence he will journey to Buffalo, crossing the border again at Bridgeburg and proceeding to Welland and Dunnville en route to Detroit, and expects to reach his destination, Chicago, some time during the last week in July. Mr. Mason was the guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Gonder Weare at luncheon yesterday in that city during the celebraton.

Double Header is Planned Wednesday

Kingston Seniors and Point Anne Intermediates Coming

There will be a double header baseball attraction at Exhibition park here Wednesday afternon next. The first game which will be between Kingston seniors and C.N.R. C.O.B.O.L. teams will start at 2.30 o'clock. The second game and intermediate fixture between Point Ann and Belleville will start immediately after the first game and it has been slated for 4.30 o'clock. Both games are official leage games and will not be loose exhibition matches.

This information was given the Intelligencer this morning by M. P. Duff who explained that the Kingston game was switched to Belleville as an added attraction at the half holiday fun. Bills which are being printed today will announce this change, and a bumper crowd is expected at the park that afternoon.

An interesting point in connection with the double header is the fact that the fans may see both games for the usual and regular price of admission to C.O.B.L. games here.

MEXICO WORRYING U.S.A. A LITTLE

Washington, June 13.—The United States Government is beginning to lose patience with Mexico, it was indicated in a statement issued today by Secretary of State Kellogg. Mexico, he declared, must protect the lives and rights of United States citizens and comply with its international obligations if it is to retain the support of the United States Government.

The satement was issued following a conference with United States Ambassador Sheffield, who is in Washington on leave from Mexico City.

"We are looking to and expect the Mexican Government to restore properties illegally taken and indemnify United States citizens," Mr. Kellogg said. "We have been patient, but we cannot countenance violation of her obligations and failure to protect United States citizens."

SHOCK ABSORBERS

"A Necessity with Balloons"

The Easiest Riding Car is a Ford H & D Equipped

H & D's make a remarkable difference in the riding qualities of Ford Cars. If you ask a man who is using a set you'll find that he wouldn't be without them for many times their cost.

H & D's are a necessity with balloon tires. "Balloons" are not a substitute for shock absorbers,—they are too "bouncy" on rough roads. But balloons and H & D's are the last word in easy riding.

The Vibragraph (a machine for registering vibrations) has demonstrated that a Ford equipped with H & D's is the easiest riding car on the market.

H & D's give you that smooth, gliding motion. They iron out the rough roads. You don't even feel the car tracks. And they save the springs, the engine and the tires.

WIN Battle of Tires

Set new speed records at Indianapolis Track

"Gum-Dipped Balloons Helped Me Break World Record"—Says Peter De Paolo

Without Firestone Balloons I couldn't have put it over. I felt safe on those big tires—and could maintain the higher speeds on the treacherous turns, enabling me to finish the race with the average of 101.13 miles per hour—breaking all track records from 10 to 500 miles. I finished without the usual physical exhaustion—it was the most comfortable race I ever drove on the Indianapolis track.

With the same type of car—same size motors—and for the most part, the same drivers—and over the same race track—a new World's record was set on Firestone Balloons at Indianapolis May 30, 1925, of 101.13 miles average per hour for the full 500 miles—beating the 1924 Indianapolis World's record of 98.23 miles on Firestone regular cords.

Twenty-one cars started—ten finished "in the money" on Firestone Balloons. Never before have tires been subjected to such a gruelling test—one more convincing testimonial for Firestone's extra process of Gum-Dipping that eliminates internal friction and heat.

Sinical Sadie Sees

Kissing in the dark is prohibited in Hungary. As Sadie remarks, "Who wants to go to Hungary anyway?"

"Diet is said to have a direct effect on the hands." The nicest man says in support of this statement, that he knows a man with a very clammy handshake who eats fish twice a week.

Who lived when the earth was all porous;
But he fainted with shame
When he first heard his name,
And departed a long time before us.

"Keep the Birds off the Garden". Such is the heading of an article by an horticulturist. Sinical Sadie says that's easy. Just hang your husband's new golf sweater on the line.

POEMS Old And NEW

THE INEVITABLE

I like the man who faces what he must
With step triumphant and a heart of cheer;
Who fights the daily battle without fear;
Sees his hopes fail, yet keeps unfaltering trust
That God is God; that somehow, true and just
His plans work out for mortals. Not a tear
Is shed when fortune, which the world holds dear,
Falls from his grasp; better with love a crust
Than living in dishonor; envies not,
Nor loses faith in man; but does his best,
Nor ever murmurs at his humbler lot,
But with a smile and words of hope with zest
To every toiler. He alone is great,
Who by a life heroic conquers fate.

THE TONGUE

"The boneless tongue, so small and weak,
Can crush and kill," declared the Greek.

"The tongue destroys a greater horde,"
The Turk asserts, "than does the sword."

The Persian proverb wisely saith,
"A lengthy tongue—an early death."

Or sometimes takes this form instead:
"Don't let your tongue cut off your head."

"The tongue can speak a word whose speed,"
Say the Chinese, "outstrips the steed."

While Arab sages this impart:
"The Tongue's great storehouse is the heart."

From Hebrew wit the maxim sprung,
"Though feet should slip, ne'er let the tongue."

The sacred writer crowns the whole,
"Who keeps his tongue doth keep his soul."

THE STORY OF GRUMBLE TONE

There was a boy named Grumble Tone who ran away to sea,
"I'm sick of things on land," he said, "as sick as I can be!
A life upon the bounding wave will suit a lad like me!"

The seething ocean billows failed to stimulate his mirth,
For he did not like the vessel, or the dizzy rolling berth,
And he thought the sea was almost as unpleasant as the earth.

He wandered into foreign lands, he saw each wondrous sight,
But nothing that he heard or saw seemed just exactly right,
And so he journeyed on and on, still seeking for delight.

He talked with kings and ladies fair, he dined in courts, they say,
But always found the people dull, and longed to get away,
To search for that mysterious land where he should like to stay.

He wandered over the world, his hair grew white as snow,
He reached that final bourne at last, where all of us must go;
But never found the land he sought. The reason would you know?

The reason was that, north or south, where'er his steps were bent,
On land or sea, in court or hall, he found but discontent;
For he took his disposition with him everywhere he went.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Gravice.)

At nine o'clock Portmaris, as a rule, goes to bed.

No one was stirring; the street, the quay, were empty. The tide was far out now, and the sands lay a golden beat between sea and beach, unbroken save where at the very margin of the lapping wavelets a boat lay at anchor.

Not even a greater enthusiast than Francis Lisle could have desired a more delicious picture than she made flitting slowly yet lightly over the beach, her graceful figure casting a long shadow behind her. "Night is youth's season," says the poet, and Leslie's heart was beating tonight with a strange pulsation.

She reached the spot where she had sat with Ralph Duncombe's ring in her hand, and going down on one knee searched carefully. The bright light revealed every pebble and, convinced at last that it was not there, but that she must have held it until she ran some way down the sands, before she dropped it, she rose from her knees with a sigh, and was going back when she saw a man's form lying full length on the top of the breakwater.

It was a young fisherman apparently for he was clad in the tight-fitting blue jersey and long sea boots, and wore the red woolen cap common to men and boys in Portmaris. He was stretched out full length with his head resting on his arms, his face upturned, perfectly still and motionless.

It occurred to Leslie that he might have picked up the ring, and, well aware that his class was as honest as the day, she went up to him, saying:

"Have you found a ring on the beach just here?"

The man did not answer nor move, and when she got quite up to him she saw that he was asleep.

She saw, too, something else; that it was not a Portmaris fisherman, but the young man whom Mr. Temple had called "Yorke."

With a sudden rush of crimson to her face she was about to beat a retreat when Yorke started slightly, opened his eyes and stared up at her.

The next instant he was off the breakwater and on his feet.

"By George!" he exclaimed, with bated breath, "It is you, Miss Lisle!"

"Yes, it is I," said Leslie as calmly and composedly as she could, and from the effort for composure her voice sounded rather cold.

"I beg your pardon. Of course it is. But——" he hesitated a moment. "Well the fact is, I was dreaming about you——" He stopped, as if he were afraid he had given offense.

But Leslie smiled.

"It must have been an uncomfortable dream," she said, glancing at the breakwater.

"No," he said. "I was never more comfortable in my life. I'm more used to roughing it than you'd think. I suppose it was the beauty of the night that tempted you as it tempted me?" he went on, with his frank eyes on her face.

Leslie looked down. She could not ask him the question she had put to the supposed fisherman—if he had found her ring, of course, he would give it to her.

"Yes," she said.

"I told Dolph it was too good to sit indoors," he went on. "That's my cousin, the man you saw today, you know."

"Mr. Temple?" said Leslie.

"Mr.—yes, Mr. Temple," he assented after a moment's hesitation. "And I tried to lure him out, but he doesn't care about stirring after dinner, poor old chap——" he broke off with a laugh. "You are looking at my get-up?" he said.

Leslie smiled.

"I suppose you took me for one of the marine monsters who abound about here. Fact is, I found my things wetter than I supposed——"

"I knew you would!" said Leslie, an air of gentle triumph.

"Yes, and as I hadn't a change with me I borrowed a suit from the landlady's boy; a 'boy' about six feet high. I fancy I rather upset my cousin's man sitting down to dinner in 'em; but they're astonishingly comfortable. I'm half inclined to take to them as a regular thing. After all, one might be worse than a fisherman, Miss Lisle."

"Very much," said Leslie, with a smile.

"Oh, you're surely not going!" he said, as she half turned toward the quay. "It's far better out here than indoors and it's early too. Won't you walk across the sand to the edge of the sea? It's quite dry.

He moved in that direction as he spoke, and Leslie, with a twinge of conscience, moved also.

"It's a pity all life can't be a moonlast night," he said, after a pause, and with a faint sigh. "By George, it would be grand on the water tonight. There's just enough wind to keep a boat going —and there's a boat!" he exclaimed, pointing to the boat lying at anchor at the edge of the water as if he had made a discovery which was to render this weary world happy for evermore. "What do you say to going for a little sail, Miss Lisle?"

He put the question very much as one truant from school might put it to another, only a little more timorously.

"It would be splendid, a thing to be remembered. Oh, don't say no! I've set my heart upon it——"

"Why should you not go?" said Leslie, trying to smile, and to keep from her eyes the wistful longing which his audacious suggestion had aroused.

"By myself!" he said, reproachfully and with a kind of high-minded wonder. "I wouldn't be so selfish. Come, Miss Lisle—I—I mean we—may never have another chance like this. You don't get such nights as this in England often. And you need not be nervous. I can manage a boat in half a gale. But never mind if you think you wouldn't be safe."

JUST IN PASSING

THERE ARE OTHERS

If times are hard, and you feel blue,
Think of the others worrying too;
Just because your trials are many,
Don't think the rest of us haven't any.
Life is made up of smiles and tears,
Joys and sorrows mixed with fears;
And though to us it seems one-sided,
Trouble is pretty well divided.
If we could look in every heart
We'd find that each one has its part,
And those who travel Fortune's road
Sometimes carry the biggest load.

OH SKINNAY!

The Circus is coming to town! The big Ringling Circus at that. It is coming across the line to Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener London AND Belleville, and then going back. Belleville on the map again. Page Mayor Mikel!

Ringling's is really a huge outfit with 100 cars to unload (think of it!) and "BOUT a Million" elephants (oh boy!) The immense tent has a seating capacity of 15,000 and there are five rings! Our littlest fellow moans, "Aw daddy, how can I watch all that at once?"

Ringling's is the circus we wrote of a few weeks ago as having "cut out" the wild animal act. Such animals can be trained only through fear, and humane societies everywhere have been "up in arms" over the cruelty of this training. Ringling's the biggest of the lot fell in line and now we can look at these kings of the jungle without a cold chill running up and down the spine. I, for one, will be glad of the absence of the whip, pistol and snarl of the wild animal act.

JAY DRIVERS

We hear motorists complaining bitterly of the jay walkers, but personally my grievance is against the "Jay" driver—the man or woman who shoots out suddenly from the curb without a sign or warning. These people are a constant menace on our Front street and a law should be enacted requiring all drivers to signal before leaving the curb.

Another grievance is that cars should not be allowed to turn on Front street, on Saturdays at least, between Dundas street and Station street. The congestion on Front street last Saturday night was pretty bad, and that congestion was made worse by drivers who held up two lines while they turned in the middle of the street! Two weeks ago it rained. It was Saturday and the streets were full. We were going up Front street when one of those jay drivers not only shot out from the curb without any warning, but took a fast turn clear across the street. I had to shove on my brakes so fast and so hard that quicker than I can tell it. My car was facing in the opposite direction, the streets being slippery. I shudder to think what would have happened had a car been coming behind! Many are the complaints and the hopes that something will soon be done to obviate these two dangers on our streets.

ON EACH OTHER'S NERVES

We know that women living together, with no masculine elements, are terribly apt to 'get on one another's nerves,'" writes Lily Watson in the "Woman's Magazine." There may be real affection. Sisters, or sisters and a mother, or women dwelling under one roof for some common end or aim, are in danger of this misery. How is it to be avoided?

"If an ordinary household consists of several women, they are sure to have different tastes and occupations about which they naturally like to talk. It is absolutely essential to cultivate a spirit of tolerance here. One of the number may run certain departments of 'Church work' in which she is intensely interested. Meals must be arranged accordingly, and the hours are completely subordinate to her convenience. She takes it for granted that her companions are equally keen, and want to hear in detail all that she is doing. But it probably bores them to tears. Another loves music; another is wild about the 'Girl Guides' movement, in which she takes a prominent part; and so on. But the individual pursuit should be kept judiciously in the background if women are to form an harmonious conclave.

"The chief cause of 'getting on one another's nerves' is too close proximity. Of course, where incomes are small and space is limited, it is hard to avoid this. But a certain amount of seclusion is important for every human being. The habit of herding together without intermission is often fatal to the development of individuality. It has a tendency to bring out all that is worst in the character."

Healthy Children Are Happy Children

The well child is always a happy child—it is a baby's nature to be happy and contented. Mothers, if your little ones are cross and peevish and cry a great deal they are not well —they are in need of a medicine— something that will set their bowels and stomach in order for nine-tenths of all childhood ailments arise from a disordered state of the bowels and stomach. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and thus drive out constipation and indigestion; banish colic; break up colds and simple fevers and make the baby healthy and happy. The Tablets are guaranteed to be absolutely free from opiates or other harmful drugs—they cannot possibly do harm—always good. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Thrills Galore In Thief of Paradise

Underseas Battle With Shark is Just a Sample

The last word in movie thrills is promised by George Fitzmaurice in his new Goldwyn-First National production, "A Thief in Paradise," which comes to the Griffin Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Among the scenes to be offered are:

An underseas battle between a man and a shark.

Another battle between two men, five fathoms underseas on the ocean's bed.

An elaborate dancing pageant of nymphs, staged at the bottom of the sea.

A polo game in which a quartette of beautiful blondes are staged against as many brunettes. They wear one-piece bathing suits.

A midnight elopement in an airplane.

Doris Kenyon, Ronald Colman and Aileen Pringle are co-featured in the picture, with Claude Gillingwater, Alec Francis and John Patrick heading the suporting cast.

Colman stages the two underseas fights and is said to have spent five hours at two-minute intervals, in the briny depths to get these scenes. Powerful mirrors reflected the sunlight down into the water to afford sufficient illumination for the cameras.

He and Miss Kenyon actually make a nocturnal flight in a plane for the elopement scenes.

Miss Pringle is said to wear a costume of 18,000 pearls for her dance in the underseas pageant.

The story is an adaptation from Leonard Merrick's widely read novel, "The Worldlings," and the action ranges from the dives of the South Sea isles to the exclusive social colonies of San Francisco and Del Monte, Calif.

"Broken Laws" Is Belle Attraction

Wild Party in "The Purple Mill" Is Featured

In "Broken Laws" which comes to the Belle Theatre on Monday, Bobby Allen and Patsy Heath, both just eighteen, attend a wild party in The Purple Mill. There is much drinking and dancing and hilarity and in the midst of it Bobby's mother and Patsy's father unexpectedly appear in search of their children. Patsy is hustled off home and Bobby, pursuing her father's car in his own speedy roadster, crashes into a vegetable wagon, killing an aged woman.

Some of the most dramatic scenes of the play follow, and the roadhouse forms an ideal setting for the prelude.

Here dozens of young people are seen gaily dancing to the jazz strains of an orchestra. The interior of the place is finished to represent a barn. A horse peers from a stall—owls sit on the rafters and the lighting is obtained by electric globes hidden in hollow logs.

It is one of the most effective scenes of the play, and relieves the dramatic tension that both preceeds and follows it.

Mrs. Wallace Reid is seen as the mother of Bobby; Arthur Rankin plays the boy, and Virginia Lee Corbin the girl, whose father is played by Percy Marmont.

R. William Neil directed it and the picture is released by Film Booking Offices who released Mrs. Reid's former picture, "Human Wreckage."

COULD NOT SLEEP NIGHTS

Pains and Headaches Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dublin, Ontario.—"I was weak and irregular, with pains and headaches, and could not sleep nights. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by reading the letters in the newspapers and tried it because I wanted to get better. I have got good results from it as I feel a lot stronger and am not troubled with such bad headaches as I used to be and am more regular. I am gaining in weight all the time and I tell my friends what kind of medicine I am taking. You may use my letter as a help to others."—Mrs. JAMES RACHO, Box 12, Dublin, Ontario.

Halifax Nurse Recommends

Halifax, N. S. — "I am a maternity nurse and have recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to many women who were childless, also to women who need a good tonic. I am English and my husband is American, and he told me of Lydia E. Pinkham while in England. I would appreciate a copy or two of your little books on women's ailments. I have one which I keep to lend. I will willingly answer letters from any woman asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. S. M. COLEMAN, 24 Uniacke Street, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

DANNY McPRIDE, ONE OF THE "MERRY HUNDRED," WITH HIS PAL "PIPPO"

"A man's best friend is his dog," remarked some sage philosopher, and every clown with the Greatest Show on Earth will bear testimony to the truth of this aphorism. Nearly all of the mirthful madcaps—there are a hundred of them with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined circus—carry animal pets, partly for companionship, usually for professional unity. Almost all their dumb playfellows are canines.

In and around the score of dressing-room tents you are sure to encounter some white-faced "Joey" patiently putting his dog pal through new tricks.

One of the cleverest of dog performers with the big show is the poodle owned by Danny McPride. "Pippo" is his name, or "Pip" for short. His master says he understands spoken language as well as himself and obeys every word of instruction with uncanny intelligence.

"It's a great injustice to circus people who own dogs to hear outsiders say we treat them cruelly, and intimidate them to make them perform," says McPride. "Why, my little 'Pippo' enjoys all the luxuries of a lady's lapdog. At the bottom of the box where 'Pippo' sleeps are two big cushions. I manicure his nails and he's enough of an aristocrat to watch and see if it's done properly. He enjoys his morning 'tub' as much as an Englishman. In fact he's a perfect little Beau Brummel with the most fastidious tastes. I've never cuffed him or slapped him, let alone whip him. He's learned all his tricks through kindness."

"Pippo" is but one of scores of remarkable trained animals that will be seen when the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus exhibits here Thursday, July 2nd.

The illness of Miss J. Jackson, the matron and two little inmates of the Children's Aid Shelter in South London, has resulted in the issuance of a quarantine order there. Every precaution is being taken to prevent a further spread of the trouble which has been diagnosed as diphtheria.

Sulphur Best To Clear Skin

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching burning and irritation.

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.

unaway Girl Is Sought in Hamilton

arents Sick With Worry; Would Be Forgiven Police Say

Hamilton, June 13.—Since last Monday evening a 17-year-old girl living in the west end of the city, and belonging to one of Hamilton's oldest families, has been missing and her distracted relatives have done everything to locate her, but without success. While willing to supply the press with a description and the details of the case, they are loath to mention the the name for obvious reasons. Detective Joseph Chamberlain is conducting an investigation and appeals to any one knowing anything of the young lady to get in touch with him at once at police headquarters.

On Monday night the girl was driven to the Y.W.C.A. by her aunt, and was to have returned with her following a concert which was being staged in the building. At 9.40 o'clock the gril called her aunt's home and said that she was going out driving after the concert and not to bother coming down for her. By the time relatives reached the Y.W.C.A. she had left. Since then nothing has been seen or heard of her.

The description given out is as follows: 17 years of age, 5 feet 4 inches, slim build, brown bobbed hair, brown eyes and fair complexion. When last seen she was wearing a red dress with pin-head dots, no coat or hat, flesh-colored stockings and Russian tan pumps.

Should the young woman be afraid to return home after this length of time, Detective Chamberlain assured reporters this morning that the relatives are ill through worry and are ready to forgive and take her back.

Will Take Care of Summer Guests in Spite Of Fire

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, June 13.—With regard to the destruction by fire last night of Minaki Inn, a summer hotel owned and operated by the Canadian National Railways on the Winnipeg River at Minaki, Ontario, about 100 miles east of Winnipeg, the following official statement was issued today by Mr. Walter Pratt, General Manager of Hotels for the National System.

"The main building of Minaki Inn was totally destroyed by fire last night with a loss of $$150,000 which is fully covered by insurance. The inn, which was to have been opened for the accommodation of guests on Saturday, was occupied at the time only by members of the staff. There was no loss of life. The cause of the fire has not been determined."

The lodge, which was originally designed for the accommodation of winter guests, was not damaged by the fire and instructions have been issued to Manager H. Knight, to prepare it immediately for the reception of guests, so as to be ready for opening on June 27th. The dance pavilion, boat house, swimming accommodation and the ice house were untouched by the flames an dthe new golf course has not been injured in any respect.

"The Canadian National Railways begin work at once to prepare plans for the erection of a new building to replace the one destroyed by fire. Walter Pratt, General Manager of Hotels, and A. S. Maclean, are leaving Montreal tonight for Minaki.

BROTHER USMAR TO APPEAL VERDICT

Montreal, June 13.— Brother Usmar, Thursday found guilty on a charge of manslaughter, is bringing his case before the Court of Appeals in an effort to have the verdict of the jury in the Court of King's Bench quashed. Usmar was held responsible for the death of eight-year old Hector Gallimeau who was fatally scalded while being bathed by the Brother in a laundry tub in the Huberdeau Orphanage on January 21.

Statements made by Mr. Justice Wilson in his charge to the jury, and evidence as to ill-treatment of the victim by the accused will likely be the basis of the appeal. When this evidence was begun the defense objected on the grounds that such testimony was irrelevant to the charge on which the accused was being tried, but the Court allowed it.

A charge of wounding still remains against Usmar but the Crown will do nothing in this case until the appeal from the manslaughter verdict is decided.

Gen. Victor Williams, head of the Ontario Provincial Police was in Owen Sound on his inspection trip of the various Provincial Police districts over which he has control.

DOCTOR DEFENDS MODERN CLOTHES

London, June 13.—In view of the low cut neck effect, short skirts and spider web stockings, which are now the mode, girls have a better chance for health than boys, who usually wear too much clothing, in the opinion of Dr. Leonard Hill, of the National Institute of Medical Research. This is because these fads of the women and girls permit more of the ultra-violet rays to enter their bodies, the doctor declares.

WRIT IS ISSUED BY BOAT OWNER AGAINST POLICE

Ask for Release of Vessel and Claim $15,000 Damages

BOAT IS RETURNED

But to Customs Officials at Port of Deseronto

An erroneous impression has been created by an article which appeared in Saturday's issue of the Intelligencer, where it was stated that the crew of the "Jim Lulu" boat which was seized at Deseronto Friday afternoon by Provincial Inspectors, had fled from the boat.

The Intelligencer learns today that members of the crew duly reported to the customs officer at Deseronto after they had hobbled the boat to shore from a point in Lake Ontario where they had broken a rudder and a cable. By using an improvised rudder they were able to reach Deseronto. After reporting, the crew left for Toronto to secure repairs for the boat, leaving Mr. Milton Hunt of Deseronto in charge of the boat.

The law firm of Porter, Payne and Wills, acting on behalf of the owner of the boat has issued a writ against Inspector F. J. Naphan and Inspector E. C. Gurnett of Provincial police on behalf of George Hardy, owner of the boat and for $15,000 damages for wrongfully, unlawfully and without color of right, seizing and keeping the boat in their possession.

The Intelligencer learned in conversation with Mr. Payne of Porter, Payne and Wills that no right of confiscation of the boat exists under the O.T.A.

"The statement in the article of Saturday's issue to the effect that the crew fled, was false and made without foundation and fact," he added.

Returned to Customs

Mr. Payne told The Intelligencer this afternoon that the boat, "Jim Lulu" was being returned by the Provincial Police to the Customs authorities at the Port of Deseronto.

CHINESE ASKING FOR BREAK-OFF WITH BRITISH

Mob of Students and Others Carried Out Demonstration

BRITAIN REPLIES

No Untoward Act Taken in Protecting Citizens, Note Declares

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Peking, June 15.—Chinese students, merchants, ship keepers and workmen in the largest demonstration made here during the present trouble today went to the foreign office and demanded that the Chinese Government sever relations with Great Britain and instruct Tuchun of Hankow forcibly to take possession of British concessions there.

This movement followed the sending by British legation of a lengthy reply to the Chinese note of protest over the shooting of a number of Chinese last week during an attack on the British concession in Hankow.

The reply declares that the Chinese impression that the laws of humanity were disregarded by the British is completely erroneous; that on the contrary the British were defending their lives against a murderous mob invading their settlement. After having killed one foreigner.

Refusing to admit that any responsibility rests on British authorities reply cites a previous warning against allowing anti-foreign agitation to go unchecked and asks that energetic measures be taken to repress it. The note concludes with the expression of hope that the Chinese Foreign office will issue a statement giving the correct version of the incident and dispel an atmosphere of prejudice which it says has been created by exaggerated and mendacious stories.

CHURCH PACKED AT BRIDGE ST. BY UNIONISTS

Inspiring Addresses Given By Dr. Brown and Rev. Mr. Ramsay

MUST BE AGGRESSIVE

United Choirs and Soloists Provide Feast of Music

Four Belleville churches, entering into the United Church of Canada, worshipped together at Bridge street last night to mark the first Sunday following the formal Union of last Wednesday. Some twelve hundred members of Bridge Street, Tabernacle, John Street and Holloway crowded almost every available bit of room in the Church and entered into the spirit of the service with fine enthusiasm.

On the pulpit platform sat Rev. D. C. Ramsay, M.A., Rev. F. E. Malott, B.A., D.D., Rev. Alfred Brown, D.D., Rev. E. N. Baker, M.A., D.D., Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., D.D., Rev. W. D. P. Wilson and Rev. George Brown, and back of these Ministers again an inspiring array of choristers made up from the members of the various choirs of the United Church in Belleville.

The massed choir rendered "Holy Art Thou", (Largo) Handel; Mrs. Stobie and Mr. Allan Schryver sang a duet. "Love Divine All Loves Excelling"; Dr Haffner and Mr. Moorman also provided a duet, and J. D. Bankier a solo.

Must Be Aggressive

"The United Church must be an aggressive Church." This was the message brought to the congregation at Bridge St. Church last night by Rev. Alfred Brawn, D.D., when the first services of the United Church of Canada were held in Belleville.

The sermon took the form of questions which naturally occur to theaverage layman on the occasion of Church Union, together with authorative answers.

In answering his first question, "How shall the United Church go forward into the future?" Dr. Brown said that progress should be "Not in a halting spirit, not with apologies; but with a great rallying cry to the forces, and a mighty challenge to the ages."

The motto which Methodism suggested to the uniting bodies was this: "The world is our parish."

"What mission?" asked the speaker, "does the church set forth as belonging alike to all Christian people?" "To spread scriptural holiness" was the answer.

"What inscription has she left on the last pages of her individual history?" queried Dr. Brown. The speaker said that the final inscription was, "what hath God wrought?"

The inscription which she would inscribe on the banners of the great host formed by union, was: "The best of all is 'God is with us'."

In enlarging on his statement that the United Church must be an aggressive church, Dr. Brown told a story of a Chinese General whose forces were defeated in the Tonquin war. The general said that he was not able to account for the reverses which his troops had suffered, saying that they had made hideous faces and had shouted at the tops of their voices, yet the enemy had come down like a swarm of bees and swept the general's army away.

Action Needed

In making the application to the United Church, the speaker went on to say that the new church would never triumph by making pious faces, whether they were of Methodist, Presbyterian or Congregational type. The church could never triumph, he continued, by shouting the shibboleths of the United Church, whether they be of the numbers, the sums of money, the amount of learning, the social position of church members, or any kindred things whatsoever. The church had to reach out and go forth, and exert itself in action for the cause of Jesus Christ, proclaimed the speaker.

"We must have an aggressive educational policy, and be possessed with the spirit of aggressive evangelism" explained the minister.

He told of a remark which Admiral Farragut, made after the Civil War encounter at Charleston. The Admiral was talking to his aide, Commander Du Pont. "Du Pont, do you know why you didn't get into Charleston with your iron clads?" asked the Admiral. The Commander answered, "Because the channel was so crooked, and the rebel fire was horrible." "No, it wasn't that," replied Farragut. "It was because you didn't believe you could get in!"

If the United Church fails to get into every place where it should go; if it does not accomplish all it should it is not because "The channel was crooked," or because the "rebels' fire was horrible," but because the church didn't believe it could do great things, and didn't try, proclaimed the speaker.

"It is the providence of God that we are on hand to acept the responsibility for the gigantic task of Union," declared Rev. Brown.

He reminded his hearers that Moses said to the Children of Israel, "Ye have compassed the mountain long enough, turn ye northward", and applied that command to the church in the matter of the union. The church had compassed the mountain of negotiations for over twenty years, he said, and that the time had arrived when it must turn northward.

The speaker concluded with an eloquent appeal for united effort for a united church.

Always Favorable

Rev. D. C. Ramsay, M.A. delivered a short but forceful speech dealing with the history of the Presbyterian Church. He said that in Canada, the Presbyterian Church has always been favorable to Union, and that it was going as a Church into Union, but with the best of feeling toward those who were staying outside the Union.

The achievements of the United Church of Canada would be characterized as before with energy and foresight but this meant co-operation on the part of every member of the Church, said the speaker.

THE PART OF WOMEN

A writer remarks that were the standard histories of Canada to be relied on for information one would be led to conclude that one-half the population of this land had no part in the building of the nation. There is much of truth in the statement. The average history deals so largely with events in which men alone have figured that the not less important but less conspicuous performance in the eyes of historians, of women has been omitted from the record. It needs no citation of evidence to prove the case of the women. It is admitted though it may have been done tacitly. It is in considerable part a submerged service which they have rendered. In many instances men have taken the credit but that does not rob the woman of their due.

The duties of the home, the rearing of children, were in earlier days not such as to bring women into conspicuous notice. In later times there has been a disposition on the part of women to claim that to which they were entitled and on the part of men to concede it.

Had histories of peoples rather than the records of governments been written the part played by the women could not have been ignored. It is but truth to say that an equal share of the credit and honor of the building of our country is due to women. They served in a different way but not less essentially. The historian of the future will acknowledge this, especially if it be a woman. There is no reason why a woman should not write history, though few, comparatively have taken up that form of literature.

LAST DAY OF SCHOOL

Did you stand on the platform in a little country schoolhouse and make your first attempt at "speaking pieces" by stammering out:

"You'd scarce expect one of my age
To appear in public on the stage."

or,

"Many fishes in a brook
Daddy catch 'em with a hook?"

It was the last day of school and mothers, fathers, and friends had come to hear the dialogues and recitations in which the teacher had so carefully trained the children.

You were one of the youngest and made your initial bow with the same classic half dozen lines that most beginners used. After the "Speakin." was over you and your schoolmates told the teacher good-bye and went home for the long summer vacation.

The last day of school, celebration is a good old Canadian Institution that ought not to be abandoned. It was an expression of good will and neighborliness, a community gathering very much worth while. Of course it can be made somewhat different now. (None of us older folk care to say that it can be made beter). It is so easy to hop into the auto and run over to the schoolhouse for the last afternoon.

School work is different; the children have more poems, games, dialogues, music, and drawings to show their elders and they meet grown folk more naturally. The teacher is not under the strain of making a show time of it but can have a school "at home 'day. Whether you are a patron of a one-room school or a good big consolidated school, by all means try to keep up the old, fine custom of a "last day of school".

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

On the wall of my camp, there is tacked a picture to which I took a fancy several years ago. It was the front cover picture on a well-known weekly magazine. At the time it was published, I was away in the far north woods, but a bird lover sent it to me, with a pencil note that he knew I would miss seeing it and he took the liberty of sending me one. I was a picture of a handsome young farmer, with little meadowlarks in his hand and the mother bird looking on. The farmer looks very sorry that he has disturbed the birds but to look at his face is to know that he loves them and it is easy to see that the mother bird knows he will not harm her young.

Everyone who has seen this picture on my wall, has asked me about it and, of course, I can only tell them what is very clearly told in the picture. The farmer was probably cutting his hay when he ran them down and might have killed them but fortunately he did not.

Nearly everyone who sees this picture, wants to know more, and, as there is no more in the picture, I just tell them this.

I know a farmer who paid little or no attention to birds, until one June day, he was cutting his hay with a machine. He knew that meadowlarks made their nests in the fields, hidden by the grass, but, like many other men, he was busy and not thinking about birds.

He had cut over a quarter of the field, when two meadowlarks flew about his head, making such an ado that he could not properly guide the horses. He got down and went ahead, and the farther he went on foot, the more excited the birds became. So he went back to the barn and got a rope and another man, and they took opposite ends of the rope and dragged the field and finally located two meadowlark nests. They then marked the places with stakes, so that they would not run over the nests. What happened next? Nature Lore will tell you to-morrow.

SEASONS OF HEALTH

Buffalo Express

Dr. Robert Ehrstrom, a Finnish physician, believes that he has perceived a direct relation between spring fever and the rate of death by suicide. His hypothesis is set forth in the April issue of the World's Health, a publication of the League of Red Cross societies. Spring tiredness, it appears to be agreed is a disease of the nerves, but if there is any basis for the tentative conclusions reached by Dr. Ehrstrom, the cause is a deficiency in the diet rather than a long period of hard work prior to annual vacation. Manual laborers, who get no summer vacations in Finland, are just as likely to have spring fever as other persons. Dr. Ehrstrom has worked out a graph which indicates that the rate of death by suicide corresponds closely with the dates of fthe first visits to polyclinics of persons suffering from that tired feeling. Both sharply ascent in March and later, reaching their peak in late June. They remain fairly constant until September, when there is a sharp descent through the fall and winter months. The question that puzzles is why some people are listless and of suicidal intent in the warm, sunshiny months of spring and summer rather than in the darkening days of fall and the weary months of winter. Dr. Ehrstrom admits that he lacks positive proof, but he believes that, at least in such a northern country as Finland the reason is dietary. The tired feeling and the suicidal impulse subside when new, fresh foods are available. The elusive vitamins become less valuable the longer food is preserved, and in this instance the marked increase of neuroticism coincides with the period of the year when the average person is compelled to subsist on food which has been preserved for several months.

My European Excursions

Improved Swiss Automobile Laws

Zurich—The bulletin of the Swiss Tourist Information Office goes at length into the question of motoring in Switzerland, controverting the erroneous beliefs that are prevalent abroad. It is pointed out that, there is no federal law governing motor traffic generally in Switzerland; there exists an inter-cantonal agreement, to which all the cantons have adhered except Geneva, Zoug and Unterwalden, and even in these latter the regulations are practically the same as in the others.

As regards motoring on Sundays, conditions have greatly improved from the motorist's point of view.

With one exception all the cantons allow Sunday motoring, only restricting speed during certain hours, on Sunday afternoons in the summer. Last year the canton of Glaris was the only exception, prohibiting the motor-car from 1 p.m. to 6.30 p.m. on Sunday afternoons from May till October, but it is exceedingly probable that this cantonals will come into line this year.

Foreign motorists who intend to stay only a short time in Geneva without taking out a triptych are now exempt from the necessity of a deposit at the Customs. They are supplied by the Custom House at the frontier of the Canton of Geneva with a so-called "provisional entry card" costing 5 French francs and valid for 5 days. If the motorist wishes to stay longer or travel farther into the interior, he may exchange the provisional card before expiration against a "passe-avant" or a triptych valid for one year. The passe-avant is issued by the Customs against the deposit of the duty; the triptych may be obtained from the Swiss Automobile Club, 2, rue du Mont Blanc, Geneva, or the Swiss Touring Club, 2, place des Bergues, Geneva.

The Swiss Tourist Office, and Lausanne, give gratuitously any information desired regarding travelling in Switzerland.

Letters to the Editor

A PROPHECY COMES TRUE

No more striking or truly prophetic words were ever written than the following from the pen of Sir John Willison in 1923:

"We must either manufacture the raw materials of Canada within the country—thus employing labor, rearing new communities, providing local markets for merchants and producers, strengthening the national structure, making the back of Canada strong to bear its accumulating burdens—or the sons of Canada will follow these raw materials out of the country, establish themselves in foreign industrial centres, and more and more, from year to year, the national burden will become heavier and the issue of the great political experiment in which we are engaged became more difficult and uncertain. Every sound economic and natural reason therefore, demands that the raw materials of Canada shall be manufactured in Canada, and the Canadian people protected in the possession and control of their natural inheritance."

The sons of Canada are following the raw material out of the country to the tune of nearly 200,000 a year, according to statements made in Parliament this week.

A London Letter

London, Eng. May 30. (By Canadian Press.)—Queen Mary was 58 on May 26, and received a shower of birthday presents and greetings.

What presents the Queen gets for her birthday is a problem that has always intrigued the inquisitive, and this year, for some reason, the veil has been slightly lifted from the array of packages and parcels that (metaphorcally, may be,) awaits Queen Mary on her birthday breakfast table.

Well, David sent his presents a few days too soon, but they were none the less welcome for the reason that they were some magnificent ostrich feathers wonderfully coloured and shaded, all the way from South Africa. King George gave his consort a wonderful emerald ring set in platinum—a setting that appeals to the Queen immensley for the majority of her private jewels, and all the State jewels, are set in gold. Princess Mary gave her mother some old lace,—and the gifts of Prince George, the baby, (and, it is whispered, the favorite of the Queen,) included some of the latest gramophone records.

Used the Gold Plate

On Derby Night, King George entertained his friends of the Jockey Club to dinner at Buckingham Palace and the gold plate service was used. Queen Mary went out to a private party on her own. Derby Night is the one night of the year when the King entertains as a bachelor.

$8,000,000 Will Buy This

It is generally anticipated in London that Grosvenor House, which the late Lord Leverhulme bought from the Duke of Westminster only a few months ago, will now be repurchased by an American. It is the most palatial of the West End mansions and has a superb view of Hyde Park.

Unfortunately, the executors of the late soap king are not willing to let the mansion for short periods at enormous rentals, but had this been the case there would have been a rush of American hostesses for it. However, anybody can buy a 98 years' lease for about eight million dollars.

Of all the many events in its long social history, none was so remarkable as the $5,000 a head dinner which was given during the Tariff Reform Campaign. Everybody who has subscribed that amount towards the Campaign was, as a reward, invited to dine there with the Duke of Westminister.

The duke is now living in his small but luxurious bachelor apartment at a local hotel.

London's Season Will Continue Late This Year

London is preparing for a rush of overseas visitors in August and September. London's summer weather in the earlier months of the season has been so uncertain for the last few years that London hotel managers now state that this has resulted in heavier reservations this year for August and September than ever before. In view of this the social calendar has been revised and many of the season's events have been put back.

Both King Giorge and Queen Mary will be back in town for August after Cowes Regatta. In the beginning of September a great pageant in which 20,000 people will take part will be given in the stadium of the British Empire Exposition at Wembley.

By the way, when the time comes for the King and Queen to go on holiday this year, for a part of the time, at any rate, they will go their different ways. Queen Mary is going off on her own to some friends in Gloucestershire and King George has made arrangements for a bachelor holiday in the north.

Stokowski is in Town

Dr. Leopold Stokowski, golden-haired conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra has arrived on a vacation with his daughter. He has come just when the musical season in London is at its height and is looking forward to a kind of 'busman's holiday with a round of Opera and concerts. One of the finest boxes at Covent Gardens Opera House has been placed at Stokowski's disposal for as long as he wants it.

Whilst the conductor's arrval has not been heralded with the hectic scenes that usher a film star into London, his suite has been smothered with flowers, bouquets from Melba and others.

Fire folowing an explosion, the cause of which is unknown, damaged the home of A. Dunn, Pine Street, Thorold. The family made their escape.

Youth Confesses He Made up Story

Face Burned by Powder He Lighted; No Mysterious Man

Kingston, June 15.—The mystery surrounding the shooting of Ernest Greenslade, aged seventeen years on the farm of Gordon Silver, near Harrowsmith, on Thursday afternoon, has been solved.

On Saturday morning Provincial Constable Maclachlan visited the Kingston General Hospital where the lad is receiving treatment for his eyes, and after being cross-examined, the lad broke into tears and acknowledged that he had not been shot by any unknown man, as he stated previously, but his injuries were caused as a result of him lighting some powder which took fire and blew up in his face.

The provincial police officer, who has been working on the case, visited the scene of the supposed schooting on Frida afyternoon in company with Crown Attorney T. J. Rigney. From the start the provincial officer doubted the story which was told by the injured boy, but nevertheless he had to take it for what it was worth and then set to work at getting the true vervion of the shooting.

The police officer also visited the General Hospital on Friday afternoon and questioned the lad, who continued to stick to his story that he was shot by an unknown man when he was in the act of lowering the bars from the fence of the field where the cows were pasturing.

Dr. F. Casey, eye specialist, who is attending the lad at the hospital, stated that the eyesight would not be affected.

POINTS TO STATES AS GOOD EXAMPLE

Hull, Eng., June 13.—Prohibition in the United States has proved to be the handmaiden of thrift, home building happiness and prosperity, and it would go a long way in England toward solving the problem of unemployment, said Gerald France, the president, addressing the National and Commercial Temperance Union here at its annual conference.

Mr. France said he rejoiced in the sinking of the vessels "flying the Jolly Roger of the bootlegging fraternity," and he hoped those men who financed this traffic would lose every penny they possessed, rather than that "the fair name of Britain should be dragged into the mud of international treachery."

Widow's Visit Was Almost a Tragedy

Come Near Losing Business and Children in the United States

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, Que., June 15—A week end excursion to this city by a dress maker of a little Connecticut town, was fraught with all manner of unlooked-for anxieties when the latter was just to take the train home. "We are afraid you can't get back to your two children for a year and a half," she was informed by U.S. government officials. And this was three minutes before the train was due to start.

Mrs. Mary MacAdam thought of her two fatherless children and her business, and wept freely, sitting on a station bench. The city clerk of her own town had testified in a letter that she a British-born woman had lived there several years; but it was found that she had gone to the States, in 1917 without inspection or payment of head-tax, remaining there when ostensibly entering for a visit. Then thinking it was all right, she came back to Canada, for a visit.

In view of the worthiness of the case it was to exercise executive clemency, and allow Mrs. MacAdam to enter under a six months bond of $500, which will enable her to live in the United States for a period of not more than six months, and if she remains longer than that period the bond will be forfeited and deportation to Canada be carried out.

It will probably be found possible to provide for her residence in the United States in this manner until such time as a British quota is available.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice)

This may have been a stroke of artfulness or pure ingeniousness; it settled the matter.

"I have never been afraid in my life—that I remember," said Leslie, conscientiously.

"Then that settles it!" he said, in that tone of free joyousness which appeals to a woman more than any tone a man can use. "Here we are—and by Jove, here's a real sea-monster asleep in the boat. Hallo, there!" he called out to an old man who lay curled up in the bottom of the boat.

Leslie laughed softly.

"It is of no use calling to him," she said. "He is stone deaf. It is old Will, and he is waiting for the turn of the tide."

"Like a good many more of us," said Yorke, cheerfully, and he was about to shake the man, but Leslie put her hand on his arm and stayed him.

"I—I think I had better wake him," she said. "He is old, and not very good tempered, and——"

"I see. All right," said Yorke. "I'll keep here in the background. If he refuses to go tell him we'll take his boat and do without him."

Leslie bent over the gunwhale, and touched the old man gently. He stirred after a moment or two, and got up on his elbow, frowning at her.

Leslie indicated by expressive pantomime that they wanted to go for a sail and after glancing at the sky and at Yorke, the old fellow nodded surlily, and got out of the boat.

Yorke helped him to push the boat into the water.

"And now how are you going to get in?" he said to Leslie, but before she could answer the question old Will took her in his arms and carried her bodily into the boat.

Leslie smiled.

"He is a very self-willed old man, and no one in Portmaris interferes with or contradicts him, perhaps because he is deaf.

"I see," said Yorke. "I never realized until tonight the great advantages of that affliction."

He went forward as he spoke to assist with the sail, but the old man surlily waved him back into the stern.

"All right, William, I'll steer then," he said; but he had no sooner got hold of the tiller than Will angrily signed to him to release it, and pointed to Leslie.

"I think he wants me to steer," she said, with a faint blush. "I am often out sailing with him."

"He evidently regards me as a land lubber, whatever that is," said Yorke.

Princess Radziwell, of Lithuania who is in Canada to address the League of Nations societies. A clever politician, she is also a very charming woman.

"But right! the password for tonight is 'Don't cross old William!' "

He dropped down at her feet and leaned his head upon his hand, and sighed with supreme, unbounded content, and there was a silence for a few minutes as the boat glided out to sea; then he said:

"Do you think old William would fly into a paroxysm of rage if I offered him a pipe of tobacco, Miss Lisle?"

"You might try," said Leslie, and the tone of her voice was like an echo of his. The two truants were enjoying themselves and had no thought of the schoolmaster—just then.

Yorke took out his pouch and flung it with dextrous aim at the old man's lap. He took it up, glowered at the donor for a moment then nodded surlily and, filling his pipe, pitched the pouch back.

"We still live!" said Yorke, and he was about to fill his own pipe, but remembered himself and stopped.

"Please smoke if you wish to," said Leslie, "I do not mind. We must not go far," she added.

"Not farther than Quebec or, say, Boulogne," said Yorke. "All right Miss Lisle, we'll turn directly you say so. How delightful this is! I may have been happier in the course of an ill-spent life but I don't remember it. Are you sorry you came? Please answer truthfully, and don't mind my feelings."

But Leslie did not answer. The strange feeling which had haunted her as she left the house was growing more distinct and defiant stronger and more aggressive. Was it really she, Leslie Lisle, who was sailing over the moonlit sea with this careless and light-hearted young man, or should she wake presently in her tiny room in Sea View and find it all a dream?

Happy? Was this novel sensation, as of some vague undefined joy, happiness or what?

She was wise to leave the question unanswered.

FIRST WHITE LADY TO LIVE IN CALGARY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Calgary, Alta., June 15.—One of the proud residents of the city, when it celebrates its Jubilee this summer will be Mrs. George Jacques, whom The Albertan describes as the first white woman to have lived in Calgary. She had been a teacher in a Indian mission school in Ontario, and left Toronto on her wedding day in 1882 for the West. The journey took the newlyweds through the American West until they crossed to what is now Southern Alberta. They reached the site of Calgary early in 1883, and lived for a time in a cabin with a mud floor, according to an interviewer. Mrs. Jacques looks back upon those early days with a great deal of pleasure. In fact, it is her own belief that Calgary was much nicer when it meant only a simple life in a log cabin.

LINDSAY MERCHANTS WANT LATE CLOSING

Lindsay, June 15.—It is understood that at least six Lindsay merchants will wait on the Town Council at the next regular session and request that the by-law regulating closing of clothing stores at 10 o'clock Saturday nights be quashed.

The argument used is that farmers (on whom the merchants depend largely for their trade) fail to come to town until after supper and until after they have completed their chores. They do their shopping late Saturday nights. The automobile has revolutionized conditions in regard to trade on Saturday. Other mercantile stores remain open to eleven o'clock and the merchants who have signed the petition claim that they should be allowed the same privilege. The ten o'clock by-law was made many years ago.

The entire question promises to bring forth interesting discussion.

GREAT STUDENT IS FOUND BEGGING

Toronto, June 15.—After studying medicine and law at McGill University, theology at St. Laurent College, New Brunswick, and with the Dominicans, Alexander Firmingham appeared in the County police court with vagrancy. With long curly hair and tawny beard, he carried a battered suitcase and was arrayed in three pairs of trousers, two vests and a light grey coat.

He is walking from New Brunswick to the Pacific to visit his brothers, he said. He left New Brunswick with ten dollars and had walked to London. It was too hot there so he came back to Toronto. He was arrested while begging in New Toronto. He was fined and paid.

SANK HIS TEETH INTO WIFE'S JAW

New York, June 15.—Mrs. Rosina Cannelli, thirty year old mother of two small children of Union City, N.J., today is being treated for four wounds on her face and other injuries after an alleged attack upon her by her husband, Vincenzo, thirty-six, who is under arrest.

Police charge that the man sank his teeth into the woman's jaw and face, one of the wounds showing that the teeth had been embedded so deep they had scraped the jawbone. Other teeth wounds were on her cheek near her eye and in the centre of the right cheek.

THE WIFE STILL THOUGHT THEY SHOULD WISH FOR RICHES BUT YOU CAN EASILY GUESS WHAT THE OLD MAN THOUGHT THEY SHOULD WISH FOR - AND THAT WAS THAT THE SAUSAGE WOULD BE OFF HIS POOR NOSE AND THEY ARGUED ABOUT IT WELL IN TO THE NIGHT.
THE OLD MAN FINALLY PREVAILED AND THE GOOD WIFE SAID, "WE WISH THE SAUSAGE WERE OFF MY HUSBAND'S NOSE." THE MOMENT SHE SAID THIS IT LEFT HIS NOSE AND FLEW TO A PLATTER ON THE TABLE.
BY THIS TIME THEY WERE BOTH VERY, VERY HUNGRY SO THEY WASTED NO TIME IN SITTING DOWN AND DIVIDING THE SAUSAGE. NOT ONE SCRAP DID THEY LEAVE FOR IT WAS THE BEST BLACK SAUSAGE THEY HAD EVER TASTED.

PETERBORO ALDERMEN ADAMANT ON MATTER

Peterboro, June 15.—Only one alderman heeded the voice of public opinion that rose to a crescendo in denouncing the taking away of the privilege of Sunday bathing, and the City Council again last night put its foot down determinedly on a suggestion that it reconsider its decision. Alderman Hancock it was who harkened to the demands of the pepople and changed his stand in accordance, voting for open beaches. His vote was not sufficient to win the day, and the key was turned in the padlocks of both dressing rooms by five immovable members of the Council.

The debate was featured by several heated exchanges, although some of the members took the matter smilingly. Alderman Crowe resented the intrusion into his private affairs when Alderman Phelan asked whether he would take his car out on Sunday, and the latter did not mince words in telling his opponents they were discrediting Peterborough in the eyes of Ontario.

CREATE FURORE OVER SALE OF 4.4 BEER

New market, June 15.—The situation over the sale or non-sale of 4.4 beer in the King George Hotel, a temperance hotel here owned by a large number of shareholders in the town, seems to be more complicated than ever as the result of a meeting to decide matters Friday.

Prior to 4.4. the house was known as a temperance hotel with temperance owners. When 4.4 came in, the directors applied for and received a permit. With the sale of the new beer a furore was created in town. At a directors' meeting the sale was discontinued, the matter to be settled at a shareholders meeting.

At the meeting of 152 shareholders, it was decided by 84 to 58 to sell the new beer, and a new board of directors elected as follows: L. G. Jackson, Dr. Boyd, Dr. Wesley, Dr. Wilkinson and Joe Cody.

The old board of directors consisting of Messrs. Aubrey Davis, Pearson, A. J. Davis, F. C. Fiddifield and Eves were in favor of selling beer and did so.

MERSON AND SHERMAN FOUND NOT GUILTY

Peterboro, June 15.—Nathan Merson and Reuben Sherman were Friday pronounced "not guilty" of conspiracy to defraud creditors, when the jury returned at 9.10 after three hours' deliberation. The trial opened on Wednesday, when true bills on two counts were brought against the two men by the Grand Jury. The hearing on the second charge, that of obtaining by false pretences, opened Saturday.

Can't Beat Justice Picture Reveals

Mrs. Wallace Reid Has Absorbing Drama at Belle Theatre

Mrs. Wallace Reid's stirring new photodrama "Broken Laws," at the Belle Theatre to-night, starts and ends with a thrilling race with justice.

And it can't be beaten, as the picture demonstrates.

A boy and his father are "beating a sped cop" as the mighty drama of the screen opens. They get away with it, temporarily.

In the closing scenes the boy, now 18, has another race with justice. He is charged with manslaughter. For he killed a woman while emulating the early speed exploits of his father.

And he loses!

The boy, a part played by Arthur Rankin and the mother, played by Mrs. Wallace Reid, present a pitiful picture as the judge pronounces sentence upon the lad.

Here is brought home the whole idea of "Broken Laws," Like father, like son. Liquor in the home, jazz parties, joy rides by the parents—and what can be expected of the child? More broken laws, of course.

Yet the picture is not propaganda, it is not a sermon in any sense of the word. It is a mighty, compelling drama with action and color from beginning to end. There is not a dull moment, and there is sustained interest throughout.

Mrs. Reid is supported by an able company including such sterling players as Percy Marmont, Jacqueline Saunders, Ramsay Wallace, Arthur Rankin, Virginia Lee Corbin, Lincoln Stedman, Pat Moore and Jane Wray.

"Brokne Laws" is a worth-while contribution to the screen by the woman who dared to produce "Human Wreckage."

At Griffins

George Fitzmaurice has produced in "A Thief in Paradise," now being shown at Griffin's Theatre a thrililng, colorful romance that equals the high mark set by 'On With the Dance,' 'To Have and to Hold," "Cytherea," and other lavish screen plays which has given to the world.

There are no dull moments in "A Thief in Paradise." It is full of action from the opening title to the final fadeout. It is the story of a man who masquerades as another man, falls in love with one girl and is loved by another—an unscrupulous Eurasian girl who is his accomplice in the impersonation.

One of the unique features of the picture is a polo game played by girls clad in bathing suits. The game marks the beginning of a thrilling chase and a rescue that equals in thrills the exciting climax of an old-fashioned serial.

But "A Thief in Paradise" is more than a thriller. It has romance and drama of the most intense kind. There is a love story of a man who knows he has no right to claim the girl he loves; and who fights out his supreme battle with himself.

All three of the featured players, Ronald Colman, Doris Kenyon and Aileen Pringle, give splendid performances. Claude Gilling-water, Alec Francis, John Patrick and Charles Youree head the cast of supporting players.

"A Thief in Paradise" was written for the screen by Frances Marion from Leonard Merrick's novel "The Worldlings." Samuel Goldwyn presents it via First National.

Allan McNab, the English lad who has been missing from the firm of Charles Merrill, West Oxford, is thought to be with his brother in Hamilton.

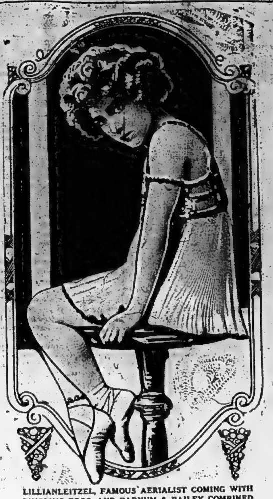
Day By Day She's Getting Heavier And Heavier



LILLIANLEITZEL, FAMOUS AERIALIST COMING WITH RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY COMBINED

You gaze into the dome of the circus "big top!" Above is a young girl hanging by one hand to a single rope. Below, the voice of the announcer—and then she begins to turn, throwing her body in a convulsive twist, so that she swings completely over the fettered wrist.

Once—twice—then the number of turns runs to a score. Again and again—to forty, to fifty, to seventy-five, but still she keeps on. To a hundred, while the crowd keeps count, a hundred and one, two—three—four—finally to one hundred and five turns.

And yet, in spite of this strenuous exercise, performed twice daily, six days out of every week, Lily Lietzel, star gymnast of the Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey circus is taking on weight. Which leads to the question: after all what hope is there for fat folks?

As a matter of fact Mlle. Leitzel weighs but 101 pounds at the present time. Nevertheless she weighed only 98 two years ago and tipped the scales at exactly 100 pounds last year.

"It's fate sighs the aerial wonder, "just fate. Still there is the consolation that the fat lady's chair in the side show will offer me a harbor in my declining years."

Lily Leitzel is among the particular stars of the 800 men and women performers who will be seen when the Greatest show on Earth exhibits here Thursday, July 2.

DANISH BUSINESS IS IMPROVING

Montreal, Que., June 15.—(By Canadian Press).—The very marked improvement in value of the Danish Krone shown during March was further increased during April the average quotation during that month being $18.34 per 160, as compared with $18.02 in March. This continued improvement in the value of the Danish Krone is due partly to the declining prices on the world market and partly, perhaps, to the conflict between employers and employes which has raulted in a lessened demand for raw material by the manufacturers and reduced consumption. But the improvement in the value of the Krone has opened the way for the investment of foreign capital in Denmark.

The official wholesale price index shows a further decline for April, the figures being 230 as against 236 in March and 243 in January 1923.

The Danish trade balance was somewhat better during March than in the preceeding two months, showing an import surplus of less than $3,000,000 as compared with about $4,000,000 for both January and February.

Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston, prominent leader of the continuing Presbyterian Church, of Calgary, who delivered two stirring addresses during last week's meetings.

Rev. Dr. W. R. McIntosh, Moderator of the Synod of Hamilton and London, and a prominent member of the Chturch Union Committee in London, was struck by a motor truck and painfully injured while riding his bicycle.

Restore Gray Or Faded Hair

LOOK YOUNG! BRING BACK ITS NATURAL COLOR AND GLOSS WITH SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredents.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Belleville Took Second Victory

Defeat Peterboro in Their Own Yard by Four To Three

Belleville's C.O.B.L. team fought to another exciting finish on Saturday afternoon at Peterboro and won their second consecutive victory by the score of four to three.

All members of the team showed the same fighting spirit as they did against Oshawa here last Wednesday and won the fixture in the tenth frame. The boys put up a good brand of baseball and on the form shown should be far above the cellar when the season is over. Kingston, the league leaders, were defeated at Oshawa, so that the the race is becoming truly exciting.

Oll Goyer occupied the mound for the entire innings and pitched a good steady game. He kept the hard hitting Petes to nine hits and kept these well separated. He struck out but one man, but had great support in all departments. The players were enthusiastic today in commenting on his work.

The Winning Run

The score was three all when the sixth was over. In the tenth Vern Weir came to bat first and clouted the ball for a two base hit. Wickey Ross whiffed three times, but Swanson dropped the ball. He put Ross out at first, but Weir slipped down to third. Peeney Mills then stepped up and hit safely, bringing Weir in.

In the second half of the tenth the Petes almost evened up the score, and when Umpire Sullivan, called a close one at third, heated arguments were staited and Whitehouse and Wolfe were put out of the game.

Wolfe singled to left and Ross followed with another safety over second. Wolfe sprinted past second to make third. Instead of sliding for the third. Instead of sliding for the bag, the runner ran into Weir who tagged him. Sullivan called him out and Wolfe started an argument. He was banished as was Whitehouse, who continued the argument later. The fans were sore and Sullivan was given police protection through the city. Meagher helped retire the side by a brilliant pick up. He heaved wild to Harry Mills, but the first baseman was on the job and smother ed the ball on the bound.

Line up:—

Belleville—Weir, 3b; W. Ross, cf; W. Mills, c.; H. Mills, 1b.; Hagerman, lf.; Meagher, 2b.; Blakely, ss.; Casey, rf.; Goyer, p.

Peterboro—Legon, lf.; rose; 2b; Swanson, c.; Wolfe, cf.; R. Ross, rf; Whitehouse, p; Harrison, 1b; Holyman, ss.; Helson, ss; MacPherson, 3b; Ash.

RECREATION ALLEYS

The competition that has been going on at the Recreation alleys came to a close on Saturday night with some very fine scores. Bob Wray won the gentlemens prize, a straw hat, with the best score that has been rolled at the Recreation alleys in any prize competition. Bob rolled 291, 220 and 343 for a grand total of 854. The next in line was Geo. Johns for the C.N.R. prize donated by Charlie Dickens, Johns rolled 690. Chicago, June 13.—Reports of more favorable weather over domestic wheat belt tended to give downward swing to wheat values here to-day and market broke sharply during early dealings. There was some scattered selling on initial declines which found support lacking and drop was easily attained. Opening quotations ranged from 7-8 to 2 3-8c. lower were followed by an additional drop July touching 156 and Sept. 151 3-4. Corn and oats followed trend of wheat, there being some scattered selling of corn by Commission houses while buying was not impressive. Starting at 1 to 2 1-2c. off corn market continued down grade. STARTING WORK ON CORBYVILLE ROAD SHORTLY

Contract Has Been Awarded to Canadian Amecite Company

SOMETHING NEW

Resembles Asphaltic Surface But is Put Down Cold

The Canadian Amecite Company whose plant is located in Hastings County has been awarded the contract for the construction of the pavement on the highway between this city and Corbyville.

The suburban area commission have had under consideration for some time the tenders and also submitted same to the department of highways at Toronto. Yesterday some officials of the City Council with members of the suburban area visited Toronto and after a conference it was decided which type of pavement would be constructed. On the five miles of roadway a concrete base will be first constructed and the covering will be amecite, which is a cold mixture, and resembles an asphaltic surface. Those who are familiar with this type of road pronounce it to be excellent and as having a good wearing surface. Through the village of Cannifton there is an excellent piece of macadam and the amecite will be laid upon this without the concrete base. This is done on the advice of expert engineers.

Work on the pavement will commence in a day or two and Corbyville is expected to be the starting point.

Dove From Tower Broke His Back

Toronto Man Died From Injury Yesterday Morning

Toronto, June 16.—Diving from a fifteen foot tower into two feet of water at the Edgecliff bathing pavilion of the Lake Shore road, Clarence Ludgate, aged 30, of 8 Barrie avenue, broke his back Sunday afternoon.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital where he died yesterday morning.

According to the information given, Ludgate had just donned his bathing suit and gone in for a swim. The bathing pavilion is private being owned by a Mr. Boker and is situated at stop 5 on the highway. Many other bathers were lying around the sand and cooling off in the water. A few yards out from shore a tower at least fifteen feet in height was installed for the children to use as a slide. No person noticed Mr. Ludgate until he had climbed to the top of the tower and standing on the edge prior to diving.

Even the children did not appear to notice him until a male bather on the shore shouted to him just as he dived head first from the highest point of the sand. His warning was too late as Ludgate was then almost touching the water, which was only two feet deep.

A second after his head disappeared beneath the water the shock of the impact could be seen with the bottom. Sever of the men ran to his assistance and he was pulled up on the shore. The life savers were notified and life saver Arthur Ailrey of the Humber river station was rushed out to the scene in an automobile. The man was already on the shore, and he administered first aid.

JUDGE QUASHES CONVICTION OF HARRY YANOVER

County Judge McLean Reverses Decision To-day

GIVES TWO REASONS

Accused Was Fined $1,000 and Costs Previously

The conviction registered against Harry Yanovur of Belleville at Picton on May 23rd last was quashed by County Judge E. H. McLean at Picton this morning.

Yanover was convicted on May 23rd in police court before Police Magistrate Eli Williams for Picton, with keeping liquor for sale and was fined $1,000 and costs of $39. C. A. Payne who appeared for accused immediately appealed the case.

In reversing the decision today, County Judge McLean held that the evidence did not connect accused with the offense charged. His Honor also held that there was no evidence to prove that the cases unloaded contained intoxicating liquor.

This is the echo of an interesting occurrence which involved a number of Picton and district men and which resulted in a number of convictions under the O.T.A. Only one accused escaped a conviction. The cases arose as a result of the unloading of cases from a boat near Crosoy, Prince Edward county prior to May 23rd. Trouble was encountered in unloading and the help of others was enlisted.

Those who handled the liquor were charged with offences under the O.T.A., following investigations which were carried out by Provincial police officers from headquarters here. The last charge to be heard was the charge of keeping liquor for sale which was preferred against Yanover. The case was dismissed with costs. W. C. Mikel, K.C., assisted M. R. Allison, Crown Attorney, with the prosecution.

Parents Fight For Custody of Baby

Husband Tells Story of Disagreement at Wife's Home

Toronto, June 16.—A story of disagreement in the home, culminating in the separation of a young couple, with the mother taking their two-year-old baby boy, was told in the supreme court before Mr. Justice Kelly yesterday when Charles Victor Kinsey brought action against his wife, Ethel May, for the custody of their child.

Both parties in the case are young. Their disagreement comes two years after their early marriage.

While Kinsey, n the witness box, gave his evidence in clear decisive tones, Mrs. Kinsey, becomingly frocked, sat by her counsel. In her arms their golden-haired son, George over whom the legal battle is being fought, calmly slept.

Beginning of Trouble

After their marriage in 1922, said Kinsey, they lived in a modest apartment. "Then one day when I came home and found my wife in tears," he continued, "and she told me the people threatened an increase in rent. She made arrangements for us to move to live with her parents on Brock avenue and we did."

Kinsey emphasized that he had asked his father-in-law and mother-in-law if it would be all right to live with them and they had both told him "yes".

"But," he added, "I had a good deal of unpleasantness there. At one time, my wife complained of being sick. I insisted that she see a doctor. Then her father said she didn't have to if she didn't want to and told me to get out of the house. I asked him if he were trying to separate us. Eventually he said, "I don't care if I do."

"Then," Kinsey continued, "I complained to my wife that she was keeping the baby up too late at nights. She said he was restless but she never attempted to put him to bed early. On day when I was in my room I heard her brother call the baby two vile names. I told my wife this was the third time he'd done that and I wouldn't stand it any longer. She said if we moved it would cost me some money. I said she couldn't expect to live the life of a lady, staying in bed all day and up all night."

In December, 1924, Kinsey went to live with his mother. He took the baby with him on the day he moved but brought him back to his wife the same day.

Seek Swindlers of Pearl Merchant

Paris Detectives Believe American Secured Pearls Valued at $30,000

Paris, June 16.—The ablest detectives in Paris are looking for an American giving the name of Benjamin Silver, who swindled Harchand Savachand, an Indian pearl merchant from Bombay, out of a selection of pearls valued at $30,000. Savaichand recently received a visit from a Russian broker who said he had a rich American client who wished to buy a number of fine pearls. The Indian made an appointment for the following day, when the Russian returned, bringing his companion, whom he introduced as "Benjamin Silver." The latter produced a visiting card with the following inscription: "Rodway Self & Co., Inc., Company Investments, Knickerbocker Building, Temple Square, New York."

A careful selection was made from the beautiful specimens belonging to the Bombay merchant, which were placed in an envelope that Silver took from his pocket and carefully sealed. Silver handed the envelope to Savaichand, saying "Please kep this in your safe until tomorrow, when I will return with funds." Having given his address in Paris as the Grand Hotel, he departed.

On the following day at the appointed hour of 3 o'clock nobody turned up at the Indian's office. Telephoning the Grand Hotel, he was told there was nobody called Silver stopping there. His suspicions aroused, he took the envelope from the safe and cut it open. Pearls fell out, but not those the Bombay merchant handed over on the previous day. What fell out were false pearls worth about three dollars all told.

WHOLE WORLD IS SUFFERING SPEAKER SAYS

Interesting Observations Made by Robert Tannahill to Kiwanis

CHINESE SITUATION

Federal Government Has Not Funds to Maintain Good Army

That the world in general is suffering from unemployment and business depression and that the most prosperous spot on earth is the North American continent, was the observation made to the Kiwanis Club to-day by Robert Tannahill, who recently returned from a trip around the world.

No one could see the world in four months nor in four years, Mr. Tannahill said, in introducing his talk. But as far as he could see, there was unemployment, poverty, business stagnation and begging in almost every country he visited, with the exception of territory under the control of the U.S.A. and odd places here and there.

After telling of conditions in Cuba and on the Hawaiian Islands, the speaker slipper across to Portugal and Italy, describing the great amount of unemployment in the district of Naples and repeating a statement made that the people there were on the verge of insurrection continuously. Egypt seemed about to bubble over with hysterical nationalism, but Britain had a firm control there. He was impressed with the healthy, clean, nice looking British soldiers observed in that country.

In India, Russian political agents had endeavoured to stir up trouble and agitators were busy, but the system of castes, by which the people as a whole did not co-operate, and the fact that many different languages were used, kept the natives from carying out a large uprising.

Not Enough Food

Natives of India were pretty close to starvation, Mr. Tannahill said. Rice was the principal food and many had but two meals a day of this. Once in a long while fish was added to the rice by way of variety.

Ceylon was a bright spot in comparison, the people there appearing to be fairly confortable.

Speaking of India, he remarked on the sober lot of children, who seemed to play games and who lined the streets to watch the foreigners pass, as if the visiting whites were a circus parade.

China was in the throes of a civil war, where the governors were jockeying for power. From all appearances, such a condition of affairs would continue for some time, as the Federal authorities were not powerful enough to put a stop to the fighting. The provinces or states collected practically all the taxes and the federal government had insufficient funds to get together an army sufficiently strong to down the upsings.

In the old days Emperors kept the Temples in repair. Now, however, those buildings were being badly neglected. Mr. Tannahill had reached Japan during the cherry blossom season, a time of festivities and he had seen the brighter side of life there.

Kiwanians Cliff Dier and Fred Mhlott moved the motion of thanks to the speaker which was carried with enthusiasm.

A. E. Baldwin added to the success of the meeting with two well rendered solos. Vice-President Russ Wotten occupied the chair.

James Murdock Minister of Labor who arrived this morning from Ottawa. The head of the Labor Department is here to investigate the situation and if possible to bring British Empire Steel Corporation officials and officers of the union together for the purpose of negotiating a settlement of the present deplorable tie-up of the mining industry. Further additions to troops now quartered at the base camp in steel plan yards at Sydney, were made this morning, when a 12 car train bringing between 200 and 300 infantry from Toronto and London arrived at six o'clock. For the first time in several weeks smoke is pouring from stacks at No. 2 colliery today. This morning boilers were fired and by this afternoon steam will be up. No. 2 colliery plant will generate through power to operate mines in Glace Bay area and vicinity. The plant is being put into operation for the purpose of running pumps at different collieries, some of which are almost ruined by water.

General Council of United Church Tackles New Problems

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 16.—General Council of United Church began today to tackle in earnest some of the problems that confront it, several of the sessional committees being ready to report. One of these was the committee on titles and Presbyterians in council made strong strong efforts to retain the term "moderator" for conference and Presbyteries, before recommendations of committee, which suggested the title "moderator" only for General Council, were finally adopted.

The report of the committee on church worship recommended that all congregations of the United Church should continue to use forms of service to which they have been accustomed but that the church should look forward to uniform books of united praise for public worship, Sunday Schools and Young Peoples Societies.

GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

The human race needs the summer time in which to cool off. The beasts hibernate; they have no strenuous intellectual life. They don't worry about possible fights, short crops of berries, probable hard winters or opinions of their neighbors. They get fat in summer and sleep through the winter.

But humans need to estivate to get some rest-up from their period of greatest activity. They have lived a thousand years in one during the long winter. They have had their own fears and the fears of the world; They have suffered with the Japs and Russians and Armenians and Chinese, been irritated by the muddling of politicians, in addition to the multudinous cares of their own business and other interests. They have crowded on all steam to get through their social engagements; they have worked hard at their amusements; they have been over-vexed and over elated most of the time. Such is the tension of modern life in winter time.

Forget it. There's a big wheat crop; cherries are cheap; the hens are laying. It's a big year, a fine year. The bands play dreamy music; listen and don't think. The sun is bright, big flies are buzzing; it is a drowsy time. The mood of nature is right. Without the relaxation of summer the race would go stark mad. Let no man condemn himself for longing for vacation. It were better for us to see to it that every last human being whose brain has run hot with the friction and strain of living in days like these, should be guaranteed his period of rest and forgetfulness.

LIKE FRESH AIR NOW

The result of an increased interest and activity in outdoor sports in Germany since the war is manifesting itself in a greater demand for fresh air in public conveyances. Formerly the windows of the street cars and underground trains were opened only on exceedingly hot days and then only one or two were let down in each car. Most of the time the trams and trains resembled veritable hothouses. The population of Berlin, therefore, was much surprised and the sport-loving persons among them greatly gratified to find whole rows of windows opened in the subway and in the street cars a few days ago. Their astonishment reached its height, when no one complained and no requests were made to the conductor or guard to close the windows, as surely would have been the case a couple of years ago.

TO STOP CRIME WAVES

Discussing the growth of crime, Professor A. M. Cathcart of Stanford University says bluntly—and truthfully—that almost sole responsibility rests with the parents of the children. He might have added the sob sisters, male and female, who move heaven and earth to see that nothing disagreeable happens to criminals when caught.

As Professor Cathcart says, "crime waves will subside only when crimes become unsafe." And it is not to be forgotten that modern science, invention and machinery are applied as effectively for the promotion of crime and escaping its penalties as to useful service.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

You know, it is next to impossible to locate a bird's nest in a field of hay, or long-grass. The birds know too many tricks to fool us by. So that was why the young farmer who did not want to run down the meadowlarks with his hay cutting machine, went and obtained a rope and brought another man to help him drag the field.

After they had discovered the places where the nests were hidden in the grass, and had put up the wooden stakes, the farmer started his team of horses and cut the hay. Of course the birds raised a terrible row but he went around the wooden stakes and did not harm the birds. So the whole field was cleared of hay, clean as a board, all but the two places where the meadowlark nests were. It looked for all the world like an ocean with two islands in it. The young farmer was very pleased, for he loved the birds.

However, he had just called his wife out to the yard, to look at the little island like spots, when the cat was seen, making its way across the field. It had noticed the birds going in and out of the places and it just to the young farmer about one second to jump the fence and go madly after the cat. The cat made off, but the farmer's wife soon had it locked up in a small coop generally used for little chickens, and there the cat had to live, until the first of July.

The whole farm got so interested in the meadowlarks that a square of wire netting six feet high was placed around each nest site, made secur with strong corner stakes and about six feet square, so no animals could get near the birds. And they grew up and flew in safety.

The meadowlark has a sweet, plaintive call, not very long though. It flies with a fluttering wing motion and glides on the wing; showing a rather short tail with white on the outer tail feathers. It is a dull colour on back and has a golden yellow breast with a black bib or breast plate.

But the beginnings are in the home. It is there that are laid the foundations of character—noble, or criminal.

In far too many cases there is no longer family discipline. Finally laws, if they exist, are disobeyed and nothing happens. The habit of lawbreaking begins in the family. Whoever will break one law will break any law. If there is anarchy in the family there is anarchy everywhere.

When boys are kept home nights, young girls properly chaperoned, gangs effectually broken up, unwholesome public exhibits suppressed, respect for religion observed and enforced, the comfort and dignity of family life restored; when family thrift supplants family extravagance; when police judges enforce law instead of catering to votes, and murderers are hanged within two months after their crime—then, and not till then, may we expect the crime wave to subside.

Press Opinions

FUTILE FIGURING

Baltimore Sun:

A purist objects because commercial ice cream may contain as much as twenty per cent. by volume of air bubbles. He estimates that the nation pays about $66,000,000 annually for this air. And while he is on the subject he might tell how much money is spent for the holes in doughnuts and the expansive depressions in waffles.

POISON GAS

Providence Journal:

Gas warfare should never be recognized as a legitimate weapon in military contests. In barbarity it ranks with the methods of torture used by savages. The time to place a permanent ban on its use is now, when its effects are all too plainly visible on many of the men who saw action in France and Belgium. There should be no repetition of such an abominable method of fighting.

CAVEMAN STUFF

Detroit Free Press:

A new Orleans young man kidnaped a young woman stenographer, rushed her away in a car and married her. He is back at his job in an office, and she is presiding over the bungalow. "I waited eight years for her to make up her mind," the young man explained. This idea is forwarded to all young men who have been keeping company eight years with young ladies who can't come to a decision.

THE HOUSING SHORTAGE

London Morning Post:

The Rent Restriction bill is a measure to continue the act of 1923 for another two-and-a-half years. The Socialists proposed that it should be continued for five, ten or fifteen years and they used the occasion to denounce landlords as bloodsuckers who were only prevented by law from squeezing the last half-penny out of the poor......"It is my confirmed opinion," said Mr. Kirkwood, "that no man has a right to own my home." It may be so; but if a landlord has no rights he cannot be expected to build houses.

AMSTERDAM'S 650TH ANNIVERSARY

Amsterdam.—On October 27th, this city will celebrate its 650th anniversary of its first mention in history. By a stupendous exhibition which opens July 1st till September 15th, the development from an insignificant village to one of the great cities of the modern world will be shown. The era before the mariner's compass was invented, or clocks were constructed on mathematical principles, or gunpowder was used or America discovered, will be revived. Famous paintings such as the "Claudius Civilis" and "The Night Watch" of Rembrandt will come from Sweden and other countries, to be present at the celebration.

THE HILL OF ATHENS

Athens.—The President of the Bureau of University Travel, H. H. Powers, has attempted a series of sketchy word pictures of Athens at different important epochs in her history and in calling attention to Greece as a tourist land, he concludes: "The name of Athens is above every name. Of the limited few who have attained to world citizenship, names accommodated to every tongue and honored in every age, a good half were men of Athens. It was in Athens that men first consciously assumed responsibility for their own destiny and conspired to fashion planfully alike the citizens and the state. Here patriotism was born and men first exchanged allegiance to a ruler for allegiance to a country. Here the image became art and escaped the bondage of fetishism to become the servant of beauty. Here as nowhere else speech became music and persuasion revealed its powers."

TO THE SHRINE OF HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSON

Copenhagen.—The Danish Tourist Bureau announce that special excursions will be made this summer to the little town of Odense, the birthplace of Hans Christian Anderson, the world's greatest author of fairy stories. The little shoe-maker's house has now been turned into an interesting Andersen museum. While Andersen is now read by hundreds of millions of children in every country in the world, it is said that adults make up the large number of the parties conducted and interest in the philosophy back of his fairy tales is on the increase among students of literature. Odense is about four hours by rail and ferry from Copenhagen.

His license to drive an automobile was cancelled for 30 days and a fine of $25 and costs was imposed upon Wm. Morrison, Windsor, when he was convicted in police court of driving a motor car recklessly. He was given the option of spending 7 days in jail or paying the fine.

FLOYD COLLINS

By Cyrus W. Noble, M.D.—
Ohio's Poet

Midst the hills of Kentucky,
That enchant and enthrall,
Where the wild vines to the tops
Of the forest trees crawl;
By the rolling green river
Where the Indian braves,
In the years that are gone
Knew this country of caves.

And the boys of Kentucky,
Just as wild as of yore,
Lured by caves enchanting,
And always seeking for more
Along the ledges of rocks
Like some flag that's half furled,
Half secreting—half guarding,
To the depths of the world.

And the secrets thus kept
Have lured many a youth,
Who tries from mute nature
To wring every truth,
And it called young Floyd Collins,
Cool, silent and brave,
To explore the darkest of caverns
For the thrill that it gave.

With hopes just as high
As a youth ever packed,
He entered Sand Cave,
Treacherous, grimy and black,
In search of new wonders,
As it oft has been said
That the ugliest toad
May have a jewel in its head.

And the thrill of adventure,
So sweet while it lasted,
With dreams of new wonders,
Were soon to be blasted;
While passing the narrows
That now is his grave,
The rocks closed forever;
He sleeps in Sand Cave.

To the humming of bees,
And the carol of birds,
The crowd bowed their heads
To the minister's words,
And the opening was sealed
To treacherous Sand Cave,
And the soul has returned
To the God that gave.

LOW-COST TRIP TO PACIFIC COAST

A captivating four-week tour of Western Canada and the Pacific Coast with a trip through the United States on the return journey, is being planned for Canadian teachers and their friends this summer.

Those who take advantage of this trip will see the greatest scenery on the continent—the Buffalo herd at Wainwright; Jasper National Park, with its unsurpassed mountain scenery; Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies; the totem poles of Kitwanga and the mystic beauty of the Skeena River.

At Prince Rupert the party transfers from train to boat for the glorious water trip of 750 miles through the sheltered Scenic Seas of the North Pacific Coast to Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

On the return trip five wonderful days will be spent touring Yellowstone National Park by motor, with a trip to Salt Lake City and three days at Rockey Mountain National Park, Colorado. Then it's Denver, Clear Creek Canyon, Idaho Springs and Lookout Mountain before heading for Chicago and Toronto.

The tour leaves Toronto July 9th, and you cannot afford to miss it. Full information, fares, etc., can be secured with illustrated booklet from A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorn Ave., Toronto, Martin Kerr, 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, or any Canadian National Railway Agent.

Fire has broken out in the dense swamps near Mount Brydges, west of London and near Thamesford, ten miles east of the city. In both cases the fires threaten to develop into forest fires of considerable proportions. No buildings, however, are endangered. The severe heat and drought are blamed.

Practical Love

The most practical way that any man can show his love for his wife and family is by protecting their comfort—even in the event of his death.

For the average man there is only one sure method of doing this—Life Insurance.

Take the case of George Haddock for example. Twenty-eight years of age and married, George Haddock insured his life with a North American 20 Payment Life Policy.

For the next twenty years he paid the moderate annual premiums cheerfully and willingly—each payment a reminder of a trust being well discharged.

At forty-eight, he congratulated himself on his foresight in choosing this plan.

No more payments—and a future serene and secure.

The 20 Payment Life is an ideal plan for the young salaried man. Its premiums are low, yet payments are completed in twenty years.

We will be glad to furnish full particulars about this form of policy.

AGED LADY BURNED AT SNIDER'S DEPOT

Kingston, June 16.—Mrs. Annie Bay, aged eighty-five years, was burned to death late Saturday afternoon in a fire which entirely consumed the residence of her son, Charles Bay at Snider's Depot, near Cloyne, in Barrie township in North Cloyne after she had sent out of the burning house her little four year old granddaughter. After the flames had burned themselves out and the embers had cooled down, searchers dug out of the ashes a portion of the aged lady's backbone, all that remained of her body.

It appears that about six o'clock a daughter of deceased had gone out to call her brother to supper leaving the little girl with Mrs. Bay, Sr., who had been bedridden for six years, and in a very short time the deceased smelled smoke and a minute later saw flames breaking in the kitchen. She warned the little girl to get out of the house, realizing that it was impossible for herself to escape. The little girl shrieked as she left the burning house and this alarmed the others who were nearby. Help rushed to the Bay home but when they arrived the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to get in or to aid the deceased in any way. The terrified onlookers heard deceased say "I'm done" and that was the last.

Unauthorized Names to Stay on Roll

Erasing Would Destroy Parchment General Council Decides

Toronto, June 16.—Three unauthorized signatures appear, and will remain on the official roll of the United Church of Canada, as signed in the Arena last Wednesday.

Such was the decision of the general council of the church to-day, after Rev. D. M. Solandt had reported that the list carried the names of three persons who were not members of the council, and therefore not authorized to sign the historic document.

The three introducing names are kept a carefully guarded secret for the present. Dr. Solandt, on behalf of the committee in charge of the roll, reported that their presence upon it would not in any way affect the legality of the document; and recommended that they be allowed to remain, as it would be impossible to remove them without damaging the parchment.

Several delegates suggested that after the names in question, a notation that they had been signed in error, should appear. Others objected on the ground that this would merely call widespread attention to the error, and would result in life-long embarrassment for the three unauthorized signatories. Eventually the council accepted the committee's recommendation to leave the names on the roll. The names of some seven members of the general council are lacking, thus far, to complete the list.

PETTY THIEVING

Petty thieving is reported along the water front of the Bay of Quinte, on the main shore. Several boat houses have recently been broken into, while a very daring theft is reported when three cheeses and a 50 gallon barrel of oil were stolen from one of the steamboat wharves. As a consequence of these thefts there is likely to be some prosecutions in the near future.

CALL THEM CANADIANS

Toronto, June 16.—Stop calling people from the prairie provinces "Westerners" and call them "Canadians" was the advice of Rev. W. G. Brown of Red Deer to the General Assembly yesterday afternoon.

Rev. Brown repudiated the suggestion that church union had split the east and west. He said people in the west took off their hats to those in the east for what they had done for the church.

Dr. G. C. Cless, medical superintendent of Victoria Hospital, London, was elected to the presidency of the Ontario Association for the aid of crippled children, at the annual meeting held at the War Memorial Children's at London.

Dorothy Perkins Collapsed Again

Seventeen - Year - Old, Accused of Murder, Fell in Cell

New York, June 16.—Dorothy Perkins suffered another collapse over the week-end. The seventeen-year-old Greenwich Village girl accused of murdering her sweetheart, Tommie Templeton, last February 14, fell fainting in her cell.

Revived, the girl discovered to be in a condition so serious that it was necessary to summon a neurological specialist. After the specialist's examination the girl's attorneys expressed doubt that she would be able to take the stand in her own defense yesterday.

It was Dorothy's second collapse. In General Sessions on Friday, shown a letter said to have been sent by her from Jefferson Market prison to Mickey Connors, the girl stiffened out and slid unconscious from her chair.

Connors, a truck driver, now serving a workhouse term for wife beating, is named as the girl's lover. The state contends that a desire to be free to love him had actuated her shooting of Templeton.

Little Dorothy Perkins, to escape the grim grip of the electric chair must bare her past on the witness stand today if she can stand the ordeal.

A past at seventeen!

Parties, jazz, liquor, illicit love! that is the story of a young girl's past, stripped of sordid detail. That is the story that a poor little butterfly, whose wings are badly singed and trailing in the dust must describe to a room filled with men.

Women Barred From Court

Women were barred from the courtroom by Judge McIntyre on the second day of the trial. Aside from a few "sob sisters", Dorothy must face a battery of male ears. She must soften male hearts.

Much of Dorothy's past will explain itself. Parties, jazz and booze are the "way of all flesh" in this age of the flapper. But how will she explain her infatuation for "Mickey" Connors?

"Mickey" Connors. A truck driver—in body, soul and trade. A man with thirty-five misspent years behind him.

Connors in the witness chair presented a crude contrast to the frail child who loved him. A hulking, heavy set man, with large florid face, heavily marked with self-indulgence, topped with a shock of nondescript, unkempt hair—there was nothing prepossessing or alluring to the object of Dorothy, one-time infatuation. There was nothing fascinating about the rough, red sweater. Not one single thing that should normally make the heart of the young girl palpitate with emotion.

SENIORS PLAY AT 2.30 TO-MORROW AFTERNOON; BOWLING CLUB HOLDS DOUBLES TO-MORROW

Petes' Version

(From The Examiner)

Saturday's defeat will have done the Petes a good turn if it has taught the players the wisdom of sliding into a base on any play that threatens to be close, and the folly of talking one's self out of action.

The demonstration against Umpire Geo. Sullivan on Saturday was uncalled for. Sullivan gave a very close decision against the Petes at a critical moment in the game, it is true, but it must be remembered that he was on top of the play and in a much better position to see it than the fans. And again it should not be forgotten that the whole trouble would have been averted if Wolfe had "hit the dirt." The Kingston official may call them wrong sometimes, but he is a "square shooter" and after Saturday's exhibition no one will call him a "homer". It takes nerve to give a decision like that when the home team's chances for victory hinge on the verdict.

For the first time since he joined the Petes three years ago, Al. Heck[illegible] was not in uniform Saturday. The right-hander was in Toronto having his lame arm "ironed out" by a "bone setter," and it is hoped that his pitching wing will soon respond to treatment.

"The Four Horsemen"—in other words, the top of Belleville's batting order—won the game for the Railroaders Saturday. Weir, Rose and the [illegible] brothers scored all the enemy's runs, and had ten of their thirteen hits. Bob Ross, with three safe hits in four times up, was the Petes' leading batter.

The Belleville crew did not look in the least like tail-enders. Their hitting was as powerful as ever, they were strong defensively and Goyer gave a cool exhibition of heaving. Up to last week the Railroaders had not been getting much pitching, but Jeffrey and Goyer have now turned in winning cards, and Walter Gerow's men have won two small score games in a row after losing five games in which they batted in thirty-nine runs. With seventeen games left to play and the four teams strung out a game apart, the Quinte crew have plenty of time to get up into the play-off series. And if they fail to do that they are going to make plenty of trouble for everybody.

Wicky Ross, Belleville's quiet-spoken centre fielder, is one of the best ball players in the Central loop. He merely contributed three hits and a sacrifice Saturday, made four flies look easy and saved the game for his team by his fast, acurate throw to third in the tenth. Ross is deservedly popular round the circuit because he confines himself to playing ball and leaves the talking to somebody else.

Belleville's win here and Oshawa's defeat of Kingston Saturday materially tightened up the league race. The defeat of the two leaders makes the struggle much more interesting and with Belleville hooking up with Kingston twice this week and Peterboro playing two games with Oshawa, the fur will fly. The standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Kingston	5	2	.714
Peterboro	4	3	.571
Oshawa	3	4	.429
Belleville	2	5	.286

Games this week:

Wednesday—Kingston at Belleville, Peterboro at Oshawa.

Friday—Belleville at Kingston.

Saturday—Oshawa at Peterboro.

HOLD-UP MAN USED RAZOR FOR HIS JOB

Toronto, June 16.—Shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning, Francis Gerrard, aged 24, who is recorded on the police blotter as having "no home," entered the gents' furnishing store of Charles Varcoe at 159 King st., west, where the proprietor, aged 73, was alone. He asked to be shown some goods. When Varcoe turned, Gerrard, it is alleged, grabbed him and drew a razor across his neck. Almer McDonald, 114 Elmwood avenue, a C. P. R. employe, ran in to Mr. Varcoe's assistance, and battled with Gerrard, who tried to escape, and did succeed in crossing the street, with McDonald at his heels. There he ran into the arms of Russell Varley, a Dominion Express messenger, just as McDonald leaped on his back. They held him until the arrival of P. C. Hawton (24).

Seniors to Play The First Game

In Baseball Double Header At Agricultural Park To-morrow

Under the arrangements made for the double header at Agricultural Park to-morrow afternoon, the Senior game between Kingston and Belleville will start at two-thirty o'clock, the Intermediate game between Point Anne and Belleville following after.

With the wide observance of the half holiday in Belleville, a good crowd is expected. Belleville has displayed a good brand of ball in the last two starts, a brand that draws a crowd and captures pennants.

JIMMY McCOY IS FOND OF GOGGLES

Louisville, June 16.—Jimmy McCoy, the only bespectacled jockey, can see his way around the track as clearly as anybody's rider.

It's desire for protection, not weak eyes, says McCoy, that causes him to don goggles when he rides. Whatever the motive, the results have been highly satisfactory to turfites who bet on Jimmy's mounts.

"When in doubt, play Goggles' mount," is the advice one heard offered in the betting sheds at Churchill Downs recenty.

And McCoy had his share of long-priced winners. He was aboard King Nadi when the colt, lightly regarded in the batting, won the richly endowed Grainger Memorial Handicap.

Jimmy knows how to bring his mounts from behind through a jostling field. Just as important, he understands the science of racing a horse in front and saving a spurt for the stretch runners' challenge.

Born in the Bluegrass, McCoy became a jockey at 17. He has been riding for six years. On one occasion he was hit in the eye by a flying clod and forced to undergo an operation. Since then he has taken no chances with his optics.

During the recent meeting here McCoy rode as a free lance. He was the leading jockey at the Cleveland meetings in 1923 and 1924.

Evidently there's something to this idea of riding with goggles.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of MacDonald College, to Victoria, B.C. and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers' Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the Dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20, visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver, thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Bungalow camp, from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming, and awe inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmonton, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Fort William to Port McNicoll thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $225.00 from Toronto; transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels, and on steamers, sightseeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to everyone desiring to go.

All will be welcome.

Fares from other points than Toronto will be named and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Laird, Macdonald College, P.O., Que.

Gerrard was taken to Court street police station and Varcoe went to the emergency ward of St. Michael's hospital, after he had locked up his store and placed a card in the window, "Back in a few minutes." He had twelve stitches put in his neck. (The gashes were not deep.

Alfred E. Lugdin was rescued in spite of himself from the brink of the Falls. He was seen to plunge into the river, and four men immediately formed a human chain and brought him to shore.

L. Y. R. A. Officials Pay Visit To Local Men

The birth of the United Church of Canada on Wednesday, was celebrated at Galt when a great gathering of former Methodists and Presbyterians filled Wesley United Church, Ainslie street. The unity spirit was very much in evidence.

Miss Louie Beecroft, aged 22, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Beecroft, of London, is in a somewhat serious condition in Victoria Hospital as a result of having taken a dose of powder intended to assuage neuralgia pains. It was at first feared that the medicine would produce fatal results.

Officers and men of the Royal Canadian Regiment stationed in London, are under orders to stand by for a possible order to proceed to Cape Breton to assist in restoring order in the district in which the British Empire Steel Corporation miners have been rioting.

RUSSIANS ORDER WOMAN TO DIE

Kiev, Russia, June 16—Mme. Marsha Treyko, wife of a Russian colonel, has been sentenced to death for her activities as head of a notorious group of anti-soviet bandits who terrorized the whole of the Ukraine for more than two years. Seven of her band were also condemned to be shot and three others were given long prison terms.

The indictment against Mme. Treyko said she personally led assaults against soviet factories and other institutions, killing and robbing the communist employes and also murdering agents of the Cheka, or political police.

Rome, June 16.—George H. C. FASHIONS & FOIBLES

Heads and shoulders of the new fashions follow the vogue for trim lines with the small hat and what is known as the slim shoulder.

The "slim shoulder" is an expression one hears frequently in connection with the present styles. It is an effect obtained by discarding large collars on coats and substituting a V neck for the bateau line on dresses. The epaulet sleeve, with whatever fullness there is placed below it, is another way of keeping the shoulder trim. The epaulet sleeve runs from the neck forming a narrow yoke and is made long for the town and short for the country in frocks of heavy crepe de Chine, silk broadcloth, flannel, etc. Dresses of this type are cut on easy lines and have straight lower edges so that they [illegible] nicely.

WESTERN TOURS THIS SUMMER REMARKABLY LOW IN COST

"We have travelled through the most glorious scenery it has ever been my privilege to witness", were the words used by the Duke of Denvonshire while Governor General of Canada, in expressing his admiration for the scenery of the Pacific Coast. The opinion he formed of our magnificent west is confirmed b ythe many people who tour this wonderful country every year.

If you are planning a tour of the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific Coast this summer, you can't do better than take one of the low cost trips arranged by the Canadian National Railways.

These tours start from Toronto with stop-overs at all interesting points en route. At Jasper National Park—where the famous Triangle Tour commences—is the largest park and the largest sanctuary of wild life in the world—4400 square miles of mountains, rivers, lakes, glaciers, canyons and waterfalls of almost overwhelming beauty.

Leaving Jasper, you pass Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies; then comes the quaint Indian village of Kitwanga with its grotesque Totem poles and Indian relics. At Prince Rupert you may choose an interesting side trip to Alaska, or you may board the steamer for the three-day trip through the famous Scenic Seas of the Pacific Coast to Vancouver, Victoria, Portland and Seattle, Returning, the train follows the beautiful winding Fraser and Thompson Rivers with their brilliant colored cliffs of red, gray and yellow, returning again to Jasper National Park—and in due time, to Toronto.

The outstanding beauty and completeness of these tours should appeal to every one. These low summer tourist fares will be in effect to October 31. Complete information, pamphlets and reservations may be secured from any Canadian National Railways Agent.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Gravice.)

Yorke smoked in silence for a minute or two, then he turned on his elbow so that he could look up at her.

"Miss Lisle," he said, "were you looking for something when you came down the beach just now? I ask because I thought you looked troubled—"

"But you were asleep!" said Leslie.

He colored, and his eyes dropped.

"I've given myself away," he said, penitently, "No, Miss Lisle, I wasn't asleep. But I thought it better to pretend, as the children say, lest you should take fright and run away."

Leslie looked away from him.

"You are angry? Well, it serves me right! But don't think of it. Try and forgive me if you can, for I was half asleep, and I was dreaming of you—don't you know how you can dream though you are wide awake? I was wondering whether I should see you again—there was no harm in that, was there?—wondering whether I should have seen you or spoken to you at all if it hadn't been for Dick— By the way how is Dick?"

"He is all right,' she said, the tension caused by his former words suddenly relieved , "but I do not think he will ever forgive you for saving his life."

"I'm afraid not," he said. But you have not answered my question yet."

"Which one?' asked Leslie, with a smile.

"Whether you had lost anything," he said.

"Yes, I had," she replied, in a low voice.

He put his hand in his waistcoat-pocket, and took out the ring and held it up.

"Is this it?' he said and his voice was suddenly grave and serious.

Leslie took it from his fingers.

"Thank you. Yes ," she said. "Where did you find it?"

He was silent a moment as if lost in thought, then he said, as if with an effort:

"On the beach; just where you had been sitting this afternoon. You dropped it, I suppose?"

"Yes," said Leslie.

There was a pause.

"You are glad to get it back?"

"Yes, she said, looking straight in front of her.

"An old favorite, Miss Lisle?", his eyes fixed on the beautiful face which the moonbeams fell lovingly.

"N-o," she said, the faint color creeping into her cheeks.

"No! But you were glad to get it back. You didn't seem so very glad, you know."

"No, I was not so very glad,"she said almost inaudibly.

He seemed relieved, and yet rather doubtful still.

"It's singular," he said. "But this it the second thing of yours I have found to-day."

"Yes."

"And they say that if you find two things in one day you are sure to lose something yourself," he murmured, a serious, intent look coming into, his dark eyes.

"But the day has gone, and you have not lost anything!" said Leslie, with a smile.

His eyes dropped from his intense regard of her face.

"I am not so sure!" he said.

Did she hear him?

CHAPTER VII
THE DUKE'S SNEERS

The boat sails on. Leslie has no mother to watch over her and warn her of sining against the great goddess Propriety; and as there is no harm to him who thinks none, Leslie is not troubled by conscience because she is out sailing on this Heaven sent evening with a young man and only deaf William for chaperon.

Perhaps this is because of the peculiar nature of the young man. There is no shyness about Yorke, and his maner is just of that kind to inspire confidence; he treats Leslie with a mixture of frankness and respect which could not be greater if he had known her for years instead of a few hours only; and it is but fair to add that his manner toward a duchess would be just the same.

He is happy, is enjoying himself to the utmost, and he assuredly does not trouble his head about the proprieties. But all the same, he is silent after that last remark of his, which Leslie may or may not have heard.

He is lying across the boat, so that without much effort he can see her face. What a lovely face it is, he thinks, and how thoughtful. Is she thinking of that letter he gave her, or of the ring? And who gave her that? It ought not to matter to him, and yet the question worries him not a little. He dismisses it with a half audible "Heigh-lo!"

"I supose these are what are called dancing waves?" he says at last. "Are you fond of dancing, Miss Leslie? But of course you are."

Leslie lets her dark gray eyes fall on his handsome upturned face as if she had been recalled to earth.

"Oh, yes," she says. "All women are, are they not? But I do not get much dancing. It is years since I was at a party. My father is not strong, and dislikes going out, and—well, there no one else to go with me; besides, I should not leave him."

He nods thoughtfully, and some idea of what her life must be dawns upon him.

"You must lead a very quiet life," he says.

Leslie smiles.

"Yes, very, very quiet," she assents.

"What do you do to amuse yourself?" he asks.

Leslie thinks a moment.

"Oh," she says, cheerfully and without a shadow of discontent in her voice or in her face ,"I take walks, when my father does not want me, but he usually likes me to stay with him while he is painting; and sometimes William takes me for a sail, and there is the piano. My father likes me to play while he is at work; but when he does not I read."

"And is that all?" he says, raising himself on his elbow that he may better see her face.

"All?" she repeats. "What else is there? It seems a great deal."

He does not answer, but he thinks of the women he knows, the idle women who are always restless and discontented unless t hey are deep in some excitement, riding, driving, ball and theater going; and as he thinks of the difference between their lives and this girl's, there rises in his breast a longing to brighten her life if only for a few hours a day.

Vegetables & Vitamins

(By Barbara Brooks)
Kellogg Company, Home Economics Department, London, Canada.

It is quite probable that were Alice in Wonderland to be written today, there woud be talk of "Vegetables and Vitamins" as well as "shoes and ships and sealing wax", Of course, "cabbages and kings" would still be in the story and most of us would appreciate the fact that cabbage is a food perfectly suitable for both royalty and common folks.

Usually when a product becomes popular, either through the trend of fashion or from a health standpoint, its price increases. Fortunately this has not been true in the case of fruits and vegetables, and the knowledge that they are excellent sources of vitamns has not inflated their costs. Choose the fruits and vegetables which are in season. The fact that they are scarce does not add to their food value. Strawberries in June are as good for you as in January—and better in flavor.

A current magazine article lists fruits and vegetables according to their price per pound. The ones costing less than ten cents are: Fresh fruits—apples and bananas in season. Fresh vegetables—beets, cabbage, carrots, kale, onions, parsnips, potatoes, pumpkin, rutabaga, sauerkraut, squash, tomatoes (in full season) turnips. Dried peas and beans.

Those costing from ten to twenty cents a pound are: Fresh fruits—peaches and the fall fruits in season, oranges and cranberries. Fresh vegetables—celery chard, cucumbers, and the smaller squashes, dandelion and mustard and other spring greens, eggplant, kohlrabi, okra, spinach in full season, fresh tomatoes (at most seasons). Dried—certain of the fruits.

Those costing from twenty to thirty cents a pound are: Fresh fruits—strawberries and the spring fruits in season. Fresh vegetables—Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, cucumbers (most of the year), egg plant, lettuce (when most abundant) green peas, radishes, spinach (except when most abunoantstring beans. Dried—certain fruits.

Those costing from thirty to fifty cents a pound are: Asparagus, French artichokes, French endive, lettuce (most of the year) green peppers, radishes and cucumbers and some other vegetables (when out of season) the most expensive fruits.

This classification shows that the best vegetables are not the highest priced. The six listed as the most useful to the people of this country are cabbage kale, spinach, tomatoes, rutabaga, and potatoes.

We cannot end any talk on food values without at least mentioning coarse cereals. Dark bread, like the common vegetables is coming back on our tables. Although we do not depend on them for vitamins, they are valuable because of their fiber and mineral content. Either a quick bread such as bran muffins, or bran, graham or wholewheat yeast bread should be eaten at least once a day. A good and wholesome dinner menu would be: A vegetable plate—sliced tomatoes, baked potatoes, buttered spinach and creamed carrots, bran muffins, milk and fruit.

LONDON DEALER MAKES 20 MILLION

London, June 16.—The story of how a London dealer in agricultural machinery took a chance visit to a warehouse, bought the entire surplus of aeroplane linen of the British Government, consisting of 45,000,000 yards, and through a modern advertising campaign resold it in a few months at a profit of more than $20,000,000, was told in court yesterday.

With the exception of a nominal deposit, the deal which is described as "one of the boldest coups since the war," was put through without an advance of money. Leonard J. Martin, the dealer, paying cash to the Government upon receipt of each order. The Government received £37,330,000 and also assessed Martin £190,000 income tax. An attempt to avoid assessment on the ground that the venture was a pure gamble was dismissed yesterday and Martin must pay the huge tax.

He sold the linen to the housewives of Britain after Belfast manufacturers had refused to purchase. The manufacturers, however, became alarmed and later purchased all they could get.

Fifty Drunks are Lined Up in Court

Montrealers Had Particular Thirsty Week-end due To Heat

Montreal, June 16.—The week-end was a thirsty time for Montreal. The heat, although the temperature was not so high as it has been, seems to have been aggravated by the rain and the humidity. For the true statistics as to heat and the city's thirst one looks not to the observatory at McGill or the sales' records of the lemonade booths, but to the Recorder's Court, where one turns over the list of charges for the day to determine how many quench their thirst unwisely and too well.

Yesterday morning was something of a record achievement. There were exactly half a hundred drunks reported during the week-end, and policemen have been busy all Saturday and Sunday night. In they came—old grey-bearded topers, young and thirsty ones, fat ones and thin. Some came quietly, half asleep, hardly knowing where they were being led—"Found lying on such and such a street" was the charge against these. Some were obstreperous, they showed fight, and refused to come quietly. "Drunk and disorderly" was the charge against these.

This morning all trooped into the dock, one by one as their name was called, the whole fifty, and pleaded guilty to the charge. Some were bleary eyed and ashamed; some apologetic, one or two defiant, most of them old hands too used to the proceedings to show any emotion.

They heard their sentence "Five dollars and costs, or five days", and shuffled out again, shepherded by the policeman at the door.

Fifty—in one morning.

Sermon Preached In "Broken Laws"

But Belle Feature Picture Does Not Lose Interest Thereby

"Broken Laws," Mrs. Wallace Reid's stirring drama of Mother Love and the Law, was shown for the first time in this city at the Belle Theatre last night.

In her latest vehicle Mrs. Reid has one of those "once in a life-time" pictures. For "Broken Laws" is not only an intense, interesting and convincing drama, but it has a needed message and it gets over that message without becoming preachy nor interferring with the thread of the story.

Such films are few and far between but Mrs. Reid and her co-workers seems to have hit on the happy medium of entertainment and education, in which neither detracts from the other.

"Broken Laws" fulfills two purposes. It provides a wonderful evening of entertainment and it cannot but make better citizens. It is the story of two ordinary, every-day homes in which at least one parent disregards the law as a routine thing.

There are children in each family. They see this wholesale flouting of the constituted law and the picture tells the effect of this contract with lawbreaking on the part of the child, and later the young man and woman.

The story, by Adela Rogers St. John, easily lends itself to screen purposes. It is sincere, compelling and with the background of a real plot. There is nothing reminiscent of other plays you have seen in "Broken Laws." It is fresh material, good material and interesting material.

And the story is ably interpreted by Mrs. Reid, herself, and a highly competent cast of players, evidently chosen with great care and with due regard to the parts they were to play.

Watch your tongue

The tongue is the mirror of the digestive tract and upon its surface is reflected the result of digestive disorders. Examine your tongue frequently and when you find it coated with "fur", or unnatural in appearance, heed Nature's signal.

Indigestion, biliousness, dyspepsia and constipation are responsible for most of the ills of mankind. Sleeplessness, headaches, nervousness and many ills follow in their train. Restore your digestion by using Beecham's Pills.

They clear the tongue, remove the bad taste, strengthen the stomach and bowels, activate the liver, promote the digestion and assimilation of food and make you feel strong and well.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere in Canada

Mrs. Reid is cast as the indulgent mother, who spoils her boy because she loves him. This capable actress even surpasses her work in "Human Wreckage," her last picture, in this role.

The part is not easy, at all, and could easily fail to gain sympathy in the hands of a less capable artist.

Surrounding Mrs. Reid are such sterling players as Percy Marmont, who gives a very able portrayal of the serious husband of the "jazz" wife next door; Ramsey Wallace who is convincing as the husband of Joan (Mrs. Reid); Jacqueline Saunders who does some very remarkable and varied work in the role of the "jazz" wife; Arthur Rankin and Virginia Lee Corbin as the youngsters and Pat Moore and Jane Wray as the children.

In the hands of such a capable cast Mrs. St. John's story is interpreted in almost ideal fashion, and the careful direction of R. William Neill is shown throughout the photoplay.

"Broken Laws" comes with the enthusiastic endorsement of club-women, civic workers, public officials and humanitarian leaders, and is fully worthy of this support. For it is not only a great picture, it is a worth while picture and a needed picture in these days of wholesale law violation and rapid growth of the business in our juvenile courts.

But primarily "Broken Laws" is entertainment and mighty fine entertainment at that.

It should prove one of the most successful pictures shown in this city in many months.

At Griffins

If you have seen "A Thief in Paradise" at the Griffin theatre, or plan to see it, you will wonder, no doubt, how the scenes were staged of Ronald Colman's spectacular fight underseas with Charles Youree. Although the fight is only of a few minutes duration on the screen, it requires several days to film because of the extreme difficulties of photographing under water.

Brilliant sunshine at a depth of twenty feet on the ocean's bottom was necessary. This finally was achieved with powerful mirrors which reflected the sun down through the briny depths. Colman and Youree spent a total of nearly five hours under the water in two minute periods before the action was completed.

The English star now is preparing to challenge Annette Kellerman to a diving contest.

The picture, a Goldwyn-Fitzmaurice production, was adapted from Leonard Merrick's novel of South Seas adventure. "The Worldlings," for first National release.

Stars Of Big Circus Enjoy Many Luxuries

May Wirth and her open air "Dressing Room"

Kings and queens of the circus don't mind life on the road nowadays. Traveling with a giant organization like Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined, that boasts more than 100 extra length railroad cars, is a far cry from the little wagon show that bumped its way over the rough country roads a quarter of a century ago.

The stars of the sawdust world do not envy the railroad president his palatial private car. They almost pity the average mortal who is forced to ride in an ordinary Pullman, so splendidly are their own trains fitted with conveniences.

On the circus lot the leading performers are likewise favored. If one is lucky enough to be ushered behind the mysterious red curtain, he will see almost a dozen gayly-decorated little tents, or "tops" as the circus people call them. These are the private dressing and rest rooms of the stars.

One of the biggest of the "special section" departments is that alloted to the great Nelson family of world famous acrobats. This troupe consists of father, mother, seven daughters and a son. Their costumes alone occupy eleven trunks.

Another special tent, divided into several sections, is that used by the wild west contingent of the big double circus. This tent houses thirty men and women who do nothing with the circus save give rough-riding exhibition. There is a separate tent for their fifty horses.

Among the most artistic and, at the same time comfortable of the smaller tents, are those occupied by May Wirth greatest of all somersaulting equestriennes; and Lily Leitzel, aerial queen of the circus. The tents contain wardrobe trunks, a dressing table and chairs. Dainty cretonne covering give the boudoir touch so dear to the feminine heart. Under the marquee in front are steamer chairs and hammock, where the artists rest after their strenuous performance.

The big circus, with its scores of features, hundreds of performers including the stars with their private dressing "tops" will come here Thursday, July 2nd.

Here and There

The entire Province of Prince Edward Island and adjacent islands have been leased for oil prospecting purposes to Henry L. Doherty & Company, according to an announcement by the concern. The lease has been taken on option.

Indications are that 1925 will be one of the best tourist seasons ever experienced by Montreal. It is estimated that 750,000 people from all over the continent visited Montreal last year, while this year the number is placed at a million.

It is understood that a contract has been let for the laying of a submarine cable from Vancouver Island to Suva, Fiji Islands, by the Pacific Cable Board. This is part of the "All-red" cable and wireless route which is being established between British possessions the world over

In order to facilitate the work of the air force patrol radio stations are being erected at the Pas, Norway House, Victoria Beach, and Fort Osborne Barracks, Winnipeg. The stations will be completed shortly and will have, it is stated, a radius of communication all over Canada.

"Judging from the amount of sound business activity noticeable here, British Columbia is launching into an era of constructive development which augurs well for her future prosperity," comments Grant Hall, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who recently spent ten days on the Pacific Coast.

"So long as the Canadian Pacific Railway has a dollar left in its treasury, it will fight for the ideals, uphold the faith and maintain the precious heritage of confederation," said E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, when addressing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at their annual convention held at Hamilton recently.

Eleven hundred pounds of speckled trout, gray trout and pike were the trophies taken back to New York recently by seven members of the Caughnawaga Hunting and Fishing Club, private preserves near Montreal, after a two-week stay on the fishing grounds. The catch included a 19-lb. gray trout and the average weight worked out at around eight pounds.

Frank W. Ashby, secretary of the Australian Manufacturers' Association, visiting here recently, said the impression in Australia was that Canada was the back door to the North Pole. People in the Antipodes think that Herschell Island and Baffin's Bay are linked up municipally with Montreal and Winnipeg, he said. He was surprised to find the Dominion had a delightful climate and cities more modern than those in Australia.

DOCTOR ADVISED AN OPERATION

Read Alberta Woman's Experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard,' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. ROSE, 580 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads: that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth— rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Auto Tramps Hit By Social Workers

National Conference is Being Held at Denver Colorado

(Associated Press Despatch)

Denver, Colo., June 16.—The automobile migrant came in for criticism to-day at a divisional meeting of the National Conference of Social Work when Miss Adaline Buffington, of Salt Lake City, opened a discussion on the subject before a group discussing the family.

Declaring that the West owed its development to the pioneer spirit of adventure and initative, Miss Buffington scored the present day migrants who "pack their belongings, including canaries, into a worn-out automobile and start out with little money, no idea of where they are going and with reckless disregard as to how they are going to live on the way.

"The old pioneers made an end of their wanderings and settled a country; many of the present migrants wander ceaselessly and use the plight of their children as an appeal for a livelihood," she said. "And the children? Life in the open is healthy enough at times, but what about their education and the effects of this roving upon their habits? Have we a new tribe of gypsies in the making? Will the next generation know any trade or have any industry?"

Discuss Traits

The characteristics of these families as seen through the eyes of some hundred agencies west of the Mississippi River, the reasons for their travels and the difficulties of dealing with them were discussed and remedies proposed.

In the division of neighborhood and community life, Walter Burr, professor of sociology at Kansas State Agricultural College, said a great deal of harm is done in all attempts at community building by the determination of certain theorists to build their communities toward a preconceived ideal.

"It is not our business to build rural communities after a preconceived ideal," the speaker said. "It is our business to enter the life of a community exactly as it actually is now, help to release the resident forces for expression, study the process by which they continue, when released, to proceed from lower to higher. Anything else than this partakes of despotism, however benevolent the intention may be.

"Social workers are usually the worst sort of benevolent tyrants. The community needs an awakening of self-consciousness, information as to its powers and its relationships, knowledge of the sources of aid when aid is wanted—and a severe letting alone. Any rural community might be said, at a given time, to be in an ideal condition when it is in correct correlation with rural community progress generally and with its own environment particularly."

Lack of interest by the reading public in good work on the part of social welfare organizations was deplored by J. L. Gillen, professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, in an address.

Three remedies were proposed by Professor Gillin to "sell human service to the people.

First, the proper presentation of constructive human interest stories;

Second: Addresses by social workers as supplementary to newspaper publicity;

Third: Public exhibits of "woefully neglected individuals."

We want you to make this test

WE want every weak, puny, fagged-out man and woman in America to make this test: buy one bottle of Tanlac at your druggist's, take it according to directions for one week and see how quickly you get started back to full strength and vigor.

We know what we are talking about. Tanlac has helped millions. In our files are more than 100,000 letters of praise from grateful users.

Don't confuse Tanlac with ordinary patent nostrums. It is Nature's own tonic and builder, compounded from roots, barks and herbs that we gather at great expense from the four corners of the earth.

Tanlac goes straight to the seat of your trouble, cleanses and purifies the blood stream, puts your digestion in proper shape. First thing you know you have an appetite like a starved child. You rest at night and your whole body begins to feel the stir of strength and energy.

Don't you be discouraged. Don't put off testing Tanlac another day. Get a bottle now and in a week you should notice signs of real improvement.

Brought Health and Happiness

"Since the Civil War indigestion and stomach trouble have been the bane of my existence. Tanlac made my weak stomach sound and did away with all signs of indigestion. In fact it has brought me health, strength and happiness and I give it unqualified endorsement and praise."

World Service is To-day's Challenge

Presidential Address at International Rotary Given To-day

(Associated Press Despatch)

Cleveland, June 16.—The nation that accepts the challenge of world service and prefers humanity's advancement to the roar of conquering guns is assured of an earthly immortality, asserted Everett W. Hills, president of Rotary International, in an address before its annual convention here today.

In serving best his home and his homeland, man serves best the world, Mr. Hill said, "remembering that a world brotherhood is composed of peaceful homelands linked together in but a larger and stronger bond of social and moral standards."

"But when home ties are snapped by the strong winds of destiny, when marriage is converted into mere social convenience, when childhood is frozen by parental indifference, when the name of God is never mentioned in reverence by the firesides of a modern age, then civilization is headed straight for the maelstrom, and over every capital and nation there will hang a doom heavier than the burden of Babylon."

The spirit of intolerance has recently gripped the nations and successfully defied the exorcism of all true charity, Mr. Hill continued, who said that no longer is the right of conscience freely conceded or the innate rights of men unchallenged.

Greed Decried

"No one can deny the virtue of acquisition, but no one can defend the wrong of unrestricted greed," the speaker declared. "All nations must be taught the unspeakable evil of exploiting helpless and needy peoples, whether such exploitation takes the form of war or commercial supremacy. Rotary can hold before the eyes of all nations the high example of unselfish service and teach an erring world that undeserved profits can never be the best that human life affords.

"We find in the ghastly back-wash of the ware era the spirit of repression passion and revenge. No matter how free may be the charter of a nation it is no longer easy to gain a respectful hearing. Into the market and the forum we have transplanted the bitterness of the camp, and refuse too often to concede the right to contrary opinion. If this evil cannot be entirely eradicated, it must be reduced to a minimum. Herein will Rotary find abundant opportunity for the manifestations of its teachings.

Omit Selfishness

"We must tear selfishness from our lives. Selfishness will not receive its moral challenge until we conquer self. Too many of us profiteer by our failure to give full value for citizenship and for life itself. We take all; we give nothing. We know not the meaning of service. The spirit of intolerance on the part of any Rotarian, and community, any nation is in direct opposition to our fundamental truths. Let us fight it with an understanding and compassion. Understanding is the foe of intolerance."

Border Officials Played Mean Trick

Prevented Woman From Reaching Side of Dying Husband

Detroit, Mich., June 16.—A Toronto woman's race against death was defeated by forty minutes Sunday because immigration authorities insisted upon detaining her for three hours for questioning. Mrs. Mabel Mott, who operates an apartment hotel in Toronto, raced to Detroit when she was advised that her husband, a travelling salesman, was dying in Receiving Hospital.

Arriving in Detroit at 2 p.m. she was detained by immigration authorities at the Michigan Central Station, although she displayed telegrams from hospital physicians advising her of the critical condition of her husband, George.

When she was finally permitted to leave at five o'clock she found her husband had died forty minutes earlier.

On Saturday evening, Mrs. Mott, who resides at 90 Montrose avenue, received word that her husband was seriously ill in Detroit, and she left for that city Sunday morning. It is expected that she will return to Toronto this evening. Mr. Mott was a traveller and was away from home a great deal.

POOR CHORUS GIRL TO WED CANADIAN

Boston, June 16.—The betrothal of Janet Lee, Gloucester chorus girl and daughter of a clergyman, to a wealthy Canadian was announced here today.

Miss Lee of the "Little Jesse James" chorus, is the daughter of Rev. John Clarence Lee, pastor of the Independent Christian Church of Gloucester, the oldest Universalist church in the United States.

William B. Wiegand, her fiance, is a Toronto clubman, managing director of the Canadian Goodrich Rubber Company, and a large land owner.

6,000 YOUTHS ARE ON JAPS BLACK LIST

Tokyo, June 16.—A campaign for the reform of "furyo seinen," a term used to designate Japanese boys and girls of criminal tendencies, is to be undertaken by the metropolitan police department. The police at present have a special staff which deals with incorrigible youngsters, but its numbers will be doubled in a determined effort to weed out the embryonic criminals of Tokyo.

To-day there are between 5,000 and 6,000 youths of both sexes on the special staff's black list. These include college students, school children, factory workers and homeless waifs. The college students will receive especial atention from the police, who declare they have received many complaints that the young men have been frequenting the cafes of Tokyo at unreasonably late hours.

DIED SHORTLY AFTER SINGING A SONG

Cooksville, June 16.—Suddenly, without a moments warning, and within a few minutes of the conclusion of a song he had been singing, Albert Edward Tolman, a life-long resident of Cooksville, collapsed in the hall of his home "Glenlevon", and pased away immediately yesterday morning.

Deceased, who was in his 63th year, had been suffering from angina pectoris, and last Sunday had a bad spell. From this, however, he had appeared to have partially recovered, and, under the attention of Dr. McFadden, was apparently out of immediate danger.

LOCAL BREWERY SOON TO START SHIPPING NOW

Roy-Wolf Plant Makes First Shipments Monday

IS FINE PLANT

Renovated Brewery is Acme Of Modern Sanitation

The Roy-Wolfe Brewing Company will make its first shipments of their 4.4 beer either Saturday or Monday next, officials announced this morning, and then this brewery, formerly well known as the James Roy Brewing Company since 1831, will again become an active Belleville industry.

Throughout the winter and spring this plant has employed from fifty to seventy men during which time, new, expensive and ultra modern machinery has been installed so that to-day, except for a few more alterations in the bottling and labelling room, the plant is complete. This machinery is expected any day now, and when it is quickly installed, everything will be ready.

Messrs. William Wolf, W. P. Richardson, sales manager and Reg. Bumpstead, superintendent, conducted a party of newspapermen through the plant this morning, and the most evident impression throughout was the determination on the part of the officials to have the most modern form of sanitation. To spit on the floor or smoke in any part of the plant will cause the dismissal of the offending employee. The whole building is spotlessly clean and signs everywhere urge employees to be sanitary.

The men in charge of the company are among the best brewers in America. Everyone here knows James A. Roy the President. Carl Wolf, vice-president, also owns a brewery at Ashland, Penn., and has been in the business for 32 years of his life. His sons William and John are also in the business with him here. George Rambour of Columbus, Nebraska is secretary. Mr. Rambour is also a well known figure in the brewery business and owns a brewery at Columbus. His son, George, Jr., is also here assisting in the success of the Roy-Wolfe Brewing Co. W. P. Richardson of Toronto, formerly with the Turner Wine Company, who is sales manager, has already established agencies from Montreal to Windsor.

Keep Up Standard

The 4.4 beer manufactured by this brewing company is one of the finest beverages imaginable. It is a product of the finest, cleanest and best products known to the business and the aim of the new company will constantly be to maintain the good name which has been held by the Wolf Brewery for the past 9 years—manufacturers of the finest products in Canada. Local hotel proprietors visited the plant Tuesday and tested the 4.4 beer. They were greatly pleased and promised orders when the company began shipping.

The capacity of the plant is 75,000 barrels of 25 imperial gallons each, per year, without crowding or pushing it. An average of 25 people will be constantly employed. The beer will not only be sold in Belleville but in Ontario, and the whole of the Dominion.

The first machine which greets the visitor in the plant is the modern ammonia compressor refrigerator which provides the cool atmosphere necessary, the ice and "snowballs in June" as it was aptly termed. Extensive pipe lines diverge from this machine throughout the plant. The malt is stored on the top floor and the malt used comes from Winnipeg in bags. It is barley which has been sprouted then roasted. This malt is first ground in a modern grinder to which it is fed. The grinder makes a powder of it, magnets in the machine taking steel particles and dirt from the grain, leaving the pure malt. It is contained in a sealed conveyor.

The Process

The usual procedure is to grind sufficient malt the night before a brew is planned. All that is required to start a brew after grinding is to turn a valve which releases the malt which passes down into water where it is steamed in a temperature of 170 degrees for from twenty to forty minutes, and then run off.

OFFICIALS NOW REACH BASIS OF DISCUSSION

Expect Early Settlement of The Chinese Trouble

ALARMS FOREIGNERS

Italian Ambassador Asks Chinese Government To Act

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Shanghai, June 17.—Representatives of foreign legations sent from Peking, and Chinese officials who have been carrying on negotiations with a view to a settlement of the situation here have reached the basis of discussion, an authoritative statement announced. There are prospects of an early adjustment of the difficulty and a calling off of the strike.

Expect Early Solution

Washington, June 17.—Hopes of officials here that the Chinese situation would soon be smoothed out without further harm to foreigners, have been heightened by despatches from Shanghai that a settlement of the trouble is near.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Peking June 17.—Another note emphasising the gravity of the situation caused by recent disturbances in China, and calling upon the Chinese Government to take measures, was sent to the foreign office today by the Italian Ambassador, Signor Cerruti representing also other members of the former diplomatic corporation. The note said that Chin Kiang agitation had become so intense that foreigners had been obliged to send their families to Shanghai.

Shanghai, June 17.—F. S. Gavin, British citizen and motor policeman for Shanghai International Settlement was mobbed by Chinese here to-night. He was seriously hurt.

Eight Committed For Trial To-day

As Result of Death of Municipal Jail Matron

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 17.—Jeannette McMinn 16, Isabell Prouse 21, and Bessie Carroll 16, three girls charged with the murder of Mrs. Margaret Mick, night matron of Toronto Municipal Jail for Women, were today committed for trial. James and William Norton, Leonard Swales, Mrs. Edith Garrod and Mrs. Maude Poole were all charged with aiding and abetting three girls to escape from the institution and all with the exception of Mrs Poole were committed for trial. Mrs. Poole pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence.

The case is the outgrowth of the escape from the Jail Farm on the night of May 24. Mrs. Mick was found dead on the floor after the girls escaped, apparently having been strangled to death.

SELECT W. PRENTER BROTHERHOOD HEAD

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cleveland, June 17.— The Advisory Board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers today selected William B. Prenter, Cleveland, to succeed Warren S. Stone as President of all Brotherhood activities, effective immediately.

Mr. Stone died here last Friday.

Mr. Prenter was born in Philadelphia in 1855. 1882 he became locomotive engineer on Canadian Pacific Railway and in 1881 was made foreman of car shops of C. P. R. at Ottawa. He came to Cleveland in 1896 as secretary-treasurer of Insurance Department of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

PREMIERS TO ASK FOR NATIVE PREMIER

Sewing Exhibit Reveals Skill

Public and High School Girls Do Well This Year

To-day in the Domestic Science Building of the High School, the girls of the Public and High Schools of Belleville are exhibiting their work in needlecraft for the past few months.

The work, which extends in its scope from simple designs worked out on towels, to dresses, complete in every detail, is supervised by Miss Illah Baker, Domestic Science Instructor.

The first work that is undertaken by the Juniors and Seniors of the Fourth Class is pleating towels and decorating them. From that, they progress to the making of cloth bags of various designs and colors. In this work new stitches are encountered, and their inventive faculties are exercised in working out designs to be placed on their handiwork.

The Seniors make aprons, dainty lingerie and charming nightgowns.

This work entails making buttonholes, a new step.

The work is so arranged that each successive piece entails the solving of new problems. The parents of the children are expected to supply the materials needed, but in cases where this is not done, the bill is footed by the School Board. Miss Baker said that this was the first year that no parent had refused to contribute materials. This the Instructor interpreted as new enthusiasm.

The children of the High School begin on mitred corners. This kind of corner is square, but no thicker than the rest of the border, and requires skill in its exection.

Crowning Effort

The crowning effort of four years training is the making of a dress. The samples shown were wide in the extent of their materials and designs, and showed great originality. The dresses were cut at home and brought to the school for completion.

About ten years from now the girls of the Public and High Schools of Belleville will be asking their husbands for funds with which to purchase bits of finery which delight the feminine heart and charm the masculine eye. For the benefit of the future husbands, this tip is given: The girls won't need the cash They can make anything from a serviette to an evening dress, and the finished product can't be told from something for which stores charge hard cash. The largest single item of a husband's expenses will therefore be eliminated From then on, prosperity is easy.

"Case Dismissed" Says Judge to Jeweller After Unique Presentation Made by Friends

New Orleans, June 17.—"Well, what have you to say for yourself?" said Judge Emile Leonard rather severely when Benjamin Halpern, a jeweler, was brought before him recently, charged with "disturbing the peace."

"Well, you see it's like this, Judge," replied Halpern, and to the police court judge's surprise he drew forth a silver loving cup, made a neat speech and presented it to his honor.

The cup was given by a group of Judge Leonard's friends to commemorate his re-election, and Halpern explained that the charge of "disturbing the peace" was framed up to facilitate the novel presentation. Judge Leonard thanked the donors and did not forget to said, "Case dismissed."

Presents 15th Annual Report to Credit Men's Association

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 17.—"Let us realize that to-day we are perhaps building more permanently for success that during the hectic days of prosperity, that economy and hardwork are cardinal virtues and if ever present will result in steady conditions."

In the foregoing words did Simonton of Calgary, Alberta, National President of Canadian Credit Mens' Association sum up present conditions in Canada in presenting the fifteenth annual report to the annual meeting of that organization here to-day.

Dealing with competition of the United States in Canadian markets, and the lure of United States to the young Canadian, Mr. Simonton remarked, "certainly it seems that we are paying penalty of being located so near such powerful neighbors, are we to progress slowly until her land is overflowing? Will the Fordney Tariff continue to shut out our products while she floods our markets. Are we to continue preferential tariffs to motherland while our woolen, shoe and other industries suffer.

Sydney, N.S., June 17.—Chief interest in the Cape Breton industrial situation centered into the presence here of Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor and the possibilities of his efforts as conciliator between British Empire Steel Corporation and its employes. With a night of comparative quiet passed, and with United Mine Workers organization backing up the normal civil police by large numbers of their members sworn in as special constables together with the presence of troops in the mining district, it was generally felt here to-day that the destructive part of the strike had been passed except for damage to mines from flooding.

Pedlers Must Pay License

Appeal Before His Honor Judge Deroche is Dismissed

The following is the judgment given by His Honor Judge Deroche on the appeal made by W. E. Jones against the conviction of the defendant by Magistrate Bird, of Stirling:

"I think this appeal should be dismissed. Dealing with the objections raised by Mr. Herrngton against this conviction;

1. "That the information is bad." The information reads "that the accused did unlawfully sell or peddle a quantity of tea without having the license therefore as required by law contrary to By-law 881 of the Corporation of the County of Hastings, Clause 5, under the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1914, Chapter 192 and amendments thereto, and did also peddle nutmeg on the same day contrary to the said By-law 881." The summons to the Defendant was in practically the same language and I think covers the ground sufficiently to make the information good.

2. "That Jones' principals were manufacturers and the tea sold and therefore not bound to take out a license."

All that was done by Jones' principals was to mix certain grades of tea and I do not see how this in any way could be said to constitute them manufacturers of tea. I think, therefore, they are bound to take out a license.

3. "That there was no sale proven."

It seems clear enough to me that Jones did make a sale of tea to Mrs. George Bailey and made more than one of them. His procedure was to leave the tea with an account (Exhibit 1) showing how much tea had been received, how much had been paid and the balance owing. It does not seem to me this can be anything else than selling of tea on credit.

"That only one sale was proven and therefore the conviction is bad," relying upon the case of Rex vs. Little reported in 1 Burrow's at page 610.

I read this case very carefully throughout and have also read the evidence taken before the Magistrate and it seems to me there is a very strong distinction between the circumstances under which this decision was made and the circumstances which we have to consider in this case. In Jones' own description of his procedure he goes from house to house and indeed had made more than one visit to Mrs. Bailey as his evidence and the statement of account (Exhibit 1) shows, and had made more than one sale to her. These circumstances are very different indeed from the facts set forth in Rex v. Little.

The appeal, therefore, will be dismissed with costs.

Dated at Belleville this 12th day of June, A.D. 1925.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

"Canada must be quite a country for birds", said a bird lover in Philadelphia, one day.

This man was a business friend of mine and we had been talking of the woods. "Yes", said he, "it must be a great place for birds, for they have so many birds with Canada before their names. There is famous Canada Goose; the Canada Waxwing, which is also called the Bohemian; the Sweet Canada Bird; the Canada Warbler, and many other birds that seem to belong to Canada alone."

My friend then asked me how it happens, that many of these birds are given Canadian names, since they are only in Canada part of the year. So I explained that home, the place of our birth, is very important in a bird's life. Human beings leave home, very often, never to return, but birds are great homers, they go home every summer, and Canada is a wonderful nesting place for birds.

The particular story connected with each and every bird's name, is very hard to trace, many of them having been named by pure fancy, some by stupid guess work and some by bird students lacking in imagination. I remember visiting a girls' camp n the Laurentian Mountains, one summer, to talk to them on birds. The only guide book they had, was an ancient and gloomy volume, with so muchh wisdom in it that no human girl camper could follow it. We started out, five girls and myself to see what we could see.

We had not been in the open woods very long when we found a Canada Warbler, a dashing young dandy, with a grey back and head, yellow throat and breast and dark broken stripes up and own on his chest.

"Oh, girls," called the five, as they deserted me and rushed back to camp, "Canada has a beautiful warbler, all her own", and then it was my turn to desert, for the whole girls' camp came after me.

BRITISH RULE BRINGS PROSPERITY TO EGYPT

Egypt at the present time is like a country that has been transformed by a waving of a magic wand. The two things which have brought about this transformation are, the conservation of the waters of the Nile by huge dams; and, secondly, the cultivation of cotton. Both these things have been brought to Egypt by England.

Egypt is a desert, absolutely dependent for its water supply on one river—the Nile. From time immemorial, irrigation along the banks of the Nile has permitted the growing of crops of all kinds, the land being exceptionally fertile when irrigated. The ancient system of irrigation, however, proved both inadequate and undependable. It was in order to remedy this that the British Government, at an immense cost, carried out the monumental irrigation works which have stabilized the flow of the Nile and not only made the supply of water to land already under cultivation dependable, but has immensely increased the area of cultivable land.

Cotton was introduced into Egypt as a direct result of an economic need in England. It has long been the dream of British statesmen to make Great Britain independent of the American supply of cotton and to satisfy its needs in this direction from within the Empire. Experiments were carried out in cotton growing in Egypt, and these have resulted with such an immense success that cotton has become the principal crop of the land of the Pharoahs and, as a result Egypt is now experiencing greater prosperity than at any time in recorded history.

According to an article in La Revue de Deaux-Mondes by Rene La Bruyere, Egypt, which formerly exported wheat, is now an actual importer of wheat, owing to so much of the land being given up to the cultivation of the more profitable cotton crop. Farming land has rapidly increased in price until to-day its value is from $1,000 to $1,500 per acre. The farming population, which used to live in little clay houses, are now building good modern houses with all the latest appliances in the way of telephones, electricity, etc. Large numbers of the peasants are even owners of automobiles.

Cairo which now has a population of 741,000 people, is the political capital and the centre of wealth and fashion. The commercial metropolis is Alexandria, which has a population of 490,000, and which is the great market for cotton. In the cotton market, orders are constantly coming in by cable from Manchester, Lille, Mulhouse, and even from the United States and these orders are immediately filled, the cotton being dispatched on the next boat. The extent of the trade of Egypt is shown by the fact that n the last five years exports have amounted to 303,000,00 Egyptian pounds, while the imports have amounted to 294,000,000.

The British Government has now a plan under way for conserving the waters of the Blue Nile in the Sudan and the fact that the population does not quite understand this schema is responsible for some of the unrest in Egypt. It is feared that the British are planning to steal the waters of the Blue Nile which form a junction with the White Nile at Khartum, and which from thence to the sea is known as the Nile. Of course, the British do not intend to do anything of the kind, but simply to regulate the waters so that an even flow can be maintained throughout the year. The plan will increase the prosperity of the country and will extend the fertile areas of the Soudan itself. That it will be carried out is certain. Thus, in spite of itself, Egypt is being benefited by British statesmanship.

WHY THE DIFFERENCE?

While some expeditions into the more inaccessible regions of the earth are given the widest publicity, every step of the way travelled being followed by the keenest public interest, others equally noteworthy sometimes hardly even receive passing mention. It may come as a surprise, therefore, to many to learn that a Dutch explorer is at present engaged in the attempt to storm the embattled parapets of nature situated where the ranges of the Himalayas and Karakorum approach nearest each other—the region which has been designated the greatest knot of mountains on earth. The highest peak of the Karakorum is only 700 feet lower than Mt. Everest, and this stronghold of mountains has been described as one of the most difficult fields of exploration on earth, a fact which accounts for the considerable amounts of blank spaces on the maps of this section of the globe.

Press Opinions

LABOR AND PREFERENCE

Kingston Standard:

It is important to notice the reports from Great Britain as to the change which is taking place in the views of the Labor party there as to the granting of preferences. This party when in power swept these away, but now it is more than likely the present Labor members, or the great majority of them, will support them when they come up for discussion in the House of Commons this week. At all events, at a meeting of the party, members were given leave to vote as they chose, which is an indication of the change which has taken place.

A RAILWAY REMINISCENCE

Ottawa Journal:

The death of Andrew J. Onderdonk in Brooklyn will bring to mind a name that was intimately associated with the building of the Canadian Pacific railway. It was a member of that family who had the contract for the Rocky mountain section, and he carried out what was regarded as a most difficult piece of work with satisfaction to the company and to himself. To those who can look back to the early eighties Mr. Andrew Onderdonk will be remembered as a singularly handsome man, who was always faultlessly dressed and looked more like a Beau Brummel than one of the outstanding contractors of the nineteenth century: for his great unedrtaking in the Rocky mountains was but one of several exceedingly large contracts which he carried out. What gave the spice of novelty to his work for the Canadian Pacific was the fact that he imported Chinese labor. He sent for a certain Chinaman of note, and arranged with him to bring over 10,000 Orientals at a stipulated lump sum per month. The workmen came, were housed, cared for, and paid by this intermediary and at the end of the contract they were taken back to China. Mr. Ondurdonk always said that it was the most satisfactory labor arrangement he had ever had in his long experience.

WHEN IT IS HOT

Buffalo Express:

It is easy to explain that people who live where it is hot become accustomed to it. But that is only a part of the explanation. A more important factor is that dwellers in hot countries learn to take precautions. They saunter, instead of walking briskly. They plan their work for the cooler parts of the day and rest when the sun is directly overhead. Go into a West Indian town and you will see all business close up at noon, just as in the north shops close at 5 or 6 o'clock. From noon til'l 2 o'clock the streets will be more silent and deserted than a northern city is at any hour of the night. These are the hours for siestas. And as a matter of course, people in the tropics wear cool clothing and adapt their food to the climate. The hustling, energetic folk of northern latitudes have taught the people of the tropics a good many things about keeping down death rates, such as the eliminating of mosquitoes, for instance. But there are a few things which the hot-belt dwellers could teach to their northern neighbors. One of these is that when a hot wave comes it is wise for the human animal to slow up till it has passed. Saunter, instead of running; keep in the shade as much as possible; wear light clothing; east sparingly and if a couple of hours for idleness can be spared at any time during the day it is well to take them about midday, if possible. And of all these injunctions the most important and the easiest to observe is expressed by that word, "saunter."

To-day's Smile

A young man of nervous appearance yet possessing a certain determined air, walked into a very ornate business building on St. James Street, hesitated a moment, and then with a sharp motion of one who is about to take the final leap, entered one of the well appointed offices.

"Is this Mr. Jones' office?"

"Yes."

"Is he in?"

"Yes; would you lke to see him?"

"N-n-no! No, thank you! but could you tell me how long he will be here?"

"Why, he should be here at least three hours. But he can see you perfectly well right now."

"Thank you just the same, but I think I shall call on his daughter."

KEEP COW FEELING FIT

SUMMER DISEASES IT IS NECESSARY TO GUARD AGAINST.

Method of Detection and Methods of Treatment Are Herein Outlined—Black Leg Is From Soil Germ—Methods of Vaccination.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Black Leg, Black Water, Quarter Ill and Quarter Evil, are common names applied to a disease that takes its toll in young cattle from many herds each year. From July to October fatalities are most numerous. Vigorous young animals, physically in good condition one day may be found lying stiff and cold the next. When post mortem is performed and the swellings opened the affected tissues present a dirty brown or dark red color and a frothy liquid with a peculiar sickly odor is exuded. The tissue surrounding the swellings show a straw-colored appearance and the lymph glands are congested. Previous to death the swellings occurring in the region of the hind quarters or over the shoulders or along the neck are very painful and the animal manifests severe lameness.

The Disease.

Black Leg is caused by the Bacillus Chauvei, an organism that inhabits the soil, and is most troublesome on low lying, poorly drained pasture lands. Fields with small areas of swamp, and scrubby shrub growth seem to harbor the organism in greatest abundance and to create conditions for its destructive work.

Animals Attacked.

Susceptibility under natural pasture conditions is confined to cattle from three months to three years old. Yearlings are most affected. Calves fed on milk and not allowed to graze are rarely affected. Calves at pasture are readily affected. Sheep are susceptible but not as much so as cattle. Humans, horses and pigs are virtually immune. Stabled cattle are rarely affected. The bacillus gains entrance into the animal body through a small wound or scratch or by ingestion with feed.

Symptoms.

Once the organism gains entrance into the tissues and successfully establishes itself it develops the diseased condition very rapidly. The course and duration are very short, death occurring in from one-half to three days. The first noticed symptom is the animal standing away from the rest of the herd. If moved it shows a severe lameness. Soon after lameness appears, swellings develop in the region of the thigh and shoulders and over the neck. Swellings may develop anywhere, but usually where the muscles are large. At first the swellings are hot and painful, but subsequently become less tender. The skin in the centre of the swollen area becomes cold, dark colored and dry like a piece of leather. These swellings when pressed give a crackling sound, due to the air or gas present. Swellings may form on the internal or thoracic wall or may be confined to the head and throat. In addition to the characteristic swellings, systematic disturbances, as loud beating of the heart, labored breathing, high fever and abdominal pain may be noticeable. Finally the affected animal becomes prostrated, lies on its side and appears greatly bloated. Once prostrated, death usually follows in a few hours.

When young cattle die suddenly at pasture, one should be suspicious of black leg.

Treatment.

Once an animal is infected, treatment is unsuccessful, because the disease is so rapidly fatal. Many stock owners, especially those that have suffered loss, have learned the value of protective vaccination and practice this method of protective immunization on all cattle under three years of age, every spring before the animals are turned out to pasture. The vaccination of a herd with a reliable Black Leg vaccine can be done at a very small cost, and it gives perfect protection during the pasture season. Immunization against the Black Leg bacillus is strongly recommended to all stock owners living in districts where young cattle have died, as it were overnight, while at pasture.

Methods of Vaccination In Use.

(1) Pellet, Cord and Powder forms of vaccine.
(2) Standardized liquid vaccine.
(3) Natural Black Leg agressin.
(4) Black Leg Filtrate—or artificial agressin.

All are effective. The pellet form is convenient, but the Natural Black Leg Agressin is most favored for its higher efficiency.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College.

Feeding the Boar.

The quantity of meal to feed a boar will vary with circumstances. During the season when he is used most, he will require liberal treatment, but at no time should he be fed more than he will eat up clean before leaving the trough. During comparatively idle seasons a very light meal ration will be sufficient, and if on good pasture he will require but little feed in addition. It is entirely a matter of judgment, and the feeder must be guided by the condition of the boar. It is never wise to make sudden changes in the ration—that is, to change suddenly from a light ration to a heavy one, or from a heavy ration to a light one. Changes should be made gradually, and the feeder, knowing about when the heaviest season commences should start in plenty of time to prepare the boar for it.

With Masonic honors the body of the late Albert E. Harley, former collector of customs for Brantford, and of late years on the City Hall staff, was laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

Rotarians Told Of Better Times

Demand is For Greater Confidence Among Men, Speaker Says

Cleveland, June 17.—With a trend of business toward better quality, better production and more simplified selling and transportation facilities, will come a demand for greater confidence among men who, knowing each other better, will become more friendly and then more honest, Arthur H. Sapp, chairman of the committee on business methods, said in an address before Rotary International here to-day.

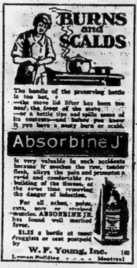
"In the olden days standards were largely the result of religious philosophies, the taboos raised by governmental laws and statutes, and the struggles for territorial expansion and commercial advantage," Mr. Sapp declared. "These have been the impelling forces behind the ethics of personal, civic and business life throughout history. The idealism of Rotary is an expressed or unexpressed desire to improve all human relationships on a common basis of good will and understanding.

"Codes of standards of correct practice have found a place in the program for higher standards of business practice, and with far reaching results. More than 94 codes have been adopted by various craft and professional organizations in the last three years, largely as the result of our work. The code of correct practice is naturally the outgrowth of a trade association.

"Men everywhere recognize that the conditions under which business is enacted are going through a very rapid change."

NEWMARKET FOLK MUST GO THIRSTY

Newmarket, June 17.—The thirsty souls of ewmarket will now have to visit the neighboring town of Aurora to slake their thirsts with Ferguson's famous 4.4 beer. This is the result of the decision arrived at by the newly elected board of directors of the King George Hotel at the organization meeting last night, when it was decided not to sell the beer at the hotel. The meeting was held at the home of J. Cody, Botsford street, behind closed doors. It was attended by Dr. S. J. Boyd, Dr. Wilkinson, Dr. Wesley, A. Gilmore, L. G. Jackson, O E. eech, H. Cane and J. Cody. It was further decided that the new board will reverse the action of the old directors and not sell the building.



BURNS and SCALDS

The handle of the preserving kettle is too hot,
—the stove lid lifter has been too near the front of the stove
—or a kettle tips and spills some of its contents—and before you know it you have a nasty burn or scald.

Absorbine Jr.

is very valuable in such accidents because it soothes the raw, tender flesh, allays the pain and promotes a rapid and comfortable re-building of the tissues, at the same time removing the danger of infection.

For all aches, pains, cuts, sore or strained muscles, ABSORBINE JR. has found well merited favor.

Acids Cause Bad Kidneys And Bladder

DRINK LOTS OF WATER ALL DAY LONG AND OCCASIONALLY TAKE A LITTLE SALTS

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Oshawa Alderman Excuses Tourist

Would Not Trouble American Drivers Who Speed On Highway

Oshawa, June 17.—During a discussion at the City Council meeting Monday night regarding the encouragement of tourist traffic here, Alderman R. D. Preston stated that he thought the Minister of Highways should be written and made acquainted with the action of police officers on the highways. Mr. Preston remarked that one tourist was recently lodged in jail and fined the next morning for travelling at a 38 mile an hour clip and if the tourists were to be encouraged here this year, this rate was not excessive.

Alderman Burns stated that he was against any such contemplated action and that an auto driver who travelled over 30 miles an hour on a public highway endangered pedestrians and should be prosecuted.

CRANKED THE AUTO AND SMELLED LIQUOR

Campbellford June 17.—Two young men vainly striving to crank a car which had become stalled on the streets of Campbellford, called for assistance upon a pedestrian who, unluckily for them, happened to be the new night constable, A. V. Light, who has not yet donned a uniform. The officer found that both men showed symptoms that justified the belief that they had been indulging in something stronger than now beer and both were taken into custody on a charge of being intoxicated while running an auto. The men who gave their residence as Madoc, were brought before Magistrate Payne who remanded them until Friday. When the defendants reached home they telephoned asking what their fines would be and it is expected that the case will be settled out of court.

Marmora, June 17.—Considerable progress has been made with the Booster Park at Crowe Lake. This park comprises seven acres purchased by the Club from Dr. W. G. Mackechnie. It is situated on the southern shore of the lake in the second concession of Marmora Township. A building to serve as a shelter and possibly for excellent purposes later, is being erected with dimensions 14 ft. by 20 ft. Dave Simmons is the carpenter in charge. A verandah eight feet in length is being built on each side. Over thirty of the Club's supporters turned out to a bee on Wednesday afternoon as a result of which all stones have been cleared. With a well dug at a depth of twenty feet, this park, being free to all, will be the redezvous of many a picnic party this summer.

A new approach is being made to Marmaro Cemetery whereby corteges will proceed along the northern side. The work has been commenced by the County Road gang under Mr. William McCoy and will be finished by a bee to be organized by the Cemetery Board.

Always Use Sage Tea To Darken Hair

"The old-time mixture of Sage, Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixture at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Circus Dapple Grays In Line For Promotion

Many Mounts in Big Combined Show Recruited From Ranks of Working Horses

"Promote."

That in a word tells the story of the fine dappled grey, who, having pulled a "lead" in many a team hitched to many a red wagon from the Penobscot to the Pacific, is at last taken from the working ranks and made a performer.

With the mammoth Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey shows the chances are not great. There are more than 600 working horses but it is not often that a "rosin-back" is recruited from them. Yet opportunity knocks now and then. And when it does Tom Lynch, boss of all the baggage stock, will tell you that expectancy actually seems to be in the air as Jim Dial, of the ring stock stable, walks among the veterans bent upon picking one from their number.

When the selection is made the recruit is led away to his new quarters. For the first few days is merely allowed to stand "behind the scenes" that he may grow used to the color, the romp and the blare of the band. Then his education begins in the rings. But always between shows. This training will go on for a month perhaps. He will be "gaited", taught the "stops" and the "starts"—everything that a fine rider's mount must know. Then finally, there comes the day when he is to make his first appearance before an audience. Always his master or mistress cheers him on with a smile. And it's a tradition that just before entering the "big top" the tyro must have a pat and a word from a clown. Briefly, that is the way the riding horses are "kept up." Splendid equestrianism is a marked feature with the Greatest Show on Earth this season. Fully seventy riders numbering May Wirth, the George Hannaford troupe, "Phil the Marvel", in comedy stunts the Reiffenachs, Correias, Rooneys, Bradnas and Wirth Family.

Troupes of leaping, hurdling and high jump horses ridden by the famous Greer family, Miss Florence Mardo and others are a feature, while the menage numbers include more than thirty artists of the "high school" type.

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey will exhibit here Thursday, July 2.

RECEIVED INVITATION

Oshawa, June 17.—The City Council acknowledged another invitation from Mayor W. C. Mikel of Belleville to attend the big peace celebration there this year. Many other communications were received, read and passed to various civic committees for their consideration.

CHILDREN PRAYED AGAINST SCORPIONS

Durango, Mex., June 17.—Five thousand children attended a special mass in the cathedral here recently, when prayers were offered for a cessation of the plague of scorpions which has invaded this district.

From the thousands of dead insects which have been brought in to the municipal authorities attempts are being made to produce a serum against the poisonous sting of the hairy creature. Ten thousand live scorpions have been shipped to the federal department of health.

The fact that a majority of the poorer class houses in Rurango and nearby villages are constructed of adobe bricks and unplastered is belivede to account for the plague, as the cracks between the bricks offer ideal breeding places. Another theory is that myriads of scorpions have been driven from the nearby hills by the recent earthquakes.

MARCONI PREDICTS PERFECTED RADIO

New York, June 17.—Experiments with a system of "beam broadcasting" which he predicts will revolutionize the operation of commercial long distance radio, are described by Guglielmo Marconi in the forthcoming July issue of Radio Broadcast.

A combination of short electrical waves with what is known as the beam system, utilizing only a fraction of the horsepower of high power long-wave stations, Marconi asserts, will minimize the cost of broadcasting and provide comparative secrecy in air messages.

Marconi's earliest experiments with wireless used waves not more than a few inches long. Now, after radio stations have been built to use waves as long as 20,000 meters, Marconi explains, he has swung the cycle of investigation back to his original discovery in the attempt to do away with the fading absorption of signals and to make transmission directional.

Using one reflector in a comparatively small tower to concentrate and project the waves in a beam and another to focus them at the receiving end of the receiving antenna, the radiated energy is concentrated into a beam directed at the locality with which it is desired to communicate, just as light waves of a searchlight are thrown in one direction by means of reflectors. The beam reflector can be so moved as to "mirror" the signals in any desired direction.

With a wave length of 32 meters in striking contrast to the wave lengths of the high-powered stations which run from six to seven miles, transmissions from Poldhu, England, have been heard during both the day and night in Sydney, Australia, according to the inventor.

Mr. Firmingham, student of theology, barrister, and at one time a student of medicine, who was in Toronto this week fined $5 for being a vagrant. In his pocket he was carrying deeds to land valuing thousands of dollars, and claims that he was returning to Montreal to become a priest when arrested.

Local Brewery

Then the hops is put in and it is boiled for five hours with the hops in it. Then it passes up to the cooler and pasteurizer after having been carefully and automatically filtered. The cooler is the same as a milk pasteurizer. The wash passes to the top of a long copper trough, into which it falls to be passed over the pipes in a thin sheet. The pipes are half water cooled and the other half are ammonia cooled. The temperature in this room is 47 degrees Fahrenheit. The wash then passes to the fermenting room where it lays for one day or more in seven huge tanks, sections of which everyone has seen while enroute from the station to the plant. These fine huge tanks have been brightly painted on the outside and are the most modern glass lined on the inside. The brew settles in these seven tanks, from which it is sent to storage tanks of which there are fourteen—ten large ones and four smaller ones. The larger tanks each hold 150 barrels, the smaller tanks, 86 barrels. They are in the fermenting room. All these tank rooms are cold being piped from the refrigerator room.

hTe superior quality of Roy-Wolf beer results from the use of the best domestic hops and imported hops of a heavier and stronger kind from Bavaria.

Piped Underground

The beer will be piped through an underground line from the storage tanks to the bottling, labelling and shipping rooms in a distinct and smaller building, where an automatic machine will fill 120 botles per minute on a modern automatic conveyor machine. Labels will also be put on as rapidly on another modern machine. A larger automatic machine which is simply operated will fill kegs of all sizes which are piled about the store rooms and wash rooms. The bottles and kegs and barrels are also carefully and automatically washed in the wash room.

Just across from the plant a suite of modern and newly appointed offices have been arranged where the business of the firm will be transacted. They are just as modern and complete as every other nook and corner of the big plant.

While returning home from the base ball practice at Milton, Mark and Harvey Alton met with an accident when something went wrong with their car and they landed in the ditch. Both the boys received cuts and bruises, and the car was badly damaged.

Puts Responsibility Oh Men Of To-day

To Develop the Right Kind of Citizens Among Boys

Cleveland, June 17.—Failure to accept the responsibility of boyhood today is a reproach to Rotarans banded together on a platform of service, Hart I. Seely, chairman of the International Committee on Boys' Work, declared in an address today before the annual convention of Rotary International.

Rotary's purpose is to develop the right kind of a citizen so that Rotarians may leave the world a little better than they found it, Mr. Seely said, adding that men of today can do no greater work than to help the boys grow into the kind of men they should be tomorrow.

"What kind of men will they be?" he asked. "High minded men, men of lofty ideals, men of business integrity, men of high ethical standards in business? The answer lies with you. The responsibility is yours.

"If the boys is to be a success as a citizen he must have physical strength; he must have health, and Rotary advocates clinics where the boy may find out about himself; play-grounds and swimming pools, where he may develop his physical nature and grow into a healthy young man.

"The boy needs an education to be a success. Not necessarily a college education, but we say every boy should have a trained hand and a trained mind. He should know his fellowman and realize that citizenship is not an individual matter but a group matter."

Officers and members of Wellington Parthenon and Victoria Masonic Lodges, to the number of approximately 400, attended special Masonic service in Christie's Church at Chatham, and listoned to an eloquent sermon.

Ex-Empress Zita Chooses Hand Knit Dresses for Her Children

Juvenile Costumes You Can Knit

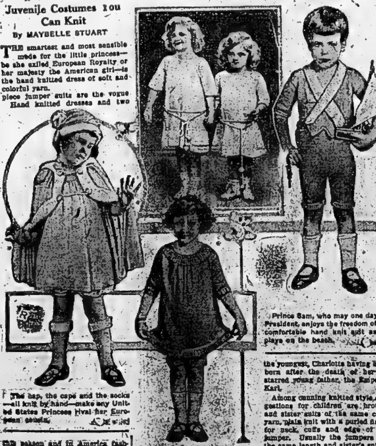
By MAYBELLE STUART

THE smartest and most sensible mode for the little princess—be she exiled European Royalty or her majesty the American girl—is the hand knitted dress of soft and colorful yarn.

Hand knitted dresses and two piece jumper suits are the vogue this season and in America fashions for the small miss follow those of mother and big sister nowadays.

American mothers have been quick to see the charm and exclusiveness of the hand-knitted dress for the younger generation as well as its importance in the interest of health. European royalty has not been up [illegible] for the following of fashions for small princesses and princes. Healthful garments in the simplicity of good taste have been the standard in Royal nurseries.

Today the American mother and the ex-Empress Zita are agreed on the jumper styles for their young daughters [illegible]



The cap, the cape and the socks—all knit by hand—make any United States Princess rival her European cousin.

Prince Sam, who may one day be President, enjoys the freedom of his comfortable hand knit suit as he plays on the beach.

This adorable two piece dress is as economical as it is attractive.

Above—One piece dresses—knit by hand of white yarn—are the ex-Empress Zita's selection for the Princesses Elizabeth and Charlotte.

There are seven little sons and daughters living with the exiled Empress at Lequitio, Spain, where this picture was taken. Prince Otto, the elder and last of the Hapsburgs, is heir to the throne of Hungary. The little Princesses Elizabeth and Charlotte in their knitted dresses, shown here, perhaps the [illegible] of the frail Zita's hands, are the youngest, Charlotte having been born after the death of her ill-starred young father, the Emperor Karl.

Among cunning knitted style suggestions for children are brother and sister suits of the same color yarn, plain knit with a purled finish for neck, cuffs and edge of the jumper. Usually the jumpers are the same length and sister's suit is finished with a knitted skirt while brother's has short tight pants. Other models show sister has a longer tunic, as in the picture above, and wears little knitted pants similar to those made for brother.

It may be expected that the white coats, now the latest fashion for grown-ups, will be quickly seized upon by the observant mother as an ideal summer wrap for the child—light, warm and easily laundered. Indeed, all hand knit garments from the golf vest and socks to the two piece knitted sport suits for adults can be of [illegible] for children.

Want a Tonnel 30 Miles Long

Washington Citizens Organize to Complete Big Project

Seattle, June 17.—Citizens of Washington, led by Judge Austin E. Griffiths of this city have formed the Cascade Tunnel Association to effect, with national, state and railroad financing, the boring of a tunnel 30 miles long linking the eastern and western halves of their common wealth.

This would be the longest tunnel in the world. In Colorado the Moffat Tunnel, six miles long, under the Continental Divide, to carry trains and automobiles, is more than half built. In the Alps, the Simplon Tunnel, 12 1-4 miles long, for trains only, has one portal in Switzerland and the other in Italy. Those two countries built it.

The tunnel under the Cascade Mountains, for transcontinental railways, three of which have Puget Sound termini here, was the second great dream of Gen. H. M. Chittenden, who came to Seattle as army district engineer and lived here until his death in 1917.

General Chittenden broached the idea of a ship canal, linking Lakes Union, within Seattle, and Washington, on the city's inland margin, with Puget Sound and thus, through the Strait of Juan de Fuca with the Pacific and other oceans of the world. Constructed with the aid of the United States government, the Lake Washington Ship Canal has been in service a decade.

Completion of the canal assured, General Chitenden brought forward, the idea of the Cascade Tunnel. The work of agitation, which death stayed, Judge Griffiths has taken up, announcing that to it he would devote all his spare time from the Superior Court bench.

Based on expenditures for the Connaught Tunnel of the Canadian Pacific Railway, through the Selkirk Range in the Canadian Rockies, completed about the time of his death, the cost of the Cascade Tunnel was put by General Chittenden at $52,000,000.

The Cascade Tunnel, as advocated by Chittenden and Griffiths, would be 30 feet wide and, at the crown of the arch, 25 1-2 feet high.

One of the largest church parades ever held by Hornby L.O.L. took place at Milton to Christ Anglican Church, Omagh, where Rev. Mr. Blodgett of Chaplean, a member of the Grand Lodge, preached an appropriate and powerful sermon.

Sullivan Reports Saturday's Game

Tells League President Why He Put Players Out

Oshawa, Ont., June 17.—Yesterday morning's mail brought the following report from Umpire Geo. Sullivan of Kingston on the Peterboro-Belleville game of Saturday afternoon last in Peterboro, and the same was communicated by long distance telephone to President C. M. Anderson, who is out of the city on a fishing trip to Rice Lake. The report is as follows:

Kingston, Ont., June 15, 1925.

To C. M. Anderson, Esq.,
President C.O.A.B.L.,
Oshawa, Ont.

Dear Sir:—I beg to submit the following special report on the Peterboro-Belleville ball game on the 13th instant, at Peterboro:

"Pitcher Whitehouse of Peterboro used indecent and abusive language towards me after a decision I rendered at third base and was put out of the game. Holyman grew insolent over the same decision. Wolfe, the player put out at third was suspended from the game for crabbing. The action of the above players was responsible for a number of spectators running on the field after the game and surrounding me. Had it not been for the police there might have been serious trouble. Could you withhold any judgment in the matter until I can interview you personally. I work in Oshawa Wednesday. Yours truly,

George Sullivan, Umpire.

"P.S.—The language used by Pitcher Whitehouse was in a low tone, and not audible to the spectators.

JACK OUELLET IS SIGNED BY LINDSAY

Lindsay, June 17.—Jack Oulette, the Belleville pitcher, who was disqualified owing to the residence rule, has been signed by Lindsay. He qualifies to play with Lindsay, as his home town, Fenelon Falls, is but a few miles from this place. It will be like old times to see Oulette in a Greybird uniform.

CHICAGO MARKET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, June 17.—Wheat scored a sharp early advance today, influenced by an unexpected upturn in quotations at Liverpool, and by indications that a hot wave was spreading northward. Buying was also stimulated by the fact that the market had been declining for nine successive days and that values had fallen more than 20 cents a bushel within the week. On to-day's advances, profit taking sales quickly broadened out and reaction from top figures ensued but effect was only transient. Opening 1c to 4 1-8c higher was followed by rapid changes in which July touched 153 1-2 and Sept. 151 1-4.

Despite rains benefitting corn crop, corn and oats ascended with wheat. After opening at 1-4 to 2 7-8c advance, the corn market climbed a little more and then receded somewhat.

Oats started at 1 to 3c gain. Later part of gain was wiped out. Provisions were easier in absence of aggressive demand.

Summer Course For American Musicians At Villa D'Este (Tivoli)

Rome—The summer music course for American students which will be held at Tivoli, in the beautiful Villa d'Este will begin on July 13th till September 12th, 1925. The Honorary Committee consists of the Minister for Education, the American Ambassador; the Count of Sammartino and Valperga, President of the Royal Academy of St. Cecilia; Comm. Colasanti, General Manager of Fine Arts; Mr. Corham P. Stevens, Director of the American Academy of Rome, and Comm. Domenico Salvati, Mayor of Tivoli.

Only American students can enter the course. There will be two private and one class lesson per week. The instructors will include such well-known people as Maestro Respighi for composition, Maestro Consolo for pianoforte, Maestro Corti for violin and Signorina Valeri for singing, who will initiate the pupils into Italian methods of musical study.

This course has awakened lively interest in America, and already there have been numerous applications. The cost will be $135 for three lessons a week, for the season of two months.

Tivoli is a very historically interesting spot, as it was a favorite retreat of the wealthy Romans under the earlier emperors, and it is said that Brutus and Cassius fled there after murdering Caesar.

Villa d'Este was built by Hippolite II, Cardinal of Ferrara, son of Lucrezia Borgia, and Alfonso d'Este, in the latter part of the Renaissance period. Later about 1585, it came into the possession of Cardinal Alexander d'Este, who made many improvements and after his death it passed into full possession of the d'Este family. Ultimately it fell into the hands of the Habsburgs, and gave hospitality to Cardinal Hohenlohe, who invited many distinguished artists to stay with him, and amongst them, the famous Liszt.

Under the treaty of Saint Germain the Villa became the property of the Italian Government.

The Process that makes Canada's Finest Tires

THE latex web cord treatment, patented in Dominion Royal Cord Tires, is the most forward development in tire making Canada has known.

This exclusive process does away with cross ties, thus eliminating destructive internal friction and heat.

The cords are individually saturated in natural liquid rubber (latex) and then united in a perfectly flat even web. The absence of any irregularity removes the last cause of friction. Heat is eliminated—adding to the life of the tire. This exclusive process adds nothing to the cost.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Gravice.)

"Well," he says, "it sounds rather slow. And—and have you led this kind of life long?"

"As long as I can remember," replies Leslie. "Papa and I have been alone together ever since I was a little mite, and—yes, it has always been the same."

"And you never go to a theater, a dance, a concert?"

Leslie laughs softly.

"Never is a big word," she says. "Oh, yes, when we are in Londin my father sometimes but very seldom takes me to a theater, and now and again there are dances at the boarding houses we stay at."

Yorke almost groans. How delightful it would be to take this beautiful young creature for a whole round of theaters, to see her dressed in full war paint, to watch those dark gray eyes light up with pleasant and girlish joy.

"And which are you most fond of?" he asks. "Walking, sailing, playing, reading?"

She thinks again.

"I don't know. I'm very fond of the country and enjoy my walks, but then I am also fond of sailing, and music, and reading. Do you know the country round here?"

He shakes his head.

"No, I only came to-day, you know."

"Ah, yes," she says, and she says it with a faint feeling of surprise; it seems to her as if he had been here at Portmaris for a week at least. "There is a very lovely place called St. Martin; it is about twelve miles out. There is an old castle, or the remains of one, and from the top of it you can see—well, nearly all the world, it seems."

"That must be worth going to," he says, and an idea strikes him. "My cousin—I mean Mr. Temple, you know—would like to see that."

"Yes," says Leslie. "But he could not walk so far."

"No. Do you mean to say you can?"

Leslie laughs softly.

"Oh, yes; I have walked there and back several times."

"You must be very strong!"

"Yes, I think I am. I am always well; yes, I suppose I am strong."

He still sighs at her; the graceful figure is so slight that he finds it difficult to realize her doing twenty-four miles. The women, he knows would have a fit at the mere thought of such an undertaking.

"I think to-morrow is going to be a fine day," he says, looking up at the cloudless sky with a business-like air.

"Yes," says Leslie, as if she were first cousin to the clerk of the weather. "Its going to be fine to-morrow."

"Well, then," he says, "I'll try and get something and drive my cousin over to—what's the name of the place with the castle?"

"St. Martin."

"Yes. The worst of it is that he—I mean my cousin, and not St. Martin—so soon gets bored if he hasn't some one more amusing than I am to keep him company; you see, he's an invalud, and crotchety."

"Poor fellow!" murmurs Leslie. "And yet he is so kind and generous," she adds as she thinks of the fifty pounds he has given for the "picture."

"Yes, indeed!" he assents. "The best fellow that ever drew breath, for all his whims and fancies; and he can't help having those, you know. He would like to go to St. Martin to-morrow, especially if you—do you think we could persuade you and Mr. Lisle to accompany us?"

Leslie looks at him almost starteld, then the color comes into her face, and her eyes brighten.

"It would be awfully good-natured of you if you would," he goes on, quickly, and as if he knew he was demanding a great sacrifice of her "awfully good nature."

"My father—" Leslie shakes her head. "I am afraid he would not go; he will want to paint if the day is fine."

"He can paint at St. Martin," he breaks in, eagerly. "There must be no end of sketches, studies, whatever you call it, there, you know. I wish you'd ask him! It would do my cousin so much good, and—and," the arch hypocrite falters as he meets the innocent, eagerly wistful eyes, "though I dare say you won't care for the dusty drive, and have seen quite enough of the place, still, you'd be doing a good action, don't you know, and—all that. It will cheer my cousin up sooner than anything."

"Very well," says Leslie. "I will ask my father. But it will not matter if we do not go. You must persuade Mr. Temple."

"Mr.— Oh, my cousin, yes," he says, with sudden embarrassment. "Yes, of course. Thank you! It is awfully good of you."

Leslie looks at him, her color deepening; then she laughs softly.

"Why, I want to go, too!" she says. "There is no goodness in it."

Yorke Auchester's glance falls before her guileless eyes.

"Then that settles it," he says, confidently. "What point is that out there, Miss Lisle?"

Leslie starts.

"That is Ragged Points!" she replies. "I had no idea we had come so far; please tell him I am going to put the boat round; it must be very late!"

"No, it isn't," he says. "I can tell by the moon. Can't we go a little farther?"

But she ports the helm, and old William, without a word, swings the sail over, and the boat's nose is pointing to land.

Yorke looks at Portmaris, asleep in the moonlight, regretfully.

"That's the worst of being thoroughly happy and comfortable," he says. "It always comes to an end and you have to come back. What a pace we are going, too!" he adds, almost in a tone of complaint.

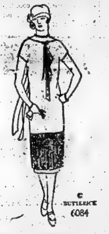
FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon



Down in front is the accepted position for the new ease which in the form of aprons, plaits, flares, etc., gives variety to the straight silhouette.

IN THE smart Park Avenue restaurants at lunch time one can see a very complete review of the styles for early Summer. Skirts are short, from ten to fourteen inches from the floor. Stockings are sheer, nude-colored silk. Shoes are the pumps or strap slippers of kid or patent leather, the patent leather often piped with white or beige kid. Colors are brighter, with the sand beige, blonde and cocoa shades predominating for the flat crepes, crêpe romas, crêpe satins etc. Printed silks matching the lining of light cashmere coats are enormously popular.

Luther Burbank Is Evolutionist

Bible Incomplete History of Folk Lore, He Declares

Santa Cruz, Cal. June 17.—Luther Burbank, world famous plant scientist, has arrayed himself on the side of the evolutionists in the Tennessee controversy. And, incidentally, he declared that the skull of his friend William Jennings Bryan, was near the Neanderthal type.

Burbank doesn't think much of the Tennessee law forbiding the teaching of evolution. He doesn't think much, either, of the forthcoming trial of Prof. J. T. Scopes of Dayton, Tenn., for violation of the law.

"As soon legislate against the law of gravity," Burbank said.

Bryan, one of evolution's bitterest denouncers, came in for a mild attack from the noted horticulturist.

"Mr. Bryan is an honoured personal friend of mine," the scientist declared. "Yet this need not prevent the observation that the skull with which nature endowed him visibly approaches the Neanderthal type.

"Feelings and the use of gesticulations and words are more according to the nature ofthis type than investigation and reflection." Continuing with his protest against the Tennessee law, Burbank said:

"Those who would legislate against the teaching of evolution should legislate also against gravity, electricity and the unreasonable velocity of light.

"Also they should introduce a clause to prohibit the use of the telescope, the microscope and the spectroscope or any other instrument of precision which may in the future be invented."

While holding that "religion is as natural to man and as important to each human being and to the welfare of society as breathing, Burbank believes the word of the Bible, taken literally, should not be accepted as indisputable controversion of the history of evolution.

"The Bible is an incomplete history of the folk lore of an ancient race," Burbank declared, "but no more inspired, I believe, than the works of Marcus Aurelius and other great men of the day.

"However, I am too busy developing plant life through a knowledge of the laws of evolution to give much time to this controversy."

The famous scientist is here on a brief vacation from his home in Santa Rosa.

BRITISH LASSIES SOLVE PROBLEM

Winnipeg, Man., June 17.—The domestic servant problem in Winnipeg has been materially relieved by the arrival of a batch of British girls, included among the large quota of settlers reaching here during the past few weeks.

While the majority of these domestics have remained in this city, a number have proceeded to different points in the west. The girls were brought to Canada under the auspices of the Salvation Army.

Statistics show that the population of western Canada has been augmented by more than 6,000 newcomers during May, the majority immigrating under the British Empire colonization scheme.

ALASKA COLLEGE GETS BIG GRANT

Anchorage, Alaska, June 17.—An appropriation of $163,360 granted the Alaska College of Agriculture and School of Mines by the territorial legislature which met last winter at Juneau, will enable several improvements, Judge Charle E. Bunnell, president of the institution, said here.

The appropriation provides for an addition to the main building, a dormitory to cost $25,000 and a power plant. Request for $22,500 to be used in agriculture work and $19,000 for school of mines extension work were denied.

The institution is at Fairbanks, farther north than any other of its kind in the world.

HIKED 600 MILES IN ONLY 29 HOURS

Stratford, June 17.—A trip made from Springfield College, Springfield, Mass., by two Stratford young men, Kenneth Murray and Ralph Smith, proved to be a revelation in modern travel. The journey of some 600 miles was made from the college gates to Stratford in only 29 hours on the road. The trip was started afoot, practically every man atending the college was "walking" home. The Stratford travelers paid no train fare, and in their travels were conveyed by 18 automobile, three trucks and six street cars, the latter were used as the best means of getting through the larger centres. The journey is a fine illustraton of the generosity of most car drivers. The travelers made 200 and 309 miles, respectively, the first two days on the road.

JACK MADE UP HIS MIND TO KILL THE GIANT AND GOING OUT ONE NIGHT HE DUG A DEEP HOLE AT THE FOOT OF THE MOUNT, COVERED IT WITH STICKS AND HID IT ALL WITH A SPRINKLING OF EARTH.

At Griffins

Marshall Neilan's filming of Thomas Hardy's "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," the Metro-Goldwyn picture, which comes to the Griffin Theatre, for a three day engagement commencing Thursday night, brings to the screen one of the outstanding novels of all time. Although written many years ago, it remains in constant demand at book stores and libraries. Its sales have reached hundreds of thousands and a computation of the number of library borrowers would seem almost unbelievable.

Thomas Hardy's magnificent literary style alone is hardly responsible for the enormous popularity of this, the famous author's greatest work. The universal appeal of the powerful story is the chief factor in its ability to reach the hearts of so many readers. It is a simple tale but never so simple as to become banal.

Retains Original Appeal

Neilan has transferred this tale to the screen as the author wrote it. He has retained all the power, all the appeal, all the beauty of the original. The young director, who has so many film successes to his credit, has invested the dramatic progress of the story with a pictorial beauty that adds to its interest, and the development of the plot is done in scenes that gratify the eye as well as grip the mind.

Another advantage "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" has, is that the exterior scenes were photographed in authentic locations. Neilan made the rural episodes in the Hardy-Wessex country in England, which enforces the drama by having the absolutely correct atmosphere.

Background is Modernized

The only change from the original Neilan made has been to advance the time to the present day, which makes the story far more interesting for present day consumption. The director considers "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" to be a story fitting all time and consequently feels this is not taking a liberty

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles" tells a story of a country maiden in Wessex who falls victim to the brutality and passion of a wealthy and unscrupulous young man. Later, Tess meets and marries the man she really loves—only to be deserted by him when she confesses the truth about her unfortunate past. Left alone in dire poverty and misfortune, Tess is again victimised by her original lover, who compels her to return to him, where she lives in lavish splendor It is then that her husband, repentant too late, returns and precipitates the tragedy that follows. But the great love that Tess and her husband, Angel Clare, feel for each other is shown to live through eternity.

Blanche Sweet Heroine

Tess is one of the most pitied and beloved heroines in all literature. As she is portrayed by Blanche Sweet, the girl is invested with rare beauty and charm of personality that immediately wins unending sympathy. In expressing the varied emotions experienced by Tess during the course of her colorful and dramatic history, Miss Sweet brings to the role the ability she has shown in her long career as one of the foremost actresses of the screen. In her most recent success, "Anna Christie", she gave a performance that won unanimous admiration—with Tess she exceeds herself.

Incidentally, Blanche Sweet is Mrs. Marshall Neilan in real life. "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is the first picture in which she has appeared under her husband's direction since their marriage. She is particularly happy in the combination, which reflects in the charm of her portrayal.

At The Belle

"Tom Mix is the best foreman and handler of men that I have ever seen," declared Chief U.S. Ranger George W. Sallee who commanded the fire-fighters that combated the flames which swept over and devastated eight square miles of forests in Sierra County California, a few weeks ago.

Mix and the men of his company exchanged their services for three days, fighting the fire in return for the privilege of making pictures in the flame-swept zone, the realism of which will be wonderfully revealed in "Teeth" wherein Tom, Tony the horse and Duke, the dog, are co-starred.

"At noon on the first day the picture men worked Mr. Mix told me that he did not believe the crew of men assigned to fight the flames on the east side of the mountains were making proper progress," continued Chief Ranger Sallee, "and offered to go over and take charge. Mix is a natural leader and distinctly an out-of-doors man.

"He changed the whole method of work and started to chop out a new fire break in a new direction, reasoning that despite the wind the topography of the country would change the direct course completely checking it.

"Another thing I want to say is that Mix didn't ask any of the men to take chances that he himself balked at. In fact, he was the hardest working man in the outfit of the three hundred men under him."

When his three days were up, Mix left the fire fighters as popular a foreman as he is at a picture star and all hated to see him go. The men gave him three rousing cheers, as smoke-begrimmed, tired and fire-stained, he walked away leaving three hundred ardent Mix fans behind him.

"Teeth" the picture he made in the midst of all this excitement, will be shown at the Belle theatre tomorrow.

CLAIMS STATES ARE MISSING OUTDOORS

Boston, June 17.—In a plea for "the healthy occupation of walking," Chas. W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, told the Cambridge Board of Public Reservations that "as a nation we are losing our taste for outdoor enjoyments.

His secretary, he said, had counted 187 peasure cars, 17 trucks, and only 20 pedestrians passing the Eliot home recently between 5.30 and 5.45 pm. "when all the people are returning from work."

"The healthy occupation of walking is being thrown into the discard," he said.

"The result is detrimental to the health of the entire nation, for everywhere the same conditions exist. Even on Sundays, when the average man has an oportunity to walk, he remains in his automobile and his children grow up in the same way."

"Fifth Avenue"

It Is said that by traveling Fifth Avenue from one end to the other you will pass the store or the sales representative of nearly every well-known manufacturer in America

To a large extent that is a fact--and the same is true of the columns of this paper. The pages of any first class newspaper today compose a veritable Fifth Avenue, where the goods of the nation are shown. There is this difference. In these pages you are given a description of the goods and in most cases quoted a price and told where you can buy them in your own town.

The better a product is--the sooner you will see it advertised

Four Point Four Hurts Bootlegger

According to General Williams of Provincial Police Force

Toronto, June 17.—Ferguson beer has put the bootlegger to rout all over Ontario, according to Gen. V. A. S. Williams, Commissioner of Provincial Police, and Inspector F. E. Elliott, who is in charge of the actual enforcement of the O.T.A.

"There have been so few cases that our revenue from fines will suffer materially," said General Williams yesterday. "I have been around the country very extensively since the sale of the new beer commenced, and I find people all over the province—in the country places, small towns and in the cities are drinking the new beer in preference to hard liquor." He added that bodies in small places are living very close to the regulations, and obeying the spirit as well at the letter of the law."

"Has there been an actual slump in the bootlegging industry?" Gen. Williams was asked.

"Oh, yes, in all departments," he replied. "There are still evidences of illicit sale, and there always will be, but it is mostly gone. My officers in Kitchener have gone a whole week without a case, although they have been as active as usual. The cessation of bootleggers activity is especially noticeable in the north country. Our revenue from fines used to run up into the thousands of dollars every month; now it is almost negligible, and if the present rate continues for the year, the revenue of my department from this source will be very hard hit."

"Do you attribute all that to the new beer?"

Both General Williams and Inspector Elliott were emphatic in the belief that the new beer is responsible for cleaning out the bootlegger.

CYCLONE CUT OFF SEVERAL VERANDAHS

Guelph, Ont., June 17.—A small cyclone developed near here Monday afternoon about 2.30, when a regular tail twister struck the village of Everton, a few miles north of Guelph. The path of its fury was only about 120 feet wide and in that path barns were leveled in an instant, orchards up-rooted and verandas cut clean from the houses without harming the latter.

There were several narrow escapes of residents from flying fence rails and planks.

London Sculptor Talks 12 Hours

Self Imposed Task as a Protest; Carried His Lunch

London, June 17.—A curious scene was enacted in Hyde Park yesterday, it had to do with the agitation against the memorial executed by Jacob Epstein, the sculptor, to W. H. Hudson, the famous naturalist and writer, who died in London in August, 1922. Premier Baldwin unveiled this memorial on May 10 last, and it has ben the subject of bitter criticism on the ground that it was lacking in artistic merit.

With the object of concentrating the attention of the public and parliament on the demand of the memorial, a sculptor named Hagus undertook to deliver a twelve hours' continuous oration denouncing the panel. Hague appeared before the memorial at 8 o'clock in the morning with a supply of sandwiches and began his oration to an audience of stragglers, which only grew to any extent towards evening.

The speech was continuous except for interruptions for the consumption of sandwiches and altercations with by-standers who asserted that the orator was a nuisance. The police treated the affair as a joke and declined to interfere, and Hague, who attempted no oratorical flights, was allowed to complete his self-imposed task, despite the almost overpowering heat of the sun.

PRAYING MADE HER KNEES BEAUTIFUL

New York, June 17.—Piety has made the Spanish woman's knees the most beautiful in the world, according to Jose M. Vidslquadras, Madrid portrait painter who arrived here yesterday on the Deutschland.

"The women pray more in Spain," he explained, "so that their knee muscles grow rugged and firm."

In most other countries women do not really kneel, he said, "but half sit on chairs."

"Even Spanish flappers still obey the padres," the artist declared, adding. "This is beneficial."

Celebration of the 125th anniversary, of Hull Quebec, drew 25,000 persons.

BOBBED HER HAIR AFTER HOURS; FINED

Oshawa, June 17.—Ladies who desire to have their hair trimmed or bobbed will have to abide by the law and consult their tonsorial artists before the closing hour of 8 o'clock. Taking in customers after the closing hour resulted in L. Forshay being fined $1 and $5.50 costs in court yesterday. The local barber stated that he guessed he was guilty but he was unaware of the hour. A lady customer had entered his shop late and had always made her call around the closing hour and Magistrate Hind informed Forshay that he had better take steps to have the lady come earlier for her bob.

Warning is Issued To Brewery Men

Unwise to Fix Premises in Hope Of Licence

Toronto, June 17.—Many premises throughout the province which have either not seen service for some time past or else have been in other service, are now being appraised by their proprietors with a view to becoming 4.4 beer dispensaries. Extensive renovations, embellishments and alterations are, accordingly, being entered upon, and the policy is becoming so widespread that it has come to the notice of the Attorney-General, who yesterday formally advised a check upon the optimism of such promoters. Hon. Mr Nickle recalled the frequent statements of both himself and Premier Ferguson to the effect that in the issuing of licenses preference would be given to restaurants and other places already established.

Stating that his attention had been drawn to the large amounts which were being spent by some property owners with a view to making their properties into restaurant or store premises. Hon. Mr. Nickle said: "On more than one occasion the Prime Minister and I have emphasized that established businesses would have preference when licenses were being issued. It would be well for those who are engaging upon these alterations and expenditure of money to give careful consideration to this fact, otherwise they may have reason to regret what they are doing.

Took Dad's Watch To See the Circus

Young Montreal Lad Lands On Big Heap of Trouble

Montreal, June 17.—Little Johnny wanted to see the wild west show. He had been looking forward to going to the circus for weeks. The blare of the brass band, and the hum of the crowds pressing into the big tent had entered his blood, and by hook or by crook he was determined to be there when the bareback riders and the clowns disported themselves in the sawdust ring.

It is an unfortunate fact that it costs money to get into the circus. It is also a pity that the tents are firmly set up, and strong men with eagle eyes are stationed on the look out for little boys trying to sneak in under the flap. Johnny is eleven years old, and bright for his age. He had no money, but Dad had a watch—a valuable watch, as Johnny knew, a watch that was at least worth the price of a ticket of admission to "the greatest show on earth."

So early yesterday morning, it came about that Father missed his Waltham. In the afternoon little Johnny was missing too. It was reported that he had played hookey from school. His parents became anxious—both on account of the watch and the boy,—and the police were notified. They found little Johnny at the circus He was just coming away. The show was closing, and the package of pop-corn he had brought with the last nickel of the proceeds of Father's watch was almost done.

Angry words passed, tears followed, and a full confession was obtained. Little Johnny had sold the watch to an enterprising business man on a near-by street. Fifty cents had been more than enough to take the boy to the price asked and obtained. It was the circus. Why should he have demanded more? he asked.

The incident had a sequel today at the Juvenile Court when little Johnny was charged with having confused the meum and tuum of his father's watch. Next Monday the affair will have another appendage when the gentleman who was the purchaser of the time-piece will answer to a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Little Johnny has been to the circus however. He said he liked the show.

IROQUOIS FARMER REPORTED MISSING

Montreal, June 17.—Leaving his farm in Iroquis, Ontario, on May 27th, Stanley Hall, war veteran and farmer, came to Montreal spent one night at his brother's home and then disappeared. He has not been seen since and despite diligent search by the police and friends no trace of the man has been found.

Hall took up farming on government land when he returned from the war and was making a good success at it. He had a fair stock of cattle and a large garden and proved a steady worker. On May 27th, without saying anything to his neighbors he packed up and left for Montreal. Arriving here he went to his brother's home and though he did not see his brother who works at night, he slept at the house.

In the morning when his brother returned he was gone. The brother thought he had gone back to the farm but when word came from Iroquis that the place was neglected he notified the police and the search began. Hospitals, the morgue and even Bordeaux jail were searched but to no avail.

Hall is 30 years of age, unmarried, 5 feet 9 inches in height weighing about 150 pounds and of sandy complexion. He was dressed in a dark brown suit, brown shoes and fawn hat when he left his home. Any information as to his whereabouts should be given to police headquarters or to his brother George Hall, 1124 De St. Vallier street.

AMUNDSEN HAS COME BACK TO SPITZBERGEN REPORT SAYS

Intrepid Explorer Has Been Absent for Twenty-Eight Days

TWO AEROPLANES

Venture Was Felt To Be a Dangerous Hazard at Outset

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, June 18.—North American newspapers all announced today that Raold Amunsden, explorer, has returned to Spitzbergen from his North Pole flight.

It was twenty-eight days on the afternoon of Thursday, May 21, that Amunsden Ellsworth airplane expedition of two machines hopped off from King's Bay, Spitsbergen, for its attempted flight to the North Pole.

The venture was everywhere counted one of extreme hazard. With Amunsden as observer in the second airplane was Lincoln Ellsworth, aviator, engineer, and explorer. Amunsden and he were the navigators of the expedition. In addition the expedition carried four men, two in each of the planes.

They were Hjalmar Riser, Larsen expert airman, Lief Dietrichso, an airplane pilot, Oskar Omdahl, mechanic and Carl Feucht of Friedrich Shafen, Germany, mechanic and expert on Dornier aircraft.

Locates Orchestra Without a Leader

Cologne Opera Director Makes Discovery in Russia

Cologne, June 18.—An orchestra without a conductor was one of the strange discoveries which Hermann Abendroth, director general of the Cologne Opera, made during a recent trip to Russia. This unusual orchestra was organized in Moscow by members of the State Opera Orchestra and other musicians.

It requires 50 rehearsals for this novel orchestra to perfect itself in a number, but Herr Abendroth says there are many musicians in Russia who accept this burden without grumbling. In his opinion this orchestra without a conductor affords an excellent schooling for musicians in technics and accuracy, and that the brilliance of the Moscow State Opera is probably due in large measure to training of many of the orchestra members without a leader.

Plan to Find Out All About Whales

Tagging Expedition to leave For Antarctic This Month

Portsmouth, Eng., June 18.—An expedition which is to tag whales with identity disc, and take other steps to discover more about their haunts and habits, will set out from this port in June for the Antarctic regions to remain for many months while engaged in research work. The scientists hope to determine, among many other things, whether whales are polygamous; their birth rate; how long they live; how far and where they travel, and what floating organisms constitute their food.

To learn whether whales breeding in African waters migrate to southern seas to feed, small darts bearing metal labels will be fired from a specially designed crossbow into the thick layer of blubber on the back. These tags are all numbered, and a record of each one shot into a whale will be carefully kept. In the event that any of these discs are subsequently found by whalers or other persons, it is hoped that the expedition leaders will be communicated with, as each label contains a request as to where the whale was caught and under what conditions.

The expedition will probably make its base at the Falkland Islands. It is under the auspices of the colonial office, and it's task is designed to aid the whaling industry.

Courier Received Well at Ingersoll

Left City of London This Morning For Melborne

The following account appeared in the Woodstock-Ingersoll Daily Review, June 16th.

Courier Thomas Mason, walking from Belleville to Chicago, reached Ingersoll yesterday and at once sought out Mayor Scott. With him he had an official invitation from the Mayor and Council of Belleville to Mayor Scott and his aldermen as well as others in Ingersoll who might avail themselves of the opportunity to attend a big celebration in the eastern city August 1 to 5. The celebration is to commemorate the occasion of the one hundred and tenth year of peace between Canada and the United States. An old Boys' re-union is also to be held in connection with the big affair.

Mr. Mason was present at the council meeting last night and was personally introduced to all the aldermen by Mayor Scott who some days ago received a letter from Mayor Mikel of Belleville saying he would be here.

Mr. Mason is a particularly outstanding specimen of young manhood, standing six feet two inches, and weighing at the present time 185 pounds. He had been trudging along afoot for the past two weeks now, going around by Niagara Falls and Buffalo. In that time he has covered over three hundred miles. He has gained ten pounds in weight in that period. He addressed the council briefly last night, saying that he was carrying these invitations personally for his home city of Belleville, and on foot, in the manner of the couriers of one hundred and fifty years ago. He expected to reach his destination in Chicago the last week in July. He is now some days ahead of his schedule.

Following the council meeting he was a guest for the evening at the home of Alderman D. A. Bonesteel, where he demonstrated his versatility at the piano, with the guitar, the ukulele, and in singing. He also plays the saxophone and banjo, having conducted an orchestra in Belleville. He gives his age as twenty-one though he looks older. His longest hike in any one day since striking out was thirty-two miles from Trenton to Cobourg. He says he had been splendidly received all along the line. He is Ingersoll's guest at the Ingersoll Inn while in town. He expects to leave to-morrow morning for London.

Incidentally Mr. Mason lost a portion of a gold fountain pen in Ingersoll yesterday afternoon or last night, and would be pleased to have it returned to him at the Inn this evening.

They were there to give Dr. Fred Rutherford, Mrs. Rutherford and baby of this city a send-off on the day of their departure for London, England. Mrs. Rutherford was presented with a box of chocolates by Kiwanian Fred's fellow club members.

Dr. Rutherford will continue his work in a London Osteopathic Hospital, where he will take the place of Dr. Norman Neilson, formerly of Belleville. Dr. Neilson is returning to Belleville in July when he is expected to continue the practice of Dr. Rutherford.

DR. A. T. EMBURY WAS SELECTED AS CANDIDATE

At Enthusiastic Gathering Of Hastings-Peterboro Conservatives

MADE UNANIMOUS

Spirit of Harmony is Manifest; King Government Scored

Dr. A. T. Embury, Reeve of Bancroft village and an ex-Warden of Hastings Council was selected at Marmora yesterday as the Conservative standard bearer for the Hastings—Peterboro riding at the next Dominion election.

The convention was held in the Town Hall which was filled to the doors with delegates and others favorable to the cause. The new riding is one of considerable magnitude embracing as it does twenty-seven municipalities and extending from the southern portion of Hastings county to the boundary of Renfrew County. Upwards of 200 delegates were present among them being a number of ladies who were deeply interested in the proceedings. It proved to be one of the best and most harmonious conventions ever held in this part of the country.

Previous to selecting of a candidate, the report of the executive committee composed of E. C. Squire of Norwood, Geo. West of Madoc, and R. A. Elliott of Deloro, outlining the constitution of the new Association was adopted. The annual meetings of the Association will be held on the second Wednesday in June of each year at a place to be selected by the executive.

Election of Officers

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. Presidents—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. H. Ferguson and Hon. R. J. Cooke; President—E. S. Squire, Norwood; First Vice-President—Geo. West, Madoc; Second Vice President—Geo. Bailey, Rawdon; Third Vice President—W. A. McMaster, Havelock; Secretary—R. A. Elliott, Deloro; Treasurer—C. Thompson, Madoc.

At the conclusion of the election of officers, Mr. R. A. Elliott, of Deloro, who had up to this time acted as chairman, vacated the chair and Mr. Squire, President-elect, presided.

Nominations of candidates were asked for and three names were placed before the convention.

Dr. A. F. Embury, of Bancroft, nominated by James A. Moore, and seconded by Wm. J. Douglas.

Mr. S. C. Rollins, of Coe Hill, nominated by W. J. Hill, seconded by R. Rollins.

Mr. G. B. Airhart, of Marmora village nominated by R. C. Beadsall seconded by R. A. Elliott.

Pledged Support

Before a ballot was taken for the selection of a candidate the delegates by a standing vote pledged themselves to support the nominee of the convention.

Mr. Airhart, Reeve of Marmora, in his opening remarks extended to the delegates and others a hearty welcome to Marmora. It was an honor to the village to have the first convention of the new riding held in the village. Briefly the speaker reviewed the history of Canada and showed that it had prospered under Conservative rule whereas it was not progressing under the present Government. He had had considerable experience in municipal matters and if he was chosen as the candidate and elected he would devote his time to the welfare of the riding.

As Warden of the County of Hastings Mr. Rollins said he did what he could for the county and if honored with the canditature of Hastings-Peterboro, and elected he would do all he could for the riding. If he did not receive the nomination he would be behind the candidate whoever he was.

Dr. A. T. Embury spoke briefly, referring to the apparent harmony that existed in the new riding. He was also pleased to see many ladies present as delegates. He referred in a feeling manner to the passing of the late Mr. T. H. Thompson, M.P. for East Hastings, who he said was a tower of strength in the riding and his memory would ever permeate throughout the riding where he had a host of friends. The speaker said he would support the candidate chosen by the convention.

The first ballot taken showed no choice. Mr. Rollins who received the smallest number of votes automatically dropped out. The result of the second ballot was favorabe to Dr. A. T. Embury and on motion of Mr. Rollins, seconded by Mr. Airhart, the nomination of the doctor was made unanimous amidst much enthusiasm.

In accepting the nomination Dr. Embury thanked those who had supported him. He realized the responsibility placed upon him, but he had no doubt of the result. He would go to Ottawa as a supporter of that honored leader Rt. Hon. A. Meighen.

Good Addresses

In his opening remarks Hon. R. J. Cooke, the popular M.P.P. for North Hastings made kindly and touching references to the late T. H. Thompson, M.P. for East Hastings, a man who was valued for his many good qualities. Disloyalty and selfishness were foreign to the nature of the late member. The speaker hoped the candidate selected at this convention would have the same confidence reposed in him as did Mr. Thompson. Owing to the government at Ottawa bringing in a redistribution bill, the boundary of the Hastings ridings had been changed to suit the powers that be. As to the result in Hastings-Peterboro, there would be no doubt. A state of Chaos existed not only at Ottawa but throughout the country owing to the policy pursued by the King Government. It was apparent that the Hon. Mr. King aimed at the destruction of certain industries in Canada to provide better conditions in the country to the south of us. The attitude of the Premier was such as to lead one to believe that he is desirable for annexation to the United States. The policy of the King Government is a menace to our prosperity and national life. Where was Hon. Mackenzie King during the dark days of the war the Hon. Speaker asked. We want in power a government that will build up our industries and not alienate our people.

The bitterest opponent of Hon. Arthur Meighen had never been able

STUDENTS URGE WAR AGAINST GREAT BRITAIN

Chinese Situation Continues Serious by To-day's Reports

THOUSAND POSTERS

Depict British Policemen Shooting and Bayonetting Students

Canadian Press Despatch)

Shanghai, June 18.—A wireless message from Chung Kiang says the situation there is critical. The British Consul was forced to leave his Consulate and take up residence in Lingdem Temple.

Peking, June 18.—Thousands of posters have appeared in Peking, depicting a British policeman shooting and bayonetting students, women and children with, bodeis lying about on the ground. Vernacular newspapers print accounts differing materially from foreign versions of affairs at Shanghai, Hankow and elsewhere. Some of these stories assert that the Hankow trouble was entirely a fight between factions of Japanese, that foreign buildings in Kiud Kiang were burned from spontaneous combustion, and that W. W. Mackenzie, British subject who was murdered at Shanghai, died of sickness.

The native account of the Mackenzie incident says the British consul ordered the doctor who atended him to mutilate the bod in ayn effort to throw the blame on the Chinese. Professors of Peking University have appealed to Pope Pius to use his influence in the present situation "to promote brotherhood which is the foundation of christian religion."

Chinese troops are picketing the streets. Students continue to bombard the government with fantastic demands urging the forcible occupation of the legation quarter, disarming of foreign and even declaring of war against Great Britain.

Houseboat Raided Near Brockville

Alleged Floating Bar-room Was Fitted up Lavishly

Brockville, June 18.—A large two decked house boat lavishly fitted and said to have been in use as a floating bar-room near Larue Island in the heart of the Thousand Islands, is under seizure in the local harbor as the result of a raid conducted by officers of the Provincial Police led by Inspector S. M. Hacock, of this place. Upon the boat the officers seized brandy and strong beer as well as two small motor boats and a skiff. An elderly man whose name is said to be O'Brien and who is held to be the father of the owner of the craft, was arrested and is in jail here awaiting a hearing. Two of the provincial officers, Hacock and Clubbe, joined a party of tourists which set out from Alexandria Bay, on the United States side, for a ramble of the islands, and were served with liquor abroad the boat which contains six bedrooms, a dynamo, living room, kitchen, pantries and other equipment all lavishly furnished. The owner of the boat, Charles C. O'Brien, who is said to be a United States citizen, was arrested by the revenue officers of that country last summer when his motor cruiser was intercepted a few miles above here while carrying a cargo of beer. At that time he was heavily fined and his craft confiscated.

Mighty Poor Sport

A thrilling game of baseball at Agricultural Park yesterday afternoon was marred by one of the most unsportsmanlike incidents ever recorded in the history of the Central Ontario Baseball League, when Quinn, Kingston catcher, deliberately injured Vern Weir, as the latter was about to cross for the winning run.

Quinn was mauled by some of the crowd immediately afterwards and it is a credit to the sportsmanship of the majority of Belleville fans that he escaped more serious injury. His dirty trick aroused an overwhelming feeling of righteous indignation.

Weir was running into the home plate for the winning run, the ball being fielded in left field. Quinn stood in front of the plate, pretending for Weir's benefit that he was about to catch the throw in. As Weir drew up close, the catcher stuck up his knee and caught the runner squarely. Weir was thrown in a partial somersault through the air and landed heavily. He was stunned for the moment and did not move.

In a twinkling a crowd had gathered around and Quinn was the object of some heavy fist work. He had to be carried away and appeared to be in a bad condition.

Chief of Police Kidd was handy and did much to stop the battle before it assumed more serious proportions.

It is up to Umpire Kay to take action.

The C.O.B.L. will never miss a man like Quinn who showed a dirty streak that will linger with him for a long, long while.

GRADUATES OF THE HOSPITAL ARE HONORED

Interesting Ceremony Carried Out on Grounds Last Evening

CLASS OF FOUR

Illustrious Record of Institution Told by Speakers

Under skies which threatened momentarily to deluge a crowd of three hundred who thronged the hospital grounds last evening, the Graduating Exercises for a class of four from the Belleville General Hospital were carried out with splendid enthusiasm. The nurses who received their diplomas were Miss Ruth Elizabeth Coulter, of Belleville; Miss Rhoda Mary Alford, Lakefield; Miss Mary Malilda Hales, of Peterboro; and Miss Ruby Jenifer Windsor, Apsley.

The exercises were conducted with Mayor Mikel in the chair, who, because of the weather omitted the chairman's address.

The first ceremony was the presentation of pins to the nurses by Mr. Robert Tannahill. Then followed a short outline of the activities of the Hospital by Miss M. Tate, superintendent. The School for Nurses had been organized in 1893, she said, and in 1895 the first class of five graduates had entered upon their profession. The total number of graduates, including this class was one hundred and three, she informed the gathering, and she sketched the striking contrast between the equipment used by the first class and that used by the present one.

Diplomas were then presented by Miss Tate and each recipient was accorded hearty applause from the gathering.

Mrs. Dr. Stobie then rendered a very delightful vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. Duff. An encore was asked and given.

Certificates Issued

Mr. J. A. Kerr then presented each of the graduates with her certificate. The chairman, Mayor Mikel, reminded those present that it was only in the past three years that nurses in Ontario had been allowed certificates. He also added that a certificate from the Belleville hospital allowed its possessor to practice nursing anywhere in the United States or in Canada, a scope of activity not accorded the graduates of all hospitals.

The Florence Nightingale pledge was thereupon recited by Rev. Mr. Clarke and subscribed to by the class.

A solo by Mr. J. D. Bankier, in which he was accompanied by Mrs Duff, provided a pleasant interlude, before the address to graduates by Dr. J. La Tower.

The doctor said he was addressing the graduates only, but that the others present might listen. He reminded the class that their ranks had been depleted until now on the night of graduation, but few were left. This was the fulfilment of the Biblical reference that "Many are called but few are chosen". He asked the graduates what they had learned in their course of instruction. He told them that if their knowledge extended only to technical terms and the simple alleviation of human pain,

A BRAVE DEATH

(From the Kingston Standard)

Let us do honor to her memory; to the memory of that brave old woman who was burned to death in her home. Bedridden, and aged 86, she saw the flames rising around her, and ordered her little four-year-old granddaughter out of the house so that her life should be saved, while she remained to suffer an awful death. May it have ben the case that the Angel of Death was merciful, and that her suffering was not such as can be easily imagined; we will all hope so. But what an example of pluck and love; pluck to grasp the situation and quickly, love to save her little granddaughter's life. All honor to the memory of Mrs. Annie Bey of Snider's Depot, and true sympathy to those who were dear and near to her.

WESTERN FREIGHT RATES

Commenting upon the Government's decision to continue the old Crow's Nest railway rates on western grain and flour, but leaving the fixing of rates on other commodities to the Railway Commission, the Manitoba Free Press says:

"The Government can undoubtedly put this legislation through Parliament. It can count upon solid Conservative support to this end. A combination of Liberals and Conservatives to rob the West of its rights, without consideration or compensation or the supplying of substitute protection of any kind—what a contribution to the cause of national unity!"

The perfect answer to this is supplied by the Ottawa Journal, which says: "If the Free Press position means anything more than mere sectionalism, it means that the Railway Commission should be scrapped altogether, and the fixing of rates turned over to politicians, and made the pawn of party politics."

CRIME AND ITS CAUSE

People in the United States are irritated over criticisms leveled at the administration of justice in that country. It is not surprising, for there has been a great deal of fun poked at the seemingly inept methods which prevail. No perceptible improvement takes place; in fact, from the point of view of bringing criminals to justice, the situation seems to grow worse rather than better. Instead of concentrating on this effort, however, the apologists are taking up the ineffective line of argument that, after all, conditions in their country are no worse than elsewhere, that an increase of crime since the war has been a universal experience. One writer goes so far as to deny that there has been any increase. Another, in the Saturday Evening Post, analyzes Great Britain's post-war record. The Mother Country, he asserts, is suffering from the greatest crime wave in its history—or at least since the records began to be kept accurately 67 years ago. He speaks of commercial frauds, and attributes the increase in crimes of robbery, whether with or without violence, to the use of the motor car and other modern contrivances. More candid is the opinion of Mr. Charles Evans Hughes that in the United States "criminal processes are too dilatory, juries are too indulgent, judges are too lenient in sentences."

It is not said to pretend that the records of the United States compare with those of Great Britain. The Winnipeg Tribune points out that the annual average of cases of supposed murders in England and Wales for the years 1818-22 was only 103. In 1923 the number fell to 100 (apart from 45 cases of infanticide and deaths from illegal operations). "This, for a population of nearly forty millions," declares the Tribune, "compares distinctly favorable with the murder record of the city of Chicago alone, where, with a population one-eighth as great, there is an average of almost one murder per day." When it comes to the question of bringing the murderers to book, and of securing their punishment when caught, the position in the United States simpley does not compare with that in Great Britain.

As to the cause, moralists attribute it to a diminishing respect for religion, and in this they are no doubt right. What the world is suffering from, and especially the New World, is a frenzied cult of wealth. Means do not count so long as the money is secured. And for this attitude society at large is to blame. Until the emphasis has been placed upon true values, no great improvement can be looked for. The only remedy is a return to the old standards of honor.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

The day I had been invited to spend at the girls' camp was supposed to end at sundown, but when the first five girls and myself discovered that Canada has some birds that not one of the girls even suspected was in existence, and they were right at the door, so to speak, they demanded more.

One girl, proud of having learned that Canada has a Canada Warbler, made a crude drawing about a foot long, on the wall of the club room, using a lead pencil and pollen from flowers. So they demanded more.

The Directors of the camp invited me to remain, and a big bird day was planned for the morrow.

Owing to a Whip-poor-will repeating his call for no less than thirty-seven times without a break, and a bed made in a hay loft for me, by girls too pretty and nice for me to complain, I awoke at dawn, or let us say I arose at dawn, for I slept very little.

We had a wonderful day. What we discovered is not half so important as the fact that we had a real adventure.

I got up at dawn and was out creeping closer and closer to that guy that was pounding-poor-bill for all he was worth, until I got so close that I could hear him draw his breath with a funny cluck between bangings of poor bill, and I was just beginning to think I would soon be able to look down his throat and see how many teeth needed filling, when——

"Oh, Mr. Robb! you early bird! Oh, girls, the bird-man is down and out!"

And she meant I was down out of the hayloft but I could see my finish. Girls came out of their tents like flies, bare feet, rubber boots, bath robes and rain coats. And poor Bill, the Whip-poor-will beat it, leaving me to explain as best I might. We had a hectic day. I will tell the story to-morrow.

Press Opinions

BONUS CANADIAN SKILL

Pembroke Observer:

Repriating the story from the Financial Post of the Canadian bricklayer in Detroit who is waiting for better conditions in Canada to return and get a job, the St. Catharines Standard points out that it has been said in parliament that the United States is worse off than Canada in unemployment, numbers being quoted. But the comparison is not accurate. A good Canadian bricklayer can get steady employment ahead of the ordinary American, for the simple reason that nine times out of ten he is a better craftsman. The result is the Canadian workman demands and gets the highest wages in American cities.

STANDING BY UNION JACK

Winnipeg Tribune:

The Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, meeting in convention in the east, is to be congratulated on the fact that it refused to be carried away by the suggestion of a separate Canadian flag. The reply was offered that Canada had a special privilege in flying the Union Jack and need not be greatly concerned about a flag of her own. The reply is pointed. We hear much in Canada about our equal partnership in the Empire and our independent status as a member-nation of the Empire, and from the very same sources comes the demand for an official and separate Canadian flag. Surely if we are equal partners in the Empire, we are equal partners in the Empire flag, and are fortunate and happy in the privilege of flying it. If we are or can become worthy of the heritage of tradition that flag carries, we shall have little need to worry about a flag of our own.

BOOTLEG INCOME

Stratford Beacon-Herald:

A man in New York, a disbarred lawyer, was recently fined $10,000 and given five years in prison for attempting to dodge payment of his income tax. The sentence is the heaviest ever imposed in the United States for violation of the income tax law. It is interesting to Canadian readers for another reason. The prosecution pressed for a heavy sentence partly on the ground that the income tax claimed by the government was due on income derived from bootlegging. In Canada, according to the decision of the supreme court, income derived from bootlegging is not taxable. In the United States, strict enforcement of of the income tax law against big bootleggers is regarded as an important feature of prohibition enforcement. There seems to be something to be said for the American point of view.

THE HOME STORES

Kincardine Review-Reporter:

Some people get the idea that there is a lot of profiteering in retail trade. If these folks only realized the true condition of affairs, they would realize the retail stores are doing business on a smaller margin of profit than ever before. The higher range of prices prevailing since the war has stimulated competition and forced retail trade to remodel its system of operation and make every possible improvement and economy in its methods. The stores are saving a margin for the public as the result of improved distribution methods. The stores are saving a margin for the public as the result of improved distribution methods. The stores are saving a margin for the public as the result of improved distribution methods. Merchants today are putting more brains into their work than ever before. They get better expert advice, they understand markets better ,they train their help to render better service. The best way to make the people of Kincardine and district realize the fine quality of the service they get from their stores is by consistent advertising of those stores. As they read the newspaper advertising people learn of special chances to buy goods which they would never have known about had it not been for those notices. They learn that stores are carrying lines that they know nothing about. They get information warning them of conditions that tend toward higher prices and showing them how they can save money by prompt purchasing. They find out that their home merchants have been scouring the country to pick up the best merchandise available. They discover that their home stores are working with all their might to provide the necessities and conveniences of life at the lowest price consistent with substantial merit. The advertised store is the appreciated store.

French Hotels Issue "One-Price" List

Paris—"One price for everybody, no matter what the nationality," is the motto to which the Association of French Hotels has been living up to for years and in order to acquaint the visitor with this "one price," a price list of Parisian and provincial hotels has just been issued.

In this pamphlet the maximum and minimum prices are plainly marked, so that the tourist, when he arrives knows what to expect. Persons desiring copies of this booklet should address the Syndicat General de l'Industrie Hoteliere de Paris, 14 Rue Jean-Jacques Rousseau.

M. Georges Barrier and M. Casimir Michant, officers of this association, have just issued a public statement calling attenton to this pamphlet, pointing out that it convincingly disproves malicious rumors which have been circulated to the effect that American tourists have been discriminated against.

The Aldershot Searchlight Tattoo

London—On the 110th anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo, June 18th, the Aldershot Searchlight Tattoo started many years ago in the last century will again be held. Last year over 100,000 visitors attended this event of Ascot Week. A tableau of the famous battle will be one of the principal features, and as in other years, military music from over 1,000 instrumentalists will offer a variant to the noise of shot and shell, and Tschaikowsky's "1812" played by the massed bands will again revive the story of Napoleon's rebuff at Moscow in that year.

To The Yser Front

Brussels—Thousands of Americans have booked passage this summer to see the Front. How many people have expressed this desire since the time, already distant, when the great drama finished. At the present moment although all the losses have not been replaced, nor all strength recovered, men and women are returning to the glorious battlefields and feel that our heroes have not died in vain.

There is no other sight so consoling as that of the Yser front. Wherever one goes, one can but see evidence of the immense efforts which have been accomplished towards the speedy and entire reparation of the damage done. In a very short time from now the whole district will have re-assumed its pre-War aspect.

Out of curiosity, or out of gratitude they will visit the trenches, or what has been preserved of them.

Hay is in fine shape and very soon the hum of the mower will be heard. The pasture has been so abundant that each and every cow is doing her duty. Radium Found in Haliburton County

Hopes Held That Precious Ore May Prove Worth Working

Toronto June 18.—Discovery of radium in commercial quantities in Haliburton County is claimed by Charles Earle and E. W. Austin, two prospectors who have submitted samples of their find to the Provincial Assay Office at Queen's Park and have had them reported upon. The official finding of the Queen's Park authorities upon the one submitted is that it is "distinctly radio active." A claim of 1,000 acres has been staked by Messrs. Earle and Austin, who plan immediate development.

The discovery, according to Mr. Earle, was made in Cardiff Township, county of Haliburton and consisted of kegmatite radium. In the kegmatite he declares, are many real fissure veins of considerable width carrying real radium ore. Traces of radium are declared to have been found in the district previously, but never in commercial quantities.

Mr. Earle has been prospecting in the Haliburton district for the past five years and, following his receipt yesterday of the assay report stating that the ore was distinctly "radio active," he returned to the North country to continue the work of development upon the claim which he and his partner have staked. The Haliburton discovery, he states, represents the first time in history of the finding of radium in real fissure veins cross-cutting the kegmatite dykes.

Radium at present is supplied largely from deposits in Belgium and in the Congo.

Department officials at Queen's Park declare that they are unable to discuss Mr. Earle's discovery in view of the fact that he left the city without giving them any formal permission to do so. While stating that they have rendered a report upon the find, they say that the contents of such report are confidential unless Mr. Earle expresses willingness to have them discussed.

Invites Tourists To the Northland

Would Come in Flange Wheeled Autos on Railway

Winnipeg, Man., June 18.—A procession of tourists driving into the picturesque northland on their own family motor cars, fitted with flanged rims to grip the rails of the Hudson Bay line, is the ingenious scheme proposed by R. M. Haultain, a railway construction engineer of Winnipeg.

Mr. Haultain believes that such traffic over the government railway will present no difficulties. To obviate any danger of accidents, he would placard the line to the effect that the odd days of the month would be reserved for northbound traffic and the even days for southbound. each car would be required to carry a light derailing shoe, to provide for emergencies.

The investment on the part of the railway company in flanged rims, trailers, steering gear locks, etc., would be negligible, declared Mr. Hautain, when compared with the increased revenue obtained from freighting cars to different points along the Hudson Bay line.

Mr. Haultain has complete confidence in the feasibility of the scheme, and maintains that the north country would ultimately become the mecca of sport lovers and attract tourists to the profitable advantage of the local railroads.

Results of O. B. C. Training

The two letters below were received this week by Mr. I. L. Moore, Principal of Ontario Business College. They are similar to many others that have come from successful O. B. C. graduates.

Toronto, June 11, 1925

Dear Mr. Moore,—

I thought I should let you know that I have a good position here. There were over two hundred other applications in besides mine, but O. B. C. came out ahead once more. We have five thousand accounts receivable alone, in addition to all the other ledger accounts. I told my employer I thought I could make the books much simpler and cover the same work. He told me to change to suit myself. I drew up a form of cash book and started to use it in May. The auditors came at the end of the month and were very pleased with it as it saved them a lot of work.

I shall never regret the time I spent at Ontario Business College.

(Signed) D. J. McDonald.

Georgetown, British Guiana, S.A.,
May 29, 1925

Dear Mr. Moore,—

Please note what your training has done for me already. I have received an increase of 120 per cent in my salary. I stated in my application for promotion that I had received special training in income tax and cost accounting at O. B. C. I am able to cope with anything given me to do in connection with that. I heartily thank you, Mr. Henry and your staff of able teachers for help given me. I wish O. B. C. continued success.

(Signed) Albert A. Thorne.

Mr. Thorne graduated from Ontario Business College in February this year and Mr. McDonald a year ago.

ANGLERS ARE ASKED TO SPARE THE BASS

Toronto, June 18.—An appeal to anglers to spare the bass in Provincal waters for the next two weeks despite the fact that they are now legal game, was made yesterday at the Parliament Buildings in a statement issued by Hon. Charles McCrea. The reason advanced by the Minister of Game and Fisheries is that the bass spawning season is uniquely backward this year.

"Contrary to expectations and the habits of fish so far observed," Hon. Mr. McCrea said, "the year 1925 has shown the unique happening that up to Monday the black bass had not started spawning. It is noticed to-day that only now they are starting to spawn.

"The Department therefore requests," the statement concluded, "that bass fishermen for the next two weeks either defer their fishing or restrict their catch. This is only a request, but the appeal is made on behalf of the lovers of bass fishing in the province and of bass propogation."

to say a word against him. He is a man of unquestionable integrity and his patriotism is such as to place Canada in the foreground of the British Empire. In concluding his remarks Hon. Mr Cooke prophesied that the candidate selected would receive the greatest majority ever recorded in this district.

Col. J. Arthur

Col. J. Arthur, M.P., for Parry Sound brought greetings to the convention from Rt. Hon. A. Meighen who hoped for success for the candidate selected. That the Conservative party at the next general election would sweep Ontario and Hon. A. Meighen would be the next Premier, there was every prospect. We have at Ottawa at present a Government that does not know today what it will do to-morrow. We have in Canada today chaotic conditions owing to the policy of the King Government. That Government has not kept one of the promises it made. It promised lower taxation on certain commodities but they have not done so. The country is in a state today as never before. We have lost in the past three years 500,000 young men, who have left here and gone to the United States. These young men whom we have educated are a great loss to Canada. The King Government has spent millions more on immigration than the Conservative Government did and many of the immigrants they have brought in here have to be educated. Col. Arthurs said the Conservative party is desirous of formulating and carrying out a policy that will keep the young men in this country. We want a Canadian market for the Canadian people. The speaker demonstrated that the policy of the King Government was such that it had caused a number of industries to close up. In his closing remarks the Col. referred to the regret felt by the passing of Mr. Thos. Thompson, M.P., for East Hastings.

The proceedings were brought to a close by a vote of confidence being passed in Rt. Hon. A. Meighen and Hon. H. Ferguson. The secretary was also authorised to forward a letter of sympathy to Mrs T. H. Thompson, of Madoc.

that the hospital had failed, the Superintendent had failed and the Doctors on the staff had failed. Nurses, in order to merit the honor entrusted with them, should have learned to accept authority, to be good soldiers, he said. They should be prepared to live up to the traditions of their profession, to emulate the examples of those nurses made famous in the war.

In closing he reminded them that it was not enough to say, "Unto my own self be true," but that they must be true to the nursing profession.

Many Flowers Received

At this point the nurses were literally buried under two consignments of beautiful flowers from their many friends.

The next item on the program was a song by Dr. Haffner, following which the prizes were awarded to the successful graduates. The Gold Medal for Hospital Proficiency was presented to Miss Ruth Coulter by Mrs. (Dr.) J. L. Tower. Miss R. M. Alford was the recipient of Dr. Connor's prize, a set of Shakespeare, for the highest total number of marks. It was presented by Mr. W. H. Nugent. Dr. Cronk's prize for Obstetrics and Gynecology went to Miss Ruth E. Coulter, as did Dr. Hill's prise for nervous diseases and Dr. Tower's prise for Surgery, presentations being made by Dr. Cronk, Mayor Mikel and Dr. Tower respectively.

Dr. Cronk presented each of the graduates with a Hypodermic Syringes contributed by the Medical Staff.

Special prizes for each of the nurses were sent by Dr. Connor and presented by the chairman. "Charlie and Terry" Dolan also sent along a gift for each of the nurses.

Refreshments were served to all guests at the close of the formal program and the happy nurses were beseiged with glad hand shakes of congratulations from their many friends.

CAN'T CHANGE FERRY DEPUTY ANNOUNCES

The Examiner learns that Major G. A. Bell, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, and a Director of the Canadian National Railways, considers the car ferry project at Rochester impossible to carry out as at present proposed. He states that the C.N.R. have been advised that the cost of converting the ferries plying between Rochester and Cobourg to auto-carrying vessels, as well as other expenses on the United States side, would make the change prohibitive.

It is said that these ferries, being equipped for carrying railway cars only, make it practically impossible to change their form without substantially rebuilding them.

The City Council, Peterboro Branch of the O. M. L. and other organizations have been active in endeavouring to secure the transportation of automobiles at this point, and G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P. has recently pushed the case in Ottawa.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE IN POLICY

STUDEBAKER herewith announces the discontinuance of the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year. Instead of bringing Studebaker Cars dramatically up-to-date once in twelve months, we shall keep them up-to-date all of the time—with every improvement and refinement made available by our great engineering and manufacturing resources. This policy not only directly benefits present Studebaker owners, but it also enables purchasers of new cars to obtain models that are always modern—without the necessity of waiting for annual changes, and without the danger of their new cars becoming obsolete.

BACK of this new policy is an amazing story—of interest to everyone who owns or expects to own an automobile.

The dramatic success of the present line of Studebaker Cars is one reason for this important change. Month after month we keep breaking records—sales keep piling up. This year we will sell almost four times as many automobiles as we produced in the big boom year which followed the war.

Owners report endurance records, even beyond our greatest expectations. Out in the rugged mountain regions where Studebaker sells four times its normal proportion of cars, owners talk about these models in the most extravagant terms. In 1924 the Corporation's sale of repair parts dropped to $10 per car per year. Mechanical stamina under severe usage—remarkable performance under the most difficult travel conditions—these are the qualities for which Studebaker Cars have long been noted.

Surely, these significant facts prove beyond any shadow of doubt that Studebaker Cars are so soundly engineered and manufactured and so eminently satisfactory in the hands of owners, that drastic annual changes are not required.

Improvements and refinements will be made from time to time. New features will be added. When our engineering department (maintained at a cost of more than half a million dollars a year) devises an improvement in any model, it will be made without regard to the calendar.

As in the past, we shall continue to pioneer vital betterments that have proved their merit through practical use. Alert, aggressive, receptive to new ideas, resourceful in executing them, guided by scientific research and spurred by imagination, the Studebaker organization proposes to build better motor cars than ever before.

Now you may buy a Studebaker on any day of the year with the confident assurance that the sturdy, thrifty, one-profit car you drive away will not be stigmatized by any act of ours as a "last year's model." Today, in even more generous measure than in the past, Studebaker Cars offer the utmost value for the money.

BELLEVILLE TAKES MEASURE OF KINGSTON BY CLOSE SCORE OF 9 TO 8 ; OSHAWA WON

Won in Eleventh In Peppy Game

Weir Scored Winning Run After Quinn Threw Wild

The Belleville O.O.B.L. baseball team landed on top at the end of the eleventh innings yesterday afternoon in one hectic struggle with the Ponies from Kingston, the score being 9 to 8. Sensational fielding, double plays, genuine inside ball, rallies just in the nick of time, a grand assortment of slugging and a free fight at the curtain gave the fans more for their money than a six ring circus.

Team followers who watched the pair here with Oshawa a week ago, who read about the game at Peterboro last Saturday and who attended the exhibition yesterday know for sure that Belleville has never had a team with more fighting spirit than the present aggregation and it is not too early to predict that Walt Gerow and Company will be in the thick of the fight for first honors when the season swings around to the close.

The loss of Williams at third and Ouellet on the mound took the confidence away from many in Belleville as the season opened, but the new men in have filled the breach admirably and from now on all the Belleville team has to do is to keep the spirit they now have.

Well Balanced Team

Without a doubt Belleville has now a better balanced team than any of the other three teams. There is not a real weak spot in the line-up. Blakely, the serious looking youth who hails from near Thomasburg, is nothing short of a rare find. He fits in short stop territory as if he had been born into it. His ability to scoop 'em up is uncanny and he works well with Meagher on second. More than that, he is making the old timers move over to give him room on the batting roster. He times his swing well and when he connects the ball generally heads for the ground early. His two bagger in the fourth yesterday with the bases full was enough to make him a solid favorite.

Chuck Jeffery twirled a steady game of ball. Kingston collected fifteen hits from him in the eleven innings, but they never succeeded in getting more than two in one innings. Jeffery gets some wonderful breaks and has fairly good control. By the end of the season he should be one of the best. Yesterday's made his second win. So that with Gil Goyer shaping up well also, the pitching end looks promising. Keon has yet to show what he can do.

Peeney Mills worked as well as usual behind the plate until the seventh when Cherry's fast peg caught him on the right wrist when he was at bat. Peeny found he couldn't throw to second when Belleville took the field in the eighth and Stan Hagerman exchanged places with him. Stan worked well with Jeffery and Peeney handled his one chance in left field.

Steady as a Rock

Harry Mills was as steady as a rock on first bag and saved a run or two by snatching three or four wild pegs to first by the infield.

Wally Ross got under everything that came into centre field territory, making two big-time catches, while Casey covered himself with glory by two catches of deep drives that were plainly routed for a through trip.

The best hit of the day was made by Del Cherry, the two hundred pounder, who smashed out one of the longest drives ever witnessed in Belleville for a home run. The ball soared out to left field and dropped away in rear of the row of parked motor cars.

"Lucky Meagher"

They call Belleville's second baseman, "Lucky Meagher". One of these years, however, the sporting public will begin to realize that his good work is too blamed consistent to be just plain fool luck. In the fifth innings yesterday, Halbert poled a terrific low drive above Meagher's head. Had the sporting fraternity had time to place bets between the time the ball left the bat and reached Meagher, its dollars to doughnuts that the odds would have been about three hundred to one that the second baseman would not come within three feet of the ball. Meagher leaped, stuck up his gloved hand as high as he could get it and the white pill snuggled right into the centre of his mitt. Maybe Alm was surprised and maybe he wasn't. A few hundred fans certainly were.

Meagher was also the pivot man in two neat double plays. And that wasn't luck. He is also around the top in the league batting averages, and that isn't all luck by a long shot.

Play by Play

Kingston, first to bat, went scoreless in the first innings. Batstone hit safely and stole second, but Cherry was put out for the third, Weir to Mills.

Three flies in a row retired Belleville in the first.

In the second Kingston gathered two runs, Scott was responsible for this with a neat three bagger to right field. Nickel brought him in with a single and scored himself on Weir's bad throw to first to get Teeple.

Kingston was held well in the third but managed to get another tally in the fourth when Scott hit again, Nickel sacrificed and Young hit down the third baseline for one base.

Belleville collected five in a row in the fifth and finished Young up for the day.

Weir started the procession by singling to centre field. He got to second on a passed ball, W. Mills struck out, but H. Mills, Hagerman, Meagher and Blakely hit in a row, Blakely stretching his hit into two bases. Casey sacrificed, sending Blakely to third and Jeffrey smashed a beautiful two base hit to left for the fifth count.

Kingston closed up again in their half of the fifth, Batstone was hit by Jeffrey and Cherry followed with his long drive to left field for a home run.

Cherry relieved Young in the pitcher's box in the fifth, but started badly. He walked Weir, hit Peeney Mills on the right wrist with a pitched ball, and gave H. Mills a hit to right, which let Weir in. Peeney was caught at first, Hagerman fanned, but with these two down, Blakely drew a walk and Casey hit centre to score Harry Mills.

Tied It Up

That made the score seven to five. And Kingston proceeded to tie up the battle in the seventh. Teeple was hit by Jeffrey and he stole second. Casey made two great catches in the right garden, but with two down Cherry drove to left, scoring Teeple and Purvis hit into the same territory to bring in Cherry.

Both sides tightened up, there being no score until the eleventh, when Kingston forged ahead by one run. Walker drew a walk after one was down, and hits by Teeple and Walker sent him home.

Coming in to bat, Belleville had Cherry where they wanted him. He tossed ball after ball over the plate and the heavy local sluggers waited. Ross walked and so did Weir. Ross got to third on a wild pitch and then Peeney raised a long one to centre. He was caught out by Teeple, but Ross beat the throw in, and Weir travelled to third. Cairns then took Cherry's place on the mound and H. Mills walked. It was Hagerman's turn to bat, but Walt Gerow went in as a pinch hitter. He popped a low foul to Quinn, the catcher and Weir was caught between the third and home. Weir made a dash for third and Quinn threw wild to Batstone. The ball went out into left field and Weir scored.

Oshawa Defeated Peterboro Team

By Driving in Five Runs in The Last of The Eighth

By driving in five runs in the last of the eighth innings, Oshawa defeated Peterboro on Wednesday afternoon in a twilight game at the motor city. Their win moves Oshawa up to second place in the league standing, being tied with the Petes, each having four wins and the same number of losses.

'Duke' Dainty performed the iron man stunt, coming right back after beating the Kingston Ponies in ten innings here on Saturday; and he twirled good ball for the Oshawa 'Birds' allowing the Petes only six hits. Hartland, a new recruit, served them for the 'Lift-lock town; and he held the hard-hitting Motorists to five safe ties. But four of these were garnered in the eighth frame, and coupled with three errors by cleared away, Oshawa had chased over his team mates after the dust had five runs.

Peterboro secured their two runs in the first half of the ninth, when they went to bat, fighting hard to stave off defeat, but Oshawa's five run lead was too big to overcome. Heckman, the first man up, drove out a scorching double; and 'Hap' Harrison followed his lead by hitting a liner to right field for three sacks. But after Johnston hit a sacrifice fly, scoring Harrison, Dainty struck the next batter out and Hartland knocked down an easy infield roller for the third out.

It was a real pitcher's battle, with both twirlers receiving gilt-edged support. Next Saturday's game, when Oshawa go to Peterboro will be a thriller; and if Belleville can grab a victory from the Kingston Ponies on Friday night, it is expected that a large contingent of Oshawa fans will make the trip to Peterboro, as a win would put the 'Birds' up even with Kingston at the top of the league and Belleville would be tied with Peterboro.

GOLF STEP IS NEW DANCE FOR PARIS

Paris, June 18.—The Parisian younger sets are dancing nothing but the latest which has breezed into all the exclusive ball rooms from the fairways of the links.

It's called the "Golf Step," and this is how it's done:

Hold your partner as in the Fox Trot, but the man's right arm and her left, with hands clutched, hang straight down; advance slowly, starting with the right foot, knees slightly bent, then the left foot. Then as the right again advances bring the arm tothe rear as though commencing to swing with a golf club. Bring forward and slow swing, at the same time pivoting on the left heel advancing the right, then dip and bend backwards while completing the turn.

The dance is best to waltz music, but can be Fox Trotted, and should be slow and langorous.

An appeal has been entered by Walter Knatiuk, of Brantford, sentenced to four months for sale of liquor, and he has been released on $2,000 pending the appeal.

GIRLS INTERESTED IN AGRICULTURE

Winnipeg, Man., June 18.—Emily Pinder, a graduate of the experimental farm of Leeds University, is in Winnipeg to begin a year's study of Canadian agricultural methods, with a view to creating, on her return to the British Isles, a movement to western Canada of English farm girls.

"Girls on the farms in all parts of England are intensely interested in Canada. They are seeking an outlet for their energies and would migrate to the dominion in large numbers if only encouraged," Miss Pinder asserted.

Many of these young women, she declared had sufficient funds to start farms of their own and would prove a valuable asset to the development of the western country.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Gravice.)

"The wind is with us," says Leslie.

"I should like to stay at Portmaris and buy a boat," he says, after a moment or two. "It would be very jolly."

Leslie smiles.

"It is not always fine even at Portmaris," she says. "Sometimes the waves are mountain high, and the sea runs up over the quay as if it meant to wash the village away."

"Well, I shouldn't mind that," he remarks. "I wonder why one lives in London? One is always grunting at and slanging it, and yet one hangs on there." He sighs inaudibly as he thinks of what it must be to-night, with its feverish crowd, its glaring lights, its yelling cabmen and struggling horses; thinks of the folly, and, alas! the wickedness, and glances at the lovely, peaceful face above him with a great yearning—and regret.

"I like London," says Leslie. "But then I go there so seldom, that it is a holiday place to me."

"I know," he responds. "Yes, I can understand that. And I like Portmaris because it is a holiday place to me, I suppose."

Leslie smiles.

"I hope you will not catch cold and be all the worse for this holiday," she says.

He laughs.

"There is no fear of that. I never felt better in my life."

"You must sit firm now," she warns him. "I am going to drive the boat on to the sand."

"Here already!" he remarks, as the keel of the boat touches btotom, and the sails run down with a musical thud; and he steps over the side, and so suddenly that the boat lurches over after him.

He puts out his strong arm to stay her from falling, while old William curses the "land lubber" in accents low but deep.

"I'm about as awkward in a small boat as a hippopotamus," he says, remorsefully. "Will you let me help you ashore?"

He means "carry you," and he holds out his arms, but Leslie shrinks back ever so slightly, and old William comes to the side of the boat and picks her up as a matter of course.

Yorke slips a sovereign into the old man's horny palm, and William, who is not dumb as well as deaf, would probably open his lips now, but for astonishment and amazed delight. He does, how ever, grin.

As the two walk up the beach Yorke looks behind him at the moonlit sea and the boats, and shakes his head.

"It was a shame to come in," he says, "but never mind, perhaps—" He stops, not daring to finish the sentence, but he feels as if he would cheerfully give half the amount of the check in his pocket for such another sail in the same company.

The quay is empty, the street silent, but as they go up it they see the crippled "Mr. Temple" leaning against the door of Marine Villa.

His keen eyes rest upon them both good-naturedly.

"Where have you been?" he asks.

"Where you ought to have been, Dolph," replies Yorke. "On the water. You can't imagine what it is like."

"Oh, yes, I can," says the duke. "But I am—too old for moonlight sails. I am a day-bird. Have you enjoyed it, Miss Lisle?"

Leslie smiles for answer.

"Look here, Dolph," says Yorke, with affected carelessness. "What do you say to driving out to a place called St. Martin to-morrow? I'm going to try and persuade Miss Leslie and her father to show us the way."

The duke looks at her.

"I shall be very glad," he says. "Will you come, Miss Lisle?"

"If my father——" begins Leslie, and the duke interrupts her.

"We ought to send a formal invitation," he says, with a smile. "Will you give Mr. Lisle out compliments, Miss Lisle, and tell him how much the Duke of Rothbury and Mr. Temple will be indebted to him if you and he will accompany them on a drive to-morrow."

Leslie looks from one to the other for a moment as if she did not understand The Duke of Rothbury! Can he be jesting?

The duke struggles with a smile as he sees her astonishment, then he says, casually:

"I hope you found the duke a good sailor, Miss Lisle."

Leslie glances at Yorke, who stands staring at his fishermen's boots, with a moody and not well pleased expression on his face.

"I nearly upset the boat," he says, as if to account for his change of countenance.

"It did not matter," she says. "We were on the sands. Yes, I will tell my father, and—thank you very much."

If the duke expected her to be overwhelmed by the announcement of the title he is doomed to disappointment. The first sensation of surprise over, Leslie is as calm and self-possessed as before.

"Good-night," she says, in her sweet, low voice, and a moment afterward the door of Sea View is closed upon her.

The duke looked at his cousin's downcast face with a whimsical smile.

"How well she took it!" he said. "A London girl of the most accomplished type could not have concealed her flutters with greater ease."

"She had nothing to conceal," said Yorke, with averted eyes. "It didn't matter to her that—that you called me a duke. Why should it?"

IMPORTANT.—In preparing feeding mixtures it is imperative that all utensils, bottles, nipples, etc., should be sterilized in boiling water before using. Use a dry spoon in removing contents from the can, and in measuring be careful to pour from can to spoon, allowing the milk in the spoon to level itself. Repeat this procedure with every spoonful measured, using the same spoon every time. This will insure accurate measurement and produce the best results.

DIET FOR CHILD DURING THE SECOND YEAR

Usually after the twelfth month, the mother should select a diet schedule. Every new article of food should be carefully prepared, and given at first in very small quantities. All meals are to be given regularly, with nothing between meals. With many children this expansion of the diet list is attended with considerable difficulty. They are thoroughly satisfied with milk, and refuse all other form of nourishment. In such cases, withhold the milk until the more solid articles of food have been eaten. If both are given at the same time, the child will prefer the milk and when he has finished drinking it he will refuse the solid food. The following diet schedule will permit the mother to select a suitable meal from the foods listed. It is never advisable to make a change in diet during very hot weather.

NOTE: One teaspoonful of EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK added to one ounce of boiled water results in a mixture equivalent in nutritive value to whole milk. Whenever the word milk appears in the following diet, EAGLE BRAND should be diluted accordingly.

12th TO 15th MONTH---FIVE MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, barley, or wheat jelly, one to two tablespoonfuls in 6 or 8 ounces of milk. Stale bread and butter, or rusk and butter.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—Scraped rare beef, one to three tablespoonfuls, mixed with equal quantity of bread and moistened with beef-juice. Or a soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs; a piece of rusk and 6 or 8 ounces of milk.

3 P.M.— Beef, chicken, or mutton broth, with rice or stale bread broken into the broth. Six ounces of milk, if wanted. Stale bread and butter or rusk and butter. Many children at the above age will take and digest apple-sauce and prune pulp; when these are given, milk should be omitted.

6 P.M.—Two tablespoonfuls of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk; a piece of rusk. Stale bread and butter.

10 P.M.—A tablespoonful of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk.

15th TO 18th MONTH--FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, hominy, cornmeal, each cooked three hours the day before they are used. When the cooking is completed the cereal should be of the consistence of a thin paste. This is strained through a colander, which upon cooling will form a mass of jelly-like consistence. Of this give two or three tablespoonfuls, served with milk. 8 or 10 ounces of milk as a drink. Toast.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—A soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs, or one tablespoonful of scraped beef mixed with stale bread-crumbs and moistened with beef-juice. A drink of milk. Rusk or bran biscuit, or stale bread and butter.

3 P.M.—Mutton, chicken, or beef broth, with rice or junket or with stale bread broken in the broth. Custard, corn-starch, plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes, baked apple or apple sauce.

6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (cooked two hours). Give from one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk. A drink of milk. Rusk or stale bread and butter.

18th TO 24th MONTH--FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Cornmeal, oatmeal, hominy (prepared as in the above schedule). Serve with milk, or with butter and salt. A soft-boiled egg every two or three days. Hashed chicken on toast occasionally. A drink of milk. Bran biscuit and butter, or stale bread and butter.

9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.

11 A.M.—Rare beef minced or scraped; the heart of a lamb chop, finely cut. Chicken. Spinach, asparagus tips, squash, strained stewed tomatoes, stewed carrots, mashed cauliflower. Baked apple or apple-sauce. Stale bread and butter. After the twenty-first month, baked potatoes and well-cooked strained beans.

3 P.M.—Chicken, beef or mutton broth, with rice or with stale bread broken into the broth. Custard, corn-starch, or plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes. Bran biscuit and butter or stale bread and butter.

6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (each cooked two hours). Give one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk, or with butter and salt. A drink of milk. Rusk or stale bread and butter.

The following suggestions have proved to be helpful when properly used with bottle feedings, and they may be used in conjunction with Eagle Brand Condensed Milk.

Always pour the milk from the can into the spoon—allowing it to level itself but not run over. You can readily understand that by dipping the spoon into the can you get more than a level spoonful, because of the milk that would adhere to the bottom of the spoon. When you have added the milk to the water stir thoroughly. This is important. After opening, it is safe to leave the milk in the original can. We recommend that you cover the can tightly with an inverted cup, and keep it in a cool, clean place.

ORANGE JUICE

When baby is four months old, give one teaspoonful of strained orange juice, diluted with equal quantity of boiled water, once daily before feeding time. Gradually increase the amount until you are giving the strained juice of a half of an orange undiluted, once daily before feeding time. Orange juice may be continued until child is old enough to eat other fruits as well as oranges.

OATMEAL JELLY

When baby is five months old, add one teaspoonful of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. Gradually increase the amount until you are adding three tablespoonfuls of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. To make oatmeal jelly add, four ounces of oatmeal to one pint of water; boil for three hours in a double boiler, and add enough water so when cooking is completed a thin paste will be formed. This while hot is forced through a strainer to remove coarser particles. When cold a semi-mass will be formed. Oatmeal jelly may be continued until child is old enough to eat well cooked whole cereals.

CONSTIPATION

Oatmeal water very often relieves this condition. To make oatmeal water add one heaping tablespoonful of oatmeal to one pint of water, and boil for three hours in a double boiler. This will make a little more than half a pint of thick gruel to which add one pint of water that has been boiled. After straining mixture through fine strainer, you should have a little more than a pint of whitish liquid. This should be used with each feeding instead of the plain boiled water. If you find that this makes bowels too loose, dilute oatmeal water with plain boiled water.

Barley or rice water may be used instead of oatmeal water. If necessary two to three drops of plain codliver oil may be given twice daily added to the morning and night feedings.

DIARRHEA

Give nothing but plain boiled water for twenty-four hours. Then start feeding with barley water, or rice water, to which has been added a little salt to improve the taste. If these feedings are retained, and bowel movements lessened, small amounts of very weak regular feedings may be started and gradually increased according to baby's condition. If your baby does not improve after trying the above suggestions, consult your doctor at once.

BARLEY WATER

Obtain the very best barley flour. Add one rounded tablespoonful to one pint of water. Boil for thirty minutes, strain; then add enough water to make one pint.

RICE WATER

Add one tablespoonful of rice to a pint of water. Boil three hours, adding water from time to time so that you will have one pint of rice water at the end of the three hours.

LIME WATER

It is seldom necessary to use lime water with Eagle Brand Milk but should there be undigested particles of food in the bowel movements (which seem to be otherwise normal) or should there be vomiting of large curds shortly after feeding—or colic—it would be then advisable to try lime water. Obtain freshly prepared lime water at the Druggists, of which add 1 to 2 teaspoonfuls to each feeding.

COLIC OR VOMITING

These conditions may be due to over feeding, or constipation. Reduce quantity of food and use constipation formula, or lime water formula, as given above.

GANGSTER INVADES CHICAGO CITY HALL

Chicago, June 17.—Warfare between gangsters and policemen, which started last week with the shooting of five policement, last night was carried into the City Hall, when an unidentified man appeared at the office of Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney, and fired directly at Sergeant Elbert Curran of the State's Attorney's staff.

Curran was not hit and the man escaped after Curran had fired several shots at him as he fled down a corridor. A few minutes after the shooting, every door to the county building was guarded and for an hour gun squads ransacked the building in the belief that tht gunman had been cornered.

Yesterday Sergeant Curran received a telephone call from a man who, in broken English, said that Sergeant William Sweeney the policeman who shot and killed Michael Genna, notorious gangster, last Saturday after Genna's gang had shot two policemen and wounded a third, would be killed tomorrow.

At Griffins

Blanche Sweet, one of the most beautiful, and at the same time one of the most gifted actresses on the screen, plays her greatest role in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," Marshall Neilan's Metro Goldwyn production of Thomas Hardy's famous novel which is here to-night at the Griffin Theatre.

Miss Sweet was born in Chicago, and began her theatrical career early—at the age of one and one-half years, to be exact, being the "babe in arms" for a stock company in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Her school days were spent in Berkeley, California; at a private boarding school. Just as she was graduating, the movie rush was on, and because of her stage experience, she was in great demand. Her first part was in "The Man With Three Wives."

Appealing wistfulness, golden hair, and an inherent talent carried her to stardom early in her career in such stories as "Judith of Bethulia," "The Escape," "A Woman of Pleasure," and others.

Her one and only romance, which culminated in her marriage to Marshall Neilan in May, 1922, began when they were playing two reelers back in the Biograph days. Later Neilan became a director, and Miss Sweet his star. "The Unpardonable Sin" will be remembered as one of their greatest pictures.

Miss Sweet was in retirement for two years, due to her health, but after her marriage returned to the screen in "Quincy Adams Sawyer," and "The Meanest Men in the World," "Anna Christie," and "In the Palace of the King."

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is presented by Louis B. Mayer, and was adapted to the screen by Dorothy Farnum.

TWO MEN WEAK FROM STARVATION

Toronto, June 18.—Two cases of men found weak from starvation were recorded by the police Tuesday.

A man calling himself Henry Smith aged 39, no home, was found in a shed Tuesday morning in the rear of 229 St. Clarens Avenue, and in the afternoon Richard Stearns, 18 found in Queen's Park, told Constable Dalgleish he had not eaten since he had left a farm on Saturday.

$10,000 TAPESTRY FOUND IN WOODSHED

New York, June 17.—Detectives are waiting for someone to identify as stolen property a "Sixteenth Century Flemish Reminiscent — a tapestry— worth at least $10,000."

Detectives Lynch, Baly and Walsh received a tip that two or more persons had been seen about 4.30 a.m. Monday carrying arm-loads of women's dresses into a tenement.

They investigated. In a woodshed they found the tapestry and women's gowns and dresses valaued at from $3,000 to $4,000.

TWO VALUABLE RECIPES

One Egg Cake

1-4 cupful Borden's St. Charles Milk, diluted with 1-4 cupful cold water.
1-4 cupful vegetable cooking oil, scant
2-3 cupful sugar.
1 egg.
1-2 teaspoonful salt.
1 1-2 teaspoonful baking powder.
1 1-2 cupfuls sifted flour.
1-2 teaspoonful vanilla.
1-2 teaspoonful lemon extract.

Beat the egg light and cream it with the sugar, salt, and flavoring. Combine the milk, diluted, with the cooking oil. Sift together the dry ingredients and add them alternately to the first mixture with the milk. Beat thoroughly, turn into a lined, medium-sized pan and sprinkle nut meats, chopped raisins or cocoanut over the top. Bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes.

Strawberry Short Cake

2 cupfuls flour.
2 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
1 teaspoonful salt.
2 rounding tablespoonfuls butter.
2 rounding tablespoonsfuls granulated sugar.
1 cupful Borden's St. Charles Milk, undiluted.

Sift all the dry ingredients together, work in butter, as you would for pie crust, add the milk, beat with spoon (it will be very stiff) and bake 20 minutes in an oblong pan. Split the cake with a hot knife, butter the two sides and put them together with two quarts of strawberries which have been cut into small pieces, sweetened and allowed to stand before placing on cake.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of MacDonald College, to Victoria, B.C. and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers' Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the Dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20 visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver, thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Bungalow camp, from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmonton, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Fort William to Port McNicoll thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325.00 from Toronto; transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels, and on steamers, sight seeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to everyone desiring to go.

All will be welcome.

Fares from other points than Toronto will be named and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Laird, Macdonald College, P.O., Que.

BLACKHEADS

Blackheads go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist, rub this with a hot, wet cloth briskly over the blackheads—and you will wonder where they have gone.

At The Belle

"Teeth," the latest starring vehicle of Tom Mix, with Tony, the horse, and Duke the dog, a William Fox production directed by J. G. Blystone was adapted from the popular novel, "Sonny," written by Virginia Hudson Brightman, a former well-known newspaper woman, and Clinton H. Stagg.

In the original story, "Sonny" is an Airedale that has many hairbreadth escapes. The book is described by its publishers as "a dog story, a love story and a Western story."

In the screen version the sequence and incidents have been slightly changed to allow greater opportunities for Tony, the horse and Duke the dog, and the result is the best Tom Mix vehicle of his extended stellar career. This picture is coming to the Belle Theatre today.

DELEGATES TO BAN GAS AND BACTERIA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Geneva, June 17.—British and United States delegates today signed a protocol outlawing poison gas and bacteriological warfare at the closing session of the International Conference for the limitation of traffic in arms and munitions. Germany signed the protocol against use of poison gas and bacteria at war and also approved another document paving way for her subsequent adherence to general arms limitation convention.

PAINS IN LEFT SIDE AND BACK

Other Troubles Women Often Have Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back, and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. Rose, 590 Notre Dame Street, Lachine, Quebec.

Doctor Said an Operation

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta. G

Nation's Schoolmen Discuss Education

Educators at 63rd Annual Meeting Will Review Educational Progress

Indianapolis, June 18.—As a means of approaching their present problems, educators who will attend the 63rd annual meeting of the National Education Association here June 28 to July 3, will first give their attention to a review of educational progress in the first quarter of the 20th century.

A series of addresses by schoolmen will give the body at its first general session a retrospective view of the teaching profession. Having delved into the past, the delegates on succeeding days will take up matters of more recent concern.

The opening day of the convention, which falls on Sunday, will be given over largely to religious services and to a mass meeting which will be addressed by John J. Tigert, U.S. commissioner of education.

On Monday, June 29, will come the review. The list of speakers includes Superintendent Frank W. Ballou of the Washington, D.C., schools, who will talk on "Progress in the Science of Education;" Dr. George D. Strayer of Teachers College, Columbia University, whose subject will be "Progress in Administration and Support;" President William Lowe Bryan of Indiana University, who will discuss "Schools and the Building of Character;" Superintendent J. W. Gwinn of the San Francisco schools with the subject, "Significant Developments In Types of Schools and Curricula," and President E. C. Elliott of Purdue University, who will speak on "Progress in Colleges and Universities."

The modern problems to follow include a wide variety of subjects. The discussions will be carried on in both sectional and general meetings.

WAS FATHER AGAIN AT THE AGE OF 100

San Diego, Calif., June 18.—The birth of a child to a father past 100 years old was reported yesterday by the Mexicali correspondent of the Hespano-Americano. The father, Francis Codererco, a veteran of the French intervention campaign, has just died at 107, leaving 13 children.

The correspondent states that the youngest, a normal child, was only six years old.

WESTERN TOURS THIS SUMMER REMARKABLY LOW IN COST

"We have travelled through the most glorious scenery it has ever been my privilege to witness", were the words used by the Duke of Devonshire while Governor General of Canada, in expressing his admiration for the scenery of the Pacific Coast. The opinion he formed of our magnificent west is confirmed by the many people who tour this wonderful country every year.

If you are planning a tour of the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific Coast this summer, you can't do better than take one of the low cost trips arranged by the Canadian National Railways.

These tours start from Toronto with stop-overs at all interesting points en route. At Jasper National Park—where the famous Triangle Tour commences—is the largest park and the largest sanctuary of wild life in the world—4400 square miles of mountains, rivers, lakes, glaciers, canyons and waterfalls of almost overwhelming beauty.

Leaving Jasper, you pass Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies; then comes the quaint Indian village of Kitwanga with its grotesque Totem poles and Indian relics. At Prince Rupert you may choose an interesting side trip to Alaska, or you may board the steamer for the three-day trip through the famous Scenic Seas of the Pacific Coast to Vancouver, Victoria, Portland and Seattle. Returning the train follows the beautiful winding Fraser and Thompson Rivers with their brilliant colored cliffs of red, gray and yellow, returning again to Jasper National Park—and in due time, to Toronto.

The outstanding beauty and completeness of these tours should appeal to every one. These low summer tourist fares will be in effect to October 31. Complete information, pamphlets and reservations may be secured from any Canadian National Railways Agent.

C. L. Barnhardt, Bridgeburg business man who disappeared so mysteriously a week ago, leaving his family stranded at Hamilton, may be located in Buffalo, it was learned. Detectives have been informed that Provincial Police traced him to that point.

DIRECT TOLL SERVICE FROM BELLEVILLE

The Bell Telephone Company has recently been taking rapid strides in the development of what is known as direct toll service. That is, within certain areas the necessity of placing station-to-station calls through a long distance operator has been eliminated.

Commencing June 22nd, a Belleville subscriber wishing to call a number in Trenton or Picton, for example, will give the name of the distant place and the desired number—say—"Trenton 67"—to the operator who first answers his call. The connection will be completed without his hanging up his receiver, and a large percentage of time should be saved on such calls.

Included in the Belleville direct toll service area are Frankford, Mountain View, Thurlow, Trenton, Deseronto, Picton and Stirling. Subscribers in these places may call Belleville in the same manner.

The rate to Frankford, Mountain View, Thurlow and Trenton is ten cents for a five-minute conversation, and to Deseronto, Picton and Stirling, fifteen cents for three minutes. The resulting increase in traffic should be of great benefit to business and social life in the district.

The American Consul at Windsor advised men applying for visas for passports to the United States not to grow mustaches after having their photos taken, as it might cause difficulty in identification or loss of the mustache when they appeared for questioning in Detroit.

Effective Monday
June 22nd., 1925

Direct Toll Service from Belleville

On and after June 22nd, to telephone any numbers in Deseronto, Frankford, Mountain View, Picton, Stirling, Thurlow or Trenton, you need not ask for Long Distance.
Give the number wanted to your own operator just as on a local call. Do not hang up the receiver; but hold the line while connection is established. If you do not know the number, ask "Information."
This new Direct Toll Service is available only on Station-to-Station calls, that is, where you ask for a number instead of a person.
The rate is 10 cents for a five-minute talk to Frankford, Mountain View, Thurlow and Trenton, and 15 cents for a three-minute talk to Deseronto, Picton and Stirling.
If you must speak to a particular person, ask for Long Distance

AMUNDSEN PARTY AGAIN ENJOYS COMFORTS OF CIVILIZATION; WERE 150 MILES FROM POLE

Abandoned Seaplane Frozen in Ice Marks Record

NO WIRELESS

World Feared For Safety Of Daring Explorers As Result

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, June 19.—Roald Amundsen has once more come safely out of the merciless grip of the Arctic.

An abandoned seaplane, frozen in the ice, 150 miles from the North Pole remains as his "farthest north" marker, but the great Norwegian explorer and his five companions are enjoying the comfort of bunks and warm meals after twenty-eight days of untold hardships, during which they pried the other machine out of the ice and flew it back to Spitzbergen.

Amundsen failed to realise his dream of reaching the pole by air, but his failure is almost entirely lost sight of here in a great popular wave of relief at the news of his return and admiration at his heroic accomplishment.

Amundsen's two planes, one commanded by himself and other by his fellow adventurer and financial backer, Lincoln Ellsworth, disappeared over the northern horizon from King's Bay, Spitzbergen, on May 21st. Other members of the party were H. J. Almar Larsen, Norwegian, and Lief Dietrichen, Norwegian, the pilots, Oskar Omdahl, Norwegian, and Karl Feucht, German, the mechanicians.

The planes carried no wireless. As the days passed anxiety increased regarding their fate and planes were under way to search the Arctic ice fields when the word was flashed yesterday that the explorers had returned. Details since received here have been very meagre, but despatches from Oslo, Norwegian capital say all six men are safe. They arrived at Spitzbergen in their remaining plane and were taken by fishing boat to King's Bay.

Copenhagen, Denmark, June 19.—Social Demokraten publishes a report from Oslo stating that Captain Amundsen, who returned to Spitzbergen yesterday afternoon from his sensational Arctic flight is dissatisfied with the results attained and is "quite determined to resume the attempt" to reach the Pole.

The explorer is quoted as declaring that experience gained in his present attempt would enable him to attain his goal.

Other members of the expedition account continues, appear equally animated by a desire to beat aerial polar expeditions planned by other countries. They expressed the view that important scientific results had been achieved thus far.

Amundsen himself was reticent. Amundsen's comrades were unanimous in their appreciation of his leadership.

Many in Kingston For To-day's Game

Locals Will Attempt to take Ponies' Measure To-day

Belleville C.N.R. Seniors plays the Kingston Ponies at Kingston to-day in a twilight game A number of fans went down to witness the match which promises to be a real one. The weather man did his part in providing excellent playing conditions.

The C. O. B. L. has produced some tight situations between the teams, and the two aggregations which lock horns today seem evenly matched. As a consequence the interest is unusually high. The results so far in the league have been such that not even the most inveterate fans feel like attempting a prediction as to the results of any of the tussels.

VICTIM OF BANDITS DIES IN HOSPITAL

May Reach Detroit By Next Mid-week

Courier is Making Good Time on Long Trek

Tom Mason, Belleville's travelling salesman, should "make" Detroit by Wednesday night or Thursday morning, judging form his present speed.

A real reception has been planned for Tom when he reaches the Michigan city. Mayor Smith is going to stage an official reception on the steps of the City Hall when Tom goes over from Windsor Those having friends and relatives living in Detroit should write them to be present at the reception.

This stop will approximately mark the half-way mark for Tom, who has made fast time so far.

He arrived in Melbourne yesterday afternoon and got into Thamesville today.

At Brantford

Brantford, June 16, 1925

W. C. Mikel Eq., Mayor,
Belleville, Ont.

Dear Sir:—

We had the pleasure last Sunday of entertaining Mr. Thomas Mason, your Courier on his way to Chicago in connection with your celebration.

I am of the opinion that you are doing a very great deal for the City of Belleville in promoting your celebration and you have my congratulations in the noval manner in which you have undertaken to advertise the same.

Yours truly
M. M. MacBride,
Mayor.

From London

City of London, June 18, 1925

Mayor W. C. Mikel,
Belleville, Ont.

Dear Mr. Mikel:

This replies to your telegram of the 16th instant, and also acknowledges the fact that your Courier, Tom Mason, arrived here yesterday from Ingersoll, he wired me from the latter place that be would be here at 4.30 o'clock but arrived ahead of time. I just want to express my personal appreciation of this wonderful advertising stunt for the City of Belleville. To say the least it certainly is a novel way of getting your message across in an unusual manner, and as an old advertising man I realise that the unusual method attracts attention and that it is naturall what is desired.

In addition to this you have sent out a real honest to goodness man, this man Mason is to my estimation a typical "Jack Canuck". He has a fine appearance, healthy and very mannerly young man, and a very interesting chap, so much so that it was my pleasure to have him remain at my home last night and had the privilege of taking him around the city showing him some of our points of interest. He is the making, that is the making of real Canadian citizenship, and I only regret that there are not more men of this kind in existence. He left early this morning for Melborune which is about twenty-two miles from London.

Again extending my appreciation to you and your city of pulling off this stunt, and thanking you for the kind invitation to attend the Belleville Celebration in August, and I have every reason to believe that we will be represented there in some manner, in fact, I will make every effort to be there myself.

Respectfully yours,
G. A. WENIGE,
Mayor.

In the search they located a tunnel, at the side of a haystack, entering the tunnel, they located a room under the haystack where they seized 40 gallons of mash. Wakelin pleaded not guilty before Judge Ruddy, and was fined $200 and costs or 12 months. He took the jail term. Provincial Constable Vanstone and Inland Revenue Officer, H. L. Taylor, made the raid.

North Bay Meeting Hears Local Speaker

Mr. John Elliott is Interesting Speaker There

North Bay, June 19.—Better cooperation between the Boards of Trade and municipal bodies, stronger support of the boards by the residents of the towns and cities where they are located and proper organization were urged at the open meeting of the North Bay Board of Trade, recently in the town hall, by Mr. John Elliott, manager of the Standard Bank at Belleville, a member of the Northern Ontario Relief Committee of Toronto Board of Trade and a former president of the Ontario Associated Boards.

Mr. Elliott spoke to one of the largest gatherings of the Board of Trade in over a year. It was the first open meeing of the present term and the attendance was excellent.

Beginning by referring to the fact that Principal F. D. Wallace, of the Collegiate is a "Belleville old boy" that that there are other good friends of the Bay of Quinte city in Northern Ontario, Mr. Elliott extended the greetings of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

He spoke, feelingly of his first visit to the North, some four years ago, as a member of the Northern Ontario Fire Relief Commission, at which time he had occasion to study the country thoroughly.

He thought Haileybury, at that time, was one of the most picturesque places he had ever seen, with its lofty stone catheiral on the slope to the lake.

"If every Torontonian could have seen the North as I saw it they would have been deeply impressed," he said. He had an entirely new viewpoint of the country after his visit and since that time has always spoken highly of the country and its possibilities. Iroquois Falls, he referred at as a "model town," populated by a fine class of men.

Good Convention Centre

The speaker expressed the hope North Bay would be selected as the next meeting place of the Associated Boards of Trade. It was the logical centre of the North. It required only effort on the part of the townspeople to make North Bay a wonderful centre. He found the educational facilities of the town exceptionally good.

He spoke of the difficulty experienced in Belleville, in getting the Chamber of Commerce under way. At the outset, barely a handful was interested, but with a little diligent work the membership was brought to 400, at an annual membership fee of $20.000. The Secretary of the chamber was paid $3,000 annually, half of which was borne by the ratepayers of the city. It is the duty of the Board of Trade, in all centres, to co-operate with the municipal council and take an active interest in civic affairs. It is also their work to promote the welfare of the community and the surrounding townships, generally. He instanced how the Chamber of Commerce of Belleville had worked hand in hand with the County of Hastings in matters of mutual interest.

Mr. Eliott told of an "annual dinner" he arranges and at which is gathered representatives of all lines of endeavor in the community and the surrounding country. Hon. Chas McCrea, Minister of Mines, was the speaker at the last gathering and his talk was on Northern Ontario, during which he displayed a map setting forth the many advantages the Northern section of the province offered to settlers. Mr. Elliott was loudly applauded when he denounced those who endeavored to create a division within the province. "No North, No South" and "No division" must be the slogan of the people of the province, he stated. French-speaking and English-speaking must work as one in the development of the country.

"Home-buying" was the essential "industry" of any ambitious community. That this industry should be developed to the fullest was his advice.

Influence of Boards

Mr. Elliott recited numerous instances in which the Board of Trade could assist the work of development. He maintained no organization had as great an influence with the governments, as they were non-political. He strongly advocated immigration from the British Isles as a means of settling the untouched portions of the Dominion. The country had vast tracts of farming lands still untouched and ready for settlement. He enumerated some of the many advantages the Dominion held out to ambitious new-comers. He, himself, had come to Canada, from Ireland, some 44 years ago and found the country to be ideal in every respect. Mr. Elliott stated no class in Canada had done more to develop and defend the country than the Irish. H ealso paid fitting tribute to the Scotch.

The speaker, submitted in detail, the development of the country during the past 20 years. That no country of the world could show such advancement and development and that the Dominion did not know what "hardtimes" were, was his belief.

In closing, he strongly contended that the settling of the country by the right type and the consequent development should be encouraged. It was also necessary to take an interest in the new-comer until such time as had become established and not to lose interest in him immediately after his arrival.

Introduced by President

President T. J. Patton, of The Board of Trade, who presided, introduced Mr. Elliott to the assembly, as a man who had, at all times worked unsparingly in the interests of the province and had always been a staunch advocate of the North. He was an eminent man in banking circles and had held the high office of president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Ontario.

Mr. John Ferguson, in moving the vote of thanks to the visitor, expressed his enjoyment of Mr. Elliott's address and referred to him as the "human link" that has welded and is welding Old and New Ontario so closely together. He state he had always found him an active worker in the interest of the North. Mr. Ferguson stated the French-River scheme had received the endorsation of the Associated Boards of Trade largely on account of the effort of Mr. Elliott. Mr. W. Anderson had pleasure in seconding the motion.

Col. J. Keiller MacKay, President of the Canadian Pensioners' Association, a newly-formed soldiers' organization for the binding together of all men and women who served in the great war for their mutual welfare and protection.

Enlarges This Case Until Friday Next

Magistrate Will Weigh Evidence; Other Charge Withdrawn

Mrs. Margaret Bailey, of Point Ann, charged with having liquor in a place where it was not lawful to have it, will know the judgment of the court Friday. After a trial which lasted past the noon hour, to-day Magistrate Masson enlarged the case until that date.

A charge of giving liquor to a person in a place where it is not lawful to have liquor which had been laid against Mrs. Sarah Barnhardt was withdrawn by the Crown.

On May 26th Lottie Bailey, daughter of accused woman gave 2 glasses of dandelion wine to Jack Reid who became intoxicated. As the Bailey home was anillegal place to have liquor owing to a previous conviction, a charge was laid against Charles Bailey, husband of accused who was not convicted. Mrs. Bailey was then charged, and Mrs. Barnhardt who gave her the bottle of wine was also charged.

Technical Testimony

The evidence today dealt with the effects of tobacco and alcohol on the system, as it was alleged by defense counsel E. J. Butler that a cigar which Reid smoked while he drank, having had but little to eat, was the real cause of his dizzy and weak condition later that day. Accused and her daughter on the stand said that the wine did not effect them in the least, and the mother who has on various occasions taken dandelion wine which was a month old, said it never had any effect whatever upon her Inspector F. J Naphan, who laid the charges, has smoked for 25 years, both pipe and cigars. Smoke never effected him after the first few times but he always felt an effect from dandelion wine, and had heard generally that it was an intoxicating drink. Reid said that smoking a pipe too much any one day would make him weak and sick.

The Inspector told of finding the bottle partly filled with the murky appearing wine, in a coal heap where it was buried and which he unearthed by using a pick axe. This was when he with Constable R. F. Davis was searching the house for liquor armed with a search warrant which had been presented, and after Bailey had invited them to go ahead and search. It was eleven o'clock at night and the officers used flashlights.

Lottie Bailey, the girl who gave Reid the drinks and later hid the bottle so that the children would not find it when they returned from school, told of standing the bottle up against the wall on top of the coal pile. She had not buried it in the coal she said, but had placed it out of the road of the children so that her father might sample it when he returned from work that evening.

Mrs. Bailey told of receiving the wine from her friend.

Arrests Woman After Car Chase

Mrs. Denike of Picton Overtaken by Provincial Police

Mrs. Goffrey Denike, 23, of Picton, whose husband was placed in the County Jail recently on a charge of rape, was arrested at 6.30 last night by Sergt. E. A. R. Rae, of the Provincial Police here, on a charge of "aiding and abetting".

She was remanded for eight days, to-day at Picton.

The woman was motoring toward Cressey from Picton when overtaken by Sergt. Rae and arrested last night. She was at once handcuffed and returned to Picton. She said that she was enroute to Cressey to reach the bedside of her husband's father who is on the point of death from a paralytic stroke. Last night's arrest is the outgrowth of charges preferred several days ago against Goffery Denike, age about 42, the proprietor of a radio shop in Picton.

The offence is alleged to have been committed against a fifteen year old girl from Bloomfield.

Denike was committed to jail yesterday until the Fall Assizes.

Burning of Billow Has Halted Plans

When "The Billow" a beautiful gasoline launch burned to the water's edge Saturday afternoon in the Bay of Quinte, Pat Jennings lost his escort and his swim to New York was delayed. It was to have been started within twenty-four hours of the burning of the boat.

These facts became known yesterday, when Mayor Mikel informed the Intelligencer that the swim would be undertaken as soon as a suitable boat was secured to accompany Jennings.

Efforts to secure such a boat from the Government were without avail. As things now stand, the huge advertising stunt will be held in abeyance until such time as some citizen offers some manner of craft which will serve the purpose.

THE FIVE GREATEST MEN

The very delicate question of who were the five most notable Britishers during the war has now been attacked by Lord Oxford and Asquith who has never lacked courage in expressing his opinions. As named by him at the Guildhall they are: Earl Jellicoe, who "more than maintained the untarnished glories of the British Navy"; Earl Haig, who commanded "the biggest army" ever under a British general; Mr. Lloyd George, whose "unique achievement" was "the provision almost miraculous in its range and rapidity" of munitions; Lord Kitchener, who "raised to unimagined dimensions Britain's voluntary army," and Sir John Cowans, who performed the "hardly less arduous task" of "equipment and clothing, feeding and transport." The inclusions in this list have attracted even more attention than the omissions. The name most noticed is that of Mr. Lloyd George, who thus receives from one, long his chief rival, recognition even more far-reaching than that which some of his own followers might be disposed to accord.

WHAT IS HAY FEVER?

Many famous physicians are devoting their talents to the cause and cure of the more deadly diseases that afflict mankind. May we suggest that the time is fully ripe for men of medicine to turn their attention to hay fever. There is no doubt that a remedy for this distressing and mysterious malady would prove a blessing for a large number of persons throughout the world. We call it a mysterious malady because it is so. What is its cause and why must its victims suffer annually in spite of all they do to prevent its recurrence? These upon whom it has laid its hold know almost to a day when they will be called to again endure its agonies.

Because hay fever is more prevalent in August than in any other month, it is popularly supposed that pollen from flowers is the cause. But why pollen from August's flowers and not from those blooming in any other month of the year? To answer that the adherents of the pollen theory pick on the golden rod. But hay fever claims its victims in places where there is no golden rod and residents of large cities who never are within miles of that popular wild flower at any time often suffer the most severely. And if pollen is the cause of the disease why are not all who live in the country afflicted and all who live in the city immune?

The writer who suggested that physicians turn their attention to hay fever may or may not be a sufferer but in any event he puts up to them a puzzle worthy of their fullest consideration. That it is not ordinarily a fatal malady does not make the hay fever problem less important. The fact that it seemingly is such a simple and more or less harmless affliction makes it seem that the answer to the problem should be easy to discover. Seemingly of a similar nature to influenza, it is not so often fatal, but it causes a great amount of suffering each year.

The very mysteriousness of the disease should be a sufficient motive to cause some physician to determine it.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

When the camp girls discovered me out at dawn and came rushing out, I had to make some explanations, so I told them about Whip-poor-will and that he had departed in haste at their sudden coming.

All this early morning fuss resulted in much talk at the breakfast table. I could see by the swell meal they made especially for me, bacon and eggs and all, that they expected me to deliver the goods. I was just beginning to get alarmed, when somebody suggested that they form a bird club called "The Noscarems, the No-Scare-'ems". I thought to myself: "Well, if I can ever get them quiet, we may have some fun.

There was an old half sunken log raft down on the shore. I had been out on it, looking into the rushes and saw a bittern, standing like a statute in the midst of the bullrushes. So I asked the camp, "Who is game to trail a bittern?" "I am", said all. Sometimes in Canada we call this a crane, but it should be called Bittern, and it is yellowy-brown and white striped, long legged and long beaked, wades in the rushes, eating frogs and young fish, and when frightened, stands like a statue, looking for all the world like a bunch of rushes.

Well, we got on the raft, seven of us, and the rest in boats. The raft was in the lead, floating slowly to the place, so that the bird would be sure to be undisturbed.

We got there, some forty of us, silently but surely. We rested at the edge of the rushes and saw the bittern strike and then swallow a small fish.

The rotten old waterlogged raft may have been built for six, but not for seven. It slowly went down and settled in thre feet of water. The bittern went up with a hoarse croak, all wings and legs. We all saw the bittern though.

The newly founded "No-scare-'em" club was off to a terrible start.

PULLING TOGETHER

(Farmer's Sun)

"We propose to work in the greatest possible harmony with the National Railways," said President Beatty at the annual meeting of the shareholders of the C.P.R.

This declaration shows an admirable spirit on the part of the head of the world's greatest privately owned railway and a spirit that is in accord with the best interests both of Canada and the Canadian Pacific Railway itself. This country has a most difficult problem on its hands and the measure of success attained in solving that problem will be largely governed by the extent of the wisdom and co-operation shown by the heads of the national and privately owned systems respectively. The country and the two great railway systems are so completely inter-dependent that disaster to the C.P.R. and disaster to both would have an absolutely paralyzing effect on the whole country. It is well therefore, that President Beatty has announced his desire to pull together rather than to pull apart and that the head of the Canadian National, both in word and deed, has shown his readiness to join in team work for the purpose of advancing the prosperity both of railways and people.

U. S. MUST IMPORT WHEAT

(Buffalo Express)

The government crop report of conditions at the end of May indicates that this country will have no exportable surplus of wheat this year. The total crop of winter and spring varieties will be 661,000,000 bushels, or only about 11,000,000 bushels in excess of what may be the normal domestic demand. The drop in production as compared with last year, is approximately 200,000,000 bushels, so that, instead of exporting about 20 per cent. of the crop, this country is likely to import some wheat. That is a marked change from 1921, when 31 per cent. of the crop was sold abroad, and from 1920, when 43 per cent of the crop found its way into other markets.

"Why?" asked the assistant who was attending them.

Stomach Troubles Are Due to Acidity

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development of secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralise the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralises the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive to use.

An antiacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

John Spears of Vancouver Island is World's Champion

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Victoria, B. C., June 19.—Living quietly at Cowichan Bay, on Vancouver Island, is John Spears, said to be the world's champion minature writer with pen and pencil. He has just contributed an unique collection of handwriting specimens to the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley.

Spears has written twelve thousand one hundred and twenty-five words on the back of an ordinary postcard with an ordinary pen and naked eyesight. This is equivalent to about two whole pages of a newspaper. The entire alphabet he wrote in a space which can be covered from view with the head of a five-cent piece. The Lord's Prayer was written on a space no greater than the diameter of a common lead pencil, done in both pen and pencil. He has also written a book of ninety pages containing nearly 10,000 words, each sheet of which could be covered by a postage stamp.

"I must have marvelous eyesight and a steady hand," said Spears in attempting to explain his talent. Most of his work was done some years ago, but he retains much of his craftsmanship even now, although he cannot even read some of the things he wrote in his youth.

Spears was born in England but came to this country forty years ago and has spent most of his days farming.

"Why are oyu so certain your husband has not been winning on races?" a woman was asked at Bow County Court. "He isn't always awake," was the reply.

BOY THREW NOOSE OVER TRUCK LIGHTS

White Plains, June 19. — Wilfred Pinchbeck, 9 years old, wanted to be like his heroes, Tom Mix and Will Rogers, and his friends gave him a raw hide lariat at his birthday party Tuesday.

Wilfred immediately went into the front yard to whirl his lasso, but instead of catching a steer the noose fell over the headlight of an ice truck passing down the street. The other end of the lariat was tied about Wilfred's waist.

Georbe Garrison, driver of the truck, did not know the noose had caught until Wilfred had been dragged thirty feet. At the hospital he was treated for bruises and lcerations about the face and body, but was allowed to return home. Mrs. Pinchbeck announced that he must confine his efforts to roping chair legs in the future.

BBIBLE STOPS DAGGER

Tokyo, June 19.—A Bible in her kimona, just above the heart, saved the life of a young Japanese Salvation Army girl, when a man she had refused to marry atacked her with a dagger. She fell to the ground after the thrust of the knife which was stopped by the Bible, and the man, believing her dead, killed himself with the weapon.

SKIP WRAY WINS BOWLING COMPETITION, C. N. R'S AND KINGSTONIANS PLAYING TO-DAY

Kingston's Version

(From the Standard)

An unfortunate occurence which is not in the interests of good sport marred the otherwise interesting game between the Kingston C.O.B.L. team and the Belleville team at Belleville yesterday.

The trouble came in the last of the eleventh innings, when going into that innings, Belleville was one run behind. At this juncture, the Kingston pitcher developed a wild streak and walked two men. On a sacrifice fly the tying run came in and then, following another base on balls, the winning run for Belleville came over an a wild throw by Quinn, the Kingston catcher, following his catch of a fly.

It was this run that caused all the trouble. Quinn, without the ball, attempted to block the runner at the plate —and, indeed, so the general story of the eye-witnesses goes not only blocked him but actually "kneed" him aside. Despite this the run of course counted as it is absolutely against the rules to block a man in this way.

Immediately following this one of the Belleville players rushed out at Quinn, as though to attack him, whereupon a Belleville police officer intervened. This was the signal for a general rush of spectators on the field and for a time it looked as if there would be serious trouble, but fortunately the council of the cooler heads prevailed and the storm blew over in short order.

It was a regrettable affair and the hope is generally expressed that there will be a repetition of it. It is pointed out that this is Quinn's first year in senior company, and it is emphasized that his attempted blocking of the Belleville runner was done, not with deliberation, but rather in the excitement of the game.

(From the Whig)

Weir came home and Quinn without the ball and no chance whatever to make a play gave Weir the body and sent him hturtling through the air but not until Weir had crossed the plate. Quinn did it so deliberately that the fans rushed onto the field and in the scuffle Quinn was very badly choked and hit in the face by persons unknown.

From the press box it appeared that Quinn was trying to even matters for the blow in the neck he got by Harry Mills at first when that player snared a bad throw from Weir and had to get the player on the line instead of at the bag not knowing for sure whether he touched the bag or not after he made the catch.

CHICAGO MARKETS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, June 19.—Wheat scored a new advance in price here today after an early setback that was due to an unexpected decline at Liverpool. Ensuing fresh upturns here were based largely on a report from one of the foremost crop experts in the country, that chances are fully four to one for serious damage from black rust in North Dakota and the eastern half of Canadian spring wheat belt. Report said fifty per cent of wheat fields from Wilmar, N.D., to Grand Forks, N.D. have water standing in them. Opening quotations 1-2c to 1 7-8c lower were followed by slight further decline and then by rise to 1.55 7-8 for July and 1.53 1-2 for September. Corn and oats were governed by action of wheat. After opening unchanged to 3-4c lower corn market sagged a little more and then rose all around to well above yesterday's finish. Oats started at 1-4 to 5-8c decline September 50 1-8c. Later market showed moderate general gains.

Dufferin Revenue Shows Decrease

Fall Off in Betting Revenue Is $16,164.90

Toronto, June 19.—Dufferin race track, generally conceded to be the "money-maker" in the province, has hit the slump that has made itself felt at all the Ontario race tracks that have held their meetings this year. The official returns from the Dufferin track, received by the Provincial Treasurer this afternoon, show a falling off in betting revenue to the extent of $16,164.90.

The five per cent. impost collected on winning tickets at the meet just closed was $91,645.70 against $107,809.60 for the same meet of last year. Attendance too, fell off to the extent of 11,511. Last year 71,218 patrons attended the meet durng the seven days of racing while this year the number dropped to 59,707.

Total amount of revenue collected by the government for the meet amounted to $159,072.25. This is made up of the $91,545.70 collected on windup of the $91,545.70 collected on winn. and 59,707 admissions at 25 cents amusement tax each.

Under the amending legislation of last year, Dufferin, although a half mile track was obliged to pay $7,500. tax per day the same as the mile tracks to the fact that the betting amounted to over $1,100,000 as set out in the Act.

McGRAW'S DONT'S

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 19.—John McGraw contemplates drafting a set of rules and posting them in the clubhouses along the way where they will meet the eyes of the Giants—provided in the moanwhile the Giant's eyes aren't closed tight by contact with pitched balls, batted balls, bats, fists or pop bottles. The contemplated rules will read something like this:

1. Don't slide head first into the plate. Remember Frisch.
2. Don't throw out either knee. Remember Groh.
3. Don't allow base runners to step on your foot or feet. Remember Kelly.
4. Don't get your thumbs in the way of pitched balls. Remember Lindstrom.
5. Don't fogret to step aside swiftly when pitching to your team-mates in batting practice. Rememboar Dean.
6. Don't forget to withraw your hand and forearm when tagging a runner on the spikes. Remember Farrell.
7. Dont say you sprained an ankle stepping on the soap in your bath tub when you haven't any bathtub. Remember Barnes.

Between now and the time he actually puts pen to paper, McGraw may think of a few more "don'ts" or mishaps to his players. For the present, however, it is thought that strict observance of the foregoing will tend to cut down the number of accidents and suspensions.

YES, AMBLED

MYSTERIES OF THE ANCIENTS

The Department of Agriculture of Egypt has seeds which were found in age-proof containers in the tomb of King Tutankhamen which they will endeavor to propagate at their Agricultural Research Laboratories. These seeds may represent herbs containing medicinal properties that this age and generation knows not of. It was the simple roots and herbs of the field that half a century ago produced Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has never been equalled in overcoming ailments peculiar to women.

WHOLE COSTUME LIGHT AS A HAT

London, June 19.—The scantiness of women's costumes at Ascot Tuesday is widely commented on. One smartly dressed woman made the admission that the hat which she wore at Ascot as a debutante fifteen years ago weighed only an ounce less than the entire outfit she wore Tuesday.

The woman, whose name is withheld by an evening newspaper, said she recalled weighing the hat at the time because it gave her a headache. This morning she put her chiffon gown, silk underwear, hat, shoes, stockings and handbag on the scales and found they weighed only an ounce more than the hat.

Inserted kick plaits, a small collar and a reversal of the stripe make a smart little tub frock of striped silk.

PLAITS so narrow that they can not have much of a falling one with the straight silhouette are still sufficient to ease and soften the lines of the new tub frocks. In the model illustrated they are cut lengthwise and are inserted below the hip and give the play of [illegible] that serves to trim so many of these simple dresses. Striped crepe de Chine, silk broadcloth, radium and pongee are the silks that wash nicely and are used a great deal at smart country places. Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

"Why should it! My dear Yorke, you have grown simple during your moonlight sail. Oh, she was confused and flustered, believe me; but all her sex are actresses from the cradle. Give me your hand, and let us go in."

Yorke helped him up the stairs and into his chair, then stood gazing moodily out of the window.

"Your outing seems to have made you melancholy, Yorke," said the duke. "And yet you looked as if you enjoyed it just now."

"So I did, but—— Dolph, I wish to Heaven you hadn't told her that infer—that nonsense!"

The duke leaned back, and looked at him with real or simulated surprise.

"Why not?" he asked. "Have you forgotten our bargain, agreement?"

"Yes, I had forgotten it," replied Yorke, grimly.

"So soon! Why are you so put out? What does it matter? You are going to-morrow——"

"You forget the drive—the appointment; but the best thing I can do is to go, as you say," said Yorke. "You can make some excuse——"

"Nonsense! If you care for this outing, stay and go. It will only mean one more day, and London will not fall to pieces because of your absence for twenty-four hours."

"It is not that——"

"Well, what is it, then? Are you thinking of this girl?"

Yorke flushed, and turned to the window again.

"What does it matter?" went on the duke. "She is a nice girl, but, my dear Yorke," and his voice grew grave, "even if we had not made this little arrangement about the title, she would be nothing more to you than just a pleasant young lady whom you chanced to meet at an out-landish place on the West Coast."

Yorke thrust his hands deep into his pockets—or rather young Whiting's—and the flush on his face grew deeper!

"I know that!" he said, as grimly as before.

"Very well, then! I repeat—what does it matter? If you are annoyed because, in accordance with an arrangement, I introduced you as the duke, why on earth did you consent? It is too late now! Even if I hadn't told her, Grey, or the woman of the house here, or some one else would have done so to-morrow morning——"

"It is too late, I suppose!" broke in Yorke, moodily.

"Quite too late," retorts the duke, decisively. "To tell the truth now would create a sensation and fuss which would be unendurable." He put his hand to his head as he spoke, and moaned faintly as if in pain. "Give me that small vial off the table, will you, please?" he said.

One of his periodical attacks of nervous neuralgia was coming on; and at such times he was wont to grow irritable.

Yorke poured out some of the medicine, and gave it to him.

"Thanks. Yes, it would make a hideous fuss. We should have it in the papers headed, 'A Ducal Hoax,' or something of that kind. But I don't want to force you into antyhing against your will. I can leave here the first thing tomorrow; I certainly should go if you departed from our arrangement. I came down here for rest and quiet, and I should get none if it were known who I am. Yes, we'd better go to-morrow."

"No, no," said Yorke. "After all, as you say, it does not matter. Besides—besides, I shouldn't care to deprive her of the little bit of pleasure I'd planned for her; I fancy she doesn't get too much of it."

"I dare say not. Very well, then, you'll stay till after to-morrow? For goodness sake try and look a little less funeral. You had no objection to assuming the role till you met this girl. What' difference does she make? You think she will make love to you, eh? I should have thought from what I know of you, Yorke, that oyu would have no very great objection to that."

Yorke swung round almost angrily.

"Look here, Dolph," he said, grimly. her. I tell you that she does not care, and will not care, whether I or you are the duke; she is not that sort of a girl at all."

The duke was in a paroxysm of pain intense enough to turn a saint cynical; he sneered:

"I know the mail, root and branch," he said, his thin voice rendered shrill and cutting by his agony. "I tell you that she will make love to you; that, thinking you are the duke, she will try and marry you as she would try and marry me if she knew the truth."

"No!" said Yorke, shortly, almost fiercely. "I say that she would not care."

"You seemed to have learned her nature very quickly," retorted the duke with another sneer.

Yorke colored and turned away.

"I tell you that she will turn out like the rest. You deny it, doubt it; very well. Play the part you have assumed, and if I am wrong I wil ladmit I have done her an injustice."

"You do her a cruel injustice!" said Yorke, in a low voice.

"Very well, then!" shouted the duke. "Try her, try her. And then own that I was right. Ah, you're afraid. You know, in your heart, that she would not stand the test! Your innocent, high-minded girl would prove the rest! Come, you are beaten! Better spare her the disappointment of setting her cap at a false duke; better go tomorrow, my dear Yorke!"

Yorke swung round, his face pale, an angry light in his eyes.

"No, I'll stay!" he said.

CHAPTER VIII.

Yorke Auchester as a Strategist

When Leslie wakes next morning she wonders what it is tat sends a thrill of happiness through her; then, as with dazed eyes she looks through the sunny window, she remembers the proposed expedition to St. Martin; but she remembers also that the companion of last evening is a duke and her spirits droop suddenly.

It is difficult to persuade he rfather to join in the mildest of excursions; it will be very difficult indeed, to induce him to accept an invitation to drive with a duke. Some women would have experienced an added joy at the thought that they had been honored with civility from a person of such high rank; but the fact rather lessens Leslie's pleasure.

Yorke did her justice; she is not elated nor awed b the ducal title.

When she comes down to breakfast she finds her father posing in front of his picture, his thin hands clasped behind his back, his head bent, and as she kisses him he sighs rather querulously.

"Is anything the matter, dear?" she asks.

"I've got a headache," he replies. "I—I do not feel up to work, and I am so anxious to geton. How do you think it looks?"

Leslie draws him away from the easel to the table, and forces him gently into his chair.

"We will not look at it this morning, at an yrate until we have had breakfast dear," she says. "It is wonderful how much better and brighter this world and everything in it looks after a cup of coffee. But papa, you must not work today, you must take a rest——"

"A rest!" he begins, impatiently.

"Yes; you know how often you say that working against the grain is time and energy wasted. And there is another reason, dear," she goes on, brightly. "We have an invitation for today!"

"A what?" he asks, querulously.

"An invitation, dear. We have been asked to drive to St. Martin. Last night," a faint blush rises to her face, "I ran down to the beach to—to find something I had lost, and I saw Mr. Temple's friend, and we went for a sail with old William; and afterward I saw Mr. Temple outside Marine Villa, and they have been kind enough to ask us to go with them to St. Martin. It was the duke who asked us," she adds, candidly; "but Mr. Temple was just as kind and pressing. I hope you will go, dear."

He puts the thin, straggling hair from his forehead with a nervous gesture.

"What are you talking about, Leslie? what duke?"

Leslie laughs softly.

MABEL RUSSELL IS RETURNING TO STAGE

London, June 19.—Though the women members of the House of Commons are surrounded by an overwhelming number of more or less admiring males some of the ladies can and will stand under the spotlight before even larger and more demonstrative groups.

Mrs. Hilton Philipson is going to the stage upon which as Mabel Russell, she long reigned as a queen of musical comedy. Next week she joins the cast of a smart revue. Mrs. Philipson is the fourth woman to be elected to the House having succeeded to the Northumberland seat formerly held by her husband, Captain Hilton Philipson, who lost it through an election irregularity. She was formerly wife of Stanley Rhodes, nephew of the great developer of South Africa, Cecil Rhodes.

"I have left the stage for good," Mrs. Philipson declared when she entered the political arena.

Senator Borah issued a statment opposing intervention by the United States in China.

"Clothes last longer when washed properly"— says Mrs. Experience, who tells how to wash them.

"Some women actually rub holes in clothes trying to get them clean with harsh, ordinary laundry soaps, which are only half soap anyway. No wonder they say, 'Washing is so wearing on clothes'.

"The easiest way I've found to wash clothes—easiest on clothes and easiest on myself—is by using Sunlight Soap. No boiling or hard rubbing is needed—the pure Sunlight suds penetrate through and through each fabric, loosening dirt and dissolving grease spots. Then in rinsing, all dirt and soapy matter just runs away.

"And as every bit of Sunlight is pure, cleansing soap, it lathers generously, does not fade anything washable and is far more economical. Sunlight keeps your hands nice and soft. Levers, Toronto make it."

At Griffins

"The finest dramatic treat of the year," was the universal opinion of the audience last night at the Griffin Theatre, where Marshal Neilan's Metro Goldwyn production of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" opened for a three days' run.

With a cast headed by Blanche Sweet, Neilan has made what is undoubtedly a perfect screen version of the famous Thomas Hardy novel. He has not rewritten nor revamped the famous story for that intangible "audience appeal", He has allowed it to proceed in its own way, and as a result the film "Tess" has turned out to be a gripping, powerful picture, with an appeal that reaches all hearts.

Besides Miss Sweet, the cast includes Conrad Nagel, Stuart Holmes, George Fawcett, Victory Bateman and Courtenay Foote. It is a Louis B. Mayer presentation.

Help Kidneys By Drinking More Water

ALSO TAKE A LITTLE SALTS IF BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Circus Monkeys Act Mother Goose Rhyme

JACK AND JILL, TWO OF 1,000 MENAGERIE RARITIES WITH RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY

There are many trained animals with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus that is to exhibit here Thursday, July 2nd.

On the mammoth hippodrome track one hundred and fifty horses appear in a magnificent "Equine Ballet." Other troupes appear in the rings. But before leaving the menagerie the visitor should not fail to see those "natural" actors, Jack and Jill.

For Jack and Jill are with the circus this year. Not, of course the very pair that is told of in the nursery rhyme and who, according to Mother Goose, "came down the hill," but those whom Mr. Darwin might have claimed were connected with their ancestors.

Jack and Jill are two full-grown chimpanzees who have consented to accept a limited touring engagement with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus. Their contract calls for a specially constructed exhibition wagon fitted with plenty of swings, ropes and slides and gorgeously bedecked with red and gold paint. The wagon stands in the center of the great double-menagerie tent. This tent shelters more than a thousand animals, including 42 elephants and a family of giraffes. But no visitor can afford to neglect to pay his respects to Jack and Jill.

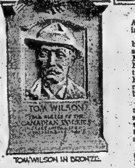
The chimpanzees have earned their nursery names because of a particular "stunt" which they perform. This consists of one climbing to the very roof of the big cage and then simply letting go and falling head over heels to the floor below. Then the other "comes tumbling after."

Practically all the elephants exhibited in the menagerie are performers. Five herds of them do all manner of stunts in the "big top." The baby pachyderms perform on the main-tent stages. Shorty after they have gone back to their hay improvised rings are placed on the broad stages they have left. This is a complete innovation in circus achievement. For it permits the introduction of five troupes of trained stallions. Three of these splendid companies do their marvelous drills on the stage-rings and three in the dirt-floored circles.

Riding in Canadian Rockies: A Growing Summer Diversion

TRAIL RIDERS HONORING TOM WILSON

TRAIL RIDERS IN CANADIAN ROCKIES



TOM WILSON IN BRONZE

Lake O'Hara will be the scene of three events this summer. The organizations that will meet in this wild, romantic spot in the Canadian Rockies are: Mountaineering Club of British Columbia; Alpine Club of Canada's annual camp from July 27 to August 8, inclusive; and the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies on August 9th.

The special expedition to climb Mt. Logan, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, headed by Capt. Albert H. MacCarthy, will return in time to report to the Alpine Club.

Lake O'Hara has been painted by the late John Singer Sargent and by Carl Rungius and Richard M. Kimbel, the two latter are New York artists and members of the artist colony that summers at Banff. Lake O'Hara threatens to rival Lake Louise whose close neighbor it is.

The Alpine Club's main objective this year is to climb Mt. Goodsir, the highest peak visible from the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the ascent will be made from a sub-camp.

Last year's initial Pow-Wow of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies was held in Yoho Valley near Field, B. C. Two days of trail riding and social gathering in a big lodge in the evenings were enjoyed by more than 200 members and novices, the latter qualifying for membership, one of the requirements of which is to have ridden fifty miles over Canadian Rockies' trail. Dr. Charles D. Walcott of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C., is the honorary president of the Trail Riders' order.

Several hundred trail riders are expected to take part in this year's meeting, which will be held Aug. 8-10 inclusive. The start will be from Banff and Lake Louise by motor to Marble Canyon where the horses and guides will be in waiting for the three days' ride. Program is as follows: first night, tent camp on Goodsir Plateau, 6,500 feet above the valley; second night, tent camp on the shore of Lake O'Hara, rivalling Lake Louise in beauty, but of a wilder type; third night, Tipi Camp beside Lake Wapta and Pow-Wow held in Sun Dance Lodge. There will be a sing-song each night in camp.

Riders must bring either a sleeping-bag or two warm blankets. A change of underwear and warm coat or mackinaw for the hours around the camp fire, is all the equipment that is necessary. No grips will be accepted. One pack horse for each three riders. A word of caution, unless one is prepared to rough it he should not ride; but if one delights in the feel of a saddle and pony, he, or she, may be a Trail Rider.

The Rocky Mountains Guides' Association, an organization of all the guides in this territory, with headquarters at Banff, is looking after the arrangements for horses and guides.

Deaths And Funerals

ANDREW ALLISON

Forty-nine years ago today Mr. William Allison was born at Codrington, Ont., and at an early hour this morning he passed away, after an illness extending over a period of 7 months. Some [illegible] years ago Mr. Allison came to Belleville from Carrying Place, Prince Edward County and has since resided here. He was a man well-known and highly respected. Deceased was a member of Mizpah Lodge No. 127 I.O.O.F. being a Past Grand, Quinte Encampment and Rebekahs of this city. He was also a member of the C. O. O. F. and Orange Societies of Rednerville. In religion he was a methodist, being a member of the Tabernacle church. A widow, and mother Mrs. Wm. Allison, of Rednerville survives, also five brothers and two sisters. The brothers are Robert, of Belleville, Herbert, of Trenton, Joseph, William and Harry, of Albury. The sisters are Mrs. Eliza Russell and Mrs. Wm. Russell, of Rednerville.

Paris—Premier Painleve says war in Morocco will be fought to finish despite opposition at home.

She says:

"I Am Thin"

Her Friend Says:

"She Is Skinny"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face, hollow cheeks and neck and run down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing vitamines that make flesh creates appetite, restores vigor, builds up the power to resist disease and chases away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctor's are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which Dolan's Drug Store, McKeowins Drug Store, Doyle's Drug Store and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It is a wonderful upbuilding medicine for skinny, backward children, especially after sickness and 60 tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

But be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablet.

At The Belle

Lucien Littlefield, playing the "under sheriff" in "Teeth," the current William Fox production starring Tom Mix, now running at the Belle Theatre, came back from location at Lake Tahoe, California, with a new accomplishment—horse-back riding.

The actor decided when cast in a Tom Mix picture that this was his golden opportunity to learn how to stick on a horse without hanging on its long suffering neck by main strength. As Mr. Littlefield describes it, "I am qualified as an A. B. on horse-back riding. I am Tom Mix' worst pupil."

Striking Scene at I.O.O.F. Temple Ball

All America is Represented By 2,000 Delegates at Hamilton

Hamilton, June 19.—A striking scene was the grand ball given at the I.O.O.F. temple in honor of the annual meeting which was attended by over 2,000 visiting delegates and their wives, and by members of all branches in this city.

The affair was called for 9 o'clock, but the crowds kept coming for an hour afterwards, and it was not until 10 o'clock that the music struck up the grand march and the ball was opened. E. F. Agate, district deputy grand master of ceremonies, and under the roof of the I.O.O.F. Temple were gathered Oddfellows and Rebekahs from all parts of Canada, and from many of the states.

Besides the grand sire of Sovereign Grand Lodge, Hon. Herbert A. Thompson, Detroit, there were present in the temple last evening outstanding leaders of Oddfellowship in Canada and the United States. Those noted included J. A. Tully, P.G.M., P.G.R., Alberta; William McBride, P.G.M., P.G.R., Saskatchewan; Rev. W. C. Smalley, P.G.M., P.G.R., Manitoba; William Finlay, D.G.M., Quebec; Rev. G. W. Whitman, P.G.M., Maritime Provinces; Charles F. Haight, G.M., Michigan; Fred A. Rogers, G. Sec., Michigan; Arthur F. Douglass, G.M., Massachusetts; George H. Fuller, G.Sec., Massachusetts; Arthur M. Randall, G.P., Connecticut; H. F. Davis, New Hampshire, and Bro. Federspiel, G.M., New York.

Grand Master J. E. Andrews of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, attended. Chamberlain's orchestra played the dance music, and the grand march was led off by Grand Sire Herbert A. Thompson.

Brilliant Sight

He was followed by the Patriarchs Militant, with their ladies. The patriarchs in their brilliant uniforms of black and gold, wearing their dress headdresses adorned with red and white ostrich plumes, and wearing their decorations, presoneted an effect that was most imposing and spectacular.

Dancing was continued until the early hours of the morning, and the visitors admired the beautiful lighting decorations of the hall, which from time to time changed in colors and made beautiful effects. Large as the I.O.O.F. auditorium is, it was unable to accommodate at one time the great throng of Oddfellows and their partners who enjoyed the program.

Many delegates, local members of the I.O.O.F., and other spectators enjoyed the fine drill exhibition and competition held by the cantons of the Patriarchs Militant at Dundurn Park yesterday afternoon. Three cantons contended, Canton No. 7, Toronto; Canton No. 15, Stratford, and Queen City Canton, No. 19, Toronto.

The drills and the sword exercises were striking, added to which the splendid appearance that the corps presented in full uniform gave the competition a very military-like appearance.

The work of the competitors was of such a high order that the judges, Col. Clements, Windsor; Lieut.-Col. Stilson, this city, and Lieut.-Col. Logan, St. Thomas, decided to withhold the award until a later date. The result of the degree compition of the Patriarchs Militant was withheld also owing to the close competition.

To Sue Police For Hosiery Value

New York Dealers Claim $2,500 Damages For Stolen Goods

New York, June 19.—Jacob R. Gold & Sons, dealers in knit goods 476 Broadway, who bought at a police auction some of $2,500 worth of silk stockings stolen from him last fall, announced that he would sue the Police Department for the value of the hosiery.

Gold said he found the police had sold stockings stolen from him when he bought some hosiery from Isadore Barish of 138 Columbia street, Passaic. These stockings, he said, had his name on both the fabric and the boxes and when he questioned Barish he learned the latter had bought them for $900 from the police.

"So far as I am concerned," he added "there is no further use to dicker with the police. They have proposed that I accept the $900 for nothing. I tried to confer with Commissioner Enright, but intead was turned over to Charles G. Young, his secretary. He said he would let me know about it later. That was last week, and that is the last I've heard from him. I intend to go to a court of equity and demand justice."

The police say the stockings were found in a truck apparently abandoned by burglars in Lafayette street. They were turned over to the Property Custodian and the sale followed although Mr. Gold said he reported the loss and described the property.

Montreal Judge Raises Barnum 60

Says Flim Flam Case Shows Sucker Born Each Second

Montreal, June 19.—"Barnum was wrong in his estimate of "one born every minute." There's one born every second" commented Chief Judge Decarie in the enquete court Thursday morning when details of an alleged flim flam game were disclosed to him for which Gabrial van Ulberghe alias Yanut is standing trial on three charges of false pretences. The accused man was sent for voluntary statement at the conclusion of the hearing.

Van Ulberghe, according to the prosecution, was sponsor of a scheme which netted him $1,325 from three young ladies on representations that they were to become branch managers in a concern named the Cosmos Product Co. Before they would be placed in charge of the offices of the company, however they were induced to deposit with the pretended general manager sums of money as guarantees of good faith. Advertisements were placed in local papers and three women replied. After a semblance of negotiations, it was arranged that Mrs. M. Tremblay should become branch manager of the company at Viau villel, but first she paid over to the accused he sum of $200 to bind the agreement. Another woman, Mrs. J. Mallow was to be named Assistant General Manager for the province of Quebec and she paid over to Van Ulberghe $1 000. A third post of branch manager was to be found for Mrs. Sophie Langelier and she turned over to the promoter $125.

The positions never materialized and charges were subsequently laid against the originators of the venture. He will appear for voluntary statement on June 30 next.

PUPILS SUSPENDED, WERE SEEN SMOKING

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. June 19.—Four senior pupils were suspended by Principal E. J. Hodgson, of the Collegiate, for smoking on the collegiate grounds and right in front of the school. The suspension will last until the end of the week.

A general order was issued at the school some time ago that smoking would not be permitted in the school or on the school grounds at any school function or on the way to or from school.

Owing to reports of infractions of this rule the announcement was made that if the rule was ignored the offending pupils would be suspended.

A recent electrical storm killed three cows near Port Weller. One cow had the distinction of meeting her end by chain lightning. She was attached to a steel chain, and the bolt of lightning seemingly struck the chain first and traveled to the cow, which dropped in its tracks. Eye-witnesses give that version of the tragedy.

HURRY PLANS FOR PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL

Board of Education Will Get in Touch with Municipalities

MUSIC NEXT FALL?

City Teacher Will be Ready To Instruct Pupils In Fall

On motion of A. McGie at the meeting of the Board of Education last evening, it was decided that the secretary and chairman enquire of the County Clerk about the action which the Hastings county council had taken with regard to the request made before them at their recent meeting here by a delegation from the Board, with regard to the new proposed Collegiate Institute for this city. If no action has been taken a letter will be drafted and forwarded to the Warden and Reeves of adjoining townships so that no time will be lost in the plans of the Board.

A similar delegation addressed Prince Edward county council recently and were graciously received. This council has appointed a special committee to meet the Board here at any time with regard to the matter A few pupils from the adjoining county attend Belleville High School so their county's cooperation was requested.

To Call Meeting

Secretary Treasurer Jeffers Diamond was instructed to call a meeting of the music committee of the Board within a reasonable time after considerable discussion on this newer phase of school education had evolved at the meeting of the Board of Education last night. Letters were read from V. P. Hunt, local music teacher who is very enthusiastic about this work. He had written the secretary and the Board, saying that he would attend a summer school and fully qualify himself for the duties were the Board to decide to carry on in the autumn. He had recently spent a day in Toronto with Duncan MacKenzie who is in charge of music in Toronto schools and the progress which is being made there was described as being wonderful. His letters were referred to the music committee.

Col. Ponton, who is also greatly interested in this work, again stressed the importance of a musical education for pupils.

Repairs Contemplated

Chairman A. McGie of sites, buildings, and repairs committee reported necessary repairs which are contemplated during the vacation period at the public schools and High School here, consisting of storm windows, redecoration of a few rooms and other necessary work, including the building of a fence at one public school to keep the children from trespassing on gardens when they follow the ball. Complaining residents will pay half, it is almost sure. The board was favourable to a special school fence—a close wire fence six feet in height. The cost will be about $418 for either a board or wire fence.

A suggestion for arrangements for accommodation for an anticipated increased influx of High School pupils next autumn was given by Mr. McGie The Taylor house and county buildings were named as emergency places which might house the overflow.

Inspector's Report

H. J. Clarke, Inspector, of Public Schools submitted a long half yearly report on public schools of the city to the Board of Education at their meeting last night. After the report was read, complimentary remarks of satisfaction were expressed by members of the Board.

Three of the city schools are taxed to the limit for accomodation now, but the exit of entrance pupils will relieve this condition.

The third and fourth readers have been revised and new editions will come into use in September.

Registers in the schools have been properly kept, no unauthorized text books used, and the work of caretakers satisfactory. All teachers are legally qualified.

A circular letter in September from the inspector to teachers, will urge the desireability of teaching their pupils to sing if it is nothing more than rote songs.

"Children love to sing as a rule," the report read, "and music certainly has a very beneficial influence upon them."

There was not a poor teacher in the 40 engaged, and some are superior teachers. Discipline was satisfactory.

Registration has increased by 95 since January and the daily average attendance has increased by 115. Still 131 children are absent each day.

King George School will be dismissed immediately as the Departmental examinations are to be held there between June 22nd and July 7th.

Owing to the illness of Principal McLaurin the examination for entrance to High School which would be held at the High School will be held at King George School. Mr. Stillwell has been named to replace Mr. McLaurin in his usual work at the Entrance Examination and as presiding officer at departmental examinations in Trenton.

BIG WELCOME BEING PLANNED FOR AMUNDSEN

Ice Jammed Sea Planes After Landing in Open Water

-DISCARD EQUIPMENT

Flew Over Miles of Water; No Trace of Land

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Oslo, Norway, June 20. — Captain Roald Amundsen and his five fellow explorers will have an enthusiastic welcome when they arrive here within the next few days on their return from the Arctic trip.

Published non-copyright accounts of fliers experiences say they encountered fog soon after starting from Kingsbay, Spitzbergen on May 21. Rising above mist they held to their course for some hours until compelled to alight because half their gasolind was exhausted. Then when it seemed they had found safety in a piece of open water where the seaplanes alighted they were suddenly confronted with catastrophe. Ice closed in, jamming both machines. Without immediate means of transportation, stranded amid limitless waste of water and ice, circumstances were such as to cause dismay, but Amundsen and his party proved equal to the emergency.

Dislodge Plane

With greatest exertion of muscle and determination, they succeeded in dislodging one of the planes, although the effort cost 24 days of exhausting work during which their rations were rapidly disappearing and the prospects of safely returning dwindled accordingly. At length discarding all the equipment they could spare and with only enough gasoline to take them back, provided they had no further trouble, they trusted themselves again to the air heading for Spitsbergen, all in one machine. Over miles of ice fields, without a trace of land the plane flew southward sometimes encountering the dreaded fog, but always keping on until explorers were able to land safe on the shore of the northeast land part of Spitzbergen Archipelago. Scarley had the machine alighted when almost as if by arrangement, Norwegian sealing boat Sjecliv came itno sight. Explorers were soon aboard and welcomed with utmost hospitality.

British Advertisers Plan For Conventon

Number of Delegates Have Been Limited to 1,000

Harrogate, Eng., June 20.—Plans for the first annual British Advertising Convention (district 14 of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World) to be held here July 4-8, are rapidly being completed. C. Harold Vernon, of London, district chairman, has announced. So great is the interest in the convention among business men and women of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, Mr. Vernon said, that it has been found necessary to limit the number of delegates to 1,000.

The publicity clubs of Leeds and Bradford will be joint hosts. Stuart A. Hirst of Leeds, has been appointed chairman of a general organization committee for the convention. Included in the membership of the committee are C. Harold Vernon, Andrew Milne and Walter Stonbold of London, honorary secretary and general secretary, respectively of the district. C. E. Carter, mayor of Harrogate, will extend an official welcome to the convention, which is expected to encourage the development of advertising in Great Britain.

Organization of the British Isles as a separate district of the Associated Advertising Clubs was completed at the International Advertising Convention at London last July.

NORMAN JOHNSTON TAKEN TO GUELPH

Norman Johnston completed his sentence here this morning at the County jail, and was taken to Guelph to-day where he will face a charge of having obtained $1,000 by false pretences. Provincial Constable Mellville escorted accused to Guelph.

Johnston was convicted here on similar charges before County Judge Deroche and sentenced to a term which he has completed. He sold stock in the C. M. Petrie Separator Company at Deseronto Petrie, the organiser of the now defunct company was located in Rochester and sentenced at Toronto recently.

Are Making Ready At Community Camp

Diving Tower and Improved Play Grounds are Features

An early advance party visited Camp Community at Moira Lake Thursday and spent the day in overhauling equipment and putting things in order for the opening of camp, July 6th. Everything in the vicinity of Moira Lake is looking fine and the work of getting the camp ship-shape will be continued by parties visiting that site periodically until the first of the month, when the advance camp squad will go in to erect the tents and conclude the necessary final preparations.

The end of last week saw the completion of a new diving tower which was constructed and assembled in the gymnasium of the Y.M.C.A. then taken down again for convenient shipment to Camp Community. This tower of the portable variety, is twelve feet in height with a stationery platform on the top while lower down and but a few feet above water will be placed a spring board. The Y's Mens' Club of Belleville have volunteered to help reassemble and get the tower into position, which, owing to its proportions will be no mean task.

Among other things which were done at the camp, the baseball diamond and volley ball court were laid out and marked and before camp opens these will be in first class playing order. A new set of bags and a home plate have been procured which will replace last years slabs that adorned the corners of the baseball diamond. The camp fleet of boats also received a final grooming by the working party and are in A 1 condition to take the water. If the current reports that the fishing at Moira Lake is better than ever, be true, these will be in great demand by the boys as soon as camp opens.

Besides the usual games and tournaments which are run off at camp, there will be a number of additional games with new equipment as a feature for this years camp. Bigger and Better Than Liver is the Motto of the 1925 Camp and everything points to that objective being realised.

Enquiries concerning camp have been many to date and indications are that this years enrollment will be larger than usual. Of course the early applications are the ones which will receive the consideration of the camp committee in case they receive more than the camp will accommodate. Prospective campers are strongly advised to get their applications in early. Forms may be secured from the Boy Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. who will be in charge of this years camp. Although the committee has had a number of enquiries from parents of boys under twelve years of age and although they regret very much the necessity of such action, it has been deemed advisable and as a result has been the policy of the management to limit the age to twelve years, for the youngest members to be accepted for camp.

BOARD CO-OPERATES FOR RE-UNION WEEK

Three members of the Board of Education will be appointed by Chairman John Elliott, as representatives to assist the other municipal bodies in making the Old Boys' re-union a success this August, it was decided last evening at the meeting of the Board of Education. Mr. Elliott stated that he would give the matter careful consideration and select workers with plenty of time.

Col. Ponton suggested that the schools be thrown open that week, be decorated and an endeavour made to gather the school children together

"Children and their associations will attract many old boys and girls to Belleville", he said. "Churches and schools and old associations always prove great magnets."

Mayor Mikel had written a letter asking for this committee, and the action was the result of the letter.

A Turner, 37, teamster, was electrocuted and died in an accident at Sault St. Marie, Ont.

Handcufts Were Not Used by Police

Information Given Intelligencer Yesterday was Incorrect

In Friday's issue of The Intelligencer on the front page, an account of the arrest of a Picton woman appeared. In the account it was stated that the woman was overtaken in her car by Provincial Police, and arrested by Sergeant E. A. Rae. It was stated that the woman was taken from the car and handcuffed. This statement is absolutely incorrect. The woman was quietly arrested but no handcuffs were produced, seen or used. This information was wrongfully received, and the Intelligencer regrets that the statement appeared as it did.

Provincial Police officers in this district and throughout the Province, always accord to prisoners fair and courteous treatment and no unnecessary violence in any shape or form is ever used.

The Intelligencer regrets the false statement and it is hoped that this article may correct any consequent false impression which may have been created in the minds of readers as a result of having read the account of the arrest in Friday's issue.

SECRECY IN MEDICINE

One of the statements that mark a new era in the practice of medicine is that of Dr. Charles H. Mayo who declared at a congress of surgeons that "the day of medical secrecy is over and the physician or surgeon who hides the facts from his patient is out of date."

The custom a generation ago was different. Doctors of the old schoo, looked upon themselves as experts in knowledge of the human machine and any inclination on the part of their patients to interfere with its running was regarded as the meddling of amateurs. Little knowledge, from their point of view, was a dangerous thing. All desire of the laity to drink at the font of medical knowledge was discouraged.

In kepeing with this theory the physician himself assumed a dignity and reserve on all professional matters. He would sometimes inform the family of the patient's condition but mostly avoided answering questions and now and then he felt justified in deceiving his patient. The shocks, if the news were bad would retard his recovery, was the doctor's argument.

Within late years the attitude of the physician has changed. He has taken the public into his confidence. Now that he has so many things to say about health and sanitation and exercise he rather enjoys being of service to the entire community. What has ben the result? "The boy of today", says Dr. Mayo, "will live 12 more years, on an average, than his grandfather did."

But progress need not stop there. The relation of the doctor and patient has become a partnership, which emphasizes the need of co-operation. The "patient" has also his duties to perform, if it only be that of keeping well. "And death could be delayed" Dr. Mayo continues, "five years more if every man and woman undergo a rigid examination when 40 years old and abide conscientiously by the rules laid down by the examiner."

The showing made in years added to life by the new method in medicine is remarkable. The future promises still more wonderful results, but no ventures carried on for the good of the public can get the best results without the co-operation of the public.

COMPARISON

It is said that more money is spent in the United States for chewing gum than for books. That is easy to understand. You can rent a good book for five cents, but how few chewers can get through a literary work with full justice to the author on a gum consumption of, say, less than 50 cents?

A recent survey of the chewing gum situation in that country revealed that 57 per cent. of the used or secondhand wads are deposited under the seats in motion picture theatres, while the remaining 43 per cent. are concealed on public sidewalks where they quickly attach themselves to the human shoe.

SPARE THE CHILDREN

If you are an automobile driver slow down when nearing children. No one can tell what a youngster will do next. Much better to lose time than injure anyone. While it is true that streets are not safe for children's play remember some children have no other play ground.

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

How the King Opened Wembley

As I listened to the opening speeches of the Duke of York and King George last month at the opening of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, I almost regretted that I had not stayed at home and listened to them with the millions on the radio. The hailstorm came down on our umbrellas so loud that it was difficult to listen. But at the close there happened one of those little incidents that mean so much in England. When the royal landau drove up for the King's departure, it was noticed that the hood was closed. Though the weather still threatened the King ordered it down, to the delight of the crowd who cheered with a whirlwind of cheers.

The Resurrection of William Tell

Every time I come to Altdorf by Lake Lucerne and open my Baedeker I am distressed to learn that "the legend of the national hero of Switzerland is destitute of historical foundation." The story of the famous archer shooting the apple from his son's head on the spot where his statue stands to-day, always seemed too unique for a legend. This year I was therefore glad to learn that the recent researches of Prof Karl Meyer of the University of Zurich have on the basis of new documents not previously consulted, re-established his historicity. Although the Swiss are glad to hear it, they never have accepted Baedeker's opinion, and most Altdorf visitors like myself have preferred to differ too.

From Gun Metal to Church Bells

One of the most beautiful scenes I have witnessed of recent date and one significant of the new era of peace in Germany was the consecration of the new bell of Cologne Cathedral, which is to take the place of the old "Kaiserglocke" melted down during the war. The new bell, weighing about 25 tons was led through the streets, hidden in evergreens and flowers. The streets were lined with hundreds of school children and when the first six notes were struck upon it, all the bells of the city pealed a welcome. In this picturesque Rhine region the new bell will help everyone to forget the last dark decade and "ring in the new".

That 4.4 beer now selling in the Province of Ontario had met with approval and was considered quite satisfactory by people of the province was the statement of Premier G. Howard Ferguson prior to his departure recently for England on the Canadian Pacific Liner "Empress of Scotland." Mr. Ferguson will endeavor to interest British and foreign capitalists in the industrial development of Ontario province.

W. J. Uren, Assistant General Superintendent, Quebec District, Canadian Pacific Railway, recently presented thirty employees of the system with certificates of First Aid, covering first to fourth year work. Mr. Uren said about thirty per cent. of Canadian Pacific Railway employees had passed examinations in First Aid and he was gratified to think that no accident could occur on the system without the high probability of there being some person on the spot who could afford expert First Aid.

Letters to the Editor

THE ANSWER

Editor Intelligencer:

My attention has been called to a communication from Ald. A. Robinson in your issue of the 11th inst. In the letter Ald. Robinson asks what he chose to call some "pertinent questions."

He desires to know how many hands are employed by the ten American branch industries established in other Canadian cities in the year 1924.

I regret that I have not the information but do not imagine that it is of vital concern to our citizens. The larger these factories are, the better. It all means expansion and prosperity for Canada.

What is of more immediate interest to our people, however, is that Belleville secured three American branches of the highest class in the year 1924. They came here without bonuses of any kind or free sites or special inducements of that nature. Two of the three, Mead Johnson and Company and the Canadian Concrete Products Company have erected new buildings and plants. The third the Carthage Machine Company took over the J. C. Wilson and Company factory that had been idle for some time and already have made important extensions.

Although these three companies are but at the beginning of their operations here, their present payroll approximates $150,000 per annum. Do our citizens and business men desire these new factory buildings and this distribution of money that we did not have before, or do they not? Do our workingmen and mechanics desire the work and the wages that are offered?

Ald. Robinson further inquires "how many factories that have started here the past few years have failed to keep going?"

No factory that the present industrial commissioner has had anything to do with establishing here has failed, all are soundly financed, well managed and in successful operation. It is not the duty of the industrial commissioner or of his department to interfere with the management of old-established industries.

Ald. Robinson refers to the Imperial Oil Company at Sarnia as employing 1880 hands. It is worth noting that this Canadian subsidiary of Standard Oil has been established at Sarnia for many years. There are other American branches in Canada that employ many more. But all of them started from small beginnings. Surely the writer does not wish us to infer that we should refuse to accept the smaller industries that employ from twenty-five to one hundred hands and wait for some colossus that employs a thousand. My own personal opinion is that any city is far better off industrially that has ten diversified manufacturing establishments employing an average of one hundred hands each than it is with one great industry employing one thousand.

And now, Mr. Editor, I must positively decline to be a party to further correspondence of this nature. I have supplied your readers and the city council with the most complete information and have dealt with the industrial situation in the frankest possible manner. The unquestionable facts are such as to afford the deepest satisfaction to every reasonable-minded citizen. Attempts to belittle our progress and to minimise our accomplishments I regard as highly detrimental to the interests of the city. Some exceedingly important industrial negotiations are now under way and I have grave fears that our possible success may be imperilled by this ill-timed and misplaced sarcasm that can accomplish no good purpose.

The American Optical Company and several of the others established here are, in the parent organizations, by far the largest of their kind in the world.

Slighting references to the really important things these great corporations have accomplished in the brief period since their establishment at Belleville, as if they were matters of no consequence whatever, seem not only to show an amazing lack of appreciation on our own part but may incur deep resentment upon the part of those who have come here to build up their Canadian houses. It may have the still more serious effect of sending elsewhere those who are now earnestly considering the advantages of our city but who might prefer to go where industry and enterprise are welcomed and appraised at their true value.

The process of tearing down is extremely easy and somewhat spectacular. Building is slow and laborious and may be prevented entirely if we are only persistent enough with our verbal bombardments.

J. O. HERITY,
Industrial Commissioner.

KIWANIS CONVENTION OPENS UP MONDAY

St. Paul, Minn., June 20.—Five thousand cheering Kiwanians, crowded in scores of long-coached special trains, hundreds of automobiles, and a number of Great Lakes steamers, are hurrying toward this city, where the 9th annual convention of Kiwanis International opens Monday.

The north and south, the east and west, will join hands here in a few hours. Speeding over the country's network of steel rails are delegations from all over the United States. Hundreds of Canadians, also members of this big service organization, are crossing over the border-line forming the vanguard from the far north to herald Canada's representation. By to-morrow evening St Paul will be packed with Kiwanians from every conceivable place over the North American Continent, assembling for the 4 days' meeting.

"Kiwanis is coming to St. Paul bringing with it all the enthusiasm which has resulted from the superb accomplishments of the 90,000 members in the 1,380 communities, towns and cities in the United States and Canada, since our convention in Denver last year," stated Victor M. Johnson, of Rockford, Illinois, president of Kiwanis International, today.

"This is to be the greatest convention ever held by Kiwanis, and will be the most successful," remarked International Secretary Fred C. W. Parker, of Chicago.

Women Get Thrills Driving Four Horses

Automobile Has Not Diminished Popularity of Horse

London, June 20.—Coaching has not diminished by any means in England because of the popularity of the automobile. This form of sport appears to appeal even more than formerly to the woman of today, and there has been a move on foot recently to admit women members to the Coaching Club, as they have never had a coaching club of their own. Women have long been eligible for competitions, however, and have successfully appeared in coaching and harness classes at horse shows for many years.

Coaching enthusiasts say that the appeal of this sport is more potent than ever, as women realize that they show to much better advantage upon a coach than seated in an enormous automobile often partly hidden from view. While women here have figured in the coaching world chiefly as passengers, nevertheless there have been, and are, notable women whips.

Coaching, or at least driving one's own coach, is an expensive amusement today, though no more so than the ownership of a fair-sized yacht. A coach at the present time costs from $3,500 to $9,000. A good horse may be had from $750 to $1,750, but the cost of a perfectly matched team is out of all proportion to the individual value of the four horses.

Although the season, which opened with the Coaching Club's meet in Hyde Park in May, and extends for three months, in short, running expenses are very high as compared to pre-war days.

The majority of whips in England are taught to drive from childhood. Good "driving hands" are most important. In the absence of this gift no training can make a thoroughly accomplished whip. But, given "hands", steady nerves, imperturable temper, patience and skilled tuition, a woman, taking up four-in-hand driving for the first time, may acquire reasonable proficiency in three to four months. Four-in-hand driving appears easy, say the experts, but it demands consummate skill, while the physical and nervous strain is by no means light.

KINGSTON PONIES CAPTURED RETURN GAME YESTERDAY EVENING; KEON COULDN'T CONTROL THEM

Last Moment Rally Does Not Avail

Kingston Won Out By the Score of 11-9 Last Evening

Belleville dropped a game to Kingston in the Limestone City last evening by the score of eleven to nine. Gerow's nine trailed from the start, but never gave up fighting and won the healthy respect of Kingston fans by a ninth inning rally of four runs.

"They don't know when they're beaten," said one fan after the game, which pretty well described the fixture.

Hugh Keon pitched the entire game for Belleville and he can put the blame on himself for the loss. Backed by the whole team, who wanted to see him win a game, Keon worked hard. But he had mighty poor control. He walked no less than seven men and allowed three home runs, and a triple with two men on.

Belleville had a great day at bat, collecting fifteen safeties. They knocked Gallagher out of the box in the sixth and by the ninth were hitting Cairns freely. Meagher had another successful session, picking off two doubles and a single in five times to bat.

If alibi's are asked for, the Belleville men have plenty. It is a long time since the breaks have been so consistently against the team as far as the umpiring is concerned. Dell who was behind the plate, wasn't given a thing to the visitors. He seemed to refuse the corners to Keon and give them every time to Kingston. Belleville fans would most certainly have kicked up a great old fuss had the game been played here.

Blakely Missed

Apart from Keon's performance, Belleville was also handicapped by Blakely's absence. He had to write on examinations yesterday and couldn't possible get away. Poste started in at short in Blakely's place, but he appeared overconfident. He had two bad muffs chalked up against him in the second, when errors meant runs. He worked better on second, with Weir back at short and Meagher at third.

Up until the sixth, Gallagher pitched wonderful ball. He lost his stuff in the sixth, though, and after Belleville had secured four hits in a row, he retired in favor of Cairns.

The first men up for Belleville in the first, second and third frames, straightened away a three bagger apiece. Weir hit the first pitched ball away back in left for the first one. But he was stranded on third when Ross grounded out and the Mills brothers flied out. Hagerman drove the three bagger in the second and he too died on third, Meagher and Poste grounding out Gallagher to Purvis, and Casey fouling out to the catcher, Jimmy Arneil.

Quinn, by the way, was not catching yesterday. He was parked on the bench all afternoon, and from the comment heard around Kingston during the day, he is none too popular with the home fans for his action on Wednesday last.

Kingston Took Lead

Kingston scored one in the first. Teeple drew life when Weir threw wild to first. Halbert walked, Batstone popped out past second for a safety and Teeple came home on it. Poste was asleep, running for the ball but coming about fifteen yards away from it. Nickel and Cherry flied out to Hagerman and Ross respectively, and Purvis grounded out, Poste to H. Mills.

That first innings was just a preliminary however for the second, when the Kingstonites gathered in four runs. Walker started with a single to left. He stole second and he stole third. Arneil flied out to Ross. Poste muffed Gallagher's grounder, letting Walker in. Teeple walked, Halbert got on a fielder's choice, Weir getting Gallagher at third. Batstone banged out a three base hit to centre scoring Teeple and Halbert. Nickel walked and stole second. Cherry walked, filling the bases. Poste fumbled Purvis' liner and Batstone came in. The agony was ended when Weir caught Walker's low drive.

Keon's Three Bagger

Belleville scored one in the third when Keon placed a nice three bagger in the right garden and came home on Ross' single to centre.

Kingston was retired quickly in the third, but came right back in the fourth with four more runs. Halbert hit to right and went to second on a passed ball. Batstone was retired Weir to Mills and Ross caught Nickel's long fly. But with two men down, Cherry smashed a homer to centre bringing Halbert in ahead of him. Purvis walked, Walker hit to right and stole second. Arneil walked and Gallagher singled to right scoring Purvis and Walker.

Belleville closed up a little in the sixth, scoring three and incidentally sending Gallagher out of the box. Peeney Mills lead the way with a hot drive past the pitcher's head, and made second when Arneil threw badly to first in trying to catch Peeney off the bag. Brother Harry singled to centre, scoring Peeney. Harry also got on second on an error and romped home on Hagerman's two bagger. Meagher hit safely too but was caught trying to steal second. Casey followed with another, scoring Hagerman.

By this time, Keon was pitching better ball and Belleville appeared to have a chance to even things up. But the Belleville twirler grooved one apiece for Habert and Batstane, who secured a home run apiece.

Belleville made the score eleven to five in the eighth when Meagher doubled to left field and Casey sent him home with a sharp single in the same direction.

Fight to Last

Then in spite of the fact that they needed six runs to tie the game up in the ninth, Walt Gerow's men went in to get them. It was a grand finish, even though the game was lost.

Vern Weir was hit by Cairns and he stole second. Ross cracked a beauty over first which brought Weir in. Ross stole a base and Peeney fanned. Harry followed with a three-base hit to centre, scoring Ross. Hagerman flied out to Teeple and Harry Mills beat the throw-in. Then Meagner doubled to left and came in on aCasey's double to the same locality. With Casey on second, Gerown sent Gil Goyer to bat for Poste, Goyer connected allright but Nickel scooped the ball up for a throw out.

BRING MUSK OXEN SOUTH FOR SUMMER

Oslo, Norway, June 20.—Ten musk oxen, brought from Greenland recently on a sailing vessel, are spending the summer on Kjiholmen Island, off the west coast of Norway. It is hoped they will become used to the climate of northern Europe. The flesh of these animals makes excellent eating, as arctic explorers can testify, and there is always a demand for them in zoological gardens.

The animals wander at will about the island, finding an abundance of food in the grasses and rough herbage. They still resent the approach of human beings, however, and when danger or disturbance is sensed the bulls form a protective ring about the cows and snort volently.

The most anxious time for those interested in the experiment will be during the summer. The natural habitat of the musk ox is among the bleak regions of arctic America, and it is possible that they will bring about their own death through eating too greedily of the richer grass of Kjiholmen.

Cave Girl Tactics Turn Suitor Back

Promised to Dash Herself To Death Unless Consent Given

Mexico City, June 20.—Ines Vargas, a sixteen-year-old senorita as determined as she is romantic, recently served an ultimatum on her parents to the effect that, unless they gave their consent to her marriage with Isidro Covarubias within ten minutes, she would throw herself from the roof of the four-story apartment building in which the Vargas family lived. Whereupon she fled upstairs, locked the door leading to the roof and poised herself on a cornice overlooking Nuevo Mexico street.

Ciriaco Vargas, the father, tore his hair in desperation for a few seconds as he reflected that his daughter had inherited the firm character of her mother, and the latter, he felt sure from past experience, would never recede from her stand that Isidro, as a son-in-law, was impossible. Then he dashed to the nearest police station, only a block away, to seek disinterested counsel.

A few hurried sentences explained the situation to comisario. That official had an inspiration. Next to the police station were the firemen. He called out a hook and ladder company and the fire laddies, all dressed up in huge helmets and light blue uniforms, clanged to the scene of the impending tragedy, unfurling a life net as they went. They arrived just about 9 minutes and 55 seconds after Ines had issued her ultimatum and was about to launch herself into space. There ensued a lively game of tag between Ines on the roof and the firemen, with their net, down in the street, while a gathering crowd cheered and Ciriaco attacked the locked door with an axe.

Just as the door gave way, Ines thought she had outwitted the net holders and jumped. By a supreme effort and overturning a couple of urchins the firemen managed to interpose enough of the net between Ines and the pavement to break the fall. But she achieved her purpose, for the sight of her daughter whirling through the air destroyed the last of Mamma Vargas' opposition. She did not, however, win Isidro. That youth faded from the scene after witnessing his sweetheart's leap. The papers quoted him the next day as stating that he did not think he possessed enough of the cave man stuff to live happily with such a woman as Ines promised to become.

COSTS $20,000 TO EXECUTE ESKIMOS

Edmonton, Alta., June 20.—Authorities here have placed $20,000 as the cost of the trial and execution of two Copper Eskimos, Alikomiak and Tatamigana, on Herschell Island a year ago. Knud Rasmussen, arctic explorer, differs from this statement and puts the cost between $50,000 and $75,000.

Commenting on the Copper Eskimos Rasmussen expressed the opinion that before law enforcement is undertaken, efforts should be made to educate them to an understanding of the law of civilization. He pointed out that the Copper Eskimos were in a state of primitive savagery. During hard times killing of female children is customary, and the slaying of a husband to obtain his wife is not regarded as a serious wrong.

Many Children Suffer From Eye Strain

Because their parents dislike seeing them wear glasses. These parents surely cannot understand how a child with imperfect vision is handicapped if he dot not endure actual suffering. If they did they would secure the aid of Optometry at the first possible opportunity.

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself.

A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief.

Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel.

C.W. JEFFERYS

Ontario is calling you

Good Fellowship and Good Roads await you at every turn

Thousand Islands—looking across the St. Lawrence, from Gananoque. One of the beauty spots of Ontario as sketched by the well-known Canadian artist, C. W. Jefferys, O.S.A., A.R.C.A.

Do you long for the open country—the rolling farm lands—the lakes and streams—the unspoiled woods? You will find them all in your own Province—and all within easy motoring distance from almost every point.

The highways are calling you. If you live in town or city, you will be surprised at the extent of the good country roads and the fine condition in which they are kept.

It is not necessary to stick to the provincial highways. The county roads in most parts of the Province are maintained in excellent condition, and lead to spots none the less beautiful though not so well known.

See Ontario this summer. Get acquainted with the people and the beauties of your own Province, both in town and country. You will find good roads and good fellowship everywhere in Ontario.

These roads were built with your money and that of the other people of Ontario. Take a pride in them. Do not needlessly destroy them by reckless driving. Remember they are yours to use, not to abuse; yours to enjoy not to destroy.

To protect them from needless wear and tear, the law provides a speed limit of 25 miles an hour. This speed limit also protects you and other motorists from accident on the highways.

Your co-operation in obeying the law is confidently looked for by the Government. This co-operation is in your own interest, because the damage which is done by excessive speed must be paid for by you and other users of the roads.

An advertisement issued by the Ontario Department of Highways to secure the co-operation of motorists and truck drivers, Automobile Clubs, Good Roads Associations and all other public spirited bodies, in abating the abuse of the roads of the Province.

Thankful Mothers

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little one she would use nothing else. The Tablets give such results that the mother has nothing but words of praise and thankfulness for them. Among the thousands of mothers throughout Canada who praise the Tablets is Mrs. David A. Anderson, New Glasgow, N.S., who writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children and from my experience I would not be without them. I would urge every other mother to keep a box of the Tablets in the house." The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach; drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NATURE LORE

By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

A girl's summer camp is no place for a man. I have found that out.

Why I ever let myself be persuaded to take that camp of girls on a bird hunt is more than I can understand. I was fooled by the name of their new bird club, maybe, for they called it "The No-scare-'ems".

I began to think after a while, that they should have called their club "The Go-scar-'ems", or the "Splash-and-yell" bird club, for somebody always seemed to be falling into the lake, just at a time when I had found some shy bird to show them. However, a girl's camp is maybe more interesting than the birds I went to show them.

We had all sunk on a waterlogged raft, in the morning, while looking at a bittern in the rushes, and had returned to the camp for a rest and some hot coffee. It was about ten-thirty when we assembled again.

My reputation as a bird-man was in grave danger, for it is the most difficult thing in the world to go out with a big crowd and find wild life to look at, but they had foolish faith in me and I had lost so much of my wits, that I was almost ready to try and show them a kazoozoo-pink-eyed-waddler, if they had demanded it.

Well, the "No-scare-'ems" bird club of the girls' summer camp, with myself leading, but away in the rear, started out to see wild birds.

The place where this camp was located was far in the Laurentian Hills, north of Montreal.

I knew that wild life would show itself, sooner or later, if I could only keep the girls quiet. I began to wish I had help.

Not far away was a French Canadian farmhouse and a small lad in the yard, a boy about twelve years old. I went to him, much as a sinner would go to a judge, and asked his help in finding wild birds.

"Sure, I'm glad for do dat", says the lad, "you want for see nice loon wif one, two, maybe some more little one?"

Did we want to? Why ask?

We all started across the nearest hill and wood to a small lake, not much bigger than a mill pond.

Sure enough, there, on the water, was a common loon, such as we see at Muskoka or almost anywhere in the Canadian summer resorts, floating at ease, with one little one beside her.

She at once moved majestically out from shore and the "No-scare-'ems" moved down to the shore like the roar of many waves. The French lad winked at me and grinned. "That's very bad for see dose loon, she's plenty scare". The loon went away over to the other side of the water.

To make sure of seeing it close, I stationed all the girls at the one end of the lake and told them to all get settled. Then the lad was to go to the other end and wade into the lake and force the loon over to where we were in hiding.

One big girl got out on a leaning tree, well hidden by cedar branches, out over the water and rotten. I was going to find fault with that point of view, but was so glad to see everybody settled and quiet, that I let well enough alone, and as it worked out, perhaps it was best.

We were all settled there in hiding, on the shore, for almost half an hour, and I must admit that the "No-scare-'ems" meant business.

The mother loon and her young one were by this time convinced that the boy alone was to be watched, so they drifted and swam closer to us every minute.

We could make out that sharp bill the black and white checked back and the peculiar collar markings on the neck and the velvety sheen of the feathers on the neck and head. We watched the mother dive and teach the little one to do so. Whisperings began and I had to turn my back on the loon and hold up my finger for absolute silence, looking every girl square in the eye, and they all looked so thrilled and so silent and serious. A real crowd of good sports, game, silent and motionless. I was thrilled by their eagerness.

However, they had to live up to their name, since they had made such a noisy start with the first birds they had seen, but in this case it was not purely accidental, but possibly fortunate, for the heavy girl out on the overhanging log took too big a breath or something, for in the dead silence, with the mother loon and young one quite close, there was a creaky snapping sound and this big, healthy girl camper on the end of the tree, was deposited in the lake, not far from the loons.

Imagine the howls of laughter, the startled loon, the wet girl on the shore and the lad hollering questions in French.

The old loon took the first line of defence and dived under, then thought of her young one and came up to defend it. She rose up, almost out of the water into a foam and lather so white that it and her breast were one. She was doing her best to scare away the "No-scare-'ems".

And "The No-scare-'ems" Bird Club of the girls' summer camp departed from the lake, in one wild and merry chase back to camp, scaring everything within five miles or more. My name was saved, we had really seen something I packed my little bag and left with my reputation battered about a bit but still unbroken.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Gravice.)

"It appears that the young man who went in for Dick yesterday, Mr. Temples friend, is a duke, the Duke of Rothbury," she replies.

Like herself, he is neither elated nor awed, but he lisps a distinct refusal of the invitation.

"The Duke of Rothbury?" he says. "I—I think I've heard the title somewhere. Why do they ask us to go with them? I don't want to go; and I suppose you don't care for it. They are strangers, perfect strangers to us."

"He has already proved himself a very kind friend," says Leslie, gently.

He flushes.

"You mean in buying the picture? Yes, yes, But you know how I dislike strangers, and—and—excursions of this kind. And if you don't want to go very much I'd rather not. Besides, I don't particularly care about making the acquaintance of a duke; I am an artist, a professional man, and I do not believe in associating with persons so far above me in rank. No, we had better decline, I dare say my head will be all right presently, and I shall be able to work, and you can come with me and mix the colors, and so on."

"Very well, dear," she says, struggling to suppress a sigh. "You shall do just as you like. I should have liked to have gone, and the drive would have done you good."

"I am quite well, and I hate long drives," he responds, emphatically, "especially in the company of dukes. What is he doing down here?" he asks, testily "Did you say you went for a sail with him last evening?"

"Yes," says Leslie, with a sigh that will not be suppressed as she thinks of the moonlit sea, and the pleasant companion who unfortunately has turned out to be a duke. "Yes, and he was very kind and nice, and not a bit like so grand a personage," she adds, with a smile. "He loked exactly like a—fisherman last night, and talked like a young man fresh from school or college. He is not my idea of a duke at all; I fancy I must have thought that dukes talked in blank verse, and habitually wore their coronets and robes."

He waves the subject aside with nervous impatience.

"I don't know anything about them, and I don't want to," he says, getting up and fidgeting round the picture. "I've got this sky too deep, I think, and—" He continues in an inaudible mutter.

Leslie knows that it is useless to say any more, and is silent, and when her breakfast things are cleared away she gets out her plain little desk to write a refusal.

But at the outset she finds herself in difficulty. "My and Miss Lisle regret," ect., sounds too formal after that eminently informal sail last night, and yet she does not know how to begin her note in the first person. Should she address him as "Dear duke," or "Your grace," or "My lord," or how?

"Did you ever write to a duke, papa?" she asks at last, playing a tattoo with the pen-holder upon her white, even teeth.

"Never, thank Heaven," he says, absently.

"Then you cannot help me?" she says, with a sigh, and ultimately she puts the note in the formal method.

"Miss Lisle presents her compliments to the Duke of Rothbury and regrets that she and Mr. Lisle are unable to accept his kind invitation for to-day."

"It looks dreadfully stilted and ungrateful," she says to herself; "but it will certainly remove any risk of further acquaintance and papa will not be worried into knowing such a great personage."

She sends the note over by Mrs. Merrick's small servant, and in five minutes that diminutive maid comes back open-eyed and mouthed with awe and importance.

"If you please, miss, I gave the note to the gentleman what wheels the other gentleman's chair, and he says the duke has gone to Northcliffe, but he'll give him the note when he comes back."

Leslie laughs rather ruefully.

"We need not have worried about the drive to St. Martin, papa," she says. "The duke has forgotten all about it."

But the artist is painting away vigorously and apparently does not hear her, and with a feeling of disappointment which it is needless to struggle against, she gets out some work and seats herself at the open window.

She has proved more reliable than the usual run of weather prophets and the day is all she prognosticated. The street is bathed in sunlight, the sea is sparkling as if it had been sprinkled with amethsyts; there is a soft breeze laden with the perfume of the early summer flowers in the cottage gardens; a thrush perched on a tree close by is singing with all its might and main. It would have been very pleasant, that proposed drive to St. Martin.

The morning passes slowly onward; the artist, too absorbed by his work to notice the sunlight, or the sea, or the birds, is still painting when, with the striking of the midday hour there mingles the click clack of horses' hoofs on the stony street and Leslie looking up with a start—for she has been thinking of all she has lost—sees a wagonette and a pair of stylish bays draw up to the door.

On the box is Yorke, no longer in the fisherman's jersey, but clad in Harris tweed, his handsome face bright and cheerful, his whole "get up" and manner sugesting pleasure and a holiday.

JUST IN PASSING

There is one furnace that melts all hearts—love; there is one balm that sooths all pain—patience; there is one medicine that cures all ills—time; there is one peace that ends all strife—death; there is one light illuminates all darkness—hope.

Do You Know Him?

Beware of the man of whom his friends say, "Poor fellow, he is his worst enemy. He is 'Hail Fellow! Well Met!'" These friends forget those who are near to the man in home circles. A man can not be "Hail Fellow! Well Met!" with everyone without neglecting his business; without spending money unwisely that should belong to his family; without hurting and grieving the woman who loves him. I have seen such a man, jolly and good-natured abroad; and I have seen him, neither jolly nor good-natured at home. And so I insist he is a man to be avoided.

You Might Meet a Fool

On a road at the foot of the Rockies is a sign that reads—"Danger—Sharp Curve—You Might Meet a Fool." Such a sign is calculated to make a driver sit up and take notice. The latter sees at almost every sharp curve a notice to proceed with caution, or to blow his horn, and comes to be little impressed by them. He has confidence in his ability to avoid running into another car. But if there is a fool in the other car, the efforts of the most skillful driver would bear constantly in mind the possibility that there may be a fool ahead, not omy on the sharp curves but on the stretches of straight road. It is unwise to assume that each car on the highway is in charge of an experienced driver who knows the traffic rules and will obey them. You may think that inasmuch as you are keeping on your side of the road there is no danger of running your car at a high rate of speed. But you might meet a fool who will not stick to his side of the road.

POEMS Old And NEW

THE GYPSY

I've auctioned off the furniture
And bought a gypsy van
With flowered curtains at the sides,
A pot and frying pan,
Two quilts to keep me warm at night
When winds are blowing cold,
A crimson kerchief for my head,
And dangling hoops of gold.

I'm off to take the open road
That leads so far and free
To spots where I can camp at will
Beneath the greenwood tree,
And cook my evening meal in peace,
And pitch my little tent,
And have no landlord come around
To raise the monthly rent.

—Minna Irving.

THE WEAVER

God fills the world with loveliness and wonder,
From thread of heavenly dyes
He weaves a web of gold across the meadows,
Of stars across the skies.

But when He bids me set my loom in action,
I stand with drooping head.
I have no heart to weave, so neutral colored
And short my bit of thread.

Let me begin, and trust Him for the future.
Who knows what shining strands,
Twisted from jade and sunbeams, He is keeping
To give into my hands?

—Claribel Weeks Avery.

A PACKAGE OF SEEDS

I paid a dime for a package of seeds
And the clerk tossed them out with a flip.
"We've got 'em assorted for every man's needs."
He said, with a smile on his lip.
"Pansies and poppies and asters and peas!
Ten cents a package and pick as you please!"
Now seeds are just dimes to the man in the store,
And the dimes are the things that he needs.

And I've been to buy them in seasons before,
But have thought of them merely as seeds;
But it flashed through my mind as I took them this time,
You have purchased a miracle here for a dime!
You've a dime's worth of power no man can create.
You've a dime's worth of life in your hand!
You've a dime's worth of mystery, destiny, fate,
Which the wisest cannot understand.

"In this bright little package, now isn't it odd?
You've a dime's worth of something known only to God!"
These are seeds, but the plants and the blossoms are here
With their petals of various hues;
In these little petals so dry and so queer,
There is power which no chemist can fuse,
Here is one of God's miracles soon to unfold;
Thus for ten cents an ounce is divinity sold.

AUTHORS' DREAM CHILDREN

Most authors have an affection for certain children of their imagination. Dickens confessed to a special fondness for David Copperfield, largely perhaps on account of the element of autobiography in the book. Similarly, it is no secret that "Mowgli," the Wolf Boy of the "Jungle Books," is Rudyard Kipling's favorite among his fictional creations.

Though Sherlock Holmes is easily first in public estimation among all the characters created by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, first place in his own esteem is occupied by Rodney Stone. A very good second is Sir Nigel.

Thomas Hardy prefers to consider himself a poet rather than a novelist, but if he were to stand or fall by a novel he would choose "Tess," whilst H. G. Wells would probably choose Tono-Bungay.

Stevenson had a great affection for "Treasure Island," and Allan Quatermain is an easy first in Sir H. Rider Haggard's esteem.

W. W. Jacobs set his affections on that preacher, finished diplomatist, and sly humorist, Bob Pretty, whilst with all his later and perhaps more solid successes, Jerome K. Jerome looks back with a wistful fondness to "Three Men in a Boat," the books not only made his name but made the world laugh.

Not even Wendy can oust Babbie from first place in Sir James Barrie's heart, but it is probably his love for his old school, Harrow, which causes Horace Annesley Vachell to love "The Hill" better than any other member of his literature family. It is often difficult to account for these literary preferences. Mark Twain, for insance, regarded that little Scallywag, Huckleberry Finn, with an affection and devotion worthy of a better cause, and it is possible that, next to Copperfield, "The Artful Dodger" appealed most to Dickens.

Barbara La Marr Has Film Double

Remarkable Similarity to Star Revealed in "The Heart of a Siren."

The filming of "The Heart of a Siren," the Sawyer-Lubin production with Barbara La Marr, brought to light two perfect screen doubles, both of whom work in this film.

Arthur Nardell, who plays the part of a French officer, is startlingly like Adolph Menjou in physique, personality and face, and admirers of Menjou will find it hard to distinguish between the two when they see this La Marr picture.

The other double is Peggy Lockwood who resembles Miss La Marr so strongly that she could easily double for her.

Screen doubles are becoming more numerous every day, as aspirants for film honors who believe they look like some famous star force their way into the lower ranks of the movies. But in the case of Arthur Nardell and Peggy Lockwood, the similarity is coupled with decided ability.

"The Heart of a Siren" will be First National's offering at the Griffin Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It was directed by Phil Rosen, who made "Abraham Lincoln." Conway Tearle is co-featured with Miss La Marr.

Famous Dog Coming With The Big Tops

Has a Reputation That Extends; Made Fortune For Owner

"Toque" is coming to this city Thursday, July 2, with Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus. "Toque" is just a dog, but by no means a common dog. He has no pedigree, but he has a reputation that extends all over Europe and he has made a fortune for Alfred Loyal, who owns him.

"Toque" is a wonderful equestrian. He turns single and double somersaults on a horse's back, stands on his head in the saddle, and while sitting upright on the horse's back catches on his nose rings and clown caps tossed to him by Loyal. While the trainer stands in the saddle he perches himself, head down, on the man's head.

"Toque" is also a wonderful acrobat. He runs down an incline and, after turning somersaults in midair, goes hurtling through a paper hoop. "Toque" is the star of a troupe of twenty dogs including "Chiquita," the funniest of all canine actors. At the conclusion of their tricks a dozen of the swiftest, race around the top of the ring bank curb, just as chariots encircle the hippodrome track. And as they run along the narrow curb, "Toque", traveling at lightning speed from the opposite direction, leaps over the entire squad. They are called the "whirl-i-gig" dogs and furnish one of the scores of features specially arranged for the young patrons.

In special entertainment for the children this season's circus is remarkably strong. Two troupes of baby elephant performers appeal particularly to the young folks. They are the best kind of fun-makers and quite as clever as the three herds of full-grown elephants with which they perform in one big number. One of these youngsters walks on a rolling ball, guiding it all round the ring. Another sits in the seat of a wagon and drives like a man, a companion in full harness playing the part of a horse. They play on Swiss bells, they play at "Drop the Handkerchief" just like a party of children, they skip the rope, stand on their heads, play leap frog and football.

In addition to these dumb actors there are whole troupes and groups of funny old bears, seals and sea-lions, fox terriers, collie dogs, geese, pigs and Shetland ponies.

At The Belle

That women, crazed for social position, will sometimes drag their husbands right into financial disaster, is a point brought out by Cecil B. De Mille in his newest production for Paramount, "The Golden Bed," which will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Belle Theatre.

Lillian Rich, the latest screen "discovery" to make a bid for stellar honors under De Mille, and Vera Reynolds whom that director brought into prominence in "Feet of Clay," play out a verbal duel, wage a battle of wits for social mastery. For once the men in the families are mere pawns in the game.

"The Golden Bed" was written for the screen by Jeanie Macpherson from the novel of the same name by Wallace Irwin. Rod La Rocque has the leading man's role in the production. We first find him a struggling young candy maker who, by dint of hard work, becomes the owner of a large chain of stores.

Flora Lee Peake (Lillian Rich), hope of a poor but proud family who before young Holtz, played by La Rocque, had made his money wouldn't have anything to do with him, now sees a way to retrieve the family fortune—become Mrs. Holtz.

The other sister (Vera Reynolds) however, has been in love with Holtz from the beginning and it is when she sees the possibility of losing him that the fun begins.

De Mille has made a picture of this Irwin novel that is going to prove more popular than anything he has ever attempted before, excepting, of course, "The Ten Commandments."

The three aforementioned players all have featured roles in the cast of the picture as have Warner Baxter, Theodore Kosloff and Julia Faye.

Robert Edeson, Henry Walthall, and Robert Cain are but a few of the popular players in the supporting cast.

Here's a picture that affords De Mille every opportunity for beautiful women, spectacular scenes, gorgeous gowns and all the rest.

HER NERVES BETTER NOW

Received Much Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ontario.—"I started to get weak after my second child was born, and kept on getting worse until I could not do my own housework and was so bad with my nerves that I was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me a whole year before I was able to do my washing again. Through a friend I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it. I gave birth to a baby boy the 4th day of September, 1922. I am still doing my own work and washing. Of course, I don't feel well every day because I don't get my rest as the baby is so cross. But when I get my rest I feel fine. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and am going to keep on with it until cured. My nerves are a lot better since taking it. I can stay alone day or night and not be the least frightened. You can use this letter as a testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound." —Mrs. CHARLES CARSON, 27 Forsythe Street, Chatham, Ontario.

Mrs. Carson is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from female troubles.

Fiery Itchy Skin Soothed With Sulphur

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples or is rough or dry. Nothing subdues fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.

Result of Sacrifice

At the conclusion of the presentation of prizes, Rev. Dr. J. P. Wilson gave a brief an interesting address relative to the early history of Albert College and the good it had accomplished. The college was erected by sacrifices made by those who contributed towards its expenses, many mortgaging their farms to provide the money. The College had a wonderful tradition in its 70 years of existence. It was a place not only for secular training but moral training. The College has had a marvellous career and the Doctor had high ideals as to the future of the College in its new buildings.

Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker referred to the amount necessary to complete the erection of the proposed new buildings and equiping it. He was thankful for the health of the staff and students for the past year. The principal congratulated the staff on the results of the work for the past year and he also referred to the passing from the old church to the new and larger church. The singing of the national anthem and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Geo. Brown brought the proceedings to a close.

Nearing a Breakdown

A Condition That Calls for a Reliable Tonic

Many women give so much of their time to the cares of their household that they neglect their own health and sometimes reach the verge of a breakdown before they realise that their health is shattered. Often the heart palpitates violently at slight exertion, the stomach fails to digest food and discomfort follows. The nerves become weak and headaches grow more frequent. The body grows weak and they are always depressed. This condition requires immediate treatment with such a reliable tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which enrich and build up the blood, carrying renewed energy to every part of the body. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a rundown condition is proved by the following statement from Mrs. Alex. McInnes, Bowsman River, Man., who says:—"About a year ago I had a serious illness which left me very anaemic. I was not able to get around to do my work; in fact I could scarcely walk. I was troubled with palpitation of the heart with the least exertion. One day a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they had done her much good. I followed this advice and took the pills for some weeks when I felt as well as ever. I have since been able to attend to all my household duties. The dizziness and palpitation have left me and I bless the day I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are just the medicine for those who are weak and rundown."

You can get these pills from any dealer or by mail at 50c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ROSS OLIVER IS NOT GUILTY JUDGE DECIDES

Charge of Obtaining Goods By False Pretences Dismissed

OVER SALE OF HAY

Crown Alleged He Misrepresented Situation to Farmer

Ross Oliver was found not guilty on a charge of obtaining goods by false pretences in county criminal court here today before Judge G. E. Deroche, and discharged with a warning.

Oliver purchased hay from a farmer Robert Martin, who lives near Deseronto, August 18th, 1924, and though Martin was paid after delays, it was believed by the Crown that accused had obtained the goods primarily by false pretences, so the charge was laid.

The contract was for 20 tons of c lover and timothy and clover hay mixed, of good color, not musty and clean for which Martin was to receive $8 per ton, also 20 tons of Timoth numbery one at $9 per ton, all hay to be shipped in two weeks, weather permitting. The bargain was made between Oliver and Martin in the presence of Donaid Martin, a son, where the hay was.

Martin evidently found difficulty getting his money after delivery of the hay, but was finally paid for it by Oliver. Martin, his son Donald, and daughter Mary agreed on the stand that Oliver had stated that he was "buying hay for Dennee of Kingston". The Crown held that Oliver made this statement so that Martin would not fear dealing with him. Martin's fears might have resulted from previous dealings with Oliver when pay was slow because as Oliver testified, his consignee in the United States held up pay on account of alleged infefriority in of the day.

Important Point

On this point the case hinged. Judge Deroche held that Oliver might have said he "was buying hay for Denee of Kingston" and yet not infer that Dennee's money would pay Martin. He might have meant that he was buying hay himself to sell to Dennee. Though Martin, his son and daughter understood Oliver was working for Dennee and buying hay for him, His Honor believed it strange that at no time had they gone to Denee for the money, always approaching Oliver whom they believed was Dennee's agent only.

Oliver's evidence was a direct contradiction of the evidence given by father, son and daughter. He added that he had purchased the hay only after Martin had asked him to come and buy it, and that at the time he bought it he had remarked that it appeared a bit green and might heat in the car. He denied that in previous deals with Martin, his cheques were not honored at the bank.

Eugene George Dennee, Wholesale Produce merchant of Kingston, told of buying the car load of hay from Oliver who was not his agent though he had asked Dennee to permit him to buy hay for him.

"I would not consent", testified witness, "as I believed he was a bit careless he had no authority to purchase hay as my agent."

Dennee had no knowledge of the Martin deal, but when the hay was in turn sold and shipped to the shanties in the north country, officials there complained about its poor quality and held back payment to Dennee. "Through an over sight by a bookkeeper at the Shanties, who does not live at the same point where the hay was shipped, I received a cheque for $161.49 for the hay," explained Dennee.

"Do you expect them to ask for a refund" queried the Judge.

"I do not know. They have not yet done so."

Dennee received the cheque August 23rd, 1924.

Oliver was defended by W. S. Herrington K.C., of Napanee and County Attorney B. C. Donnan presented the case for the crown.

Train Knocked Man off Bridge

Art Donahue of Belleville In Unusual Accident Saturday

Art Donoghue, Manager of the Quinte Press, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a C.N.R. train and knocked from a treatle near Madoc into Moira Lake.

Donahue was fishing on the pier of the bridge, and was too engrossed to see the oncoming train.

Mr. Donahue swam to shore where he was helped out by his companions, W. Embury being among the group. The train which had stoped in the meantime took the party to Madoc. It was found that Mr. Donahue had sustained bruises only, and that outside of a severe shaking up his injuries were minor. He is resting easily to-day.

FARMER KILLED WHO ENTERED HOME OF BEAR

He Did Not Know Old House Was a Lair

MANGLED TO DEATH

Search Party Finds Him; Was Picking Rhubarb

(Canadian Press Despatch)

North Bay, June 22.—Eugene Genereaux, unarmed farmer, was mangled to death when he unwittingly entered the lair of a bear with two cubs in an old house a few miles from here yesterday. Blood spatered walls and the badly mangled body, one hand chewed off, were discovered when a search party started out for Genereaux when he was found missing, other evidence told the story.

Genereaux had gone to the neighborhood of old house to pick rhubarb and had entered, laying the rhubarb on the porch. It is conjectured the bear, a female, attacked Genereaux as he neared the cubs for there is evidence that the bear had been using the old house as a lair and had two cubs with her.

Genereaux, 38 years of age, leaves a wife and four small children.

NITRO GLYCERINE USED BY BANDIT

Toledo, Ohio, June 22.—A bottle of "nitro glycerine" in one hand and a revolver in the other, a robber held up the Union Savings Bank company, today, escaping with between four and five thousand dollars.

Clare Laingmaid, teller, was working behind his wicket when the robber stepped up and handed him this terse note:

"I have three accomplices waiting outside. In my hand I have a bottle of nitro glycerine. Give me all the money you have or I will drop the bottle on the floor."

Laingmaid read the note, looked down the barrel of the robber's revolver and then quietly handed over the money. The robber ran from the bank and was lost in the crowd.

I received from your representative today your very kind invitation to your celebration of One Hundred and Ten Years of Peace between Canada and the United States to be held at Belleville during the first week of August. Our city will try and be represented at this celebration.

Allow me to congratulate you on your choice of representative. He is certainly a fine specimen of manhood. The most pleasing personality and is a credit to your city.

Yours truly,

FELL IN RIVER

"Sonny" Gorman, 8, son of James Gorman, of Bettes St., fell off a pier of the Lower Bridge yesterday afternoon, and was rescued by Paul Smith, nearby resident of King St. The lad was fishing from the shoulder of the pier when he lost his balance in some way and slid down the sloping pier face to the water.

Kiwanians Passed Through Belleville

Were Met By City Club Members and Mayor Mikel

A Canadian National special train of Kiwanians passed through Belleville, Saturday afternoon bound for the Kiwanis International Convention being held this week in St. Paul. They were from the New England States and counted among their number the Governor of Massachusetts.

The train was met at the station by officers of the local club and Mayor W. C. Mikel, who invited them all to attend the Peace Celebration in Belleville in August.

ROSSMORE MAN IS KNOCKED OFF WHEEL

Arthur Stead of Huff's Island, R.R. No. 1, Rossmore, was knocked off his bicycle at 11.15 o'clock Sunday night at the corner of Bridge and Front street. One hand was bruised and the bicycle was damaged.

Stead was riding north on Front street and was turning west on Bridge street at the time of the accident. A car owned and driven by Fred Burley, 10 Grovt street, was travelling east on Bridge street and turned north on Front street. They collided.

P.S. D. T. Boyd took both men to the police station where the injured hand was bandaged. Burley drove the boy home after promising to settle for damages.

COLLEGE GIRLS INVADE CANADA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 22.—Seven hundred college girls from the United States will attend the convention of Phi Beta Phi women's fraternity to be held this week at Huntsville Muskoka. Five hundred from every state from Maine to California passed through the city yesterday and 200 more from the Eastern States went through today. Toronto college girls entertained a large party yesterday showing them through University of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Dyson spent Sunday in this city with her parents, Mr and Mrs. T. W. Sullivan, Victoria Avenue. They were enroute to Toronto after a wedding trip at Ottawa and other points in the east.

Mother Follows Son to Husband And Effects Happy Reconciliation

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 22—Following long and hitherto unavailing efforts to re-unite Charles Kinsey and his young wife who have fought each other in the courts for the custody of their infant son George, the trial ended to-day with a dramatic reconciliation after Mr. Justice Kelly granted custody of the boy to his father, to be delivered at once. Mr. Kinsey moved across the court room and took the boy from his mother's arms.

"Wherever my child goes, I will go" declared Mrs. Kinsey and she followed the two and in the corridor embraced her son. When reporters saw them a few minutes later, they were discussing their future.

PROPOSED NEW CANADIAN FLAG PUT IN DISCARD

Parliament Should Have Discussed Matter, Criticism Made

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL

Cancels Instructions to Committee; Body is Discharged

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, June 22.—Nothing will be done this year about the proposed new Canadian flag following the appointment recently of a committee of Government officials to consider designs for the national flag and submit recommendations to the government. Criticism has been made on the ground that parliament should first have discussed the matter and decided what should be done. Premier King informed the house to-day that in view of this, an order-in-council has been passed cancelling instructions to the committee of officials and the committee is discharged. It is not likely that the matter will come up in house this session.

HEAVY HAIL FELL IN THIS DISTRICT

The storm which decended on this part of the country yesterday afternoon was a freak, judging from the varying reports of the nature of the precipitation.

While there were no reports of snow on one side of Front Street, with torrid heat on the other, with hail stones down the middle, there was considerable disagreement as to the behavior of the atmospheric rumpus.

Hail fell heavily near Albert College while people within a mile reported no hail, but only rain.

Picton reported a crop of doorknobs which, upon closer inspection proved to be hail stones.

E. B. Yarmouth, clerk of Bloomfield township, said over the phone this morning that there had been no hail, and only a very short sprinkle of rain, with pleasant sun all the while.

ALBERT COLLEGE MEN RAISE SUM

For the past three years the students of Albert College have been making a grant to the local Y.M.C.A. to be applied to foreign work in connection with the Association. This year the sum given was $27, an increase of $2 over the two previous years. To Mr. Ralph Spencer, chairman of religious work in connection with the college and Mr. James Cook, President of the students Council is due much credit in securing the grant this year.

STIRRING UP PREJUDICES

Just as the arguments of the socialists against capitalism are based not so much on the conditions of the masses in a country like Canada as they are on prejudices against people of means, so are the arguments for birth control based not on the hardships of those people who lack knowledge of the subject but on prejudices created in the supposition that the educated and well-to-do have easy access to such knowledge unsound and merely serve to create class dissentions.

In a letter to the editor of the Mail and Empire, G. D. B. Walker, referring to birth control, asks: "By what right does he say that the 'well to-do' and 'educated' classes can obtain all the knowledge they want on birth control, but the 'poor' and 'ignorant' cannot, and in another sentence say that it is a criminal offence for a doctor to impart this information?" Mr. Walker declares that the implication is altogether unjustified and most unfair to the medical profession. Continuing, he pertinently asks who in Canada are referred to as the well-to-do. He adds that Prof. MacIvor evidently has the old country viewpoint which has no place in a young country like Canada so greatly in need of increased population and so capable of providing a good living for such increase. He quotes Sir John Aird on Canada's need for population in support of this contention.

STATE OF MIND

A man from Nova Scotia and one from British Columbia spoke at the same luncheon during the Canadian Manufacturers' Association convention at Hamilton.

The Maritime manufacturer pleaded for further assistance for the Maritime Provinces and asked for greater co-operation from the central provinces in helping the provinces by the Atlantic Coast to solve their problems.

The British Columbia manufacturer spoke with a note of keen optimism. He pointed out that the manufacturers on the coast were not close to their markets. They were not in close contact with the Maritimes, and they had higher freight charges to contend with. They had no shipping subsidies and no other favor. Yet they were going ahead about their business, working hard, and not only were they making British Columbia prosperous, but they were optimistic.

Perhaps this little study in contrasts is not without food for thought.

THE TEST

Because of the backwardness of the season, an appeal has been made to bass fishermen to limit their catches for the next few weeks. It should be possible to judge whether a man is a sportsman or a mere fish-getter by the response he makes to such an appeal.

MR. EDISON ON STATIC

(New York Sun)

It is usually the inventor who is making glowing predictions and the public that is ridiculing him and declaring his prophecies impossible of fulfillment. Stephenson and his locomotive, Fulton and his steamboat, Langley and the Wrights and their flying machines—these are but typical instances of men who faced the laughter of the skeptical. But now the roles are reversed. We find Thomas A. Edison asserting that "radio fans can never hope for the total elimination of static"—and even find him saying that he sees no commercially profitable future for talking motion pictures and for color motion pictures. Such assertions come at a time when the general public is ready to believe that anything can be done and inclined only to doubt those who say that any given invention is impossible. Having seen the birth and development of so miraculous a thing as the radio, and having found transmission of pictures by air across the Atlantic and Pacific workable, the layman tends to look on the elimination of static as comparatively a very minor problem. He would be willing to believe if an authority told him that static was not likely to be eliminated on the basis of our present knowledge, any time in the next 30 years, but "never" is a word which he somehow refuses to take literally in this connection. Mr. Edison and other authorities are reluctant to say that anything can be done until they see, however vaguely, a method by which the achievement might be possible. They realise the immense and seemingly insuperable difficulties that lie in the way of eliminating static, and no promising method to surmount them has yet appeared. The general public happily ignorant of these difficulties, will probably continue to regard the solution of that problem, as well as the problem of color motion pictures as only a matter of time.

NATURE LORE

By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

What good is a lake without a loon?

That question does not mean anything unless you have seen a loon on one of our numerous lakes in summer. We go to our woods and lakes for our vacations and we are very often so ignorant of what to look for, that we miss most of it. The loon is one of these things. If you have ever been to a summer place, where a loon was on the lake, and have gone again, another year, to find the lake but no loon, you will understand for it is one of the joys of summer, to find the old camping place, but if the loons do not echo our laughter, as they did last year, we begin to think something is wrong.

One year, I remember, we began to gather stuff for camp, and a woman who used to come to our house twice a week to help with the work, caught the camping bug and wanted to go with us. She had never been to a summer place and I was afraid that she would be afraid in the wild places. However, we took her.

She had a tent, not far from ours, and seemed to enjoy things, especially the loud echoes, coming back over the water when we called, but one morning, about four o'clock, we heard a yell, and rushed out to see what the trouble was, and there was Mrs. Martin, with her tousled head sticking out of the tent opening ready to yell "murder", if some little bird would say "boo".

And the whole trouble was nothing but a pair of wild loons, enjoying the smooth lake at dawn, and sending their wild, free laughter across the water, to hear it come back, in weird and wilder echoes. The thought of savages, laughing in wild joy, was bad for Mrs. Martin's nerves, but when she heard the uncanny echoes of these laughs, her nerves were a wreck, until she saw the loons and began to know them. Before long she wished she could swim and laugh with them.

SUNRISE AT SUNDOWN

(Philadelphia Public Ledger)

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard, observed his ninety-first birthday by working as hard as ever. At his advanced age Dr. Eliot is one of the intellectual marvels of the time. For he has not let himself become a shriveled, wizened academician. It is reassuring to find him believing as steadfastly at 91 as he did in the morning of his life that, if men keep faith with one another and are willing to serve, the world they live in, industrial amity is a realizable fact and not a millennial ideal.

WHY THESE NEW TAXES

(Financial Post)

In view of the retrenchments being made in their spending by business concerns and private individuals, it is indeed difficult for taxpayers to understand why governments should go on increasing expenditures and evolving new taxes in order to get the necessary funds. In Ontario there have recently been inaugurated a new tax on gasoline and another on beverages. Both of these taxes are much less objectionable than some others. In view of the large sums being spent on good roads, largely for the benefit of motor traffic, it may be argued that owners of cars and trucks should pay a larger assessment—provided it is devoted to the roads program. Then there is much to be said for the theory that those who want to drink 4.4 beer should be ready to pay for it, although it is not quite clear why ginger ale and pop should be put in the same class. And another point to be said for these taxes is that they are readily collectable and should return a large percentage in net revenue. But the point being raised by the taxpayers is that if revenues are to be augmented by these new taxes then there should surely be some relief in other directions. There has been no real evidence of need of the government to spend more money under the conditions prevailing—why then these new taxes?

Thirty Years Ago

Many friends in this city of Mr. Robert Richardson who this year celebrates his golden year with the bank of Montreal, last evening met in the Council chamber and presented him with an address previous to his sailing for a trip to England. For 50 years Mr. Richardson has been in various capacities connected with the Bank of Montreal.

At an early hour this morning fire did considerable damage to a storehouse of J. R. Brower in rear of the Centre block, Front street.

The Printers baseball team yesterday afternoon by a score of 25 to 21 defeated the clothiers team of the city.

Upwards of 100 summons were to-day issued against citizens who have neglected to take out licenses for their dogs.

A party of children from England and Scotland arrived at the Marchmont home in this city to-day.

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

The Old Walls of Avila

To anyone with the slightest gift of imagination, ancient Avila, with its eleventh century walls, with its eighty-six towers and ten gates, is one of the greatest visions of Spain. The invention of modern artillery has robbed the old city of its impregnability, though in places the walls are fourteen feet thick. It is a peep at an old world that elsewhere is a memory. As one of the earliest bulwarks of Spanish Christianity that was to roll back the advancing tide of Islam, the fortified city stands like a dream that American movies sometimes create for portrayal of the mighty adventures of some medieval knight.

A City of Caesars That Weaves Your Brussels Carpets

Tournai on the Scheldt is one of the cleanest and most picturesque cities of Belgium. It was a city and fort in Caesar's day when it was called Civitas Nerviorum. To the modern business man, it stands chiefly for its coal mines but I like to remember that the Flemings who brought the art of carpet weaving to Europe from the Saracens in the time of the Crusades, started here to weave the first Brussels carpets. Many of them are still made by the weavers in their own dwellings. It was also from Tournai that Napoleon secured the gold bees that he sewed on his imperial robes as symbols of his rise to power, which were taken from the tomb here of Childeric I who died over 1500 years ago.

Where They See The Ghost of Shelley

A century has shown great changes in Viareggio where Shelley's body was washed ashore and Trelawney and Byron watched its cremation. It was then by all accounts a lonely shore. Today it welcomes a hundred and fifty thousand visitors a season. Puccini and La Duse spent years of rest here, even as also did Paoline Bonaparte in an earlier day. The same balsam pines that fed Shelley's funeral pyre still stand. The natives, I found, maintain that they often see the ghost of Shelley sailing the sea or walking that shoreland. Viareggio is at the foot of the Luni Alps where the white marble mountains of Aronte rise, mountains that furnished Michael Angelo with his purest marbles.

"DEAR SAM"

In which Bill indicates that newly acquired wealth is awkward and presents unusual problems.

BY J. H. CREIGHTON

Dear Sam,—

One of the first moves which a gink usually makes when he has just cleaned up some jack is to call in the entire firm of Watkins, Watkins, Oglethorpe and Watkins, Architects, and grumble, "Build me a home".

That's what I done last month when I bought up all the ivory mah-jong sets I could lay my hands on, for a nickle a set, and sold them back to the elephants at a bargain.

Last night, Messrs. Watkins, Watkins, Oglethorp and Watkins came trooping into the house with the plans for the home. Each guy had a roll of plans under his arm as big as a sewer pipe, and I thought at first the paper hangers had arrived with samples. I hadn't given any directions except to say the house was just for me—one guy—but when I lamped this delegation I thought each one had seen double and that after talking it over among themselves, decided I was at least eight guys.

However it come out that they was carryin four houses with them, not one, which was quite a trick, as they wasn't a big man in the bunch. I couldn't see no difference in the plans, as they was ell labeled "lower elevation" and I wanted to see, what they looked like from the sidewalk. Also they was no "x" markin my room, so I was a bit lost. That was O.K. anyway, I guess, 'cause I figger I'd be lost in any of them houses if I ever got turned loose for 5 minutes. So I finally said, "Well, gents, I prefer this one, not lookin but grabbin one modest billboard in my claws. They all said that was their favorite, so I wondered why they brung all four with them unless they were fixin to sell the whole squad of them to me or to the eight of me, rather.

For a minute I dang near took the whole pile of them, thinkin I'd live in each one four months out the year and name em after the seasons. However I give up the idea when I thought of a bird with all my dough livin for 4 mos in a spring house.

So when the four guys decided it would be O.K. to sell me the shack I had pulled out of the lottery, they dragged in several bales of blue prints out of the hall so's to show me how the insides of this cottage would stack up.

After recoverin from my daze at seein a ball-room, swimmin pool, (with specks on it to indicate battleships in it, I guess), a billard room and several other nooks and corners spread all over the place, I suddenly give a howl when I see the walls of this ranch. Sam, they was at least a thousand holes all down near the floor! "What is this, gents, a honeycomb, or a telephone switchboard?" I stutters at the burglars. "Well, sir," coughs up one of the three Watkinses (or maybe it was Oglethorp) "these are plugs." "Will this thing leak so bad I've got to be sticking plugs in the walls when it rains?" I busted out, just rememberin I ain't seen no roof to this joint. "No, sir, not that. These plugs are for light and power and for all sorts of connections, as phone, radio, fan, sweeper—any of the uses to which electricity may be put. Any house or apartment that makes any pretense at being modern is equipped with at least five plugs to each room."

"Why can't them things stay put in one plug?—Do I have to use them all?—how do I know what they're all for anyway?" was only a few of the things I hurled at them without waitin for an answer.

Just then I begin to think how complicated things would be if I'd get them plugs mixed up some day. I'd hook up a fan to the radio plug and instead of gettin cool, I'd get, "This is station B. V. D." or I'd plug in the phone in the toaster plug and get my mits fryed.

Bout then I give them the bums rush and got my other shirt and moved to this hotel. They is only one light in the room, and it turns on and off; and one phone, and it don't work at all, so I'm all jake.

Yours truly

BILL.

P.S.—"X" marks my room.

NOISE HINDERS BABIES

London, June 22.—Baby specialists here say that noise and turmoil often have a serious effect on the growing child. They have found that children with exactly the proper food often fail to thrive in noisy parts of the city. After taking them to a quieter place, the health of the babies has improved.

The Crystal Gardens, the splendid new pleasure resort for the city of Victoria, B.C., will be opened at the end of June and will form one of the unique attractions of that city. It will be both a winter and summer garden and possesses a salt water swimming tank, claimed to be the largest on the continent. Citizens of Victoria are already using the Gardens prior to its official opening.

Screening at the Capitol Theatre, Montreal, of the scenes through which the University of Montreal across-Canada trip and the similar journey of the Teachers' Federation of Canada will pass, attracted a large and appreciative audience. The film was a revelation of the beauty of Canadian cities and scenery. The University of Montreal trip will start from that city July 7 and will return July 28. The trip of the Teachers' Federation will commence July 20 and will conclude August 10.

Frank W. Ashby, secretary of the Manufacturers' Association of Australia, a recent visitor at Banff, said he found Canada to have a most delightful climate and "cities which are more modern than our own." Mr. Ashby said the impression in Australia had been that Herschell Island and Baffin's Bay were linked up municipally with Montreal and Winnipeg, and thought that the best way to correct these geographical misconceptions was to encourage more tourist travel from other parts of the Empire.

OSHAWA CONSTABLE MAY GET $3,000

Oshawa, June 22.—Police Constable Herbert Flintoff, of the Oshawa police force, may receive the $3,000 reward offered for the capture of Giovanni Vottari, who was arrested in a Bloor Street home here on the evening of Friday, February 27, on a charge of murder. The arrest was made by Constable Flintoff, who walked into the room and drawing his gun ordered the man to give himself up. Vottari did not resist arrest. Constable Flintoff made application for the reward, which has not yet been paid owing to a dispute as to rightful party. However, developments within the past few days indicate that the reward will be given to the local officer. D. A. J. Swanson, local solicitor acting for Constable Flintoff, made a special trip to Hartford, Conn., over the week-end to represent him when the case came up for a hearing in that city. Nothing definite was decided upon, the case being adjourned until a later date.

KINGSTON ARRANGES FOR TOURIST CAMP

Kingston, June 22.—The members of the civic finance committee met the directors of the Kingston Automobile Club on Thursday afternoon in referance to the establishment of a motor tourist camp, and decided to assist the club in the proposed camp to be located at Lake Ontario Park.

The camp site was not decided as a permanent one, but for this year only, and while the finance committee was not altogether in favor of having the camp at Lake Ontario Park, the members desired to assist the motor club, in view of the fact that negotiations had progressed so far. One suggestion was that the camp be located on the Barriefield side of the causeway.

GRANTS TO RURAL SCHOOLS

A circular has recently been issued from the Department of Education, Toronto, that has a particular interest to rural school boards at this season of the year whed they are making their contracts for teachers for the coming school year.

In the circular the Minister of Education announces that the system of apportioning the Legislative Grants to Rural Schools, and to small urban centres such as villages and towns with a population of less than 2,000, that has been in operation now for a number of years, will be continued for next year. From time to time there have been indications that there was to be a change in the apportionment, but this circular settles the matter for at least another year, and Boards can make heir contracts, with a full knowledge of what they may expect in the way of Legislative assistance.

IN MEMORIAM

TWINING—In fond and loving memory of our dear boy "Sonny" who died June 21st, 1921.

Fondly remembered by his parents, sisters and brother.

WANNAMAKER—In loving memory of Lorena Aletha Wannamaker, who departed this life June 22nd, 1924.

One year has passed since that sad day,
When our darling child was called away.
God took her home, it was His will,
But in our hearts she liveth still.

More and more each day we miss her;
Friends may think the wounds are healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That is within our hearts concealed.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of sorrow often flow,
Memory keeps our loved one near us
Whom God claimed one year ago.

We who loved you so dearly miss you,
As it dawns one long year;
In the lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
Sadly missed by Father, Mother and family.

FOUNDERS IN CANADA

ON Place d'Armes in the City of Montreal stands a monument to Sieur de Maisonneuve who, landing near this spot in the year 1642, founded the settlement which is now the City of Montreal.

Facing Place d'Armes stands the Bank of Montreal, which opened its doors for business a short distance from the same spot over one hundred years ago.

From the settlement founded by Maisonneuve, civilization has spread to the east and west until to-day the Dominion of Canada extends from Halifax to Vancouver.

Likewise the Bank of Montreal has grown, until after over a century of steady and conservative progress, it to-day has Branches in all of the cities and larger towns in Canada, with offices in the principal financial centres of the world, and correspondents in every country.

OSHAWA TAKES ANOTHER VICTORY FROM PETERBORO ON SATURDAY ; SPORT VERSUS MURDER

What is Sport

Just what is sport?

One July afternoon a few years ago more than ninety thousand "sport lovers" paid something over $1,600,000 to see Jack Dempsey, the greatest exponent of modern prize-fighting, batter down Georges Carpentier, an opponent of much frailer physique. Dempsey was in no danger of being hurt. He knew in his heart that it meant just one snarl and one rush at his victim. He chose to prolong it for the "sake of sport."

Carpentier knew that he had no chance. We went into the ring at Boyle's Thirty Acres much in the frame of mind of a victim walking to the electric chair. But because he had real courage and sang froid and was a great actor, he walked to his doom with a smile that might have seemed genuine if one had not seen the gray and haggard face of the victim before he emerged from his dressing room.

This was the "Battle of the Century," the great moment of modern sport. The gate receipts set a record for professional sport that never will be broken.

Dempsey was paid $300,00 for knocking out a man who had no chance against him. Carpentier was paid $200,000 for being knocked out. The spectators paid as high as $50 each for seeing an event that was as near being a sporting event as the slaughtering pens of the Chicago stockyards on a busy day.

The other morning just at dawn Miss Gertrude Ederle, seventeen, took to the water off the Battery and swam to Sandy Hook, a distance of twenty-one miles more or less. Battling the tides, she reached her goal in 7 hours, 11 minutes and 30 seconds, breaking the record for the course, which was held by a man.

This was merely a training stunt for Miss Ederle. Later in the year she will try to break a record for swimming the English Channel. Only three men have succeeded in doing this. Miss Ederle's swim the other morning was made for the purpose of assuring herself that she could go the distance, as they say. It seems certain that she can. She had a hard fight with adverse tides at the start. She did not rest and she took no nourishment while she was in the water. She finished smiling and apparently not at all wearied.

In a few months Gertrude Ederle will be fighting the more turbulent and more treacherous waters of the English Channel for nothing at all but the glory of her sex and the love of sport.

What is sport? The man trained in the work of modified murder "killing" a helpless antagonist for a record purse, or the seventeen-year-old girl fighting the elements for nothing at all?

"NOT A SPORTING SPIRIT"

Under the heading, "Not A Sporting Spirit," the Peterboro Examiner has the following in its editorial comment on the row which took place at Peterboro, in the Peterboro-Belleville game on Saturday last:

"Prompt intervention by the city police prevented the spectacle of one man, a baseball umpire, being attacked and beaten by a mob at the conclusion of Saturday's game at the James Stevenson Park.

"It is fortunate that the officers were alive to the situation, for their action doubtles saved Peterboro from gaining a black-eye in the world of sport.

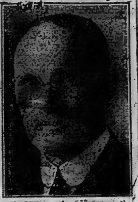
"The Examiner hopes that such scenes will not be repeated.

"Of all the silly things that could be done by a crowd there are few that are quite so needlessly foolish as trying to inflict personal violence upon an official in charge of any particular pastime who happens to make a ruling adverse to the home team's chances.

"Nothing could be gained by it; and much could be lost.

"It is disquieting to find such a spirit rampant in a Peterboro crowd, indicating as it does that we are getting a long distance away from the British standard of fair play and of sportsmanlike acceptance of the ruling of officials."

Traffic on the cut-over of the C. N. R. was tied up for several hours at Merritton when a train coming down the mountain on the old Welland division split the switch, turning three cars on their sides The wrecking crew from Hamilton was called to clear the tracks.



Dean Sinclair Laird

Head of Macdonald College who will personally conduct a party from the Canadian Teachers' Federation and their friends on a trip across Canada on Canadian Pacific Railway trains, steamships, and motors from Toronto to Vancouver and return, starting July 20 and returning August 10. The trip will cover the beauty spots of Northern Ontario, the major cities of the West and the Canadian Rockies. It will cover stop-overs at all points of interest and the Rockies will be seen from open observation cars, motors,—including a 104-mile run over the famous Banff-Windermere Highway—and overnight stops at chalets and bungalow camps in the heart of the Mountains. On the return trip there will be a steamship trip from Fort William at the Head of the lakes to Port McNicholl which will end the trip. As an educational experience the trip will be without its equal in teaching Canadians the beauties and interest of Canada.

Treasure Hunters On Fool's Errand

Sought Billion Long Since Removed From Sunken Ship

San Pedro, June 22.—A long tale of woe was unfolded by seven members of treasure-hunting expedition that arrived here recently in the purse-seiner Balboa after an unsuccessful search for $1,500,000 in gold bullion that was aboard the old Pacific Mail side-wheeler Golden Gate which burned and sank off Manzanillo, Mexico, in 1862.

The Balboa, which left here May 2, returned May 27, batterned from severe buffeting by wind and tide.

Several months ago C. G. Curry, a railway conductor of Leavenworth, Kan., had on his train a passenger who was said to be the only living person who knew the exact location of the sunken treasure. Curry purchased from the man charts of the treasure ship's location and formed a syndicate to find the golden hoard which, it was said, had lain more than 60 years on the floor of the Pacific Ocean.

A crew to man the Balboa was obtained here. It included Captain Clifford asey, owner of the vessel Robert Turner, a caretaker of a yacht club; Hans Pohlman, who was skipper of the racing yawl Poinsettia; an engineer, a second mate and two seamen.

The reamains of the Golden Gate they found off Manzanillio without difficulty. Efforts to reach the treasure which lay in eight fathoms of rough water proved unsuccessful, as a high surf and a heavy ground swell repeatedly upset their small skiff. Discouraged, the expedition put into Manzanillo, where they learned from the American consul that other treasure hunters had recovered the bullion years ago.

The expedition then, headed for San Pedro. Their return voyage was one of hardships. They encountered a gale that continued for days. Their food and fuel supplies ran short. Seven hungry, weary and disappointed men stepped off the Balboa when it docked here.

Joseph Maracle and George Millers, Six Nations Indians were remanded in the Police Court at St. Catharines, pending investigation by the Provincial Police of a series of automobile thefts in this district, also thefts of auto accessories.

CHICAGO MARKET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, June 22.—Influenced by a noticeable lack of aggressive buying, wheat showed an early trend downward in price today. The fact that speculative demand failed to develop was given particular attention by reason of advices at hand saying that Spring wheat in northwest was in prime condition to receive black rust infection. Chicago opening quotations unchanged to 1¼c lower were followed by declines to 153¾; July 151 7-8 and September. Moist warm weather in corn belt led to lower prices for corn. After opening at 1-8c to 1c off September 107 7-8 to 108 1-8, market underwent decided setback, September touching 106 3-8. Oats sympathised with weakness of other cereals. Starting unchanged to 7-8c lower, September 49 3-4 to 49 7-8. Oats continued to sag. Provision traders took their cue from action of grain rather than from hog values.

OSHAWA WINNERS AGAIN SATURDAY

Peterboro, Ont., June 22.—Peterboro lost its fourth straight game Saturday afternoon, Oshawa turning the trick, 2-1, on the Petes' own mud heap. A fly by Warde, a former Peterboro boy, in the first inning, and which went for a double when Legon misjudged it, caused the trouble. There were runners on second and third at the time, and what should have been the third out of the inning provided easy transportation home for Tyson and Warde with what proved to be he winning runs.

In the fifth the Petes bridged half the gap, scoring once on Wolfe's mammoth triple and Hardill's sacrifice, but although runners were on the sacks several times, the punch to score the tying run was not forthcoming.

Hardill pitched his second game since joining the Petes this week and the 18-year-old recruit from the junior ranks hurled shut-out ball. The line-ups:

Oshawa—Rowden, 2b; R. Fair, cf; Tyson c; Warde, 3b; Morrison, ss; Dineen, 1b; Saunders, 1b; Roddick, lf; W. Fair, rf; Lennox, p.

Peterboro—Legon, lf; Johnston, ss; Holyman, ss; Swanston, c; Harrison, 1b; Rose, 2b; Hall, cf; McPherson, 3b; Wolf, rf; Hardill, p; Heckman, Ross.

Umpires—Colling, Belleville, at the plate, and Sullivan, Kingston, on the bases. Score:

In the Heart of Sweden

Too often the tourist misses the real Swede, because he simply calls at Stockholm on his way to some other land. Stockholm Swedes are cosmopolitan and cosmopolitans are the same everywhere. One of the best places to find the real Swede, the tall, powerful uncommunicative but hospitable Swede, is among the Dales-men of Dalarna and Lake Siljan Here the old-fashioned costumes, industries and customs yet live. These men are calm and deliberate and know what they want, and happy is the tourist who gets their friendship. If you could attend the quaint church service, as I did, at Leksand at the south of the lake, with the worshippers coming, some in the old long narrow row boats, all in the flower costumes, you would have a picture of Sweden that you would never forget.

Chief Fewtrel made a good catch at Paris, in the arrest of Alfred Geo. Darlison, age 19, of no fixed abode. His movements being suspicious, the chief arrested him and found a loaded revolver in his pocket. The wheel Darlison was riding he had stolen from Hamilton. The prisoner was sentenced on two charges to three months for each.

This photograph decided the 25-mile dirt track race at Atlanta, Ga., and shows Ed. ("Pep") Daily, of Tampa, Fla., driving across the finish line about 3-8 of a breath ahead of the world's dirt track champion. Sig Haugdahl, in his special-built car, supposed to be the speediest in the world. The judges first said "tie" and ordered a run-off, but then declared the photo would decide, and gave first money to Daily.

Your Rose Bushes

For Spraying Them

Rose bushes are particularly susceptible to attack by a certain type of insect life popularly known as rose-lice.

There are all sorts of remedies for this plague, but most of them are complicated to prepare or else dangerous to keep around because of their poisonous character. A very simple method of destroying the aphis or rose-lice consists of spraying the plant with a soap solution, using about two tablespoons Ivory flakes to a gallon of warm water.

This simple remedy can be prepared in a very few minutes from a material that is always on hand, and it has the advantage of being perfectly harmless both to the flower and to the roots of the plant.

GIRL ROBIN HOOD STOLE FOR POOR

Winnipeg, June 22.—Astounding operations of a female Robin Hood, who, it is alleged, stole to give to the poor, were unfolded in city Police Court here yesterday, during the preliminary hearing of Jean Bromley, a smartly attired young woman, on a charge of theft. Adjournment was ordered until Thursday.

Detectives say they have been trying for a year to capture a clever pickpocket who regularly made departmental stores a field of operations. With the arrest of the accused they claim to have the "elusive dip." They allege she would drive up to a store in an expensive limousine, pick some pocket and then drive off.

According to evidence, Jean was apprehended after removing a purse from the pockets of a lady shopper. Following her arrest she was asked why she did it. "You will laugh if I tell you. I give it all to charity," police said she replied.

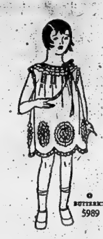
FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon



BUTTERICK 5989

The social season makes heavy demands on the wardrobe of the youngest daughter of the house. She needs at least one daintily frivolous dress.

It is a relief these practical days to be able to classify a frock as an out-and-out party dress. The most arrant tomboy will need no admonition to behave like a little lady in such avowedly formal attire. Airy batiste or organdy is group-tucked at the neckline, thereby giving soft fulness to the dress. Small picoted frills, in self or harmonizing colors or in white, edge the neck, sleeves and hem scallops. Huge cocardes of the frills make the [illegible] a final excuse for juvenile vanity

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

After quieting the horses with words and a touch of the whip, he looks down from his high perch, and seeing the startled eyes looking up at him, raises his hat and smiles.

"Are you ready?" he inquires, just as he inquired last night.

Leslie shakes her head and tries to smile, but the effort is a failure, and putting down her work, she comes to the open door.

"Oh, I am so sorry," she says. "Did you not get my note?"

"What note?" he asks. "Stands still, will you! No, I haven't seen any note. What was it about?"

"We cannot come," she says, with a look at the horses which is more wistful even than she knows.

His face clouds instantly.

"Not come! Oh, I say! Has anything happened? Why not? It's the loveliest day——"

"Yes, isn't it?" she assents, shading her eyes and looking round. "But my father is not well. He has a headache, and——"

"Why, that's all the more reason he should go!" he responds, promptly. "The drive would set him straight!" he urges, remonstratively. "Look here, I'll go and speak to him."

"And while you do the horses will run away straight into the sea," she says with a smile.

"No, they won't. If you don't mind just standing by this one, the near one. If he moves growl at him like this, 'Stand still!' He'll stop directly."

"Well, I'll try," she says, laughing in spite of herself; and he goes straight into the room.

Lisle looks up at him with impatient surprise and half-dazed; it is as if the young fellow had brought the brilliant sunlight in with him.

"Mr. Lisle, you don't mean to say you aren't coming?" says Yorke.

"Coming? Where? He has forgotten all about the invitation.

"Why, to St. somewhere or other," says Yorke. "It never entered my head that you'd refuse. Why should you? If you don't care about it yourself, you ought to go for Miss Leslie's sake. She wants a change, an outing; any one can see that. Perhaps you haven't noticed how pale she looks this morning."

Leslie is all right," says Lisle irritably "she is always strong and well. I'm sorry we cannot accompany you, but I beg your pardon, you are standing in my light. Thank you."

Yorke looks from the pale, livid face of the dreamer to the impossible picture on the easel, and bites his lips. He is sorely tempted to catch up the artist, easel and all and bundle them into the carriage. Then a far better and more feasible idea strikes him.

"I'm sorry you can't go, Mr. Lisle," he says as differently as he can, "because I thought of asking you to make a rough sketch of the castle for me. Want it for my own room, you know. I'm awfully mad on water colors."

Mr. Lisle looks up with awakened interest.

"There is a good sketch to be got of the west end, the turret," he murmurs, absently.

"That's just what I wanted," Yorke strikes in promptly. "That's the bit I was going to ask you to paint. Come along, sir; allow me," and he catches up the portable easel and paint box and carries them out before Lisle can realise what is being done.

"All right!" Yorke cries to the astonished Leslie; "he is coming. Run in and put your things on, and don't give him time to think."

"But", falters Leslie, a smile beginning to break on the lovely face.

"But nothing!" he cuts in. "Please be quick, or he'll have time to change his mind."

Leslie runs in, laughing and Yorke, stowing the easel under the seat, shouts out for Grey.

"Tell the—Mr. Temple we're ready," he says quickly. "Got that hamper?"

"Yes, your grace," says Grey.

"Confound—all right then. Get your master down as soon as possible; and Grey, bring me out a glass of ale. Heigh ho, that was a narrow squeak," and he draws a long breath. "What, let him deprive her of an outing? Not if I had to take the house as well!"

Presently the duke and Grey came out, and Grey helps him into his seat. They have not long to wait for the other two, and Yorke looks approvingly at the slim graceful figure, which plainly dressed though it may be, is unmistakably that of a lady.

Mr. Lisle scarcely knowing what they are doing with him, is bundled in; and Yorke, as a matter of course, stands by to assist Leslie to the seat on the box beside him.

"But would not someone else like to sit there?" she says, hesitatingly.

"I am sure Mr. Lisle would be more comfortable inside," he says. "And we mustn't keep the horses waiting longer than we can help, please," he says, and he puts his hand under her elbow and hoists her up carefully.

Then he springs into his place, touches the horses with the whip and away they go.

Leslie draws a long breath. It is not until they have got to the open country that she can believe that they have actually started.

"It was a near thing," he says, as if he were reading her thoughts.

"Yes," and she smiles; "I don't know how you managed it."

He laughs light-heartedly.

"It was done by force of arms. "I meant you—I mean Mr. Lisle—to go, and when I mean a thing I'm hard to obstruct."

"This is rather a grand turn-out, Yorke," remarks the duke. "May one ask where and how you got it? It doesn't look like a hired affair."

"It isn't" he replies. "When I got to Northcliffe I ran against little Vinson, who appears to be staying there. The wagon was standing outside and he asked me if I would like to go for a drive. I said I should if he let me have the horses and not ask to go with me. He stared for a minute, then he took off his gloves and—here you are, you know."

From Ukelele Strings To "Cheese Strings"

It has been said that one has never heard a ukelele played unless one has heard it played by May Singhi Breen. Mrs. Breen, who is also an accomplished banjo player, is considered the greatest woman authority on ukelele playing. She is the author of several books on the ukelele, and has made uke arrangements for most of the popular music.

Perhaps it is natural that when Mrs. Breen turns to cooking, she should still think in terms of the stringed instruments which she plays. At any rate she and her daughter, Rita Breen, like "Cheese Strings" best of all the dishes she makes. This is how the ukelele player makes it:

Cheese Strings

2 cups Flour
¼ tsp. Salt
6 tbsps. Crisco
Water to mix
Grated Cheese

Sift salt with flour. Work in Crisco. Add just enough water to hold mixture together. Roll out on floured board to ¼ inch thick. Sprinkle generously with grated cheese. Fold over, pressing the edges together and roll out to original thickness. Repeat the sprinkling with cheese, and rolling two or three times. Cut into strips about 6 by ½ inches. Bake in a hot oven. Serve with salad.

YOUNG COUPLE ASK JUDGE TO TIE KNOT

Toronto, June 22.—Many have been the experiences of Judge Gauld even being mistaken for his satanic majesty while on a bicycle tour through wilds of Devon years ago, but he had a new one the other day.

While he was sitting in his office an American automobile drew up in front of the court house. In the car were a middle-aged man and woman. As the car stopped they got out and entered the court house, and immediately asked where they could find the judge.

"We want——" began the man and hesitated, obviously embarassed.

"Yes, we want to get married," finished the woman, "and we want you to do it."

Judge Gauld was not quite so eager to perform the ceremony as the two doves were to have it performed, so very diplomatically he explained to them that in Canada it is customary to have the marriage ceremony performed by a minister. He did, however, go as far as to offer the use of his office for the tying of the knot and agreed to act as a witness. The pair were disappointed when they left the court house, still single.

How carefully you select your toilet soap!
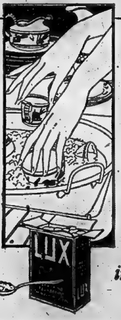
but you expose your hands to harsh kitchen soap in the dishpan an hour and a half every day

It must be mild and pleasant—your toilet soap—even though your hands are in contact with it only ten minutes a day at the most. You can't bear to use a harsh, drying soap for washing your hands. So, naturally, you select it carefully.

Then you undo it all! By using strong, stinging kitchen soap in your dishpan. When you do the dishes—your hands are in these drying, coarsening suds a full hour and a half.

Your skin can't help getting drawn and rough—your finger-tips all scratchy.

Don't wash your dishes with just "any" soap. Use Lux in your dishpan. Lux has that softness and mildness that make it as easy on your hands as fine toilet soap. But of course you know that. Think of the things you just wouldn't trust to anything but Lux.



Your hands deserve as kind treatment as your chiffons—your fine woollens. Use Lux whenever you have to have your hands in soap and water for any length of time.

For breakfast or lunch dishes a single teaspoonful

A level teaspoonful of Lux lasts through one entire dishwashing. That is, for breakfast or lunch dishes. When you've a lot of dinner dishes you sometimes need two teaspoonfuls.

Get the big new package of Lux—flip a teaspoonful of flakes into your dishpan. Then see how sparkling those quick suds make your glasses and silver—how speedily they wash all the dishes.

Buy Lux to-day—the big new size for kitchen use—the regular size for the bathroom. Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto.

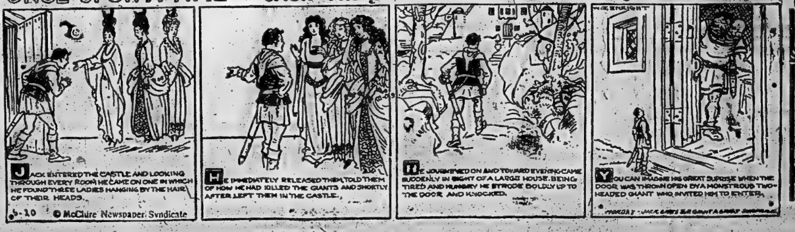
ONCE UPON A TIME JACK THE GIANT KILLER. VI by W. J. ENRIGHT.



JACK ENTERED THE CASTLE AND LOOKING THROUGH EVERY ROOM HE CAME ON ONE IN WHICH HE FOUND THREE LADIES HANGING BY THE HAIR OF THEIR HEADS.
HE IMMEDIATELY RELEASED THEM, TOLD THEM OF HOW HE HAD KILLED THE GIANTS AND SHORTLY AFTER LEFT THEM IN THE CASTLE.
HE JOURNEYED ON AND TOWARD EVENING CAME SUDDENLY IN SIGHT OF A LARGE HOUSE. BEING TIRED AND HUNGRY HE STRODE BOLDLY UP TO THE DOOR AND KNOCKED.
YOU CAN IMAGINE HIS GREAT SURPRISE WHEN THE DOOR WAS THROWN OPEN BY A MONSTROUS TWO-HEADED GIANT WHO INVITED HIM TO ENTER.

At Griffins

Photoplay fans who witness "The Heart of a Siren," with Barbara La Marr and Conway Tearle, will find some excellent comedy relief interspersed through this entire production.

The supporting cast includes several excellent comedians, including Arnold Daly, famous stage star; Clifton Webb of musical comedy fame, Tammany Young and William Ricciardi.

In the hands of these experienced fun fun manufacturers, the lighter situations in "The Heart of a Siren" are made extremely enjoyable and furnish a strong contrast to the dramatic scenes in which Miss La Marr, Tearle, Harry Morey, Ida Darling and Ben Finney appear.

The picture is now showing at Griffin's.

Midland—Monument unveiled to missionaries who perished at hands of Indians three centuries ago.

At The Belle

Fans have become so used to hearing about so called "all-star" casts in pictures that they are apt to pass up the real thing when it comes along.

Cecil B. De Mille's newest production for Paramount, "The Golden Bed," coming to the Belle Theatre tonight, is a picture with an all-star cast if there ever was one.

Featured in the principal roles of the production, which was adapted by Jeanie Macpherson from Wallace Irwin's novel and Pictorial Review serial, are Rod La Roque, Vera Reynolds, Lillian Rich, Walter Baxter, Theodore Kosloff and Julia Faye.

La Rocque's role in "The Golden Bed" is a composite of the thousands of "nobodies" who rise to wealth each year through sheer power of will and hard work.

Lillian Rich, De Mille's new "find" has a part described by several book reviewers as the "greatest fiction character of the year." As Flora Lee Peake she has an alluring role, highly dramatic and well set off by Vera Reynolds as her plainer sister, Margaret. Miss Reynolds is said to have an acting chance even better than that in "Feet of Clay."

..Baxter, Kosloff and Miss Faye all have strong characterizations.

Playing in support of the featured players is a cast of equally prominent names. Henry Walthall, one of the real veterans of the screen, is cast as a southern gentleman, a sort of twentieth century version of his Colonel character in "The Birth of a Nation." Others prominent on both stage and screen are Robert Cain, Robert Edeson, Charles Clary and three unusually clever children, Jacqueline Wells, Mary Jane Irving, and Don Marion.

A spectacular "candy ball," gorgeous wedding scene, Alpine episode and other big features are linked together with a strongly dramatic story which shows how one woman can cause the downfall; another make, a man.

"The Golden Bed" is a thoroughly human story in which De Mille has cleverly combined comedy and drama.

Percy Gower and Charles Taylor were sentenced by Police Magistrate Graydon at London to serve from three months to two years, and Leslie Wilcox was given six months to two years for the theft of merchandise from the D. S. Perrin factory where they were employed as shippers.

Montreal, June 22.—A special dispatch from Quebec says:

"Withholding an interdiction on the Rotary, the Kiwanis and other social service organizations, Cardinal Begin has consented to submit the status of those organizations to the vatican for a ruling before taking a final action.

"Documents concerning these societies are on their way to Rome, and a definite knowledge of the attitude of the vatican will guide the locals heads of the Catholic Church.

"The local clergy has been opposed to the clubs referred to on the ground that they were transferring to lay organizations some charitable work, and also because, it is alleged, those clubs bring together to discuss social matters men of all faiths and creeds.

"A few months ago the report spread among Rotarians that a warning had been issued by some of the dignitaries of the church that a move was expected based on the resolutions of the diocesan Synod held some time before.

Catholics Resign

"As a result a number of Catholic members resigned from the Rotary and Kiwanis since that time a modus vivendi had apparently been reached, but another threat was made recently and before making a direct denunciation, which would have obliged the Catholics to resign, a delegation of some of the Catholic members waited on the religious authorities.

"They pleaded that living in the midst of a mixed population like that of Canada, even in the ancient capital, it was impossible to prevent various creeds from meeting together in organizations such as the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. After a long discussion, in the course of which the Catholic members insisted on their good faith, it was agreed by the representatives of his Eminence to submit the whole matter to Rome, with the understanding that action would follow the decision of the Holy See.

STAGE STAMMERING INSULTS SUFFERERS

London, June 22.—Protest against the ridicule of stammering on the stage was filed recently with Sir George Crichton, comptroller of the lord chamberlain's office, by J. Herbert Miall, head of an institute for defects in speech, who contends that there is as much inhumanity in jesting with this disability as there would be in the case of blindness, deafness or other physical ailments.

In his reply to Mr. Miall, Sir George said that, while questions of bad taste do not properly constitute a ground for censorship so long as personal allusions are not implied, nevertheless the lord chamberlain, who has authority to ban plays or any part thereof, will take the Miall protest into consideration so as to avoid, so far as possible, causing pain and humiliation to those afflicted with defects such as stuttering.

"This is not as our fathers did"

The civilization of the Chinese is old-older than the oldest records that are musty & yellow with age. Yet China today enjoys very few of our modern improvements.

The Chinese do not welcome Change. They object to innovation, saying "This is not as our fathers did"!

Imagine a Canadian to-day saying that he did not want electricity because his father was satisfied with candles!

Why have we progressed!

Advertising, more than anything else, has made of us a nation willing to judge something new on its merits, rather than on narrow, ancient traditions.

To buy the new is to progress-to learn of it first is to read advertising

Debonair American Picked Poor Spot

Young Man Near Campbellford Grew Suspicious Of Deal

Cobourg, June 22.—"Dr." W. H. Counts, the debonair young American, made a poor choice of territory when he selected the Campbellford district as the field for his exploitations. The coils began to close around him soon after his arrival and before he had been in the vicinity three hours he was on his way to Cobourg Jail under the escort of Chief Constable Jno. Brown, and the resident of Seymour Township whom the "doctor," according to his own confession had marked as his victim, was left at home unruffled in feelings and with his bank account still intact. And now the "doctor" after lying for two weeks in jail, finds himself still in confinement after a hearing Friday before Police Magistrate Floyd, awaiting trial in a higher court on the dual charge of conspiracy and with attempting to obtain money on false pretenses. Louis Gabel, a companion on his travels, and whose arrest followed closely on that of the "doctor" is also held for trial on similar charges. Andrew Klein, of New York, who it appeared by the evidence had done nothing more serious than drive the others around in a sedan car bearing an American license number was discharged and lost no time after his release in starting for his home in New York.

The defendants were well represented at the hearing, Col. F. D. Boggs, K.C., representing Klein and Gabel and A.R. Willmott appearing on behalf of "Dr." Counts.

Seymour Man Was Marked

The main witness against Counts was George Grills, a well-known farmer of Seymour, who answered an advertisement in a newspaper inserted by Counts who invited applications for the position of manager of a chain store which he alleged he proposed to establish in Campbellford. In reply to his application Mr. Grills, who is a personable and prosperous appearing farmer, who would by no means look out of a place in a business situation received a personal visit from the "doctor" who explained his proposition in detail.

The "doctor" said he represented the Chain Stores Company of British Columbia and that there were already 300 branches in existence. Others were to be established in every town in Ontario including Campbellford and Mr. Grills was offered a salary of $35.00 a week with a commission of 15 per cent on the net profits. As security, and to obviate the necessity of giving bonds, Grills was to make a deposit of $500 cash with Counts, this to be returned to him if he ever left the employ of the company. A contract containing these conditions was signed in duplicate by both parties.

Payment Held Up

Counts, it seems was courtesy itself and there was no undignified haste in his negotiations. When the matter of putting up the money was broached, Grills said he would have to go to the bank to get it and the "doctor" told him not to hurry but to meet him at his hotel in Campbellford in the afternoon. This was on June 2nd.

Posted By Banker

When Grills went to his bank—the Standard—in Campbellford, he applied for information, as his suspicions had been aroused by the oily tongued stranger, to Manager J. A. Stewart, asking that official to search the records to see whether such a company as the British Columbia Chain Groceries really existed. Mr. Stewart could find no mention of such a concern in the commercial agencies, and with his suspicions thus confirmed, Mr. Grills decided to drop the matter.

Chief Takes a Hand

Chief Brown then stepped in to make an official investigation. In his evidence in the police court yesterday, the Chief repeated his story of the arrest of "Counts" after he had invited him to his office and questioned him closely, the story which was given in The Examiner at the time. Counts finally admitted that he was engaged in a false scheme. This was after the Chief had sent a telegram of inquiry to the Chief of Police at Vancouver, who replied that neither Counts or his company were known there. A warrant was then issued for Counts and he was taken to Cobourg.

Where Gobel Comes In

Klein and Gobel were arrested the next day by Provincial Constable Cousans on the highway between Cobourg and Port Hope as they were travelling in Klein's car. Both were in jail here ever since until yesterday when Klein was discharged.

In his evidence yesterday Mr. Grills said Gobel came to his home with "Counts" who interviewed him as "Mr. White", manager of one of his stores in British Columbia, but whose health had failed, and who was now travelling with Counts in an effort to regain his former vigor. Grills swore that when he questioned "White" on this point the latter confirmed Counts' statement and added that the business was prosperous.

This was the only link in the chain of evidence to connect Gobel with the affair.

"Counts" however, took the stand and gave both his comrades a clean bill. Klein was his chauffeur, hired in New York to drive him to Montreal and through Canada and knew nothing of the business in which his employer was engaged. Gobel, he swore, had gone with him to Grills' house merely for company, and was not aware of the nature of his errand.

A Peterboro Witness

Chris. Graham of the Empress Hotel, was brought from Peterboro to identify the three men as guests who spent several days in the hotel. They were known in that city by the names which they gave to the police when arrested. Other witnesses were newspaper publishers in this district who had inserted advertisements for Counts calling for applications as manager of his mightiest chain stores.

A Port Hope Case

Mrs. Louisa Ough, of Port Hope, had answered Counts advertisement and with her he had made slightly better terms than he had with Grill, as by his bargain he was due to receive a security deposit of $600. Mrs. Ough, however, was promised a salary of $50 a week, and five per cent on the profits.

This case was heard yesterday after the Grill's matter had been disposed of, and again Counts was held for trial. There was, however, no evidence to convict Gobel with this deal, and he was discharged so far as the Ough case was converned.

Horses, Gambling and Liquor

"Counts," who refuses to give his real name or the location of his home in the United States for the sake of his family, is evidently a young man, who so far in life has escaped manual trial. He is a young fellow of good appearance and address, arrayed in fashionable summer attire. His evidence was straightforward and not once did he attempt to parry a question or to equivocate. He seemed indifferent as to what happened to himself so long as his companions were allowed to go free.

"Klein and Gabel," said Counts, "were the victims of circumstances. It was their misfortune that they happened to be travelling in my company.

Gabel is an auto mechanic, an American by birth, but for the past 12 years has been living in Montreal. He went overseas with the first Canadian contingent, and served until the spring of 1919, save for a brief interval when he was discharged and sent back to Canada in 1916. As soon as he recovered his health he re-enlisted and returned to the front. During his service he won the Mons star and other decorations which were exhibited in court yesterday, as well as a letter of commendation from G. H. Ferguson, chief traffic officer of the C. P. R. at Montreal.

Both Klein and Gabel look like intelligent and respectable mechanics

Artist's Dance "Floor" Fraction of Inch Wide

TWO POSES OF BERTA BEESON, WITH RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY CIRCUS

It the narrowest "runaway" in the world and the most dangerous and slippery of all ballroom floors. It is less than two-eighths of an inch wide. And yet, on this mere thread of steel, Berta Beeson, the world's greatest danseuse of the tight wire performs more intricate feats and executes more difficult steps than do those professionals who dance upon the ground.

Berta Beeson is that graceful, chiffon clad person wearing a costume blazing with seventy thousand rhinestones, who will for four brief minutes command the attention of spectators when the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey shows exhibit here Thursday, July 2.

A maid, dressed in a Frenchy frock accompanies the wire artist to and from the rings. A private dressing "car" and seven trunks of wardrobe are carried on tour. The maid will tell you that it takes Berta Beenson exactly two hours to "make up.". The act is without question the most elaborately costumed and the most performed wire act ever seen in America.

With the mammoth circus this season are more than 800 men and women performers. Of this number there are eleven for whom the entire program is stopped for a moment that they may be introduced. Berta Beeson is one of the eleven particular stars.

The artist is one of seven solo and ensemble high-wire acts—Mijarca, the famous Spanish slack wire performer, Con Colleano, Maximo, Naida Miller, the Nelson Sisters and the Valdo-Meers troupe, represente the world's premier performers in this field of aerial achievement.

TOKYO TO START SUBWAY WORK

Tokyo, June 22.—The cost of constructing Tokyo's new subway system will be somewhere in the neighborhood of 187,000,000 yen, according to the plans drawn up by the municipal authorities. There will be about 40 miles of the subway. It is expected that the surveying of routes will be started shortly and actual construction work commenced toward the end of the year or early next spring.

Darkens Hair So Naturally No One Knows

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

HUNDRED THOUSAND MENNONITES READY

Mexico City, June 22.—One hundred thousand Mennonites are awaiting the word in Russia to emigrate to Mexico, it is declared here, but the government has not yet decided whether it will be to the interest of the country to allow so large a number of aliens to form agricultural colonies.

Information available at the department of Agriculture is to the effect that Mennonite agents from the United States and Canada have found, by personal inspection, that their co-religionists from the United States and Canada are doing well in Mexico, and are directing the exodus from Russia. The newcomers, if given permission to purchase lands in Mexico, are expected to settle in the states of San Luis Potosi and Guanajuato.

With the opening of another new playground the Bartlett Park, in the east end of St. Catharines, which was a bequest of the late ex-Mayor Burgoyne, St. Catharines now has four playgrounds in operation.

VOL. LVI. BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1925 Probs.—Fair, Moderate Winds

COUNCIL WILL HAVE TRENT ROAD PAVED

Action Was Taken by City Fathers Last Night

AT SMALL COST

Two and a Half Inch Asphalt Over Present Base

Mr. C. D. Campbell, city engineer, at the Council meeting last evening presented the following report re paving of the Trent Road:

"Further to your recommendation for the paving of the Trent Road from Parker Street to the city limits, I have examined the area carefully and believe that we can lay an asphalt surface 2 1-2" in thickness on the major portion of the area with only an addition of stone that will be necessary to give the road a proper crown. The road should be twenty feet wide.

"The macadam on the roadway is in very good shape and we do not in my opinion need to lay a concrete base just now. There would be a small amount of tiling necessary near the westerly limit of the work but not costing very much. The drainage is good now and only needs clearing of the ditches. Grading can be minimized and the whole work completed for about $12,000.00 instead of $23,000.00, if laid on a concrete base and regraded and curbed. In my proposal the cost per foot frontage would be $3.00 and on a ten year basis would cost less than thirty-nine dollars per one hundred feet. I would recommend that this method be adopted with a view to giving us a first class road and at a minimum cost to the city and ratepayers."

Some discussion took place in regard to the proposed pavement, but the members of the Council were unanimous in having the road paved. The following motion was adopted:

Moved by Alderman Patterson, seconded by Ald. Traverton, that an asphalt surface 2 1-2" thick be laid on the existing macadam base on Highland Avenue and Dundas street west from Parker street to city limits, and that the necessary proceedings be undertaken. The roadway to be twenty feet wide and twenty-six feet with curbing on Highland Avenue from Parker street southerly to the turn commonly called the Devil's Elbow.

Teachers and Scholars Meet

Holloway Street United Church Sunday School Prizes Presented

The teachers and scholars of Holloway St., United Sunday School spent a very pleasant evening in the S. S. rooms last night. The gathering was of an entirely social nature and was held for the purpose of bringing to a close the winter activities and presenting the awards won during the Automobile contest. Mr. B. F. Jennings also presented the Basket ball plate won by this S. S. during 1924, and also an individual prize to Cecil Christy for the best composition on a hike that his class took sometime ago. This latter prize was donated by the teacher of the class, Mr. A. Barker. The program consisted of eight reels of moving pictures which were very much enjoyed by all and two elocution numbers by Mr. Barker. These latter numbers were so much appreciated that the audience insisted on a encore which was very ably given. Miss Valiere Wrightmeyer presided at the piano during the showing of the pictures. The following are those who qualified for the gold award pin,—Dr. Brown Mrs. Shoener, Mrs. Reddick, Mrs. Yerex, Miss Mikel, Miss I. Woodley, Miss A. Ashley, Miss M. Barnum, Miss M. Post, Miss E. Council Adjourns Until September

Aldermen Authorize Payment of Accounts in The Meantime

Members of the City Council will have a rather prolonged holiday as these will be no regular meeting until Monday evening, September 14th. In all probability there will be one or more special metings. At the meeting last night this action was taken and a by-law was passed authorizing the payment of accounts, etc., during the intrim. The only absentee at the meeting was Ald. A. H. Ketcheson.

Previous to the council meeting, a request was made for a water main on Johnson street, also a sewer and a water service on East College street.

The application for the installation of a water service on east College street between Canifton Road and Hambly street was referred to the water works manager and the chairman of the water works committee.

Ald. Patterson was chairman of the Committee of the Whole on reports, etc. Many accounts were passed and some recommendations were adopted.

Recommended that an electric light be placed in front of Mr. Geo. H. Barlow's residence being midway between McDonald and Dufferin Avenues.

Sewer Construction

Considerable discussion took place in reference to sewers being constructed on James and Reid streets. As the petitions for the sewers were not sufficiently signed there is only one way to construct them under Section 9 of the Local Improvement Act. At a previous meeting of the Council, it was decided not do any construction work under this section.

Ald. Graham spoke against the Council breaking the motion relative to construction work under section nine.

Several members spoke of the importance of the work and a motion was adopted to construct the sewers under Section 9 of the Local Improvement Act.

Market Square

Mr. C. D. Campbell, City Engineer presented the following report relative to having a piece of the pavement constructed on the Market Square.

There is a small section of the Market Square, south of the south roadway alongside of the weigh scales that have not been paved as yet and is used a great deal in connection with the market. The account for the market paving is not closed at yet and as the work was left over from last fall on acount of the lateness of the season I intended to go on with completing this shortly. Before doing so and in view of the new Council being in office I felt that I should lay the matter before you for your information.

After some discussion no action was taken in the matter.

Motion

Moved by Alderman Harrison, seconded by Ald. Traverton, that the Gas Manager and City Engineer be instructed to examiner all gas lines and appurtenances in the City Building and have all leaks repaired immediately.—Carried.

At the Council meeting last evening a report was presented from a special committee appointed to build a road to the plant of the Mead Johnson Limited, South George street.

A recommendaon was adopted that the offer of Mr. Stillman for 24 feet of land for a roadway be accepted at a price of $500 and the transfer of the property be referred to the Cty Solicitor and the money be paid to Mr. Stillman when the solicitor advises that the titte is clear.

Tourist Camp

Mr. C. D. Campbell, City Engineer, presented the following report re tourist park.

The work of cleaning up Quinte Park has proceeded to the extent of removing all brush and plowing the land and levelling same.

The amount allotted to me for this work has all been used up and now we are unable to proceed further without an appropriation. The sewer and water is laid in as far as the toilet buildings. No gas line has been laid.

At least $1000 should be provided for if you wish to get the park ready and properly equipped with light toilets and cooking accommodation.

A recommendation prevailed that the Engineer proceed to seed the ground at a suitable time.

LIABILITIES ARE LESS THAN OUR GREAT ASSETS

Frank Yeigh Paints Optimistic Picture of Canada To Kiwanians

PLANNING CARNIVAL

Belleville Club Hopes to Raise Big Sum Next Fall

"Our assets greatly outweigh our liabilities, and the account is on the right side," said Mr. Frank Yeigh, well-known author and lecturer, in addressing the Belleville Kiwanis Club at noon to-day.

In a short ten minute talk, he unfolded the difficulties or liabilities which Canada faces, a large national debt, problems of immigration and emmigration, industrial questions, then sketched also the thrilling assets, including the vast fields of soil, practically untouched, untold wealth in mines of gold, silver, nickel and coal, and the great and mighty pulp wood industry.

Canada was the wealthiest nation per capita of population in the world. It was one of the best slices of earth to be found in the world. The country knew nothing of war, catastrophes, pestilence and hunger such as was experienced by many other nations.

Considerable Club business was transacted to-day, and a happy feature of the program was the introduction of Mayor W. C. Mikel K.C. as the newest member. A committee was named, with Kiwanian Harry Greenleaf as chairman, to proceed with plans immediately for the big Kiwanis Carnival in the early fall, when three to four thousand dollars is expected to be raised for charitable work in the city.

St. Andrew's Calls Rev. R. G. Stewart

Meeting of Congregation Held Last Night; Preached Last Sunday

At a very enthusiastic meeting of the congregation in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last night, a call was issued to the Rev. Mr. R. G. Stewart to act as pastor.

Rev. Stewart's impression created last Sunday, was such that his call was practically unanimous. His last station was in Neepawa, Manitoba, and previous to that he was pastor in the Robertson Memorial Church in Winnipeg.

The answer to his call will be forthcoming in about a week, it is expected. Rev. Stewart is visiting in Peterboro County at present.

The Manse of St. Andrew's has been entirely renovated, from basement to roof, in anticipation of the new pastor. The nature of the repairs include new plumbing, bathroom fixtures, woodwork, wallpaper and lights. The cost was in excess of $2,000 which has been paid for.

St. Andrew's Church stands entirely free from debt, with a substantial balance to her credit

The Rev. R. S. Cranston of Trenton, Interim Moderator, presided over last night's meeting.

Five Young Men Hurt in Crash

Toronto Youths Stole High Powered Motor Car Last Night

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 23.—Five young men were injured more or less seriously when the high powered stolen car they were driving on the lake shore road west of the city early this morning side-swiped a heavy motor truck, into a pole and over-turned. The five, all under 26 years of age, are Toronto men.

Sollio Zeidenburg has a fractured skull and it is thought William Baine's skull may also be fractured. Both are conscious. Eric Thompson has a compound fracture of the left arm. The other two, Harry Simpson and Earl Guy, are badly cut and lacerated. The car was stolen from the residence of R. J. Christie shortly after midnight. Following its contact with truck it skidded hundred feet before hitting the post. The driver of the truck was not seriously hurt. The motor car except perhaps for the engine, is a complete wreck and parts of it were picked up 150 yards from the scene of the accident.

All are red and the bushes are loaded. Already bushels of the pretty flowers have been picked and hundreds of buds are almost ready to bloom.

Mr. Broughton explains that the best and greatest number of roses are produced when the bushes are not trimmed too severely and when all weeds are kept down.

CIVILIZATION AND THE RIFF

The long story of the conquest of Morocco continues to unfold in somewhat hectic fashion. The short-lived Roman province of Mauretania represented an early European bid for a foot hold on the coast of northwest Africa. Since then, with varying success, many nations have tried their hand at Morocco colonization enterprises. At this moment, western civilization is represented there, jointly, by Great Britain, France and Spain.

Echoes of Spain's military humiliation at the hands of Abd-El-Krim were scarcely silenced when newspapers began to bring daily accounts of fresh fighting, this time between Abd-El-Krim's forces and Marshal Lyautey's troops in the French zone.

The region so chronically alive with political disturbances is usually described as the Riff (Ruafa in the native tongue), and the natives fighting under Abd-El-Krim, pretender to a native throne, are called Riffians.

Riff is a group appellation for those of the Berber tribes that form the bulk of the population of northern Morocco. The Berbers are the earliest known inhabitants of the country. Originally a blend of a swarthy southern European and a brown Saharan race, they have through the centuries assimilated many other blood strains, among them being a down-right Negro admixture and a strong Arab element.

While they are anything but a pure or homogeneous racial group, the Berbers use a common language, with Coptic and ancient Egyptian affinities. But a more potent link among them is their fanatical devotion to Islam, coupled with a fierce hatred of everything foreign particularly of everything smacking of Christianity and Europe.

Inveterately nomadic, the Riffs are known to other Moroccan tribes as tireless fighters and raiders. From among them were recruited the pirates that so long made the Barbary coast a synonym for terror on the high seas.

The story of Morocco isn't all aggression on Europe's part. At the time of the Saracen invasion of Spain and France, the Saracen power drew most of its sustenance in men and wealth from the wild mountains of a Morocco previously conquered. When the Berber princelings deserted the Crescent, the Saracen tide in Europe began to ebb; but it was then, with an exhausted Europe lying just across the straits of Gibraltar, that native Moroccan hordes began to "rush" Spain on their own account.

Since the opening years of the present century, Morocco has been one of Europe's major problems. The question of Morrocan settlements came near blowing up European peace in 1905, when the Emperor Wilhelm II landed at Tangier and asserted Germany's right to a voice in the control of Morocco's destinies. The Algeciras treaty was an effort to compromise hostile interests, and the post-war Tangier convention sought to readjust old agreements to new conditions.

In very recent months the powers interested in Morocco have fortunately realized that the Moroccan problem is intimately allied to the wider question of European dominance in North Africa as a whole. Each of the powers concerned, including Italy in Tripoli and Britain in Egypt, is entrusted with a share in the common task of holding militant Islamic nationalism in check. France has been performing her part in Morocco with conspicuous success. In crushing out the ambitious pretensions of Abd-El-Krim and his Riffian followers, Lyautey is trying to prevent another nest of wasps from being built in North Africa, whence it could some day again threaten European civilization.

NATURE LORE
BY WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

Mrs. Martin was a city bred woman. She knew no more about the country than cows know milk bottles. Nature was full of wild and woolly somethings or other, that made her almost too frightened to see what it was all about. So, when we took her to camp with us, we had a contract on our hands, for it is one thing to buy a nickle's worth of gum in the corner drug store, admire the camera advertisements and say, "Aint nature grand", but it is another thing entirely to have a scared woman. They are hard to convince, and nature just "aint grand" at all, and Mrs. Martin was in that frame of mind, sitting in the dark before her tent, almost afraid to light a lamp, when a loon cried.

Now, when a loon cries at night, away in the summer places to which many of us go for our vacations, we are inclined to think that evil spirits are coming our way. This cry of the loon was what made poor Mrs. Martin think that an ice cream soda through a straw, with bright lights on the soda fountain, would be heaven by comparison. It was so strange.

I think the thing that makes these calls sound so weird is this: they generally come from far over the lake and are usually at that time of night when light has just gone and darkness is complete.

Mrs. Martin was certain that she would pack her belongings and go home the very next morning, but when morning came and she found her loons on the lake, in front of the camp, diving and laughing in the sunshine, she changed her mind, but she finds it hard to believe that these birds do this sad and mournful crying at night. Loons live on small fish, which they swim after and catch. If chased by a boat, they can dive and swim over half a mile under water and I have heard them call to other loons on other lakes, when a storm would be coming, then assemble on the big lake and play and laugh with wild delight at the breaking of the storm.

NO CRIME "WAVE"

There is no "crime wave", and juvenile delinquents are not increasing in numbers, declares Dr. G. W. Kirchwey, former warden of Sing Sing Prison, and he has the figures to sustain his assertions.

It is the belief of Dr. Kirchwey that the universal belief that crime is increasing is an obsession a fixed emotional state, which the new psychologists call a "complex." The belief is contradicted by accurate statistics.

What should disturb public opinion, according to this authority on penology, is not an imagined increase of crime, but the indubitable continuance of it. If crime would abate temporarily there would be more time for preventive work—for getting at the causes of crime.

It is readily to be seen that the public might acquire the impression that crime was increasing from the more daring methods now employed by some criminals and from the sensational uses made of the automobiles by the modern criminal. Eliminate liquor law violations and other recently created misdemeanors and it is held that crime would be shown to be actually on the wane.

Dr. irchwey says there is no reason or excuse for supposing that boys and girls are any worse today than they always were, the probabilities being that they average better now than ever before.

Since juvenile courts have been established generally, many have noted that what were once childish pranks now constitute sufficient grounds to bring the child into the juvenile courts. When the rural boy fills his blouse and pants pockets from Farmer Brown's apple trees it is play. When the city boy snitches an apple from Toy's fruit stand it is larceny. It is difficult to compare conditions of two generations.

Press Opinions

WASTED TIME AT CONVENTIONS

Financial Post:

Conventions can easily be made a waste and even a nuisance by too much emphasis on play and too little on work. Four short sessions of work in a four-day convention seems much waste effort at a time when the country's greatest needs are solid effort and communion of thought.

P. G. AND ITS P. G. E.

Vancouver Province:

British Columbia will never succeed in pulling the Pacific Great Eastern out of the morass of debt by calling the road names, by treating it patronizingly and smiling in superior fashion when it is mentioned. The P.G.E. is not a poorly built, unsafe, "haywire road," as those who have traveled over it can testify. It is quite equal to the average branch-line railway in Canada, and superior to a great many of them. It runs through a country which is rich in resources and possibilities. But these resources are largely undeveloped and the country is very sparsely settled.

To-day's Smile

When Brigham Young and his 900 odd wives arrived in the spot overlooking where Salt Lake City now stands, he said: "Wifs, what do you think of this dump?" And they all replied at once, "We are speechless." Then said Brigham: "Here is where we settle down for all time to come."

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

To La Grande Chartreuse

A few days in Grenoble is always an interesting and happy experience, but I think I go there, and take others there, chiefly for the automobile trip to La Grande Chartreuse. This famous old monastery, for centuries the headquarters of the Chartreux monks, is today but an empty shell, but left high in the hilly woods near here, like a beautiful seashell on the shores of time for the pleasure of our eyes It was founded by St. Bruno in the eleventh century and reconstructed in the seventeenth century The forest hillsides about it are a paradise of flowers this time of year (May) and I found the hunter and the fisherman, the artist and the photographer already camping near by, for it has something for all.

Everybody Goes To Goes

Everybody goes to Goes, they say, when they land at the beautiful Island of Zuid-Beveland in Holland. Here is where the tourist sees the most becoming lace caps on the most becoming maidens of Zeeland, who have provided artists with quaint beauty for generations—white wings for smiling faces! Here you may see Dutch fisherwomen on their way to Middleburg, delightful old houses, a superb Gothic Cathedral and everywhere water to work in. The girls work as well as the men and as they retain the upper half of the Goes costume and replace their petticoats by high waders, the effect is extremely quaint.

Bad Kissingen's Famous Champagne Baths

It would be needless praise to say that the baths at Kissingen in Bavaria are among the most important not only in Germany but in Europe. Situated in the beautiful forest valley of the Rhoen mountains, their history can be traced back a thousand years. The carbonic acid in the waters is so plentiful that they are known everywhere here as "the champagne baths." The season opened here as usual in April and will continue till October, and many visitors and strangers seeking health have arrived; for it is also a good tourist center for such delightful points of interest as Nuremburg, Eisenach with the fine old Wartburg Castle of Luther fame, and Bayreuth, the shrine of Wagner.

Where Men Are Yet Born in Log Cabins

Americans have doubtless met hundreds of Lithuanians who have emigrated from this delightful country to the States, but I wish I could help Americans see the pretty little villages from which they come. Little thatched houses, surrounded by wooden palings, each nesting in its own little fruit garden. They are built of logs, squared only on the inside. The poorest remain in the rough, Kentucky style, while the better ones are grey with green and white shutters on which the village artist has painted floral decorations. The forests near the villages this spring were chorus halls for countless birds and the nightingales were so many as to be almost deafening. The scars of the war are yet visible, but old mother nature has healed most.

The Hidden Frescoes of Luini

Lugano, in Switzerland has always been proud to possess the works of Bernardino Luini, but many a visitor misses them. "Where are they?" is a frequent question heard at the hotels. I found them hidden in the small rather shabby little church of Santa Maria degli Angioli, really next door to the Palace Hotel in the midst of a lot of small town stores. Here, as Gabrielle Faure wrote "the shabby mediocrity of the outside conceals as in a shrine, the soul of an artist". Here are found some of the finest examples in Europe of artistry that recognized no law but the imagination of beauty, for it is not often given to us to see such delicate loveliness concentrated in such small space.

DIRORDERS CONTINUE IN MINE AREAS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Glace Bay, N.S., June 23.—Minor depredations were reported from some of the colliery districts over the week end. An attempt was made to burn an old enarmsement at an old sub-colliery at New Aberdeen and at an early hour this morning the New Aberdeen station was on fire, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done. At New Waterford a first aid house was broken into and practically all dressings and drugs stolen. Windows were broken in other buildings.

"DEAR SAM"

Wherein Bill's education in wealth continues and he finds that it costs money to be rich.

BY J. H. CREIGHTON

Dear Sam:—

Well Sam, for the second time since I've been married, my wife agreed with me the other day. (Incidently the first time she and I held the same ideas was when she had such a sore throat she couldn't contradict me.)

Anyway, I'm speaking of this second time (and last one too, I guess). She thought that my idea of livin' in a hotel was the snake's hips as my lad says, but she didn't like the joint I picked out.

You know, Sam, even when a guy is as well heeled as I suddenly found myself, he sorta hates to throw his jack away with nothin' to show for it when he's been poor as long as me. All of which is another way of saying that we moved to this swell hotel which is called the Traymore. I thought for the first day that it was the "Paymore" because I was throwin' cash out faster'n a dog shoots dirt out between his hind legs when he's diggin' for last week's soup bone.

I sidled up to the desk and asked that slick lookin' clerk "How much?" He give me a look like I'd ast him fer a chew. He managed to pull his eyebrows out from under his seal skin hair long enough to say, "Fourteen dollars" Well, Sam, I figered that wasn't so bad fer a weeks board and room fer me and the crowd.

Just to make sure I heard the feller right, I said, "Fer a week, eh!" The clerk put his hand over his mouth like he was tryin' to get rid of a fishbone without attractin' attention, and smiled "No, that's per day"!

I was some let down, but anyway I was a good sport and grabbed the pen and swung the book around, sayin', "Well there's four of us, that only three fifty a piece—I'll go you". The clerk spoke up right smart, "No, our rates are 14 dollars a day, apiece, for rooms only".

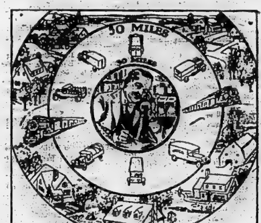
Not havin' no brandy on me, I couldn't recover from that, and my wife signed for the whole of us.

I was pretty dang curious to see the rooms which was settin' me back 56 dollars, but I didn't get much chance to look 'em over. My wife dodged into her part of the house, pausin' only long enough to shake her finger at me and say, "Be sure and be dressed fer dinner" which I thought was downright crazy.

Sam, I ask you, what would you think of a guy who set down to dinner without bein' dressed?

Yours truly,
BILL

An agreement has been reached between the Detroit and Windsor Ferry Company and the Amherstburg Town Council regarding fares and the small ferry Papoose connecting the town with Bois Blanc Island will be placed back on its run in a few days, it was announced to day. The boat was tied up several weeks ago.



When you move to the country

perhaps you can continue getting supplies from your regular grocer and butcher. You can probably arrange to do so before you leave town.

Many grocers call up out-of-town prospects in a circle of 30, 40 or 50 miles on an appointed day and hour, and get their orders. Deliveries are made by truck or express.

Where orders are large enough, and given regularly, many grocers and butchers say they can afford to pay the cost of the calls.

The telephone is extensively used for arranging week-end parties, and for the supplies they necessitate

Interesting Story of Lost Purse Comes From Campbellford

Campbellford, June 22.—Miss L. Murphy, organist in St. Mary's Church, while on the streets recently dropped a velvet handbag containing a purse in which there was a roll of bills. Miss Murphy advertised her loss last Tuesday. The bag was picked up on the bridge over the Trent River by Miss May Kilpatrick, who, accompanied by a girl companion, was returning from her work in the Mills of the Campbellford Cloth Company. The girls opened the bag, and seeing that the purse contained a large sum of money which they did not take time to count. Miss Kilpatrick carried the bag to her boarding-house where, in the presence of her landlord and his wife, the roll was counted and was found to contain seven tens and two five dollar bills. The advertisement helped to trace the owner and the girl's landlord took possession of the property, promising to see that it was delivered to the place called for.

On the following day Miss Kilpatrick ascertained that the purse was still in the landlord's possession but the money was missing. Feeling himself responsible for the property which she had picked up the girl reported the affair to Police Chief John Brown, who at once started an investigation. When he questioned the landlord the latter told him that he had turned nearly all the money over to a friend whose name he refused to give. The bag and purse had been returned to the place mentioned in the advertisement but instead of the $80 all the money found in the purse was two one dollar bills and some silver.

Warrant Issued

Chief Brown then had Miss Murphy lay an information and a warrant for the landlord's arrest was issued by Magistrate Payne and the man was arrested on a charge of theft. When he was brought into court he still stuck to the story that he had given nearly all the money to a friend and declared that he could not get it back. He offered however, to get the money from his father, enough to make restitution to Miss Murphy as well as to pay the costs of the court, about $10.

Accompanied by Chief Brown the defendant went out to his former home in Percy township and succeeded in obtaining $90 from his father. When he had paid $80 of this to Miss Murphy and settled the costs he was allowed to go on suspended sentence. After a severe lecture from the magistrate. The defendant appeared unable to realize that there was anything irregular in appropriating money that had come into his possession as this sum had.

The honesty of the girl who picked up the bag and by whose efforts the restitution to the owner was made possible is one of those incidents in police matters that justifies the belief that there are still people of principle left in the world.

W. C. MIKEL

City of Sarnia debentures again drew a premium when bids for a $14,800 issue to cover the cost of the new public school site in the east end of the city were opened. Twelve tenders were received and Harris, Mackeen and Company of Toronto were the successful bidders at the price of $103.06.

In addition to a commemorative plaque being unveiled at Chicoutimi on June 28, friends of the late Sir William Price, propose to erect a monument to him near the place where he lost his life at Kenogami, in what was known as "The Kingdom of the Prices."

Stage and Screen

Ann Pennington has signed a contract with Al Christie to appear with Julian Eltinge in a feature to be released following the film version of "Seven Days."

After settling his plans for the coming theatrical season, Lowell Sherman left for Los Angeles, where he will immediately begin work on a picture called "Satan in Sables."

Warner Brothers are to picturise an old play, "Wanted by the Police," and a popular story, "Ranger of the Big Pines." Kenneth Harlan, will be featured in the former and Huntley Gordon in the latter.

Out of more than 3,000 stories and plays read by First National's scenario department in the last six months, only twenty-five were accepted for production, two of the purchases being original stories.

Contracts have been signed whereby William Beaudine will direct another picture for Mary Pickford. Mr. Beaudine was loaned by Warner Brothers to make Miss Pickford in "Little Annie Rooney," which is now about finished. Her next production will be "Scraps."

In between times Mr. Dillingham is proceeding with the assemblage of a cast for his production of Michael Arlen's "These Charming People." Alma Tell and Edna Best, an English actress, have already been engaged to appear in support of Cyril Maude, who will be starred.

Henry Otto, who has been chosen by William Fox to direct "The Ancient Mariner," from the classic poem of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, makes a specialty of fantastic screen creations. The picture calls for a number of wierd situations, including a skeleton ship and allegorical figures.

The film version of Galsworthy's "The White Monkey" will be released on July 7. Barbara La Marr is featured in this photoplay, and among others in the cast are George Marion, Flora Le Breton, Thomas Holding, Henry Victor, Charles Emmett Mack, Colin Campbell and the well-known "gate crasher," Tammany Young.

Charles Dillingham is preparing to produce "Katja the Dancer" this coming fall and it is quite possible that Marilyn Miller will journey to London soon to see the production there. She will, according to Mr. Dillingham's plans, be starred in the piece here, perhaps in the same adaptation by Frederick Lonsdale that is now on display in London.

Arthur Hammerstein has not been precisely discouraged out of the production of huge musical shows by this year's reception of "Rose-Marie." He is consequently hard at work on plans for "The Green Peach," by the authors and composers of "Rose-Marie," on a scale that will bring the production expense to well over twice the cost of his present offering. It is still undecided whether Mary Ellis or Edith Day will have the leading role in it.

A picture that turned out to be a startling surprise to many film men was "Traffic in Souls," which was produced twelve years ago for $5,700, and which eventually rolled up a gross of $450,000. This picture was written and filed by the late George Leon Tucker, who directed that milestone in "The Miracle Man." An interesting feature concerning this picture was that Mr. Tucker, who wrote it, directed it, whose genius and enthusiasm brought it about, never saw the picture in finished form. He was in England when it was released, and by the time he came back to America there wasn't an available print of it in the United States. Outside of "The Miracle Man," "Traffic in Souls," was the greatest accomplishment of Mr. Tucker's brilliant and all too short life.

Hunt Stromberg has purchased the screen rights to "Shipwrecked," by Langdon McCormick. The story concerns the destiny of a beautiful French girl, who after an unfortunate love affair flees to the United States, where she becomes a housekeeper for a wealthy American. Her employer is found mysteriously slain, and, as suspicion is attached to this pretty housekeeper, she attempts suicide by leaping from the dock into the river. She is rescued by a young ship owner, who is about to sail for the west coast of Africa. So the French girl stows away abroad the ship. A few days out the captain discoveres the girl and becomes smitten by her loveliness. He essays to force his attentions upon the stowaway. Then we have the ship afire and subsequently destroyed.

Mrs. Margaret Morley, wife of John F. Morley died at her home in Chatham. She was born in Chatham and was a former resident of Waterloo and Toronto, returning to her native city five years ago.

Little Ketch Bee Is 124 Years Old

Vessel Has Crossed Channel 38,000 Times; Still Seaworthy

Southampton, June 5.—The little ketch Bee, built 124 years ago and still in service between Southampton and Newport on the Isle of Wight, completed recently her 38,000th crossing of the Solent channel. The Bee began her sea duty in 1801 and is one of the very few ships remaining from whose decks men witnessed a British naval victory at sea with Nelson on board. During one period of her career she was commanded for 48 years by the same captain.

The Bee has been on the Isle of Wight run virtually all of her existence up to the present time and, according to members of her loyal crew, she is good for many years yet to come. The little craft has carried more than 500,000 tons of cargo between the mainland and the Isle of Wight covering something like 500,000 miles, although the distance between Newport and Southampton is but 18 miles.

Three younger sister ships of the Bee have been plying the same route for approximately 50 years.

HERE IS CLOWN WHO PUT BOOM IN BOOMERANG

Pat Valdo, of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey, Is Veritable William Tell

A clown who tosses the national weapon of Australia so that after meandering widely, it returns and spins on the top of the clown's painted head, is an apotheosized William Tell shooting the apple off his own pate, and he should know a good deal about boomerangs.

And yet Pat Valdo, one of the hundred clowns of the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey combined shows, who does the stunt confesses himself puzzled by the crooked clubs.

"I don't know why the sticks come back," said the boomerang clown, "But it is the same thing that makes a baseball curve. The trade secret is to throw a curve into a boomerang in the same way that a pitcher throws a curve into a ball."

Various types of sticks fly out and return when Valdo works Some are the conventional sickle shapes of Australia. The simplest merely two flat, even sticks placed crosswise. With this there seems no possible element in the curved return, save the air currents induced by the spinning. The boomerang affords not only more opportunity than a baseball sphere of being acted by the air currents, but also a better chance to the wrist action for imparting the essential spinning motion.

The various courses taken by the sticks are resolvable into two ordinary methods of baseball curving, the "drop" and the "out." The "drop" is pitched overhand with the boomerang vertical to the ground and thrown high, the wrist snapping the spin into it as in baseball. With the "out" the stick leaves the hand horizontal to the ground and is pitched with the side arm swing usual to out curves. There is, of course, none of the melodramatic "wind-up" of baseball.

Says the bomerang clown:

"Throwing the boomerang is difficult, as difficult as pitching a curve. I learned and developed the trick through sheer practice. I was a juggler, and wanted new tricks. I had heard about boomerangs, and began tinkering with them."

Valdo and more than 800 other men and women stars will be here with the Greatest Show on Earth Thursday, July 2.

Constable Fooled Ex-mayor Booker

Now Former City Father of Hamilton is On Warpath

Hamilton, June 22.—Ex-Mayor Booker is looking for a certain police officer, and he is not quite certain whether it is a bouquet or a brick he wants to give him. Mr. Booker is a bit of a bird lover and his building at the corner of King William and John streets has long been noted as a rendevous for little feathered songsters. At times the air seems alive with the birds and their singing may be heard blocks away. At such times Mr. Booker is in the habit of going out on the street with a handful of crumbs for his feathered friends.

Last night for the third time in succession he crumbled up handfuls of bread and issued forth to distribute it only to be met with a sudden cessation of the thrilling and nothing but a big police officer in sight, innocently scanning the sky.

So Mr. Booker went up to the police officer and, bread in hand, turned his gaze upward in a line with the policeman's to see what he was gazing at. Finally the officer pursed his lips and issued a most melodious thrill, whereupon an answering lullaby came from a nearby roof.

The former mayor threw his crumbs in the gutter and went back to his store.

He was unaware that Constable Goddard is credited with far surpassing in talent most of the professional bird imitators in vaudeville.

PETERBORO TO PLAY HERE TO-MORROW; JEFFERY MAY PITCH; PRESIDENT GIVES WARNING

Peterboro Comes Here To-morrow

Both Teams Want Game Badly; Should be Tight Old Match

When the Peterboro nine step out on the diamond at the Agricultural Park tomorrow afternoon to meet the fast going Belleville C.O.B.L. team there promises to be one of the snappiest ball games of the year. Both teams need tomorrow's game badly and both teams will be fighting to the last man on in the ninth for the winning run.

Belleville will have a line-up at full strength again. Blakely is expected to tend the short stop territory and Peeney may be back behind the bat. Just who will do the pitching is doubtful, but it is a pretty good guess that Chuck Jeffery will be on the firing line. Gil Goyer's arm is bothering him a little and may not be ready for a full game tomorrow.

Whitehouse appears to be Shiner Johnston's likely choice for the visitors.

It's Belleville's hitting ability that has been putting the fear in the other teams of the circuit and it is this part of the game that will likely make the game interesting to-morrow.

The game will start sharp at three o'clock.

Should Peterboro lose to-morrow Belleville and the visitors will be tied for the cellar position.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of MacDonald College, to Victoria, B.C. and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers' Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the Dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20, visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver, thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Bungalow camp, from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 104 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmonton, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Fort William to Port McNicoll thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325.00 from Toronto; transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels, and on steamers, sightseeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to everyone desiring to go.

All will be welcome.

Fares from other points than Toronto will be named and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Laird, Macdonald College, P.O., Que.

PETES PLACE HOPE IN PITCHING STAFF

(From Peterboro Examiner)

The Petes, after winning four games in a row and climbing to a tie for first place, have now dropped a quartette of contests, and today finds them in third place. However, they are only a game behind Oshawa and a brace away from Kingston and nearly two-thirds of the schedule remains to be played, so that there is no occasion for weeping and wailing just yet. The chief reason for their present decline is a falling off in their offensive strength. The attack lacks the punch it had in their earlier games—in fact, in the last three starts they have been abe to amass but six runs.

The most hopeful feature is the fact that right now the Petes' pitching staff looks o be the best in the league. Hardill has won his spurs. Whitehouse is in great shape and rarin' to go, and Heckman's arm is coming round and he should be able to get in there regularly before long. The fielding has been good, the Petes leading the league in that department, and if the crew regain their batting eyes they should soon be back near the top of the heap again.

PRESIDENT'S WARNING

Back Talk to Umpires by Players Will Not Be Tolerated in C.O.B.L.

Oshawa, Ont., June 22.—President C. M. Anderson of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League, mailed the following to "Shiner" Johnston, manager of the Peterboro Baseball Club, acting on the umpire's report as sent in by George Sullivan of Kingston:

"The umpire's report of the Peterboro-Belleville game says: "Pitcher Whitehouse of Peterboro used indecent and abusive language to the umpire and was put out of the game.' 'Holyman was insolent on the same occasion.' 'Wolfe, the player put out at third, was suspended from the game for crabbing.'

"I wish to commend the Peterboro Club for having sufficient police protection, which probably prevented serious trouble. At the same time the players must be made to understand that this sort of thing will not be tolerated, and the next player indulging in these tactics will have his certificate cancelled. This applies not only to the above players but to all players in the League. I trust this warning is all that will be necessary and that the balance of the season will be free from incidents of this nature."

Canadian Explorer Leaves For North

Sail Down the Mersey Yesterday With Volunteers

Liverpool, June 23.—Smiling at ill fortune which has dogged them for the last two months, the Canadian, Grettir Algarsson of Victoria, B.C., with Commander Worsley and their little band of volunteer explorers who make up the crew of the steamer Iceland, sailed down the Mersey to the open sea yesterday afternoon, beginning an attempt to go farther north than any polar expedition this year.

They have Amundsen's mark before them, and will also have to compete against the MacMillan expedition for the honors of the North in exploration and scientific research.

Algarsson has abandoned his attempt to fly to the North Pole this year in a small dirigible, as he first hoped to do, and will confine his activities to geographical survey in the direction of Gillis Land. Preparations also will be made for a polar flight next year.

Algarsson's expedition has been delayed at Liverpool for two months by lack of funds.

When the vessel left the dock Sunday, with the intention of stopping at landing stage for inspection by the public, it was driven upriver by adverse winds and by the tide. The boat was anchored for 24 hours in comparatively sheltered waters, and yesterday afternoon left for the North without any formal farewell or display of any description.

Seattle, June 23.—Snowball, a cat owned by G. H. Jensen, of the Silver Fox Farm near Tacoma, is playing the role of mother to two baby foxes. When the mother of the foxes showed a lack of maternal interest and left them, Snowball adopted the twins with good success.

The Hamilton dental clinic will immediately discontinue the practice of giving free dental treatment to the children of parents who are able to pay, it was announced. It has been learned that a lot of well-to-day people have been taking advantage of the dentists' generosity and have been sending their children to the free clinic.

William Bovin, of Detroit, known to the police as the "oftenest arrested man" in their records, is due to appear in court at Windsor as soon as the police can find him. A warrant was issued for his arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. Police say he walked through a plate glass window in the King George Hotel, Sandwich street east. Bovin is arrested on an average of once or twice a month.

Lion Tamer Hurt By Circus Animal

Suffered Serious Injuries To Side of Body and Stomach

Sudbury, Ont., June 23.—At the conclusion of his act at Sparks Circus, playing here yesterday afternoon, Steve Batty, the circus lion tamer, was attacked by one of the animals, and before he was rescued had suffered injuries to one side of his body and stomach. He was immediately removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, and while the extent of his injuries have not been determined, he was conscious when admitted.

Batty had driven the animals from the show cage to their regular quarters and was walking back to the large cage to make his final bow to the audience. One of the beasts, however, attacked him from behind. An attendant, firing five blank shots with his revolver, succeeded in scaring the animal away, and the tamer was able to walk out unassisted. A large number in the audience arose to their feet and many women screamed but all settled back in their places for the balance of the show.

The act in which Batty performed is a particularly dangerous one and the prediction has been freely made that he would meet with disaster, as he has had several very narrow escapes in recent weeks. Batty was knocked down and very badly mauled during the tour last year.

Will Never Get Lost Aeroplane

Opinion Held by Explorers Who Accompanied Amundsen

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, June 23. The lost airplane of the Amundsen North Pole expedition by this time has probably been crushed by the ice in which it was left fast, and parts of it may eventually drift westward and be cast up somewhere on the Greenland coast. This is the view taken by members of the Amundsen party who made the unexpected return to their starting point here Thursday in their remaining plane.

The story told by the returning explorers showed that trouble for the party began early when the machine Raold Amundsen, leader of the expedition was occupying with Lieut. Riser-Larsen and mechanic Feucht descended to low altitude the day after the start to take observations. The motor of this machine it was stated suddenly developed a defect necessitating the forced landing into a narrow strip of water between two moving masses of ice. Nobody was hurt but the party had to move quickly and abandon everything. They were separated by some distance from the other plane, the occupants of which were unable to see them. In crossing new ice in the attempted salvage work that followed. Dietrichson, pilot, and Omdahl, mechanic, broke through into the water and were rescued with great difficulty, mainly by heroic effort of Lincoln Ellsworth company explorer with Amundsen in the expedition.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, June 23.—Owing largely to an unexpected advance in wheat quotations at Liverpool, the wheat market here took an early upward swing to-day. Further reports of black rust infection of wheat fields in South Dakota were received. There were also advices at hand telling of too much rainfall in some sections where harvesting of winter wheat is in progress especially parts of south west and of the Ohio valley. The opening prices 1-2 to 1 3-8c. higher were followed by something of a reaction and then by rise to $1.55 1-2 for July and 158 7-8 for September. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat strength. Opening unchanged to 1 1-4c. higher corn market later advanced all around, September touching 107 3-8 oats started at 1-8c. to 3-8c. gain. Later additional upturns took place. In line wtih hog values and grain provision market was firm.

FIRE FIEND IN NEW YORK BEING SOUGHT

New York, June 23.—Search for a pyromaniac, who takes a fiendish delight in firing apartments in East Side tenement houses, where ten to forty families are crowded in buildings with wooden floors and stairways, and then stands on the opposite side of the street and watches the flames roaring through the houses, is being conducted by every available detective and uniformed policeman from the Battery to 140th Street.

Coming close on the heels of the fire at 69 Forsyth Street yesterday when a woman lost her life, two other fires were discovered to-day within an hour of each other, and only a stone's-throw away. Both of the fires were incendiary, and in one case a woman saw a man running from the basement an instant before the flames blazed up.

Partenkirchen, Bavaria, June 23. — In a local hotel a placard manifesting admirable forethought, announces in large letters: "Tourists undertaking to climb the higher mountain peaks are respectfully requested to settle their accounts in advance."

Edward Coombs the 17-year-old Brantford boy who was arrested and lodged in Milton Jail for the alleged theft of a gold watch, jewelry, a revolver and a sum of money from Bert Swan, Sixth Line Trafalgar Township, was found guilty as charged and given suspended sentence.

Windsor police are searching for two robbers who held up James Porter, proprietor of a gas-filling station at Walkerville, and stole $12.50 from the cash register. One of the men drew a revolver and forced Porter to stand in a corner. The other waited outside in an automobile parked at the curb in which both fled.

MRS. B. H. HART SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cornwall, Ontario.—"I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and I am going to keep on taking it. I used to feel so tired in the morning that I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I also sleep better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feelings, pains in my back and across my body. I read letters in the newspapers saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done others. My husband says I quit too soon, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine until I am better and haven't an ache or a pain. Isn't that the right way? I have great faith in your medicines. They must be good when those who take them speak so highly of them. I am recommending them to my friends and I will gladly answer letters from women asking about them."—Mrs. BURT H. HART, Box 1081, Cornwall, Ontario.

Mrs. Hart wants to help other women and is willing to answer letters from sick women asking about the Vegetable Compound.

BUTTERICK 6019

Sometimes bloomer dresses have festive touches that belie the practical purpose of this all-American ensemble. This one, for instance, only pretends to have sleeves.

YET what more could one ask for one's bloomer frock than a buttonholed sleeve edge, neck-line and knee-line, a crisp ribbon with fluttering ends on one's right shoulder, and a merry-go-round of appliquéd mice at the top of one's hem? In such a model of chambray or gingham the most superior small person is ready for a romp in the park, or in an exacting afternoon at big sister's birthday party, if it's made of crêpe de Chine. Just no trouble at all to cut out, seam and buttonhole, and fasten in a jiffy at tiny shoulder.

TEACHERS TURNS HAIR PURPLE, LAVENDER

New York, June 23.—Striking hair of purple or lavender glittered in the sunlight Saturday among the 600 tourist third class passengers leaving on the Cunard liner Laconia. It belonged to Miss C. Symington, a St. Louis school teacher, who had gone to a hair dresser on Friday to have a permanent.

While getting the work done, Miss Symington said, she was advised to use a certain lotion guaranteed to keep the hair from turning grey, although holding doubts as to the results, she yielded to the persuasion and received the treatment.

Miss Symington awoke Saturday to discover that portions of her hair were of a most delicate lavender and others purple. When she informed the hair dresser she was instructed to remain in the sunlight which she was told would restore it to its natural color.

"I'll begin to-day," remarked Miss Symington to friends, and when she removed her hat she became the cynosure of all eyes.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads: that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth— rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Gravice)

"Wasn't that rather cool?" asks the duke.

Yorke laughs.

"Oh, he's a good-natured little chap and didn't seem to mind. Said he'd go for a sail instead."

"He must be very good natured," said Leslie, smiling in spite of herself.

"So he ought to be. He's as rich as Croesus, and hasn't a care in the world His father, Lord Eastford, you know, bought up a lot of nursery gardens just outside what was then London, and they've turned out a gold mine. The part got fashionable, you know."

The mention of a lord reminded Leslie—she had forgotten it until now—that the young man beside her is a duke and she wonders whether she ought to have addressed him as "your grace".

"Now, Miss Lisle," he says, "you've got to play the part of guide, you know. Is it straight on, or how?"

"Straight on, your grace," she says, thinking she will try how it sounds. It doesn't sound very well in her own ears nor, apparently in his, for he stops in the act of flicking a fly off the horse's harness and looks at her; but he does not make any remark.

The roads are good, the day heavenly, and as they bowl along Leslie leans back, wrapped in a supreme content. Her father's voice discoursing of "art" floats now and again toward her, the thud, thud of the horse's hoofs makes pleasant music; and if she should tire of the pretty scenery, there is the handsome face of a good-tempered young man beside her to look at for a change.

Leslie does not know very much about driving; but she knows that he is driving well, that the horses, fresh and high-mettled as they are, are thoroughly under his control; and half-unconsciously, she finds herself admiring the way in which he handles the whip and the reins.

"May one ask what you are thinking of, Miss Leslie?" he says, glancing at her, after a long silence.

"I was wondering which I liked best —sailing or driving," she replies.

"But you haven't driven yet," he says. "Would you like to drive?"

Leslie shakes her head.

"I should drive them into a ditch, or they would run away with me," she says, smiling.

"Not a bit of it," he retorts; "and I know you are not afraid, because you said last night that you never were afraid."

"Did I say that?" she says. "What wonderful things one says in the moonlight!"

"See here," he says. "I'll show you how to hold the reins."

"If I am not afraid, they will be, if they think you are going to transfer these wild animals to my guidance," and she glances over her shoulder.

"Oh, they're all right," he says, carelessly. "Give me your hand. No, the left one. That's it."

He takes it and opens the slim fingres and inserts the reins in their proper places; and as he does so notices, if he did not notice last night, how beautifully shaped and refined the small hand is.

"That's right. Now take the whip in your right hand and—how do you feel?"

"As if I were chained to two romping lions, and they were dragging me off the box."

He laughs, the frank, free laugh which Leslie thinks the pleasantest she ever heard.

"You'll make a splendid whip!" he says, encouragingly. "Hold 'em tight, and don't be afraid of them. Directly you begin to think they are getting too many for you, set your teeth hard, hold 'em like a vise, and give 'em each a flick. So! See? They know you're master then."

The ivory white of Leslie's face is delicately tinted with rose, her eyes are shining brightly, her heart beating to the old tune, "Happiness."

"There is a car coming, and there isn't room. Oh, dear!" and she begins to get flurried.

"Plenty of room," he says, coolly. You should shout to the man! But I'll do that for you," and he wakes the sleeping wagoner with a shout that causes the man to spring up and drag his horses aside as if Juggernaut were coming down upon him.

"See? That's the way! Oh, you'll do splendidly, and I shall be quite proud of you. I'm fond of driving. Do you know I've often thought if the worst came to the worst that I'd take to a hansom cab."

Leslie stares at him.

"A duke driving a hansom cab would be rather a novelty, wouldn't it?" she says, with a smile.

To her surprise, his face flushes, and he turns his head away. What has she said? At this moment, fortunately for Yorke's embarrassment, the duke remarks with intentional distinctness.

"Are you insured against accidents, Miss Lisle?"

Leslie holds out the reins.

"You see," she says, "they are getting frightened; and not without cause."

But he will not take the reins from her.

"I know you are enjoying it," he says, just as a schoolboy would speak. "You're all right; I'll help you if you come to a fix. Give that off one a cut he is letting the other do all the work."

"Which is the off one?" she asks, innocently.

He points to it.

"That's the one. So called because you don't let him off."

It is a feeble joke, but Leslie rewards it with a laugh for and away beyond its merits, and he laughs in harmony.

"You seem to be enjoying yourselves up there," says the duke. "Pray hand any joke down."

"It is Miss Leslie making puns," responded Yorke.

"Now you are getting tired," he says after a mile or two.

"How do you know?" she asks, curiously.

"Because I can see your hands trembling," he replies. "Give me the reins now, and if you are a good girl you shall drive all the way home."

It is a little thing that he should have such regard for her comfort, but it does not pass unnoticed by Leslie, as she resigns the reins with a "Thank you, your grace."

His face clouds again, however, and he bestows an altogether unnecessary cut on the horses, who plunge forward.

"There is St. Martin, and there is the castle," she says, presently. "Is it not pretty?"

"Very," he assents, but he looks round inquiringly. "Im looking for some place in which to put the cattle up," he explains. "Horses don't care much for ruins, unless there are hay and oats."

There is a small inn at the foot of the castle," says Leslie.

"That's all right then," he rejoins, cheerfully. "Hurry up now my beauties and let's show them what Vinson's nags can do."

They dash up the road to the inn at a clinking pace, and pull up in masterly style.

The landlord and a stable boy come running out and Yorke flings them the reins. Then he helps Leslie down and goes round to the back to assist the duke.

"I suppose we shall be able to get some lunch here Yorke?" he says, as he leans on his sticks.

"Lunch indoors on a day like this? Not much!" retorts Yorke, scornfully. "Out with that hamper, Grey, and get this yokel to help you carry it to the tower. You can walk as far as that, Dolph? Miss Leslie will show you the way."

At the sound of her name Leslie turns from the rustic window into which she had been mechanically looking.

"Oh, yes. There has been another party here this morning," she adds.

"How do you know that?" asks Yorke

"Because I can see the remains of their luncheon on the table," she says laughingly.

"Yes, sir," says the landlord. "Party of three, sir; two gentlemen and a lady"

"Thank goodness they have gone!" says Yorke. "You go on. I'll go and see that the horses are rubbed down and fed; I owe that to Vinson, anyhow."

He is not long in following them, but by the time he has reached the tower, Grey has unpacked the basket and laid out a tempting lunch. There is a fowl a ham, an eatable-looking fruit tart, cream, some jelly, the crispiest of loaves and firmest of butter and a couple of bottles with golden tops.

"Where did you get this gorgeous spread, Yorke?" inquires the duke.

"Oh, I was out foraging! early this morning," he says, carelessly. "Now Miss Leslie, you are the presiding genius. Of course the salt has been forgotten; it always is."

"No, it has not!" says Leslie, holding it up triumphantly. "Nothing has been forgotten. You have brought everything."

Including an appetite," he says, brightly, and as he opens a bottle of champagne, he sings:

'The foaming wine of Southern France'

"Yes. I wonder how many persons who read that in their Tennyson realize that it is champagne?" says the duke, brightly.

They seat themselves—cushions have been brought from the wagon for Leslie and the duke—and the feast begins. is going to be a failure as a picnic; it isn't going to rain," says Yorke.

"And I rather miss the cow which usually appears on the scene and scampers over the pie," says the duke. "I suppose your grace couldn't manage a cow on a tower."

Yorke looks at him, half angrily.

"Oh, cut that!" he mutters just loud enough to reach the duke.

Mr. Lisle looks round with his glass in his hand.

"I must find a spot for my sketch," he says.

"All right, presently," says Yorke. "Pleasure first always, as the man said when he killed the tax collector. Miss Lisle you have sworn never to drink more than one glass of champagne?"

Bue Leslie shakes her head and declines the offered bottle, and her appetite is soon appeased.

Shall we leave these gourmands and find a particularly picturesque study for your father, Miss Lisle?" suggests Yorke; "that is if he is bent on sketch——"

He stops suddenly, for a woman's laugh has risen from the green slope beneath them. It is not an unmusical laugh, but it is unpleasantly loud and bold, and the others start slightly.

NOT FIT TO LIVE WITH SHAW SAYS

King's Lancey, England, June 23.—Bernard Shaw has despaired of the human race entirely.

"Most people are not fit to live with," he told an audience during a speech on "Nerves."

"You can prove that," he said. "By asking the people who have to live with them. We all are more or less mad. If you knew everything about me that I know about myself you would get up and rush out of this place. You would wonder why such a dangerous person has been left at large."

PASSES ENTRANCE, ONLY TEN YEARS OLD

Toronto, June 23.—Ruth Estelle Wachter is only ten years old, but she has just passed her entrance into High school. Her mother gives credit to two teachers, Norman McClelland, Balmy Beach School, and Miss E. E. Darby at Williamson Road. Ruth came to Toronto from St. Louis at he age of five and a half. When a baby she was a semi-invalid, troubled with a form of rheumatism. She recovered so much while visiting in Toronto that the family decided to live here.

Mrs. Wachter has strict rules for Ruth. She must do her homework, and it is corrected by either of her parents. She must go to bed at 7.30 every night. Only on rare occasions is she allowed to go to movies. Each week Ruth takes one music lesson, and one dancing lesson to teach her to walk more gracefully.

A slender, merry, happy little girl she is, one inch under five feet in height and weighing 71 pounds.

Ruth will go to Malvern Collegiate in the fall. "I want to be a commercial artist," she says.

"I think," said Mrs. Wachter, "that it is all due to 12 hours sleep every night and regular attendance at school."

The family live on Fernwood Park avenue, a few yards from Lake Ontario.

Thomas Penny, 58 years old, of 1326 Lillian street, a resident of Windsor for many years died following a protracted illness. He was a native of Hamilton. A widow, one daughter and one son survive.

At Griffins

"The Arab", the new Rex Ingram production for Metro opened yesterday at the Griffin Theatre.

It is one of the greatest of Ingram's pictures, worthy in every way of the man who produced "The Four Horsemen" and "Scaramouche", and superbly acted by a cast that includes Ramon Novarro and Alice Terry.

The picture was filmed in Algiers and Tunis, and it affords the most convincing of all arguments why pictures should be screened on the exact locale of the story, instead of at Hollywood studios. For Mr. Ingram, in going to the East, has brought back with him to the screen all of the glamorous enchantment that has beckoned to travelers through all the ages.

"The Arab" gives you the Orient in all of its wonderful color and exotic life an authentic background for a drama that holds the spectators tense with excitement.

Islam Breaks Loose

Ramon Novarro appears in the title role as an Arab guide who falls in love with an American missionary's daughter, played by Alice Terry. He learns of the Turkish plan to massacre the Christians, only after the children from the mission are being led into the desert to certain death. He goes to their rescue, but, when he gets them back to the mission, the fanatical Moslems, roused to fury by their leaders, break loose and attack the little Christian stronghold. Only a miracle can save them. But you must see the denouement for yourself. "The Arab" is a picture that nobody should miss. Successful some years ago on the stage, with Edgar Selwyn who wrote it, in the title role, its effectiveness is tremendously enhanced on the screen.

Novarro and Terry

Novarro has the greatest opportunity of his career and he seizes it with a zest that sweeps all before him. There is no more fascinating actor than this young Mexican who conquered America with an insolent twirl of his monocle in "The Prisoner of Zenda" and as "The Arab" he never looked more handsome nor acted with greater fire and force.

Miss Terry looks lovelier than ever as the heroine. The blond wig that she wore in all of her previous pictures has been discarded and she appears for the first time on the screen in her natural dark-tinted bobbed hair. She rises to moments of enormous emotional appeal in the scene of the massacre, and she was never more alluring than in her love scenes with Mr. Novarro.

Mr. Ingram's direction is uncannily right in every little detail and the photography, credited to John F. Seitz, is a masterpiece of screen art.

To those persons who enjoy a little more than just plain hokum and want to see real thrills set in the actual locale of the story, "The Arab" is sure to be one of the most entertaining pictures of the year. It has story, stars, director and backgrounds — nothing could be nicer, and nothing is.

At The Belle

"The Golden Bed" now at the Belle Theatre is a story of two girls, a pampered belle and her resourceful sister—and what they do for a self-made millionaire who is an all too human combination of strength and weakness.

The picture is Cecil B. De Mille's latest production for Paramount which was adapted by Jeanie Macpherson, author of "The Ten Commandments," from Walace Irwin's novel and Pictorial Review serial.

The book was hailed by critics and public alike as "the most searching novel of marriage ever written. Its pages glow with life and love."

And what a picture De Mille has made of it!

Flora Lee, selfish young daughter of the aristocratic family of Peake, and her younger though far more sensible sister Margaret are both in love with Admah Holtz, rising young candy manufacturer who is long on money but shy on culture.

Holtz marries Flora Lee, the girl who turned her back on him when he was poor, only to realize that it is not he she loves but his money. Flora Lee gives a big candy ball which ruins Admah. He goes to prison. The girl goes off with another man while Margaret bucks up young Holtz; he fights back, has partially recovered, when Flora Lee returns, half out of her head, to the house of Peake, now used as a tenement. There she dies in the golden bed while Margaret and "Candy" Holtz go into each other's arms.

"The Golden Bed" will strike an unusually human note to those who have watched hard-working "nobodies" rise to wealth and social position over those who believed a marvellous family name did away with all necessity for work.

Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds and Lillian Rich have the principal roles in the production. Others featured are Warner Baxter, Theodore Kosloff and Julia Faye.

There's a great cast playing in support.

FLOUR FOR DANTZIG

Peterboro, June 23.—Thirty-three car loads of flour, 20,000 sacks in all, one of the largest consignments sent out for export by the Quaker Oats Co. for many years left Peterboro yesterday afternoon. The flour will be shipped to Dantzig and will be transported in small river steamers up the Vistula to Czecho-Slovakia. Canadian flour enjoys a pre-eminence in the Central European market over the products of all other wheat exporting countries, including the United States, and Quaker Oats Co. finds there a large and increasing market for all its foodstuffs.

WEALTHY BROTHERS TRIED STARVATION

Geneva, N.Y., June 24.—Charles and William Thomas, 50-year-old twins, who crawled into a chicken coop to die of starvation a few weeks ago, were yesterday taken to William state hospital.

The brothers are college graduates and very wealthy. They suffered financial losses recently which caused them to make a suicidal pact. First dressing in heavy fur-collared coats, they crept into the chicken coop and there waited for deaths. They were found after several days while still alive.

The twins are an enigma to physicians and officials. They present the most remarkable case of co-ordination of thought that has ever been discovered. They exhibit acute distress if they are separated for a moment and each unconsciously follows every movement of the other.

ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY STAGED BY YOUNGER CONSERVATIVES OUT IN STIRLING YESTERDAY

Prediction of King Government Defeat Are Made Freely

PROGRAM OF SPORTS

Baby Show, Foot Races and Dancing Kept Crowd Entertained

Belleville and the surrounding townships fraternised at Stirling yesterday when crowds from all points within motoring distance gathered for the first annual picnic of the Belleville Young Men's Conservative Association. The affair was in the hands of the young men and they made admirable hosts, but the older Conservatives were present, several of them making short addresses.

The pretty grounds of the Stirling Agricultural Society presented an attractive appearance under the bright afternoon sun. The gay colors of the ladies' summer frocks added a pleasing note and the men played up to the occasion. Our own Mayor Mikel, immaculately dressed, as always, was everywhere, treating the prettiest ladie and greeting old friends. Billy Ireland of Trenton shook hands steadily all afternoon and evening with his host of friends and Freeman Ketcheson, R. J. Graham, Major Dick Ponton, Al [illegible], J. E. Graham, Jimmie Hill, M.P.P. and Fay Wills were only a few of the prominent conservatives who helped to make the picnic a big success.

During the afternoon a baseball match between the Deseronto team and a team composed of players from Belleville and Stirling was an attraction. The result was a win for Deseronto by a score of 7 to 1. Foot races for children and grown-ups proved to be interesting to the many contestants and spectators.

Baby Show

Although there were but six entries in the baby show, Drs. Preston and Morgan had no easy task in deciding the winning child. The first prize went to Mrs. J. D. Mills of Stirling whose eight months' old child was a beauty. Prizes were given to the mothers of the five other babies entered in the competition.

In the afternoon and evening dancing was indulged in by many, especially in the evening. A very good floor was provided in the main building on the grounds and suitable music was furnished by the Bon Ton Orchestra.

The affair certainly reflected much credit upon the officers of the Club, an organization which was only formed two weeks ago and which has already a good membership. The members of the Club will at the next Dominion election be prepared to do much for the old Conservative party and their influence in this direction will be felt. During the summer and fall months a series of entertainments will be held and prominent speakers will be invited to speak. Mr. Harold Bateman as President of Club was ably assisted by a loyal corps of lieutenants in the rank of the Club.

Speech Making

To the south of the main building in a delightful spot, speech making took place and the various speakers were accorded a most attentive hearing. Mr. H. Bateman presided in a capable manner and on behalf of the Club extended a hearty welcome to all present. Before calling upon any of the speakers, the charman read the following letter from Mr. E. G. Porter, K.C. and ex-M.P.

Harold Bateman, Esq.,
President, Young Men's Liberal-Conservative Association,
Belleville, Ontario,

My Dear Harold,—

I have received with the extreme pleasure and deep gratification the invitation of yourself and members of your Club to attend the picnic to be held by them at Stirling on Wednesday next the 24th instant, and to address the young men particularly and all members of the Association who may avail themselves of the generous opportunity you have given them of enjoying the Conservative afternoon with the entertainment of speeches, etc., which you have provided. While deeply gratified that your Club should pay this compliment and afford me the favor of attending your entertainment I deeply regret that my physical condition has for the last four weeks been such that I have been actually confined to my bed, that I have not been able to attend to important matters of

D.D.G.M. Fitzgerald Paid Official Visit to District No. 13

Belleville was well represented at the happy masonic banquet at Wellington-on-the-lake last night, where there was an overflow crowd and a splendid evening. Following the lodge meeting, a banquet was given as a reception to Right Brother W. W. Fitzgerald, D.D.G.M., it being the occasion of his official visit to masonic district number 13. The banquet was given by Star-In-the-East Lodge number 164 A.F. and A.M.G.R.C. and the occasion last night of course was St. John the Baptist night.

The banquet hall was crowded to the doors and much credit reflects upon the Eastern Star lodge ladies who prepared and served the big meal with despatch and efficiency.

W. M. Brother Thomas Fillingham was toastmaster and opened the interesting toast list with the toast to King and Craft after which the National Anthem was sung. W. B. John Newton of Moira Lodge Belleville proposed the toast to the Grand Master and Grand Lodge of Canada, and Right Worshipful Brother Fitzgerald responded. Brother Davey Diamond also responded to this toast.

Brother E. P. Smith P. S. I. proposed the toast to Canada our Country and Brother John Elliott responded. The toast to visiting brethren was proposed by Wor. Bro. H. D. Cleminson and was responded to by presiding worshipful masters. The toast to the ladies was proposed by Bro. D. S. Ainsworth and responded to by Brother Edward B. Purtelle.

The quartette made up of Wilson Campbell, Saunders and Saunders favoured with numbers and Wor. G. S. Taylor contributed a solo. Misses Pearce and Clark delighted with splendid piano duets. W. G. Wilson also contributed a solo. The Junior Warden's toast closed an interesting program.

Dancing commenced after the banquet and was greatly enjoyed throughout the balance of the evening.

SONGSTERS HOMELESS

Hundreds are homeless in Belleville to-day as a result of the storm which swept through the city early this morning. In this case the feathered songsters were the sufferers. On the south side of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, vines which climb to the roof, were torn down by the wind and with them came innumerable bird nests, with eggs and young. Vines on both Bridge street and St. Thomas' Churches suffered similarly.

Windstorm Caused Much Inconvenience

Telephone and Telegraph Companies Affected; Branches Blown Off

The rain and windstorm which "came out of the east" during last night and the early morning hours to-day, tossed the branches of Belleville's avenues of trees about, and besides tearing off innumerable twigs and leaves, lopped off the odd branch. Lawns and streets are strewn with branches and twigs today.

Trouble is reported from the telephone building, Hydro headquarters and the C.N.R. telegraphic headquarters here. As a result of the storm 150 telephone customers complain to-day of trouble. Branch Hydro lines were down, and also caused the hydro troublemen extra work. Before noon, however, all city hydro lines were working well again, and the telephone trouble men were at work as quickly as possible replacing the usual satisfactory service, which nature had chosen to interrupt. Hydro lines throughout the district suffered some but all were minor troubles.

The Canadian Press wire to newspapers was out of commission for a time this morning also.

Reports from district correspondents lately report the need of rain throughout the district and doubtless the temporary trouble here and elsewhere will be more than compensated for when the crops and garden stuff shoot forth as a result of the showers which continued intermittently throughout the day.

Veterans to Ask Haig to Unify

G.W.V.A. In Readiness to Co-operate in Amalgamation

Ottawa, June 25.—An organization of veterans of the Great War, to be known as the British Legion in Canada, is expected to grow out of the action of the Great War Veterans' Association, which in annual convention here yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution placing its assets totalling approximately $2,000,00, and membership of about 30,000 at the disposal of Field Marshal Earl Haig, in accordance with the expressed wishes of the former Commander of the British Armies in France for complete unity among Canadian ex-service men.

While the identity of the G.W.V.A. which has been the senior ex-soldiers' organization in existence since the Armistice, would be submegred by the proposed formation of a legion of all war veteran organizations, the guarantee is asked that, in the event of Earl Haig concuring in the proposal, the ideals of the G. W.V.A. be preserved; that the organization be not allowed to disintegrate during the transition period, which is not to exceed one year, and that the Adjustment Bureau for veterans be not impaired.

Haig Asked to Name Trustees.

A provision is also made that Earl Haig be requested to nominate a Board of Trustees, whose duty it would be to see that the intent, purpose and spirit of the resolution were carried out. It was intimated that some outstanding Canadian would be asked to conduct the association during the period of transaction, and the name of Lieut.-General R. E. W. Turner, V.C., was mentioned among delegates as a possibility.

Plainfield Folk Express Regard

Make Presentation to Rev. R. G. and Mrs. Thompson

The United Church at Plainfield was the scene of an interesting event this week, when Rev. R. G. Thompson and Mrs. Thompson were presented with a purse of about sixty dollars before their departure for Macdonald, Manitoba. Mr. Thompson is going to a charge there in response to an appeal from the Home Missions Board for young men to voluntter for the West. The Church was filled with representatives from all parts of the circuit. The following address was read by Mrs. Harry Ketcheson and the presentation was made by Mrs. Clarence Hall. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thompson, of Stirling, parents of Rev. Mr. Thompson.

The Address

To Rev. R. G. and Mrs. Thompson:

Conscious that your relationship with us is about to be severed, we have assembled here this evening to express our deep regret at your removal from among us. We wish by our very presence to bear testimony bear of our respect and love for the one who has ministered on Plainfield circuit during the past two years, being deeply aware of what your departure means to us, not alone as congregations but individually as well.

From the pastor's desk, many have been the messages of cheer, comfort and inspiration. There, all causes of right or justice involving moral principles have been championed with fearless attitude, while every phase of church activities has received attention and interest betoking your devotion to your high calling.

Not alone from the pulpit have our lives been influenced, but in the every day walks of life we shall keenly miss personal contact with the man who has ever sought to follow in the footsteps of One of whom it was said, "He went about doing good".

You ready smile quick sympathy, understanding spirit accompanied by a quiet unassuming manner have gone far in forging strong the links of friendship and love between the pastor and people and exemplifying the truth that Christianity is not simply a creed to be believed but a life to be lived.

Our pathways during the past two years have been chequered with sunshine and shadow, these mutually shared joys and sorrows forming ties more binding than fetters. We do not like to think that separation means the breaking of such bonds, but rather that they shall ripen into cherished recollections.

We take this opportunity of thanking Mrs. Thompson for her untiring zeal and willingness to lend a helping hand. We appreciate the many fine qualities of heart and mind which have endeared her to us and shall continue to live in our memories.

While deploring your removal both sincerely and deeply we cannot but commend the decision you have made and the courageous spirit which prompted it. As when you answered the call to service of King and country so bravely, now under leadership of the great captain, the King of Kings, you go forth as a true soldier of Christ where men of valor are needed for the conflict.

On the eve of your departure kindly accept this gift as a tangible evidence that the loving thoughts of those whose lives have been touched and enriched by your ministry shall follow to that far away field of labor that the Divine Helper shall ever be near you and yours to give strength comfort and support in every time of need.

Signed on behalf of Plainfield circuit, Mary Maynes, Mable Hodgin, Helen McCreary, FrFankie Gibson, Annie Sills, Hazel Hawley, Mrs. F. Comins and Mrs. E. Sayers.

Tom Mason Given Splendid Reception

Arrived at Detroit To-day And is Cynosure Of All Eyes

With movie cameras cranking photographers dodging about for good views and reporters jotting, Tom Mason stood on the steps of the Detroit City Hall today at 3 p.m. the cynosure of the eyes of a huge crowd which included several hundred former Bellevillians, was formally welcomed to the Motor City by his Worship, Mayor Smith. Mayor Mikel received the following telegram from Lucius E. Allen, former Belleville man, now Detroit engineer: "Mason received good reception and publicity at Windsor yesterday. Official reception by his Worship, Mayor Smith, Detroit and former Bellevillians at City Hall three o'clock to-day. Press and Pathe partly co-operating."

Tim wired the Mayor that he was being cared for by Mr. Allen.

Tom will probably be in Detroit till Sunday and will be housed with a former Belleville family.

BOBBED-HAIRED GIRL EMPLOYED TOY GUN

Chicago, Ill., June 25.—A pretty bobbed-haired girl, arrested Tuesday night in the act of holding up a taxicab driver, confessed that she was the mysterious girl robber who within a week had engineered five similar hold ups.

She revealed that that "gun with which she threatened the driver's life in each robbery was a toy pistol.

"I needed money awfully bad," was the explanaton given by the girl, who gave her age as nineteen.

STRAWBERRIES NOT PLENTIFUL TO-DAY

It was expected that the market to-day would have been vertually flooded with strawberries as large quantities were picked during yesterday. The weather conditions were however such that but few were able to attend the market and in consequence the berries offered for sale advanced in price, namely 15 cents a box. In one or two cases 20 cents a box was asked. We are informed that yesterday a number of trucks from Toronto and other centres were about the country and secured many crates of berries which were taken to Toronto and other places.

Men Volunteer to Give Their Blood

To Help Save Life of K. A. Davis, Conductor, At Port Hope

K. A. Davis, C. N.R. conductor, who was seriously injured at Port Hope Tuesday was subjected a blood transfusion and later to the amputation of his left leg, yesterday afternoon at the Port Hope Hospital.

The point of amputation was not learned; the leg was crushed between the knee and ankle.

Davis is in a very critical condition and while he was resting reasonably well this morning, the shock to his system has proven severe.

Yesterday afternoon the doctors on the case called railroad officials here asking for volunteers for blood transfusion to precede the operation. One pint of blood was required.

From six men who volunteered for this service, R. L. Johnston, General Yard Master was selected.

Previous to the call for volunteers, Thomas McDermott, yard clerk and Albert College student, had indicated his willingness to place himself at the disposal of the doctors, should the necessity arise. He was among those who went to Port Hope.

Attilio Marcocbio, an Italian yardhand who was naturalized less than a month ago, also offered to give a pint of blood.

Some of the men left the Peterboro game when they heard of the call for volunteers, and reported to officials here that they would undergo transfusion.

Those who went to Port Hope, in addition to those already mentioned were H. E. Eldridge, and two Albert College students, Cook and Harwood.

Perched All Night On Upright Timber

Well Known Resident of Fort William In Perilous Position

Fort William, June 25.—Anson Anderson, a well-known resident of Fort William, was rescued this morning by the crew of a launch owned by the North Shore Supply Co., from a perilous position on an upright timber about 300 yards out in the lake from the Mission River, where he perched all night after a motor boat in which he was returning from Pie Island, struck a sunken log and sank.

Police this morning are searching the North Shore in vicinity of the accident for Shuman Burke, Anderson's companion, who is missing and who it is feared has been drowned.

Anderson is suffering too much from exposure to tell a coherent story, but it appears that the motor boat in which they were returning to town struck a sunken log and sank. Anderson could only swim a few strokes, he reached the upright log and climbed to the top of it. Burke told Anderson he would try and reach the shores and obtain help. His fate is as yet unknown, but the waters of Lake Superior are always cold and it is feared that he was stricken with cramps and perished.

Anderson was first sighted by workmen at the Fort William Paper Mill. They tried to reach the marooned man in a small boat, but the water was too rough and they were forced to return. They phoned the North Shore Supply Co., who sent out the launch that rescued him.

Chinese Troops Guand some Foreign Settlements; Assurances Given

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, June 23.—Angency dispatches from Peking say 20,000 students, merchants and workmen paraded the streets today with banners inscribed "declare war on England". Dispatches declare demonstrators shouted "death to English brigands" but that there were no signs of further disturbances and that less enthusiasm was shown to-day han during previous Chinese demonstrations. Many Chinese troops and police guarded foreign houses and shops and all entrances to legation quarter were kept under observation.

Canton, June 25.—The situation resulting from anti-foreign agitation is even more intense to-day. Chinese threatened to attack foreign settlement at Shameen at noon but the attack did not occur at that hour. Additional fortifications have been erected in British and French concessions.

Japs Arrive

Japanese landing parties have arrived. Chinese party carrying banner of foreign office arrived this morning at Foreign settlement gates claiming to be bearers of dispatch stating that a demand for damages would be made when the dead had been counted.

The American consul recieved a letter requesting him to enter the Chinese city to consult with officers of the foreign affairs. The letter however was not properly signed and was disregarded.

Boycott Warships.

Shanghai June 25.—Telegrams from various storm centres in the anti-foreign movement depict the situation as follows: At Wuhu, near Nanking, the food boycott of foreign warships continues, but Chinese authorities are maintaining order. Order has been restored at Ningpo, n Chekiang, the province south of Shanghai. Chinese soldiers are guarding foreign quarters Chinese authorities at Swatow on the coast between Amoy and Canton, have given assurances that foreigners will be protected but these are not considered convincing because of the absence of control over agitators.

At Amoy, Chinese and foreign authorities are co-operating and the situation is described as satisfactory. At Hohow, an island of Hainan, south west of Canton, the situation continues disturbed and there is much uneasiness. No change is reported from other centers but generally tense atmosphere prevails.

CANADA'S LOSS.

"Are honourable gentlemen quite satisfied with a condition of affairs where Canada, enjoying the possession of eighty to eighty-five per cent of the asbestos resources of the world, sends those out almost wholly in the raw state procures for them only $7,400,000, finds them manufactured in the United States and sold over there for $75,000,000? Are we quite satisfied with a condition where we find Canadian raw material drifting t here, employing but very few in Canada but providing the material for the employment of men in forty factories in the United States? If that is all right, if that is satisfactory to the Canadian people, then nothing more can be said. If it is not satisfactory, the objective must be reached of bringing to this country the benefit of its own resources"—Mr. Meigen in enunciation of the Conservative Party's policy.

In the export of asbestos, according to Mr. Meighen's figures, $70,000,000 is lost to Canada annually To the same degree this country is losing in the export of raw material for the manufacture of paper. One-third of Canadian production going out in the raw returns nine or ten millions of dollars; one-third going out as pulp brings a price of under forty millions, and one third manufactured into paper sells for close on one hundred millions. The policy of the Conservative Party aims at the securing to Canada of the profit from the conversion of her pulpwood into paper. Under that policy, instead of the few millions received from the sale of the raw or semi-raw material, this country would receive the tens of millions forthcoming from the sale of the finished article.

"The time has come in Canada—it is brought home to us by experience very, very bitter—when we must assert every advantage we possess, and we must assert it in absolute fearlessness or retaliation or anything else" declared Mr. Meighen.

PROTECTION FOR FRUIT GROWERS.

Throughtout this and previous sessions the representatives of the fruit and vegetable producing districts of Ontario and British Columbia have been demanding protection for their industry. Their demand has had no response from the Government. American potatoes and other vegetables have been permitted to drive Canadian produce from the market. Home grown vegetables and fruit stocks are allowed to decay while the market is supplied from the neighboring republic. The loss to Canadian growers amounts to millions of dollars annually. In Western Ontario and in the valleys of British Columbia growers with large investments are struggling against discouragement. An industry capable of turning over hundreds of millions of dollars a year is being blighted by unnecessary competition. Mr. Meighen, in the policy on which he is about to challenge the Government before the country, is assuring protection for this industry. The preservation of the fruit and vegetable producing activities of Canada does not mean merely prosperity for those engaged in them. It means as well an increased buying power for large sections of the Canadian people to the ultimate benefit of the entire community. The, consuming as well as the producing elements of the Canadian people will reap the profit. The Canada-first policy of the Conservative party has an effective illustration in its application to this one industry.

A LARGER HOME MARKET.

Speaking on his tariff resolution in the House of Commons, Mr. Meighen asserted that if Canada produced all the textile goods the factories of this country have capacity to produce in the way of installed machinery there would be employment for men and women drawing wages of $100,000,000 a year. This is only one phase of the effect to be achieved by the Conservative Party's policy of protection for Canadian industry and of the conservation and manufacture within the Dominion of the raw products of this country. But the tremendous benefit to the entire country from the protection of this one industry can be readily grasped. It would mean $100,000,000 a year added to the purchasing power of the Canadian people. That additional amount of money would go into the pockets of other Canadian producers and those dealing in Canadian products. Farmers, laborers, artisans, manufacturers and merchants would share in its distribution. An increase of $100,000,000 in the purchasing power of the home market from the protection of one industry alone raises some vision of the prosperity to be achieved by a comprehensive policy of protection that will ensure the activity and expansion of existing industries and the acquisition of new industrial establishments for the manufacture of Canadian raw materials employing additional tens and hundreds of thousands of Canadian workers.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

Did you ever have a nighthawk make its home on your roof? Or rather, a pair of them?

Sometimes, when there are flat roofs on which small pebbles are present, the nighthawks will come and nest there.

If you have ever been up on a pebbled roof in the hot sun you will wonder how the poor birds eggs keep from becoming hard boiled, but then, you see, most of the daylight hours are quiet ones for the nighthawk, and the mother sits on the eggs to protect them. I have seen a mother bird come back to her young ones, after being scared away in mid-day, and stand over them with outstretched wings, to shield them from the sun, too frightened to brood them, and yet bravely facing danger, in order to give these poor helpless little ones some protection from the hot sun.

It is impossible to find a nighthawk's nest on a pebbled roof, for there is no nest. The eggs are simply laid beside some pebbles, so that you will have a hard time locating them. They are colored just like the pebbles with which they are mingled. If you get curious and think there are night hawks nesting on your roof, do not walk on the roof, but hide in some way that will let you observe the birds and they will give away the hiding place in due course, whereas, you might tramp on the eggs and not know it, if walking about.

Very often, if the sun is hot, the mother bird will cover the eggs all day long, without a move hardly, and the father will go up into the air and make dashes through clouds of insects, gathering great quantities of them in his open mouth, for he goes through the air like a funnel with wings. He then descends to the roof, feeding the mother bird with gentle and lover like demonstrations of affection, which she seems to like, for she accepts his gifts of food all day, waiting until evening before she tries to gather a meal for herself.

ORIGINAL THINKING.

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

Of course there is the difficulty that many people are not endowed with the qualities that make for original thinking; education for such people must mean dependence on the thoughts of others. And perhaps, after all, there is as much original thinking today as the world can safely use. Too much original thinking may be dangerous for people who are not prepared for it, just as electricity may be dangerous for those who do not know how to use it.

MOTOR-CAR INSURANCE.

(Victoria Colonist)

A proposal has been put forward that motor insurance companies should offer a policy on a mileage basis instead of a time basis. For instance, the total mileage of one car for a year may not exceed 5,000 whereas others will run as high as from 30,000 to 50,000 miles in the twelve months. The risks of the latter must be six or ten times as great as the former. The suggestion is that a man should be able to insure his car for 20,000 or 50000 or 100,000 miles, with a speedometer showing the distance, and the policy expiring when the distance has been run.

THE URGE TO GO

(Vancouver Sun)

By the time this reaches you, word may have come from Spitzbergen that Roald Amundsen has managed to fly over the North Pole and back again. What would he see? Nothing. What would he gain? Except a little fleeting fame, nothing. Why did he go? Because the genius of his race, which is our race, is the urge to go, the restless longing for new countries, new places and new feats. It is this instinct in the Nordic race that has given the white man dominion over the most of the world's surface. The Nordic white man is the pioneer. If he cannot be settling new countries, he will be risking his life over the pole. But whatever he does, he must go.

BRITIN'S LEAD.

(Providence Journal)

After the British government funded there should have been no serious talk of partial cancellation because of great sacrifices of life and property by France Italy, Belgium and other powers. For Great Britain's sacrifices were tremendous. Yet she had no thought of using violence to the Anglo-Saxon tradition of strict integrity in matters pertaining to finance. Hence she funded her loan. Her representatives used their wits to get as good a bargain as possible. It was their privilege, just as it is the right of those who will speak for France and Italy. It would be unfair to Great Britain to delay longer in asking the other nations to settle.

LEARNING TO SWIM.

(Port Burwell Enterprise)

That every one should know how to swim is an oft-repeated assertion. With advent of warm weather in the river and later in the lake at the bathing beaches the injunction is again apt. Whether for the pure love of sport or from necessity in case of accident, being able to swim is an accomplishment very much to be desired. It is a matter of comment how easily some acquire the facility to swim, and it is also a matter of comment how many are apparently unable to float and propel themselves through the water. The main hindrance to swimming is the fear of the water, and when once this is overcome by familiarity the feat is easy. If you want to learn to swim, go swimming often.

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

Where the French Please Most

The French, even in the small towns and villages, can do two things better than the rest of the world—cook and make clothes. If in some small town you have arranged for Jeanne to keep you fed she may bring in your toast from the kitchen on the end of a toasting fork and flick it on to your plate with the tip of her finger, but it's toast done to the second and unmatched anywhere else on earth. Veal is the piece de resistance. Jeanne's ideas are blanquettes de veau with tiny mushrooms, escallopes de veau and rognons de veau, with Madeira sauce. She may go down the street and buy for 20 centimes, about a cent, a cupful of Madeira to make her sauce and you couldn't do that in America, but with a cupful of little button champignons for the blanquette, she will fill all your senses with a fragrance and joy that the highest paid chef in New York could not improve. Anywhere in France the table is fit for a king.

If You Would Be Cool And Comfortable

Some one should make a list of the coolest places in Europe for summer visitors. If I were asked, omitting some places that are cool but not comfortable, I would put the region of the Sognefjord in Norway at the top of the list. It is the longest of all the Norwegian fjords and extends for 112 miles into the country, is four miles wide in places and nearly 4,000 feet deep. That is the kind of ravine we want on a hot summer's day. Worn by waves and glaciers in places, it is fringed by luxuriant orchards and waving cornfields elsewhere, and studded on the rim with the pleasantest dwellings. The general character compared with the Hardangerfjord is much in favor of its softer scenery and beautiful waterfalls.

The Weird Scenery of the Naerodal

After lunch in the Stalheim Hotel waited on by girls in the national Norwegian dress, at a meal that was good enough for a feast for Vikings, I descended by the wondrous Naerodal on the zig-zag road. I could not help recalling the words of Du Chaillu, "There is no other valley in Norway, through which a high road passes that can compare for weird scenery with the Naerodal. Such an austere grandeur is given to these gigantic walls by the twilight and their outlines look so like grim phantoms that I doubt if there be anywhere a view like it. I became spellbound by the stupendous panorama."

"DEAR SAM"-

In which Bill discovers that May, now surfeited with ready cash, is about to launch herself into a 'career."

BY J. H. CREIGHTON

Dear Sam,—.

You know, Sam, there's an old sayin' "Do right and fear no man—don't write and fear no woman. But I don't guess there's any danger in my writin you some more. Anyway I druther write the news to you than to some skirt back home that's startin some talk. Each man to his own divorces, says I, or maybe its devices I mean.

My family is changin fast, and theyre gettin tony with my jack about as slow as chain lightnin. May rolled out this mornin wearin what I calculate was one of them 1-2-off dresses we heard about. So far as I can figger, any poor gal who walks around in a skimpy dress aint fit to be seen with, but if she's got lots a coin she can wear a ten ounce dress and they say "eh ain't she cute," all a which is sayin that May is looking cute these days.

Jim ain't slow to learn neither with his ma to teach him in the art of not speakin to anyone who ain't as rich as we are. Today we was lookin out the winder when the lad spies a big bus rollin along, jacked to the rails, and he said jest fer information, "Is that a comman carrier?", and before I could squeeze out an answer the good woman piped up in a cold way." Yes, very common."

All in all we're havin a purty tough time tryin to keep from talkin to folks who ain't in our class (accordin to the wife) and trying our darndest to talk to the folks who are. (Also accordin to the wife.)

Just between you and me Sam I'd be awful glad to swap yarns with anybody, as I ain't passed a word with a mortal outside the folks, since we come here and all anybody ever says to me is "Thank you" for a dollar tip, and at 50 cents a word that darn expensive talkin. Out home you get a "you know me, Al" look, but here everybody seems to be thinkin: "You owe me Al".

You know Sam, theres lots of folks who won't speak to you till they see yer bank book—and not then, maybe. I figger that such folks is so small that you could dump about eighty of them into a hole which is just big enough to hold a ten cent diamond (and that's purty small!) and them eighty people would rattle around in that hole, even if each one of em had a hippopotamus in his arms.

I don't think my folks spree of actin high an mighty will last any longer than a 10 day sample tube of shavin cream, which means about 5 days.

May is already given some signs of doin somethin in the line of work. After tryin fer an hour to find out what she had up her sleeve she at last came through by tellin me she wanted to write fer a livin.

If shes as bashful about selling her stuff as she is in producin it, it'll be a darn slim livin.

Yours truly

BILL.

Success Achieved By Picton's Mayor

The Gazette Lauds Him For The Splendid Record He Has Made

(Picton Gazette)

Like most men who have achieved success in life, Mr. Fred Newman had no special advantages over the average boy. He was born in the village of Colebrook, Addington County, a few miles northeast of Napanee, where his father was in business as a general merchant. Although fate decreed that his early years were not to be spent in the environment of business life, it would almost seem that there were some inherited qualities which led him in that direction and made his life a marked success in the business world.

When he was a boy of only three years of age the death of his father made a great change in his family life, for it so happened that his mother married again and the second husband was a farmer. Here his life was spent as a young lad and during his teen years, gaining in this way a practical knowledge of farm life. As a young man he decided however to go into business, entereing the employ of the Bay of Quinte Railway as station agent and agent for the Rathbun Company who controlled the Bay of Quinte and who had at the various stations on the line lumber and brick yards. In this way he gained valuable experience in the railway business and in merchandising. After two years in the employ of the railway he resigned his position as agent at Marlbank and came to Prince property at South Bay, which included grain warehouses, general store and farm. For over four years he carried on business here as grain buyer and shipper, general merchant and farmer.

The next move was to Picton, coming here in the spring of 1899 and establishing The Fair, in the premises now occupied. The business grew and prospered, and in the next succeeding years branch stores were established at Wellington, Napanee, Brighton Gananoque and Trenton. During recent years all of these have been disposed of except Gananoque and Trenton which are still connected with the Picton store. In 1904 Mr. Newman bought the building occupied by The Fair. The rapid growth of his retail business developed in 1910 in the establishment of a wholesale grocery by Mr. Newman. This was started in the Eyre Block. After a year in these premises he moved to the Wilcox Block and four years later in August 1916, to his present premises, the old Queen's Hotel Building, which he purchased and remodelled as a wholesale warehouse.

Mr Newman is a keen hard working business man and has made a success of his business ventures. In addition to his own business he has helped to finance other undertakings and industries. Notable instances of these are the Regent Theatre and Picton Electrics Limited.

In spite of a busy business life, Mr. Newman has always found time to devote to other activities. He first came into prominence in municipal affairs as member of the Citizens' League Council. This was an organization formed by the citizens to further the prohibition movement in Picton. He has served ten years in the town council, four years as councillor and six years as Mayor, having held this position for the years 1916, 20, 21, 22,23 and 25, the present year making his sixth term. He is the President of the Board of Trade, this year making the eleventh consecutive year in this position. He is President of the Prince Edward Poultry Association for 1925 and 1st Vice President of the Prince Edward Agricultural Society. He has been a member of the Hospital Board since its organization. By virtue of his office as Mayor he has been a member for six years of the Library Board, and the Public Utilities Commission. Since 1917 he has been on the executive of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association. He has also for some years been a member of the executive of the Provincial Association Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce. He is a director of the newly formed Tourists Association of Ontario and is President of the Eastern Ontario Cheese Producers Association.

He is also active in church matters, being a member of the Trustee and Quarterly Board of the Picton United Church and for several years Superintendent of the Sunday School. For 2 years he was Superintendent of the county association. He is a Conservative in politics and has for some time been treasurer of the town association.

Chinese up in Arms Over Booth Order

Oshawa Police Commissioners Ban Private Tables; To Fight

Oshawa, June 24.—Booths in all restaurants in the city are banned by the police Cafe owners were notified this afternoon of the new ruling and the work of removing the partitions must be effected before a license will be granted.

The order is the result of action taken at a meeting of the Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon A bylow licensing restaurants was passed in 1917, but it has been practically dead since 1918. The fee is nominal being only $6.00 a year, but the object is to keep the restaurants under control at all times and should police orders not be obeyed application can then be made to have the license cancelled which will force the proprietor to close his establishment.

The Chinese restaurant proprietors are the only ones effected by the police order and they are up in arms over the order and at a meeting among themselves have decided to retain a lawyer to attempt to upset the ruling.

The cafe proprietors declare that they will suffer a loss in business outside of the expense of removing the booths. They claim that many of their patrons will not sit at an open table and that this fact has been brought to their attention by patrons leaving the restaurants when hey were unable to obtain a booth although there were open tables available.

An ensemble wardrobe for the junior is much smarter and no more expensive than the separate coat and frock.

This small girl with her uncanny nose for fashion news will want an ensemble costume because it's smart and absolutely the last word among the younger generation. You yourself will approve of it when you've thought it through and realise that it's perfectly practical and no more expensive than her usual Spring outfit. A coat of soft twills, serge, camel's-hair twill or flannel can be faced with a plaid, striped or polka-dot wool and worn over a frock of the facing material for school. For Sunday and nicer wear she can have a second frock to match the coat or with its lower part matching the coat, and its upper part of crêpe de Chine or all crêpe in the coat color.

Detroit immigration authorities are holding Thomas G. Forney, an attorney of Detroit; Tony Johnson of Windsor, a coal and wood dealer and his wife and Peter Wheeler for conspiracy to smuggle aliens across from the Canadian side. All will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Hurd.

After serving Essex County as school inspector and superintendent for 48 years, Dr. J. A. Maxwell is to be superannuated at the end of the present month and given an annual grant of $500.

Holy Year Visitors Tax Rome's Linguists

Hotel and Taxi Men Have Difficulty Even With Prices

Rome, June 25.—The linguistic attainments of policemen, taxi-chauffeurs hotel employes and other workers who have to cater to the needs of Italy's vast tourist population have been severely taxed this year—sometimes beyond the breaking point—by the influx of Holy Year visitors.

Hotel managers, porters and valets who once were able to satisfy their clients by a passing acquaintance with Italian, English, French and German now are frequently reduced to conversation by eloquent gestures. Hotel notices and other tourist information posters which until this year had been printed in three or four languages, now in some cases boast of as many as six or seven.

Recently taxicabs and cabs were provided with booklets setting forth the scale of prices in Italian, French German, English, Spanish and Polish.

And even the expert philologists who boast of being able to make themselves understood in Russian, Serbian, Rumanian, Hungarian and all the other Central and Northern European languages are often confronted with a more baffling difficulty by the presence here of peasants from remote sections of their native lands, particularly Italy and Germany, who know no tongue other than their respective regional dialects.

PREMIER FERGUSON TO BE HONORED

London, June 25.—Agent General Nixon's reception to Premier and Mrs. Ferguson at Trocadero last night was well attended. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Tilley, Mr. Reginald Geary, President Falciner, M. P. C. Larkin, Colonel Grant Morden, Mr. Smith and Mr. Thompson, of the Canadian National, Major and Mrs. Heather, Mr. Tolmie and Mr. Avery of the Wembley Exhibition, whose wives are being presented at to-morrow's court, the High Commissioners of Newfoundland and South Africa, and most of the Canadian colony in London.

Mrs. Ferguson, wife of the Premier is being presented at Friday's court.

Premier Ferguson is lunching to-day with Mr. Amery at the Caledonian Club, and expects to be in Belfast for the 12th of July. He is attending the meeting of the Privy Council this week at the invitation of Lord Carson.

Fire at the residence of Dr. Henderson, Hamilton, caused damage estimated at $2,000. It is believed that it got its start among the electrical equipment used by Dr. Henderson in his practice. The blaze had made considerable headway before it was noticed and gave the firemen a stubborn fight. Most of the damage was caused by water.

Dance Halls Promote Beneficial Relations

American Girls Meet Better Class Europeans There

Rome, June 25. — Those maligned American inventions—jazz music and dancing, constitute far more potent agencies in the cause of international understanding between America and the nations of the old world than suave diplomatic overtures and lengthy and flowery after dinner speeches.

Such is the opinion of a number of thoughtful Italians who, after visits of varying length in the United States, have attempted to explain to their countrymen the importance of understanding American modifications of cultural and social conventions of Europe.

The dance floors of the large tourist hotels of Europe, it is asserted, far from being the scene of undesirable meetings of young people, now are places where American girls, properly chaperoned, meet young Europeans of the better classes. In the meeting of those young people, in their conversations and discussions, there is being brought to Europe the spirit and meaning of America.

This Auto Club Uses Mails Freely

California Club Will Send Out About 3,000,000 Pieces

Los Angeles, June 25.—Approximately 3,000,000 pieces will constitute the outgoing mail of the Automobile Club of Southern California this year, it was indicated in statistics released recently by the headquarters of the organization. The figures were based on the amount of mail matter sent during 1924.

First-class letter postage of the motoring organization averages 3,500 letters a day. In addition 2,000 pieces of second-class mail matter and some 150 parcel post packages are sent, totaling for the daily outgoing mails an average of 5,650 pieces. The figures, allowing 300 working days in the year, revealed that the club sends out annually 1,695,000 pieces of mail.

However, this is but a fraction more than 50 percent. of the total outgoing mail, for the organization sends out approximately 1,200,000 copies of its monthly magazine.

In addition some 100,000 letters and packages are carried to 30 branch offices by the highway patrol fleet which the club maintains.

OSHAWA 4 KINGSTON 3 ; PETERBORO DOUBLED SCORE ON BELLEVILLE 10 TO 5 YESTERDAY

Errors are Costly In Fatal Eighth

After Holding Visitors Tied For Seven Frames Belleville Lost

Belleville lost its chance to the Peterboro for the C.O.B.L. cellar position at Agricultural Park yesterday afternoon, when Walt Gerow's ball chasers dropped the game to the Petes by the score of 10 to 5. The splendid twirling of Frank Whitehouse, a lucky hit by Hap Harrison in the sixth and mighty poor fielding by Belleville in the eighth caused the reverse for the Quintyites.

Hardill started on the mound for Peterboro, but was pulled after the first frame. Weir and the two Mills brothers hit him for safeties and three runs. In addition he walked two. In the eight frames that Whitehouse worked, this young lad kept Belleville to four hits.

Whitehouse struck out six men and walked but one. He showed plenty of speed and had the ball breaking well.

Shiner Johnson had intended saving the youngster for Kingston on Saturday, but Belleville looked too dangerous against Hardill.

For Belleville, Blakely was back in the line-up, and he made his presence felt. He secured two of Belleville's seven hits and worked nicely around short, with the exception of one bad error. One of his smashes was a clean two bagger which sizzled down the third base line.

One of the funniest sights seen in base ball circles for many a moon occurred in the fourth, after Meagher had made the first sack.

Meagher took a long lead off first as Whitehouse went into the box. As Whitehouse raised his arm for the delivery, the runner started for second. The pitcher turned and threw to Rose, the second baseman who began work with Hap Harison to trap Meagher. Then followed the burlesque with Meagher dodging back and forth between Harrison and Rose arguing the while with Dell the umpire over the balk.

Made Good Start.

Fans were confident of a victory after the first frame was over. Ross drew a walk, Weir doubled to left and Peeney Mills cracked a pretty grounder into centre territory on which Rose and Weir made home. Harry Mills followed with a single to centre and Hagerman walked. Meagher sacrificed, scoring W. Mills. Blakely was caught out on a high foul to Swanson and Casey grounded out, Helson to Harrison.

Peterboro was retired easily in the first and second and the game looked like a walk-away.

But while Whitehouse held Belleville scoreless, his team mates fought hard to even up the score. The visitors got one in the third, when Wolfe banged out a triple to right field and was sent home by Johnson's single to centre. They evened the score in the seventh, Shiner Johnson taking part again. Shiner singled down third base way and Helson sacrificed. Harrison cocked it on the snout for a three base hit to right field scoring Johnson. Swanson brought Harrison with a two bagger to centre.

Jeffery steadied down in the seventh, but in the eighth again, the Peterboro sluggers hit him easily. Swanson started the proceedings with a hard drove to left field. Peeney was too slow in fielding and the ball went past him for a four base hit. Rose walked, Wolfe got a scratch hit to second base, Meagher being slow in fielding. Hardill got on, filling the bases, when Blakely fumbled at a time when he had a chance for a double play.

Immediately on top of this, Jeffery fumbled Legon's drive at his knees and Rose scored. Johnson knocked out a Texas Leaguer to centre bringing in Wolfe. Still the bases were filled. Then Helson stepped out and knocked a long one out in Peeney's territory. Peeney should have stopped it. He didnt. The hit went for a homer and four runs. This made a total of seven runs in the innings.

Belleville tried hard to catch up in the ninth, but could get no more than two runs. Meagher singled through short. Blakely hit to left field and Meagher scored on Helson's bad throw. Blakely came in while Harrison was racing to first to put Jeffery out on his infield tap.

The line-up:

Belleville—Rose, c.f; Weir, 3b; W. Mills, lf; Goyer, lf; H. Mills, 1b; Hagerman, c; Meagher 2b; Blakely, s.s; Casey, rf; Jeffary, p.

Peterboro—Legon, rf; Johnson, ss; Helson 3b; Harrison, 1b; Swanson, c; Rose, 2b, Hall, lf; Wolfe, cf; Hardill, p; Whitehouse, p.

Score by innings.

Umpire Kay Gives Version of Scrap

Quinn a Fine Gentlemanly Player He Tells the President

Umpire Alex. Kay, reporting on the trouble in the last game Kingston played at Belleville, writes the president as follows:

Peterboro, June 19, 1925.

C. M. Anderson, Esq.,
President C.O.A.B. League,
Oshawa, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I have your telegram of last night asking me to "rush my report of Wednesday's game in Belleville" and in reply I beg to add to my regular report (which was mailed to Secretary Thompson yesterday) the following:—

The game wint eleven innings and was a thriller both from a players and spectators view point and everybody was worked up to the high tension point.

With two out in the eleventh, Weir on third and the score a tie. Quinn made a threw to third to catch Weir with the result that the ball went away out along left field foul line and Weir came home with the winning run. As Weir was in the act of touching the plate (the ball was still in the outfield) Quinn in excitement gave him the hip and Weir was thrown to the ground lighting on his shoulders. Weir had touched the plate coming in and immediately some spectators rushed on the field but Chief of Police Kidd of Belleville, and some of his men were on hand at once and as the game was officially over I left matters in their hands.

I have always found Quinn a fine, gentlemanly player and Weir has had the reputation of being one of the cleanest players in the league for years past. The only reason that I can account for Quinn's action was the intense excitement, the fact that Quinn himself, who is young at catching, has been getting his bumps pretty hard all season from some of the older players in the league.

I understand that in the mix-up Quinn was handled pretty roughly by some spectators and has probably regretted the whole affair.

If the play had happened in the middle of the game I feel certain that not much notice would have been drawn to it but happening as it did at the end of an eleven inning game with everybody's nerves at the breaking point certain allowances should be made for their actions immediately after.

If you require any further information that I can give you it will be gladly furnished.

I am, yours truly,
ALEX. C. KAY, Umpire.

Trace Taximeters To Early Athens

Bematists Then Followed Kings on Campaigns

Oxford, Eng., June 25.—Modern research has disclosed that the chariots which plied for hire about the Acropolis in the days of Pericles were fitted with ingenious and highly industrious taximeters.

In the grey dawn of Attic history distances were measured by professional pacers called bematists, who followed the kings on campaigns and processions, but with the introduction of horses and chariots the bematist's lot in that hot and dusty land became an acive and unenviable one. Thus the taximeter of those days was, it is said, invented out of sympathy for this industrious order of men. The profitable little instrument survived wars and invasions, and clicked on through all the darkest ages. They are recorded to have been in use in Spain in the days of Columbus, and John Evelyn, the seventeenth century diarist, speaks of them as 'waywisers' very 'pretty and useful.'

Of these 'waywisers' or 'perambulators' a number have now been collected and are on display in the newly reopened Oxford museum of scientific instruments.

Debutantes Must not Show Their Knees

Lord Chamberlain Issues Ruling Before Social Affairs

London, June 25.—Frocks worn at court functions at Buckingham Palace must not be too flimsy, according to a special ruling on the subject recently by the lord chamberlain's office, which has charge of social affairs for King George and Queen Mary. The ruling was prompted, it was explained, by the tightness of dresses, but in this connection the lord chamberlain has let it be known that there had been no ban on narrow skirts so long as they were full enough to permit the curtsey to be gracefully carried out by the wearer.

With regard to the flimsy frocks the lord chamberlain said it appeared from reports in his hands that some of the debutantes at last year's courts did not wear sufficiently substantial lingerie and consequently, in some instances, even knees were visible, which was not to the liking of "certain officials". As the outcome of the lord chamberlain's order a new material has been brought into use by the modistes to meet the occasion. It is very heavy crepe de chine known as court crepe, and made into specially designed slips to be worn under court gowns.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

If Yorke had read the story of the Hermit of St. Martin in a book—he didn't read many books, unfortunately—it would not have affected him at all but told by this lovely girl, in a voice hushed with sympathetic awe and reverence, it moves him strangely.

"It's a pity there are not more hermits," he says, "a pity a man can't leave the world in which he has made himself such a nuisance, and have a little time to be quiet and repent."

"Yes, your grace," assents Leslie.

He looks at her quickly, and then away to the sea again.

"I wonder whether you'd be offended if I asked a favor of you, Miss Lisle."

"What is it?" she says lightly. "In the old times the proper reply was, 'Yes, unto half my kingdom,' but I havent any kingdom."

"Oh, it isn't much," he says. "I was only going to ask you if you would be kind enough not to address me as 'your grace.'"

Leslie looks at him with her slow smile, and a faint blush.

"Is it wrong?" she asks, apologetically. "I didn't know. You see, I have not met many dukes."

He strikes at the sandy pebbles which form the floor of the good hermit's cave, with his stick.

"Oh—oh, it's right enough to call a duke 'your grace,'" he says hurriedly, "but I'd rather you didn't call me so."

"I'm glad it was right," she rejoins, with an air of relief. "I thought that perhaps I'd committed some awful blunder."

"No, no," he says. "But don't, please. I have a decided objection to it. You see I'm rather a republican than otherwise—everybody is a republican nowadays, don't you know." Oh, Yorke, Yorke! "There will be no dukes or any other titles presently."

"But until that time arrives what should one call you?" asks Leslie, not unreasonably. "Is 'my lord' right?"

"It's better," he admits, "but I don't care much about that from friends, you know. I'm afraid you think its rather presumptuous of me to call you a friend."

"'An enemy' would sound rude and ungrateful after your and Mr. Temple's kindness," she says, as lightly as before.

"My name is Yorke—one of 'em and it's the name I like best. I dare say that you have noticed that Mr.—Mr. Temple calls me by it?"

"Yes," says Leslie.

"So it sounds more familiar to me, and—and nicer. I suppose a man has a right to be called what he likes."

"I imagine so," says Leslie.

"Then that's a bargain," he says cheerfully, as if the matter were disposed of. "This place," he goes on as if anxious to get away from the subject, "reminds me of Scotland a little bit. You only want a salmon river. I've spent many a day fishing and shooting in a solitude as complete as the hermit's. You get scared at last by the stillness and the silence, and begin to think that all creation has gone to sleep, and are afraid to move lest you should wake it; and then while you stand quite still beside the stream, something comes flitting down the mountain side—something with great antlers and big mournful eyes, and it slops into the water close beside you, and takes a drink, looking round watchfully. Then up you jump and give a shout, and away the stag goes, and all creation's awake again."

It is Leslie's turn to listen now and she does so with half-parted lips.

"Then at night you go out with a gun, and you lie down flat amongst the bracken, and keep your eyes open, and after a while when you are just feeling tired of it and thinking what an idiot you are not to be in bed, or at any rate, beside a cozy fire with a pipe, you hear a flap, flap in the air, and a couple of heron come sailing between you and the moon, and you raise your gun carefully and quietly—awfully sharp chap the heron—and down one of 'em, and perhaps, if you have any luck, the other with the second barrel. Then you load up again and wait, and after a time, if your luck holds good, a flush of wild duck come flipperty, flopperty, above your head and you bring one or two of them down. And all the time the stream riple and babbles on, and the soft wind plays through the pines, and ——" He stops with a laugh and that peculiar look which expresses shyness in a man. "I beg your pardon, I forgot; I mean, I must be boring you to death."

"No, you were not," says Leslie quietly and with a little sigh.

"I forgot that ladies don't care for sport, except hunting, some of them. They like to hear about London, and all the gossip there."

Leslie shakes her head.

"I'm afraid I'm very singular, then," she says. "For I would rather hear about fishing and shooting, if it is all like that you have been telling me of."

"But it isn't," he says with a laugh. "Sometmes the birds don't come, and the fish won't rise, and instead of catching any you catch a cold. And then you go back to London, and swear that it's the best place after all; but after a little while you get sick of it again, and think if you could only get on to a Scotch moor, you'd be happy."

Yorke Auchester stands where his friend has left him, and looks out to sea, with a troubled countenance; stares so long, and so lost in thought that it would seem as if he had forgotten his own party. It is not often that the young man has a moody fit, but very badly.

But presently there comes down to him the faint sound of Leslie Lisle's soft, musical laugh—how striking a contrast to that of the young lady whom he has just got rid of! and he wakes from his unpleasant reverie and climbs up to the tower.

The duke is leaning back with an amused and interested smile on his face, which is turned towards Leslie, and it is evident that he is happier and more contented than usual.

"Miss Lisle has just been giving me a description of the Portmaris folks. You have missed something, Yorke," he says, with a laugh. "Have the savages disappeared?"

"Quite,' says Yorke; "and if Miss Lisle and her father would like to look round, the coast is now clear.'

"You go, papa," says Leslie, with her usual unselfishness; "and I will stay with Mr. Temple."

The duke glances at her.

"You will do nothing of the kind," he says. "I am not going to impose upon your good nature, Miss Lisle Besides, I dare say, I shall take forty winks."

Leslie hesitates a moment then she gets up and goes for the easel; but Yorke is too quick for her.

"Come along, Mr. Lisle," he says, touching him on the arm, while he stands looking from the edge of the tower absently, and the three descend.

"Now, this stikes me as a good place," say Yorke, setting up the easel. "Don't know much about it you know, but it seems to me that the outline and the—"

"Excellent; yes, very good," assents the artist, eagerly getting out his drawing paper. "Yes, I can make a picture of this You need not wait," he adds. "You will want to talk and——"

"I see," says Yorke. "Come along, Miss Lisle; we're evidently not wanted."

They stroll away side by side, and slowly descend the grassy slope, which gradually becomes broken by rock, which kindly nature, who has always an eye to effect, has clothed with ferns and moss and lichen.

"I suppose I ought to show you the hermit's cell?" says Leslie. "Everybody sees it."

"By all means," he assents, but rather absently—the loud laugh of Finetta, the music-hall song are still echoing hideously in his ears. "Which hermit?"

"Didn't you know?" she says, lightly stopping from stone to stone. "There was a hermit here once ever so long ago. Here is his cell," and she stops before a cavity in the rocks a deliciously shady nook, over-hung with honey suckle and wild clematis which perfume the air.

Yorke looks in. Somebody since the hermit's time, had been kind enough to fix a comfortable seat in the little cell, from which a delightful view of the sea and the cliff can be obtained.

"Let us sit down while you tell me about him," he says.

Leslie seats herself, and looks out at the greenery at her feet and wide-stretching blue sea and sky beyond; and he takes his place beside her, but looks at her instead of the view. "The proper study of mankind is—woman."

"There really was a hermit here ever so long ago," she says, dreamily. "They talk of him at Portmaris even now. He was a very great man in his time, but I am afraid not a very good one. It is said that he killed his best friend in a duel, and, that smitten with remorse for his crime and his foolish life, he vowed that he would never set eyes on mortal man again. So he came and lived in this cell, which he dug out with his own hands and spent the rest of his life in prayer and meditation. Every day the village folks, and sometimes the pilgrims who visited his shrine, placed food on the ledge of the little window; but though they could hear his voice in prayer or singing hymns, no one ever saw his face, nor did he ever look out upon those who came to visit him."

"He must have been fearfully unhappy," says Yorke, in a low voice, for the soft, subdued tones seem to cast a spell over him.

"No, they say not; for he was often heard, especially after he had been living here for some years, to be singing cheerfully; but that was after he had received his sign."

"His sign?" he asks.

"Yes. He prayed that if Heaven forgave him his sins, and accepted his penitence, it would render the birds tame enough to come at his call."

"And did they?"

"Yes. The pilgrims to the shrine often saw a thin hand thrust through the window with a hedge sparrow or thrush perched upon it, and the rabbits, there were numbers of them, here, would come when he called, and let him feed them with the remains of his frugal fare. One day the village people received no answer when they called to him, not even the Pax Vobiscum, which amply repaid them for their pious charity. They waited two days, and then they entered the cell, and found him lying dead on his stone pallet, and a wild dove was resting on his breast. It flew away as they entered, but it was seen hovering about the cell for years afterwards, and the Portmaris people say that a dove is always near here, even now."

ICED TEA

"SALADA"
is used, is a satisfying and refreshing summer-beverage.

"Yes - Rinso washes cottons so beautifully"

"See how spotlessly clean it made this dress! No rubbing or boiling either—just soaking in Rinso. Washday holds no more terrors for me!"

Soaking clothes in Rinso takes the place of the hard rubbing that used to wear you out. The Rinso suds are so rich in cleansing power that they loosen even ground-in dirt. Play clothes, collar bands and cuff edges now come clean with a sprinkle of dry Rinso and only a light rubbing between your fingers—after their Rinso bath.

Be sure to use enough Rinso to get lasting suds after the clothes have been put in. Then, thorough soaking in Rinso floats the dirt out.

ONCE UPON A TIME
JACK THE GIANT KILLER.
by W.J.ENRIGHT.
6-24

The lady left the banquet abruptly and rushed out of the castle. Jack put on his cap of knowledge and knew immediately that the magician through his wicked enchantment was forcing her to come in the forest.

Jack quickly buckled on his sword and after throwing the invisible coat over his shoulders followed the lady.

He came on them in the forest and the wicked magician was exercising his enchantments.

Jack strode up to him and with one stroke cut off his head. The maiden was immediately freed from the spell and she and the prince were married the next morning.

A PRESENTATION

On Tuesday afternoon, June the twenty-third the people of S. S. No. 23 Sidney invaded their school, taking Miss English completely by surprise, to spend a social hour and bid her good-bye before leaving. The teacher held an oral exami nation of the classes after which Rev. W. E. Honey took charge of the gathering. Miss English was then called forward while Melvin Honey read an address and Ruby Woods presented her with a salad bowl and servers and a silver berry spoon. Miss English made an appropriate reply after which all sang "For She's a Jolly Good Girlie". Mr. Honey made a few remarks and then the ladies served a very dainty lunch. Following is the address:

To Miss English;

We, your pupils of S. S. No. 23, Sidney, feel very sorry that you are leaving our school. You have been kind to us always, and helped us to learn the hard lessons; and when we were slow to learn you were patient with us. You have never spared any pains in making our school days profitable and happy. Sometimes you had to punish us, but you did so only because we needed to be corrected that way. We are going to miss you a great deal, and I wish you could have been our teacher still.

Our parents and the other people of this neighborhood also regret that you are going to leave; and they appreciate your help in the community life and in the undertakings of our church. We will never forget you, and we wish you to accept this salad bowl and berry spoon as a token of our high esteem and extend our best wishes for your future welfare. Hoping to see you many times in future days.

Famous Concert Singer Also Famous As Beauty

THE search of Jason for the Golden Fleece is as nothing to the search of women for eternal beauty.

Since the days of Cleopatra the power of feminine beauty has been recognized and women have sought to retain their youthful loveliness and to guard it against the ravages of time.

The day of an obviously made up appearance is past and the ultimate aim is a beauty that has every aspect of naturalness.

But it is in a way paradoxical that the woman who because of the demands of her profession must use make up in a greater degree than any other should have the most beautiful complexion.

Professional women almost without exception have lovely skins which they attribute to a method of caring for the skin that experience has taught them is not only the simplest but the most efficacious.

Beautiful Sophie Braslau whose exquisite contralto voice has charmed music lovers all over the world and whose delightful personality is no less famous than the rare quality of her voice has one of those fine clear skins which must be treated with the utmost care.

"Soap and water" was her reply to a query as to what she used. "and sometimes a bit of pure cold cream," she added.

With a pure white unscented soap and warm water Miss Braslau makes rich suds. This lather she applies to her face with a gentle massaging movement. After bathing for several minutes she rinses it off with clear cold water followed by a quick application of ice wrapped in a towel to prevent too great a shock to the sensitive skin.

Then comes a film of cold cream smoothed over the skin to eliminate any tendency to dryness and a brush of powder.

Nothing could be simpler than Miss Braslau's beauty recipe and its efficacy only confirms the opinion of scientists who claim that the intelligent use of soap and water augmented by an occasional application of a bland cold cream is the only essential necessary for a clear skin.

business let alone matters of pleasure, and consequently it will be utterly impossible for me to attend and address the meeting.

I am sure that you and your association as well as the members of our party who may assemble that day will realize that it is through no lack of interest or enthusiasm in your cause that prevents me from attending, but solely the unfortunate physical condition in which I find myself at the present moment.

I am very glad, however, to be able to report that I am recovering from my illness very rapidly now, and hope in a very short time to be practically as good as new again.

I wish you and your Club together with our Party as a whole every possible success and any aid, encouragement or assistance that it may be possible for me in the future to give them, it will be one of my greatest pleasures so to do.

I sincerely hope that your entertainment will be even more pleasureable to both the women and men of our Association than you anticipate and will be such as to make them anxious that the Young Men's Liberal Conservative Association of Belleville should give them an early opportunity in the future of enjoying similar occasions.

With kindest regards and the sincere affection for the party, I am,

Yours faithfully

E. G. PORTER.

Mr. W. H. Ireland, M.P.P. for West Hastings congratulated the President and members of the Young Men's Conservative Association of Belleville upon the success that had attended their efforts. In referring to Dominion politics the speaker said that at the next general election Mr. King would find that South Hastings will send a representative to assist Rt. Hon. A. Meighen in conducting the affairs of the country.

Organization was the key note of a brief address given by Mr. J. F. Hill, M.P.P. for East Hastings. In the late election in West Hastings the whole Dominion Government was in the campaign. There were many indications of a Dominion election being held shortly as large estimates were being given for certain public works in Quebec and in Ontario. All admired the leader Rt. Hon. A. Meighen who upon all occasions has but one policy for the Dominion whereas the Hon. Mr. King has a policy for every Province he speaks in. Hon. Mr. King was evidently not satisfied with the Union Jack but his record during the war was such as to warrant him not being satisfied with it. In conclusion the speaker urged the party to become thoroughly organized.

Take 4 follows

Gatherings such as these are a splendid means of discussing the issues of the day declared Mr. M. E. Maybee, M.P. for Northumberland County. The country to-day was depressed industrially and many industries are closing down. This depression extends all over the country and the policy pursued by the King Government is responsible for such condition. Our respected leader, Rt. Hon. A. Meighen has enunciated a policy along the lines of protection that will remedy existing conditions.

Agriculturalists in Canada today are suffering from the policy of the present Government, by reason of the fact that certain farm commodities come in from the United States owing to our low tariff. Many countries have raised their tariff since the war while in Canada it has rather been lowered. Thousands of Canadians are emigrating into the United States on account of the depressing condition of this country. The Government at Ottawa is an impotent Government and their policy has proved to be a failure. The Government is taking its dictation from Washington and Mr. King is rapidly weaving a cord binding Canada to the United States. Let us change this state of affairs by returning Hon. A. Meighen to power.

Mr. R. J. Graham in his opening remarks said that pep and enthusiasm was needed and the Young Men's Conservative Club was infusing same. We should all get together for the good of the country. The present Government in power was incompetent. Many factories have been closed up owing to the policy pursued by the King Government. Only last week three industries in Peterboro went into liquidation. In referring to the Dominion election whenever it would take place Mr. Graham said that South Hastings would be redeemed and once again placed in the Conservative ranks. Canada for Canadians should be our motto.

The want of proper organization and many voting who were not entitled to vote were two of the reasons why we lost West Hastings at the bye election, declared Mr. H. F. Ketcheson. The boys of today would, however, lead the party to victory, and it was certainly a time for a change of Government at Ottawa. Let us be up and doing and put in power a government that will reverse present depressed conditions in the country. Put the King Government out of power and we will be a happy and contented people.

Never again send a Liberal to Ottawa, said Hon. R. F. Preston, M.P. for Lanark, who was the speaker of the afternoon and he made a fine fighting speech, impressing upon those present the necessity of organizing. The Hon. speaker referred to the fact that in his last election he organized the ladies in the riding and they proved a tower of strength. Let all infractions be removed and if this is done the result desired will be achieved. We are sick at Ottawa hearing about the West Hasting election, the representative of which votes steadily with the Government. In referring to the King administration, Dr. Preston said we are losing from 10 to 12 thousands of our Canadian young men and women who are going to the United States to earn a living. The preferential policy of the King Government is closing factories all over the country. Legislation is not in the interest of the masses but rather for the classes. Under a protective policy Canada did prosper and that policy was in force when the Conservative Government was in power. The King Government on the hustings of the last election said they would practice economy and have not done so. That Government also promised a cash bonus to those who went to fight in the great war and returned home, but that promise has been cast to the wind. Our resources are being shipped away and our boys and girls are following those resources to the United States. We should inaugurate and place on the statute book a policy that will protect our industries and keep them working. We want a policy that will give employment to our Canadian boys and girls and keep them from going to a foreign country.

The speaker said he brought greetings from the Hon. A. Meighen and regretted that Mr. A. C. Boys, M.P., was unable to be present.

Mayor W. C. Mikel made a brief address in which he urged unity and the dispelling of all jealousy. We must look to the future and rehabilitate the Conservative party for we do not know when Mackenzie King will go to the country. He does not know what he will do however until he consults the progressives for he will not enunciate a policy until he does this. The Conservative party is the party that inaugurated the National policy that built up Canada and that party will be returned to power again.

Brief remarks were made by Mr. C. B. McGuire, Reeve of Sterling who extended a hearty welcome to all present and a vote of thanks was by Major R. D. Ponton, seconded by Mr. Geo. H. Stokes, moved to Hon. Dr. Preston and Mr. Maybee for their addresses.

Cheers for the King, Hon. A. Meighen and Hon. H. Ferguson bought the proceedings to a close.

At The Belle

A lowly extra won the gratitude of Rupert Julian, famous screen director, and caused a whole invasion of enemy troops to be retaken, at Universal City during the filming of "Love and Glory," Julian's spectacular tale of a French romance, now showing at Belle theatre.

The scene, taken in the French chateau village constructed at Universal City for the picture, showed enemy troops invading the place during the wars of 1870. Great pains were taken to make the scene historically correct, and excitement reigned as final preparations were made for the cavalry dash.

The scene was taken in full, and Julian mopped his brow. When one of the "villagers" approached Julian, timidly.

"The enemy is supposed to capture the town, isn't it?" asked the extra.

"Yes—why?" asked Julian.

"Well—that French flag flew all through it, and wouldn't the enemy have torn it down?"

"Retake!" ordered Julian, hastily dispatching a workman to remove the banner.

Little Details Are Problems

"It's just an instance of how a small detail, which may mean a lot, can be overlooked during a big production," the director said, after publicly thanking the extra who had given him the information. The extra was rewarded, incidentally, by a part running all through the picture.

"Love and Glory" is the dramatic story taken from the widely read novel, "We Are French," by Perley Poore Sheehan and Robert Davis, of two men and a girl, extending over an entire lifetime. The characters first appear as very young people, but later are seen as folks of over seventy, in modern times, but with the same romance running through their lives.

A notable cast appears in the picture. Charles De Roche, the Pharoah of "The Ten Commandments," plays the dominating role of a lover and later the grizzled old war hero, while Madge Bellamy appears as the girl about whose romance the tale centres, Wallace MacDonald plays her brother.

Others in the cast are Ford Sterling, Charles De Ravenne, Gibson Gowland, who played "McTeague" in "Greed," Priscilla Dean Moran and John Roche.

A spectacular scene in the modern sequence is the Salon of Honor episode, in which actors impersonate Poincare, Joffre, Petain, Foch and other celebrities of France, who present the old soldier with the nation's highest decoration.

Cathedral Workers Unite in Prayer

Hundred Workmen Recite Lord's Prayer in Half Dozen Tongues

New York, June 25.—The Lord's Prayer was recited in half a dozen tongues when nearly 100 masons, stonecutters and laborers in workclothes joined with contractors and clergy in a prayer service at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, before laying the first stone for interior walls of the nave recently.

The service was requested by the men themselves, according to Bishop William T. Manning, who in full episcopal robes, conducted it in the open air on the nave foundation near the south wall.

No tradition of the men's crafts was involved, Bishop Manning said. The request came from their spontaneous feeling of hte special and sacred character of the work they are doing in rearing one of the great cathedrals of the world.

The small bareheaded congregation contained sons of various faiths as well as races. When the Bishop asked them before returning to their respective jobs to repeat the famous prayer of the Savior in unison it was uncertain to what extent they could respond.

They responded unanimously, it was observed. Anglo-Saxon voices were joined by Frank; Latin by Levantine. Those whose memories or understanding faltered caught the pace from sonorous leaders. It was on the rise just above 110th street but in the devotional scene carried back to the corner stone days of St. Peter's, Tours, Cologne, Rheims and other renowned medieval cathedrals.

Bishop Manning said the unusual blessing the guilds had sought for their work was in harmony with the interest organized labor as a whole had shown fro mthe outset in the erection of the great edifice.

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario.—"I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it steady all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains, headaches and pains across the back. I have my home to look after and many a day I could not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. F.J. WASSMANN, Mitchell, Ontario.

The merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is told by women to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for others to know.

Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles so common to her sex to give this well-known medicine a fair trial.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

Experts Assist Argentina Crops

America Supplants Europe In Agricultural Aid There

Buenos Aires, June 26. — American methods in the development of crops and mineral resources are being rapidly introduced into Argentine, which formerly loked to Europe for instruction. The national and provincial governments now have in their service no less than nine technical experts who are either Americans or have gained their knowledge in the United States.

Argentina's infant cotton industry is being developed under the technical advice of two American experts, Ernest L. Tutt, former chief of the cotton section of the textile division of the department of commerce and Dr. N. E. Winters, a cotton geneticist, formerly of Clemson College, South Carolina. Mr. Tutt is devoting himself to improving methods of cotton cultivation, while Dr. Winter's' work is to obtain pure uniform varieties of the plant for the different sections of the republic, and adapt seeds from other countries to Argentine conditions.

W. E. Cross, an American sugar expert, is in charge of the experimental station maintained by the provincial government of Tucuman, where the sugar industry is centered. He is developing new varieties of sugar plants and controlling pests and diseases.

Thomas Breggar an American geneticist in corn, is inthe employ of t he ministry of agriculture endeavoring to obtain better varieties of that cereal.

The culture of tobacco is being developed by Felix Charlan, a specialist formerly employed by the Canadian government, who has studied tobacco culture in Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky and Cuba. He is introducing American seeds and methods.

The methods for making cheese used on the Pacific Coast of the United States are being introduced by an Irish expert, who spent considerable time studying the American dairy industry.

The possibilities of establishing a metallurgical industry in Argentina are being investigated by H. Foster Bain, chief of the United States bureau of mines and two assistants, E. C. Swanson and G. E. Williams. They have been exploring the territory lying along the Andes for coal, iron and manganese.

In addition to the above an American Leon M. Estabrook, was the organiser of Argentina's new crop statistics bureau; another American, George O. Wiggins, organized the weather bureau, and there is also an American connected in an executive capacity with one of the state railroads, said to be better than any other of the system.

Dr. Thomas Le Breton, former Argentine Ambassador at Washington, now minister of agriculture, and Dr. Carlos A. Vallejo, subsecretary of agriculture and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, are responsible for bringing most of these experts to Argentina.

CANINE SAILOR IS STOWAWAY ENEMY

New York, June 22.—"Odd," the canine sailor of the steamer President Wilson of the Cosulich Line, who has had such luck stirring up ocean hoboes from the hold of the liner that he has come to be known as a "stowaway hound," nad great hunting on the voyage from Italy which ended yesterday morning with the arrival of the ship at Hoboken.

Between Trieste and the middle of the Atlantic he turned up twenty stowaways, dragging them before Captain Zar.

After leaving Trieste he found one man, who was put off at Naples. Seven more were found before the ship reached Palermo, and they were put ashore at that port. At Lisbon two other men found by "Odd" were put off, and before the ship had gone halfway across the Atlantic he found ten more, who had hidden themselves far in the hold of the ship.

ONTARIO ROTARIANS ARE NOT AFFECTED

Toronto, June 24th.—The proposal of Cardinal Begin of Quebec to forbid Roman Catholics of that diocese to become members of the Kiwanis Rotary or similar service clubs, will have no effect on Catholics in Toronto.

"It is purely a diocesan regulation," a diocesan Tmember of that religion, who is also an active Rotarian, stated. "Catholics in Toronto, and elsewhere throughout Canada—, and so far as I know, throughout the world—have always been free to join such clubs. A number of priests are members at the present time."

Cardinal Begin has agreed to refer the question of membership in such organizations to the Pope for a final pronouncement, and the opinion expressed locally is that no objection is likely to be offered by the Vatican.

The death occurred in the General Hospital, Sarnia, of Florence Grace Robbins, wife of Herbert Callum, Sarnia Township, at the age of 40 years.

VETERANS OF KANSAS NEGLECT BONUS

Topeka, Kan., June 25.—Scattered all over the globe are some 5,000 World War veterans entitled to share in the $2,500,000 remaining in the Kansas soldier bonus fund, but ignorant of the fact that the money belongs to them.

"Sadder still", remarked Leslie E. Edmunds, state bonus director, "those veterans, who probably need the money will not be able to get a cent of it after June 30. The state legislature has extended the time once, but will not do so again."

About 1,000 claims have been paid by the state since the legislature extended the time for considering applications. Most of these were paid to veterans in other states or in foreign countries, who had just learned that Kansas was paying a bonus to men who were bona fide residents of the state at the time of enlistment or conscription.

With the exception of the three Catholic troops the Chatham Boy Scouts will hold their annual summer camp at Port Talbot, on the old Talbot homestead about nine miles west of Port Stanley.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes will Form The New Government

STATEMENTS MADE

Premier Armstrong Now Realizes People Want a Change

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, N.S., June 26.—Premier Armstrong was to-day enroute to Halifax from his constituency of Shelbourne where he yesterday suffered personal defeat in the general election which swept his government out of office and elected a house consisting of 40 Conservatives and 3 Liberals. While constitutionally, the government may remain in office until the opening of the new Legislature, it is anticipated that Premier Armstrong will call an early meeting of his administraation and place his resignation in the hands of His Honor the Lieut.-Governor and recommend that Hon. E. N. Rhodes, leader of victorious Conservatives and former Speaker of Dominion House of Commons, be called upon to form the new government.

Hon. E. N. Rhode's Statement

"It will be my endeavor, when called upon to form a Government which will be truly representative and composed of men who will command the confidence of the people. I am deeply sensible of the great responsibility which has been placed upon my shoulders and though fully conscious of my limitation, it will be my earnest endeavor to cope with the many and grave problems confronting the province which today finds itself in a sorry condition. In its struggle to retain power, the Armstrong administration and those who supported it, made the mistake of attempting to play politics at time when we were confronted with a grave situation with respect to which serious minded and tax burdened people had a right to expect, at least an effort at some reasonable solution.

Halifax, June 26.—Last night Premier Armstrong at Shelburne gave out the following statement:

"Latest information unmistakeably indicates that a substantial majority of electors have come to the conclusion that the time for a change had arrived. The outstanding majorities in many of the counties clearly show that a popular verdit has been rendered against the government. The decisive character of the verdict would seem to indicate that there is no very practical desire for redress of our economic ills, I am satisfied, however, that the determination of our people to secure redress of their grievances will have to be dealt with."

Fire Does Damage Early This Morning

Tobe, Second-Hand Store And Contents, Suffer Damages

At a few minutes after 2 o'clock this morning, a fire broke out in a second hand store at 385 Front street, conducted by Mrs. T. Tobe.

A citizen passing the place at the time discovered the fire and gave an alarm at the fire station directly opposite. Mrs. Tobe and her five children occupied rooms over the store and they were aroused from their slumbers and taken to an apartment adjacent. The blaze was confined to that portion o fthe building where it originated, namely beneath the hallway stairs a portion of which were burned away. The stock in the store was badly damaged by smoke and water and was not insured. Mrs. Tobe had insurance on her household contents and the loss sustained by smoke is covered. The building is the property of J.J.B. Flint, and the loss amounting to probably $500 or $600 is covered by insurance. It is thought that the fire originated from an electric wire.

Ireland, M. P. P., H. S. Colliver, M. P. P., and H. K. Denyes, have been invited to be present.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF SELLING BOOZE

Corbyville Employee in Court For First Time To-day

TAKEN LAST NIGHT

Sexsmith Told Where He Got Liquor, After Being Arrested

Charles Imbach, middle aged blacksmith with the Consolidated Distilleries Limited at Corbyville, pleaded guilty to a charge of selling alcohol in police court at noon today, and was remanded to jail until Monday next for judgment by Magistrate Masson. He had never been inside a police court room in his life before. Bail was set at $4,000 and one surety of $1,000.

Imbach was arrested by P.S. Arthur Harman after having been implicated by William Sexsmith of this city who was arrested last night and charged with having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling house. This case was also enlarged until Monday and bail was granted.

P.C. Wilfred Franks arrested Sexsmith last night in a laneway when it was found that in his car he had several bottles of alcohol. The liquor bottles which were displayed on the lawyers' table in court today were of all sizes and shapes, mostly quarts and pints. Most of the bottles contained colored liquid, but others were filled with pure alcohol. Sexsmith said that he had colored some of the liquid by adding water and burned sugar. He was uncertain he said whether he would sell it or not. He was afraid. The liquor will be kept until Monday and in the meantime after Chief Kidd notifies the distillery, they may claim the stuff if they can prove ownership.

A big crock was also exhibited containing alcohol. From this crock, Imbach procured the gallon which he gave to Sexsmith and for which Sexsmith says he was to be paid $20 when he had the money. Imbach told of finding the crock full of alcohol Tuesday night last beside the fence just across from the bottling room of the distillery, as he returned with the mail from the post office at Corbyville. Sexsmith testified that he had previously purchased a gallon of alcohol from Imbach for $10 but Imbach denied this statement on oath. This former quantity had been consumed and not sold, Sexsmith explained.

Crown Attorney Donnan asked for a substantial penalty as Imbach should have returned the acohol which he must have known was the property of the distillery.

"You narrowly escape a charge which might entail a penalty of 14 year in penitentiary," explained the Crown, referring to a charge of theft from an employer, which is a serious charge.

E. J. Butler appeared for Sexsmith.

Imbach was arrested on a warrant by P.S. Arthur Harman today.

Lindsay, June 26.—Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, who captured the prizes offered to the oldest lady and gentleman on the grounds, at the monster picnic given by Conservatives of Victoria and Haliburton Counties at Long Beach, Wednesday, were fortunate enough to win the same event at the picnic last year. Mr. O'Brien was sporting the cane he won on that occasion. He is past eighty-five years of age and Mrs. O'Brien is eighty-three. Physically active and mentally bright. He hoped to live long enough to see a change of government at Ottawa, he said, and he felt sure he would. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien seemed well pleased with the 2 pound package of coffee and the large box of chocolates they received.

W. Woodsides of Okmulgee, Oklahoma, won the prize given to the owner of the car coming the greatest distance to the picnic.

Strange Angle is Revealed in Murder

James Fox Arrested as Material Witness in Bell Affair

Toronto, June 26.—Held as a material witness, the detention of James Fox at police headquarters has revealed a new angle to the shooting of William Bell, who, it has been believed, was the victim of hold-up men at he gasoline station where was employed on Bloor street west. Bell was shot down about midnight on Monday, June 15, and died at noon last Friday.

Definite discussion as to Fox's appearance in the case is declined by Inspector of Detectives Guthrie, other than that Fox is not arrested but held as a material witness for the inquest last night. He has already declared himself innocent of any connection with Bell.

Thought Wife a Widow

Two angles which are declared to link Fox with the case stand out. Bell, some time in May, received a letter from Fox's wife which is declared to contain expressions of disfavor against Bell and was intercepted by Bell's mother. Mrs. Fox is now declared to have regretted sending the letter. Fox is also declared to have been carrying about with him a picture of Bell since his arrival back in Toronto last March when he was released from Kingston penitentiary.

Bell, it is stated by his parents, had intended marrying Fox's wife, who, he thought, was a widow, a year ago this month. Mrs. Bell, mother of deceased, admitted that her son had gone to the marriage license office in order to obtain a license, but there he was informd that Mrs. Fox was already married. Since last August he had not kept company with Mrs. Fox.

The two families had become acquainted when they were living nearby in the west end of the city, but it is believed that Bell did not know Mrs. Fox was married until last fall when he ceased his attentions to her.

And All Over One Poor Little Chicken

Neighborly Quarrel Reviewed In Police Court This Morning

A Stoney Lonesome chicken caused more trouble last Tuesday afternoon about 2 O'clock than most chickens who run away This feathered bird left the home coop for a neighbors, resulting in a battle royal between owner and neighbor, the laying of a common assault charge, and its dismissal with costs of $13 reverting on the plaintiff. Humorous passages between counsel, and equally humorous evidence made the long case interesting.

Merl Prest, a husky young married man was charged with assault by Mrs. Lola Stapley who complained of his having kicked her on the side of the knee. They are neighbors but a vacant pasture lot and chicken run owned by Stapley's separate them. The fugitive chicken left Prest, the owner, and ran over to Stapley's yard. Prest's ten-year-old step-son was sent to drive him back by the father. Instead he chased him into the Stapley yard. When the boy walked into the Stapley yard to corrall him, Prest says Mrs. Stapley came out of the house, and using strong language, threatened to kill the boy. She heaved a scoop shovel at the boy the missile just missing his head.

Prest was provoked and he then walked over in the vacant lot to get the prodigal chicken. When he began to chase the bird about a lumber pile, it is alleged that Mrs. Stapley used bad language towards him and threw bottles, sticks stones and a scoop at him. He was struck he said, but warded off other missles, and left the yard with the chicken under his arm.

Mrs. Stapley's Story

Mrs. Stapley told of forbidding Prest to enter the yard and of attempting to prevent him when he entered.

"He kicked me on the knee and called me a—" explained the woman. "I then ran and called Mrs. Palmateer from her garden where she was working and she came up. Prest wrestled a stick from her hands, plaintiff said, and then she grabbed up another, 'cracking" him over the back with it. She admitted throwing the scoop shovel at him. She said Prest was cussing and swearing, and told her that her parents were never married.

He promised her that if she took the case to court he would make the biggest show of her that she had ever experienced in her life.

"It's up to him then," put in defense counsel W. C. Mikel K.C.

"And his counsel", retorted plaintiffs counsel C. A. Payne.

Anyway, Prest had been told three times to keep his chickens locked up, so Mrs Stapley testified. She denied calling the boy names and throwing the scoop at him.

Mr. Mikel was very desirious of finding the composition of the "business end" of the scoop. He insisted that it was iron. Mrs. Stepley did not know what the metal was.

"Well it would not likely be gold" he suggested.

"It might be radium. I believe recent discoveries of radium have been made near Stoney Lonesome", enlightened plaintiff's counsel.

Mrs. Stapley denied striking hubby's head with a milk bottle and also denied having trouble with Mrs. Palmateer.

Mrs. Palmateer told of the appearance of the knee bruise, having examined it twice and told of Prest using strong language that day.

Prest proved to be a good witnos. He told about the preliminaries leading up to the main bout but denied kicking the woman.

Bench Dismissed Point Anne Charge

Manner of Getting Liquor Was Neighborly Act, He Says

The charge of having liquor in a place where it is unlawful to have it, preferred against Mrs. Margaret Bailey of Point Anne by Inspector F. J. Naphan of the O.T.A. was dismissed by Police Magistrate S. Masson in police court this morning. This case was reserved until to-day from the day of trial for judgment.

"I have an uncomfortable doubt that this woman knew the liquor was intoxicating," exclaimed the bench, in dismissing the charge.

"The evidence as to the general opinion of the intoxicating qualities of the wine, was weak", he continued.

The amount of liquor was small and the manner of getting it was a neighborly act, the liquor not having been given for the purpose of evading the act.

Mrs. Bailey received the bottle of dandelion wine froma woman friend and part of the wine in the bottle was found in a coal pile by Provincial Police officers who searched the house on a warrant, the same night as the wine was received.

$5,000 Gift Made By R. G. Graham

Supplies Carload of Soup Vegetables to Children Of Greece

What is probably the largest single donation to The Save the Children Fund, on behalf of the Greek refugees evicted from Turkey, was made by Mr. R. J. Graham to Mr. Frank Yeigh, the Canadian Representative of the Fund, when in Belleville on Tuesday. The donation is that of a carload of Graham's Dehydrated soup vegetables, similar to what was supplied to the British, French, and American Governments during the great war and which was used to the extent of many millions of pounds in all the war areas and even in India. The extent of the donation is more fully realized in the fact that it included two thousand 15 lb tins, which will provide tens of thousands of meals to the suffering multitude of women and children in the vast refugee camps at Salonica and other ports in Greece. Mr. Yeigh cabled the good news of the gift to the Headquarters of the Fund in London and a reply message reads; "Gratefully accept donation soup vegetables Please convey thanks of committee to donor. Ship to Piraeus."

The monetary value of this shipment amounting to $5000.00 constitutes the largest donation of any individual or firm, as has been said, either in Canada or the Empire. It will further greatly add to the contributions already made by Belleville citizens and will fully warrant the naming of one of the refugee kitchens as a Belleville kitchen. Mr. Yeigh will visit the camps and k itchens in the near future and will then select one of the latter as a Belleville kitchen.

TRIPLE MURDER FOLLOWS BRAWL AT HAMILTON

Two Men and One Woman Found Dead in Apartment

HAD BEEN DRINKING

Found By Sister-in-law of One of Dead Foreigners

Canadian Press Despatch)

Hamilton, June 26.—Their skulls crushed in by heavy instruments, two men and one woman were found dead in a Ferrie street apartment this morning. William Buda, Mary Luhatuck and an unknown man, all foreigners, are victims. The triple murder was discovered by Sophia Muhaluch, sister-in-law of Buda. Police believe from examination of bodies that the three had been dead since yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Muhaluch told the police that when she called at the flat yesterday morning, she found Buda and Mary Luhatuck with whom he lived, drunk and in the midst of a quarrel. She had advised the woman to leave Buda as she was not married to him. Returning at 9 o'clock this morning she found the bodies. All three bodies bore marks of brutal attack and the features were almost unrecognizable. An early theory that deaths were the result of a three cornered drunken fight has been abandoned by police as a close search of the apartment failed to reveal any instrument with which crushing blows could have been administered.

Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all.

THE SIGN POST

The Liberal banner which has been raised for over two score years in Nova Scotia was hauled down most ingloriously yesterday and in its place the Conservative Standard is floating triumphantly in a strong breeze of public opinion.

The general public of that maritime province made one of the most sweeping condemnations of a government ever recorded in Canadian history, by electing forty Conservative members of a total of forty-three.

People tired of the long reign of Liberalism in Nova Scotia. That is evidently one reason why Premier Armstrong was turned down. Other provincial conditions no doubt entered into the verdict.

But it is most apparent that the result was caused in no small degree by outside influence. On the policy of the King Government, which has sent thousands of Nova Scotia's young men and women to the United States, must be laid a great part of the blame for the defeat of the provincial Liberal party.

Yesterday's voting constitutes a sign post which points at the same time to Premier King's doom and to Mr. Meighen's victory, when the general election comes along.

KICKED OVER THE TRACES

There are still some young men in the world who, fired with the spirit of quest and adventure, will give up a steady job—kick over the traces of routine life, as it were—and fare forth into the world, knowing nothing and caring less as to their journey's end. Such a "break" may seem unnecessary to newspaper reporters, whose lives are usually pictured as vivid and highly colored; but when work becomes largely confined to sitting at a desk phone for hours getting in touch with a score of police stations, the hospitals and the morgue, asking how many corpses and accidents need editorial attention, then the spirit of revolt against routine is likely to be aroused. This proved the case recently when two youthful reporters of a local paper both competent young men, made up their minds to cut the painter and see the Orient—as a beginning. They boarded a C.M.M. vessel at Montreal as deck hands and are now on the way to China via the Panama Canal; roughing it on the high seas; receiving a few knocks and jolts perhaps but getting discipline and experience of life invaluable in the newspaper game.

THE MOTOR CAR SMOKER

A big fat man in a motor car, thoughtlessly smoking a hot cigar tossed the butt, which was burning still, into the brush on a dry side hill. On he rolled in his careless way, and left behind the devil to pay, just a spark scarce worth the name, but look, the spark becomes a flame! A spark, a flame, a furious fire! Up the wind rose, higher and higher, fanning the flames, which rose and roared. Up and away the wild sparks soared! On through the forest it cut its path seething, raging in its wrath. Firs that God took years to build, caught in its grip were scorched and killed. Feeding the greedy, hungry flame (Oh, the senseless, blundering shame.) On and on it gnawed its way, and came to where a homestead lay. The wretched settlers, faced with death from the Horror's scorching breath, bravely struggled, gasped and fell. Death laughed loud in that raging Hell! On it swept and left behind wreck and ruin while the wind muffled with its awful roar the screams that up to Heaven tore from many a tortured beast that fled, mad with fear till it sand down dead. Where the forest glimmered green now a charnel-house is seen; blackened stumps on rocks and stones stand like monstrous half-charred bones. And this is all that's left to-day—just stumps and rocks all black and grey. Ah, if that man could only know the loss he caused and the bitter woe I wonder what the fool would feel—that big fat man in an automobile!—From Canadian Forestry Association, Ottawa.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

One June day, I was walking in the road, just at the outskirts of a town. My way took me past some fields, in which four people were gathering wild strawberries. They had a dog, and, as far as those people could tell, the dog was frantically chasing some birds, but that was all.

To me, it was another matter altogether. For I noticed that there were two birds and when I saw the white wing spots, I knew they were nighthawks. It is strange to see two nighthawks playing a funny game of chase with a dog, in the middle of the day. The dog was thinking it a great game and chased the birds to his heart's delight, just missing them by inches each time they came near. It was great fun for the dog, but was a very serious matter for the birds.

All the playful little swoopings of these birds, were carefully executed plans, for entertaining the dog and keeping him so excited with the chase that he had no time to use his nose and find the nesting place. It was all very fascinating, to see the birds take what appeared to be terrible risks, every time the dog went in the direction of the nesting place, but these risks brought results, for the dog was led farther and farther away each time.

I went on my way, sure that the dog would never find the nest or suspect it was in that field.

Later on, after the people and the dog had departed, I went back and watched, until I saw the birds near the middle of the field, so I went there and located the eggs, on a brownish grey rock, with a few scattered pebbles on it and I became such friends with the mother bird, that she would let me put my hand right on her back and the little ones, like two balls of fluff, would kiss their mother and pull at her beak, coaxing for food, until she would have to trust them to us, while she went for food for them.

Press Opinions

BEGINS AT HOME

(Minneapolis Journal)

"Too many mothers leave their children to roam the streets while they go out to tell others how to raise their little ones." Thus spoke J. Adams Bede, of Minnesota, at a Chicago meeting the other day. The former congressman's message, in effect, is just about what Governor Hartley of Washington, told the child welfare committee. And it is just about what recent audiences of Minnesota women have been told by their own speakers. It is encouraging to find so many indications that the country is awakening to the fact that a parent's most important contribution to the public good is the rearing of children who will be public assets, rather than public liabilities. Like charity, welfare work rightly begins at home.

GERMAN WAR LOSSES

Trans-Atlantic Trade

Concerning human losses in the World War, the Wirtschaft and Statistik, is always reliable in its statements, gives some interesting facts. Total loss in dead suffered by all the warring nations is now estimated to be approximately ten million To this loss must be added about twenty million wounded. An investigation concluded at the end of 1924 showed that between seven and eight million in all countries were qualified to draw pensions. Germany's total loss in the World War is now estimated to be 2,055,000 (dead, missing and those who subsequently died of wounds). Included in this figure are 14,000 colonials. Germany's wounded, exclusive of colonial troops, is estimated at 4,248,000. On October 5, 1925, Germany was paying pensions to 721,660, including 408,990 slightly wounded and 312,670 seriously wounded. Among the wounded are included 1,322 female nurses.

TRAVEL FOR ALL

Manchester Guardian

The kind of traveler who dislikes being pampered and gorged and is ready to wait upon himself is also the type that finds a trans-Atlantic passage difficult under present conditions. He is also the type who might derive more benefit from a wide range of holidays. The one-class boat and the "student's class" already exist, but the problem of opening up our present communications between Europe and America to the public that has to reckion its expenditure very carefully is a matter of such profound social importance that the more thought we give to it the better.

SWAT 'EM

Kitchener Record

Mosquitoes are the most dangerous as well as the most bloodthirsty, of the wild beasts left on earth.

Bears and wolves are little more than children's bugaboos; lions and tigers are interesting sport, and even snakes, outside of India, kill scarcely more people than lightning. But mosquitoes slay their thousands, and disable their millions.

They have devastated the tropics and much of the temperate zone with malaria and yellow fever. They make the arctic summer almost unendurable, and rob the South Seas of their charm.

Great and fertile regions are unproductive by reason of them. They still do more havoc than the great beasts ever did.

They are one of the few creatures on earth that do no good and serve no purpose. Exterminate them!

Thirty Years Ago

Mr. Lyman Moore, a drug clerk of this city this morning had both legs taken off near Holloway while enroute to Peterboro on the I.O.O.F. excursion. In attempting to board the moving train he fell beneath the wheels of a coach. He passed away in the hospital here shortly after being admitted.

At the Cheese Board today 1630 boxes of white and 565 boxes of colored cheese were boarded. All were sold at 8½c and 8 9-16c.

Mr. W. E. Holton, a former well known resident of Belleville, died suddenly at his home in Montreal.

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

Gouda of "The Cloister and the Hearth"

Gouda on the Yssel in Holland has interests quite out of proportion to its size. Encircled with fine old trees, I walked into the town recently to cross several canals to the market place, near which is the Groote Kerk of St. John, to see it for a reason my Baedeker fails to mention. It was here that Gerard and Margaret of Charles Reade's "Cloister and the Hearth" worshipped and near here that Gerard, father of Erasmus was born. Gouda today has given its name to the famous flat round cheese that sell all over the world, even as earlier it named the old Dutch church warden pipes the "Goudsche pipjen", which once flourishing industry seems to have given way to the Gouda ware potteries that provide so many wedding presents in America.

How the Danes Teach History and Geography

Whenever I am in Denmark I am surprised in place after place at the number of school children who seem to be scattered among the tourists. They are not the children of tourists, but little Danes. You meet them in hundreds all over Denmark, traveling round to all the historic places. Denmark, which has recently decided against a military foreign policy, believes that education is its best defense, so at Government expense, accompanied bye their teachers, young Denmark follows me in my Danish excursions. They seem to enjoy the glorious beauty of their country as much as the stranger who comes miles to see it.

Where Lie the Much Travelled Bones of Columbus

In the white city of Seville on the Guadalquivir a city founded by the Phoenicians and later the capital of the Giths, I always get sunny skies and a climate that is a delight. Oranges and palms and ever blooming roses are everywhere. The best view of the city is from the tower of Giralda, 350 feet up, which was once the minaret of a mosque Close underneath is the Cathedral, "a majestic and rythmic wonder in stone and stained glass," as George Rennick put it. Inside a conspicuous tomb gives shelter to the much traveled bones of Christopher Columbus. They have been buried in Hayti and in Havana, but now they rest in Spain where Americans come every year to do him homage.

Lake Como Since Longfellow's Day

Here at Cadenabbia the shutters are opening one after another and winter has gone for good and the little colony of English who live here and mix happily with the Contadini who farm the land is now daily being enlarged by visitors from everywhere. Longfellow could no longer write as he did here in 1873, "No sound of wheels or hoofbeat breaks the silence of the summer day," for the excellent motor road by the lake is a busy thoroughfare for tourists, and the new golf course at Menaggio with its Scotch Secretary all the way from St. Andrew's has opened this "loveliest of all Italian Lakes" to thousands who seek the silences that Longfellow loved when they want them, on the primrose studded hills around.

Racing on the Sands of Fano

About half an hour on the little steamer out of Esbjerg, Denmark, I came to the island of Fano, which in recent years has made for itself a name in the annals of international sport. On the miles and miles of sand the great motor races take place every year. The sand is so firm and hard you could drive wagons over it with impunity at any place you see fit. There are some fine up-to-date hotels there now and the high life of Scandinavia flourishes there. The inhabitants of the island are of interest to those who love quaint old time manners and customs but when you "drive your car in Europe", don't forget the pleasure of a spin without a spill on Fano's sands.

"The Lofty Halls" of Upsala

With so many American teachers and students in Europe this summer, I hope many of them will have the wisdom to go north to Sweden in order to see the great University of Upsala. As Trondhjem in Norway, Upsala is the historic center of Sweden and seat of the early pagan kings of Sweden. The University was founded in 1477 and later was endowed by Gustavus Adolphus with all his private landed property. The library with its 12,000 odd old manuscripts is one of the treasure houses of Europe. The botanists in Europe never like to miss Upsala because here Linnaeus resided at the Botanic Garden and his statute stands in one of the lecture rooms today.

TREASURER ARRESTED

Regina, Sask., June 26.—On a warrant sworn out by Mayor W. E. Mason, J. E. Snowball, city treasurer, was arrested by the city police on a charge of stealing from the city finances. About $4,000 is said to be involved. Snowball, prior to taking the position as City Treasurer, was employed in the Treasury office of the city of Winnipeg for several years.

The first load of hay of this season's crop, Lucerne, brought in from the Six Nations Reserve was offered on the Brantford market at $15. It was of good quality but shorter than usual. Haying is general all over the country.

"DEAR SAM"

In which Bill shows that the early stages of professional writing are secret ones.

BY J. H. CREIGHTON

Dear Sam,

I have come to the conclusion that milk chocolate was an accident. According to the story, there was a gink up in the Alps who suddenly resigned from the Snowshoe Club, give up his job at the garage and made hisself as scarce as truth in politics.

Purty soon the Rockin Chair Brigade began snoopin around this guy's place—not tryin to pry nor nothin, but just to see whether he was sick or daffy. Finally a gang clattered around to his back porch and stuck their maps up against the window. There was a bit of a rumpus inside and the gent knocked down a few pans on the floor gettin over to pry the window open.

"Mornin folks, I've been tryin to make milk chocolate for 11 years—I just found out how its done!" Now none of these local geezers had ever heard of milk chocolate o' course, and to make the best of an awkward situation the guy grabbed one of his wife's pans off the stove and jumped out the window, drippin the stuff all over his vest, struck up a classy pose on the nearest mountain peak, howlin "Eureka" or somethin equally silly.

They got pitchurs of this in the ads, but they changed the pan to a bar of chocolate.

Now, I think this lad hung it over the local boys like a tent over a lap dog that this chap was tryin to do all the time was write! Yes sir, write! This stall about makin candy was the bunk and it stands to reason.

So far as I can see, bein a sleuth or a dick is a publicity stunt alongside tryin to write. A feller tryin to put together a story for the first time acts like he was dopin out battleship manouvers in time of war. They'd as soon tell a guy they was stranglin stray dogs for their fur as they would tell em they was tryin to write.

If a guy is tryin to be a Dr. or bricklayer or a teacher or even a dancin master, he just up and trys it out in public, not carin who knows it. (Learnin to play the saxaphone ain't considered one way or the other as a guy couldn't keep that a secret if he wanted to). The only other thing a guy tries to keep quiet is safe crackin and some'd rather be caught at that than writin.

Yours truly.

BILL.

London, June 26. — The London County Council is tired of the orthodox white or red brick house and is going to experiment with buff, brown red and white colored concrete buildings.

Speeds Up Boat To Mile a Minute

Plaquemine, La., June 26.—Capable of making a mile in 55 seconds, "Miss Plaquemine," a hydro-speed boat constructed by Henry N. Sherburne, of Plaquemine, is believed to be one of the fastest boats ever built in this section.

"Miss Plaquemine," with the eight other members of the fleet, is the result of the need of Mr. Sherburne, its inventor, for a rapid means of transportation over the bayous of Louisiana in visiting his various business enterprises scattered along these channels. It has no under-water propeller, being driven by a 90 horse power Curtis airplane motor mounted on the stern using a propeller of the type mounted on planes for driving power. The Boat is 20 feet long and seven feet wide and when travelling at full speed draws only two inches of water, while at slow speed she draws six inches.

"Miss Plaquemine" accommodates three passengers and a pilot, who controls the boat from a steering post similar to an automobile. With a full load the boat will attain a speed of more than 60 miles an hour and its inventor claims that it will maintain an average speed of 50 miles an hour throughout a day without injury to the motor.

claimed. He said he did not swear nor use any bad language towards Mrs. Stapley.

Percy Lucas, a youthful teamster who was driving past the "arena" at the time, with a load of gravel, told of seeing Mrs. Stapley throwing sticks at Prest. He also followed the course of the shovel through the air. Prest did not do a thing to the women this boy testified.

Prest's ten-year-old step son also told his story, not being sworn. He corroborated his step father's story.

Samuel Bower, who is married to a cousin of Mrs. Stepley, told of her being very quarrelsome and he had heard at least two people say that they would not believe her on oath. She had carried stories, he said and tried to cause trouble between him and his wife.

He was severely cross examined by C. A. Payne who asked if he was not quite an old gossiper himself. When asked if he was connected with the United Church he said he was an Anglican.

"And all over one poor chicken", commented one lawyer as he left the court room.

Babies are Rented Out to Bootleggers

Mothers Get Fifty Cents for Each Crying Infant

Toronto, June 26.—Traffic in human beings, children of tender years, as a side-line to the bootlegging trade, has been discovered to be flourishing in Toronto and some details of this perversion have come to light recently in the office of the Attorney-General, Hon. W. F. Nickle.

The traffic is not designed to work any injury upon the children but inasmuch as they are made the innocent parties to deceit and deceit and trickery, the real parents receiving monetary consideration for their services, action is likely to be taken agans tthe conspirators in such cases.

Rented "Weepers"

When a bootlegger of foreign extraction is convicted and is either unwilling or unable to pay the fine imposed and is faced with the alternative jail sentence, it is customary for his wife to interview the Attorney-General and endeavor to secure Executive clemency. For the purpose of this visit, if the lady's family of four children is not sufficiently large, neighbor's children are "rented", and the whole pitiable troop is parked in Mr. Nickle's office, instructed to cry for their "dad," and make such noises and manifestations of distress as might be pity-provoking.

Bevy of Chicks

Recently a woman whose record in the archives of the License Board shows that she has only two children, one of whom is twelve years old, came thus surrounded by a bevy of about seven chicks. She claimed them all as her own, even when confranted with proof of her attempted deception.

It was later learned that she had paid the real mother of the children 50 cents each for the use of the children for the afternoon.

Veterans at Job

Subsequent inquiries have revealed that certain women in the Ward make a regular practice of "renting" their children, from babes in arms up to children of three and four years, women who themselves have been charged with bootlegging, or whose husbands are charged. These children are frequently taken to court as "scenery" and even after conviction, to the Attorney-General's office.

Some of these innocent victims of the wiles of the bootlegger have appeared in Queen's Park as the "offspring" of as many as three different mothers. Needless to say, the clemency appeals failed.

Brooklyn Bridge Shrewd Landlord

Tenants Rent Raised From $8,000 to $10,000 a Year

New York, June 26. — Brooklyn Bridge is a shrewd landlord. Its eye to advancing values of business property is shown by the announcement that it will increase its rents some 25 percent. as present leases expire. Commissioner Mills of the Department of Plant and Structures, as its fiscal agent, started the boost recently when he raised the first two tenants from $8,000 to $10,000 a year.

Brooklyn Bridge as a business building has been more or less a novelty for all its 40 years. This, the oldest of the four East River spans, has been more commonly regarded in the public mind as a great transporting institution, content to bear upon its patient back the daily thousands, riding and afoot, who come and go between Manhattan and Brooklyn.

Yet the same causway of which the city is so proud, is also a roof to a considerable business population. Chief Engineer Edward A. Byrne says it shelters 51 business houses within its lofty arches; 44 on the Manhattan side and seven in Brooklyn. Six of the firms have been tenants for more than a quarter century. Collectively, they contribute to an annual rent roll amounting to $72,619.92.

The "twenty-five-year" club includes The New York World, The New York Evening Journal, each maintaining departments in the bridge structure and the "Brooklyn Freezer". This concern the Brooklyn Bridge Cold Storage & Freezing Co., is one of the sizeable cold storage and packing adjuncts, of Fulton Fish Market. Later tenants number from active in the adjoining leather "swamp".

The bridge is a good maneymaker in other directions as well. Its surface cars charging a nickel a roundtrip, and elevated cars charging a dime, together produce a gross income for the city of almost $140,000. Seven stands where passing crowds regale themselves with fruit, candy and soft drinks pay about $80,000 for concessions. Other sources of income bring the total yearly receipts from the bridge to $307,652.45. This is deemed all velvet because the bridge was built primarily as a transportation link.

Looked For Bell

Mrs. Fox, who is the mother of a six weeks' old baby, was found at the home of her mother in West Toronto this afternoon.

She is under 30 years of age. She married Fox, who is 37, twelve years ago. Five years ago Fox, who is a painter by trade, was sentenced to five years in penitentiary for house-breaking at the Island. He was released March 1st, this year.

Mrs. Fox said she had been intimate with Bell, of whom she had only the best to say. She says the last time she saw him was on St. Valentine's Day.

Learning that her husband was to be released, and on her mother's advice, she wrote him as to her own prospective motherhood She destroyed all Bell's pictures she had except one, which Fox managed to get hold of.

Since then, Mrs. Fox said, her husband had been on Bell's trail. "He told me he was waiting to get him in a lane, and something would happen," she said. Hearing Bell had been employed by the Gas Company, he is said to have gone around to every "gang" of Gas Company' workers, with Bell's picture, hunting for him.

Six weeks ago his wife went to live with him on Seaton St., but three weeks ago, returned to her mother's, as Fox was not employed and had said he did not need to work, as he could get money.

"Got What He Deserved"

The day after the shoting, Fox came to the house where she is staying. Her brother came in with a newspaper and said, "Who do you think has been shot?" Fox immediately interrupted: "He only got what he well deserved."

About three weeks ago, when Fox came to the house drunk, his mother-in-law ordered him out. Fox "took a swing" at his wife, and struck the baby on the head. As a result a bone is beginning to protrude, and an operation will be necessary, but the childs mind may be permanently affected.

Last night a man called at the house where Mrs. Fox is living, swore at her mother and accused her of riding around with the police Mrs. Fox explained that she was trying to get back some of her clothing which she had left at the Seaton street house, and this seemed to satisfy him.

According to Mrs. Fox, a former inmate of the penitentiary, who has visited Fox regularly since he returned to Toronto, has been in jail for a week or more.

Fox served overseas with the 109th Battalion.

Denies Knowing Bell

When called up from the cells to appear in Police Court this morning, Fox was told that he was being held as a material witness.

"For what?" he asked.

"Read the information to him," ordered Magistrate Browne.

It was read. At mention of the name "William Bell," Fox declared hurriedly: "I never saw the man in my life I didn't know him." Bail was refused.

Fox, down in the cells, still protested to his counsel, Thos. O'Connor, that he knew absolutely nothing about the man or the affair.

From other sources it is claimed that the arrest was the result of a chance remark which Fox is alleged to have made—a remark which, police say, had very pointed reference to the murder.

Fox was arrested in his house on Seaton street by Detective-Sergt. Silverthorne and Acting Detectives Chisholm and McMaster.

At the Bell home, it was stated that there had been no threatening letter received by Bell.

Big Amphitheatre Seats Over 50,000

In Heart of San Bernardino Mountains; Opened Recently

San Bernardino, Cal., June 26. — A capacious and probably unique natural amphitheatre, distinctive in its setting 7000 feet above sea level in the wooded heart of the San Bernardino mountains on what is known as the "Rim of the World", was opened recently with a musical program novel in itself.

This huge out-door theatre can accommodate an audience of 50,000 persons or more. The seating arrangements include everything from the natural pine needles collected to form a seat, to cushioned chairs.

Instead of one stage there are many They are composed of platforms of table-shaped rocks artistically placed by the hand of nature about the large amphitheatre. On one, hundreds of feet above the audience, a violinist standing in the shafts of colored lights blended with the moon-beams through the branches of great trees on the mountain side above him, rendered music from the masters of long ago. From another, across a ravine on a precipitous mountain side, a string quartet played softly while choruses sang from half hidden caverns.

Vari-colored lights playing about the amphitheatre created a fantastic effect.

Tennis Tattle

The very favourabe weather of last week or two has permitted the Argyle Tennis Club to run off their tournament in fine style. The finals have now been reached and will be played off on Saturday afternoon commencing at 2 o'clock. In the men's singles the two "Bills", W. Deroche and W. Pinkerton, will play off for the championship. The two are quite evenly matched, and two or three sets between will be well worth watching. The ladies, it is hoped, will have reached the final stage by Saturday in which case the two finalists will fight it out. In the boys' division the play has narrowed down to Dwight Wells and "Cooney" Black, who will provide the thrills in the play-off of their group. These two lads are very neat and promising players, and it wil be a revelation to anyone who has not been watching them, to see the progress that has been made by these youngsters.

Is Squinting A Habit

YES, AND MORE than a habit. It generally indicates some defect of vision. And in the majority of cases when the error or errors of vision are corected the squint disappears. If you squint let me tel you if an error of vision is probably the cause. My advice is dependable.

Peterboro Notes

The Central Ontario League race in its present form with its twenty-four game schedule, the first and second clubs to-play, is presenting the most interesting race in its history and with a little over a third of the schedule played all four teams have a chance for the pennant. For the first two weeks Oshawa and Belleville looked like the weak sisters but the doings of the last fortnight have changed the complexion of affairs and right now the dopesters are all at sea trying to pick a winner in any particular game let alone name the champion.

On Saturday the Kingston Ponies will be here and the Petes have to hand the leaders another walloping although they don't expect any 15-1 score on this occasion. The last time the Ponies were here they were away off colour but thy will be a different proposition when they visit Riverside Park on Saturday. Whitehouse is beng groomed for this game. The left hander made a good job of stopping the Kingston gang on their last appearance here and should be able to repeat the trick this time. The Ponies always draw a big crowd here and Saturday's game will furnish no exception.

The Petes now have the distinction of possessing the two youngest pitchers in the Central Ontario League in Hardill and Whitehouse while Hall in the outfields gives them a third player well under the junior age limit. The policy of developing players in the younger series is bearing splendid fruit.

Waite Hoyt Can't Get Going at all

Star Yankee Pitcher Has Not Won One of 15 Games

One of the greatest pitchers in baseball yet unable to win a game during the first eight weeks of play.

That is the peculiar position in which Waite Hoyt, star right hander of the New York Yankees, finds himself.

The inability of Hoyt to win consistently is one of the several reasons why the much-feared Yankees have been trailing in the second division since the opening of the season.

American League batters will tell you that no pitcher in the league has a better fast ball than Waite Hoyt. His change of pace is most deceptive. His fast-breaking curve is very puzzling.

Included in Hoyt's pitching repertoire is a slow curve. It seems every pitcher has his hobby. Using the slow curve, usually in the pinch, is Hoyt's.

Opposing batters say that Hoyt's slow curve is the least effective of all his deliveries. Knowing his faith in such a ball, they look for it in the pinch.

Hasn't Finished Game

They do say that Hoyt would be 25 per cent. more effective if he eliminated entirely the slow curve from his repertoire. However, that is just part of the story.

Waite Hoyt, boasting perhaps the best fast ball in the major leagues and a dazzling change of pace; during the first two months has been unable to win a single ball game in the American League.

Even more surprising is the fact that he hasn't been able to finish a ball game. Ordinarily with the season one-third over, a pitcher with Hoyt's stuff should and would have from six to 10 10 victories to his credit.

Certainly a jinx seems to be on Hoyt's trail this season. In at least a half dozen games he has appeared certain of victory only to have some tough break deprive him of it. Either he has lost the game or some other pitcher has received credit for the victory.

Just to illustrate the workings of the jinx: In a recent game with St. Louis, two out in the ninth and New York leading, 5 to 3, it looked as if Hoyt would surely go over a winner.

If Hoyt has one fault, it is an inclination to grow careless. With two down the next batter hit weakly to Hoyt. He played the ball rather nonchalantly, it got away from him and the batter beat the play. It should have been the third out, ending the game.

Caused His Removal

The next St. Louis batter hit a home run. That made the score 5-4. The following batter hit another home run, the score was tied. Hoyt was removed and Pennock finished The yanks won the game in the 10th inning.

However a bit of carelessness had wasted eight innings of superb pitching.

Some idea of Hoyt's effectiveness is shown by the figures of the past four years. Once he won 17 games, once 18, and twice he scored 19 victories.

Despite past performances and a world of stuff, Hoyt has failed to win in 15 times out, covering two months of play.

Yes, baseball is a mighty uncertain pastime, as Waite Hoyt will admit.

Invest $6,000,000 In Palestine Land

Forty-three Colonies Established by Jewish Race

Jerusalem, June 26.—The Jewish National Fund has invested almost $6,000,000 in the purchase and improvement of land in Palestine from October 1920, to April, 1925, approximately the period of Sir Herbert Samuel's administration as high commissioner according to a report issued by the world headquarters ofthe fund here.

Of this money $5,191,440 was spent in the purchase of agricultural and urban land and $774,150 in land improvements, including the drying up of swamps, road building, water supply installation and building loans to new settlers.

Twenty-nine of the 43 colonies established by the Palestine Foundation Fund (Keren Hayesod) during this period, were built on land purchased by the Jewish National Fund. This includes the dozen colonies thus far established by the Palestine Foundation Fund as part of its colonization scheme in building up the Valley of the Jesreel,.

Both the Jewish National Fund and the Palestine Foundation Fund are financial agencies of the World Zionist Organization, the former being a land-purchasing agency, and the latter engaged in the principal constructive enterprises such as agriculture, education public health and promotion of trade and industry, aimed at the rebuilding of the Jewish Homeland. More than sixty percent. of the $8,000,000 spent by the Palestine Foundation Fund in the Holy Land was contributed by American Jews.

Several old friends played together, as they have done on previous occasions, and a feature was th contest between Dr. Knight of Picton and L. B. German of Napanee, two veterans off the game in this district. Their match was a tie at the seventeenth hole, and on the eighteenth green Mr. German had the advantage of one strike, but he was short on a 15-inch putt, which enabled Dr. Knight to tie for the hole and the match. W. C. T. U. NOTES

That the yoke of Government Sale of liquor in British Columbia is galling in many directions is discovered by the many signs of uneasiness in its administration. Until recently, three commissioners made an attempt at enforcement, but they resigned in a bunch and a business man of Vancouver has been appointed as dictator.

In Manitoba where the same system is in operation, the Winnipeg Tribune reports increased convictions for drunkenness and drunk and disorderly cases, in every city, during 1923 and 1924. Thrt totals were 1443 against 1810 and 102 against 182.

The manager of the copper mines of Knockmahon reports—"that more than 1000 persons are daily employed, of whom 800 have taken the total abstinence pledge. Since doing so, the value of their productive industry has increased by nearly £5000 sterling per annum; besides this they save at least £6000 sterling every year which had previously been expended in the purchase of alcoholic liquors."

Thomas Hardwick, of Blackwell, fell from the top of a load of hay, alighting on his head and shoulders. He was unconscious for a while and slightly paralyzed. Before Dr. Brown arrived the paralysis was gone, but the patient is suffering considerable from injury to the spine. His condition is not considered serious.

F. C. Slater, former U. S. Consul of Sarnia, has been notified of his reappointment as consul at that point. Since leaving Sarnia, Mr. Slater has been stationed at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, Corunna, Spain and latterly at Fort William. Mr. and Mrs. Slater are in Sarnia spending a few days with friends. He will take over office about September.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

"Man never is, but always to be blest," says Leslie.

"Yes, because men are such fools that they spoil their lives before they know where they are," he says. "I once saw a man try to swim across the Thames, for a wager, with a ten-pound weight round his neck. He would have been drowned, if they hadn't picked him up pretty smartly. It's the same in life——" He stops suddenly and laughs rather shortly. "We'll get on to a more cheerful topic. There's a hawk, see? and, he points to a bird circling in the vault of blue.

"I was wondering what it was," says Leslie. "You must have good eyes. Do you know all the birds when you see them?"

"Nearly all, I think," he replies. "Horses, and dogs, and birds, I know a little about, but I don't know anything else. I think I should have made a decent gamekeeper or horse breaker, I'm not fit for anything else. But sometimes I console myself with something I read in the paper the other day; the fellow said that there were far too many clever people in the world, and that very soon it would be quite a distinction not to have painted a picture, or written a book, or done something in the scientific way. I'm on the safe road to distinction. Miss Lisle. There isn't a bigger dunce in Portmaris than I am."

So they talk. It is not much, it is neither witty nor wise; it is just the pleasant, aimless chatter of two young people who are almost strangers; and yet so absorbed and interested are they, that they do not note time flies, that the sun is sinking in the west, and that the shadows are stealing over hill and dale.

Leslie is perfectly at her ease. She has almost forgotten, quite forgotten for the time, indeed, that the young man sitting beside her with his arms folded behind his head, and talking of his fishing and his shooting, and of the strange beasts and birds and fishes he has seen, killed, or captured, is a duke; and he, Yorke, always ready to be happy, to meet the sweet goddess Happiness, halfway, is filled with a strange feeling of peace that yet is not peace, which at times almost startles him.

In all his life he has not met with a girl like this; so simple, yet so sweetly wise: so good, and yet so bright and winsome. He is beginning to know some of the multitudinous expressions of the beautiful face, to lay traps for the slow heart-winning smile, to set snares for drawing the clear, darkly gray eyes toward his, that he may look into their depths. Her voice makes sweet melody in his ears, and stirs his heart with a vague thrill which will trouble him presently, trouble him very much. It seems to him one moment that he has known her for years, the next that she has just alighted from the clouds, or risen from the depths of the blue sea, and that he shall never know her or get any nearer to her.

And under the influence of these sensations, which summed up as a whole, are as a potent spell, he forgets the dark girl whom he has persuaded Vinson to take away out of sight, forgets the compact that he has made with the duke, forgets that he is sailing under false colors and is deceiving the girl beside him—forgets in short, everything, save that she is beside him, and that he has the delight of looking at, and talking to, and ah, best of all, of listening to her.

He would be content to sit there—so that she were by his side—till the end of the world, but a shadow falling across the entrance to the hut rouses Leslie to a sense of the flight of the common enemy.

"Why, it must be late," she says, with the air of one making a great discovery.

"Is it?" he says. "Must we really ly as it was last night on the water."

But he gets up and follows her, and they make their way back. As they emerge on the hillside, they find that the wind has dropped, and is sighing across the downs rather plaintively; and Yorke, looking up, sees a cloud, which, though it is not much bigger than a man's hand, is full of warning.

"Did you happen to bring an umbrella with you?" he asks, with affected carelessness.

Leslie laughs.

"Not even a sunshade. Why?"

"Nothing," he says, inwardly calling himself opprobrious names for not providing the Englishman's traveling companion.

"Do you think it is going to rain?" she asks. "Oh, no, it isn't possible. Mr. Lisle, how are you getting on?"

"Everything is possible in this charming climate of ours," he says. "Well, he asks, as they go up to the artist still hard at work.

He looks up with a start. To him they have only been absent, say a quarter of an hour.

"It is difficult," he says. "Very. One needs time—time."

"We'd better come another day," says Yorke. "Oh, you have got on famously," and he keeps his countenance capitally as he looks at the sketch. "I'll carry your easel," and he folds it up and puts it over his shoulder.

They find the duke waiting for them at the bottom of the tower, and seeing them all together, he does not suspect that the two young people have been spending the whole afternoon tete-a-tete.

"I was just going off without you," he says, addressing all three but looking at Leslie's face, which wears a rapt and dreamy expression.

"It's well you didn't," retorts Yorke "You and Grey would never have reached home alive. Miss Leslie and I are the only persons who can manage these nags. But come on," and he glances up ward—that cloud has grown considerably since they left the hermit's hut—and leads the way to the inn.

"Now, ma'am," he says to the landlady in his frank and genial way. "Got the kettle boiling? Right! Let us have some tea while the horses are being put to."

Then he goes round to the stable, inspects the horses and is back in time to hand Leslie a cup of the beverage, which be the hour what it may, is always welcomed by fair women.

"Now up you get," he says, after surreptiously tipping everybody—landlord hostler, rosy-cheeked maid, all round. "Miss Leslie, we can't get on without you in front, you know," he remarks, as Leslie is about to go inside; and he helps her to the box.

The horses are fresh and eager for work, and for a time he drives, but presently he puts the reins in her hands

"According to promise," he says. "Hold 'em tight while I," and he bends down and searches for something under the box seat.

"Oh, how beautifully they go," she says, half to herself. "What is it you are looking for, your gra—Lord Yorke?"

"Never you mind," he says. "You look after your horses."

Leslie laughs and laughs again as he comes up, red in the face and with a Scotch wrap in his hand.

"Are you so cold?" she asks.

"Very," he responds. "It's going to snow, I fancy."

"Why, it is quite close," she says, removing her eyes for a moment from the horses to glance at him with smiling surprise. "It seems hotter than it has been all day."

As she speaks a low rumbling rolls over their heads, and a flash of light cuts across the sky.

"That is lightning," she exclaims.

"It was rather like it," he admits, dryly.

"Did you bring any gamps?" asked the duke.

"Nary one," replies Yorke, grimly. "Slang away, I can bear it—and I deserve it," he mitters, glancing at the girlish figure beside him.

Mr. Lisle looks round absently.

"I'm afraid—it—it is going to rain," he says.

In anither minute it is raining. Yorke takes the rug in both hands and deftly wraps is round Leslie.

"Oh, no please," she says, and she glances behind her. "Give it to him—Mr. Temple."

"It would be more than my life is worth," he says. "I dare not offer it to him. Please let me fasten it. How shall I? Give me a hairpin!"

"You must hold the horses then," she says.

"I can see one sticking out" he says.

"Well, take it," she responds, innocently and all unconsciously, for she is thinking of her driving far more than the rain or the rig or anything else.

He looks at her intent and absorbed face, and puts up his hand and draws the hairpin from its soft and silkin nest, and she, unheeding, does not know that his hand trembles, actually trembles as he fastens the rug round her.

"Now, give me the reins," he says, "and keep your head down; we are in for a regular storm."

As he speaks the rain comes down with a whiz, as if it meant to wash them off the box.

Leslie laughs.

"After all, it is a proper picnic," she says.

But the next instant her laugh dies away, for the heavens seem to open before them, a peal of thunder roars like the discharge of a park of artillery just above their heads and the horses startled and frightened, stop dead short, then rear up on end.

The carriage sways and for a moment it seems as if it were going over, and Leslie is forced up close against Yorke.

He hold the terrified horses with one strong hand, and slips the ohter round the slim form tilted against him.

"All right," he says, in a low voice. "Don't be afraid, Leslie!" His arm holds her, supports her, presses her to him, perhaps unconsciously. "You are quite safe, dearest, dearest."

Low as his voice is, Leslie hears him, or—she asks herself—is it only fancy?

For a moment, one brief moment; she cowers, nestling to him, her face hidden against his shoulder; then with a start, she draws away and with her face red and white by turns, looks straight before her.

COST $12,000 A YEAR TO WASH ELEPHANTS

It costs $12,000 a year to "launder the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey elephants. This amount entitles the big and little pachyderms to three thorough scrubs. No actress who ever underwent her daily shower of goats milk can boast of having spent such a sum for her "tub".

The costly pachyderm dips have nothing to do with the semi-weekly duckings which the Greatest Show on Earths herd receive by means of a hose or buckets. These are purely superficial and calculated to please the elephants during the hot weather rather than to actually cleanse the ponderous bodies. The try-yearly baths are of quite a different character. It takes a week to carry out the process and the services of three men to an elephant. When the work has been completed it will approximate a cost of $325 for every animal treated.

The first step consists of going over every inch of the immense bodies with the best soap procurable. This is applied with sponges and rubbed in with heavy brushes. From 100 to 200 pounds of soap are used the amount depending upon the size of the elephant. The ears are given special attention and when the attendants come to this portion of the anatomy the huge beasts behave not unlike humans.

Your old and blase elephants takes the treatment as a matter of course and penalty for having tossed dirt with his trunk when the days were hot and the cool earth served to add to his comfort. But the twenty babies squeal like pigs and are never happy until the ear scouring portion of the ordeal is over with. After the soaping and drying are concluded the elephants are sandpapered from trunk to tail. Lastly the animal is rubbed with oil until the skin is supple and glistening. The last treatment is the most expensive of all as it means the application of about $150 worth of the purest olive oil.

Ringling Brothers do not consider this money wasted. It keeps their elephants happy in both body and mind. It renders them more responsive to the teachings of their trainers.

When the big, double circus comes here Thursday, July 2, it will exhibit more than forty trained elephants. Two troupes of baby actors will be performed on two steel structured stages. Acting simultaneously with the "Tommy Tinkers" will appear three herds of full-grown elephants.

With the possible exception of the Equine Ballet, presenting one hundred and fifty horses in a single display, the elephantine feature is the most amazing of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey 1925 program.

At The Belle

President Poincare, Georges Clemenceau, Joffre, Petain and dozens of other French celebrities, as well as ambassadors from foreign lands, all exact duplicates of the originals, made up the highest-priced crowd of "atmosphere" since "The Stranger's Banquet," when, at Universal City, Rupert Julian filmed the presentation of Legion of Honor crosses to French heroes.

Well known picture players, chosen for their general likenesses to the celebrities to be portrayed, and made up from photographs, did the work of "extras," for most of the celebrities in the gathering were but "atmosphere." Still, because of the need for exact makeup and careful acting, ordinary extra people could not be employed.

The remarkable scene was taken in "Love and Glory," and featuring an all star cast including Charles De Roche, Madge Bellamy, Ford Sterling, Wallace MacDonald, Gibson Gowland, Charles De Ravenne and Priscilla Dean Moran. The picture is now showing at the Belle Theatre.

In the scene in the Salon of Honor, at which heroes of various wars are presented with medals of honor, Jules De Briac enacted the part of Poincare. Amost the French president's duplicate physically, a carefully applied beard and facial lines made him the living image of the man imitated. Kate Lester appeared as the duchess who aided him in distributing the honors.

Th story tself, while laid in France, and extending over a lifetime, shows the principal characters first as youths, and later, in the modern sequences, as aged folk. Charles De Roche, Madge Bellamy and Wallace MacDonald, first appearing as young people, are made up as people of fully seventy years of age at the close of the story.

This is Julian's first big production ence he made "Merry Go Round," one of last season's triumphs.

RAID CHINATOWN, FIND MUCH DOPE

Toronto, June 26.—Raiding Chinatown yesterday afternoon Plainclothes men Jackson and Baker, Dundas street west station, in a house on Elizabeth street, confiscated over $1,000 worth of morphine, cocaine, heroin, opium and arrested four Chinese on charges of having distributing or giving away drugs.

The men arrested are Jun Day, Elizabeth street; John Ying, the same street; Jung Tong; 824 College street and Yem Yon, Dundas street west.

The officers found the "dope" hidden in every conceivable place in the house. It was all done up in "decks" and "stickers."

Johnny Naylor, the ten-year-old Hamilton youngster, who has been missing from his home for the past three weeks was located in Toronto. The youngster was hiding in a box car and was caught just as a railway employee was about to seal the car preparatory to sending it to Calgary.

At Griffins

In Rex Ingram's masterpiece, "The Arab", now appearing at the Griffin Theatre, the opportunity to combine fanciful plot, romantic Mediterranean locale with fast action, packed into every scene, is utilized to its fullest extent.

Alice Terry and Ramon Novarro have crowned their careers with a diadem of superb acting which will quicken the heart with thrill and sentiment as the scenes of Algerian love weave through a background of religious wars, tribal jealousies, plots and counter plots.

The unique feature of "The Arab" is that the picture is a vindication of Kipling's famous declaration, "For East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet." Mary Hilbert, an American girl, played by Alice Terry and the picaresque "dragoman", Ramon Novarro, are prevented from marriage due to the unbridgeable gulf separating them in the matters of religion, customs, modes of living, ancestry and environment.

The situation is eased for the benefit of idealists who demand happy endings by the fact that Mary plights her troth with her fierce Algerian lover, yet sails away to America "to return some day."

The story concerns Mary Hilbert, and her father, a missionary, who strive to implant Christianity in the land under the shadow of the Golden Crescent.

The lonely Crucifix rears its head in the stronghold of powerful minarets which frown down at the would-be usurper.

The "dragoman" an itinerant guide who is the cast-off son of a powerful inland king, pretends to accept Christianity only that he may be near Mary.

Later, however, he turns against his own people and in fast moving scenes, saves the children of the Missionary from a well-devised plan of butchery and extermination.

The photography, made in Algeria, and not in "sets" at Hollywood, is marvelous, and no detail is omitted which would add to the authenticity of the picture.

Acid In Stomach Causes Indigestion

Creates Gas, Sourness and Pain—How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning gas, bloating, nausea, etc. are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated digestion is delayed and food sours causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach suffer knows so well.

Artifical digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Unveil Memorial To Great Explorer

Memory of Samuel De Champlain To Be Honored July 1

An event of deep historic interest takes place at Orillia, Ontario, on Dominion Day. There, a superb monument, second to none in Canada, is to be unveiled to the great explorer, Samuel de Champlain. The monument is to mark the advent of the white race into Ontario, and, as the inscription upon it states, it is intended to be "a symbol of good will between the French and English speaking people of Canada."

The memorial is to be unveiled by the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Speaker of the House of Commons, in the presence of a distinguished gathering of prominent men of the two provinces, and it is anticipated, of an audience running into many thousands.

Distinguished Orators

It would be difficult to bring together a more outstanding galaxy of orators than those who will speak at the banquet in the evening. The toast to Canada will be proposed by Dr. Stephen Leacock, and responded to by Sir George Foster. The toast to Quebec will be proposed by Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of Ontario, and responded to by the Hon. E. F. Surveyer, of Montreal, representing the Government of Quebec. The Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux will propose the toast to Ontario and the Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General, will respond. All the speeches will be broadcasted.

Coming of Champlain

In the afternoon an historical scene, in which over two hundred gaily costumed people will take part, is to be presented. It portrays the coming of Champlain and his welcome by the Indians. The performance is under the competent direction of Mr. Roy Mitchell, formerly Director of Hart House Theatre, Toronto, and, with the scenic setting of Couchiching Beach Park, promises to be an exceedingly striking spectacle. The famous Huntsville band, the leading concert band in Canada if not on the continent will give concerts both afternoon and evenings, parts of which will be broadcasted.

Connection With Orillia

It will be remembered that Champlain made his journey of discovery into Ontario in 1615. That expedition was the great explorer's deepest and boldest thrust into the heart of the North American continent and the Indian village of Gahiague, capital of the Huron nation, may be said to have been the culminating point of his explorations. It was at Cahiague, near the site of which Orillia now stands, that Champlain made his winter headquarters. There, as the guest of the Huron Chief, Darontal, he spent a greater length of time than at any other point, while in what is now the Province of Ontario.

A Gigantic Monument

Of heroic proportions and conceived and executed with rare artistry, the monument which marks the coming of the first white man into the interior of of the North American continent, will be excelled by few such memorials in either the United States or Canada. The main figure of "Champlain," twelve feet in height and weighing three and a half tons, stands atop a forty-five ton boulder. At either side are large bronze groups, comprised of three figures each, representing those two objects ever near the heart of Champlain—the bringing of Christianity to the Indians, and the opening up of commerce. Each side group weighs three tons; and the total weight of the bronzes is nearly ten tons, a greater amount of that material, it is said, than is found on any other monument in the Dominion.

The rough hewn central boulder, on which the figure of Champlain stands is of Benedict stone. It was the idea of the artist to design a pedestal in keeping with the life of a pioneer, and typical of the early period in which Champlain made his explorations. Because of transportation difficulties, it was found impractical to carry out the conception in natural stone, and the boulder was cast on the spot by the Benedict Stone Company of Montreal, whose product is now used in many large buildings, including the new Mont Royal Hotel in Montreal. The plinth and steps also are of Benedict stone. A rich effect is given by the Tuckahoe marble, enhancing the appearance of the bronzes. The boulder itself is 45 tons in weight, and the stone work as a whole weighs over 100 tons. The base is thirty feet square and the whole monument stands 30 feet high.

Looks Toward "Narrows"

This striking memorial stands in Orillia's famous lakeside park on Lake Couchiching. There the figure of the great explorer looks toward the "Narrows," the only definitely located site mentioned in that extremely interesting document, "Champlain's Journal." It was at the "straight" connecting Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching that the Hurons stopped to fish before proceeding on the unsuccessful expedition against the Iroquois.

The Artist

The monument is the creation of Vernon March, the brilliant young English artist, whose work has been attracting widespread attention, and who recently on high commendation for his war memorial for the Union of South Africa. Vernon March is the youngest of the famous family of seven brothers and one sister, all of whom are artists. It is doubtful if a more extraordinary family could be found anywhere; all are devoted to art and all, it may be said, are unmarried. Among themselves on their own premises, they do the entire work on a monument from the initial design to the ultimate bronze.

Cost $35,000

Contributions to this national and inter-provincial monument were made by the Dominion Government and the Governments of both Ontario and Quebec. Of the total cost of $35,000, the Dominion gave $12,500, the Provinces $5,000 each. In addition the Federal Government remitted $5,000 in duty and sales tax. The remainder came from the Town of Orillia, the County of Simcoe, from citizens and other sources.

The Inscription

The inscription on the memorial is as follows:—

1615—1915

"Erected to commemorate the advent into Ontario of the white race, under the leadership of Samuel de Champlain, the intrepid French explorer and colonizer, who with ten companons, arrived in these parts in the summer of 1615, and spent the following winter with the Indians, making his headquarters at Cahiague, the chief village of the Hurons, which was near this place. A symbol of good will between the French and English speaking people of Canada."

A motor car owned by A. Cosgrave, of Thamesville, stolen a week ago from that town, was recovered in a garage at Wardsville. The car broke down at Wardsville and was sent to the garage by the thief, who represented himself as te owner and told the proprietor he would be back later.

Prefers the Britons

(From the Toronto Mail and Empire)

Though the immigration law of the United States is sharply restrictive that country will continue to keep its door more open to people from the British Isles than to people from any other country. As now in force, the law admits 77,342 immigrants annually from the United Kingdom. But it has only two years to run. By the President's proclamation to be issued about April 1, 1927, the new immigration law will come into force on July 1 of that year. Then prospective immigrants will be selected according to national origin based on the 1920 census. What the quotas of the various countries will be has not yet been ascertained, but unofficial figures indicate that the United Kingdom will be the most favored nation, and its quota under the new law will probably be about 91,110 people per annum. Germany's will be less than one-fourth of that. Italy's will be 5,800, and still lower will be the quota for any other country. It is computed that 70 per cent. of the original American stock comes from Ireland, England, Scotland, Germany, Norway and Sweden, and that much the greater part of this 70 per cent comes from the British Isles. So the United States immigration law is based on the principle of selection that is designed to keep its population recruited chiefly from British sources. Our calculating neighbors are true to their own interests and true to the source from which the best elements in their population have been drawn.

The question for the British Empire to consider is. Is it to its own best interest that the surplus population of the British Isles shall be drained principally to the United States? It would surely be a better economy of the Mother Country's human resources to direct her superfluity of these to countries under her own flag. Much that is now being lost to the Empire and contributing to the greatness of the United States ought to be conserved for the peoples of the Empire.

WHALING SEASON VERY SUCCESSFUL

Oslo, June 26.—The whaling season in the Antaric waters around South Shetland and South Georgia has been very successful as far as the Norwegians are concerned.

The whalers secured 165,000 barrels of whale oil from South Georgia and 188,880 barrels from South Shetland, this being an increase in the amount obtained last year of 50,000 barrels. At South Orkney 54,000 barrels were obtained, while off the Mexican coast Norwegian whalers got 22,000 barrels.

The total for the Norwegian companies this year has been 410,000 barrels, while other nations have produced 257,000 barrels. The Norwegian whaling fleet consists of first class vessels equipped with radio and newly built tankers with cookeries. It sails practically over the whole of the globe and it has about 4,000 Norse sailors engaged in the trade as whalers.

The Ontario Railway Board will sit at Ingersoll Friday morning of this week, to hear the complaint of Bell street residents in connection with the municipal paving program for this year, which includes the street.

Drink Water It Bac Or Kidneys Hurt

WHEN THE BACK HURTS FLUSH YOUR KIDNEYS AS YOU CLEAN YOUR BOWELS

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get abot four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Appellate Division Of Supreme Court Has Quashed Convictions Against Home Bank Directors

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 27.—Convictions registered against directors of the Home Bank of Canada by Senior County Judge Coatsworth under Bank Act proceedings instituted following the failure of the bank in August, 1923, were quashed by first Appellate Division of Supreme Court of Ontario in a judgment handed down this morning. Those convicted were R. P. Gough, Toronto, vice-president; C. A. Barnard, Montreal; S. Casey Wood, Toronto; J. F. M. Stewart, Toronto, and C. F. Smith, Montreal.

Toronto, June 27.—Concluding a lengthy judgment in the appeal of Richard P. Gough who was vice president of the bank, Chief Justice Mulock says there's nothing in the evidence to justify any charge against him of dishonest or improper conduct.

"He seems to have believed in the integrity and capacity of the president and general manager and to have relied upon information which later proved to be untrue which was given by them to him as to the bank's position and was thus misled." He has no reason to doubt truthfulness of the president and manager and therefore though misled by them he was guilty of "no negligence."

Mr. Justice Hodgins decision in the case of J. F. Stewart finds that the evidence failed to establish negligence or knowledge of false or deceptive statements.

"Conviction there is bad and unwarranted by evidence and should be set aside."

Quebec Welcomes Field Marshal Haig

Old City En Fete to Honor Distinguished British Soldier

Quebec, June 27.—Field Marshal Lord Haig an Lady Haig arrived here yesterday afternoon on board the liner Letitia on which they had journeyed from Glasgow. The Field Marshal was welcomed on board by the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, Hon. Narcisse Perodeau, officers of his staff and members of the citizens committee.

Lord Haig, after attending the conference of war veterans at Ottawa, will make a tour of the Dominion.

Quebec En Fete

Quebec was en fete to welcome the Earl and Countess Haig within its gates and throughout the day elaborate preparations went forward to make the welcome one worthy of the occasion, a credit to Quebec and a tribute to one of Britain's leading soldiers.

A change in plan was made necessary by the arrival of the "Letitia" at an earlier time than was expected, but so keen were the people to welcome the famous Field Marshal and his party that they turned to with a will to further all new plans that were laid down. Work was speeded up on the King's wharf where a pavilion and grand stand were built to accommodate the many invited guests. Special arrangements were made to decorate the city, particularly those parts of it through which the distinguished visitor will pass on his way to and from Spencer Wood, the Lieutenant-Governor's residence, the Garrison Club and other places which he will visit during his brief stay here.

Wecome Spontaneous

Realizing that they would have Earl Haig with them for only a short time the populace of Quebec made every effort to make the welcome spontaneous and genuine. Long before four o'clock, the hour set for the landing on the King's wharf, many repaired to the Dufferin terrace to watch the ship steering up the river with the party on board and to witness the preparations going forward on the King's wharf, in its pleasing setting immediately below the terrace.

ARE GETTING READY FOR CAMPING DAYS

Through the courtesy of Mr. Mackenzie Robertson of the Belleville Creameries, the Camp Committee were able to get their newly constructed diving tower, conveyed to their camp site at Moira Lake yesterday. In the course of the next few days the task of getting this tower placed will be undertaken by a volunteer party of Willing Workers. On the second or third of July the advance party will proceed to camp for the purpose of putting up the tents and completing the various details necessary for the smooth running of any camp.

Mr. R. C. Sidenius, General Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., who is also a member of the Boys' Work Committee of the Rotary Club is in receipt of a list of forty-eight names of public school boys, submitted by Nurse Sinclair, who are desirious of attending Camp Community, but who are not able to pay even the small camp fees which those in attendance at camp pay. Here is a chance for any of Belleville's citizens who are looking for an opportunity for service. Any of these forty-eight boys would greatly appreciate a week at Camp and the expense involved in sending them would not be felt by many of our well-to-do citizens.

Hastings County Boy Was Insulted

Wanted To Visit Relatives In Detroit; Was Handcuffed

Peterboro, June 27.—Cecil Greer, a youth of 26, who is visiting at the home of L. F. Adlam, Sherbrooke street, has just had an experience with the immigration authorities at Detroit which he is not likely to forget in a life time.

The young man's home is in St. Ola, Hastings County, where his father is a prominent business man, and also town clerk. Cecil left home on Monday to visit relatives in Detroit, his first trip to the American side. When he reached that city early in the afternoon of Tuesday, he was taken with other Canadians, he says, to the immigration officers and put through the third degree. First the $5 head tax was taken from him, and he was questioned as to his solvency. He had upwards of $100 on his person so that no objection could be registered on that score. He lacked however, the necessary medical certificates, and for this reason was refused admission even as a visitor.

Cecil does not complain that the officials insisted that the regulations be observed, but he does object to the treatment which he received. He was kept in close confinement with several others from 2.30 Tuesday afternoon until 7.30 Wednesday morning and was not permitted anything to eat. To make his escape impossible he was hand-cuffed, he says; the first time in his life he was ever subjected to that indignity. On Wednesday morning his head tax was returned to him, and he was placed on the train for Toronto. Before he departed he was supplied by the Consul-General in Detroit with two blank medical certificates with instructions to have them filled in and signed by a medical man at Kingston if he ever hoped to get into the United States. He reached Peterboro at noon on Wednesday.

William Perry Windsor's dog catcher, appointed three months ago, was given renewed orders to get busy on a dog extermination crusade at Windsor.

Girl on Joy Ride Jerked the Wheel

One Passenger of Car Fatally Hurt; Men Disappear

Montreal, June 27—When a speeding taxi turned turtle on Western avenue early yesterday morning a girl was fatally injured, another badly shaken up and the driver gashed about the head. Two men who were also passengers departed from the scene of the accident as the police arrived.

The injured are Paula Cadieux, 22 years of age of 91d St. Elizabeth street, dying of a fractured skull; Angelina Depatis, 20 years old, of 328 Cadieux strete, suffering from shock; and W. B. Burnett, aged 33, of 2455b Esplanade street; cut about the head.

Miss Paula is now at the Western Hospital. After receiving treatment there the other two were able to return to their homes.

The smash-up which had a fatal termination is believed to have been the climax of a joy ride. The Diamond taxi, driven by Burnett, was speeding east on Western avenue at 5 o'clock this morning with two girls and two men as passengers. As it reached a sharp curve opposite number 6330 one of the girls reached forward and jerked the steering wheel, causing it to swerve to the curb and overturn.

From the wreckage of the taxi four of its occupants rose to their feet, cut and bleeding and with torn clothes. The girl now in the Western lay unconscious on the pavement. After summoning the police of 23 station the 2 male passengers departed without leaving names or addresses.

The police immediately called an ambulance in which the trio were conveyed to the Western Hospital. Doctors immediately saw that the condition of one of the girls was critical and she was admited to a ward. The Depatis girl quickly revived under treatment, but was too nervous to give any clear account of the accident. Burnett stated that a pull at the steering wheel just as he reached the curve caused the smash-up.

The taxi was completely destroyed.

HOUSE CLOSES FOR SESSION AT DAYBREAK

Fourth Session of 14th Parliament is Prorogued

MUCH BUSINESS

The House Arose at 4.30 O'clock To-day

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, June 27.—At day break this morning the House of Commons concluded work of the session. During the last few minutes of sitting the Commons concurred in the Home Bank amendments made by the Senate, the supply bill to provide for all public services for financial year ending March 31, 1926 was given third reading and minor amendments by the Senate in the Dominion Election Act were accepted. It only remained for the ceremony of prorogation to terminate the fourth session of the fourteenth parliament of Canada. After a long night spent on clearing up the remaining estimates of several departments. Final legislation was put through shortly before four o'clock Premier King moved concurrence in Senate amendments to the bill for the relief of the Home Bank depositors. The motion of acceptance contained a clause to the effect that the Commons still maintained that the Senate had not the right to amend money bills. The Prime Minister said the Commons managers in conference with the Senate had pressed for original bill as strong as possible but in view of the lateness of session it was felt advisable to accept the best possible settlement.

During the course of an all night sitting estimates totalling approximately $100,000,000 were including such large stores as $35,000,000 for European War Pensions, $1,000,000 for department of customs and excise, and $31,000,000 for Post Office Departments, it was almost four-thirty when the House rose.

CURBING EXPENDITURE

A feature of the latest warning from the Citizen's Research Bureau, says the Peterboro Examiner, is the emphasis placed on the fact that it is difficult to decrease governmental expenditures in proportion to the decreased paying power of the taxpayer.

Prices of commodities generally, and, to judge from the Federal income tax returns, incomes also, have decreased since 1920, but, unfortunately, per capita governmental expenditures have shown no general tendency in this direction.

The taxpayers when their incomes begin to decrease must decrease their expenditures accordingly if they wish to remain solvent.

Governments, on the other hand, when they find revenues from any one source decreasing, due frequently to the decreased incomes of the taxpayers, instead of cutting down expenditures are prone to look for new sources of revenue.

When and if taxpayers are sincere in their demands that governments should cut down expenditures, it will be good politics for governments to cut them down.

Just as long as taxpayers clamour for reduced expenditures and, on the other hand, the demand that governments shall perform new services, build new pavements, bridges, elevators, harbours or railways, just so long will the sincerity of the taxpayers' demand for economy be doubted.

In the final analysis remember all governmental expenditures must come out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

FROM TALK TO TAXI

A driver of a taxicab goes to the Chamber of Deputies in Paris, and when he arrives he places a black cover over the flag of his taximeter. This indicates that he is not soliciting fares. He puts his cab on the rank and enters the Chamber. He takes his seat on the parliamentary benches, listens to the discussions and sometimes intervenes. When the sitting is over, or when he considers that his presence is not required, he leaves, returns to his cab, takes off the black cover, and plies for hire. For the taxi-driver is a Deputy, but because he is a Deputy he does not therefore cease to follow his occupation. For a number of hours every day he drives for a living. The cab is his own property and he is therefore under no restrictions as to hours. His name is Monsieur Adam, and he sits as a Communist in the Department of the Seine.

MAKE THEM WELCOME

Monday's press despatches carried the news from the border town of Rouse's Point that United States and Canadian customs authorities combined over the week-end "to interrupt the pleasures of 1,283 New Yorkers who were on an excursion for a brief visit in Montreal." Canadian authorities were said to have refused to allow 85 of the excursionists to cross the border on the ground that their papers were improperly prepared.

There are, of course, certain regulations affecting immigration which should be enforced, but this looks like a case of carrying things too far. A little discrimination and common horse sense would surely distinguish between the letter and the spirit of a law which was never intended to keep out excursionists and tourists.

It has been estimated that American visitors to Canada last year left in this country nearly $150,000,000. They paid this for services and entertainment which made but little inroad on our natural resources. The tourist industry is one of the most satisfactory industries that Canada can develop. But tourists and excursionists will not plan to cross the international border if they are to be held up by immigration red-tape. And the fact that the annoyances and irritations to which visitors are subjected at the line are evidently widely published throughout the United States would seem to have more than passing significance.

It should be the business of Canadian border officials to encourage rather than discourage the tourist business. They should regard themselves as Canada's official reception committee and in the exercise of their duties present a welcome to our visitors which need not be spoiled by checking up on the occasional undesirable.

Press Opinions

THE PIPE OF PEACE

(Chatham News)

The fact has been given to the public that when the general council of the United Church of Canada was in session in the Metropolitan Methodist Church in Toronto, there was a smoking room in full blast in the basement. It looks like a good sign for the new church. It was an appropriate occasion for smoking a pipe of peace. Perhaps if there was more smoking at religious controversies there would be less bitterness. There is said to be relief for an agitated mind in the very act of puffing smoke.

THE MEANING OF EMPIRE

(London Referee)

What does it mean to John Smith, of Leeds, or Ottawa, or Melbourne, or Auckland, or Capetown? It means that always and everywhere there is behind him a tremendous power to keep him and his free and safe. He may be the least regarded of all the four millions and more, who owe allegiance to the King, but if he is wronged immeasurable strength will be called from all ends of the earth and from half the isles of the sea to do him right. He may find it hard to earn a pound a week, and yet in very truth he is, in the last resort, lord high admiral of the British fleet.

ENEMIES OF THE STATE

(New York Commercial)

The United States might take a lesson from the activities of Great Britain. The United States is filled with alien enemies. They arrive by every boat and a large number of them are "bootlegged into the country. The communist menace in Great Britain is great, but they recognise the menace. It is far greater in the United States because the people do not so recognize. In this country apathy still grips the people. They are calmed to sleep through the use of such appealing slogans as No More War, Peace and Freedom, Industrial Democracy, Child Labor, Free Speech, Academic Freedom and similar terms, all of which the but mere cloaks beneath which the monsters communism and socialism work day and night.

RAILWAYS VERSUS MOTOR BUS

Sarnia Canadian Observer

The Toronto street car system is finding itself on the defensive against an invasion by busses that threatens havoc with street car revenues.

The busses are multiplying and the circumstances that they bring passengers right to the heart of the city, without the necessity of transferring(is a point very much in their favor.

The growth of traffic by motor bus is one of the romances of modern transportation. There are not many communities of any size in Ontario that are not being served by the motor bus. The railways are feeling the inroads on their business. They would like to find a remedy, but that is not in sight.

In certain lines the motor bus has an advantage over the railway. The extension of good roads has made it possible to carry heavy loads by bus great distances. Thus in the moving of household furniture the tenant escapes the work of crating because the bus backs up to his door, loads the goods and delivers them in a distant city with much less disorganization or labor than is the case when the older forms of transportation are used.

It is evident that the motor bus has come to stay. The railways will have to complete with revolutionary changes in traffic ideas and performance. In some parts of this continent railways have found it unprofitable to continue. A wholesale collapse of railway services at present would be disastrous, but the signs suggest that they will have to accomplish great changes in their methods if they are to beat out their new rivals.

CAPITALISM AND SOCIALISM

(The Australasian)

Behind the advocacy of a capital levy is the heretical belief that governments can employ money to better purpose for the whole good than can what are called capitalists. A capitalist is interested in making a profit, and when he makes a profit he does a general service because he has established something which gives employment and increases wealth production. Whereas a government investing money does not aim at making profit; it does not care; it cannot go insolvent; it can always make up a deficit by imposing taxation; it is constantly urged to measure which prevent it from making profit; and wherever the clutching hand of government has seized upon trading concerns, these concerns have inevitably failed. There are sundry shocking examples in Australia.

THE GARRISON IN IRAQ

(Times of India)

It is the settled policy of the British government steadily to lessen its military commitments in Iraq and to continue the process of reducing the British and Indian strength which has been constantly going on. This policy has doubtless been forced on the government by the unpopularity of the yearly bill for the upkeep of Iraq, but it is a policy which, if carried much further, may lead to disaster. It is an open secret that the ground troops at present stationed in Iraq are not adequate to do more than co-operate with the air force in the suppression of local disorders; if disturbances broke out on a large scale and in different parts of the country simultaneously, and if the air force could not bomb the insurgents to a standstill in the first few days, there would be very little chance of dealing satisfactorily with the situation.

To-day's Smile

A Scoteman and a Jew had been drinking together. Both had taken too much wine, and on the way home the Jew thought he would have a joke at his companion's expense.

He started singing "Maxwellton Braes are Bonny," and with that he measured his length on the road.

The Scotsman looked down at him and added: "Whaur early fa's the Jew!"

"DEAR SAM"

Bill's young son, Jim, gives evidence of precocity and general lack of proper parental respect.

BY J. H. CREIGHTON

Dear Sam,—

I sed by the papers that the wise fellers are assembled over at Gin-Eva, Switzerland, tryin to reform the calendar.

Now unless these birds can arrange to keep the calendar at June all the year around, thus givin us nice balmy weather, I'd like them calendar fixers to try a man's sized job of reformin and one which would do some good.

I wish theyd take a hand at reformin Jim, my young lad. I've give up the job. That kid aint got no more respect for gray hairs than a bottle of barbers tonic. He's too old to lick, and aint old enough to join the navy, and as the result he stays home and makes life lively fer us. Im darn near to th point of tryin to enlist myself to get away from im, cause he'll foller me ever place else.

Just bout the time I get settled down to somethin pleasant such as payin a bill fer one a May's dresses, or somethin easy like readin a time table, Jim pounces on me, looks innocent and springs some question at me that aint got no answer. Today he says, "Pop, how many chinks is they in the wall of China?"

Yesterday I come into the room and Jim says, "Pop, there was a guy in to see you while you was out, and hes comin back. And say Pop, you'll have to howl like a lion to make im hear—he's deef as a stone."

Before I had much time to figger who the guy might be, the door opened, and in walked the stranger. When he come in he swelled hisself up like a pouter pigeon, got red in the face from holdin his breath and screamed "GOOD DAY SIR!" and dang near broke my ear drums. I figgered that like most folks as is unlucky enough to be deaf, he was hollerin loud enuff soe he could hear imself.

I see they was a battle in front of me, and thought I hated to go to so much trouble to tell him somethin which he already knew, I wanted to be perlite, so I swole up worsen a bull frog and busted out, "BEAUTIFUL DAY!"

By the time we had both broke into a sweat and used home time up I was gettin too weak to care if I did hurt the fellers feelins. I wasn't goin to get howled at anymore.

So with one heave which darn near split my vest up the back, I bellered, "Well quit bustin my ears, I AINT DEEF!"

The guy's jaw dropped down a foot or so, and he looks purty mad and says "Well, I aint either!"

Bout then Jim busts out in a merry giggle, runs out from behind a door and hops down the hall laughin like a hyena.

Now I ask you Sam, what chance has an old man got with Jim?

Jours truly,

BILL.

SWEDEN FAVORS CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Stockholm, June 26. — The daily wants of two-thirds of Sweden's population are now supplied through co-operative organizations, according to a recently completed investigation by the governmental Board of Social Inquiry. To the Consumers Cooperative Society no fewer than 243,451 persons belong, or 17 per cent of the entire population but as each member represents a family, the total number of profit sharing customers is easily four times that figure. Two thirds of the membership is made up of wage earners and the rest of small farmers, artisans and minor officials. The net profits for last year were $370,329 of which 15 per cent was added to the capital reserve. In 1909 the membership was but 63,500 and the number of branches has grown in 15 years from 376 to 860.

In addition to retail stores these co-operative organizations run bakeries, breweries, meat and sausage plants, shoe repair shops, dairies, coffee roasting mills, and one branch has a farm of its own. They also conduct savings banks and an insurance business.

The largest wholesale business in food stuffs in Sweden is now conducted by the Cooperative Wholesale Society, which also runs a flour mill, a margarine factory and a chemical plant. It also has a savings bank department with over 39,000 depositors. For selling agricultural products there are in Sweden about 650 cooperative dairies, whose principal output is butter and about 30 cooperative slaughter houses, which butcher hogs and cattle delivered by members.

"In His Quiet Moments"

A True Story

Always 'the life of the party' everybody admires Ted Carruthers for his breezy good nature and winning personality. He is a real man through and through.

But in his quiet moments—

Poor Ted has his personal problem from which he cannot shake himself free when alone. A recent illness, the price of overwork, left his health impaired. The doctor says it is only a matter of time.

He now has only a few short years in which to provide for Mary and the children. What is he to do? He is not able to get life insurance and cannot save much more than $300.00 a year. In five years this will be but $1,500.00—not nearly enough!

'Tis now he realizes just what it would have meant if he had insured when able, to provide for his wife an income of at least $100.00 a month ($1,200.00 a year) as long as she lived. At his age (35) $6.40 a week with the London Life would have guaranteed it, and worry would not now be further sapping his strength, killing any chance he may have had of recovery.

• • • •

The future may easily be made safe for loved ones by insurance, and worry removed from those who have dependents.

Madill chief surgeon, had made an X-ray examination.

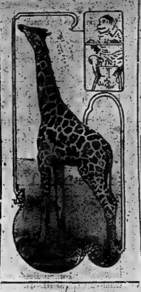
Twelve Baby Elephants Have Faces Washed Twice Each Day at Circus

Twelve baby elephants so small that they must have their faces washed by their keepers twice each day; Big Bill, the only armored rhinoceros in captivity, and an entire family of giraffes are among the many interesting animals coming here with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

According to Andrew Zingaro, keeper of the giraffe herd, the long-necked quadruped will shortly become extinct. The pits of trappers and the hunters' rifles are responsible for approaching conditions, says Zingaro, and declares that the only sure way to perpetuate the species will be to breed them in specially arranged parks of spacious size.

At present there are but eight giraffes in North America. Six of these are owned by the Ringling Brothers. Four of this total were born at the Ringling winter quarters in Bridgeport, Conn. They were raised by Zingaro. Those who have recently visited east Africa, the home of the giraffe, report a great scarcity of the splendid animals.

Unlike the baby elephants, who must have their faces sponged before they go into the "big top" to perform, Soudana Giraffe never meets this ordeal. She simply can't be reached. Soudana, who is 19 feet high, and easily the tallest member of North America's entire animal kingdom, is worth much study. The giraffe corral has been specially placed in this season's menagerie arrangement and Zingaro, who is recognised as the greatest living authority on the habits of this exceptional animal, will gladly answer all questions that circus patrons may ask. He will, for instance, tell you that the giraffe never perspires, never utters a sound of any kind, that its hind legs are exactly as long as its front legs, despite an optical illusion that suggests the contrary, and many other interesting things.



Vast congresses of every known wild animal are specially featured by the Ringling Brothers this season. Performances are to be given here Thursday, July 2.

Sleeping Sickness Case at Kingston

Five Year Old Tweed Boy Died in Hotel Dieu

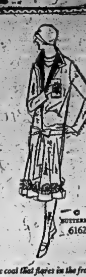
Kingston, June 27.—The dread disease, sleeping sickness, from which Kingston and the district has been immune for several years, broke out afresh with the death in the Hotel Dieu Thursday morning of John Joseph Keilty, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Keilty, of Tweed. This is the first death of sleeping sickness in this vicinity for about six years.

The little chap was seized with the illness about two weeks ago. Medical aid was summoned at Tweed, but when he showed little signs of improvement he was brought, early this week, to the Hotel Dieu. He was attended by Dr. W. Gibson, and despite the best of aid, he failed to rally, and passed away this morning. The remains were sent today to Tweed by M.P. Keyes, undertaker.

Sleeping sickness, while prevalent in some sections of the country, is a rarity in these parts. Medical men stated today that while many of the fatalities have been of persons of middle-age, the disease has been more common in children.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES

by Shirley Sharon



The coat that flares in the front is new and smart, and must be worn exceedingly short and over a frock of equal or greater abbreviation.

FASHION has stepped out quite suddenly during this last season, breaking away from the narrow sheath by half-a-dozen devices. They are so skilfully contrived that the new fulness has none of the aging effect that has kept any increase in width at bay so long. The new flared coat is particularly young-looking because of the position of the flare and the fact that this coat is always worn decidedly short. It has the new small collar, slim shoulder and is usually made of ribbed silk, satin or heavy silk crêpe

EGYPTIANS ENJOY MUSIC OF ENGLAND

Cairo, June 27.—A number of broadcasting stations in Europe and the British Isles are usually heard well in Egypt and Egyptians as well as Europeans living here are not slow in taking advantage of the music. The stations heard best are London, Newcastle, Aberdeen, Bournemouth and Chelmsford in England, the Savoy Bands of London relayed on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays being especially popular.

Rome, Munster, Stuttgart and Vienna are also heard and a resident of Cairo can listen to a concert and news in Italian from 8.40 to 9.30 p.m., then get the news and the weather report from Stuttgart in German, and before turning in for the night he can enjoy a late cabaret concert from Vienna.

SLASHING EXPENSES ON MEXICO'S ROADS

Mexico City, June 27.—After months of negotiations with the various railwaymen's brotherhoods over wage scales and working conditions, the department of communications has fixed the annual budget of the national lines at 78,000,000 pesos and formulated plans to slash expenses, cut salaries and reduce personnel to bring the lines' operating cost down to that figure. The 1924 budget was approximately 105,000,000 pesos.

A reduction in freight rates is scheduled as soon as the lines begin to show a profit.

Included in the current reorganization is the cancellation of more than 8,000 annual passes and a presidential order against the giving of trip passes which, in past years, have reached staggering totals.

Bequests of $200 to Byron Sanatorium and $100 each to the War Memorial Hospital for Sick Children the Grenfell Labrador Mission and the Women's Missionary Society are provided in the will of Miss Susan Louise Otton, who died in London on December 11, 1924, leaving an estate of $4,000.

Lockie Burnham, of Burlington, who has a criminal record, appeared before Magistrate Barr in Police Court at Milton charged with having entered five garages from which several articles had been missing. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 27 months in the Kingston Penitentiary.

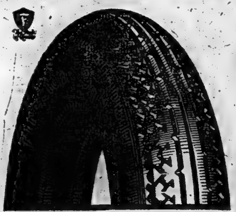
GUM-DIPPING
the EXTRA PROCESS at no extra cost to tire BUYERS!



Many people who nearly three years ago saw the first sets of balloon tires ever made, which were designed and developed by Firestone and were being tested on factory cars, doubted that such thin-walled tires would stand the hard usage demanded of pneumatic tires.

The important thing these people overlooked, was the distinct advantage Firestone possessed in its extra process of treating cord fabric—Gum-Dipping—which insulates every fiber of every cord with rubber and gives to the thin walls the extra strength needed to withstand the extra flexing strain.

Gum-Dipping impregnates the cords with rubber so that friction is minimized, which explains why Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords keep so cool even in extra hard service. Since heat is so destructive to tire life it becomes apparent why Firestone Balloons give such unheard-of mileage, making them the most economical tires to use with the added factors of safety and comfort. It also explains why race drivers trust their lives to Firestone tires while breaking all records for speed and endurance.

Begin now to enjoy the greater advantages of these wonderful tires. Let the nearest Firestone dealer equip your car—he will do it quickly and at low cost.

BELLEVILLE PLAYING IN OSHAWA TO-DAY, KINGSTON AT PETERBORO; BRIDGE STREET WON GAME

C.N.R. NINE PLAY IN OSHAWA TO-DAY

Belleville at Oshawa, and Kingston at Peterboro is the C.O.B.L. menu for this cloudy day, and though the weather is not promising, both teams have gone to their respective towns for their games.

Though the locals are trailing in the pennant race at present, they are still maintaining their reputation as fighters to the last ditch, and there is not a team in the circuit they would rather oust than Dainty and his gang. There will be a battle royal in Oshawa to-day there is no doubt.

The locals have gone up with their full strength.

BRIDGE STREET NINE DEFEAT HOLLOWAY

Is Squinting A Habit

YES, AND MORE than a habit. It generally indicates some defect of vision. And in the majority of cases when the error or errors of vision are corected the squint disappears. If you squint let me tel you if an error of vision is probably the cause. My advice is dependable.

EXPECT HOT GAME UP IN PETERBORO

Peterboro, June 27.—The Petes' victory over Belleville Wednesday and the loss sustained by Kingston at the hands of Oshawa add much to the interest in Saturday's game at Riverside Park, which brings the Ponies and Petes together. A win for Peterboro will leave them tied with the Kingston gang while a Belleville win in Oshawa the same day would tie Oshawa, Kingston and Peterboro. The race is just that close and every game from now on will be fought out until the last man is out.

The Ponies have usually put up a great argument on the local grounds and stung by Wednesday evening's reverse will be in fighting form for their visit Saturday. There is no one the Petes would rather beat than Joe Daley's crew and with the teams feeling that way about it there is every reason to expect a red hot tussle.

The game is called for 3 o'clock and will be in charge of Umpires Colling and Dell.

GRAVE WARNING IS GIVEN FOR PARENTS

Montreal, June 27.—A Montreal girl of 15 years of age, who last fall ran away from home in the company of a Greek restaurant keeper and who since then married her, appeared before the Juvenile Court yesterday morning when her husband was charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency. The pair had been traced from Detroit to Toronto, to Windsor, Ont. The man, who gives his age as thirty-two has put his girl-wife out to work. Because the mother of the girl has decided not to prosecute the charge against the man has been dropped.

Judge Lacroix made the case an occasion to utter a grave warning to parents not to relax their rigid surveillance over young girls. "This is an age," he said, "when parents need to be stricter and more careful than ever before." He also urged pastors and others to exercise more caution in marrying girls that might prove to be minors. In the present case he stated the pair was married without the production any birth certificate or other documents to vouch for the age of the girl.

GERMAN LINER TO BE SCRAPPED

Hamburg, June 27.—The Deutschland, a former trans-Atlantic pride of the Hambourg-American line, has been sold to a Berlin firm to be scrapped. The vessel served as an excursion boat under the name Victoria Luise, and after the World War was again put into service between Hamburg and New York as the Hansa.

Hundreds of Scouts Behind Jimmy King

South African Lads Pay Passage of Injured Boy

London, June 27.—Little Jimmy King pallid-faced, broken, suffering but smiling, is the Boy Scouts' one best bet as Exhibit A in the art of keeping on smiling. And he modestly disclaims any such merit.

"Oh, it ain't much to smile", said Jimmy. "Who wouldn't smile when he knew ten thousands pals were paying for him and praying for him? I'll get well all right. Bound to, with such backers.

Three years ago Jimmy was well as anybody. In fact he was the life of the party in his Wolf Club camp out in the South African veldt. But one night a pal, in fun, jumped on his back as he lay sleeping on the ground. There was a faint groan of pain from Jimmy. He tried to get up but could not. He has been bound to a stretcher ever since—his back broken.

South African doctors sought to cure him, but in vain. Then a wave of emotion swept Boy Scoutdom of South Africa. All over that vast dominion the Boy Scouts levied six cents per head on themselves. They organised bazaars and concerts. They raised money anyhow, anywhere, for they were determined they would secure such a bank account that it would be possible to send Jimmy the long 7,000-mile journey to England where a famous Liverpool specialist hoped to help him.

But bad luck continued to dog the boy. His father was to have gone along with him and three days before the ship sailed, this parent died. The mother couldn't go. So Jimmy had to wait until his grandfather could come all the way from England to go back with him When finally he started on his long journey, strapped to a stretcher 10,000 children in Capetown sang farewell songs to cheer him on his way.

And as soon as the ship sailed, they made plans for weekly concerts whose object will be to pay for Jimmy's keep in England, to bring him back to South Africa and help pay for three years' education he has lost. It's the most spontaneous movement Africa has ever known.

Buy Your Studebaker—Now!

You may buy a Studebaker today—or on any day of the year—with the confident assurance that no act of ours will stigmatize it as a "last year's model"

STUDEBAKER has discontinued the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year. Instead of bringing Studebaker cars dramatically up-to-date once in twelve months, we shall keep them up-to-date all of the time—with every improvement made available by our great engineering and manufacturing resources.

Improvements and refinements, of course, will be made from time to time. New features will be added. As in the past, we shall continue to pioneer all vital betterments. But Studebaker will have no yearly models to make your July car obsolete in August.

A dramatic story

There is a dramatic story behind this new Studebaker policy that vitally concerns everyone who expects to buy an automobile this year.

Amazing records of Studebaker performance and endurance prove beyond question that the present line of Studebaker cars is so soundly engineered and manufactured and so satisfactory in the hands of owners that drastic annual changes are not required.

Authentic reports show that hundreds of Studebaker cars have given from 125,000 to 400,000 miles of sturdy, dependable service. One Studebaker Big Six, used as a mail car, traveled almost 500,000 miles in 5½ years, giving 24-hour round trip service between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, California.

Stupendous mileage! But the same stamina and rugged dependability is built into every Studebaker that leaves the factory.

A Studebaker taxi in Jewett City, Conn., has traveled 31,000 miles without even having the valves ground or the carbon removed.

In Stockton, Calif., a Studebaker Big Six has piled up 138,000 miles over steep mountain grades and rough country roads with negligible upkeep—not a single major part has been purchased or repaired by reason of wear or accident.

It is a significant fact that wherever travel conditions are most severe, Studebaker by far outsells its normal proportion of cars.

Bus Operators, Rent-a-Car Companies, Police and Fire Departments—all turn to Studebaker year after year for their transportation equipment, because they have found that it always yields scores of thousands of miles of reserve transportation, and has low upkeep costs.

At the mileage when other cars are breaking up—Studebaker cars are breaking in. It's the second and third fifteen thousand miles that prove Studebaker superiority. It's this reserve mileage—even though you may never use it—that greatly increases Studebaker resale value.

Stamina is in-built—inherent—a vital and indispensable part of the Studebaker formula for building fine motor cars.

Buy this "One Profit" car now

Remember—under this new Studebaker policy—there is no need to delay the purchase of your new automobile until annual changes have been made. Come in and see these sturdy, dependable, "one-profit" automobiles. Today Studebaker offers greater values than ever before. It is sound judgment to buy now.

Don't tear up Road Surfaces by immoderate Driving

Lake Couchiching—near Orillia—one of Ontario's summer playgrounds. Sketched by the well known Canadian artist C. W. Jefferys, O.S.A., A.R.C.A.

It's the back wheels of your car that push it along—and it's resistance that keeps it moving—the resistance of the road surface.

At moderate speeds, the surface remains in place. At higher speeds a portion of the surface is displaced by the friction of the wheels. The higher the speed, the more material is displaced.

The speed limit exists in the law to save the surfaces of roads, as well as to prevent accident. Because the highway is clear, you may think the law may be broken. This is a mistake. There is always danger of damaging the road by excessive speed.

The material which is displaced each year by automobiles driven too fast would weigh hundreds of tons. The repair work made necessary costs thousands of dollars.

The public of Ontario have spent $160,000,000 to make roads easier and safer for you to travel on. The law seeks to preserve from accident those who use the roads, and to conserve the roads themselves. The Government requests the cooperation of yourself and every other automobile driver in maintaining the condition of the roads. Take pride in the highways of Ontario. You are interested, for they are yours. They are being maintained with your money.

While the Government relies on the goodwill and cooperation of the great majority of motorists, notice is given that the enforcement of The Highways Act will be all the more rigorous in the case of those who disregard the law and this request.

An advertisement issued by the Ontario Department of Highways to secure the co-operation of motorists and truck drivers, Automobile Clubs, Good Roads Associations and all other public spirited bodies, in abating the abuse of the roads of the province.

The Hon. Geo. S. Henry, Minister S. L. Squire, Deputy Minister

A Message From the Robin

I'll sing you a lay, ere I wing on my way,
Sheer-up! Cheer-up Cheer-up!
Whenever you're blue find something to do
For somebody else who is sadder than you,
Cheer-up! Cheer-up! Cheer-up!

There's a better man behind an honorable failure than the one behind a dishonorable success.

It isn't the man who smiles that counts,
When everything goes dead wrong,
Nor is it the man who meets defeat,
Singing a gay little song;
The song and the smile are well worth while,
Provided they aren't a bluff,
But here's to the man who smiles and sings
And then—Produces the Stuff."

A Scotsman migrated from his native village to Yorkshire. At first the dialect puzzled him, but in time he grew used to it. When he had settled down in his job he sent for his wife to join him. Her first comment was: "How queer the folk talk here!" To which he replied: "They talk a' richt now. Ye should ha' heard them four months ago!"

DEMOCRACY AND BAD MANNERS

Under the heading of "Our Democracy of Bad Manners," Elizabeth Robins Pennell, writing in the "Forum," makes an earnest plea for "the gracious Law of Courtesy". Although her criticisms are mainly of America—she has praise for England—yet her plea has its value to other peoples besides Americans.

"If I had my way there would be a Politeness Class in every kindergarten, school, and college in the land," she says. "The present generation is too engrossed in more urgent studies to support me in such a scheme. In the principles of progress not politeness, it must be trained if it would succeed and progress as defined today is based on business, not manners. Modern common sense forbids any clinging to customs and habits that do not pay. If earlier standards distract thought and steal time from business, they must go, and sentiment over their going is unworthy a pratical people. Man would not have been such an unconscionable time getting anywhere if he had not turned from the straight path to run after the Turvey-drops of deportment and to dwindle with the useless.

"The policy of push is observed as scrupulously in the open street, where if all unknowingly, I impede the progress of three or four citizens abreast just behind me; in one second with a violent jolt they dispose of me—should I land in the gutter, that is my concern not theirs. To leave a shop or hotel or any big building by one of those horrible revovling doors I must dash for a vacant niche, or somebody dashes in ahead of me, twirling the door with such rapidity that the miracle is how I get in or out again alive, though all this hustling may lead to nothing more pressing than the hustler's chat with a friend in the middle of the pavement, waiting to be hustled aside in his turn. And, there are no such words as 'Pardon' or 'Excuse' or 'Sorry' in the vocabulary of those for whom every movement, every action has become the outward expression of the inward belief in the Gospel of Hustle. If not to say 'Thank you' is a sign of good breeding, we can congratulate ourselves on being the best bred of all nations. In the leisurely days of an unprogressive past, 'Thank you' was one of the first phrases taught to the young.

"Who of my generation does not remember the gentle reproachful voice asking, 'And what do you say, my dear?' for the gift received, or the grown-up's condescension kindly meant if abhorrent in a healthy child. True, it is a convention that can be driven to an extreme, as in the England I first knew, where you were thanked for what you did not do or want as well as for what you did. I used to laugh at the 'None today, madam? Thank you, madam!' On the whole, however, I like it better than the other extreme of no thanks at all. But the little superfluous phrase is too severe a drain upon patience and breath now that new reasons for thanking have multiplied. And the sense of obligation is perishing with the formula for recognising it. Few authors however modest, few artists, however great, have not received demands for the use of their work with an assurance that their names will be mentioned or with a reminded of the advertisement they will get, as if it were the beggar who conferred the favour. . . .

"I can see no gain in democracy if good manner are incompatible with its doctrines, if behaviour as well as work must be adapted to the standard of the weakest, if we must all be levelled down to no manners at all by the weight of equality. To the courtier who was the fine flower of the Italian Renaissance. 'Freedom under the Law was the beginning and end of good government,' the writer sums up. To the men born equal of our day, freedom without bad manners is an empty farce. 'Be rude to one another' is the golden rule, and unfortunately not only are our manners corrupted by the new canons of behaviour but the fundamental things of life as well. The contagion has spread to art. It has spread to literature, emancipating verse and prose alike from form and restraint. It has spread to the theatre, exalting cheap humour and vulgar display at the expense of a noble dramatic tradition.

"It has spread to government; it has spread to religion. Day by day the art of living withers and fades leaving us to face existence, unadorned, in all its nakedness. To doubt the blessings of democracy may savour of heresy, but it is not easy to lose without regret that older code which made men free and equal by the gracious Law of Courtesy."

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

It was about the middle of June, one year not so very long ago, when one of the Honorary Game Wardens, who had a local territory around a quiet city in the Eastern part of Canada, had a remarkable interesting time of it one morning.

There was an old man, living all to himself, in a very big house and garden. He was a queer old sort, with a great love for flowers and a great dislike of children. He claimed that the children were responsible for all his troubles.

The house was in the center of the block, and had a regular old English brick wall on the north side, running along the length of the garden and on the inside of this wall, he had a long narrow conservatory, with a steep roof only a foot or two from the ground on the low side.

Folks said that the old fellow had been cheated out of some money and had become cranky.

Whatever the matter was, he was an old grouch, and all the children kept away from him, although there were quite a few on his street; as a matter of fact, there were two boys and a girl, living in the very next house, but they never bothered the old man, for he was too neat and tidy and fussy about everything and kept his whiskers pointed.

Now, it happened that the children on that street had heard about birds and bird boxes and how to be friends with Nature, and a Bluebird box had been put up very early in the month of March. They would have put it up on their side of the brick wall, but were afraid that the old man would object to nails in the mortar, so they had it put on a post that was used for a clothes line.

All in due time the Bluebirds arrived and were looking over the ground but a saucy wren came along and when he found that no box had been put up for him, he filled up the Bluebird box with sticks, so that it was of no use to him or anyone.

The children were disappointed for both the Wren and the Bluebirds departed. The box was again cleaned out and again the wren appeared. He really made a nest this time, and soon found a wife. That which was first intended for Bluebirds, became Chateau Wren.

Well, Chateau Wren became the centre of interest for the whole street. It was such a success that the boys who owned it, were envied by their chums and quite naturally began to quarrel about who had thought of it first and who had done most to put it up, and while smart little Mrs. Wren was feeding her family, the boys were taking sides in the great argument, until it became so noisy that the little girl, the sister of the owners, heard it all and promptly took the wind out of their sails by informing everybody that, since they couldn't divide it, she would take charge of it. That settled it.

But, if the boys had had trouble, their sister had more, for a neighbor's cat managed to catch either the mother or the father Wren, just when the young ones were getting appetites almost too great for one bird to satisfy. If it was the father that was left, he was faithful and a hard worker.

He worked like a slave to feed those little ones and many a plant was saved for the grouchy old man, because the insects and worms were removed by the wren.

But listen! A night or two after that the cat was on top of the wall and somebody (nobody knows who) threw a boot at it. The missile went flying through the air, missed the cat, as usual, and went crashing through the glass roof of the conservatory, Wow!

The next morning, just about the time the old man found out that somebody had made him a present of an old boot through the roof, as he was passing down the isle inside the hothouse, the little wren came into the garden. He had fairly well cleared the garden plants of worms and thought there might be some inside the glass building, so he went in through the jagged hole in the roof. Then the real trouble began.

The old man was unreasonable with rage, so he quickly closed the hole with paper, shutting up the bird and there was the poor little thing a prisoner, and the little ones without anyone now to feed them.

The little girl was on the job though. She missed the wren and began to worry and look about. "Surely he wouldn't desert his children." She was even brave enough to peek into the forbidden garden, and at once noticed the paper stuffed in the hole in the glass. And even as she looked, she saw the wren fluttering against the glass at one end of the conservatory.

Fast as she could run, she fairly flew down town, to the place where the Honorary Game Warden worked. He was dragged over the hill, without ceremony, to the garden of troubles. On the way over, he learned the story, so went right to the old man, regardless of anger and pointed whiskers.

Sure enough, the wren was a prisoner but the first reference to it, brought a torrent of abuse from the cranky old fellow, with orders to get out and stay out.

Now, honorary game wardens may be abused and may be ordered out, but they do not carry warrants and badges for nothing, and a little quiet persuasian made the ill-tempered old man change his mind. So, poor excited Mr. Wren was let out.

Of course, the little wrens grew up alright, much to the joy of all, even including the old man, for he became so curious about the birds and spent so much time in the other yard with the wrens and the children, that he forgot to trim his whiskers.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

And through the roar of thunder and the hissing of the rain, she hears those words re-echoing, "Leslie, dearest—dearest!"

CHAPTER X.

Yorke in Love

The great changes of our lives come suddenly. Swift as the lightning's flash is the revelation to Yorke that he loves the girl who sits beside him.

Half-unconsciously he had uttered the words which are still ringing in her ears, but he knows that his heart has been saying "dearest" all day long.

He knows now what that strange, peaceful happiness meant which made him feel as if he would be content to pass the rest of his life by her side in the hermit's cell.

And he knows that this is no transcient passion which will have its day, and pass, leaving not a wreck behind, as so many passions alas! have passed with him. To every one of the sons of men, it is said, comes once in his life, the great all-absorbing love which wipes out all others and which shall make of all his days an endless misery or a surpassing happiness; and this love has come to Yorke.

In an instant, as it were, it seems to have wrought a change in him. Gay, reckless, thoughtless, an hour ago, he is serious enough now.

His heart is beating quickly, furiously; his strong hands tremble as he holds the terrified horses, and urges them on with whip and voice; and yet, though apparently engrossed with them, thinking more of the silent girl beside him.

She is so silent! She scarcely seems to move, but sits with the rug concealing her face, her head bent down.

"What have I said?" he asks himself; in truth he scarcely knows. It is as if his heart had suddenly become the master of his voice and actions, and had made a helpless slave of him.

If she would only speak! He longs past all description to hear her voice, even thought it should be in anger and in dignation; but she does not speak. He lifts his face to the sweeping rain and almost welcomes it. The storm is in harmony with the tempest of awakened passion which rages in his breast. He does not dare to speak to her, scarcely ventures to look her way, and he sits as silent as herself, while the horses dash along the streaming road and up the Portmaris street.

"We might have come by boat, there is water enough," says the duke dryly. "Miss Lisle I am afraid you are wet through. Pray get in at once or you will catch cold."

She stands up on the box and Yorke goes to unfasten the wrap but she is too quick for him, and, taking out the hair pin, lets the rug fall, and stands before his eyes, her slim, graceful figure swayed a little away from him as if she did not want him to touch her.

He gets down, and offers her his hand, but she springs from the box lightly, stands a moment, then with a low-low-voiced 'Good-night — and thank you," follows her father into the house.

The duke looks after her.

"The poor child is wet through and chilled," he says, sympathetically. "It's a pity you didn't think of a mackintosh, Yorke. What are you going to do with the rig and horses?"

Yorke looks down at him as if he scarcely heard or understood, for a moment; then he says, absently, like a man only half recovered from a stunning blow:

"The horses—oh, I'll find a place for them."

"You might take them to the station, your grace; they could put them up there in the good stable," suggests Grey.

"Yes, yes; and look sharp," says the duke. "We'll have some dinner by the time you are back. Will you have a glass of wiskey and water before you go?"

But Yorke shakes his head almost impatiently.

"I'm all right," he says, curtly, and he drives off.

He sees the horses made comfortable in the stable at the station, and helps to rub them down and litter them; then he turns back.

But at the top of the street he pauses. He cannot face the duke just yet. There is that in his face, in his voice, he knows, which will reveal his secret.

He turns off to the right, and makes his way along a little used road toward the sea.

He is wet through, but he does not notice it; he scarcely knows where he is going until he stands on the edge of the sea.

"I love her!" he murmurs. "Yes, I love her. There is no woman in all the world like her! So good, so gentle, so beautiful."

He thinks of all the girls he has seen, talked with, danced with, and flirted with; but there is none like Leslie.

"I am a lost man if I do not get her!" He groans, and pushes his hat off his brow, that is hot and burning. "She cares nothing for me; why should she? If I was to ask her to be my wife—my wife! How can I?" And he shudders as if some black thought had swept down upon him, and crushed the hope out of him. "How can I? Oh, what a mad, senseless fool I have been! How we chuck our lives away to find out, when it is too late, what it is we've lost. If I had met her a year ago——" He breaks off, and sighs, as he tramps up and down in the rain. "If I could only wipe out that year! But I can't, I can't, though I'd give ten years of the life thats left in me to be able to do it! What would she think—say—if she knew, if I told her? With all her sweet childlike ways and all her innocence and purity, she is a woman, and the very goodness for which I love her would fight against me! She looked and spoke like an angel when she was telling me that story about the hermit. An angel! I'm a nice kind of man to fall in love with an angel, and want to marry her! I might as well fall in love with one of those stars." And he looks up despairingly at the diamond lights that are peering through the rift in the clouds.

"Besides," he mutters, "even if—if that other woman weren't in the question", and he sets his teeth; "how could I ask her to marry me? Even if she'd have me—and why should I dare to think that I could win her love? I'm a pauper and worse. And she thinks me a duke! That's another thing! I forgot that idiotic business! Oh I've tied myself up in every way, and haven't a chance! And yet I love her—I love her! Leslie!" he repeats the name, as Romeo might have repeated Juliet's, finding a torturing joy in its music. "No, there's no hope! Yorke, my boy, you are badly hit. You've laughed at this kind of thing often enough, but your turn has come. And as there is no hope for you, you have got to bear it. The best thing you can do is to clear out in the morning, and blot Portmaris out of the map of England. I mustn't see her again—never again!"

All his nature protests against this resolve, and his heart aches badly, very badly; but he squares his shoulders and sets his teeth hard.

"Yes, that's the only thing to do; to cut and run. There's one comfort, she won't mind. She won't miss me. God knows what I said when I felt her face against my breast; but whatever it was I've offended her past forgiveness. She wouldn't see me again, I dare say, if I stayed, and so——" He heaves a sigh which is very much like a groan and turns homeward.

He finds Grey alone in the room when he enters; the dinner things are still on the table and Grey looks at him with a rather grave and startled expression.

"I've saved some dinner, your grace," he says.

" 'Your grace' be da—hanged!" says Yorke, almost fiercely.

"Yes, my lord," murmurs Grey. "The duke waited for over an hour, and he has gone to bed; I was afraid of a chill slice of bread and butter or treacle in very wet, still——"

"All right," says Yorke, as politely as he can. "Never mind. Go and see after the duke and dinner—oh, yes. Thanks you need not wait."

He tries to eat, but for once his faithful appetite fails him and he pushes his plate away and gets his pipe, that great consoler in all times of trouble; and this is the worst trouble Yorke Auchester has ever had.

It is well on into the small hours when weary, but oppressed by a ghastly wakefulness, he goes to bed, and there he lies, open-eyed and thoughtful, until the sun floods the room.

"Only one night of it!" he says. "And a great many similar ones lie before me before I get over this! I wonder whether she has been thinking of me? Why should she? And if she should have been they wouldn't be pleasant thoughts."

He pulls the blinds aside and looks at the house opposite, wondering which is her window; and as he does so the lover's heart-hunger for a sight of his loved one assails him.

POEMS Old And NEW

ALONE

It is a bitter thing to be alone—
To be alone forever, day and night,
With eyes that have not slept to watch the light
Of dawn steal in; to hear the lonely moan
Of waves you love, and dread their monotone;
To feel that loved ones are so near you might Reach out and touch them—yet to shrink in fright
And cry "Oh, God! I am alone—alone!"

How many watchers through the weary night
Feel dragging moments throb themselves away!
How many sleepless eyes watch for the light
That ushers in another awful day!
How many hearts and trembling, pale lips moan
"Oh, God! it is so hard to live alone!"

BRAVE LOVE

He'd nothing but his violin,
I'd nothing but my song,
But we were wed when skies were blue
And summer days were long.
And when we rested by the hedge,
The robins came and told
How they had dared to woo and win
When early spring was cold.

We sometimes supped on dewberries,
Or slept among the hay,
But oft the farmers' wives at eve
Came out to hear us play
The rare old tunes—the dear old tunes
We could not starve for long
While my man had his violin
And I my sweet love song.

The world has aye gone well with us,
Old man, since we were one—
Our homeless wandering down the lanes
It long ago was done.
But those who wait for gold or gear,
For houses and for kine,
Till youth's sweet spring grows brown and sere,
And love and beauty pine,
Will never know the joy of hearts
That met without a fear,
When you had but your violin,
And I a song, my dear.

James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier Poet, was asked to name his favorite poem, and responded by giving this bit of fugitive verse written many years ago, the author of which is unknown.

WINDOWS

Some peoples' windows look on tumbling seas,
On meadowland and misty violet hills;
Some open to the kiss of jessamine,
To fluting birds and little tumbling rills.

Unlovely roofs—and yet beneath them
Unlovely roofs—and et beneath them dwell
Things beautiful as any Nature forms
To bring us mortals 'neath her magic spell.

A bowl of tulips, golden as the dawn,
A little child, flushed rosily, in bed,
A cushion, silver-tasselled, satin-soft,
Fit resting place for beauty's shingled head.

A lacquered screen, bedragoned red and gold,
A Persian rug tints marvellously blent
These gratify my jaded city eyes
And help to make me perfectly content

LUNCHEON PEPPER POT

Luncheon Pepper Pot makes an excellent main dish for the occasional cool day in early summer. Place in a kettle one quart of consomme, bouillon or any clear, strong soup. Add one pint of water to allow for boiling away, and four tablespoonfuls each of shredded carrot, green pepper and celery. Cook until the vegetables are tender and season highly to taste with salt, paprika, and a dash of cayenne pepper. Divide into four portions at serving time and put into individual casseroles or soup bowls. Have ready four rounds of toast on each of which has been melted and lightly browned in a hot oven a thin slice of cheese. SAFE AND EFFICIENT HOME TREATMENT

Thousands of Ailing People Have Been Made Well and Strong by

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

They Give New Vitality—and more.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do one thing—and do it well. They build up the blood, increasing the number of red corpuscles. As this is done the blood becomes a richer red and is able to carry more oxygen, the great supporter of human life. As the blood improves in quality the tissues of the body are better nourished and the functions of the body are better performed. This is the reason Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been so successful in the treatment of all diseases due to poor, thin blood, why the pills are so successful in building up strength after fevers and acute disease, and in all cases of anaemia and general weakness.

Mrs. S. J. Pitre, Queen St., St. John, N.B., says:—"Some years ago, following an attack of typhoid fever, I was left almost a physical wreck. I could not sleep, had no appetite and my nerves were so bad that my limbs shook as though I had palsy. As I was not improving under the use of the doctor's medicine I decided upon the advice of a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Almost from the first box I could feel an improvement. I continued taking the pills until I had used twelve boxes, when I was again enjoying perfect health. As a precaution I always take one or two boxes every spring to tone up the system, and can truly say they are a wonderful tonic."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co.

After taking 1000 ZUTOO TABLETS Says they are Harmless

Mrs. (Dr.) Shurtleff, of Coaticook, says "I must have taken 1000 Zutoo Tablets. After trying every remedy within reach, I discarded them all four years ago for ZUTOO, which I have taken ever since. I find the tablets a harmless and efficient remedy for all kinds of headache."

At Griffins

She scored an instantaneous hit in the "Follies." She laughed and danced her way to success in the New York revival of the famous "Floradora". Then she transferred her make-up box to the studios and won instant popularity in pictures.

Who? Jacqueline Logan, of course. This fascinating bit of humanity now has the greatest role of her career in "Playing With Souls", the new Thomas H. Ince Corp. production which First National will present at the Griffin Theatre next Mon., Tues., and Wed.

As Bricotte, the flaming little dancer of the Paris cafes, Miss Logan proves herself a genuine artist.

"I am delighted to get such parts at last," said Miss Logan. "I have been playing street waifs for so long that I welcome a chance to do some really important work.

"I want to dress up in laces and pearls and play 'real ladies.' I want to portray fiery little Bricottes as I do in 'Playing With Souls.' I want a chance to be seen in varied roles and to portray real life. That's why I'm in love with Bricotte parts and why I took a keen delight in 'Playing With Souls.' "

Miss Logan is a titian-haired girl with finely cut features and a genuine ability to act.

Her first big part was in Rudyard Kipling's "The Light That Failed." At once she was given leading roles in "Manhattan," "The House of Youth," "Dynamite Smith" and other worthwhile pictures. She will also be remembered for her work in "Salomy Jane," "Burning Sands," "Java Head" and "North of 36."

SULPHUR SAFE TO HEAL SKIN

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

At The Belle

"A man may be down, but he's never out!"

That's true in real life. No matter how low a man has sunk, if he has courage, ambition and a genuine desire to succeed, he can fight his way back to the top. The "bad man" can become a hero, the criminal can reform, and folks very often are ready and willing to lend a helping hand.

But in the movies—in reel life, once a villain, always a villain. High resolves, noble endeavors, a sincere desire to "reform" are valueless in the face of public opinion which insists that its screen villains remain "bad".

All of which, dear reader, is designed to arouse your sympathy and cause you to shed a few tears for Sheldon Lewis, one of screendom's finest actors and a villain par excellence. Mr. Lewis won international fame as a cinema bad man and then spent several years trying to make the public forget him in that type of character.

Movie fans of a decade ago will recall Lewis as the arch villain of the serials, "The Iron Claw" and "The Clutching Hand". With these serials at the height of their popularity, he found the public wouldn't let him play any other type of part. He returned to the speaking stage, hoping that the movie fans would forget. Vain hope! The public did not forget and the ideas of picture producers regarding his forte remained unchanged.

So it isn't surprising to find Lewis portraying a villainous role in Paramount's latest melodramatic thriller, "The Top of the World," a picturization, under the direction of George Melford, of Ethel M. Dell's absorbing story of the same name. Others prominent in the cast are Anna Q. Nilsson, James Kirkwood and Raymond Hatton. This picture will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Belle theater.

ABLE TO DO HOUSEWORK NOW

Sick a Year. Got Great Benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bloomington, N. S.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains and backache, also for nervousness, sick headaches and sleeplessness. I was troubled in this way for over a year, and a friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and induced me to take it. I must say I have received great benefit from it and am able to do my housework now. I recommend the Vegetable Compound myself and am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. WILLIAM MORSE, Bloomington, Annapolis County, N. S.

Do you know that in a recent canvass among women users of the Vegetable Compound over 220,000 replies were received. To the question, "Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?" 98 per cent. replied "Yes."

This means that 98 out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial.

Mrs. Morse is simply another case of a woman receiving "great benefit." Woman suffering from the troubles so common to their sex should listen to what other women say who have experienced the same sufferings and found relief. Give this dependable medicine a chance—and at once. It is sold at all drug stores.

New York Has Dole all its Own

Busy Workers Set aside One Per Cent. For Unemployed

New York, June 27.—New York now has a modified form of unemployment dole in the highly seasoned cloak and suit industry.

Hundreds of workers, idle a requisite nine weeks this season, recently began receiving weekly benefits of $10. The payments came from an unemployment insurance fund of more than $1,200,000, originally conceived by a special commission appointed by Governor Smith, and now jointly borne by employers and employees themselves.

Workers pay in to the fund one per cent of their wages each week they are employed. Manufacturers contribute two-thirds of the weekly payroll. If the manufacturers tack on the amount of their preponderant assessment to the selling price of cloaks and suits, it has been said, the workers will be receiving part-pay vacations during otherwise "off" seasons, two-thirds of which will be paid by the well dressed woman.

The gubernatorial commission, however, saw substantial benefits accruing from this unemployment insurance. If it alleviates labor distress and unrest it may conceivably curtail costly interruptions and stoppages in the industry, a saving which would more than "pay the freight," it was said.

Union demands at the bottom of past strikes, it was pointed out had always calculated the extent of idle time as well as working time in reaching the figure which the union leaders fought for as a living wage.

Under the present system, unemployment benefits end after 12 weeks, and may not exceed $120.

Ontario to Press Big Power Scheme

This Despite the Setback Given by Ottawa Government

Toronto, Ont., June 27.—Ontario will press for the early development of St. Lawrence River power, despite the setback given it by the Ottawa Government.

According to a statement issued by the acting Premier, Geo. S. Henry, the edict of the King Government to secure a joint report from Canadian and American Governments will not sway the determination of Ontario.

Action Essential

"In view of the statement made by the Minister of Railways in Parliament yesterday," Mr. Henry said, "I think it is necessary to reaffirm the position already taken by the Province of Ontario touching the matter of the development of St. Lawrence River powers. We are today more than ever convinced that the early development of these powers is essential to the progress and prosperity of Ontario, and what affects us concerns the welfare of the whole Dominion. At the present time we are within measurable distance of the full utilization of our power resources, and the St. Lawrence River has the only great powers not yet harnessed. In my judgment any Government that agrees to an indefinite delay of this work will assume a very grave responsibility, and will become a party to a serious menace to Ontario.

Sees Desirability

"While we realize that international agreement is desirable for the joint development of the St. Lawrence," Hon. Mr. Henry continued, "we feel that a matter of comparative urgency should not be dealt with by the slow methods which ordinarily prevail in international arrangements. Usually where reasonably prompt action is required in such matters, it can be obtained.

"From the standpoint of the Province of Ontario it would be more satisfactory if the Minister, instead of having justified delay, had given an assurance that he would co-operate with the province and the Hydro Commission with a view to securing early action. That is the course which, most people will agree, statesmanship should suggest, and which would accord best with the interests of all concerned. Meanwhile Ontario will not cease to press with every means in its power for the development of the St. Lawrence at the earliest possible moment."

CHINESE CONTROL MANILA STORES

Manila, June 27.—The Chinese control 58 per cent. of the retail stores in Manila, the Filipinos 36 per cent. and the Japanese 6 per cent., figures compiled by the Bureau of Commerce and Industry show.

Hamilton is nearly $7,000 richer through the efforts of William Tyler civic dog catcher, who was appointed on April 1. Mr. Tyler, since his appointment secured the licensing of 2,100 male dogs and 670 female dogs. In addition to this more than $600 in police court fines has been collected.

Baby's Own Tablets Always in the Home

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she always keeps a supply on hand, for the first trial convinces her there is nothing to equal them in keeping children well. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers, and making teething easier. Concerning them, Mrs. Saluste Pelletier, St. Dumas, Que., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past ten years and am never without them in the house. They have always given the greatest satisfaction and I can gladly recommend them to all mothers of little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DEAN INGE URGES SCANT BATHING SUITS

London, June 27. — By way of a change from religious and philosophical topics, Dean Inge has entered the realms of hygiene. Presiding at a dinner of the Sunlight League, which aims at the abolition of smoke and slums, he said in his opinion sea bathing could be employed to the betterment of health.

"The present practice," he continued, "of mixed bathing, with the body completely clothed may be an agreeable social function, but hygienically it is practically useless. I deprecate the absurd restrictions of some of the town councils of our seaports in this connection. I suggest that at certain hours of the day on certain parts of the beach men be encouraged to run about with the minimum amount of clothing, an exceedingly healthy recreation.

"As for women, another portion of the beach, properly safeguarded from intrusion, might be reserved and enclosed for their similar recreation.

Captain Ed. Baker, Secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and totally blind himself as the result of wounds received in the war gave a cheery and optimistic adress at the noon Rotary luncheon to-day. According to Capt. Baker the blinded soldiers are not asking for pity, they are pretty well able to take care of themselves, but they do appreciate encouragement.

The Can. Nat. Institute for the Blind is not only for soldiers but takes in civilian blind and has branches in Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Last year the Institute sold $382,000 worth of the products turned out by blind workers and their business shows a steady growth.

Capt. Baker is a healthy, cheerful young man, an old Argonaut oarsman and interested in every day affairs. He was able to tell of and laugh at funny happenings to himself and other blind veterans. He received enthusiastic applause at the end of his talk.

New Wading Pools

Rotarian Al. Stillman, speaking for the Boys Work Committee, said that they wanted to instal Wading Pools in the city playgrounds, starting with the West End Grounds. To raise the necessary funds, a garden party and band concert will probably be staged in the near future.

A proposal which met with favor from the younger slimmer Rotarians was that the Club should gather at 7 o'clock next Wednesday morning and cut the grass on the Bridge Street play grounds. If enough of them show up to do the job the boys should be able to start ball playing in the afternoon.

Churches Unite During Summer

Tabernacle and Bridge Street Congregations To Worship Together

The congregations of Bridge St. and Tabernacle Churches have decided to worship together again during the months of July and August. For two years this arrangement has been carried out to the satisfaction of both churches. Each minister gets a vacation while the other is in charge. The choir and organists also enter into a similar agreement.

This year Rev. Dr. Malott will be the minister in charge during July an duntil after the first Sunday in August. Rev. H. B. Kenny will then have charge of the two churches until the end of the vacation period.

During July the morning service will be held in Tabernacle Church and the evening service in Bridge. During August this arrangement will be reversed. Professor Hunt and the Bridge St. Choir will lead the service of praise during July, and Mrs. Duff and the Tabernacle Choir will be in charge during August. The hour of meeting for Bridge St. Sunday School has been changed to 10 a.m. for the summer months.

WOMEN ARE BARRED BY LACK OF FUNDS

Oxford, Eng., June 29.—The want in England of that abundant philanthropy in aid of education which is one of the highest distinctions of American men and women of wealth is leading to the slow starvation of the women's colleges of Oxford.

Twenty thousand dollars a year for a ten year period has recently been alloted them out of the government grants, but, as the master of University College pointed out in moving this appropriation, so small a sum can only aid them a little for the present, without assisting in necessary further expansion. Many efforts have been made to raise money for the women's colleges, but they have succeeded only in a very small way which does not approach the minimum needed for normal expansion.

Nearly all these colleges have long waiting lists of young women who are debarred from university education by the fact that there is no room for them in the present colleges.

Zinovieff is quoted as follows in the Moscow Investia: "Foreign imperialists think the present events in China are an unprecedented storm, but we inform them it is merely a slight breeze to the real storm that is coming. I promise our generation will witness a real storm and the day is not far distant when we shall hear of hundreds of millions of Chinese, Indians and Egyptians joining hands to overthrow British oppression."

Go Out of Way To Welcome Tom

Belleville Courier Being Well Received in the United States

The Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce of Ypsilanti, Michigan, has written to Mayor Mikel asking for particulars concerning the time of arrival of Tom Mason, the Belleville Courier. That body has expressed the intention of giving Tom a royal welcome while he is in their city and to expodite matters they have asked the Mayor if there is any particular form or ceremony to be followed, or if there is any special favor that they can perform.

Mayor Mikel pointed out that the Michigan city has received no official intimation from him that Tom was to pass through their city, and that for them to volunteer to cooperate in making his trip a success indicates splendid interest and sentiment.

Additional evidence that Mason is creating a good impression in the States is offered in the publicity the Detroit Free Press accorded his arrival in that city.

In the Free Press for June 26th, appeared a photo of Tom and Mayor John W. Smith together. Under the caption, "Walks 500 Miles, Gains 10 Pounds", was the following:

TOM MASON MEETS THE MAYOR

"Mayor John W. Smith greeted Thursday afternoon Tom Mason of Belleville Ont., who has walked 500 miles to Detroit, in an effort to interest former residents of his home town in a home-coming reunion being held in August 1 to 5. He reached Detroit city hall at 3 p. m. He has been on the hike for three weeks, passing through Buffalo, Toronto Hamilton, Brantford, London, Chatham and Windsor. He is continuing on to Chicago.

Tom told the mayor that if he was ever threptened with stoutness, that hiking would prove of no assistance. Since leaving Belleville. Tom has been constantly on the hike and tips the scales now at 10 pounds more than when he started. He expects to reach Chicago in the next week.

Mason was greeted at the city hall by a large group of former residents of the Ontario city, now living in Detroit."

Mason was entertained at the home of Lucius E. Allen while in Detroit, according to a letter the Mayor has received from Mr. Allen.

Arrested After Crash

Charles Latchford was arrested by Chief Constable A. Kidd and Detective Sergeant J. Truaisch Sunday afternoon, following a crash at the corner of Bridge and George streets, when a service car from Belleville Motors, driven by Latchford and a sedan owned by Alderman George E. Foster, 134 Albert street, came together. Latchford was arrested on a reckless driving charge and admitted to bail, the case having been enlarged until Friday next by Magistrate Masson when it was called in police court this morning.

The service car was proceeding east on Bridge street while the sedan was being driven south on George street. They crashed at the intersection. The right side of the sedan was stove in, the door sustaining the worst injuries. The glass at the rear on the same side was shattered, and a piece of it cut the foot of a woman passenger in the rear seat, but not seriously. The left front wheel was torn off the service car.

Latchford was cut on the back of the head by flying glass and was attended by Dr. Faulkner.

The accident occurred at 2.50 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

MINERS GIVING HINT OF STRIKE IN EARLY FALL

Busy Formulating Demands To Be Served on Operators

PLANS ARE OUTLINED

Every Union Miner Would Be Called Out as in 1916

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Scranton, P., June 29.—Whether there will be a suspension of operations in the hard coal field September 1 on the expiration of the present wage contract depends upon the terms for its renewal which representatives of 155,000 anthracite workers formulate at tri-district convention opening day. The discussion of demands will take the greater part of the week it is expected. Once ratified they will be presented to the anthracite mine owners at Atlantic City probably next week. They are expected to stress wage increase, adoption of check-off term contract and other features.

Calls it Mask

Every union miner will be called out as they were in 1916 before the United Mine Workers of America will permit the abrogation of the wage scale adopted at Jacksonville, Fla., last year, Phillip Murray, Pittsburg International vice-president declared in an address here yesterday. Murray characterized the operator's plea for restoration of 1917 agreement as "reprehensible, deceitful and a mask for the destruction of miners' organizations."

Veteran's League Opens at Ottawa

Earl Haig Given Rousing Welcome; Points the Way

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, June 29.—The biennial Parliament of British ex-service men began in Ottawa this morning.

With the mace of the Canadian House of Commons on the table and Speaker of the House in the Chair, returned soldiers from every part of the British Empire to British United Service League began their conference. Field Marshal Haig, Grand President of the League, prefaced his stirling address with the reading of messages of sympathy and encouragement from the King and the Prince of Wales. Premier Mackenzie King welcomed delegates on behalf of Canada. Mr. Speaker Lemieux extended wecome from Canadian Parliament in absence of Governor-General in west. Prime Minister gave conference Baron Byng's greeting and good will.

In opening the proceedings, Speaker Lemieux paid a glowing tribute to Earl Haig who has been foremost leader in war and who "continues to devote still abounding energy to work of re-establishing on firmer foundations that peace which our soldiers have won and which all lovers of humanity wish to maintain."

Earl Haig said that satisfactory progress had been made by the league in the last two years, but that there was room for further developments. He was glad to say that the veterans were moving towards unity, but he felt that success would only attend their efforts through working in the spirit of true comradeship. There was no limit to the influence which ex-service men's organizations, including the American Legion, might exert for the advantage of English speaking communities and good of whole world.

Farewell Sermons Given at Holloway

Rev. Dr. A. Brown Concludes Three-Year Term Yesterday

Three years as minister of Holloway Street Methodist church now a united church, was yesterday brought to a close by Rev. Dr. A. Brown who this week leaves to become Pastor of the United Church at Cobourg. Large congregations were present yesterday to hear Rev. Dr. Brown preach his farewell sermons. In the evening his discourse was most appropriate to the occasion as he impressed upon the congregation the necessity of being loyal to their pastor whether he be a Paul or Apollos or Cephas. The text was taken from 1st Corinthians, 3rd Chapter, 22nd verse.:

Whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas or the world or life or death or things present or things to come all are yours.

The unity of the church in every age and under all forms and administration has been the successful church. A divided church that is split up in faction is a weak and perishing institution. A church is a family and no family can be happy without unity and harmony; the church is a building and all parts must harmonise to make a perfect building, the church is an army and there must be unity from the commanding officer to the newest recruit. All forces must be as one. The power of the Rothchilds in the financial world is caused by unity. Let the church be united so as to be a might for good. The question of unity finds a beautiful setting in the time of the Apostles. Differences and factories will cause a church to disengrate. The chirstian ministry is a divine institution and also in a sense a human institution. Let the church guard well the doors so that no one enters the ministry that is not qualified for this glorious work. The ministry is an unending success. The fathers are gone but sons and others are carrying on their work, some even with a brighter and better lustre. Often the brightest and most successful ministers are those from humble homes. There are vessels of gold, silver, iron and wood, so with the ministry all are sanctified for the Masters work. It needs a Paul to plant and an Apollos to water. No man can have all the same degree of perfection. It is a divine call to preach the gospel. A minister should be loyally supported in honor and dignity on account of the position he occupies. He has a joint claim to be liberally treated. Let all be blended into one for the glory of God, and the good of the church. There should be no dissensions. There are scores of men in the ministry that are capable of filling any pulpit. Do not lose interest in the church or minister, stand by them, these good men with rich experiences. Lead us to the sacred spot where they kept the night vigil, these grand old veterans of the ministry. They fought their fight and their victory. We must help bear one another's burdens, be united for the work of God; work altogether for the glory of God.

During the service Miss V. Wrightmyer rendered a solo in a most acceptable manner.

KEYS PRESENTED

Of Gold, Silver and Nickle, Made at Toronto

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, June 29.—King George, accompanied by Queen Mary, to-day formally opened the Canadian House, new Canadian headquarters in London. Their majesties drove from Buckingham palace by way of the Mall and Admiralty Arch to the main entrance of Canada's building, Cockspur Street, and were received at the foot of the steps by Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner, who handed the keys of the building to the King. When the doors were opened his majesty returned the key to Mr. Larkin.

Queen Mary was presented with a bouquet by Miss Aileen Larkin, daughter of the Canadian High Commissioner.

The high Commissioner read an address to the King and after his Majesty replied, "O Canada" was played by the Grenadier Guards band. Following a tour of the building, their Majesties signed a book in high commissioners room and were presented with gold, silver and nickle keys which had been made in Toronto especially for the occasion and cabled greeting from Canadian children. London papers give prominence to the ceremony and Daily Chronicle in a leading editorial states that the Canadian building henceforth will be one of landmarks of London.

Let there be harmony in things essential—liberty in things not essential—Charity in all.

WHAT'S IN A CIRCUS

Anything that tends to make or keep people young is to be valued and cherished.

Here in Belleville we never have an opportunity of viewing a pantomime, which ranks high—perhaps first—as a rejuvenating agency; but we do have a chance of seeing a good circus or two in the Summer.

But, coming to think of it, why should circuses be rated and classed as entertainment for the children. Physical prowess of men and other animals should appeal to all ages, even those which have lost such agility as the once possessed. Then think of the humors and oddities of clowns and the splendor of the whole spectacle, not to mention the tonic effect on elders of the whole-souled enthusiasm of the children! Surely nerves that do not respond to such lively stimuli must be dead indeed?

NEEDED AMENDMENT

The Ontario Humane society is to be warmly congratulated upon the success of its efforts, extended over a long series of years, to secure the amendment of the criminal code, so as to bring within the scope of the law the person who, by neglect or "passive cruelty," inflicts unnecessary suffering upon animals. As the law stands at present active cruelty has to be proved before a conviction can be secured. By active cruelty is meant suffering caused animals by reason of such "overt" acts as wounding, overloading, deliberately starving, beating, overdriving, etc. Neglect to do what is essential for the animal's is not punishable, although it is just as plaintly an act of cruelty as the wanton infliction of injury. The abandonment of a suffering animal, without taking due measures for its comfort and, if necessary, for its merciful dispatch, is made a penal offense under the amendment. "Neglect" is an elastic term covering many instances of cruelty which at present escape punishment.

The provincial society deserves much credit for the perseverance with which it has pursued the attainment of its laudable object. The local stociety has taken an honorable part in the negotiations which have led up to the final recognition of these legal deficiencies and to the application of an effective remedy.

A DISAPPEARING LAKE

The Border Cities Star directs attention to evidence at its doors of the blighting effect of the Chicago water diversion. It says that if any one doubts seriousness of the situation let him walk along the shores of Lake St. Clair.

"For miles and miles the lake has receded at a rate that is nothing short of appalling. Where a considerable quantity of water lay only a year ago, motor cars are being parked now. Cottagers who built concrete breakwaters now find these structures high and dry on their property. And the drain is proceeding. If it goes on for a few years at this rate, Lake St. Clair shows every sign of being reduced to a small creek or something of that sort. And all because one American metropolis has seen fit to use other people's rights instead of grappling with its sewage problem as other cities handle theirs. Chicago's selfish attitude will cost the people of Canada and the United States many million of dollars before the trouble is corrected if it can be fully corrected.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

So many people have been asking about the Blackbirds this year, that it is about time we took a day off and had a real good look at this questionabe character, for the blackbirds are so thick in some Canadian towns, this summer, that they are becoming troublesome.

The blackbird is called "Crow Blackbird", "Bronzed Blackbird" "Bronzed Grackle", "Purple Grackle", and "Squeaky Hinges", the last name being used mostly by folks who hear them day and night and do not know their other names. They have the greatest series of raspy notes I know of.

When I was a ad, I saw grackles eating robin eggs. The grackles seldom nested on houses in those days, but this summer I saw many nests taking places usually occupied by robins. This is a bad thing in every case except where grackles are scarce, for they will drive away our nicer birds.

One little girl informed me just recently, that there have been wrens and robins on her place every year for four years, and they seem to be the same birds each year, appeared to look upon the folks in the house as friends, and everybody was happy until this year, when a pair of blackbirds made a nest over the rain pipe.

These black robbers broke andate the robin eggs and the robins made life so miserable for the wrens that there was a fight very day and both wrens and robins went elsewhere to nest. They seemed to know, though, that the blackbirds were the villains in th show, for they were chased by the robins and wrens alike.

When another bird interferes with a wren, there is sure to be trouble and in this case, the wrens went and punctured the blackbird eggs.

Blackbirds are valuable birds when nesting out of town, or in very limited numbers, but if we want robins, wrens, buebirds and other little feathered folk n our gardens, we must send the grackles elsewhere to nest.

Press Opinions

THE OPEN AIR SCHOOL.

(Sarnia Canadian Observer)

In parts of England they have made much progress in popularizing the open air school.

A few experiments have been made in this country, sufficient to indicate that the idea could be popular, if it did not mean the scrapping of a lot of antiquated school buildings that have cost the ratepayers money and could therefore be relinquished only at the cost of much controversy and bitter feeling. Perhaps the winter climate in Canada is against the innovation. About the best we can do is to construct buildings that in the milder seasons can be opened up to permit of a maximum of fresh air and sunshine.

For twenty years in the Old Country, experiments with open air schools have been made and there are a large number of them now doing work regarded as quite orthodox. In these schools the children show unmistakable signs that fresh air and sunshine is a wonderful vitalizer. None of these children would now feel comfortable in one of the old style schools where education is acquired at the expense of health and vigor.

It is rather unfortunate that so much of a child's life must be spent in schoolrooms where the air is bad, where there is all sorts of likelihood that contagious and infectious disease will be handed around. In places where the climate will permit of it the open-air school ought to be given a chance. In those places where it is beyond the experimental stage it is paying remarkable dividends in health and energy.

GERMAN WAR LOSSES.

(Trans-Atlantic Trade)

Concerning human losses in the World War, the Wirtschaft and Statistik, which is always reliable in its statements, gives some interesting facts. Total loss in dead suffered by all the warring nations is now estimated to be approximately ten million. To this loss must be added about twenty million wounded. An investigation concluded at the end of 1924 showed that between seven and eight million in all countries were qualified to draw pensions. Germany's total loss in the World War is now estimated to be 2,055,000 (dead, missing and those who subsequently died of wounds). Included in this figure are 14,000 colonials. Germany's wounded, exclusive of colonial troops, is estimated at 4,248,000. On October 5, 1924, Germany was paying pensions to 721,660, including 408,990 slightly wounded and 312,670 seriously wounded. Among the wounded are included 1,322 female nurses.

IRAK AND MOSUL OIL.

(Times of India)

The Irak Government has at last done the sensible thing in signing a convention with the Turkish Petroleum Company for the exploitation of the oil which is present, though its extent is not yet known, in the Mosul area. Irak has started on its career a bankrupt country. It cannot balance its budget or pay its share of the Ottonman debt; still less can it finance the irrigation works and schemes for wheat and cotton-growing whereby the country might in a few generations become another Egypt. The only asset through which it can raise money to develop its resources is the Mosul oil, and, but for bickerings in the Cabinet and the hesitation of some Nationalists to sign an agreement of which they could not altogether foresee the effects, the convention would have been signed much sooner.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES IN R. R. TRAINS.

Berlin—Safe deposit boxes on through trains have been proposed for the Government Railroads in Germany and details of the plan are now under consideration.

The suggested proposal is to install a series of fire and burglar proof safe deposit boxes, large enough to hold a brief case, for rental to passengers on trips. Two different keys and a combination lock will insure the traveler against theft by mistake or interchange while the whole will be in charge of a trusted bank employee. All articles thus deposited will further be covered by insurance so as to afford the traveler the guarantee of absolute safety.

It may be interesting to note that the German Government R. Rs. are figuring that, after deducting all charges and expenses for installation by a rental of Mk. 3— per box per trip a net profit of between three and four million marks may be achieved within the German frontiers alone.

So many new precautions are taken daily to insure the safety and comfort of the passenger on R. R. travel, while so little has been done to safeguard the personal property which he is obliged to carry about with him, as jewelry, money stock and bond certificates, valuable documents, etc., that the proposal should be of particular interest to our traveling public in view of the much longer duration of our transcontinental trips.

ELIMINATED BY DOG

Prestwick, Scotland, June 27.—Stray dogs were busy along the golf course yesterday and E. R. Whitcombe was bitten in the hand by one of them. Despite this handicap, he finished the third round with his hand bandaged, but retired from the fourth.

Horses think? Of course they do. At least this is the belief of Jorgen M. Christiansen, master trainer with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

"Got a horse in the habit of thinking along a certain line and he will follow that single, track thought," says Christiansen. He's just like your milkman's horse—after going over the route a few times he knows just where and when to start and stop.

"When the Ringlings commissioned me to train a hundred and fifty horses to perform in unison I immediately said that there was but one way to accomplish this feat. I would have to have a hippodrome track in winter quarters large enough to work the entire number at one time. I would have to have a separate barn where the hundred and fifty could be stabled together. These were given to me. For four months same hundred and fifty were kept together day and night and always in the same relative position. That is why they never lose their places no matter how intricate the formations that are expected of them.

"It was the biggest job I ever tackled. No more than sixty-eight horses were ever before taught to perform in unison. Some people are skeptical as to our five rings. We use the three dirt-floored circles and, that five troupes of performing horses may be presented at one time, place two additional massive wooden curbs on the raised stages. This calls seventy-six splendid thoroughbreds into play and these horses are entirely apart from the hundred and fifty. You are again skeptical, yes? Well, when I wrote my brother in Sweden about it, he replied, 'Sluta skojet' which as you in America would say, is 'quit your kidding'. But you shall see for yourselves when the big show comes to Belleville on Thursday next.

To-day's Smile

"Well," said the dying business man, "you better put in a clause about my employees. To each man who has worked for me twenty years I give and bequeath $50,000."

"But," said the lawyer, "you haven't been in business twenty years."

"I know it, man, but it's good advertising."

LUCKY FIND

Paris, June 27.—A necklace of 134 pearls valued by experts at 800,000 francs (about $36,600) was found in the street last night and promptly handed in to the police by the finder. There has been no report of its loss. French law provides that the finder in such cases becomes the legal owner if the object is unclaimed for a year and a day.

$7,500 ANNUITY PASSED

Ottawa, June 29.—The annuity of $7,500 guaranteed by the federal government to Dr. F. G. Banting, of Toronto, passed the house of commons in the early hours of Saturday morning, without debate.

MacMillan Force To Use Wireless

Radio Lay-out is to Include For Transmitters

Chicago, June 29.—As broad as the field for scientific discovery on the present MacMillan-Navy Arctic expedition is the field for radio experiments. Of outstanding importance to the radio world will be the results of new low wave transmitting and receiving.

The latest engineering design in low wave apparatus is represented in the radio equipment carried by the Peary, installed by John L. Reinartz, radio operator and chief engineer of the Zenith Radio Corporation. Its work has been proven in laboratory and was developed exclusively for Arctic use as the result of experiences gained on McMillan's last trip, when radio was first introduced in that region.

The radio lay-out includes four transmitters, three of which are set up on the boat. They are of 20, 40, 80 and 180 metres. The 180 metre transmitter was taken chiefly to prove that it will not operate in daylight, Reinartz said, although it works successfully by night. A single transmitter of four k.w. capable of sending on 20, 40, 80 and up to 600 metres, is one of the Peary's mouthpieces.

When this country is in darkness, the transmitting will be done on 40 metres. While in daylight, 20 metre wave length will be used. The 80 metre transmitter has been set up especially for experimental purposes. Eugene F. MacDonald, radio chief, felt certain that communication would be established in all zones of the expedition, as his Chicago station had been able to hear code from Glasgow, Scotland, and New Zealand in the daytime with this equipment.

Messages and news to and from families of members of the party will be sent every Wednesday night from the Zenith station. Reinartz pointed out that the public will be unable to hear the messages, however, because no standard equipment is able to pick up the low wave length upon which the message will be broadcast.

As the expedition proceeds up the coast, the sending time from the ships will be as follows:

12 to 3 A. M., E. S. T.
6 to 9 A. M., "
12 to 3 P. M., "
6 to 9 P. M., "

The schedule which gives the best response will then be used, probably 6 to 9 P. M.

AT THE GRIFFIN THEATRE

Gay and glittering Paris is brought to your very feet at the Griffin Theatre this week, where "Playing With Souls," the new First National picture produced by the Thomas H. Ince Corporation, is showing.

Dazzling scenes of Parisian splendor feature this colorful story of the boulevards. Palatial drawing room scenes, rich cafes, dingy Apache dens, romantic nooks along the river Seine—all are shown as the story is unfolded.

"Playing With Souls" is the story of an American family in Paris. A cast of exceptional players are seen. Jacqueline Logan has the role of an alluring dance hall girl. Mary Astor is a sweet French miss, and Belle Bennett is seen as the frivolous mother who is seeking eternal youth.

ENGINE FAILS TO STOP

Peterboro, June 29.—At 4.10 Friday afternoon a C.N.R. engine entered the shed at the south end of the station with such speed, that the end portion of the shed was smashed before the engine could be checked.

The partition was made almost entirely of wood, replacing a brick wall which was broken down some years ago by a similar mishap.

Several years back the same engine shed was damaged by fire.

CONFESES HE STOLE A LUNCH BASKET

Williamsport, Pa., June 29.—W. Stans Hill, postmaster of Williamsport, has received a letter from a man now living in California who wishes to make restitution for a basket of edibles which he stole from a picnic ground in Williamsport 38 years ago.

The Californian declared that he has joined the Salvation Army and that the memory of the wrong he did years ago was recalled to him by his changed life. He desires to square his debt with the owner of the basket, which he stole while passing through Williamsport in August, 1887.

Postmaster Hill has made some inquiries but has been unable to discover who lost the lunch basket.

KING GEORGE WEARS THE LATEST GLASSES

London, June 29.—Conservative English people are adopting American ideas and habits to a greater extent than the average Englishman cares openly to admit. The most recent case, of King George wearing big tortoiseshell glasses, has been followed by several English hostesses in fashionable London following the example of a prominent American who entertained 60 couples to dinner at small tables, while a cabaret entertainment of the most expensive and up-to-date nature went on.

Evening parties with music are now comparatively rare events, and although some of the more important of London's hostesses are trying to introduce them, the American idea of a cabaret dinner is likely to outstrip them, and people generally welcome the novelty.

HILLIER CROPS HARMED

The hail storm which visited this city and vicinity this week, did considerable damage to crops in Hillier township, Prince Edward County. On the farms of Frank Hyatt, M. B. Purks, Herman McKibbon and Norman McDonald apples and tomato plants faired badly. The fruit inspector estimates the loss in Frank Hyatt's orchard at 75 per cent. of the crop. In several orchards the loss will be just as great. Some tomato fields, will be plowed and sown with buckwheat. The ground as completely obscured by the quantity of hail that fell and in places where it washed off buildings it was still in evidence the following night. In Picton just a light shower of rain fell.

New York, June 29.—Branding the young man who was with her daughter when she was drowned in Prince's Bay, one year ago, as a "coward," a "sorrowing mother" inserted a memorial notice in a Staten Island newspaper. The notice read as follows:

"In sad memory of my beloved daughter, and our dear sister, Janet Frances Silles, who died June 25, 1924.

"My darling daughter. Had I been with you on that fatal day, you would not have died alone in the angry waters of Prince's Bay, and while you sleep in your cold and silent gave the coward who saw you die lives on."

"Your sorrowing mother."

Death came with startling suddenness to Edmund L. Baxter, 74 years of age of Tillsonburg yesterday morning while engaged in cutting a tree at his home. He fell backwards and expired before Dr. Bennett arrived on the scen and who pronounced the cause as heart failure.

A warning was issued by High Constable Peters of Kent that Sunday Sunday baseball at Paincourt must be discontinued. The warning was issued following a complaint lodged by D. B. Stevenson, field secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance.

CANTON BELLEVILLE HOLDS LAST SOCIAL

On Friday evening, June 26th, Canton Belleville No. 8, held a social evening before adjourning for the summer months. A large number of Chevaliers and officers attended the meeting, after which a few drill exercises were gone through. When they retired to the banquet room where they found the tables laden with good things to eat and very tastefully decorated with bunting and flowers by the ladies of the S. A. P. M. Degree Staff, who always excel themselves in all things they undertake. After the inner man was well satisfied Capt. Youker acted as chairman which he filled in very capable manner. The first item on the program was a toast to His Majesty the King which was heartily responded to by all present. After a few well chosen remarks the chairman called on Lieut. Col. G. G. Way who as usual always has something good as well as advisable to offer. In his remarks he spoke very highly of the interest the ladies of the L. A. P. M. took in the welfare of the Canton, always ready to offer their services at any time. After which some time was spent in a sing song, followed by a few remarks from Major A. E. Cole who is also a very enthusiastic canton.

When Capt. Juby was called on he spoke very favorably of the success of the evening which was very much appreciated. He was followed by Lieut R. L. Johnston who also shows ability in any office he holds. When the chairman called on Mrs. A. E. Cole, Capt. of Quinte Fortress No. 3 Degree Staff who on rising to her feet said she was proud of her staff and very grateful for the loyalty they had shown her in their recent competition. Chevalier Frank Smith, better known as Duke, favored the audience with a Chinese song which was very loudly applauded.

Chev. Wm. Edmonson must also be complimented on the manner in which he played for the several selections.

The banquet was pronounced one of the finest ever held in the I. O. O. F. Temple.

OSHAWA 12, BELLEVILLE 2; PETERBORO 2, KINGSTON 1; SEVERAL GOOD JUNIORS NEEDED

Juniors Needed To Feed C.O.B.L.

Belleville May Learn Lesson From Other Centres

Toronto amateur baseball this season furnishes at least half a dozen excellent reasons why junior baseball should be fostered everywhere if good baseball is to be kept on the map permanently. At least six graduates from junior and juvenile baseball teams in Toronto last season, are are playing gilt edge senior ball in the various leagues there this season. Two of this half dozen are pitchers with a future, which seems certain, and the others are going great guns at other positions.

Peterboro C.O.B.L. team boasts of a junior pitcher, Whitehouse, who pitched for the champion Lakeviews last season. Saturday last he let Kingston down with but three hits. With batters like Cherry, Batstone and others, this junior graduate allows but three safeties and wins his game. These are but typical examples of the results of well fostered junior baseball.

Belleville senior C.O.B.L. team should be open each year for new blood and Manager Gerow always gives each applicant a fair try-out. He seems to find difficulty in finding the kind of material he desires however, which causes one to wonder if the old sand lots and the kid teams of yester year are obsolete in in Belleville. Age and other agencies will constantly deplete the ranks of the senior team here and elsewhere. Seasoned juniors who have worked in the presence of crowds are the boys to work in the breaches, many of whom are as good as they ever will be at eighteen years of age. This fact seems beyond contradiction when nineteen year old boys are pitching professional baseball very successfully. The Belleville senior team will be open for new material next season and it is to be hoped that there will be junior graduates ready to assist in keeping Belleville on the baseball map.

CORBYVILLE RIFLE ASSOCIATION

The Range of Corbyville Rifle Association was opened by a very successful shoot on Saturday last, the ceremony being performed by Mr. W. J. Huine, Refinery Manager, of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company Limited. The Association was formed amongst employees and the new range has been constructed on that Company's property at Corbyville, permission having been generously granted for the purpose, providing still another form of recreation for the Company's employees. The range has been constructed under expert supervision and is thoroughly up-to-date in every respect—there are firing points at 100, 200 and 300 yards and everything possible has been done to make for ideal conditions. Judging from the remarks it would appear that in addition to the tyros there were on hand representatives of every branch of service on land and sea, not that these had it all their own way, for some of the newcomers made good cards and with practice will make fine shots. Now that Summer is making another effort to arrive and with ideal location and conditions, everything points to the Association having a very successful season.

Is Squinting A Habit

YES, AND MORE than a habit. It generally indicates some defect of vision. And in the majority of cases when the error or errors of vision are corrected the squint disappears. If you squint let me tel you if an error of vision is probably the cause. My advice is dependable.

Oshawa Leading C.O.B.L. Procession

Defeated Belleville 12-2 on Saturday; Big Hitting Affair

Oshawa, June 29.—Oshawa, with Jimmy Breckenridge turning in one of the best performances as a pitcher, seen on a local diamond this season, defeated Belleville here Saturday afternoon by a score of 12 to 2. Up to the seventh frame the ex-Leaside club artist let Belleville down with five hits and no runs, but in the seventh and eighth when he eased off the Quinte city team gathered five safeties, two coming in the seventh, which were fruitless and three in the eighth which were good for Belleville's only two runs of the game. Goyer, who started for the visitors, was yanked in the second and Keon finished the game. With this win from Belleville, while Peterboro were defeating Kingston in the lift-lock city, Oshawa steps out in front of the Central Ontario Amateur Baseball League, and their record for the month of June is six wins out of eight starts, two each from Kingston, Peterboro and Belleville The teams and score by innings in yesterday's game were as follows:—

Belleville—Ross, cf; Weir, 3b; Meagher, 2b; Mills, 1b; Blakely, ss; Hagerman, c and lf; Casey, rf; Palmer, lf; Goyer, p; Harris, c; Keon, p.

Oshawa—Rowden, 2b; R. Fair, cf; Tyson, 3b; Morrison, ss; Roddick, lf; Dineen, 1b; W. Fair, rf; Breckenridge, p; Cameron, c.

WHITEHOUSE WON AGAINST KINGSTON

Peterboro, Ont., June 29.—Peterboro climbed up even with Kingston in the Central Ontario League race by virtue of a 2-1 win over the Ponies here Saturday. Good pitching by Frankie Whitehouse was responsible for the Petes' victory. He held the Kingston team to four hits and one run, and passed only one man. In seven of the nine innings he pitched to only three batters. Cairns, on the mound for the visitors, pitched winning ball, allowing six singles and two runs. His teammates played good ball behind him an error by Purvis being the only misplay chalked up in the game.

The Petes' first run was scored on a peculiar play. With the bases full and one out, Wolfe hit back at Cairns. In his hurry to throw to first, Arniell omitted the formality of touching the plate, with the result that Swanston broke into the scoring column, although Wolfe was thrown out. The teams:—

Kingston—Teeple, lf; Halbert, ss; Batstone, 3b; Somerville, 2b; Cherry, cf; Purvis, 1b; Nickle, lf; Arniell, c; Cairns, p.

FORTUNE IN JEWELS FOUND AT MOSCOW

Moscow, June 29.—Hidden in a secret vault in the residence of former Prince Felix Youssoupov, a treasure in art, antiques, and rare jewels, valued at 5,000,000 rubles, was discovered by a watchman.

The residence of the prince is now a museum, and it is believed that the watchman's discovery is only a small part of the hidden treasures of Youssoupov, who formerly was one of the richest men in Russia.

Prince Youssoupov is known in American forh is unusual suit last year against Joseph E. Widener, of Philadelphia, to recover two Rembrandts the Philadelphia art connoisseur obtained in 1921 in London. Youssoupov claimed he had made an agreement for eventual repurchase, wtih interest, but Widener disagreed.

There was suggestion of a repurchase clause wtih a proviso against resale within ten years. Widener todl the court he desired to leave the pictures, at his death, to the American public in memory of his father, P. A. B. Widener.

ST. BERNARD MONKS IN HOTEL BUSINESS

St. Bernard, Switzerland, June 29.—The monks of the convent of St. Bernard are to enter the hotel business. Their hospitality, which has been proverbial for centuries, has been taken advantage of to such an extent that it became impossible to accommodate all who wished to be their guests.

The monks, therefore, decided to build a hotel near the convent where travelers might be put up for the night. Their original plan was to let the hotel concession to some restaurateur. Now they have decided that they might as well conduct the place themselves and obtain the revenue for their order.

"IT'S BUNK"—STALLINGS

Rochester, N.Y., June 29.—Manager George T. Stallings of the Rochester International league club today said there was no truth in the story coming from Boston that he was to succeed Miller Huggins as manager of the New York Yankees.

"This Boston yarn is as much news to me as anybody," he said. "Say for me that the story is just pure bunk."

He said he had conferred with Ed. Barrow and Col. Ruppert of the Yankees about securing players for his Rochester club and had talked of no other business with them.

Final arrangements have been completed for the establishment of a tobacco leaf factory in Chatham, the negotiations for he purchase of the building later used by the Gray Dort Motors, being announced as finished.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Garvice.)

It has still strong possession of him when he goes down the stairs and into the street; but he fights against it. The best thing he can do is not to see Leslie Lisle, but to drive Vinson's horses back to Northcliffe, and take the train from there to London, and—stop there; stop there still in a round of the folly which has suddenly grown so senseless and worthless in his eyes, he has dulled the pain of this; his first real love.

It is early, but Portmaria is alive and very much in evidence. The fishermen are out on the beach, the women are bustling about, the children are playing i nthe road-way. Some with a huge slice of bread and buter or treacle in their fists; breakfast is evidently a very movable feast with the entire population.

Yorke stands a moment and looks round with a pang of regret.

"I shall think of this place," he says. "Think of it too often to be comfortable. Why couldn't I have come here—and to her—a year ago? What's that song about 'the might have been'? That is how I feel this morning. Oh, Lord!"

He strides on with his head drooping in an attitude very unlike that of Yorke Auchester's usual one; and without the last night's opera song on his lips as is ordinarily the case; and he is near the station, when he hears the laughter of children ahead of him, and looking up, sees a group that make his heart leap, and the blood rush to his face.

Under a great oak in the pretty lane stands no other than Leslie herself, with a child upheld in her arms and two others clinging to the skirts of her pretty, simple morning dress. The child borne aloft has pulled off her hat and the sunlight as it comes through the trees, falls in flecks of light and shadow on her hair and upturned face. She is laughing the soft, sweet laugh, which though he should live to be as old as the old man walking along on the other side of the road, Yorke will never forget, and—she does not see him.

Shall he turn and go back, go back and leave her forever? Better! But he cannot, simply cannot. So he goes on slowly and it is not until he is close behind her that she heard him.

She turns, the child still held, crowing and struggling in her arms, and a startled look comes into her eyes, and the color flies to her face and then leaves it pale.

Yorke lifts his hat.

"Good-morning," he says.

Her lips move and her head bends over the child now lying in her arms, and staring with blue eyes up at the big man who dares to address "Miss Lethlie." Leslie's lips move; no doubt she says "good-morning," in response, though he cannot hear her.

"You are early this morning," he says and he knows that his voice falters and sounds unnatural, as surely as he knows that his heart is beating like a steam hammer, and that the longing to cry to her, "Leslie, I love you!" is almost irresistible.

"Yes" she says. "It is so beautiful after the rain——"

She stops, for the word has recalled that homeward drive, the storm, his words—all that she has been thinking of through the long night.

"Yes," he says, vaguely, stupidly. Then he says, suddenly, "That child is too heavy for you—"

"Oh, no; I often carry it," she falters, bending still lower over the pretty face enshrined in the yellow curls.

"But it is!" he says. "Let me take it if it must be carried."

"She would not let you," she says.

"We'll see," he rejoins, scarcely knowing what he is saying; and he holds out his arms.

The mite stares at him, turns and clutches Leslie for a moment, then, with the fickleness of its sex, swings round and holds out its arms to him.

Yorke laughs, and holds it up above his head.

"Now what shall I do with you?" he says, hurriedly. "Take you to London with me. No?" for the child struggles. "For that is where I am going." He puts the child down, and it toddles off with the other two. "Yes, I am going to London, Miss Lisle," he goes on, trying to speak lightly, carelessly.

"Yes?" she says, with downcast eyes and, as she stoops to pick up her hat. As she does so, he stoops too; they get hold of it together, and their hands meet.

But for the sudden meeting, that touch of her hand he could have gone and the history of Leslie Lisle would have been a very different one; but it is the link which the Fates have been wanting to make their chain complete.

"Leslie!" he cries, scarcely above his breath. "Leslie!" And he takes both her hands and holds them fast, and looks into her eyes; the dark, gray eyes which she lifts to him with a swift fear—or is it a swift joy? mirrored in their clear depths.

"Let—me—go," she falters, with trembling lips.

"No!" he says, desperately. "Not till I have told you that I love you!"

CHAPTER XI.

AN IMPETUOUS AVOWAL

"I love you!"

Leslie draws her hands from his grasp, and stands with averted face, her bosom heaving, her breath coming with difficulty.

It is so sudden, so swift, this declaration, that she is overwhelmed. The heart of a pure-minded, innocent girl is not unlike a fortress. It withstands many an attack and is able to repulse the besiegers until the one comes who cries: "Surrender!" and at the sound of his voice, before some nameless magic in his presence, her strength goes, the gate is thrown wide open and the conqueror marches in.

Leslie had been calm and self-possessed enough when Ralph Duncombe was pleading his passionate love, and was able to withstand his urgent prayer, but to Yorke she can find nothing to say; she can only stand with downcast eyes her heart beating fast, and the gates beginning to open.

He takes her hand, but again she draws it from him, and sinking on to the trunk of a fallen tree, keeps her face her eyes, from him.

"You are angry?" he says, his usually light and careless voice deep and earnest enough now. "Well, I deserve that. I—I ought no tto have told you so suddenly. But—" he leans against a tree close beside her, and looks down at her —" but— well. I couldn't help it. I was going away this morning." His heart gives a little quiver. "I was going away from Portmaria—and from you. I've been thinking of you all night, and I'd decided that that was the best thing to do. It's sudden and—and startling to you. Leslie—Miss Lisle—but it doesn't seem so to me. You see, I suppose I have been getting to love you ever since I saw you on the beach; that's not long ago. I dare say you'll say, but it seems a long time to me—months, ages."

It is almost as if her own heart was speaking, it is just as she had felt. She listens in a kind of amazement at the subtle sympathy between them.

"I have thought of nothing else but you since I saw you. I know that I shall be the happiest man in the world if—if you'll let me go on loving you, and try to love me a little in return, and the most wretched beggar in existence if—if you can't."

He waits a moment, for a strange sensation comes in his throat and stops his speech, usually so fluent and so free. Then, she still remaining silent, he goes on with the same grave, earnest tone, and with the same half-eager, half hesitating tremor in his voice.

"I've never seen any one like you; I know plenty of women, but none like you, Leslie—I beg your pardon! You see, I always think of you as Leslie. If I were to try and tell you how I feel, I should make a mess of it. I can only say that I love you, I love you!"

With all his ignorance and lack of eloquence he is wise. "I love you," sums up all a woman wants or cares to hear.

"Of course," he goes on in a lower voice, daunted by her silence, her motionless downcast face, her hidden eyes. "Of course, I can't expect, don't expect you to understand or—or to care for me even a little. You haven't known me long enough or—or—anything about me. All I want is a little hope. If you don't dislike me, right down dislike me, I'll be glad enough and I'll try and get you to love me a little. You can't love me as I love you; that isn't to be thought of!"

"Is it not?" she thinks, but she says nothing.

Up above their heads a thrush is singing melodiously, and the liquid notes seem to say quite plainly, "I love you." The sun, as it shines between the leaves of the old oak and touches Yorke's brave, and eager face, is surely smiling. "He loves you!" The stream rippling in a hollow behind them, as it runs laughing down to the sea, is as certainly murmuring, "Love, love, love!"

"You are angry and—and offended," he says, after a pause, during which she has been listening to this harmony of nature's voices. "Well, I deserve it! I ought to have waited until you knew more of me—but you see, as I said, I could not keep it. I had been thinking of you, dreaming of you, all night, and then I saw you suddenly and I felt as if I must speak, happen what might. If I hadn't seen you, I dare say I could have found heart enough to clear out, and—and hold my tongue; but when I saw you with that little one in your arms, looking so beautiful and so good just the Leslie I love so dearly, the words rushed out almost before I knew it—and—and——" he squares his broad chest and tilts his hat back with a gesture which, unlike most gestures, fits him like a glove, "there it is!"

She does not lift her face; does not open the lips that are trembling—if he could only see it; and he waits a moment before he says, sadly, with the lover's despairing note audible through an affected cheerfulness:

"I'm—I'm sorry that I've made a nuisance of myself, and—and worried you. Don't be upset and think anything of it. I ought not to have spoken I couldn't help loving you, but I might have had the sense to hold my tongue, and taken myself off without distressing you. Don't—don't think any more of it. I'm not worthy of you, not worth a thought from such as you, and—well, I'll say good-bye, Miss Lisle."

He puts his hat straight, and braces himself together, so to speak, for the parting; then he bends down and takes her hand, the hand that lies in the lap of the pretty morning frock like a white flower.

She does not draw it away now, and as he holds it, the passion which raises men to a level with the gods, takes possession of him.

"Leslie!" he says, almost hoarsely. "I can't let you go! I love you too much. Look at me, speak to me! Unless you hate me, I must stay and try and make you love me! I can't lose you! You are the only woman I have ever seen or known that I wanted badly! And I do want you! I can't live without you! I can't leave you, knowing that I may never see you again. I can't. Look up, Leslie—dearest—dearest! Tell me straight once and for all—I will never come back to worry you—once and for all, will you try and love me?"

He takes her other hand—he has got both now, and lifts her, actually lifts her from the tree. She does not resist him, but lets her hands, trembling remain willing prisoners and when her face is on a level with his, she raises her eyes and looks at him.

There must be something in the dark gray eyes, something under the shadow of the black lashes, which contains a potent magic, for at sight of it his heart leaps and the blood rushes to his face, then leaves it pale with the intensity of a supreme emotion, an incredible joy, an amazed delight.

"Leslie!" breaks from him, "Leslie!"

Her eyes meet his, steadily, yet shyly, o'er-brimming with the secret which a maiden keeps, hugs closely, while she can. A secret which she is loath to part with, but which the loved one's eyes read so quickly.

"Leslie—do you—uh, dearest, dearest, you do love me!"

She tries to withstand him, to draw away from him, even now; but his passion is too much for her, and the next instant she is folded in his arms and her head lies on his breast.

Sing on happy thrush; but no music even your velvet throat can make shall compare with the music ringing through these two human hearts. A music which shall not die though these same hearts may be torn apart and wrung with anguish; a music which for joy or pain, weal or woe, shall echo through their lives till Death comes with its great silence.

But it is of life and love and joy, and not death or parting that they are thinking now.

He draws her arm within his as if she had belonged to him for years, or rather as if he wanted to assure himself that she belonged to him, and they pace slowly along the meadow in the shadow of the trees; her hat swings on her hand her eyes lift, heavy with love, to his face as he bends down to her his own, eloquent with the devotion and adoration which fill his heart to overflowing. And yet through all the storm of passion that tosses in his breast, he has sense enough to notice how beautiful she is, how lightly and gracefully she walks by his side, how delicious is the pose of the slender neck, the half averted face. This flower that he has found and plucked to wear in his breast is no common weed, but a rare blossom of which an emperor might be proud.

VARIED PLAYS AT BRAZILIAN THEATRES

Rio De Janeiro, June 29.—The best drama now offered Brazilian theatergoers is presented at Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo by visiting companies from Paris, Madrid, Lisbon, Italy and Mexico. These companies play in their native languages and draw big crowds, if their productions are first class, as the cosmopolitan Brazilian is an excellent linguist. One of the biggest hits made in Brazil during recent years was accorded in 1924 to an Italian company which staged a series of plays, including King Lear, Othello, and one of Ibsen's plays.

American drama recently was introduced to the people of Brazil, the play being "Baby Mine," the farce by Margaret Mayo, which was given by two companies during the same week, a Brazilian stock company and a London company stopping in Rio de Janeiro on its way to Buenos Aires.

At The Belle

Realism—with a capital R—comes into its own in Paramount's latest cinematic thriller, "The Top of the World," a George Melford picturization of Ethel M. Dell's greatest fiction success.

After a series of tense, dynamic situations in which the three leading characters become hopelessly involved in a unique love tangle, Nature suddenly steps in, lets loose a couple of aquatic thunderbolts and solves the triangular problem with one of the most exciting and awe-inspiring floods ever put on the screen.

Action is the keynote of this production—vivid, compelling action that grips the interest like a vise from the moment the film begins to unwind its virile, dramatic story. The plot revolves around Sylvia Ingleton who pins all her faith upon the love of her early youth. Her trust in him is so complete that after five years separation from him, she is not afraid to turn to him for refuge when the second marriage of her father makes her own home no longer endurable.

But Guy Ranger, the lover, fails her at this most critical moment of her life, and she is thrown instead upon the chivalry of his cousin, Burke Ranger. The complications that ensue when Sylvia marries Burke, with the understanding that she is to be wife in name only, and the bitter struggle that follows between the old love and the new, lead to some startling developments that almost result disastrously.

Most of the action takes place on the picturesque African veldt, and the opportunities for colorful settings and backgrounds have not been overlooked. George Melford the director has taken full advantage of the many unusual angles to the story which contains virtually every desirable factor, element, love, thrills, fights and some amazing camera effects.

A specially selected cast of popular screen players interpret the respective roles. The part of Sylvia Ingleton is in the capable hands of Anna Q. Nilsson and is a particularly congenial one to this delightful actress since it affords her an even wider dramatic scope than she has previously played. James Kirkwood portrays a dual role, that of the two cousins, and rises to heights of acting that makes his performance a memorable one. Sheldon Lewis has one of the fiendish characterizations for which he is noted, and Raymond Hatton impersonates an English cavalry captain with admirable effectiveness. Today, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Belle.

Several Circus Animals Broadcast ; "Dolly", Two-year-old Baby a Success

Baby Elephant With Ringling—Barnum Show is Expert Broadcaster.

'Jever hear an elephant broadcast?

To watch "Dolly," the two-year oldbaby with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus trumpet before the "mike" is even more fun than listening in. George Denman, boss of the big herd uses a very simple method. He shows the little shaver a carrot and then drops the tidbit behind the magic disc. After which Dolly talks until she gets the carrot.

While the big show was at the old Madison Square Garden in New York this spring a test was made to see which of the animals registered most satisfactorily for fans. Each of the forty-three elephants was led before the microphone. Albert, John, Babe and Romeo all being old and rather sedate, merely grunted and then returned to their respective bales of hay. But the twelve babies were all willing to air their views of circus life. That seemed quite understandable, since being merely youngsters of the jungle they entered into the fun as readily as they play at "London Bridge is Falling Down" in the circus rings.

The seals registered best of all, probably because their voices are most penetrating. "Big Nep" was persuaded to play the solo on the electric piano which he executes as an accompaniment for the companies of high-school horses on the big show program. "Shagg," the giant bruin who drives his own automobile in performance, approached the "mike" gave a couple of loud "sniffs" and honked vigorously. Upon being shown the lofty towers which they scale in their act, Alf. Loyal's police dogs yelped with impatience and so broadcasted in very able fashion.

There will be no broadcasting locally but all the various sounds that go to make up the circus will be in full swing when the great combined circus comes to exhibit here next Thursday.

SEES WRITING ON WALL.

Kingston, June 27.—"It requires no Daniel nor even a soothsayer or astrologer," said the Conservative Kingston Daily Standard editorially yesterday, "to read the handwriting on the wall as traced by the electors of Nova Scotia yesterday. That handwriting points conclusively to the fact that the business interests and the solid people of the east are at last thoroughly aroused to the danger that threatens the country under the Liberalism of to-day. That is sending our men out of the country by the thousands and closing down, one after another, scores of our industries.

"Premier Armstrong undertook to camouflage the issue by a local 'tariff reform' cry, but there is no doubt that the chief influencing factor in the result was the feeling on the part of the Nova Scotia electors that here was a chance to show to the Liberal government at Ottawa, so calmly disposed to ring the 'death knell of protection,' that the east wants none of the nostrum and is resolved to keep Canada for Canadians and to hold here both our men and our industries. And, as we shall shortly see when the dominion election is upon us, the voice of Nova Scotia is the voice of Canada."

No One Can Tell If You Darken Hair

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

One Good Reason to Crochet Your Own

THIS SLIP-ON CAN BE MADE IN ONE DAY.

Drop Stitch Saves Time

By Eula McClary.

The woman of to-day who can crochet and knit is lucky indeed. For a small expenditure of time and money she can fashion with her own hands a choice of yarn garments which will add variety and smartness to her summer wardrobe.

The smartest slip-ons and sweaters are of the simplest stitches and designs. Fashion has decreed simplicity as the predominating note of the season's styles and the sweater creators have taken advantage of the decree and produced models which can be made in a day or two. The color combinations fascinate.

The slip-on shown above is crocheted of two colors of yarn of a light weight with a silk mixture. The drop stitch makes the work go quickly even as it adds to the attractiveness of the sweater and allows for plenty of ventilation. A fast worker can crochet this model in a day. A slow worker ought to be able to accomplish the making in two days.

Such a sweater should be worn with a plain skirt of white or the same shade of one of the two colors which form the striking stripes. It suggests youth and is in good taste for all sport wear or resorts whether the wearer goes in for athletics or [illegible]

TWO GIPSY MAIDS GIVE "MONEY" CURE

Rochester, N.Y., June 27.—Two gypsy maids, under the pretense of curing him of pains in his side, robbed him of $650, Jacob Schrag, 31, of this city, told the police yesterday.

One of the girls, he told the police, persuaded him to turn over $650 for the "cure". She apparently placed the money in a bag which she returned to Schrag, with directions to wear it over the painful spot until he was cured, according to his story.

He wore the bag for five days and when the pain still remained he opened it, to find only $10, the police were told.

Kept Slave Pen; Chinese Sentenced

Children Made to Work Long Hours Behind Bars

Shanghai, June 27.—Thirteen boys, some of whom have been imprisoned in a filthy, airless sweat shop for six years, were identified and claimed by parents in the French Mixed Court here recently. The lucky youngsters were a part of a group of 21 rescued by the French police.

The identification came as an interlude in the trial of Yu Pa-hong, proprietor of a workshop, accused, together with his wife, concubine, amah and three other accomplices, of maintaining a slave pen in which the children in question worked from early morning until midnight, underfed, beaten and never allowed to see the light of day except such as filtered through a small barred window.

Tales of torture for insufficient industry, attempted revolt or inability to labor on account of illness were told by the waifs in a manner to bring tears to the eyes of listeners. Many of the children were stolen from their parents and sold to Yu for $3 each. Others were hired out as apprentices by parents little mindful of their fate. They were employed in making brass articles, glassware and matches which Yu disposed of in a store on Seward Road. Three or four died as a result of harsh treatment, the court was told.

Yu was given a jail term of 15 years to be followed by expulsion from the concession. His wife received a 10 year sentence, and Yu Ching-dong, an ping, got a similar term. The concubine and amah, who appeared to have befriended the boys on all possible occasions, were released. The store and workshop were ordered sold to defray the cost of the trial and to pay for maintenance of the unclaimed children.

The new book that has been published by the German ex-Crown Prince, "I Seek the Truth," is an uninterrupted assailment of the Treaty of Versailles. The ex-kaiser's heir expresses his conviction that the day will come when the truth he is seeking will be "pounded into the brains of millions who thought it a lie during the war."

SIR ADAM BECK'S CONDITION NOT GOOD

London, Ont., June 27.—Because his condition has shown no appreciable improvement since his return from Baltimore more than a month ago, the health of Sir Adam Beck is giving his friends cause for concern. Under the dynamic exterior of the hydro knight is detected that subtle depression, sensed rather than seen, that gives rise to the belief that Sir Adam is in reality not so well as he himself would have others believe.

His concern for the governmental well-being of the public, which he has served so long and so well; his dynamic nature, that forbids him to take the rest he so much needs, combine to retard his improvement. It is known that Sir Adam steadfastly refuses to give himself the consideration which rightfully is his, and the pressure he feels that the affairs of the public must be attended to, has caused him to carry on in the quiet of his own home, "Headley."

Sir Adam goes out but little. His duties in connection with the provincial hydro system and other kindred public matters, to which he feels constrained to attend, are executed by him at "Headley," and they have robbed him of the chance to devote his time to building up his own physical energy.

LITTLE LAD OF EIGHT ADMITS HIS CRIME

Cambridge, Mass., June 27. — Characterized by alienists as "cruel, primitive and a menace to the community," John Veres, 8, of Lowell, youngest manslaughter defendant in the history of the Middlesex county courts, was ordered confined to the Lyman school for boys after he pleaded guilty yesterday to manslaughter in connection with the death of 18-months-old Vivian M. Husson, of Lowell.

The boy admitted seizing the girl, stripping her of clothing and throwing her into the Merrimac river in Lowell. He said every time her head appeared above water he stoned it until she sank. District Attorney Arthur K. Reading reviewed the report of alienists who examined the boy, which stated that he was constitutionally different from others of an aggressive, cruel, primitive and anti-social make-up. They said the child was a menace to the community and should not be allowed his freedom.

The death took place of Robert A. Stokes aged [illegible] years a well-known resident on lot one, concession 10, Sombra Township, near Sarnia. Mr. Stokes had been in ill-health for a year and had resided with his daughter, Mrs. Fred Bury, Stafford street, Sarnia. Survivors are the daughter and one son, Ralph of Sombra Township.

NINE PERSONS WERE VICTIMS OF EARTHQUAKE

Check Up Made of Yesterdays Disaster at Santa Barbara

DESOLATE SCENES

One Man in Arlington Hotel Slid Down Three Stories

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Santa Barbara, Calif., June 30.—A check up of casualties and destruction resulting from the series of earthquakes which have laid waste a large portion of this city showed that nine people lost their lives and thirty-five were seriously injured in the disaster. Conservative estimates of material damage which cannot be definitely established until a survey is completed fixes the loss at fifteen million dollars. Other estimates place it as high as thirty millions. The injured were treated at the cottage hospital, the only hospital remaining fit to receive patients. State street, the main artery of the torn and twisted business district, presented a desolate appearance today.

In the crumpled ruins of the exclusive Hotel Arlington, the fall of a tank containing sixty thousand gallons of water had swept to their deaths Mrs. H. Charles E. Perkins, aged millionaire widow of Burlington, Iowa, and Bertram B. Hancock, son of G. Allan Hancock, wealthy Los Angeles realty dealer later escaped with three broken ribs and scratch wounds, after falling and sliding three stories to the ground from a room beside that in which his son met his death.

San Marcos building, a block below Arlington Hotel, one of the finest structures in the city, was a paradox of stability and ruins. At the other end of fourteen blocks of state street, which approximately marked the extent of serious business district damage the new California Hotel, a hostelry of one hundred rooms, was a total wreck. Another comparatively new hotel, Carrillo, two large wings of filled concrete structure, was badly shaken in its two lowest floors. Here and there throughout the downtown section the pavement bulged and cracked, while in some localities it had been slashed and chopped into fragments a foot square by the grinding force of the successive tremors.

Back on the hills, the old mission of Santa Barbara stood still in part, defying its second earthquake. It had gone through a similiar shake in the eighties. The missions tower, with its sweet toned bells, crashed while a kneeling congregation bowed within. Then the congregation walked out over the wreckage, led by the priest. Nowhere, only in rare instances did men, women and children of Santa Barbara spend last night within doors. Many whose homes were wrecked were forced to sleep in the open. Others slept on their lawn from choice, not knowing when a fresh tremor might bring their houses down on them.

Two Other Tremors

Santa Barabara—Violent earthquake shocks struck this city at 1.22 o'clock this morning. This was the heaviest shake since a heavy termor of yesterday. A second shock again rocked ruins at 4.30 o'clock.

ARE APPEALING CASE OF TRENTON SEIZURE

The police court case and judgment handed down by Magistrate O'Rourke of Trenton, recently, when he ordered the confiscation of a train car load of beer which had been seized at Trenton railway yards by Provincial police officers from headquarters here, has been appealed and the appeal was to have been heard to-day. It has been further enlarged until July 17th, however. James Haverson K. C., of Toronto has entered the appeal, he having been defense counsel at the first trial.

It will be remembered that the beer was consigned to fictitious name at Trenton.

Prizes Awarded At Queen Alexandra

Mrs. R. J. Graham Makes Presentation For General Proficiency

For a number of years Mrs. R. J. Graham has been most generous in her contribution to the pupils at Q.A.S.

In June a cheque was given with which prizes were secured for the pupils, one in each of II., III. and IV. classes for general proficiency, excellent progress, and regular attendance.

These were won this year by the following pupils:

Conrad Carey and Paul Dawson in II. classes.

Willa Elliott and Williamson MacLaurin in III. classes.

Grace Ablard and Maxwell Porrett in IV. classes.

Three of these and thirty others have completed the work of two Grades during the year.

Police Court

When P. S. Dan Boyd and P. C. Wilfred Franks came upon two men on Queen street last night, they found that both were badly intoxicated and took both of them into custody.

This morning both men pleaded guilty to a drunk charge before Magistrate Masson and were each fined $10 and costs of $14. They paid.

An empty whiskey bottle which lay near the men in the grass and weeds was not accounted for by either. Neither knew anything about the bottle. The first accused, a Thurlow township man, told of procuring six ounces of whiskey on a prescription which he received from a local doctor Saturday last. He had two drinks of it and gave the other local man one drink which caused the results. The former was under a doctor's care for nervous trouble and was easily effected by the liquor. The second man was not accustomed to the stuff and one drink was disastrous in his case.

Constable Has Chase

After a chase of nearly two blocks P. C. W. Franks arrested a third man last night on Campbell street, who appeared this morning on a drunk charge. He was fined $15 and costs on the charge. He procured the liquor at the home of a friend.

Youths in Trouble

Eric Tobin, aged 17, and a fourteen-year-old companion was arrested at the C.N.R. depot here at 2 o'clock this morning by C.N. Officer B. B. Harris. The pair have been riding the trains east and west for the past three days the officer complains, and this practice caused their arrests this morning as they loitered about the depot. Both are from Montreal.

The younger boy was remanded to the Children's Shelter for one week and the older boy to the county jail for one week. In the interim, Chief Kidd will communicate with parents of the boys at Montreal.

DEAF ARE NOT TO BE PITIED SPEAKER SAYS

G. F. Stewart Tells Kiwanis About Work at O.S.D.

PROUD OF RECORD

Many Graduates Able to Compete Favorably With Others

Do not pity the deaf. Treat them as you would normal people.

This was the request handed out to-day by Professor G. F. Stewart, teacher at the Ontario School for the Deaf, when he addressed the regular meeting of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Stewart gave an enlightening talk on the characteristics of the deaf and the manner by which they were educated at the School in Belleville.

At the beginning of his address, Mr. Stewart said that in ancient times the deaf were treated cruelly The afflicted were believed to be accursed of the gods and to associate with them was to court disgrace.

Such conditions had prevailed until the seventeenth century when the first attempt was made to instruct the deaf.

Speaking of the cause of deafness, Mr. Stewart said that forty-five per cent were born that way. The remainder contracted it through ailments.

There were two methods of teaching, the speaker explained. One was the manual; the other was the oral. It was the latter method pupils were taught to actually talk, instead of employing the hands for a sign language. They were taught also to read lips.

During the last session, there were 295 students enrolled at the School and there were 26 teachers. The boys and girls were taught various trades and were made to be generally useful. For this purpose, the equipment in the Belleville institution was the best to be found in the entire world.

Are Early Risers

Telling of the day's work at the School, Mr. Stewart informed the Kiwanians that the students arose every morning at five-thirty o'clock. Breakfast was served at six-thirty and after that everybody repaired to their rooms to make beds and to straighten up generally.

School was held from eight o'clock to twelve, and from one-thirty to two-thirty. After that boys and girls repaired to the shops until four and were then turned outside for exercise in thef resh air until supper time. The older students studied after the evening meal and everybody was in bed at nine-thirty o'clock.

Mr. Stewart declared that the staff was very proud of the students enrolled. In all the years that the school was in operation, but one man had disobeyed the law and he had been given three months. The graduates often made signal success in life, several of them having graduated from University.

Kiwanian Charles Hanna presided as chairman to-day and James Bankier rendered a solo.

Taxi Hits Bicycle During Noon Hour

Alfred Luscomb Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury

Alfred Luscomb, 137 George street, was shaken up, but not seriously injured when a taxicab driven by William Howie, 48 Dundas street, struck him while he rode his bicycle south on Front street at 12.40 o'clock this afternoon. He was knocked to the pavement and it was necessary to jack up the car before the bicycle was extricated. The wheel was badly damaged.

The accident occurred just south of the Campbell street intersection. Skid marks were measured by P.C. William Evans who responded to a call sent to police headquarters. Luscomb was riding south on Front street just ahead of the car.

GASOLINE TAX NETS PHOVINCE $165,000

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 30.—Revenue for the first 31 days of operation of the Gasoline Tax which levies an impost of 3 cents per gallon on all gasoline used for motor cars, has brought the Province a revenue of $165,000, according to S. Squires, Deputy Minister of Public Works, this morning. Mr. Squires states that no undue difficulty is being encountered in the collection of the tax.

Kiwanians Plan For Big Karnival

Will Hold it At Armouries In September

Belleville Kiwanians have plans already underway to stage a great carnival in the Armouries in the week commencing September 14, 1925. This Carnival will occupy the whole week and it is planned to make it one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever staged in Belleville. It will combine many new and novel features that should bring people from many miles around.

Already it has been arranged to stage a style show on living models every evening.

Then there will be an exhibition of merchandise in booths arranged around the wall of the Armouries and in the section of the centre that is not occupied by seats facing the stage.

All the usual carnival stunts and many new ones will be employed to entertain and assist the Kiwanians in their good work.

Australian Vet. Urges Conscription

Not of Men But Britain's Wealth for Development Of Industry

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, June 30.—Wealth might be conscripted in Great Britain for the development of industry within empire, E. S. Duggan, Australian returned soldier told the British Empire Services at a conference here to-day. If the conscription of man power had been justified in Britain there was just as much argument in favor of the forcible use of surplus wealth to solve the unemployment problem in Britain to-day, he held. He felt that there was a good deal of surplus capital available in Britain and the Home Government should see if manufacturers and financiers of Britain could not be persuaded to invest their money and experience overseas. There was an amusing interlude when Mr. Duggan expressed the wish that Englishmen migrating to Australia would show more desire to become Australian.

"They can't forget that they are Englishmen," he complained.

Vigorous applause from English delegates greeted this remark, with a good deal of laughter. He promptly said that they should also be British. They should not be always saying that things were not done that way in England.

"What the devil did they come out for?" he asked.

This Huge Garden Bug Calls to Mind The "Cross Bred" Specimen Called "Humbug"

A local woman found a strange bug on her bean plants last evening. When shown to the Intelligencer the winged animal presented a most ferocious appearance, being caged in a tin box.

The whole aspect of the creature reminds one of the story which is told of an American college professor who enjoyed a large reputation as an entomologist. It seems that the men at the University had never been able to bring in any bug or insect which the professor could not classify at once.

One day several of the members of the professor's class collaborated in the construction of a strange and fearsome beast. The body of a caterpillar was used as the base of construction. On this were attached the legs of a Daddy Long Legs, the head of a beetle, the wings of an English sparrow and the tail of a turtle.

This they took triumphantly to the professor telling him they had found it walking the streets, and asked him what kind of bug it was.

The learned men inspected it closely, turning it over with a faint suspicion of a smile on his face. Finally he said to the expectant students, "Gentlemen, this is not a potato bug; it is not as I first suspected, a sappadilla; nor is it even a bed bug. "This is a humbug!"

Rev. Dr. Mac Tavish Honored at Tweed

Completes Two Years Of Pulpit Work in That Village

Under the auspices of St. Andrew's Church, Tweed, a very enjoyable picnic was held in Exhibition Park there on Monday afternoon. After a few hours spent in races, baseball and other games the crowd, with keen appetites, gathered around a well-laden supper table. After ample justice had been done to this repast, Mrs. Rollins, wife of Mr. S. B. Rollins, Reeve of Tweed, read a complimentary address to Rev. Dr. MacTavish, who has supplied the pulpit for almost two years. High appreciation was expressed of the services rendered not only in the pulpit but in the Bible class. Though taken by surprise, Dr. MacTavish fittingly replied thanking the congregation for all the kindness and sympathy shown him during the time he had tried to serve them.

Miss Shore, V. O. N. Well Recommended

Secretary of Belleville Committee Receives Interesting Letter Concerning Her

That Miss Shore, V.O.N., who will succeed Miss Shand, as V.O.N. for Belleville, is well recommended, is shown in the following exerpt from a letter received by Mrs. Geo. H. Dean, Secty V.O.N. Committee, from Bertha E. Hall, R. N. Assistant Superintendent Victoria Order of Nurse's for Canada.

"Miss Shand and Miss Shore worked together on the staff of the Victorian order of Nurses in London, Ontario, so that they know each other well. Miss Shore has been with the Victorian Order for a number of years, having taken the four months' post-graduate course given by the Victorian Order at the Ottawa Centre previous to being taken on the staff. She was awarded a scholarship last year to take the course in public Health Nursing given at West Ontario University (London) so that she will come to you with the most recent ideas in Public Health work. She has a very pleasing personality and is in every sense of the word a very fine woman. We feel sure that she will give the utmost satisfaction and will continue to develop the work which has been so well begun by Miss Shand."

Miss Shand will leave for Halifax on July 3rd, her home county, having been recently transferred to that point.

Glenford Rebekah Lodge No. 230 I.O.O.F. of Frankford last evening celebrated the fourth anniversary of their institution by holding a banquet and concert. The lodge was instituted on June 29, 1921, by Mrs. M. E. Greer of Ottawa, assisted by Mrs. H. Watts of Peterboro and the Degree Staff of Quintena Lodge. Starting with fifty two members, the lodge now has ninety-five members, and Sister A. Rose, their first Noble Grand has filled the office of District Deputy President. Dear Sister Rose:—

Having completed your term as District Deputy President of this District, it is the desire of the members of your Lodge to show their appreciation of your zeal in the interest of our Order in general and our own Lodge in particular, we feel on this, the anniversary of our Lodge and of your installation as Noble Grand, the proper time to present you with this Past District Deputy Collar. It was also most fitting that you should be the first member of our Lodge to occupy that office and it is a tribute to your service as the chief originator of our Lodge. It therefore affords your fellow members a pleasure to present you this collar as a badge of honour of the office which was so justly conferred on you.

Signed on behalf of Glenford Rebekah Lodge No. 230.

Sarah M. Sarles, N.G.

Announcement was made to-day that the Memorial Hall on the east side of Front street just south of Bridge street is now held by trustees with a clear deed.

The major portion of this payment for the building was made by the city, the transaction having been approved by a special bill passed during the past session of the Ontario Legislature.

The clear title was made possible by the splendid gift of Mrs. D. R. Leavens, who donated about three hundred dollars, to make up the total.

Province Unlikely To Appeal Cases

Toronto Report Says Deputy Attorney General Says So

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, June 30.—The Toronto Star to-day quotes Edward Bayly, K.C., Deputy Attorney General for Ontario as saying that the Province would make no appeal against the decision of the Appellate Court of Ontario which set aside convictions of R. P. Gough, vice-president of the Home Bank, and four directors of the bank. "The fact that judgment quashing conviction was not unanimous does not make any difference" Mr. Bayly said.

IS A FEDERAL ELECTION COMING?

Ottawa is at present sending out the usual crop of rumors about a federal election. One day the report has it that an election will be held in October; next day there will be one that the electors will not have a chance to express their will until next year.

One noticeable feature is that the official Liberal press agent, sending out a weekly letter to the newspapers of Canada, is stressing the fact that numerous conferences have been arranged that will keep members of the cabinet busy until next spring and that this can be taken as an indication of "no election this year."

During the Great War, the opposing armies learned the value of camouflage. And camouflage has been brought into political and business life. For that matter, it has always been used in these lines but it is now brought to bear as strongly as possible. Rt. Hon. William Lyon MacKenzie King, Premier of Canada, has given no definite statement that there will not be an election until next year. Until he does, the opposition will do well to keep up the work of building up its political fences.

The great activity in Liberal ranks in Quebec and Ontario at the present time would indicate that the Premier's own party is taking no chances. The opposition should be equally well prepared should there be a sudden announcement of a federal election.

There is no doubt that the Liberal party is not anxious for a federal election this fall. Undoubtedly plans had been under way for an election right up to the time that a "deal" was made with certain Progressive members and support obtained for the Budget. But with a dozen or so so-called "Progressives" taking their orders with the government followers, the King cabinet saw its chance for another year in office.

Since the last federal election, the trend of public opinion in provincial voting has been strongly toward the Conservative column. Nova Scotia, went overwhelmingly Conservative, for the first time in 43 years. Two years ago, Ontario swung back to the Conservative column by returning the Ferguson government with a huge majority. Even Quebec, which returned the "solid 65" for Mackenzie King at the last federal election, saw Conservative gains in the last provincial contest. It is true that Saskatchewan recently returned the Liberal government of Premier Dunning but it is equally true that the Conservatives even there made substantial gains. The hand-writing is on the wall. And the King government can read it plainly. If Canada has a federal election this fall, it undoubtedly will be thrust upon the people suddenly. So be prepared.

THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE

Oddly enough, it is in the remote self-governing dominions, much more so than at home, that a lively interest is manifested in the inner workings of the British foreign office. Thus a London writer has of late been telling Canadian newspaper readers how the foreign office goes about its tasks.

For the dominions, while readily accepting the theory that the foreign office speaks for the empire as a whole, are nevertheless increasingly anxious since the war, to be told precisely and beforehand when and to what extent they are to be actively responsible for what Downing street may say or do in its dealings with nations not included in the empire.

The native Briton, less keenly conscious of changing sentiment on the empire's fringes, is content to let the foreign office functionaries perform their work unmolested. He knows, or comfortably thinks he knows, that its permanent under secretaries and experts may be counted on to hold in check possible ministerial vagaries before harm is done.

In steady control of Britain's central workshop of foreign policy is a special aristocracy of mind and temperament, recruited for the most part from Oxford, Cambridge, Eton, and other schools which sepcialize in training diplomatic officialdom.

The traditionalism that holds sway in the foreign office is as forbidding and massive as the old edifice wherein the ministry is housed. The institution has about itself a poise and an atmosphere all its own. The cabinet minister who happens to preside over its functions knows he is, and is known by his subordinates to be, but a temporary supervisor of the place. Unless he is a statesman of very original and forceful personality, he gladly reposes his trust in the permanent staff.

The charge that his country's foreign affairs are managed by members of a privileged class leaves the average Britisher unmoved, as does the frequent allegation that room for likely candidates of that class is sometimes made in the foreign office with perhaps only perfunctory regard for the strict rules of the civil service sytem. The British people like to feel that their spokesman of the foreign office will not make Britain look ridiculous abroad or run unnecessary risks. The foreign office, "aristocratic" and even priggish as it may be in its personnel, is fairly successful in the hard business of saying and doing the right thing at the right moment. When a blunder has been committed, there is usually sense enough to admit it and do better the next time.

It is interesting to read that in the opinion of the Detroit Free Press, the democracies of the British Dominions have on the whole little to fear from the gentlemen in charge of the London foreign office.

NATURE LORE
By WALLACE HAVELOCK ROBB

ASKING DADDY

Do bluebirds ever kiss the sky?
Do catbirds ever scratch?
What makes the swallows fly so high,
When they have eggs to hatch?

O Daddy, why can't people fly,
And sing, like birds, all day;
I wish they could, then you and I,
Would fly so far away.

I'd be a Bluebird, you a Wren,
And John, a Robin Red,
And Mother, from a swallow's breast,
Would make our dwny bed.

We'd be a happy, all day long,
We'd never, never cry,
Just play, and sing a warbling song,
Oh, how I'd love to fly!

—W.H.R.

If we could answer all the questions about the birds, which come our way, we would be very wise indeed. However, we can at least try, and day by day, Nature Lore will find some little point of interest.

Only last night, I was called to the telephone by a man who wanted to know what to do about a poor little robin, just out of the nest and unable to fly and crippled, it seems, for one of its wings appears to be deformed. The parent birds cannot take care of it and this gentleman's children are going to protect and feed it, so they have come to Nature Lor for help. We do not know everything, but will give those little girls and their robin, every help we know of.

BIG MEN OF NORFOLK

(Port Rowan News)

The names of the politicians in the county today, are not household words as the names of the men who represented the county in the House of Commons were twenty-five years ago. Then we had the Hon. David Tisdale and the Hon. John Charlton. These two names were as familiar to every family in the county as the names of their preachers or school teachers. Mr. Stansell and Mr. Wallace are both good men but their names have not the same enchantment. The contest between them will be earnest, but without bitterness. It will be a quiet election. Both of them are farmers with education and gifts for public life. And one of them will be defeated, but we can wait till election day to find out which one will go to parliament. The Hon. Alex MacCall came as the successor of Hon. David Tisdale. He was well konwn to the electorate before that, for he was always an ardent politician. He went down before Hon. W. A. Charlton at the election of 1911, and soon after was appointed to the Senate. He had many friends i nthis end of the county, and quite a number of them attended his funeral. He was a leader of the people in their government as well as in business.

VALUE OF HOME MARKET

(Toronto Telegram)

Address of Colonel Hatch to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association should remove any lingering doubt as to the connection between the prevailing depression and the failure of the Government to provide adequate protection for Canadian industries.

Even with the small and uncertain amount of protection that Canada affords her native industries, 80 per cent. of the farm products raised in Canada are consumed by the urban communities. Excluding wheat, 90 per cent. of farm products grown in this country are absorbed by the home market.

It stands to reason that if the home market is protectd for the manufacurers, and value of the home market for the farmer must be enormously enhanced.

HOME BANK DEPOSITORS

(Orillia Packet)

The expected happened. The Senate amended the bill for the relief of Home Bank Depositors until it could scarcely be recognized, reducing the amount from five to three millions, and changing the basis from a recognition of moral liability to compassion for the small depositors. It is hard to avoid the impression that the Government anticipated, and hoped for, something of the kind, to relieve them from responsibility, and save them money while throwing the odium on the Senate. Otherwise they would have included the $5,450,000 for the Home Bank depositors in the estimates, where it could not be changed by the Senate. But the payment on compassionate grounds would form a more dangerous precedent than the admission of moral responsibility.

DIRTY LINEN

(Guelph Mercury)

To understand why China is opposing the British, all that is required is to note the nation at present holding China's ear. Russia wants to get back at Great Britain and has China washing her dirty linen.

My European Excursions

By EDWIN ROBERT PETRE

Camping Out Near Mount Olympus

Athens.—Cyprus in the Mediterranean is reported to be enjoying a summer tourist season and travelers from England and America have not only established themselves there to enjoy the unusual climate and scenery, but the English have taken hold of several of the resorts, so that visitors feel very little of the foreign atmosphere of this distant isle. Miss Young's camp on Mount Olympus has opened again this summer at Troodos where the air is as cool and refreshing as among the lakes of Scotland. Excursions are planned daily to Mount Olympus, Kyrenia, Platres and the old monastery at Kykkos.

Where "In Dutch" Means "In Clover"

Amsterdam.—Free information and travel services are not obtainable in Holland. An office has been opened by a group of prominent Hollanders of the Dutch Travel Club of Amsterdam, specially for American tourists, at 310 Den Overtoom, where full directions in your own language can be had on request. They also arrange special excursions, buy tickets, procure motor boats, secure guides and interpreters, in order to make the visit of Americans both profitable and pleasant.

American Doctors to Visit Italian Spas

Milan.—The Italian State Touris: Department has again made arrangements for American physicians to visit the better known Spas of the pininsular. The itinerary will begin this year on September 5 at Milan and for over two weeks under the guidance of Prof. Guido Ruita, M.D., the party will visit San Pellegrino, Acqui, San Remo, Ospedaletti, Pegli, Rapallo, Portofino, Leghorn, Fiuggi and closing the tour at Rome. Special medical lectures will be given at each place, with text in English. Reduced railway tickets have been arranged for all American doctors desirious of being members of the party.

Two hundred and forty candidates have the past few days been writing examination papers in this city.

Rev. Robert Cade D.D. to-day assumed the pastorate of Holloway Street Methodist Church succeeding Rev. J. A. McCamus.

Fire at Tweed village to-day destroyed several buildings including a hotel and stores. Loss about $12,000, partially covered by insurance.

The Board of Education last evening passed the estimates for the year. The amount required for the High School was $4380, and for public schools $15,758, a total of $20,138.

ANCIENT INDIAN GRAVEYARD FOUND

Santa Barbara, Cal., June 29.—An ancient Indian graveyard, believed to antedate the California mission period, was discovered recently near Purissima Mission in the Santa Ynez Valley near here, by Don Meadows and Ray Gruwell, Orange, Cal., research workers. A number of prehistoric specimens, including several Indian skeletons, skulls, beads, and arrow heads were obtained.

The burial plot, once the "happy hunting grounds" of the bronzed warrior of the west, was situated in the center of what was a large bean patch, which, up to the time of the discovery, completely obliterated all trace of the important find.

According to Meadows, they dug through three different layers of graves, each from three to four feet in depth. It is possible that there are other graves below, he said.

The braves were buried in a sitting posture with the knees crooked beneath the chin. Of forty skeletons which were unearthed, every one was found facing the west—toward the setting sun.

Above each grave, as a sort of partition between it and the one above, was found a limestone slab, several inches thick.

OVERNIGHT NEWS

Los Angeles—First direct communication with Santa Barbara late last night revealed at least ten dead in earthquake. Property damage estimated between three million dollars and thirty million dollars.

Shanghai—Situation in China remains ominous.

Here and There

Record catches of mackerel are reported from Yarmouth, N. S. and nearby fishing villages. One man at Cranberry Head took over 150 barrels of fish from one trap and another fisherman at Burns Point reported over seventy-five barrels from a single trap.

Thirteen ships with a total of 7988 head of Canadian cattle left Montreal during May and three more ships left during the first week of June. Canadian cattle are now stated to be in strong demand in the British market despite Irish and English competition.

The reconstructed Basilica at Ste. Anne de Beaupre which was destroyed by fire in 1923 will be open to the public on the second Sunday in September according to a recent report and it is expected that the huge pilgrimages to the famous shrine will shortly be resumed.

A remarkable wave of interest in Canada is sweeping Great Britain at the present time and all sorts of information is being sought by British firms as to conditions in the Dominion according to F. W. Mottley superintendent of the Dominion Express Company of Canada for Europe who arrived here recently for a trip across the country.

Canada's third largest industry, its tourist traffic showed an increase of 60,000 in the National Parks for 1924, according to a report issued by Commissioner J. B. Harkin. Banff and Lake Louise, in the Rocky Mountains, showed a combined advance of 15,000 visitors. At Banff 1,693 camping permits were issued.

Robert E. Barlow, manager of Walter Hagen, announces that the British Open Championship winner will make a golf tour of Western Canada this summer visiting Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and the famous Rocky Mountain course at Banff. Hagen has won the British Open Championship twice and the United States Open Championship once.

Arrangements have been completed for staging the biggest Indian Pow-pow ever held on the North American Continent at Macleod, Alberta, early in July. Thousands of Indians from the Bloods, Blackfeet, Peigans, Crows, Crees, Stonies, Sioux and representatives from the Six Nations, in the East will take part in the historic and picturesque pageant.

A Canadian Pacific Railway freight train was recently held up near Lemberg, Sask., by a swarm of tent caterpillars which interfered with the functioning of the drive wheels on the greasy rails, where the insects had gathered in millions. All efforts to plow through or remove the swarm were unsuccessful and no progress could be made until half the cars were discharged.

Preparations are practically complete for the 1925 Calgary Exhibition and Stampede. It is anticipated that the stampede this year will be the biggest ever held. It has been extensively advertised in Canada and the United States, and a large number of inquiries have been received from interested parties, who anticipate being present. Entries have been received from all the best known riders and ropers on the continent, and the large number of valuable prizes offered for competition ensures that the spectator will see the best that can be offered in the way of broncho breaking, roping, wild steer riding, etc.

CHEQUE ARTIST WAS COVERED IN OSHAWA

Oshawa, June 30.—Warnings regarding the operations of a cheque artist in this city did not fall on deaf ears. A man, who is wanted in numerous towns and cities east of Oshawa, paid a visit here this week, but advance notices made matters too hot for him and his stay was not of any long duration.

The man forged cheques in Montreal and Belleville and was recognised here on Wednesday by a man whose name he had forged. The latter party was able to engage him in conversation for some time, but it was apparent that he knew he was being cornered. He beat a retreat and since that time has not been seen here. Doubtless he has left this city. The local police were notified and tried to effect an arrest after his conversation with the man who recognized him and reported his presence here.

Keep Kidneys Clean, Drink More Water

IF BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS, ALSO TAKE A LITTLE SALTS

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep their kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

The lingerie touch at the neck, the fan-shaped godets at the hem and the confetti spots of a gay silk, write "Paris" on a Summer frock.

The white-collar woman has been gone so long that the return of what is known as "the lingerie touch" has the freshness of something entirely new. A frock that is being worn a great deal by smart women in Paris is made of printed silk crêpe, crêpe faille, or heavy crêpe de Chine. The favorite designs are the coin dot on soft green, sulfur, clay blue, etc., and the shower of confetti dots in bright colors. Six fan-shaped godets give a delightful swing and flutter to the dress as one walks

Jealous Man Threw Acid At His Wife

Unhappy Story Brought Out in Toronto Court Yesterday

Toronto, June 30.—With head bound and her face showing traces of terrible burns, Margaret Wilson, aged 19, took the witness stand to testify against her husband, Arthur Wilson, charged with throwing corrosive fluid over her with intent to disfigure.

The pair were married last September and lived together six weeks. At the end of the sixth week, witness deposed, her husband turned her out of the house and she went back to work with the Bell Telephone Company. Upon his informing her employers that she was married she was dismissed.

She obtained employment as information clerk in the King Edward Hotel. Often when she left her work he would molest her, asking her to return to him. At last on May 14 he stopped her on Jones avenue and said he was "fed" up with being treated like a dog," to which she replied: "I don't want to be bothered by a fool like you."

Pulled Head Back

"He took hold of my forehead and pulled my head back. Then he put the bottle against my mouth. I put my hand up to protect myself and it knocked the bottle up. It all came back on my face, neck and hands. Some of it went into my eye. My leg was burned and the lobe of my ear disfigured. When I started to scream, he said 'You had better act quick—that is sulphuric acid.'

She was in hospital a week, and after an interval went back for skin grafting.

The clothing she had worn was produced. One glove was half burnt, her hat, coat and muffler being reduced to rags. A pair of rubber gloves, said to have been worn by the prisoner, were produced.

Witness first met her husband in November, 1923, at a department store dance.

Seemed Jealous

"He seemed to be very jealous. Before I married him he said if I didn't marry him nobody else would," said Mrs. Wilson. Her father had opposed the marriage. "He said my husband's money wouldn't keep the two of us, and my husband said he would go to the States and make good," she stated. For two weeks he stayed away from her. But at a party in the Armories she had told him if he still wanted her to "go with him steady" she would. "We were always quarreling," she stated, explaining intervals of estrangements.

CHEESEMAKERS PROTEST

At the regular weekly meeting of the Brockville Dairymen's Board of Trade Thursday afternoon Secretary Wilson was instructed to forward a protest to the Minister of Agriculture and the National Dairy Council against the prosposed trade pact between Canada and Australia, in which New Zealand cheese will be allowed to enter the country free of duty. The matter was brought up by E. J. Smith, a buyer, who claimed that the pact would be a serious handicap to the trade in Canada.

LARGEST THIS SEASON

Napanee, June 30.—The number of cheese boarded at the regular meeting on Saturday was the largest this season, there being over 2,000 boxes.

Buyers were present from Kingston, Belleville and town, the selling price being 19¾ cents, which is the peak price this year. In conversation with one of the buyers it was learned that the amount of the sales for Saturday's board was over $36,000, which will be interesting news to the dairymen of the county.

North Bay Will Be City in August

Historic Centre Now Has Population of 13,011; Plan Celebration

North Bay, Ont., June 30.—Old Home Week celebration to celebrate the attainment of city status will be the big attraction for Northern Ontario the first week in August. North Bay, to-day the largest town in the province with a population officially estimated 13,011 will become the baby city of Ontario on Sunday, Aug. 2. For the following week, it will be a case of "open house" with all the hospitality of the North Country.

Special services in all of the city churches, conducted in most cases by former pastors who were identified with the early history of the town, will inaugurate Old Home Week. The following day, officialdom takes charge with "Civic Day, when the formal presentation of the city charter will be made at Memorial Park and representatives of the federal and provincial governments will extend their congratulations to the Gateway City of the North.

Northern Ontario has always been noted for its sports and sportsmanlike spirit and athletic events have first call of the big week. Practically every kind of sport except ice hockey will be found on the weeks card. Soccer, baseball, lacrosse, track and field sports, horse racing, water sports of all kinds, softball and other attractions are being arranged.

The history of North Bay is one not generally known to all Canadians, though the name is familiar from the Atlantic to the Pacific as a great railroad centre. North Bay was originally discovered by Samuel de Champlain in 1615 and was a post on the old trail from the Ottawa to the Great Lakes in the time of the great French explorer.

The first settlements recorded were in 1882, with the coming of the first train over the Canadian Pacific Railway, North Bay was never incorporated as a village. Like Topsy, it just grew and became officially a town in 1891. In 1895, the population was 2,024; in 1915 it was 10,041 and the last municipal census placed it at 13,011 while the rapid growth of the town this year indicates that it will be about 15,000 when it takes its position as a city next August.

Assessments in North Bay have grown steadily with the population. In 1895, it was $425,735; and in 1925 $8,435,300.

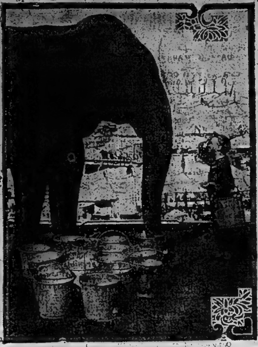
C. P. R. in First

The Canadian Pacific paved the way for North Bay. The old Grand Trunk followed with its first train in June, 1888. Next was Northern Ontario's own railway, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario, which was built north to the mining areas from North Bay in 1904, the first train being operated out of here on January 12, 1905. The Canadian Northern was the fourth line to come in here, their first train arriving on Sept. 14, 1925.

Some idea of the immense business transacted through North Bay for the Northern mining areas can be guaged from the statement that the average number of tons of freight through this gateway to the mining areas, is 129,221 per month.

Three and a half tons of gold bullion pass through North Bay every month from the Northern mines, together with 13 tons of silver bullion, 503 tons of high-grade silver ores, 6,030 tons of pulp and 12,450 tons of paper.

With the establishment here in the coming year of the district head quarters of the Canadian National system for Northern Ontario, North Bay will be able to boast of being, aside from Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver, the only city that is district headquarters of both the transcontinental railway systems.



Belleville boys will want to do this when the Circus come on Thursday.

Deaths And Funerals

ALFRED I. BIRD

At an early hour this morning Mr. Alfred I. Bird passed away after a brief illness. Deceased was born in London, England, on December 24th, 1849, and was educated and graduated at Edmonton College, England. He came to Canada when a young man. He was secretary treasurer for the late Senator Corby for thirty-eight years, and was also secretary treasurer for The Springer Lock Company for several years.

In religion Mr. Bird was an Anglican. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, also Oddfellows, Forresters and Sons of England. In 1882 he married Clara Charters, daughter of the late James Alexander and Elizabeth Charters of Belleville, formerly of Cashel, Ireland. Two children survive, Arthur I. Bird of Toronto, and Mrs. Edward A. Johnson of Toronto.

Mr. Bird was a gentleman of the old school, always courteous, kindly and beloved by all who knew him. He as a resident of Belleville for over fifty years. His passing will be regretted by many.

FAUSTINA F. JEFFERS

At Ottawa last night, Mrs. Faustina Foster Jeffers, a former well-known resident of Belleville, passed away. Deceased was the wife of the late Mr. J. Frith Jeffers and the beloved mother of Flavell Taillon of Ottawa and Hudson Turner of Chicago. Mrs. Jeffers had been residing in Ottawa for some time. She was a lady much respected by all who knew her. Mrs. A. Gillen of this city is a sister of deceased and Mr. Fred E. Foster of Chicago is a brother. The British Cabinet is understood to have decided that it cannot grant the request of the British steel industry for a preferential duty in view of the many other industries involved. The shipbuilding industry for one, has informed the Government that it would strongly oppose any proposal to place a duty on imported steel.

Triple Murder in Hamilton Unsolved

Husband of Dead Woman in Penitentiary; Jealousy Motive Dispelled

Hamilton, June 30.—The police admitted yesterday that so far no progress has been made in the solution of the triple murder mystery, discovered last Friday morning, when the battered bodies of William Buda, Mary Lakatuch and Samuel Chapman were found in an apartment over 466 James street north. Some of the officers, working on the case still hold to the theory that Buda, suspected of being a police informer on bootleggers, was the man that the slayers had marked, and that the woman and Chapman simply met their fate because they happened to be in the room when the attack was made.

On the other hand, certain police officials hold to the idea that the triple murder was the outcome of a drunken brawl, and their opinion is backed up by the statement of Sophia Mihaluch, sister in-law of the dead woman, who stated that the trio had been in a state of intoxication earlier in the evening.

An effort has been made to find a motive from the stand point of Mary Lakatuch, the slain woman. Jealousy was intimated in early theories, but was discarded when no information of the woman's past could be gleaned. She had been living with Buda for some considerable time, and their relations had not been entirely friendly. This is known, as several complaints had been made recently of quarrels in the Buda apartment. Some two years ago the woman caused Buda to be arrested on an assault charge, but this was dismissed.

Mike Lakatuch, husband of the dead woman, is still in Kingston penitentiary. This, in the opinion of the police, tends to do away with jealousy motives, as inquiries failed to reveal any others interested to this extent in the woman.

Police are encountering considerable trouble in their search for information. The foreign population cannot be induced to talk. Their fear of the consequences that might overtake them from some unknown source effectually seals their lips. Those from whom some helpful information might be gleaned appear to be prejudiced against all authority. Buda was classed as an alien enemy during the war and weapons were taken from him by the police.

GRAVE YARDS BETTER SAYS PEGGY WADSON

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Ont., June 30.—"Peggy Wadson," writing in the London Free Press of "Decoration Day" in a "little cemetery on the hill", when June was at her best and Western Ontario at the height of her loveliness, speaks of the improvement in the care of rural graveyards. "Not so long ago many cases, straggling headpieces, rough, uneven ground, and long grass left uncut year after year. As a countrywoman, one is proud to say that it was the women of the community, led by the Women's Institute members, who started the ball rolling towards an improved cemetery. It was the women of the community who got the men awakened to the possibilities of the undertaking and encouraged them to give of their time, strength and equipment in a united effort to beautify the burying-ground."

Will be Big Day At Bowling Club

Many Visitors on Hand For Big Tournament To-morrow

The Second Annual Scotch Doubles Tournament will be staged on the Belleville Bowling Club greens to-morrow, play starting at ten o'clock sharp.

From the standpoint of numbers alone the tournament will be something unusual, but combined with the keen competition which will be waged for the prizes and trophies, the playing will be a feast for the sore eyes of local bowling fans.

The Primary event will be for the Robertson Cup. There will be a second prize for this event, and first and second for others. The Consolation event will be the second item of the day, to be followed by the special event. Besides the two first prizes there will be other prizes and trophies as well.

The prizes which are offered for the day's play are on display in the show windows of the Royal Tailors on Front St. With the display are included other cups which were won last year in a similar tournament.

Herb Fish, Secretary of the Bowling Club says that forty rinks are expected to-morrow, of which eighteen are local pairs, and the remaining twenty-two will come from surrounding towns. The visitors will come from Sterling, Tweed, Picton, Deseronto, Kingston (City Bowling team and the Rockwood Bowling team will both come), Cobourg, Corbyville, Warkworth and Campbellford.

YES, AND MORE than a habit. It generally indicates some defect of vision. And in the majority of cases when the error or errors of vision are corected the squint disappears. If you squint let me tel you if an error of vision is probably the cause. My advice is dependable.

BOBBY EBER MAKES 'STEENTH' COMEBACK

Hamilton, June 30.—Bobby Ebber returned to the ring here last night after an absence of seven months and punched his way to a clean-cut victory over Howard Mayberry. At no stage of the journey was Mayberry in the picture, and close to 1,500 fans marvelled at Ebber's cleverness and willingness to mix things.

The former Hamilton idol started in the opening round to pile up a lead, and before the first gong had sounded Mayberry had been the recipient of many a solid blow. In the second, third, fourth and fifth rounds Ebber continued to pile up points in his favor, and at the end of the fifth round Mayberry was a badly beaten boxer.

In the sixth round the boys stood toe to toe and battled, the exchange ending with Mayberry suffering from a badly cut left eye and several body marks. The seventh and eighth were much the same, with Ebber doing all the leading and landing the more solid blows.

Before the last round the fans left their seats and crowded about the ring cheering madly for Ebber and celebrating his "steenth" comback. When Referee Hugh Hayes announced his decision, which was given without any hesitation, hundreds of fans forced their way into the ring and around their idol, finally winding up by carrying him grinning to his dressing-room on their shoulders. And there was no doubt about the verdict. Ebber never looked better in a Hamilton ring. His left hand was a snappy as ever, and he appeared to carry more weight in his right hand.

I.O.D.E. MEMBERS VISIT AT TRENTON

About thirty members of the St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. journeyed to Trenton last evening to accept the invitation extended by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Perry to spend a social evening with them. Cards, games and delicious refreshments made up one of the most enjoyable evenings the chapter has even spent.

Mrs. Perry (nee Miss Lucy Forester, formerly of this city) was a valued member of the organization previous to her departure from Belleville, having ably filled the position of secretary for a number of years, and still continues her membership with this active association.

FELT TOO SURE OF WINNING, HE SAYS

At the Liberal-Conservative convention Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, of Belleville brought a messarge from West Hastings to effect that the Conservtives had lost that county in the recent Federal by-election by lack of organization; they had felt too sure of winning and believed that their past experiences for a long period of years would carry them through in suite of many lacks, in short, "we had been so used to winning that we thought we could not be beaten," he said. "Our experience shows how necessary it is to be constantly on guard, how important it is to keep up organization all the time."

LEADERS' CORPS AT HAPPY EVENT

Members of the Leaders' Corps at the Y.M.C.A. had an outing at Jones' Creek last evening which proved to be an enjoyable affair. During the evening Mr. Karl Van Allan on behalf of the members presented Miss Helen Sinclair with a volume of Kipling's poems in recognition of her services in looking after refreshments for the members. Miss Sinclair made a suitable reply to the presentation. Songs and brief addresses were given by a number of those present.

Has Never Missed One In 65 Years

R. T. Caiger, Near London, Has a Most Unique Record

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, June 30.—Never to have missed a single meeting of the National Rifle Association in all the 65 years of its existance, and still an eager competitor in one at least of the matches! This is the wonderful record of R. T. Caiger, of Mortlake, near London. This year Mr. Caiger, celebrates his 85th birthday. He is looking forward once again to occupying his old tent, and to doing a strenuous fifteen hours a day in the Statistics Department on Bisley Common, when this year's Bisley opens on July 6.

A slight deafness in is only disability. He is one of the first up of a morning in this camp of early risers. Mr. Caiger is very insistent that moderation in eating and drinking is largely responsible for his enjoyment at 85 years of the health and good spirits of a man of 40. Several of Mr. Caiger's family are happily settled in Canada.

Yes I have certainly seen a good many changes in the N. R. A. meet," said Mr. Caiger to The Canadian Press. "Queen Victoria opened the first meeting on Wembledon Common in 1860.

It was the fashion for a good many years to have a review of the volunteers, with the old style of "Sham fight", on the last day. The ex-Kaiser was present at one of them.

'As for the actual shooting, well, we had the muzzle-loading Long Enfield. There were only two stages for the King's Prize, and anybody who made 45 out of an aggregate of 60 was considered to have done very much. A lot of competitors never got on the target at all with that kind of weapon.

"The targets for 30 years were of iron and the marking used to be done with flags of different colours—white for bulls, red for centre and so on. In the early days it was sometimes possible for a crooked competitor to 'make it all right' with a crooked marker. Such a dodge would nowadays be impossible for a range officer can alter the arrangements on his butt any time of the day.

"Competitors were obliged for many years to fire in uniform. If they had so much as the top button of their tunic loosed—and the early tunics were heavy they were liable to be disqualified. Permission was given later for firing in undress uniform. Still later uniform was compulsory only at the 200 yards range, and for many years now firing has been allowed in pretty well any dress the competitor pleases.

THORNTON SAYS COAL WILL BE SHIPPED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, June 30.—Experimental shipments of 25,000 tons of Alberta coal to Ontario will be made in accordance with the original understandings, Sir Henry Thornton, President of the Canadian National Railways stated in an interview here this morning.

Sir Henry explained that since the statement made some weeks ago to the effect that in view of pending reorganization of freight rates, National-railway would not be able to carry out experiment. There had been a conference with officials of the Ontario Government. He learned that matters had gone so far and actual committements had been made. He felt that the Canadian National Railway should carry out its agreements.

Miss Helen Marsden, aged 18 years of Trafalgar Township, sustained painful injuries, when the motor car in which she was riding overturned on the Dundas Highway, east of Milton.

THREW BURNING OIL ON OFFICER'S HEAD

Chatham, Ont., June 29.—Constabe Trudell, of Tilbury, received painful burns Friday night when attempting to restore peace in a Tilbury east household, when he was showered with blazing oil from a lamp that had been thrown among the combatants by a woman. George Schram, who figured in the fight, is under arrest.

It appears that Schram went to the home of a man of the same name in the township yesterday, claiming to be a relative and offering to operate the farm for him. The offer was accepted and later in the day the owner's son arrived and there was a dispute. In the evening the son, accompanied by a man named Bordeau and Constable Trudell returned to the place, and despite the entreaties of the officer, there was a general mixup. One of the women in the house hurled the lamp in an effort to restore peace and it exploded, some of the oil striking the constable. An attempt to throw Schram out of a window throwing dishes and breaking furniture were other features of the row. High Constable Peters is investigating.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN HAS SON AND HEIR NOW

Los Angeles, June 30.—Out in the Beverly hills mansion where Charlie Chaplin, installed Lita Grey as his bride, following their marriage in Mexico, November 25, 1924, the comedian has a son and heir.

The baby, weighing six and three-quarters pounds, was born to Chaplin's child wife early Sunday morning.

Heralded by the star's press agent, the infant is said to be an omen of happy marital relations, despite all rumors to the contrary.

"Charlie is too excited to say anything," was the way Edward Manson, the Chaplin press agent, put it.

Mother and son were said to be doing well.

Maniac Ran Loose Was Out to Kill

Grim Battle Staged in Railway Yards at Fort William

Fort William, Ont., June 30—Wielding an iron bar with berserk fury, using stones in his powerful fists as bludgeons and biting and clawing like a beast of prey, Joseph Antoniuk, Galician, 30 years old and six feet tall, killed one man and almost killed two others early yesterday morning in a grim battle in a portion of the railway yards between the Twin Cities of the lake head.

The dead man was W. J. Morgan, 53 years old, and the injured men are Robert McManus and John Gall, a C.N. policeman. The combat was a result of a homicidal frenzy which is believd to have swept over Antoniuk following an attack of epilepsy.

Morgan and McManus were signal opertors in a tower at a crossing and it was just after midnight when McManus, relieved by Morgan, went down the steps on his way home. He had stepped away a few paces when he was attacked by the maniac. As he went down under the blows of the iron bar McManus shrieked for aid. Morgan rushed to the spot and closed with the maniac. Morgan fought hard, for he was a powerful man, but he realized apparenly that he was in the hands of a madman and called for help. Meanwhile McManus had revived sufficiently to drag himself up the stairs to the telephone, where he called the police.

The last despairing cries of Morgan meanwhile had reached the ears of John Gall, a C.N. policeman who was on duty in another part of the yards. He rushed over, but found all was still, McManus had swooned again and Morgan apparently was dead. Suddenly the maniac leaped from the darkness at the constable an a terrible struggle followed. Antoniuk used two stones in his fists and bit like a mad animal. He nearly gouged out one of the constable's eyes. Gall held on though overmatched in height and weight. He held his man until five men arrived. The madman fought them all and had to be clubbed into a stupor.

A preliminary inquest was opened last night, but adjourned for the taking of evidence.

Gall and McManus are in the hospital, but will recover, and hope is held out that Gall may not lose his eye. In his cell in the jail Antoniuk, who was arraigned this morning on a charge of murder, is singing songs of Galicia.

The murdered man, William Morgan, was one of the most popular citizens of Fort William. Five of his sons saw service overseas and the family stands in high repute.

Leslie's Loyalty

(By Charles Gravice.)

And she—well, she scarcely realises yet what this is that has happened to her; she only knows that a supreme happiness, a novel joy, so intense as to be almost pain, is thrilling through her; that at one moment she feels inclined to cry and te next to laugh. He is hers! She is to be his wife!—his wife! Oh, what a singular dream! Shall she wake soon? Wake to find that he has gone, and that all that is now happening is but a phantasy, a vision that will fade and leave her desolate.

She starts presently and looks up at him.

"Papa! He—will miss me—wonder where I have gone," she says. "How long have we been here?" and she looks round as if she expected to see the shades of night falling.

He laughs softly, the laugh of a man so completely happy that time has ceased to be of consequence.

"I don't know. What does it matter? Your father will know you are all right He will think you have gone to the beach, that you are playing with the children—how fond you are of children, dearest."

"Yes, yes," she murmurs.

"I never saw any one go on with them as you do. No wonder they love you; but I suppose everything and every one does. By the way——" He stops, and a faint shadow falls on his face. "I suppose there have been ever so many fellows who've been in love with you?"

She makes a little gesture of indifference, as if the thought was too trival to be entertained or spoken of. What does it matter who loved her now?

"That—that letter and the ring?" he says, inquiringly.

She raises her clear eyes to his.

"Do you want me to tell you about them?" she says, in a low voice, as if he had the right to search her soul, and she were wishing that he should, do so

"No, no," he rejoins.

"But I will. He—he who wrote the letter and gave me the ring——"

His face grows cloudier.

"No, no, tell me just this. He is nothing to you, you never cared——"

"Never," she says simply. "He has gone—I will tell you."

He presses her face to his to silence her, and a wave of remorse of self-reproach, sweeps over him.

"No, no, not a word. That is enough for me. You are mine now and always and forever."

"Forever!" she breathes.

"And—and," he hurries on. "I have no right to ask you about the past—the past that did not belong to me. Besides, if I did you would have the right to ask me, and——" He stops suddenly pale, and trembled.

She looks up at him.

"I ask nothing," she says, in a low voice. "You shall tell me all you want to tell me; just that, and no more."

"My darling, my dearest!" he says, but the trouble still rings in his voice. Shall he tell her? Now is the time. She would forgive him, love him none the less, if he told her all now. Shall he throw himself upon her great love and mercy?"

For a moment Yorke's guardian angel hovers near him and whispers, "Tell her, trust her!" but he thrusts the angel aside and silences her.

"I am not worthy of you, dearest," he says; "I can tell you much; no man is worthy of you! But the best of us couldn't love you better than I do, Leslie, Leslie! Do you know that when I heard your name it seemed to me the prettiest I had ever heard, and as if it belonged to some one I had loved for years? Have you any other name?"

She shakes her head.

"Isn't one enough?" she says, laughing, softly. "I am not big enough for more than one of two sylables. Why, see yours is only one, or have you got more names? Tell me them? How strange; oh, how strange! I do not know rightly what you are called and yet——"

"Yet you love me, and promise to be my wife—why don't you say it right out?" he says.

She shakes her head.

"But your names?"

"Oh," he says, carelessly. "There's a string of them. Yorke, Clarence, Fitshardinge, Auchester—"

"And Rothbury," she says, with sudden gravity.

He starts slightly and colors. This foolish whim of the duke's! What is to be done about it now?

"Duke of Rothbury," she goes on, gravely, and with an almost troubled smile. "I—I had forgotten——"

"Go on forgetting!" he says, drawing her arm closer.

"Yes! I—you will not be angry?"

"At nothing you can say, unless it were, 'I do not love you!' "

"I was going to say that I wish I could—that I wish you were not a duke and had no title of any kind!"

"So do I if you wish it," he says. "What does it matter?"

"But will it not matter?" she asks, her brows coming together. "Will not the people—your people, all those great folks who belong to you, your relations—be angry with me for—for——"

"Stooping to love such a worthless useless creature as I? Why should they?"

"I—I don't know. Yes I do. It is not girls like me, girls with no titles or anything, poor girls who know nothing of the fashionable world, and have no relations above a plain 'Mr.' who ought to marry noblemen. I know enough for that. They will be right to be angry and—and disappointed!"

"Not they!" he says, lightly, but inwardly chafing against the bonds which his promise to the duke has woven round him. "Let them mind their own business!"

"But it is their business!" she says. "What a duke, a well-known nobleman does, must be everybody's business, and everybody will be astonished and—sorry."

"Wait until the see you!" he says, confidently.

She looks up at him with eyes dewy with gratitude.

"Do you think everybody will see me with your eyes?" she sas in a low voice.

"I think ever man will envy me and wish himself in my place!" he responds, promptly.

She shakes her head.

"No, no! They will say when they hear of it that you have done wrong, and say it still more decidedly when they see me. Why, I shall not know what to do. She laughs half light-heartedly, half anxiously. "I shall not know how to begin, even, to play the great lady; I shall make all sorts of mistakes and call persons by their wrong names and titles. Why, I did not know how to address you, your grace!" And she looks up at him with parted lips that smile but tremble a little.

He kisses them tenderly, reassuringly.

"You are only chafing me," he says. "I can see that. You are the last girl in the world to be frightened by anybody. You'd just take your place in any set as naturally as if you'd known it and been in it all your life. Why, do you think I don't know how proud you are?"

"Am I??' she says, self questioningly. "Yes; I think I was yesterday—until—until now. But now my pride seems to have melted into thin air and I am only anxious. Do you know what I should do if I were to see that you were even the least bit ashamed of me?"

"What would you do? Something terrible?"

"I should die of shame for your sake!" she says, slowly.

"If you wait till you die of that complaint you'll live to be as old as—what's his name, Methuselan!" and he laughs. "Why, I feel so proud of winning you that I'm trying all I know not to swagger."

She gives his arm just the faintest pressure.

"Oh, how foolish, how foolish! she murmurs. "To be proud of me!"

"I dare say, but I am, you see! I know I've got one of the loveliest women in the world for a wife, and I shall get beastly conceited, I expect, and perfectly unendurable. It isn't every man who wins the love of the angel."

"Ah, don't," she says. "An angel! They will not think me that, but only a commonplace girl, who knows nothing and is not fit to be—a duchess!"

She utters the word as if he did not like it, and he colors again.

"Tell me," she says, after a moment. "Tell me whom I shall have to fear most. You see, I don't know even if you have a mother—a father. I don't know anything!"

He is silent a moment, mentallly execrating the chain of circumstances which compel him, force him, to—yes, deceive her!

"They are both dead," he says, truthfully. "I haven't near relations—no brother and sister, I mean. I've an uncle a Lord Eustace, and his two sons who's the next to the dukedom—he and they."

"After you?' she says. "I don't understand—how should I?"

"It does not matter," he says, hurriedly.

"Tell me about him, then—them. Is he nice? Will he be very angry?"

He laughs.

"No, he's not very nice. He's the miser of the family—you see, and you'll have cause to be ashamed of some of us dearest! And he won't care the snap of his fingers whom I marry or what becomes of me."

FORD STARTS SCHOOL FOR YOUNG CANUCKS

In view of the many complaints voiced through the columns of Dominion newspapers to the effect that Canadian youths, as soon as they leave the high schools, immediately leave for the United States, there to be trained along American lines and take their places at the head of American businesses; the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, has decided to give employment to graduates from the Windsor-Walkerville Technical school, train them along Canadian lines with Canadian ideals, and fit them for Canadian business.

The young men will be given a apprenticeship period of three years. They will be given the choice of thorough training by experts over an three departments, namely, tool and die, electrical and sheet metal. During the apprenticeship they will receive a wage of 40 cents an hour for the first year, 50 cents for the second and 60 cents for the third. Fourteen of this year's graduating class have accepted the offer, and will commence their intensive training course at an early date.

Every opportunity will be given the young Canadians to remain with the large organization, and the fact that the executives of the company to-day have, with few exceptions, come through the ranks is expected to be a great inducement to the boys to put forth their best efforts.

At The Belle

The title of the new Paramount picture, which will top an excellent bill during the coming week at the Belle theatre, has an alluring sound. "The Top of the World" smacks of action and drama and love—the three graces that are fundamentally necessary to every successful photoplay if it is to fulfill its mission of entertainment.

Knowing that it was adapted from the novel of the same name by Ethel M. Dell, we are practically safe in assuming that this screen play teems with vivid drama, virile action and tender romance for all of these elements were part and parcel of the story. Something diĉrent in the way of scenery may be expected as most of the action takes place out on the mysterious and little known African veldt.

With a combination of such box-office favorites as Anna Q. Nilsson, James Kirkwood, Raymond Hatton and Sheldon Lewis there is no lack of acting talent; and the fact that George Melford, producer of "The Sheik" and other outstanding successes, made it is a guarantee of its worth from a directorial standpoint.

For those who are not familiar with the story, it will suffice to say that it deals with a complex love problem involving a girl and two cousins who resemble each other physically. The bitter struggle between these two men reaches a terrific climax and takes an unexpected turn when a raging flood sweeps down from the mountains with disastrous results. Even the most blase picturegoers will experience a quickening of the pulse and a faster beating of the heart when they see the realistic storm effects, that the director has achieved. Just one of the many thrills in this melodramatic film! Incidentally, some astonishing photographic effects have been achieved, which show the two cousins—a dual role portrayed by Kirkwood—fighting, shaking hands, passing each other in the same scenes, and otherwise acting as though they were distinct and individual personalities. Credit for this camera wizardy belongs to Charles G. Clarke, who supervised the photography.

All in all, "The Top of the World" shapes up as mighty worth-while screen entertainment and is especially commended to those who are looking for something different in the way of film fare to-night and Wednesday.

Bulgaria's determination speedily to crush Communism in this country is shown by verdicts recently returned by three courts-martial. Two provincial courts imposed twelve death penalties and five prison sentences. A tribunal in Sofia sentenced 30 to various terms of imprisonment. The prosecution had asked that seventeen of these defendants be sentenced to death.

Stage and Screen

Lenore Ulric is reported to have joined the Charles B. Dillingham stars.

Betty Blythe is in Palestine "on location," on a high hill overlooking the Mediterranean, playing the leading feminine role in "Jacob's Well."

"Brown Eyes" is the title of Buster Keaton's latest comedy. It is said that the title refers not to Buster's eyes, but to the w. k. orbs of cows.

Owen Moore has been chosen as leading man for Peggy Hopkins Joyce in her first film. "The Skyrocket," which Marshall Neilan is to direct.

Myrtle Schaaf, prima donna with "Rose-Marie" in Chicago, has left the show to prepare for her marriage to a "business man" whom she refuses to name.

Buck Jones, Madge Bellamy, Jane Novak, Basil Pitts, Edythe Chapman, Emily Fitzroy, and William Norton Daly make up the cast for "Lazybones," a Fox special.

Ada Dwyer is named as principal heiress of the late Amy Lowell. Since retiring from the stage Miss Dwyer (Mrs. Harold Russell) has been social secretary to the New England poet.

Jeanne Eagels is to take "Rain" to Chicago at the beginning of the season, and after its run there will, presumably take the piece to the Pacific coast.

Anna Pavlowa has returned to New York from an eight months' tour of the United States and Mexico, during which she appeared 275 times in seventy-five cities. Mme. Pavlowa will shortly return to her home in England.

Margaret Reilly, better known as Margaret Shelby, a sister of Mary Miles Minter, picture actress, was married in Los Angeles to Hugh H. Fillmore, a local builder. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby.

More than $90,000 due actors for back salaries and other items was collected by the Actors' Equity Association during the past year. Exact figures have not been kept for other years, but it is believed the new figure shows an increase of 30 per cent. over the best record of recent years.

Fred Stone has bought him a game preserve and horse ranch of 1,800 acres in Connecticut. Life in the great city is terrible confining to men who, like Mr. Stone, are used to open space and plenty of it. It is said that a carload of blood-thirsty Texas steers is already on the way from San Antone.

At the St James Theatre, London, "The River" has opened. It is a highly melodramatic play of the same type as "White Cargo," and Galsworthy's "The First and the Last." Its author is Sir Patrick Hastings, Solicitor-General in the late Labor Government. It has a highly enthusiastic reception.

Lillian Leighton has played more than 200 mother roles since the old Selig days when she was a prominent member of that famous pioneer screen stock company. Miss Leighton's most recent parental portrayal is the ambitious mother of Greta Nissen, in Paramount's "In the Name of Love."

Montreal—Controller F. H. Plant, Ottawa, heads Union of Canadian Municipalities.

At Giffins

"Playing With Souls," the Thomas H. Ince Corporation's latest production for First National, is a picture rich in clever analysis.

Clive Brook, distinguished English actor, plays the part of a New York business man. His success, strangely enough, has made him cynical, and his wife has done nothing to foster any faith that he may have had in human nature. In later years, after having neglected his son for sixteen years this man softens. Gradually the ice melts away from his heart, and a great tardy love for his child takes its place.

In making this transition from the cold, hard-hearted business man to the loving father, willing to sacrifice everything to get this boy, who has become a waster, back on his feet again, Brook shows his great power as an actor.

William Collier, Jr., plays the part of the boy, grown to manhood. He has spent the years since he was four in a boys' school in France. Neither his father nor mother have visited him in that time. He falls in love, but before he marries the girl he determines to find out why his parents never come to see him. He goes to Paris to learn the truth, but there is no one there who can tell him. He decides that there must be something shameful about it....and to drown his loneliness he begins to sow oats of the wildest kind. Under very peculiar circumstances, he meets both father and mother, not knowing who either is. He travels on, furiously, on the downward path; then the love, the absence of which had brought about his downfall, eventually brings him back.

Jacqueline Logan has an enticing role as a gay dancer of the Paris night life cafes and her vivacity does much to give the proper glamor to these scenes.

Mary Astor is the girl and Belle Bennett plays the role of the mother —a vain, shallow creature who forgets her son in her frantic efforts to remain young.

It's Easy To Darken Your Graying Hair

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur, and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of tother ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

State of Mind is Affecting Health

Doctors in Convention Told Profession Becoming too Materialistic

Regina, June 29.—A large percentage of sickness assailing mankind throughout the world is directly attributable to state of mind, and a great deal could be accomplished in overcoming this condition by correlation of psycho-therapy and medical science, declared Dr. Charles Hunter, Winnipeg, Associate Professor of Clinical Medicine, University of Manitoba, at the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

His observations over a period of more than 17 years had proved conclusively that the medical profession was becoming too materialistic as the result of the rapid advance of science, and there was not sufficient attention paid to the importance of dealing with certain cases from the psychic angle.

Useful to Ride Hobby Horse

Men suffering under the strain of business anxiety, daughters of wealthy parents, and middle-aged women whose children have left the home are more commonly subject to afflictions induced by over-concentration, the speaker said. Developing some hobby or diverting the mind from their immediate troubles often has the effect of relieving the patients.

Christian Science, Dr. Hunter asserted, has helped many persons suffering from diseases which to the medical practitioner had defied diagnosis. This he attributed to a "peace of mind" which the medical men too often failed to impart as the result of not looking at the case from a psychic angle. Christian Science, furthermore, had brought relief to individuals who were victims of some organic disorder, proving that psycho-therapy was not solely confined to functional disease.

Disease Originated by Suggestion

In many instances, the speaker said, disabilities originated in absolutely healthy people merely through suggestion. He had actually treated cases where the complaint was directly traced to suggestive causes.

Dr. Hunter believed it was a great mistake to minimize the efficacy of psycho-therapy, and suggested that its wider application among the medical profession might do a great deal to eliminate many diagnostic problems.

Traveling on a hunred specially designed circus cars, the big show is to arrive at dawn on Thursday from Ottawa, coming via the Canadian National.

There will be four trainloads of wonders with everything aboard from "Dolly", a mere watch-charm of an elephant, to earth's tallest giraffes; from "Silver," the world's greatest leaping horse who c leans six of his fellows at a bound, to such immense ensemble acts as a hundred and fifty horses in a superb "equine ballet".

According to circus officials the census of this vast new circus of 1925 lists as follows: 1607 people, 835 horses, 28 camels, 1009 menagerie animals, herd of zebras, two-thirds of all the elephants in America and an unusual number of baby animals. And, as if wonders would never cease, there are now five rings instead of three!

The first train to arrive will bring the commissary department and the menagerie animals. The performing horses and elephant herds journey on still another train. The first tent to be pitched at the Dufferin and Pine street showgrounds, will be the cook house so that the people of the circus town may break fast as they arrive. Other trains will bring hundreds of heavy wagons loaded with canvas, properties and gorgeous costumes. No street parade has been given for several years and none will be held here.

In no season has the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus introduced so many new features and novelties. Here are some of them:

Groups of acrobats who juggle human beings while mounted on stilts. Black and brown bears that propel row boats and start, steer and stop power driven automobiles. Police dogs that climb perpendicular walls twenty feet high. Two men, in a display numbering fourteen of the world's greatest high-wire artists, who turn forward and backward somersaults on a lender wires. A company of French poodles that, made up in perfect likeness to toy ponies, give exact imitations of the five troupes of performing horses. The latter appear simultaneously, this innovation being made possible by the use of five big, wooden rings. The introduction of two additional rings is among the several physical features that make the Big Show of 1925 different and bigger than any time before.

For the first time in the history of training, the five herds of performing elephants play at "London Bridge." For the first time either in America or abroad a total of one hundred and fifty horses, each ridden by an expert, are used at one time and in one act. For the first time anywhere, autos have been "taught" to do the "shimmy patrol". This is an invention of two of the show's hundred clowns.

The foregoing are but some of the novelties. Apart from them will be the brilliant feats of more than 800 of the world's greatest bareback riders, aerialists, gymnasts and ground athletes, magnificent pageants, a menagerie of a thousand rare animals, hippodrome contests and other features. Performances will be at 2 and 8 and the doors open an hour earlier. Tickets will be on sale throughout show day at the Ritchie Co., Ltd., on Front street.

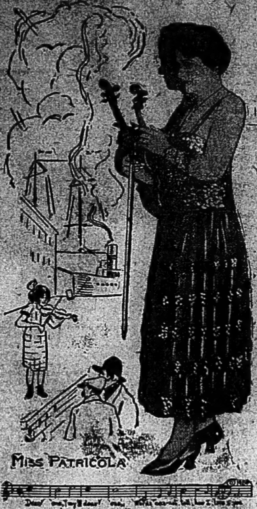
Singer Tells of Sampling Schools of All States



MISS PATRICOLA
Dear One, my dear one, words can not tell how I love you

Patricola Got Her Education On Tour—Liked Method

New York City—"I'm no college graduate but I've been to school in every state in the Union," boasted Patricola, famous vaudeville star, who hit this city during Education Week recently, and was asked to talk to grade school children on the value of education.

"I wonder if any man or woman anywhere can beat that record," went on the actress. "It was mighty interesting, too. You see, I came from Italy with my father when I was five. I landed in New Orleans and my father conceived the idea of making me self supporting. I started singing as soon as we were settled.

Was Profitable

"It was rather profitable and we went from town to town with me cast in the role of infant troubadour. I was eight when I sang on the Midway of the world's fair in St. Louis. A vaudeville manager heard me and gave me a contract. But he said I'd have to go to school. I never had but I promised to start. I played a new stand every week and entered a new school every Monday as a visiting pupil.

"It was rather confusing because the methods of teaching varied a good deal, but I kept up this haphazard method of learning for three years. I remember that nearly all the teachers differed upon what was the capital of Oklahoma. I guess there was some discussion going on about that time as to what it really was.

Constant Change

"At any rate, I never have known for sure. This was the only education I ever had and, looking back, I can see that I missed a great deal in not having a chance to go to a regular, steady school like other girls. On the other hand, I had the excitement of constant change."

As a finish to her speech, Patricola sang for the children "Dear One," her newest song, which she told them she liked especially because its strains recalled the old New Orleans levee days.

FROGS LIVE YEARS IN CEMENT PRISON

Okanogan, Was., June 29.—Several green frogs, imprisoned in cemented gravel were set free when a road crew made a cut in a country road near here. They were found firmly imbedded three feet below the surface of the old highway. The frogs showed considerable animation on being released, giving no signs of the inconvenience caused by several years imprisonment.

Trevor Kincaid, professor of biology in the University of Washington, declared the existence of frogs imprisoned in cement over a period of years quite possible, though he said no scientific data had been gathered on the point.

GIRL GUIDES TO GO TO GENEVA PARLEY

Vancouver, B.C., June 30 (By Canadian Press).—The Girl Guide movement has undoubtedly come to stay, and is now given recognition the world over. Proof of this fact is evident in the request from the international committee for child welfare meeting in Geneva, asking that the Guides be represented on this committee. Dame Katherine Furse and Mrs. Mark Kerr, are representatives. This fact was stressed by Miss Francis Mara of Victoria, deputy provincial commissioner of Girl Guides, in an interview. Miss Mara has just returned from England where special work is the post guide effort, which includes guides who are ill at home or in hospital. The blind and deaf are also enrolled. Mentioning the standing of Canadians in England, Miss Mara declared they had a very good reputation. Of the ten Eagle Owls in the whole world, there are two in Canada, the other eight being in England. These officers have charge of the training of Brown Owls, the leaders of Brownie packs.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.—"I am one of thousands who have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have great faith in it. I can safely say it has relieved my troubles and I shall never be without a bottle of it in my house. Since my last baby was born I suffered from pains and backache and would feel so tired I could not do anything in my home. Since I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine I feel so different. I recommend it to all my friends and hope it will cure other women who are suffering from the troubles I had."—Mrs. Thos. H. Gardner, 821 Evelyn Street, Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for the new mother. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken by the nursing mother.

Its worth in restoring the mother to normal health and strength is told again and again in just such letters as Mrs. Gardner writes.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound shows that 98 out of every 100 women taking the medicine are benefited by it. They write and tell us so. Such evidence entitles us to call it a dependable medicine for women. It is for sale by druggists everywhere.
